VEDIC GRAMMAR

BY

INTRODUCTION.

1. General Scope of this Work.—Vedic grammar has never till now been treated separately and as a whole. Both in India and in the West the subject has hitherto been handled only in connexion with Classical Sanskrit. Hundreds of Pāṇini's Sūtras deal with the language of the Vedas; but the account they give of it is anything but comprehensive. In the West, BENFEY was the first, more than half a century ago (1852), to combine a description of the linguistic peculiarities of the Vedas with an account of the traditional matter of Pāṇini; but as Vedic studies were at that time still in their infancy, only the Sāmaveda¹ and about one-fourth of the R̥gveda² having as yet been published, the Vedic material utilized in his large grammar³ was necessarily very limited in extent. In WHITNEY's work⁴ the language of the Vedas, which is much more fully represented, is treated in its historical connexion with Classical Sanskrit. Partly for this reason, his work does not supply a definite account of the grammar of the Samhitās as compared with that of the later phases of the language; thus what is peculiar to the Brāhmaṇas or to a particular Samhitā is often not apparent. Professor WACKERNAGEL's grammar⁵, which when finished will present the ancient language of India more completely than any other work on the subject, deals with the combined Vedic and post-Vedic material from the point of view of Comparative Philology. Different sections or individual points of Vedic grammar have been the subject of separately published treatises or of special articles scattered in various Oriental and philological journals or other works of a miscellaneous character. It is advisable that all this as well as additional material⁶ should now be brought together so as to afford a general survey of the subject.

In view of the prominent position occupied by the Indo-Aryan branch in Comparative Philology and of the fact that the language of the Vedas represents the foundation of the subsequent strata, it seems important for the sake of clearness and definiteness that the earliest phase should be treated as a whole independently of later developments. The present work will therefore deal with the grammar of only the Mantra portions of the Samhitās; that is to say, it will embrace the whole of the Ṛgveda, the Atharvaveda¹, the Sāmaveda², and the Vājasaneyi Samhitā³, but will exclude those portions of the Taittirīya Samhitā⁴, the Maitrāyaṇī Samhitā⁵ and the Kāthaka⁶ which have the character of Brāhmaṇas⁷. Reference will also be made to Mantra material not found in the canonical texts of the Samhitās, that is, to the Khilas⁸ of the Ṛgveda and the occasional Mantras of this type occurring in the Brāhmaṇas⁹ and Sūtras. As the linguistic material of the Ṛgveda is more ancient, extensive and authentic than that of the other Samhitās, all of which borrow largely from that text¹⁰, it is taken as the basis of the present work. Hence all forms stated without comment belong to the Ṛgveda, though they may occur in other Samhitās as well. From the other Vedas, such matter only is added as occurs in their independent parts or, if borrowed from the Ṛgveda, appears in an altered form, the source being in such cases indicated by an abbreviation in parentheses (as VS., TS., AV.). The addition of the abbreviation 'RV.' means that the form in question occurs in the Ṛgveda only.

2. Verbal Authenticity of the Texts¹¹.—In dealing with the linguistic material of the Samhitās the question of the authenticity of the forms which it embraces is of great importance. What guarantees then do we possess that the original form of the texts handed down by tradition has not in the course of ages undergone modification and modernization in respect to vocabulary, phonetics, and grammatical forms? This question must first be applied to the Ṛgveda, the oldest of the Samhitās, which forms the very foundation of Vedic tradition. The evidence of the Sarvānukramaṇī¹², which states the number of stanzas, the metre, and the deity for every hymn of the RV., shows that in general extent, form, and matter, this Samhitā was in the Sūtra period the same as now. The Prātiśākhya¹³ demonstrates that its phonetic character was also the same. Yāska's commentary¹⁴ proves that, as regards the limited number of stanzas explained by him, his text was verbally identical with ours. The frequent statements of the Brāhmaṇas concerning the number of verses contained in a hymn or liturgical group agree with the extant text of the Ṛgveda. The explanatory discussions of the Brāhmaṇas further indicate that the text of the Ṛgveda must have been regarded as immutably fixed by that time. Thus the Satapatha Brāhmaṇa, while speaking of the possibility of varying some of the formulas of the Yajurveda, rejects as impossible the notion of changing the text of a certain verse of the Ṛgveda as proposed by some teachers¹.

Probably soon after the completion of the actual Brāhmaṇas the hymns of the Ṛgveda were fixed in the phonetic form of the Saṃhitā text; and after no long interval, in order to guard that text from the possibility of any change or loss, the Pada text was constituted by Śākalya, whom the Āraṇyakas or appendixes to the Brāhmaṇas, the Nirukta, and the Ṛgveda Prātiśākhya presuppose². By this analysis of the Saṃhitā text, its every word, stated in a separate form as unaffected by the rules of euphonic combination, has come down to us without change for about 2,500 years.

The Saṃhitā text itself, however, only represented the close of a long period in which the hymns, as originally composed by the seers, were handed down by oral tradition. For the condition of the text even in this earlier period we possess a large body of evidence corresponding to that of Mss. for other literary monuments. It was then that the text of the other Vedas, each of which borrowed extensively from the Ṛgveda, was constituted. With each of them came into being a new and separate tradition in which the borrowed matter furnishes a body of various readings for the Ṛgveda. The comparison of these variants, about 1200 in number, has shown that the text of the Ṛgveda already existed, with comparatively few exceptions, in its present form when the text of the other Vedas was established. The number of instances is infinitely small in which the Ṛgveda exhibits corruptions not appearing in the others. We have thus good reason for believing that the fixity of the text and the verbal integrity of the Ṛgveda go several centuries further back than the date at which the Saṃhitā text came into existence. As handed down exclusively by oral tradition, the text could hardly have been preserved in perfectly authentic form from the time of the composers themselves; and research has shown that there are some undeniable corruptions in detail attributable to this earliest period. But apart from these, the Saṃhitā text, when the original metre has been restored by the removal of phonetic combinations which did not prevail in the time of the poets themselves, nearly always contains the very words, as represented by the Pada text, actually used by the seers. The modernization of the ancient text appearing in the Saṃhitā form is only partial and is inconsistently applied. It has preserved the smallest minutiae of detail most liable to corruption and the slightest differences in the matter of accent and alternative forms which might have been removed with the greatest ease. We are thus justified in assuming that the accents and grammatical forms of the Ṛgveda, when divested of the euphonic rules applied in the Saṃhitā text, have come down to us, in the vast majority of cases, as they were uttered by the poets themselves.

Though the tradition of nearly all the later Saṃhitās has in a general way been guarded by Anukramaṇis, Prātiśākhyas, and Pada texts, its value is clearly inferior to that of the Ṛgveda. This is only natural in the case of collections in which the matter was largely borrowed and arbitrarily cut up into groups of verses or into single verses solely with a view to meet new liturgical wants. Representing a later linguistic stage, these collections start from a modernized text in the material borrowed from the R̥gveda, as is unmistakable when that material is compared with the original passages. The text of the Sāmaveda is almost entirely secondary, containing only seventy-five stanzas not derived from the R̥gveda. Its variants are due in part to inferiority of tradition and in part to arbitrary alterations made for the purpose of adapting verses removed from their context to new ritual uses¹. An indication that the tradition of the Yajur and Atharva Vedas is less trustworthy than that of the R̥gveda is the great metrical irregularity which is characteristic of those texts². Of all these the Vājasaneyi Samhitā is the best preserved, being not only guarded by an Anukramaṇī, a Prātiśākhya, and a Pada text, but partially incorporated in the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa, where the first 18 books are quoted word for word besides being commented on. The Taittirīya Samhitā has also been carefully handed down, being protected by an Anukramaṇī, a Prātiśākhya, and a good Pada text³. The Maitrāyaṇī Samhitā is not so well authenticated, having no Prātiśākhya and only an inferior Pada text, of which but a single somewhat incorrect Ms. is known⁴. Least trustworthy of all is the tradition of the Kāthaka which lacks both a Prātiśākhya and a Pada text. Moreover only one complete Ms. of this Samhitā is known⁵. As that Ms. is unaccented, it has only been possible to mark the accent in small portions of that part of the text which has as yet been published (Books 1–xviii). As, however, the texts of the Black Yajurveda often agree even verbally, and the Maitrāyaṇī Samhitā is closely connected with the Kāthaka, the readings of the latter can to some extent be checked by those of the cognate Samhitās.

The inferiority of tradition in the Atharvaveda was increased by the lateness of its recognition as a canonical text. It contains many corrupt and uncertain forms, especially in Book xix, which is a later addition⁶. The text is guarded by Anukramaṇīs, a Prātiśākhya, and a *Padapāṭha*⁷. The latter, however, contains serious errors both in regard to accentuation and the division of compound verbal forms, as well as in other respects. The Padapāṭha of Book xix, which is different in origin from that of the earlier books⁸, is full of grave blunders⁹. The critical and exegetical notes contained in WHITNEY'S Translation of the Atharvaveda accordingly furnish important aid in estimating the value of the readings in the Saunakiya recension of the Atharvaveda. The Paippalāda recension is known in only a single corrupt Ms., which has been reproduced in facsimile by Professors GARBE and BLOOMFIELD¹⁰. About one-eighth or one-ninth of this recension is original, being found neither in the Saunakiya text of the Atharvaveda nor in any other known collection of *Mantras*¹¹. The various readings of this recension, in the

3. Ancient Pronunciation. — Evidence throwing light on the phonetic character of the language of the Saṃhitās is furnished not only by the pronunciation of its sounds by the Brahmans of to-day, who still recite those texts, but also by the transcription of Sanskrit words in foreign languages, particularly Greek, in ancient times; by the summary information contained in the works of the old Sanskrit grammarians, Pāṇini and his successors; and more especially by the detailed statements of the Prātiśākhyas and the Śikṣās. From these sources we derive a sufficiently exact knowledge of the pronunciation prevailing about 500 B. C. This pronunciation, however, need not necessarily have coincided in every particular with that of the Saṃhitās, which date from many centuries earlier. Nevertheless, judging by the internal evidence supplied by the phonetic changes and analogical formations occurring in the language of the texts themselves and by the external evidence of comparative philology, we are justified in concluding that the pronunciation, with the possible exception of a very few doubtful points, was practically the same.

4. The Sounds of the Vedic Language. — There are altogether 52 sounds, 13 of which are vocalic and 39 consonantal. They are the following:

A. Vocalic sounds.

1. Nine simple vowels: a ā i ī u ū r ṛ ḷ.
2. Four diphthongs: e o³ ai au⁴.

B. Consonantal sounds.

1. Twenty-two mutes, divided into five classes, each of which has its class nasal, making a group of twenty-seven:
 - a) five gutturals: k kh g gh ŋ,
 - b) five palatals: c ch j jh ñ,
 - c) seven cerebrals: t th d dh ṛ⁵ ḍh and ḷ⁵ ḍh ṇ,
 - d) five dentals: ṭ ṭh ḍ ḍh ṇ,
 - e) five labials: p ph b bh m.

² The Kashmirian Atharvaveda, Book One. Edited with critical notes by LEROY CARR BARRET, in JAOS. 26, 197—295.

3 These are really simple long vowels, being diphthongs only in origin (= āi, āu).

4 Pronounced āi, āu (see WHITNEY on APr. I. 40 and TPr. II. 29), but derived from diphthongs with a long first element.

5 These sounds take the place of ḍ ḍh respectively between vowels; e. g. ḷe (but ḷya), mḷhiṣe (but mḷhvān).

2. Four semivowels: y r l v.
3. Three sibilants: ś (palatal), ṣ (cerebral), s (dental).
4. One aspiration: h.
5. One pure nasal: m (m̐) called Anusvāra ('after-sound').
6. Three voiceless spirants: h (Visarjanīya), ḥ (Jihvāmūliya), ḥ (Upadhmanīya).

5. Losses, changes, additions.—In order that the phonetic status of the Vedic language may be understood historically, the losses, changes, and additions which have taken place in it as compared with earlier linguistic stages, must be pointed out.

a. It has lost the IE. 1) short vowels ē ō and ə; 2) long vowels ē ō; 3) diphthongs ēi ōi, ēu ōu; āi ēi ōi, āu ēu ōu; 4) sonant nasals; 5) voiced spirant z.

b. It has replaced a number of IE. sounds by others: 1) the short vowels ē ō by ā, ə by i; 2) the long vowels ē ō by ā; 3) the diphthongs ēi ōi by ē, ēu ōu by ō; also āz ēz ōz by ē ō; 4) ṛ by īr (ūr), l by r; 5) āi ēi ōi by āi, āu ēu ōu by āu; 6) r, when followed by a nasal, has become ṛ; 7) gutturals (velars) have, under certain conditions, become palatals¹; 8) a palatal mute has become the palatal spirant *ś*².

c. It has added the whole series of eight cerebrals (including the spirant ṣ).

The above innovations are specifically Indian, excepting (1) the loss of the vowels ē ō ə, together with the diphthongs formed with them; (2) the loss of the sonant nasals; and (3) the addition of the spirants ś and ṣ. These the Avesta shares with the Vedas.

1. The simple vowels.

6. The vowel a.—This is by far the commonest vowel, being much more than twice as frequent as ā; while these two a-vowels combined occur as often as all the rest (including diphthongs) taken together³. According to the modern Indian pronunciation, a has the sound of a very short close neutral vowel like the English u in but. That such was its character as early as the time of Pāṇini appears from his last Sūtra, according to which a is not the short sound corresponding to ā. To the same effect are the statements of the Prātiśākhya⁴, which describe a as a 'close' (saṃvṛta) sound. This pronunciation is borne out by the reproduction of Indian words in Greek, where the vowel, though usually represented by a, appears as ē or ō also; on the other hand, the frequent reproduction of the Greek a by the Indian ā indicates that, to the Indian ear, that vowel was both longer and had more distinctively the sound of a. Similarly, Hindus of the present day make the observation that the English pronunciation of ā in Sanskrit words sounds long (dirgha) to them. As the ancient Iranian languages have the normal ā throughout, the close pronunciation must be an Indian innovation. But whether it already prevailed in the period when the Saṃhitās were composed is uncertain. The fact, however, that in the RV. the metre hardly ever admits of the ā being elided after e or o, though the written text drops it in about 75 per cent of its occurrences, seems to indicate that when the hymns of the RV. were composed, the pronunciation of ā was still open, but that at the time when the Samhitā text was constituted, the close pronunciation was already becoming general.

a. Though a ordinarily represents IE. ā ē ō i, it also often replaces an original sonant nasal² representing the reduced form of the unaccented Vedic syllables a+nasal: 1) an in derivative and inflexional syllables; e. g. sat-ā beside the stem sān- 'being'; jihv-ati 'they sacrifice' (suffix otherwise -anti); 2) a+nasal in radical syllables; e. g. ta-tā 'stretched': ṭan-; ga-tā 'gone': ṭgam-; das-mā 'wondrous': ṭdams-; stem pathi- 'path', beside pānthā-; 3) in words as shown by comparative philology; e. g. śatā-m 'hundred' (Lat. centum), dāśa 'ten' (Lat. decem)³.

Very rarely a is a Prakritic representative of r, as in vi-kaṭa-4 'monstrous', beside vi-kṛta- 'deformed'.

7. The vowel ā. — This sound represents both a simple long vowel⁵ and a contraction; e. g. ā-sthā-t 'he has stood'; āsam 'I was' (= ā-as-am), bhārāti 'may he bear' (= bhāra-a-ti).

a. Like a, the long vowel ā frequently corresponds to or is derived from a syllable containing a nasal; e. g. khā-ti 'dug': ṭkhan-; ā-tmān- 'soul': an- 'breathe'. In very rare instances the nasal is retained in the RV.: jighāmsati 'desires to strike': ṭhan-; śrānti- 'wearied': ṭśram-; dhvānti- 'dark': ṭdhvan-; there are six or eight more instances in the later Samhitās⁶. Here the reappearance of the nasal in a weak radical syllable is an innovation due to the influence of other forms with nasals⁷.

8. The vowel i. — This sound in the first place is an original vowel; e. g. div- 'in heaven'. It also frequently represents the low grade of e and ya both in roots⁸ and suffixes; e. g. vid-mā 'we know', beside véd-a 'I know'; nāv-iṣṭha- 'newest', beside nāv-yas- 'newer'. It further appears as the low grade of ā in roots containing that vowel: e. g. sīdhyati 'succeeds', beside sādhati; śiṣṭā- 'taught', beside śāsti 'teaches'; especially when the vowel is final, as in sthi-tā- 'stood': ṭsthā-. From the latter use it came to assume the function of a 'connecting' vowel; e. g. jan-i-ty- 'begetter': ṭjan-; after heavy syllables also in the ending -ire of 3 pl. pf. mid. vavand-ire (beside nunudrē). In sīthirā- 'loose' i would be a Prakritic representative of r, if the word is derived from ṭśrath-9.

9. The vowel ī. — This sound is an original vowel, e. g. in jīvā- 'living'¹⁰. It also often represents the low grade of yā both in roots and suffixes; e. g. jī-ti- (AV.), 'overcome': ṭjyā-; aś-ī-māhi 'we would attain', beside aś-yām 'I would attain'. It further seems to represent the low grade of both radical and suffixal ā; but this can probably in all instances be explained as either a low grade of ai or a later substitution for i; e. g. gī-tha- (AV.) beside gā-thā- 'song', is from the root gai-; adī-mahi (VS.) and dī-śva (VS.), from ṭ2 dā- and ṭ3 dā-, occur beside forms in i from the three roots dā- which have i only in the RV.; hīnd- 'forsaken', from ṭhā-, occurs once in RV. x beside forms with i only in RV. I-IX. A similar explanation probably applies to the -nī- of the ninth class of verbs beside -nā-, e. g. grbhñt-: *grbhñā-*¹¹.

⁹ This term will be retained in the present work in its conventional sense (cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 365), and 'roots' will be quoted in the usually low grade form in which they appear in Sanskrit grammar. The term 'base' will be used to designate the phonetic unit which is the starting point of vowel gradation (cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 211). Thus bhāva- or bhavi- is a 'base', bhū- is a 'root'.

10. The vowel u.—This sound is an original vowel; e. g. ūpa 'up to'; duhitṛ- 'daughter'; mādhū- 'sweetness'. It also represents the low grade of o or va both in roots and suffixes; e. g. yugā- m. n. 'yoke', beside yōga- m. 'yoking'; śuṭā- (AV.) 'asleep': śvāpna- m. 'sleep'; kṛnu-: kṛnō- present base of kṛ- 'make'.

11. The vowel ū.—This sound is an original vowel; e. g. bhrū- 'brow'; śūra- 'hero'. It is also the low grade for avi, au, vā; e. g. bhū-t 'has become': bhavi-syāti 'will become'; dhūtā- 'shaken': dhautīrī-, f. 'shaking'; sūd- 'sweeten': svād- 'enjoy'.

12. The vowel r.—The vowel *r*¹ is at the present day usually pronounced as ri; and that this pronunciation is old is shown by the confusion of the two sounds in inscriptions and Mss., as well as by the reproduction of r by ri in the Tibetan script². But r was originally pronounced as vocalic r. The Prātisākhya of the RV., VS., AV.³ describe it as containing an r, which according to the RPr. is in the middle. According to the commentator on the VPr. this medial r constitutes one-half of the sound, the first and last quarter being *ā*⁴. This agrees with rr, the equivalent of r in the Avesta.

Except in the acc. and gen. plur. of r-stems (where r̄ is written), the long vowel is in the RV. represented by the sign for r: always in forms of the verb *mṛd-*⁵ 'be gracious', in the past participles tyrhā- 'crushed', dr̥hā- 'firm', in the gen. nr̥nām, and in the one occurrence of the gen. *tisr̥nām*⁶. In the later Samhitās, the vowel in these instances was pronounced short⁷; and it was doubtless for this reason that r came to be erroneously written for r̄ in the text of the RV.

13. The vowel *r̄*⁸.—This long vowel, according to RPr. and APr.⁹, contains an r in its first half only. It appears only in the acc. and gen. plur. masc. fem. of r-stems; e. g. pitr̄n, māt̄s; pitr̄nām, svdsr̄nām. Thus the r̄ was written only where a- i- u- stems showed analogous forms with ā ī ū; and prosodical evidence proves that, in the RV., r̄ is required even in the two genitives in which r is written (nr̄nām and tisr̄nām)¹⁰. In the TS., however, all these genitives plur. have *r*¹¹ (that is, pitr̄nām as well as nr̄nām, tisr̄nām).

14. The vowel l.—This sound, though pronounced as lri at the present day, was originally a vocalic l. Its description in the Prātisākhya¹² is analogous to that of r. It is found only in a few forms or derivatives of the verb kṛp- 'be in order': cakṛpr̄, 3 pl. perf.; cikṛpati, 3 sing. aor. subj.; kṛpti- (VS.) 'arrangement'. In the RV. r appears beside it in kṛp- 'form'¹³.

2. The diphthongs.

15. The diphthongs e and o.—At the present day these sounds are pronounced in India as long monophthongs like ē and ō in most European

languages. That they already had this character at the time of the Prātiśākhya¹ and of Pāṇini's successors Kātyāyana² and Patañjali³, appears from the accounts given by those authorities, who at the same time recognize these two sounds to be in many instances the result of the euphonic combination (saṃdhi, Sandhi) of a+i and a+u respectively. This evidence is borne out by the reproduction of Indian words by the Greeks⁴ and of Greek words by the Indians⁵ from about 300 B. C. onwards.

a. These two sounds as a rule represent earlier diphthongs of which the second element was i or u respectively. 1. This is most evidently so when they are produced in Sandhi by the coalescence of ā with i and ū. As the result of such a combination they are explicable only on the assumption of an earlier pronunciation of these sounds as the genuine diphthongs āi and āu. — 2. They are further based on prehistoric contractions within words in declension and conjugation; e. g. loc. sing. of āśva 'horse': āśve (cp. nāv-i 'in the ship'); nom. acc. du. neut. of padā 'step': padē (cp. vācas-i 'two words'); 3. sing. pot. mid. bhāvēta 'should become' (cp. ās-īta 'would sit'); maghōn- weak stem (= magha-un) of maghāvan- 'bountiful'; ā-voc-at 3. sing. aor. of vac- 'speak' (= ā-va-uc-at)⁶. — 3. These two sounds also represent the high grade corresponding to the weak grade vowels i and u; e. g. sēcati 'pours', beside sik-tā- 'poured'; bhoj-am, beside bhij-am, aor. of bhuj- 'enjoy'⁷.

b. 1. In a small number of words *e*¹⁰ represents Indo-Iranian as (still preserved in the Avesta) before d dh and h (= dh): dehi 'give', and dhehi 'set' (Av. dasdi); e-dhi 'be', beside ās-ti; nēd-īyas- 'very near', nēd-īstha- 'nearest' (Av. nasdyo, nasdišta-); medhā- 'insight' (Av. mazdāō); miyēdha- 'meat-juice' (Av. myasda-); vedhās- 'adorer' (Av. vazdah-); *sēd-*⁸ weak perf. of sad- 'sit' (Av. hasd- for Indo-Iranian sasd-)⁹. — 2. Similarly *o*¹⁰ represents as in stems ending in -as before the bh of case-endings, e. g. from deśa-as- n. 'hatred', inst. pl. deśa-bhis; and before secondary suffixes beginning with y or v: amho-yū- 'distressing' (but apas-yū- 'active'); duvo-yū- 'wishing to give' (beside duvas-yū-); sāho-van- (AV.) 'mighty', beside sāhas-van- (RV.). In derivatives of śās- 'six', and of vah- 'carry', o represents as before d or dh, which it cerebralizes: śo-dāsa (VS.) 'sixteen'; so-dhā 'six-fold'; vo-dhum 'to carry'.

16. The diphthongs ai and au. — These sounds are pronounced at the present day in India as diphthongs in which the first element is short. Even at the time of the Prātiśākhya they had the value of āi and *āu*¹¹. But that they are the etymological representatives of āi and āu is shown by their becoming āy and āv respectively before vowels both in Sandhi¹² and within words; e. g. gāu-as 'kine', beside gāu-s 'cow'¹³. That such was their original value is also indicated by the fact that in Sandhi a contracts with *e*¹⁴ to ai, and with o to *au*¹⁵.

17. Lengthening of vowels. — 1. Before n, vowels are lengthened only (except r in the gen. pl.) in the acc. pl. in -ān, -īn, -ūn, *-ṛn*¹⁶, where the long vowel is doubtless pre-Indian¹⁷.

2. Before suffixal y, i and u are phonetically lengthened: a) as finals of roots; e. g. kṣī-yāte 'is destroyed' (√kṣi-); sū-yāte 'is pressed' (√su-); śrū-yās 'may he hear' (√śru-); b) as finals of nouns in denominatives formed with -yā and their derivatives; e. g. jānī-yānt- 'desiring a wife' (jāni-); valgū- yāti 'treats kindly' (valgī-); gātū-yāti 'desires free course' (gātī-; but also gātu-yāti)¹. The AV.² has a few exceptions: arāti-yāti 'is hostile'; jantī-yāti as well as *jantī-yāti*³; c) i in the suffix -īya and in the comparative suffix -īyas.

3. Before r, if radical, i and u seem to be lengthened when a consonant follows; e.g. gīr-bhis beside gīr-as (gīr 'song of praise'); pūr-sū beside pūr-as (pūr 'fort'), but īr and ūr here represent IE. *r̥*⁴. In a few instances this is extended by analogy to words in which the r is not radical: āsīr 'blessing' (āsīs-); sajūr 'together' (√jus-)⁵.

4. Before v, the vowels a i u are lengthened: a) in some instances the augment: āvīdhyat 'he wounded' (√vyadh-)⁶; b) once before the primary suffix -vāms of the perfect participle: jigī-vāms- 'having conquered' (√ji-); c) often before the secondary suffixes -van, -vana, -vant, -vala, -vin; e.g. rītā-van 'observing order'; kārṣṭi-vana (AV.) 'ploughman'; yā-vant 'how great'; śvāṣṭi-vant (RV¹) 'snorting' (√śvas-); krṣṭi-vala 'ploughman'; duyā-vin 'dishonest'; d) often before the second member of a compound; e.g. gūrtāvasu 'whose treasures are welcome'.

5. Before llr. z and z, when followed by one or more consonants, vowels are lengthened by way of compensation for the loss of the z or *z̥*⁸; a) ā (= az) in tādhi 'hew' (√tak-); bādhā 'firm' (√bamh-); sādh- 'conquering', ā-sādh- 'invincible' (√sah-); b) ī = iṣ in īd- 'adore' (√yaj- 'sacrifice', or √iṣ- 'wish'); mūdā 'nest'; pīd- 'press'; mūdā 'reward'; mūdhwāms- 'bounteous'; rīdhā 'licked' (√rih-); vūd- 'swift'; sīdati (= sizdati) 'sits'; hīd- 'be angry' (cp. hims- 'injure'). c) ū = uṣ in ūdhā 'borne' (√vah-); gūdhā 'concealed' (√guh-)⁹.

6. Vowels also appear lengthened under conditions other than those enumerated above (1-5).

a. Final a i u are very frequently lengthened in the Samhitās before a single consonant owing to rhythmical predilections; from this use the lengthening of the vowels is extended to syllables which are reduplicative or precede suffixes¹⁰.

b. For metrical reasons the length is in a few words shifted to another syllable. Thus didihī often appears instead of the regular dīdihī; and in virā-śāt 'ruling men', *virā*¹¹ stands for vīra. A similar explanation perhaps applies to carātha 'moving', beside carātha; and māhina 'gladsome', beside māhina.

c. The long vowel beside the short in the same stem appears in some instances to be due to vowel gradation; as in tvāt-pitāras (TS.) 'having thee as a father', beside pitāras; prthu-jāghana 'broad-hipped', beside jaghdna.

⁴ See above on r̥, p. 8, note 8.

⁵ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 23. When ir stands for suffixal -is, it remains unchanged; e.g. havīrbhis 'with oblations' (hav-is), krivir-dat-i 'saw-toothed'; -ur, with genuine u, remains short in urvārā 'field', urvī- 'wide', urviyā 'widely' (uru- 'wide'), urv-āsī- 'desire', dur-

(for dus-) e.g. in dur-gā- 'hard to traverse'.

⁶ The lengthening of the augment in āyuna-, dyukta (√yuj-) and āriṇak, āraik (√ric-), follows this analogy.

⁸ This appears to be the only kind of compensatory lengthening in the Vedic language. Cp. 17, 1.

¹⁰ See WACKERNAGEL I, 43.

¹¹ Metrical shortening of a long syllable

'hip'; ānu-śāk 'in continuous order', beside ānu 'along' as first member of a compound.

d. The lengthening of the vowel in a certain number of instances appears to be due to analogy; thus the denominatives in -āyā beside -ayā from a-stems (e. g. ṛtāyā 'observe order', beside ṛtayā), seem to follow the model of those in -tyāti and -āyāti, which would account for the fluctuation in quantity. Tikṣṇā 'sharp' (beside tigmd-: tij- 'be sharp') and halikṣṇa- (TS.) beside halikṣṇa- (VS.), a kind of animal, appear to owe their ī to the influence of desideratives which in several instances have ī (partly for older i) before ḥs. The reason for the ū in tūṣṇīm 'silently' (tus- 'become quiet'), and in sumnd- (VS.), otherwise sumnd- 'favour', is, however, obscure.

18. Loss of vowels.—Vowels are very rarely dropped in the language of the Samhitās. Medial loss is almost entirely restricted² to the isolated disappearance of u before v and m. That vowel is dropped at the end of the first member of a compound in anvartitā (RV¹) 'wooer' (= anu-vartitā); ānvartīye (AV.) 'I shall follow'³; cār-vadana- (AV. Paipp.) 'of lovely aspect' (= cāru-vadana-) and cār-vāc- (AV. Paipp.) 'speaking pleasantly'⁴. The only example of the loss of ā in this position seems to be tīl-pñija- (AV¹) a kind of plant, beside tīla-pñiji- (AV¹). The vowel u is further dropped before the m of the 1 pers. pl. pres. ending of the 5th (-nu-) class, when the u is preceded by only one consonant, in kṛṇ-mahe and kṛṇ-māsi (AV.)⁵ 'we do'.

Initial vowels also occasionally disappear. The only vowel that is lost with any frequency is ā, which is dropped in Sandhi after c and o, according to the evidence of metre, in about one per cent of its occurrences in the RV. and about twenty per cent in the AV. and the metrical portions of the YV.⁶ In a few words its disappearance is prehistoric: in vi- 'bird'⁷ (Lat. avi-), possibly in nī- 'in' (Greek ἐν)⁸, in pū- 'press'⁹, *bhi-śā-*¹⁰ 'healer'. ā is lost in tmān-, beside ā-tmān-, but the reason has not been satisfactorily explained¹¹. In va 'like', beside iva, the loss of i is probably only apparent: cp. vā 'like' (Lat. vē 'or')¹². Initial u seems to be lost, if the reading is not corrupt, in śmasi (RV. II. 31⁶) beside uśmāsi 'we desire' (√vas-).

19. Contraction.—Long vowels and diphthongs are often the result of contraction in Sandhi¹³. They have frequently a similar origin in the interior of words¹⁴.

a. Contractions of a with a vowel or diphthong are the following:

1. ā often stands for a + a, ā + a, or a + ā; e. g. āj-at, augmented imperfect (= ā-aj-at); ād-a, red. perf. (= a-ād-a); bhārāti, pres. subj. (= bhāra-ati); *ukthā*¹⁵, inst. sing. (= ukthā-a); āśvās 'mares', nom. pl. (= āśvā-as); dāti, aor. subj. (= dā-ati); devām, gen. pl. (= devā-ām).

2. e stands for a + ī and ā + ī; e. g. āśve, loc. sing. (= āśva-i); padē,

(at the end of a triṣṭubh-line), without interchange of quantity, appears in sirāsu, loc. plur. of śīrā- 'stream'.

3. o stands for a+u; e. g. dvocam, aor. of vac- 'speak' (= āva-uc-am).

4. ai stands for ā+e and, in augmented forms, a+ē; e. g. tāsmāi 'to him', dat. sing. masc. (= tāsma-e); devyāi, dat. sing. fem. (= devyā-e); dicchat, 3. sing. impf. (= ā-icchat); āratā, 3. pl. impf. (= ā-irata) 'set in motion'.

5. au stands for a+ū in augmented forms; e. g. ducchat, 3. sing. impf. of vas- 'shine' (= ā-ucchat); auhat, 3. sing. impf. of ūh- 'remove' (= a-ūh-at).

b. Contractions of i with i or ā are the following:

1. ī stands for i+i in the nom. acc. pl. neut. of i-stems; e. g. trī 'three' (= tri-i).

2. ī stands for i+i in weak forms of the perfect, when the reduplicative vowel is immediately followed by i (either original or reduced from ya); e. g. īś-īr (= i-īś-īr from iś- 'speed'); īj-ē (= i-ij-ē from yaj- 'sacrifice').

3. ī stands for i+ā in the inst. sing. fem. and the nom. acc. du. masc. fem. of stems in -i; e. g. matī (= matī-ā) 'by thought'; pāti 'the two lords' (= pāti-ā, cp. ṛtvij-ā), ślci-ī, du. fem. 'the two bright ones' (= ślci-ā).

4. ī stands for i+ā in compounds of dvi- 'two', nī 'down', prāti 'against', with the low grade of āp- 'water': dvīp-d- 'island'; nīp-d- 'low-lying' (K.); pratīpām 'against the stream'².

5. ī stands for i+ā when reduplicative i is followed by the low grade form of a root beginning with ā: īpsa-ti (AV.), desiderative of āp- 'obtain' (= i-īp-sa-)³. A similar contraction takes place when initial radical a is long by position, in īks-ate 'sees' (cp. āks-i 'eye') and īkṣh-āyati 'swings' (cp. pari-āṅkhāyate 'may he embrace'). In īj-ate 'drives', beside āj-ati 'drives', the contraction to ī of i+ā is perhaps due to analogy⁴.

c. Contractions of u with u or ā are the following:

1. ū stands for u+u in weak forms of the perfect when the reduplicative vowel is immediately followed by u (either original or reduced from va); e. g. ūc-e, 3 sing. mid. (= u-uc-e) from uc- 'like'; ūc-ūr (= u-uc-ūr) from vac- 'speak'.

2. ū stands for u+ā in the compound formed with dnu 'along' and the low grade of āp- 'water': *anūp-d-*⁴ 'pond'.

3. ū stands for u+ā in the nom. acc. du. masc. fem. of u-stems; e. g. bāhū 'the two arms' (= bāhū-ā).

4. ū seems to stand for u+i in the nom. acc. pl. neuter of u-stems; e. g. vāsu (= vāsu-i), from vāsu- 'good'; but the vowel may possibly be lengthened by analogy⁵, for the Pada text always has ū.

20. Hiatus.—a. In the written text of the Saṃhitās, hiatus is, as a rule, tolerated in diphthongs only, vowels being otherwise separated by consonants. It nevertheless appears:

1. in Sandhi, when a final s y or v has been dropped before a following vowel; when final ī ū e of dual endings are followed by vowels; when a remains after final e and o; and in some other instances⁶;

2. in compounds, when the final s of the first member has disappeared before a vowel; e. g. āyo-agra- 'iron-pointed' (āyas- 'iron'); pura-ātṛ- 'leader' (purās 'before'); and when, by a Prakritism, y is lost in prā-uga- 'fore-part of the shaft' (= prā-yuga-);

² Cp. āṅika- and prāṅika- 'face'.

³ Cp. Saṃprasāraṇa ī and ū for yā and vā.

⁴ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 90 c, p. 104.

3. in the simple word *tītai-*¹ 'sieve' (probably from taṃs- 'shake'), by a loss of s, due most likely to borrowing from an Iranian dialect (where medial s would have become h, which then disappeared).

b. 1. Though not written, hiatus is common elsewhere also in the Samhitās². The evidence of metre shows that y and v must often be pronounced as i and u, and that a long vowel or a diphthong has frequently the value of two vowels. When the long vowel or diphthong is the result of contraction, the two original vowels must often be restored, within a word as well as in Sandhi. Thus pānti 'they protect', may have to be read as pā-anti (= pā-anti)³, āñjan 'they anointed' as ā-añjan; jyēṣṭha- 'mightiest' as jyā-iṣṭha- (= jyā-iṣṭha- from jyā- 'be mighty'); dicchas as d-i-cchas 'thou didst wish'; aur̥ṇos as a-ūr̥ṇos 'thou didst open'⁴.

2. Hiatus is further produced by distraction of long vowels⁵ which, as the metre shows, are in the R̥gveda often to be pronounced as two short vowels. This distraction was doubtless originally due partly to a slurred accentuation which practically divided a syllable into two halves, and partly to the resolution of etymological contraction. From such instances distraction spread to long vowels in which it was not historically justified. It appears most often in ā, especially in the gen. pl. in -ām, also in the abl. sing. in -āt, the nom. acc. pl. in -ās, -āsas of a-stems, in the acc. sing. in -ām of such words as abjām 'born in the water'; and in many individual words⁶. Distraction is further found in the diphthongs of words in which it is not etymologically justified; as in the genitives vās 'of a bird', gās 'of a cow', in tradhā 'threefold', nētr- 'leader', rēkna- 'property', śrēṇi- 'row'; and in other words⁷.

21. Svarabhakti.—When a consonant is in conjunction with r or a nasal, a very short vocalic sound tends to be developed between them, and the evidence of metre shows that a vowel must often be pronounced between them. It is the general view of the Prātiśākhya⁸ that when an r precedes another consonant a vowel is sounded after it; according to some of them this also takes place after l or even after any voiced consonant. They call it svarabhakti or 'vowel-part', which they describe as equal to $\frac{1}{8}$, $\frac{1}{4}$, or $\frac{1}{2}$ mora in length and generally as equivalent to a or e (probably = ē) in sound.

a. The metre of the RV. shows that an additional syllable is frequently required in words in which r either precedes or follows⁹ another consonant; e. g. darsati- 'worthy to be seen' (quadrisyllabic); *indra-*¹⁰, name of a god (very often trisyllabic); prā 'forth' (dissyllabic)¹¹.

³ As a rule, one vowel (including e and o) is shortened before another: see OLDENBERG, op. cit., 465 ff.; 447 ff.

⁵ See OLDENBERG, op. cit., 163 ff. (Vocale mit zweisilbiger Geltung).

⁶ See WACKERNAGEL I, 44. This is a very old phenomenon, as it is found in the Avesta in the gen. pl. and in other forms: OLDENBERG 181; WACKERNAGEL I, p. 50.

⁷ WACKERNAGEL I, 46. This distraction of diphthongs is also pre-Vedic, parallels being found in the Avesta. Its use gradually decreases in the RV. and is lacking in the later Samhitās, doubtless owing to the disappearance of slurred accentuation: WACKERNAGEL I, 47.

⁸ RPr. VI 13f., VPr. IV. 16; TPr. XXI. 15f.; APr. I. 101ff.

¹¹ There seem to be a few instances of a Svarabhakti vowel being actually written: tarāsanti, beside tras- 'tremble'; the secondary derivative śvaidrīm, beside śvidrā- (AV.) 'white'; pīruṣa- and pīruṣa- 'man', probably for pīruṣa-* (WACKERNAGEL I, 51, cp. 52). The initial vowel of ulokā-, which is commoner than lokā- 'world', has not yet been satisfactorily explained; cp. op. cit. I, 52 d.

b. When a consonant is followed by ñ, n, or m, the same parasitic vowel often appears; e. g. yajñd- (= yajñd-) 'sacrifice'; gnā- (= gñā-) 'woman'. It is, however, here frequent only as representing the second syllable after the caesura in trīṣubh and jagati verses; it rarely occurs at the beginning of such verses, and never at the end¹.

VOWEL GRADATION.

I. The Guṇa series: e o ar.

22. A. Low grade: i u r.—In the same root or stem the simple vowels i u r are found to interchange² with the respective high grade forms e o ar al³ called Guṇa ('secondary form'?) by the native grammarians, according to the conditions under which the formative elements are attached. Beside these appear, but much less frequently, the long grade forms ai au ā called Vṛddhi ('increase') by the same authorities. The latter regarded the simple vowels as the fundamental grade, which, from the Indian point of view, these vowels often evidently represent: thus from ūrṇavābhi- (SB.) 'spider', we have the derivative formation aurṇavābhā- 'sprung from a spider'⁴. Comparative grammar has, however, shown that in such forms we have only a secondary application of an old habit of gradation derived from the IE. period, and that Guṇa⁵ represents the normal stage from which the low grade form, with reduced or altogether lacking vowel⁶, arose in less accented syllables. This theory alone can satisfactorily explain the parallel treatment of Guṇa gradation (e o ar beside i u r) and Samprasāraṇa gradation (ya va ra beside i u r), as in diṣ-ṭā-, dī-dēṣ-a (diṣ- 'point out') and iṣ-ṭā-, īyāj-a (yaj- 'sacrifice'). In other words, i u r can easily be explained as reduced forms of both Guṇa and Samprasāraṇa syllables (as ending or beginning with i u r), while the divergent 'strengthening' of i u r, under the same conditions, to e o ar or ya va ra cannot be accounted for⁷.

The interchange of Guṇa and simple vowel is generally accompanied by a shift of accent: Guṇa appears in the syllable which bears the accent, but is replaced by the simple vowel when the accent is transferred to the following syllable. This shows itself most clearly in inflexional forms; e. g. é-mi 'I go', but i-más 'we go'; āp-nó-mi (AV.) 'I obtain', but āp-nu-más 'we obtain'; vārdhāya, but vrdhāya 'to further'. Hence it is highly probable that change of accent was the cause of the gradation⁸.

a. Long grade or Vṛddhi: ai, au, ā.—Vṛddhi is far more restricted in use than Guṇa, and as it nearly always appears where Guṇa is to be expected, it may be regarded as a lengthened variety of it⁹ dating back to the IE. period.

⁴ See below a, 3 and cp. 25 B2; WACKERNAGEL I, 55, p. 62, note (top).

⁵ Both a and ā represent the Guṇa or normal stage in the gradation of the a-vowels in many roots: see 24; WACKERNAGEL I, 55 b.

⁶ The vowel sometimes disappears in the low grade of the a-series ('Schwundstufe') see 24.

⁷ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 55.

⁹ 'Dehnstufe'; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 61.

It is to be found 1) in strong forms of a few monosyllabic substantives, in the nom. sing. of sákhi- 'friend' and of stems in -r, and in the loc. sing. of stems in i and u: su-hárd- 'good-hearted' (from hṛd- 'heart'), dydu-s 'heaven' (from dyū-), gāu-s 'cow' (from gō-); *sákhiā*², *pitā*²; *agnā*³ (from agnī- 'fire'), aktāu (from akti- 'night'); 2) before the primary nominal suffixes -a, -i, -ti, -tna, -man, -vana; e.g. spārḥ-ā- 'desirable' (√spṛh-); hārd-i- 'heart' (from hṛd-); kārṣ-i- (VS.) 'drawing' (√kṛṣ-); śrāuṣ-ti 'obedient' (√śruṣ-); cyau-tub- 'stimulating' (√cyu-); bhārman- 'board' (√bhr-); kārṣ-t-vana- (AV.) 'ploughman'; 3) in secondary nominal derivation, generally to form patronymics or adjectives expressive of connexion or relation⁴; e.g. gairikṣitā- 'descended from giri-kṣit'; ausijā- 'son of Uśij'; śrautrá- 'relating to the ear' (śrātra-); hairanyā- 'golden' (hīranya- 'gold'); 4) in the singular pres. of a few verbs of the second class and in the active s-aorist of roots ending in vowels: kṣṇāu-mi 'I sharpen' (√kṣṇu-); *mūrṣ-ti*⁵ 'he wipes' (√mṛṣ-); yāu-mi (AV.) 'I unite' (√yū-); a-jai-ṣam 'I have conquered' (√ji-); yātu-s, 2 sing. 'ward off' (√yū-); a-bhār-ṣam 'I have borne' (√bhr-).

B. Low grade: ī ū īr.—The same Guṇa and Vṛddhi forms as a rule correspond to these long vowels as to their short forms i u r. Thus bhī- 'fear': bi-bhāy-a and bi-bhāy-a; hū- 'call': ju-hūv-a; tīr- 'cross': ta-tīr-a, beside tīr-dīte and tīr-na- (just like śrī- 'resort': śi-śrāy-a; śru- 'hear': śu-śrāv-a; kṛ- 'do': ca-kār-a). Before consonants the roots pṛi- 'love', vī- 'desire', vī- 'impel', śī- 'lie', nī- 'lead', bhī- 'fear', have Guṇa forms in e, the last two also Vṛddhi forms in ai; but roots in ū and ṛ have *avi*⁶ and ari as Guṇa, āvi and āri as Vṛddhi, respectively; e.g. pū- 'purify', aor. pavi-ṣṭa and apāvīṣur; kṛ- 'scatter', aor. subj. *kāri-ṣat*⁷.

a. ī and ū instead of Guṇa. In a few verbs and some other words ī and ū are the old weak grade vowels (almost invariably medial) of e and o, the length of which has been preserved by the accent shifting to them (while when not thus protected they have been shortened to i and u), and which as thus accented, sometimes appear instead of the Guṇa vowels. Thus ī is found in riṣ-ant- 'injuring' (= rīṣ-ant*-), beside reṣa-, the low grade form of the radical syllable otherwise becoming riṣ-⁸. Similarly gūhati 'hides' appears beside gūh-a- 'hiding-place', the root being also shortened in guh-yāte, etc.; dūṣ-dyati 'spoils', beside doṣ-ā- and doṣas- (AV.) 'evening', also dīṣ-ti- (AV.) 'destruction'; ūh-ati 'removes', beside śh-a- 'gift'; nū 'now', nū-tana- 'new', nū-nām 'now', beside nāva- 'new', also nū 'now' (never at the beginning of a sentence); mūs- 'mouse', beside mūṣatha 'ye rob', also muṣitā- 'stolen'; yūpa- 'post', beside yuyūpa 'has infringed', also yupitā- (AV.) 'smoothed'; stūpa- 'tuft', beside sto-kā- 'drop', also stu-pā- (VS.) 'tuft'⁹.

b. In a few roots ending in *v*¹⁰, the radical vowel ī represents the low

² With loss of r, the preceding vowel having compensatory IE. lengthening (cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 61 c). In a few instances, the Vṛddhi of the nom. sing. spread to other cases (cp. 25 B b 1); e.g. tār-as, nom. pl., from old nom. sing. stār* (beside stā-bhis).

³ Also agnāu, like the u-stems.

⁷ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 76.

¹⁰ That is, the original form would have been īv- or jū- according as a vowel or a consonant followed.

grade, but early began to supplant e; thus from div- 'play', beside didēva (AV.), dēv-ana- 'game of dice', occur div-yati, div-é and div-i dat. and loc. of div- 'game of dice'; from sriv- 'fail', beside śrevdyant-, srivayati (AV.); but from miv- 'push', only miv-ati etc.; from siv- 'sew', only siv-yati etc. It is a peculiarity of these roots that iv appears before vowels and y only, becoming yū or ū before other consonants; thus dyū-tā- (AV.) 'play'; -mū-ta- 'impelled', mū-rā- 'dull', mū-tra- (AV. VS.) 'urine'; syū-tā- 'fastened', sū-ct- 'needle', sū-tra- (AV.) 'thread'; srū- 'lead ball'¹.

II. The Samprasāraṇa² series.

a. Gradation of ya va ra.

23. Low grade: *i u r*³.—In place of the accented syllables ya va ra (corresponding to the Guṇa vowels e o ar) appear the low grade vowels *i u r*⁴ when the accent shifts to the following syllable in some fourteen roots, viz. yaj- 'sacrifice', vyac- 'extend', vyadh- 'pierce', vac- 'speak', vad- 'speak', vap- 'strew', vaś- 'be eager', vas- 'dwell', vas- 'shine', vah- 'carry'; svap- 'sleep', grabh- and grah- 'seize', pracch- (properly praś-) 'ask', vraśc- 'hew'; e. g. iṣ-tā- : yāṣ-tave; uś-māsi : vāṣ-ti; susup-vāms- : susvāpa.

a. Besides these, a good many other roots, in occasional verbal forms or nominal derivatives, show the same gradation in the radical syllable.

1. i appears in mimikṣūr : mimykṣa perf. of √myakṣ-; vithūra- 'waving', vithuryāti 'wavers', beside vydth-ate 'wavers'.

2. u in ikṣant- 'growing' : vavākṣa 'has grown'; śus-dnt- : śvas-iti 'breathes'; ju-hur-as : hūr-ati 'is crooked'; ur-ū- 'broad' : comp. vār-tyas-, superl. vār-iṣṭha-; dūr- : dvār- 'door'; dhūn-i- 'resounding' : dhvan-t- (AV.) 'sound'.

3. r in kṛpate 'laments' : aor. akrapīṣṭa; grṇatti (AV.) : grath-itā- 'tied'; -srth-ita- : srath-nāti 'becomes loose'; rj-ū- 'straight' : rāj-iṣṭha- 'straightest'; rbbh-ū- 'adroit' : rābh-ate 'grasps'; drh-ya 'be firm' (impv.) : drah-yāt 'firmly'; prth-ū- 'broad' : prāth-ati 'spreads out'; bhṛm-d- 'error' : bhram-d- 'whirling flame'; ā-ni-bhrṣ-ta- 'undefeated' : bhraś-at aor., bhraś-tā- (AV.) 'fallen'; mṛd-ū- 'soft' : mrada 'soften' (impv.), ūrṇa-mradas- 'soft as wool'; śṛk-van- : sṛk-va- 'corner of the mouth'.

b. This gradation also appears in the stems of a few nouns and in certain nominal suffixes: dyū-bhis : dyāv-i loc., dyāu-s nom. 'heaven'; śūn- : śvā-, śvān- 'dog'; yām- (= yū-un-) : yūva-, yūvān- 'youth'; catūr- : catvār- 'four'; the superlative and comparative suffixes -iṣṭha and -yas; the perf. part. suffix -uṣ : -vat, *-vāms*⁵.

b. Gradation of yā vā rā.

24. Low grade: ī ū ṛ.—Corresponding to the reduction of the short syllables ya va ra to the short vowels i u r, the long syllables yā vā rā appear as ī ū ṛ (= IE. ī).

¹ The etymology of this word is, however, doubtful. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 81.

³ Though r seems invariably to have resulted from the reduction of Guṇa or Samprasāraṇa syllables, there is no reason to suppose that every i and u has a similar origin. On the contrary, it is more likely that IE. i and u have been preserved by the side of the reduced vowels and that the Guṇa grade has in many instances been subsequently added to original i and u. Cp. PEDERSEN, IF, 2, 323, note.

a. ī is found thus both in radical and suffixal syllables: 1. in jī-tā- (AV.) jī-yāte (AV.) and jī-yate: jyā- 'might', jyā-yas- 'stronger', jī-jyā-sant- 'desiring to overcome'; 2. in the fem. suffix -ī: kan-ī-nām (for kanī-nām) from kan-yā- 'girl'; in nom. acc., e. g. devī, devīm, devīs, beside -yā- in dat. abl. gen. loc. sing. devyā (= devyā-e), devyās (= devyā-as), devyām (= devyā-am); 3. in the optative, either before or after the accented syllable, beside -yī-; e. g. bruv-ī-tā and bhāret (= bhāra-ī-t), but ī-yā-t.

b. ū is found: 1. in forms of sūd- 'put in order' (= 'make palatable'), e. g. sīt-sūd-ati, sūd-āyati, saṃ-sūd-ā- (TS.) 'gum', beside forms and derivatives of svād- 'enjoy', 'taste', e. g. svāda-te, svāttā-, svād-ī- 'sweet'; 2. in fem. nouns in -ū beside -vā in dat. abl. gen. loc. sing.; e. g. śvaśrū- 'mother-in-law', dat. śvaśr-vā (AV., = śvaśr-vā-e), gen. śvaśr-vās (AV., = śvaśr-vā-as), loc. śvaśr-vām (= śvaśr-vā-am).

c. īr (= ī) is found in dirgh-ā- 'long', beside drāgh-īyas- 'longer', drāgh-iṣṭha- 'longest', drāgh-mān- 'length'.

III. The ā-series.

a. Gradation of a.

25. A. Low grade: a or ṛ.—Many roots and formatives have a in the Guṇa or normal stage. The reduction of r from ar or ra indicates that in low grade syllables this a would normally disappear. As a rule, however, it remains¹, doubtless because its loss would in most cases have led to unpronounceable or obscure forms². At the same time, the syncope takes place in a considerable number of instances:

1. in verbal forms: ad- 'eat': d-ānt- (= old pres. part.) 'tooth'; as- 'be': s-ānti, s-yāt, s-ānt, beside ds-ti 'is'; gam- 'go': ja-gm-īr; ghas- 'eat': a-ks-an, 3. pl. impf., g-dha (= ghs-ta), 3. sing. impf. mid., ja-ks-īyāt, perf. opt., beside ghas-a-t 'may he eat'; pat- 'fall': pa-pt-ima, pa-pt-īr, pa-pt-ivāṃs-, perf., a-pa-pt-at, aor., beside pāt-anti; pad- 'go': pī-bā-a-māna-, red. pres. part., pī-bā-and- 'standing firm', beside pād-yate 'goes'; bhas- 'chew': ba-ps-ati, 3. pl. pres., bā-ps-at, pres. part., beside bhās-a-t 'may he chew'; sac- 'follow': sā-sc-ati, 3. pl. red. pres., sa-sc-ata, 3. pl. impf. mid., sa-sc-īr-, 3. pl. perf. mid., beside sāc-ante 'they accompany'; sad- 'sit': sīd-ati (= sī-zd-ati), 3. sing. pres., sed-īr (= sa-zd-īr), 3. pl. perf., beside d-sad-at 'he sat'; han- 'strike': ghn-ānti, 3. pl. pres., beside hān-ti 3. sing.

2. in nominal derivatives: ghas- 'eat': a-g-dhād- (TS.) 'eating what is uneaten' (= a-ghs-ta-ad-), sā-g-dhi (VS.) 'joint meal' (= sa-ghs-ti-); bhas- 'chew': ā-ps-u- 'foodless'; pad- 'walk': upa-bā-d-, upa-bā-l- 'noise' (lit. 'tread'); tur-īya- 'fourth' (= ktur-īya-*): catīr- 'four'; nap̄t-i- 'granddaughter': nāpāt- 'grandson'.

3. in suffixes: -s- for -as- in bhī-ś-ā, inst. sing.: bhīy-ās-ā 'through fear'; śīr-ś-ān-: śīr-as- 'head'; -s- for -as- in the abl. gen. sing. ending of stems in i u o: e. g. agné-s, viṣṇo-s, gō-s.

B. Long grade: ā.—The Vṛddhi corresponding to the a which represents the Guṇa stage is ā. It appears:

a. in the root:

1. in primary nominal derivation: thus pād- 'foot': pad-, bā- 'walk': rāj-

² When a is followed by n or m, the syllables an and am, if preceded by a consonant, usually lose the nasal before mutes; e. g. han- 'strike': hā-thās 2. du. pres.; gam-

'go': ga-tā-; dyu-mānt-, inst. sing. dyu-māt-ā; nā-man-, inst. pl. nāma-bhis. The a in such low grade syllables is generally regarded as historically representing the sonant nasal ṛ: cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 66.

'king': raj-, ṛj- 'direct'; vāc- 'voice': vac-, uc- 'speak'; kṣās, nom., kṣām, acc., 'earth': kṣam-, kṣm-; nābh- 'well': nābh-as, abh-rā- (abh- = n̄bh-) 'cloud'. Also before primary suffixes: āp-as: āp-as 'work'; vās-as 'garment': vas-, uṣ- 'wear'; vāh-as 'offering': vah-, uh- 'convey'; vās-tu 'abode': vas-, uṣ- 'dwell'. Perhaps also pāth-as 'place': path- 'path'¹.

2. in secondary nominal derivation; e. g. kāṇvā- 'descended from Kaṇva'; vāpuṣ-ā- 'marvellous': vāp-us- 'marvel'.

3. in the active of the s-aorist: thus a-cchānt-s-ur: chānt-, chād- (= chpā-) 'appear'; a-yāṇ-s-am, 1. sing.: yam-, ya- (= ym-) 'stretch'; sāk-ṣ-āma, also mid. sāk-ṣ-i, sāk-ṣ-ate: sah- 'overcome'².

b. in the suffix of nominal stems:

1. in the nom. sing. masc. of stems in -mant and -vant, and throughout the strong cases of stems in -an, of mahāt- 'great', and of nāpāt- 'grandson': thus dyu-mān 'brilliant': dyu-mānt-, dyu-māt- (= mpt-); re-vān 'rich': re-vānt-, re-vāt- (= vnt-)³; rāj-ā, acc. rāj-ān-am 'king': rāj-an-, rāj-ñ-, rāj-a- (= rāj-ṇ-); mah-ān, acc. mah-ānt-am; nāpāt-, acc. nāpāt-am.

2. in the nom. acc. pl. neuter of stems in -an and -as and of one in -ant; thus *nāmā*⁴ 'names': nāman, nāma- (= nāmy-); mānāṃs-i 'minds': mān-as; sānt-i: s-ānt- 'being'.

c. in ānu- as first member of a compound in ānu-śāk and ānūkām 'continuously': otherwise anu-.

b. Gradation of ā.

26. Low grade: i.—The vowel ā is not always the long grade vowel: in a number of roots it represents Guṇa. The low grade of this ā is normally i; it sometimes, however, appears as ī, owing to analogy⁵, and, especially with a secondary accent, as a. Thus sthi-tā-: sthā-s 'thou hast stood'; dhī-tā-: dā-dhā-ti 'places'; pu-nī-hī-: pu-nā-ti, from pū- 'purify'; gāh-ana- 'depth', gāh-vara- (AV.) 'hiding-place': gāh-ate 'plunges'.

a. The low grade vowel disappears: i. in roots ending in ā before vowel terminations; in the weak forms of the reduplicated present base of dā- 'give' and dhā- 'put', before all terminations; and in the weak form of the suffix -nā- in the ninth class before vowel terminations; thus in the perf. of dā-: dad-dithur, dad-atur; dad-ā, dad-ir; dad-ē; in the pres. of dhā-: dadh-māsi; beside pu-nā-ti 'he purifies', pu-n-ānti 'they purify'. Similarly from hā- 'forsake' occurs, in the opt. pres., the form jah-yāt (AV.).

2. in the final member of compounds formed with the perf. part. passive of dā- 'give', and dā- 'cut', or with a substantive in -ti from dā- 'give': devā-tta-, a name ('given by the gods'); dva-tta- (VS.) 'cut off'; pāri-tta- (VS.) 'given up'; ā-prati-tta- (AV.) 'not given back'; bhāga-tti- 'gift of fortune'; maghā-tti- 'gift of presents'; vasu-tti- 'gift of wealth' (beside vasu-dhiti- 'bestowal of wealth': dhī-). Also in *agnī-dh-*⁶ 'fire-placer', a kind of priest⁷.

² Op. cit. I, 72 b 2 (p. 80).

⁴ Such neuter plurals were in origin probably feminine singular collectives: cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 481; WACKERNAGEL I, 73 and 95.

⁶ Cp. agnī-dhāna- 'fire-place'; in VS. agnīdh- appears instead, as if 'fire-kindler' (from idh- 'kindle').

⁷ For a few other examples (which are doubtful) of the loss of the low grade vowel in the final member of compounds, see WACKERNAGEL I, p. 82 (mid.).

IV. The ai and au series.a. Gradation of ai.

27. Low grade: i.—As the final of roots and in suffixes i is graded with ai (as with *yā*¹), which appears as āy- before vowels and as ā- before consonants². The roots in which this gradation is found are stated by the Indian grammarians in five different forms. They are:

a. 1. roots given with -ai- (because their present base appears as -āy-a): gai- 'sing': gī-tā, gī-yā-māna-, beside gāy-ati 'sings', gāy-as 'song', and gā-s-i, 1. sing. aor. mid., gā-thā- 'song'; pyai- 'swell': pī-nā-, beside pyāy-ate; śrai- 'boil': śrī-nā-ti, śrī-tā-, beside śrāy-ati, śrā-tā-. — 2. with -āy: cāy- 'observe': cikī-hi (AV.), beside cāy-amāna-, cāy-ū- 'respectful'. — 3. with -e: dhe- 'suck': dhi-tā-, beside dhāy-as 'drink', dhūy-ū- 'thirsty', and dhā-tave 'to suck', dhā-rū- (AV.) 'sucking'. — 4. with -ā: pā- 'drink': pī-tā-, pī-ti- 'drink', beside pāy-āyati, caus., pāy-āna- 'causing to drink', and ā-pā-ti, aor., pā-tave; rā- 'give': ra-rī-thās, 2. sing. injv., beside rāy-ā 'with wealth', and rā-sva, impv., rā-m, acc. — 5. with -ī: nī- 'lead': nī-tā-, beside nāy-ā- 'leader', and nā-thā- (AV.) 'help'; pī- 'revile': pī-yati, pī-ya-tni- and pī-y-ū- 'reviler', beside pāy-ū- (VS.) 'anus'; pī- 'love': pī-nā-ti, pī-tā-, beside *prāy-as-e*³; śī-⁴ 'lie'; śī-van- 'lying', beside ā-sāy-ata, 3. sing.⁵

b. This gradation also occurs in the final of dissyllabic bases: thus grabhī-ṣta, a-grabhī-t, grbhī-tā-, beside grbhāy-ati 'seizes'⁶; and in the base of the ninth class: grbhī-ṣta, 2. pl., beside grbhā-ti.

c. It is also found in the suffixes -the -ete and -āthām -etām of the 2. 3. du. mid. of the a-conjugation, which can only be explained as containing īthe īte and īthām ītam, with weak grade i corresponding to the accented ā of āthe āte and āthām ātām of the non-thematic conjugation (and parallel to the -ī of the optative beside *-yā*⁷).

b. Gradation of au.

28. Low grade: ū.—As the final of roots ū is graded with au (parallel with *vā*⁸), much in the same way as i with ai, appearing as āv before vowels, ā before consonants⁹; but the certain examples are few. Thus dhū-nā-ti 'shakes', dhū-ti- 'shaker', dhū-mā- 'smoke', beside dhūv-ati 'runs', dhā-rā- 'stream'; dhū-tā- 'washed', beside dhūv-ati 'washes'. But here au appears before consonants as well as ā; thus dhau-tā-ti- 'shaking', beside dhū- 'shake'; and dhau-ti- 'spring', dhau-tā- (SV.), beside dhūv-ati 'washes'. Similarly gū-m

³ Occurs RV. IV. 21⁷ (Pp. prā āyase (and is explained by BÖHTLINGK (pw.) as = prāyase).

⁴ Perhaps also in śī- 'fall': śīyate (AV.), beside śādyati 'cuts off', which may be a denominative from śā-tā*- 'fallen'. Cp. WHITNEY, Roots, under √śa- and √ī śī; WACKERNAGEL I, 79 a ḍ (p. 88).

to this e that ay- sometimes appears instead of āy- in some of the above verbs; as prāy-as- 'enjoyment', from √prī-, ray-i- 'wealth', from √rā-, sāy-e, 3. sing., from śī- 'lie'.

⁶ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 79 b (p. 89).

⁹ Similarly in the RV. the -au of duals and of aṣṭau 'eight' normally appears as āv before vowels and ā before consonants in Sandhi. The nominatives in ā of -r stems and -an stems, e.g. mānā, śvā 'dog', are probably due originally to the loss of the final r and n before consonants in the sentence, then becoming the regular form everywhere. Conversely aṣṭau has become the only independent form in the AV., aṣṭā- appearing only as first member of a compound. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 94, 95.

and gā-s, acc., beside gāv-as, nom. pl., but gāu-s, nom. sing., 'cow'; and dyā-m, acc. sing., beside dyāv-as, nom. pl., but dyāu-s, nom. sing., 'heaven'.

V. Secondary shortening of ī ū ṛ.

29. Low grade: i u r.—Owing to the shift of the accent from its normal position in a word to its beginning, the low grade vowels ī ū ṛ (\bar{r}) are often further shortened to i u r in compounds and reduplicated forms. A pre-tonic syllable thus acquires a post-tonic position, where the force of the accent is weakest. It is the same cause which shortens final weak grade ī and ū in the vocative singular; e. g. devī, nom. devī; śvaśru, nom. *śvaśrū*¹. This shortening often appears in:

a. compounds²:

1. those in which the final member is derived with -ta- and -ti-, the accent being regularly thrown back on the first member³: thus ā-ni-si-ta 'restless', nī-si-tā (TS. B.) 'night', from śī 'lie'; prā-si-ti- 'onset', beside sāy-aka- 'missile'⁴; śū-su-ti- 'easy birth', beside śūti-kā- (AV.) 'lying-in woman'; ā-śtr-ta 'unconquered', ā-ni-śtr-ta 'not overthrown', beside śtr-ṇā-, from śtr- 'strew'⁵; ā-huti- 'invocation', otherwise -hū-ti- in sā-huti- 'joint invocation', devā-huti- 'invocation of the gods', and other compounds.

2. those in which the final member is a root in *ī*⁶ or ū with or without the suffix -t-; e. g. dhī-jū- 'thought inspiring', beside jū- 'hastening', jū-ti- 'impelled'; very often -bhu-, beside bhū-, as in ā-pra-bhu- 'powerless', vi-bhū- 'mighty'; nī-yū-t- 'team', beside yū- 'unite' (as in yū-thā- 'herd').

3. those in which the final member is formed with other suffixes; thus madhyān-dī-na- 'midday', su-dī-na- 'bright', beside dī- 'shine'; su-śu-mānt- 'very stimulating', beside sū-ti- 'impelled'; also in twi-gr-ā- and twi-gr-i- 'much devouring', beside saṃ-gir-ā- (AV.) 'devouring', as r here = *r*⁷.

4. some Bahuvrīhis (in which the first member is normally accented)⁸; thus *brhād-ri-*⁹ 'possessing much wealth' (rā-); try-udh-ān- 'having three udders', beside ūdh-an- 'udder'.

b. reduplicated forms¹⁰ in which accentuation of the reduplicative syllable, especially in the third class and one form of the aorist, counteracts the normal accent of the verb; thus from dī- 'shine', are formed dī-dī-hi, 2. sing. impv., dī-dī-vāms-, perf. part., dī-dī-vi- 'shining', beside dī-paya- (causative)

⁵ The secondarily shortened form of the past part. śtr-ta- is not found as an independent word in the RV.; it first appears in later texts.

⁸ See accentuation of compounds, 90.

⁹ Occurring only in the dat. sing. brhād-ṛaye, beside rāy-ā-, dat. of rā- 'wealth'.

'kindle'; from dhi- 'think', dī-dhi-ma, 1. pl. perf., dī-dhi-ti 'devotion', beside dhi-ti 'thought'; from hī- 'commemorate', cār-kr-ṣa, intv., cār-kr-ti 'praise', beside hīr-ti 'praise'; from pī- 'fill', pī-pr-tām, 3. du., beside pūr-nd- and pūr-tā-. Such shortening often occurs in red. aor., e. g. bi-bhiṣ-a-thās, 2. sing. mid., beside vi-bhiṣ-aṇa- 'terrifying'. It is also found in a few nouns; e. g. śī-śi-ra- (AV.) 'coolness', beside śī-tī- 'cold'; tū-tu-mā- beside tū-ya- 'strong'.

The Consonants.

30. Doubling of consonants.—All consonants, except r h l, Anusvāra, and Visarjaniya, can be doubled, and the distinction between double and single consonants is known to the Prātiśākhya as well as to Pāṇini. Aspirates are, however, nearly always written double by giving the first in the unaspirated form. A double consonant² is pronounced by the organs of speech dwelling longer on it than on the single sound. Within words³ a double consonant appears:

1. as the result of the contact of the same consonants or the assimilation⁴ of different ones; e. g. cit-tā- 'perceived' (= cit-ta-); uc-cā- 'high' (= ud-ca-); bhet-tī- 'breaker' (= bhed-tī-); dn-na- 'food' (= ad-na-).

2. in a few onomatopoeic words: akkkhālī-kītyā 'shouting'; cicci-kā- a kind of bird; kukkuṭā- (VS.) 'cock'; tittiri- (VS.) and tittiri- (TS. B.) 'quail'; pippakā- (VS.) a kind of bird.

3. in the case of the palatal aspirate, which regularly appears as ch between vowels (though often written as ch in the Mss.), for it always makes the preceding vowel long by position and is derived from an original conjunct consonant⁵. Some forms of khid- 'press down', are doubled after a vowel in the TS. (akkkhidat, d-kkhidra-; ā-kkhidat, pari-kkhidat). In the TS.⁶ bh appears doubled in pāri bbbhuja. In a school of the White Yajurveda initial v was regularly doubled⁷.

4. when final n is doubled after a short vowel if followed by any vowel sound⁸.

a. In the Mss., when double consonants are preceded or followed by another consonant⁹, one of them is frequently dropped, because in such consonantal groups there was no difference in pronunciation between single and double consonants. Hence the VPr. (vi. 27) prescribes a single t in kṣatrá- 'dominion' (= kṣad-tra-), and in satrá- 'sacrificial session' (= sad-tra-). Such shortening is further presupposed by the analysis of the Pada texts in hr(d)-dyotāḥ (AV. I. 22¹) and hr(d)-dyótanaḥ (AV. v. 20¹²) as hr-dyotāḥ and hr-dyótanaḥ; in tāt(d)dyām (AV. iv. 19⁶) as tāt yām (instead of tāt dyām); and in upāstha-, which appears in the RV. Pada as upā-stha- instead of upās-stha-, if GRASSMANN'S suggestion is right¹⁰. In some instances this reduction is IE., as in satrá- (IE. setlo-)¹¹.

² Sometimes a single s represents the double sound, as in āsi 'thou art' (= as-si); apāsu (RV. viii. 4¹⁴), loc. pl. of apās- 'active'; āmhasu (AV.), loc. pl. of āmhas- 'distress'; jī-śi 'thou shalt taste' (jus-); probably also in ghō-śi (from ghus- 'sound'), in us-ds, gen. sing., acc. pl. of us-, weak stem of us-ds- 'dawn' (for uss-as*), possibly in us- 'dawn' (for uss-r-*). As the single s in such forms is shown by cognate languages also, it seems here to be pre-Vedic, and the double ss in forms like rājas-su, loc. pl., is probably an Indian innovation. The change of ss to h, as in avikṣat (AV.) = divṣ-sat*, aor. of divṣ- 'hate', is also an Indian innovation.

³ On double consonants in Sandhi, see below 77.

⁴ The evidence of the Avestan form vrādhka- shows that the double consonant in vrādhka- (AV. VS.) 'kidney' is due to assimilation.

Mutes.

31. Modes of articulation.—There are 20 mutes (or 22 counting l / lh among the cerebrals), which comprise a tenuis, an aspirate tenuis, a media, and an aspirate media in each of the five groups of gutturals, palatals, cerebrals, dentals, and labials (4). These four modes of articulation are initially and medially liable to but little variation except when they come into contact with other mutes or with following sibilants.

1. The tenuis regularly represent IE. tenuis; e. g. cakrá- 'wheel', Gk. κύκλος; pítṛ- 'father', Gk. πατήρ, Lat. pater.

2. The mediae regularly represent IE. mediae; e. g. gṛcchati, Gk. βάσκει; rāj- 'king', Lat. rēg-; mád-ati 'is drunk', Lat. mad-et. There are a few instances in which a media appears in place of an older tenuis: gulphá- (AV.): kulphá- 'anle'; árbhaga- 'youthful': arbhaká- 'little'; tij-: tlic-, toká- 'offspring'; án-ava-prgna- 'undivided': prc- 'mix'; giriká- (MS.): kiriká- (VS.)¹ a kind of demon. These examples may be due to popular dialects, in which tenuis largely became *mediae*². In a few derivatives the media g appears instead of k before the n m v of suffixes owing to the influence of Sandhi: e. g. vag-ní- 'sound', from vac- 'speak', but rék-ṇas- 'wealth', from ric-; śag-má- 'helpful', from śak-, but ruk-má- 'gold', from ruc- 'shine'; vāg-vín- (AV.) 'eloquent', from vāk 'speech', but tab-vá- 'swift', from tak- 'hasten'.

3. The evidence of cognate languages shows that the Vedic aspirate tenuis in a large number of instances is original, and it is highly probable that it is the regular representative of IE. aspirate tenuis. The following are examples in which mutes of this character are inherited³:

a. khan- 'dig'; khā- 'spring'; khā-d-ati 'chews'; nakhd- 'nail'; makhd- 'lively'; mūkha- 'mouth'; śankhá- (AV.) 'shell'; sákhi- 'companion'.

b. ch = IE. skh, e. g. in chid- 'split'; = IE. sk in inchoative gṛcchati 'goes', ucchāti 'shines'.

c. th = th in śas-thá- (VS. AV.) 'sixth'; śṣhv-ati (AV.) 'spits'.

d. *th*⁴ in dtha 'then'; athar- 'tip'; dtharvan- 'fire-priest'; ārtha- 'use'; granth- 'knot'; path- 'way'; prth-u- 'broad'; prth-as 'breadth'; prthāt- 'snorting'; math- 'stir'; mith- 'alternate'; yá-thā 'as'; rātha- 'car'; vyathate 'wavers'; śnath- 'pierce'. Further in the various suffixes -tha: forming primary nouns; e. g. uk-thá- 'praise', gā-thá- f. gā-thā- 'song'; as -atha in śvas-ātha- 'hissing'; forming ordinals: catur-thá- (AV.) 'fourth'; saptá-tha- 'seventh'; forming 2. sing. perf.: dadā-tha 'thou gavest', vét-tha 'thou knowest'; forming 2. pl. pres.: bhava-tha 'ye are'; also in -thās of 2. sing. mid., e. g. a-sthi-thās 'thou hast stood'.

e. ph in phāla- 'fruit'; phāla- 'ploughshare'; sphar- and sphur- 'jerk'; sphā(y)- 'grow fat'.

4. The aspirate media, which represents the same IE. sound, is a media combined with h. This is proved by the express statements of the Prātisākhya⁵; by the fact that lh = dh is written with the separate letters l and h; and by the change of h following a media to an aspirate media (as tād dhī for tād hī).

a. In two or three words an aspirate media interchanges with an aspirate tenuis: nādhāmāna- 'praying', nādhitá- 'distressed', beside nāthitá- 'distressed' (where th is probably due to the influence of nāthá- 'help'); ādha and dha 'then'⁶; niṣāṅgādhi- (VS.) and niṣāṅgāthi- (TS.) 'scabbard'.

⁵ RPr. XIII. 2. 5; TPr. II. 9.

⁶ There seem to have been a few IE. doublets of this kind: see WACKERNAGEL I, 103.

32. Loss of aspiration.—Aspiration is lost when there is another aspirate in the same syllable or at the beginning of the next in roots¹. Hence

a. initial aspiration is lost: 1. in the reduplicative syllable: e. g. ja-ghān-a (han-, ghan- 'strike'); ca-cchand-a (chand- 'please'); da-dhī-ti (dhā- 'put'); par-phar-at (phar- 'scatter?'). But when the reduplication consists of two syllables, the rule does not apply; e. g. ghāni-ghan-at, intv. part. of han- (beside jān-ghan-at), ghanā-ghan-d- 'fond of striking'; bhāri-bhū-ti, intv. part. of bhṛ- 'bear'. Loss of aspiration, however, began, even in the RV.², to spread from monosyllabic to dissyllabic reduplication; thus ā-pāni-phar-at, intv. part. of phaṇ- 'bound'.—2. in the following words, according to the evidence of cognate languages: kumbhā- 'pot'³; gad- 'attach'; gābhas-ti 'arm'; guh- 'conceal'; grdh- 'be greedy'; grhā- 'house'; grabh- 'seize'; jānhas 'gait'; jānghā- 'leg'; jaḡhāna- 'buttock'; dabh- 'harm'; dah- 'burn'; dih- 'besmear'; duh- 'milk'; duhitṛ- 'daughter'; drahyāt 'strongly'; druh- 'injure'; bandh- 'bind'; babhrī- 'brown'; bādh- 'distress'; bāhū- 'arm'; budh- 'awake'; budhāt- 'bottom'; brh- 'be great'. It is probable also in dagh- 'reach': baṃh- 'be firm'; badhīrā- 'deaf'; bahū-, bahukā- 'much'; bradhū- 'pale red'; brāhman- 'devotion'.

b. Final aspiration is often lost⁴. 1. When this occurs before suffixal s, original initial aspiration is lost in some cases; thus from guh- 'hide', desid. 3. du. ju-guh-sa-tas; grdh- 'be eager': grīś- 'dexterous'; dabh- 'harm': desid. dīp-sa-ti, dīp-si- 'intending to hurt'; dah- 'burn': impv. dak-si, aor. part. dāksat, dāksu- and dakṣis- 'flaming'; duh- 'milk': aor. a-duksat, duksās, etc., desid. part. *didukṣan*⁵; bhas- 'chew': bap-sati, part. bāps-at; ghas- 'eat': jak-ṣyāt, perf. opt.; has- 'laugh': part. jāks-at; also in the word drap-sā- 'drop'⁶.

But in some of the above and in analogous forms with s, the original initial aspirate remains; thus from guh-, aor. aghukṣat; dah-: dhāksī, part. dhāksat, fut. part. dhakṣyān; duh-: aor. ādhukṣat, dhukṣān, etc. 2. impv. dhuk-ṣva; bādh- 'distress': br-bhat-si- 'loathing'; budh- 'awake': aor. a-bhūt-s-i.

2. When the loss of final radical aspiration is due to any other cause than suffixal s, the original initial aspirate regularly remains; thus from dah-, aor. a-dhāk; budh- 'waken': nom. -bhut 'waking'; dhā- 'put': *dhat*⁷, 3. sing., dhat-thas, ā-dhat-tam, etc.; and in the latter verb always before s also: dhat-se, dhat-sva, desid. dhit-sati.

c. On the other hand, there is no loss of aspiration in the root if an aspirate follows which belongs to a suffix or second member of a compound; e. g. vibhū-bhis 'with the Vibhus'; proth-ātha- 'snorting'; dhṛṣṭha- 'giving most' (dhā-iṣṭha-); ahi-hān- 'serpent-slaying'; garbha-dhi- 'breeding-place'. The only exceptions⁸ are the two imperatives bo-dhi 'be' (for bho-dhi*⁹ instead of bhū-dhi*) and ja-hi (for jha-hi*) from han- 'strike'¹⁰.

² Later this became the rule.

³ Initial aspiration has perhaps been lost also in sākhā- 'branch', and in the roots stigh- 'mount', and stambh- 'make firm'. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 105 a.

⁴ This may also be the case in the roots bhuj- 'bend', chid- 'split', chad- 'cover', dhruj- 'sweep': op. cit I, 105 b, note.

⁷ For dhadh-ti.

⁸ Forms like bud-dha- for budh-ta can hardly be regarded as exceptions since the aspiration is assumed by the suffix instead of reappearing in the initial of the root.

⁹ Here bho- is a Prakritic contraction for bhava-.

¹⁰ Also vidhātha- 'feast', if correctly derived from vidh- 'worship'; on this word see MAX MÜLLER, SBE. 32, 350; Foy, KZ. 34, 226; BLOOMFIELD, JAOS. 19, 2, 12 ff.; GELDNER, ZDMG. 52, 730–61; WACKERNAGEL I, 108. A few more uncertain examples might be exceptions: gārda-bhā- 'ass'

d. There are a few cognate words in which an aspirate is found beside the corresponding media or tenuis: máj-man- 'greatness': máh- 'great'; vi-spúlinga-ká- 'scattering sparks': sphur-dti 'darts'.¹

e. In a few isolated words a media seems, according to the evidence of cognate languages, to stand for an IE. aspirate: gmā- 'earth', gen. gmás; jmā- 'earth', gen. jmds, inst. jmā; dvār-, *dur-*² 'door'; majján- 'marrow'.

33. Aspirates in contact with other mutes.—Of two mutes in juxtaposition (of which both must be voiced or both voiceless³), the second only can be aspirated. In such case either

i. the second represents an original aspirate, the first an aspirate or not: e. g. dhat-thás = dhadh-thás* (dhā- 'put'); ran(a)-dhi = randh-dhi* (randh- 'make subject'), uk-thá- 'song' = uk-thá- (vac- 'speak'); vét-tha = véd-tha* (vid- 'know'); śag-dhi 'help' = śak-dhi* (śak- 'be strong'); or a. When the first is h representing an old palatal aspirate (= ṛh, IE. ḡh)⁶, it disappears after cerebralizing the dental and lengthening the preceding vowel; e. g. uḡdhā- = uḡ-dhā-* for uṛh-tā- from vah-tā-.

2. the first represents an aspirate media⁴, the second a dental tenuis⁵ which assumes the mode of articulation of the first; e. g. dḡg-dhr- 'one who burns' (acc.) = dḡgh-tr-* (dah- 'burn'); -vid-dha- 'pierced' = vidh-ta-* (vyadh-); -lab-dha- 'taken' = labh-ta-* (labh-). An intervening sibilant (z = s) did not prevent the same result: jag-dhā-, jag-dhvāya, jag-dhvā (AV.), a-g-dha (TS.) from ghas- 'eat', gdh representing gzdh- for gzh-t- from gh(a)s-t-.

b. In a few instances the t does not become dh owing to the influence of cognate forms: thus dhaktam (instead of dagdham* = dhagh-tām*) according to 2. 3. sing. dhak (= dhagh-t*) from dagh- 'reach'; dhat-tām etc. (instead of dad-dham* for dhadh-tam*) according to 3. sing. dhat (= dhadh-t*), 2. sing. mid. dhdt-se, etc. (= dhddh-se*)⁸.

The Five Classes of Mutes.

34. The gutturals.—These mutes, by the Indian phoneticians called kanṭhya ('produced from the throat'), are minutely described in the Prātisākhya as formed at the 'root of the tongue' (jihvā-mūla) and at the 'root of the jaw' (hanu-mūla)⁹. They are therefore velar¹⁰ sounds and, as the evidence

(if from grdh- 'be greedy'), bārjaha- 'udder' (if from brh- 'be great'), sabar-dhīgha-, sabar-dhi-, sabar-dhūk, epithet of cows (if sabar- = Gk. ἀφᾶρ: BARTHOLOMAE, BB. 15, 18): cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 108, note, 217 b; ZDMG. 43, 667 f.; 46, 292 (bārjaha-).

² Op. cit. I, 109, note (mid.); according to BLOOMFIELD, Album Kern, p. 193 f., the media is due to the influence of the numeral dvā- 'two'.

⁵ There seems to be no example of any other tenuis in contact with a preceding aspirate media within a word, but the result would probably have been the same. There is no example of th becoming voiced in this combination; it remains in dhat-thás (= dadh-thás*).

⁸ Before sibilants, all aspirates as well as mediae become tenuis; but according to TPr. XIV. 12, Apr. II. 6 (cp. RPr. VI. 15) a tenuis in such a position may be pronounced as an aspirate; see WACKERNAGEL I, 113.

⁹ See Apr. I. 20 and WHITNEY's note.

¹⁰ That is, pronounced with the velum or soft palate.

of cognate languages shows, derived from IE. velars¹. Gutturals are found interchanging to some extent with sounds of the four other classes.

1. Under certain conditions they interchange with the new palatals (c j h) which are derived from them²; with the old palatal *s*³ (also old j and h) only when followed by s (which then becomes ś)⁴. Between this ks = śs and ks = k-s it is possible to distinguish by the aid of Iranian, where the two are represented by different sounds⁵; and the original value of the k can thus be determined even in words in which no form without the sibilant occurs. This evidence shows that, in the following words, ks represents⁶.

a. ś-s: ākṣi- 'eye'; rākṣa- 'bear'; kākṣa- 'armpit'; kukṣi- 'belly'; kṣi- 'dwell'; kṣudh- 'hunger'; cakṣ- 'see'; takṣ- 'fashion'; dākṣina- 'right'; pākṣman- (VS.) 'eyelash'; makṣū 'quickly'; rakṣ- (AV.) 'injure'; rākṣ-as- 'injury';

b. k-s: kṣatra- 'dominion'; kṣūp- 'night'; kṣi- 'rule'; kṣip- 'throw'; kṣīr- 'milk'; kṣud- 'shake'; kṣūd-as- 'rush of water'; kṣudr- 'small' (VS.), n. 'minute particle'; kṣūbh- 'swift motion'; tvakṣ- 'be strong'; vṛkṣ- 'tree'.

2. In a few instances k stands for a medial t: in vṛkṣū (AV.) 'kidneys', for vṛtkṣū*⁷; prkṣū (SV.) = pṛtsū 'in battles'. In these two forms the substitution is due to Prakritic influence; this is probably also the case in skambh- beside stambh- 'prop'⁸. The guttural only seems to stand for a dental in ḍsikṣn- beside ḍsita- 'black', pālikṣn- beside palit- 'grey', and hārikṣṇikā- (AV.) beside hārita- 'yellow', as there is no etymological connexion between -kṣn- and -ta-.

3. In a few words a guttural interchanges with a labial medially: kakārau- beside kaparda- 'braid of hair'; kulikā (VS.): pulikā (MS.) a kind of bird; kulikāya- (TS.): pulikāya- (MS.), kulipṛya- (VS.): *purikāya*¹⁰ (AV.) a kind of aquatic animal; nicunṣund- (TS.): nicumpund- 'flood'; and in the TS. (B.) trīṣṭigbhis and anuṣṭigbhyas occur beside trīṣṭub-bhis and *anuṣṭubbhyas*¹¹.

4. In a few verbal forms from three roots k stands for ś before suffixal *s*¹², though this k never made its way into the loc. pl. (where only -śsu- or -hśu-, -ṣsu occur). The only example in the RV. is pinak (for pinak-ś) 2. sing. impf. of pinak-ṣi (piś- 'crush'). In the AV. occur dvik-ś-at, dvik-ś-ata, aor. of dvikṣ- 'hate'; śiślikṣate, -śiślikṣu, desid. of śikṣ- 'embrace'. Other possible examples from the RV. are -rākṣard- 'thorn' (if from rīṣ- 'prick'); rīrikṣa-ti and rīrikṣi-, desid. (if from rīṣ- 'injure'); vivekṣi (if from vīṣ- 'work')¹³.

35. The palatals.—These are pronounced in India at the present day as a close combination of a t-sound followed by a palatal spirant ś. The evidence of the Greek reproduction of Indian words¹⁴ points in the same

⁴ See below 56.

⁵ That is, śs by ś and k-s by hś; thus vakṣi from vaś- = vaśi; vakṣyā-mi, from vak- (for vac-) = vahśyā.

⁶ The two components of ks cannot yet have coalesced when ś dropped out between two mutes in abhakta, for abhak-ś-ta (aor. of bhac-), and ataṣta for ataṣ-ś-ta from takṣ- (Av. taṣ-) 'fashion'; otherwise the two different original sounds could not have been kept apart in these two forms.

⁸ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, p. 136, note (top).

⁹ Cp. J. SCHMIDT, Pluralbildung 398.

¹¹ See WEBER, IS. 8, 40. 54; 13, 109.

¹³ The relation of the k in dadhṛk 'firmly', to dadhṛś-, dadhṛś-vāni 'bold', is uncertain. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 118, note (end).

direction. It is therefore likely that they were thus pronounced in Vedic times¹. Prosodically, however, they have the value of a single consonant (excepting *ch*²). They date from the Indo-Iranian period only; but in order to understand their place in the Vedic language, especially in relation to the gutturals, we must go back to their ultimate origin. The evidence of comparative grammar shows that two distinct series of palatals, the later and the earlier, must be distinguished. This evidence alone can explain how the same Vedic palatal sound (j or h) is, under certain conditions, treated differently.

36. The new palatals (c, j, h) are derived from gutturals (velars), being interchangeable, in most roots and formatives, with gutturals, and being in most cognate languages represented by the same sounds as represent original gutturals. Thus from the root śuc- 'shine' come verbal forms such as śócati, beside the nominal derivatives śoka-, śūkvan-, śukrá-, śuklā- (AV.); from yuj- 'yoke', yuje 1. sing. mid., etc., beside yugá-, yíga-, yuktá-, yígvan-; from druh- 'injure', dudrśha, 3. sing. perf., etc., beside druhyú-, a name, and drógha- 'deceitful'.

The (Indo-Iranian) change from gutturals to palatals was regularly produced before the palatal sounds i and *y*³; e. g. cittá- 'noticed', beside kéta- 'will', from cit- 'perceive'; híyas- 'stronger', beside ugrá- 'strong'; druhyú- beside drógha-. This change invariably takes place in Iranian, while the exceptions in Vedic appear only before vowels which were not originally palatal.

a. Gutturals thus appear instead of palatals before ir (il) and ir (= IE. rr- and r̥)⁴, which were not yet pronounced with an i-sound in the Indo-Iranian period⁵: thus ángiras-, a name; *giri-*⁶ 'mountain'; kiráti, 3. sing., kirāṇa- 'dust', from kṛ- 'scatter'; carkirāma, carkiran, kṛti- 'fame', from kṛ- 'commemorate'; gir- 'lauding', from gṛ- 'praise'; giráti (AV.), 3. sing., -gila- (AV.) 'devouring', from gṛ- 'swallow'. Before i (= IE. a)⁷ k appears in ok-i-vāms-, part. from uc- 'be pleased', and g in *tigítá-*⁸ 'sharp', beside tejate, téjas- 'brilliance', and other derivatives, from tij- 'be sharp'.

Otherwise a guttural followed by a palatal vowel is due to the influence of cognate forms. This is the case

i. in the initial of roots α) in gṛ-, the weak stem of gai- 'sing', beside gāy-, gā-; β) in reduplicated forms with cik-, jig-, due to forms like cikāya, jigāya- (where the guttural is in accordance with phonetic law) and to the frequency of palatal reduplication of guttural initial; thus perf. ciky-ur, part. ciky-at, desid. cikīṣate, impv. cikīhi (AV.), from ci- 'perceive'; intv. cékit-, cikit-, desid. cikits-, from cit- 'perceive'; perf. jigy-ur, desid. jigīṣate, jigyú- 'victorious', ujjēti, N. of a city; Διαπούσα = yamunā-, N. of a river. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 119.

² Cp. above 30, 3; 31, 3 b; and below 40.

³ The sphere of the palatals has been extended by analogy at the expense of the gutturals and vice versa. The aspirate guttural kh appears where the other gutturals are replaced by palatals; thus before the y in khya- 'see' (but jyā-) 'overpower'; before the thematic a of the present: rikhati 'sits' (but dakhati); before the -ayati of the Causative: rikhayati 'swings' (but arcayati); and notably in sákhi- 'friend': dat. sákhye, pl. sákhibhyas (Ilr. sachi-): cp. WACKERNAGEL

I, 121 (p. 140, top). The palatal aspirate in fact never represents a guttural aspirate, but only an IE. palatal, or sibilant and palatal.

⁴ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 24, 25.

⁵ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 123 a α.

⁶ In Av. gairi-.

⁷ This sound had probably not yet become a pure palatal in Ilr.

⁸ Otherwise the palatal regularly appears before this i in perfect forms; e. g. sasciré (sac- 'accompany'); bhejiré (bha- 'divide'); moṣcitha, ñeṣe (uc- 'be pleased'); dudōhitha (duh- 'milk').

from ji- 'conquer'; γ) in the pronominal forms kis, kim, kīm, kīyat, kīvant-, kīdīś-, beside the enclitic cid, because owing to the influence of the frequent forms kā-s, kā-d, etc., k appeared to be characteristic of the interrogative pronoun¹.

2. in the final of roots in which guttural forms predominate, before the γ of the optative and the gerund; thus dagh-yās, from dagh- 'reach'; śak-yām, from śak- 'be able'; sagh-yāsam (TS.), from sagh- 'be equal to'. It also appears very often before the suffixes -i, -ī, -in, -ya forming derivatives from nouns the last consonant of which is a guttural: e. g. phiyogi- 'descendant of Playoga'; vrk-ī- 'she-wolf' (vrka-); śāk-in- 'powerful' (śāk-); śṛṅg-in- 'horned' (śṛṅga-); upa-vāk-yā- 'to be praised' (beside upavācya-) from upavākd- 'praise'. Similarly drāgh-īyas- 'longer', drāgh-iśīha- 'longest' (beside dirghā- 'long', drāgh-mān- 'length'); sphig-ī- 'buttock', with g from the nom. sphik of sphij-, which occurs in the post-Vedic language only.

3. in a certain number of abnormal words, almost invariably at the beginning:

α) words which may be suspected of foreign origin owing to meaning or phonetic form: kimsukā-, kīyāmbu- plant names; kimīdīn-, kikāṭa-, kīrāta- (VS.), śva-kīṣkīn- (AV.) names of foreigners or demons; kīja- a kind of utensil; kilbiṣa- 'guilt' (contains the rare letter b), kīstī- 'singer' (st instead of ṣt); β) onomatopoeic words: kikidīvi- 'blue jay'; kikirā-kr- 'tear to tatters'; kikīṭā (TS.) an interjection; γ) some words of doubtful origin: kikasā- 'vertebra'; kīnāra- 'ploughman'(?); kīnāsa- 'ploughman'; kīlīla- 'sweet draught'; kīrmirā- (VS.) 'variegated'; kīśorā- (AV.) 'foal'; kīśmīla- (AV. Paipp.) a kind of disease.

On the other hand, the original guttural has remained in kakūd- 'peak'; kākṣa- 'armpit'; kārū- 'poet'; kēta- 'will'; gāus 'cow'; gharmā- 'hot'; ghorā- 'terrible'; and in the roots kās- (AV.) 'cough'; gadh- 'clasp'; gā- 'go'; gāh- 'plunge'; gai- 'sing'³.

β . Among the roots with ū ũ ī ĩ ! i as low grade vowels, the only one in which the regular phonetic interchange of palatal and guttural takes place, is jar-: gr- 'call'; g appearing before r īr ar (= IE. ōr), j before ar (= IE. ēr) preceding the thematic -a- of the present or the suffix -tr-; thus gr-nāti, gīr-, garā- (VS.), beside jārate, jarādhyai, jarit-. In other roots either the guttural or the palatal appears throughout; mostly the guttural, because the forms with ū ũ ī ĩ ! i and o ar al (= IE. ōy ēr ēl), which required the guttural, were more numerous than those with o ar al (= IE. ōy ēr ēl); thus from kr- 'do', dkar aor. 'has done', kart- 'agent', kārman- 'action', retain the guttural, though the palatal would be phonetic (as ar here = IE. er), through the influence of forms with kr- and of kīraṇa- 'deed' (where ar = IE. ōr).

² Cp. Italian and the Balto-Slavic languages which palatalize before e as well as i.

³ In the IE. vowel gradation of these roots only ā and ō appear. In other roots in the IE. vowel gradation of which ē is found, an initial palatal would be expected

On the other hand, the palatal appears in *cuḍ*¹, códati 'impel'; scut-, scotati 'drip', because here forms with u, which required a guttural, were rare; in car-, carati 'move', where the palatal is almost invariably phonetic in RV. (but AV. has cacāra); in cṛt- 'bind', the palatal has fixed itself in spite of many forms with r; while beside harṣate 'rejoices', hṛṣant-, part., both h and gh occur in weak forms: hṛsitā-, ghṛṣu- 'lively', ghṛṣvi- 'gladdening'.

c. Among roots in -an and am, survivals of the regular interchange are found in kan- 'be pleased', and han- 'strike'. The former has the palatal (= IE. kē-) in the aor. caniṣṭam, in the superl. cāniṣṭha-, and in cānas- 'favour', but otherwise the guttural. In han-, h appears before an (= IE. en) and, by analogy, also before an = ṇn and a = ṇ; but gh before n and ā = IE. ō; thus hān-ti, inf. hān-tave; han-mas, han-yāma; ha-thās-, ha-tā-, and with j in impv. jahi (= jhahi*), but perf. jaghāna, and ghanā- 'striker', ghanāghand- 'found of striking'. In the intv. jaṅghan-, gh stands for h before a = IE. ē owing to the influence of the weak stem jaṅghn-. In gam- 'go', ga- = gṇi- (e. g. in gacchati, ga-tā-) has led to the use of gam- = jam*-, as in *gām-anti*².

d. In the remaining verbs, that is, those with a (25) or e (22) as high grade vowel, there appears chiefly the palatal throughout; thus caḥṣ:- cacāḥṣa (for cakāḥṣa*). The phonetic guttural is, however, preserved in some forms of the three verbs cī- 'observe' (perf. cikāya); cit- 'observe' (perf. cikēta; kēta- 'will'; keti-³ 'appearance'); and jī- 'conquer' (perf. jigāya; gāya- 'household'). A guttural not phonetically justified appears before a (= IE. ē) only in ghas- 'eat' (aor. āghas, subj. ghas-a-t) and in gal- 'drop' (gal-ti VS.).

e. In reduplicative syllables containing a of roots having initial guttural or palatal, the palatal always appears in the perfect, pluperfect, or reduplicated aorist; thus kr- 'make': cakāra; khād- 'chew': cakhāda; gam- 'go': jagāma; ghas- 'eat': jaghāsa; caḥṣ- 'see': cacāḥṣa; pluperf. of kr:- *acakra*t; red. aor. of jas- 'be exhausted': jajas-tām. The palatal is here historically phonetic, as the IE. reduplicative vowel was ē.

In the intensive, however, the palatal is invariable only when the reduplication is monosyllabic⁴; e. g. kram- 'stride': cani-kramata; gr:- jā-gr- 'awake'; han- 'strike': jan-ghanti. But when the reduplication is dissyllabic, the guttural⁵ predominates; thus kr-, part. kāri-kr-at; krand- 'roar': kāni-kra(n)d;- gam- 'go': gani-gan-, gani-gm;- han- 'strike': ghani-ghn- (cp. ghanāghand-); skand- 'leap': both kāni-skand- and cani-skadat subj.

38. New palatals as radical finals. a. Verbal forms.— Before the thematic verbal endings (including those of the a-aorist and the reduplicated aorist) the final of roots regularly appears as a palatal which, though phonetic⁶ only in about the same degree as the guttural, has prevailed. Gutturals are in certain forms; but few traces of this remain, as the forms of each verb have been normalized.

¹ If kūtsa- N. is derived from cuḍ-, and carṣaṇi- 'active', from kr-, the initial consonant has not been affected by the normalizing influence of the roots, because these words have been isolated.

² The correct phonetic interchange appears in jāṅgahe 'kicks', and jāṃhas- 'course', if these forms are connected, as BR. think. WHITNEY, Roots, however, considers the former an intensive of gāh- 'plunge'.

³ Beside cēru- 'devout', keru- appears in the compound māhi-keru- 'very devout'; cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 101 (43 b).

⁴ In the post-Vedic language, the palatal is invariable even in dissyllabic reduplication.

⁵ But if the initial of the root is a palatal, the reduplicative consonant is of course always a palatal; thus cand- 'shine': cāniṣcad;- car- 'move': carācarā;- cal- 'move': calācalā- 'ever moving'. Cp. 32 a.

⁶ Phonetically we should have pākāmi* (IE. ō), pāc-asi and pāc-ati (IE. ē).

rare at the end of the root, appearing only¹ in śak- 'be able'; 2. sing. śak-as; sagh- 'be equal to': 3. sing. sagh-at; dagh- 'reach': dagh-at (TS.); in these roots the guttural prevails throughout owing to the influence of the present stem śak-nu-, *sagh-nu-*². Even in the non-thematic presents and in the perfect the palatal carried the day, though phonetic in still fewer forms; thus the guttural alone would be historically justified in the forms yundjā, yuijē, *yuyjā*³. The palatal further regularly appears before the causative⁴ suffix -dya-, where it is phonetic (= IE. ēje); e. g. arc-dya-ti from arc- 'praise'⁵.

b. As shown by the appearance, in cognate forms, of a guttural before other consonants than s, the final of the following verbs is a new palatal: añj- 'anoint'; ej- 'stir'; tij- 'sharpen'; tuj- 'beat'; tyaj- 'forsake'; nij- 'wash'; bhāj- 'divide'; bhañj- 'break'; bhuj- 'bend'; yuj- 'yoke'; rañj- 'colour'; ruj- 'break'; vij- 'shoot up'; vij- 'turn'; śiñj- 'sound'; sañj- 'attach'; svañj- 'embrace'; also in the noun srāj- 'garland'.

c. Apart from being the result of the Sandhi of d + j, jj is shown by the evidence of cognate languages to be derived from a sibilant + guttural (= IE. sg) and thus to belong to the series of new palatals in majjān- 'marrow'; rājjan- 'rope'; bhṛjyāti 'roasts'; majjati 'dives', from which is derived madgī- (VS.) 'diver' (a bird).

d. Nominal derivatives. 1. Before the suffix -a, the final of the root is mostly guttural, because the a in nearly all the cases of the noun represents IE. ǵ. The rule in the RV. is that the guttural appears before both unaccented -a and accented -ā, but the palatal before accented -ā only⁶; e. g. abhi-droh-ā-, druh-ā- 'injury': drugh-a- 'injuring'; bhoj-ā- 'liberal': bhūg-a- 'enjoyment'; a-yuj-ā- 'companionless'; yug-a- 'yoking'; ruj-ā- 'breaking': rig-a- (AV.) 'disease'; vevij-ā- 'swift': vīg-a- (AV.) 'speed'; śuc-ā- 'bright': śūk-a- 'flame'; ruc-ā- (VS.) and roc-ā- (AV.) 'shining': rūk-a- and rok-ā- 'light'⁷.

2. Before the suffix -as, the palatal generally appears, as it is for the most part phonetically required; e. g. ūj-as- 'force': ug-rī- 'mighty'. The guttural, however, prevailed in ānk-as- 'bend'; āg-as- 'offence'; ny-ogh-as- 'streaming'; bhārg-as- 'brilliance'; as there were no corresponding verbs with palatal beside these words; it also prevailed in śk-as- 'ease' and ny-ḍkas- 'comfortable', as well as -śok-as- 'flaming', though there are such verbs (uc- 'be pleased', and śuc- 'shine').

3. Before other suffixes beginning with a, the final of the root is generally palatal; thus before -ana (= IE. -eno-), vac-anā- 'speaking'; tēj-ana- 'act of sharpening'; mañh-āna- 'gift'⁸; before -ant, -āna (under the influence of

³ This normalization of the palatal is probably Indo-Iranian, see J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 25, 104.

⁴ The denominatives in -ayā- (IE. eiē and oiē) follow the noun from which they are derived; e. g. from aghā- 'evil', aghāyati 'wishes to injure'.

⁸ The gh of jaghāna- 'buttock', is phonetic (Gk. κοχώνη).

verbal forms), e. g. dūh-āna- and *duduh-ānā*¹; before -ata (= IE. -ēto), e. g. pac-atā 'cooked'²; before -an in majj-ān 'marrow'³.

4. Nouns formed without suffix (including infinitives and gerunds) have the palatal of the corresponding verb; e. g. pīc-as, nom. pl. 'food'; ā-pīc-as and ā-pīc-e 'to satisfy'; tuj-āye 'to procreate'. A guttural of course appears where the verb has a guttural only; e. g. pra-tānk-am (AV.) 'gliding' (tak-run').

5. The suffix -ka is treated analogously to the final guttural of roots⁴. The guttural regularly appears except when the suffix, being attached to unaccented prepositions, is itself accented; thus asmā-ka 'our'; yuṣmā-ka 'your'; āpā-ka 'coming from afar'; abhī-ka 'collision'; and even with the suffix accented in locatives such as upā-ké, upā-kāyos 'in the vicinity' and in the abl. parā-kāt 'from a distance'; but uc-cā and uc-cāis 'above'; parā-cāis 'aside'; paś-cā and paś-cāt 'behind'; prā-cāis 'forwards'.

39. Irregular palatalization.—Before ū r and consonants (except y), the gutturals were not originally palatalized. Hence roots which regularly have palatals before a and diphthongs, usually retain the guttural before u r and consonants. Thus from ric 'leave', are formed, rēk-u 'empty', rēk-u-as 'property', perf. part. ririk-vāms; 3. sing. pres. riṇḍk-ti, 2. sing. perf. mid. ririk-se (but opt. riric-yāt); ug-rā 'mighty', beside ūj-as 'strength'; ghn- beside han- 'strike'. Nevertheless palatals appear by analogy before u, r, n, m, r, v:

a. initially: r. in the roots scut 'drip', crt 'bind', hṛṣ- 'rejoice', in which the unphonetic palatal before the low grade vowel⁵ is due to the phonetic palatal before the high grade vowels o (= IE. ē) and ar (= IE. ēr).

2. in the reduplicative syllables *cu-*⁶ and ju- of the perfect and aorist (in RV. occurring only in cyu- 'shake', gup- 'guard', gur- 'praise') for older ca-* ja-* (a = ē, the IE. reduplicative vowel).

b. finally: r. in verbal inflexion, the palatal which appears before a and diphthongs always appears also before u, and nearly always before m and r (instead of the phonetic guttural); thus sisic-ur beside sisic-atur, sisic-e, from sic- 'pour'; bubhuj-māhe beside bhunj-āmahe, from bhuj- 'enjoy'; añj-mas beside añj-anti, añj-an from añj- 'anoint'; riric-ré beside riric-é, from ric- 'leave'; ā-yuj-ran, yuyuj-ré beside yuyuj-é, from yuj- 'yoke'; duh-ré, duh-rate, duduh-ré, duh-rām and duh-ratām (AV.) beside duh-é, from duh- 'milk'.

The guttural, however, regularly remains before the -nu of the 5th class: śak-nu- 'be able', sagh-nu- 'be equal to', spreading thence to other forms⁷. Phonetic k remains before m in vīvak-mi from vac- 'speak'; and before r in vāvak-re beside vac-yāte, vāñc-ati (AV. VS.) from vāñc- 'move crookedly'.

¹ Strictly phonetic (but rarer) is dūgh-āna- 'milking'; also vāgh-āt (IE. -nt-) 'instructor of a sacrifice'.

² The k in sik-atā (AV. VS.) 'sand', is phonetic (IE. -pta-).

⁴ See above 38 d, 1; WACKERNAGEL I, 129.

⁵ The phonetic guttural, however, appears in ghṛṣ-īc 'lively', ghṛṣ-īvi 'gladdening'; while on the other hand the palatal appears unphonetically before u in the intv. part. car-cūryā-māna- from car- 'move'.

⁶ Otherwise cu- occurs only in the onomatopoeic ni-cumpunā 'swell' — and in a few words suggestive of foreign origin: cūmuri, N. of a demon; cu-punīkā, N. of a kṛtīkā (TS.).

⁷ Also dagh-nu- 'reach', in a Brāhmaṇa passage of the Kāthaka, and sligh-nu- 'mount', in a similar one of the TS.

vi-vik-vāms-, from vic- 'divide'; ok-i-vāms- (36 a), from uc- 'find pleasure' (but dat. sing. ūc-īṣ-e).

The following are, however, exceptions: āj-man- 'might'¹; bhuḥ-mān- 'fruitful'; mih-ur 'suddenly'; druh-ī- (AV.) 'injurer'; yāc-ñyā- (AV.) 'request'.

40. The old palatals (ch, j, ś, h).—The aspirate ch. This sound is, in pronunciation, the aspirate of *c*² and is therefore represented in reduplication by c. But in origin ch has nothing to do with c. The fact that after a mute it takes the place of ś in Sandhi shows that it is allied to ś. In fact, unlike j and h, it belongs exclusively to the old series of palatals; for it does not interchange with a guttural *kḥ*³. In the Avesta ch is regularly represented by s and in cognate European languages by a conjunct consonant beginning with s and standing for IE. śkh (that is, s + palatal mute aspirate); e. g. chid- 'cut off', Gk. σχιδ-. This in Indo-Iranian probably became śśh, which differentiated into Avestic s and Vedic ch. In the inchoative suffix -cha (gācchati, Gk. βάσσω) this palatal aspirate seems to represent IE. sk̥, a conclusion which is supported by the old inchoative verb rapśate 'is full' = rap(s)śate, where after the s has been dropped between two consonants⁴, ś = IE. k̥ remained. Thus ch represents a double sound and metrically lengthens a preceding short vowel. Hence the RPr. (vi. 1) prescribes the doubling of ch (that is c-ch) between vowels. Though the Vedic Mss. almost invariably write *ch*⁵ and AUFRECHT's edition of the RV. and V. SCHROEDER's edition of the MS.⁶ follow this practice, the spelling cch is to be preferred.

a. In śākhā- 'branch', the initial ś probably stands for ch owing to the law by which two aspirates in the same syllable are avoided⁷.

b. In a few instances ch is a Prakritic representative of kṣ and ps: -rechārā- (AV.) beside r̥kṣāh- (VS.)⁸, part of an animal's leg; kṛcchrā- 'distress', perhaps for kṛpsrā-*, and allied to kṛpale 'laments', and kṛpāna- 'misery'⁹.

41. The old palatal j.—This j is the media of ś (while as a new palatal it is the media of c). It is recognizable as an old palatal by the following indications:

1. when there are parallel forms with ś before t, th, or a cerebral appears either as final or before mutes; e. g. beside yāj-ati 'sacrifices', yās-ty- 'sacrificer', iś-ī- 'sacrificed', a-yāt 'has sacrificed'; similarly in the roots bhrāj- 'shine'; mṛj- 'wipe off'; rāj- 'rule'; rej- 'tremble'(?); vraj- 'wander'; śj- 'send forth'; possibly also in bhrāji- 'roast'¹⁰.

2. when in the form in question or in cognate forms, sounds follow which do not palatalize gutturals¹¹, that is, u r n m r v; such are: āj-ra- 'plain'; āj-ma(n)- 'course'; ārjuna- 'white', rj-rāt- 'reddish'; rj-ī- 'straight', rj-tyas-

² In the Kāthaka ch is spelt sch, which is probably only a provincial assimilation, and not the survival of an older sound; cp. J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 27, 332.

'straighter', rāj-iṣṭha 'straightest'; jānu 'knee' beside jñu; jṛmbh 'yawn'; jñā 'know'; jṁā, gen. jṁ-ās 'earth'; jri 'go'; jvārd 'suffering'; paj-rā 'fat'; maj-mān 'greatness'; vāj-ra 'thunderbolt'; jurāti, jūryati, jujur-vāms-, jūr-nā-, from jṛ 'grow old'.

3. when in inflexional forms, in which roots with a new palatal show a guttural, the j remains; e. g. jajāna from jan 'beget'; jajāsa (AV.) from jas 'be exhausted'; jujōṣa from juṣ 'like'; jujur-vāms-, ijāra (AV.), from jṛ 'grow old'².

4. when j is the reduplication of an old palatal j or h; e. g. jajāna, ijāra (AV.), jukṣti.

5. when it is shown to be an old palatal by the evidence of the cognate languages; thus in ajā 'he-goat', ajā 'goat'; ajina (AV.) 'skin'; arj 'nourishment'; jānhas 'course'; jānghā 'leg'; jambh 'chew up'; jāmātr 'son-in-law'; dhraj 'sweep'; bhiṣaj 'heal'; rajatā 'silvery'; vāja 'swiftness'; ṛjīyā 'going straight'.

a. It is uncertain whether j represents an old or a new palatal in the following words:

1. because the comparative evidence is conflicting: vi-jāman 'related'; jū 'hasten'; jyā-, jīnāti 'overpower'³.

2. because the Vedic and comparative evidence is insufficient: ubj 'coerce'; kūj (AV.) 'hum'; jāñjat-, pres. part., of uncertain meaning (ā. l.); jārate 'approaches'; jēhamāna 'panting'; jihmā 'transverse'; dhvāj, dhvajā 'banner'; paj 'be rigid' (in dpa...pāpaje 'started back'); -pajana 'honouring'; bajā a kind of plant; bija 'seed'; mītija 'sedgē'.

b. Irregular j.—1. As the two kinds of j were indistinguishable in pronunciation, a guttural sometimes intruded among the old palatals owing to the analogy of the new palatals; thus from bhiṣaj 'heal', bhiṣāk-tama-, spv., bhiṣāk-ti, 3. sing. pres., a-bhiṣnak, 3. sing. impf. (like anak-ti from añj 'anoint'); from mṛj 'wipe': nī-mṛg-ra 'attached', apā-mārgā (AV.) a kind of plant, vī-mṛg-vart (AV.) 'cleanly'; from srj 'discharge', asrg-ram, asrgan, āsasrgan, sasrgmāhe (SV.) beside sasrjmāhe; from jṛ 'grow old', jāgāra (AV.) beside ijāra (AV.).

2. The guttural beside the palatal may be due to IE. dialectic variety in gnā 'woman' beside jan 'beget'; gm-ās beside jṁ-ās 'of the earth'; bhārgas 'splendour', bhṛgu a name, beside bhrāj 'shine'.

3. In jyōtis 'light', jy seems, by an old Prakritism, to represent dy, as the word is probably derived from dyut 'shine'.

4. The media aspirate *jh*⁴ occurs only in one form, jājhjhat (RV.⁵), a pres. part. probably meaning 'laughing' as an epithet of lightning (a metaphor connected with lightning elsewhere also in the RV.); it appears to be derived, by an old Prakritism, from has 'laugh': jhjh probably for *jḥḥ*⁵ here = IE. gzh, which otherwise would become hṣ, as in jāḥs-at, part., 'laughing'.

42. The cerebrals.—The designation given to these sounds by the native phoneticians⁶, mūrdhanya 'produced in the head', indicates that they were pronounced at the highest point in the mouth nearest the (upper part

² The only instance of a new palatal (c j h = k g gh) before ūr (= IE. ṛ) is carcūryā-māṇa (RV. x). For some more or less doubtful examples of old palatal j, see WACKERNAGEL I, 137 b note.

³ Op. cit. I, 137 c, note.

⁴ The other two old palatals ś and h will be dealt with below in their alphabetical order: 54, 58.

⁵ The Kashmir Ms. of the RV. reads jājjhatir for jājhjhatir (v. 52⁹); SCHEFFTLOWITZ, WZKM. 21, 86.

of the) head. They are described by the Prāṭisākhya as pronounced by turning the tip of the tongue up to the roof of the mouth and bending it backwards. They were therefore pronounced farther back in the mouth than the palatals. This is also their pronunciation at the present day in India. An indication that it was such even in Vedic times is the fact that ḍ is sometimes found in the later Samhitās interchanging, between vowels, with ṛ (which itself interchanges with r), and that in the RV. itself ḍ ḍh become ḷ ḷh between vowels. It is also to be noted that the Greeks reproduced ḍ not only with δ, but also with *ρ*². The cerebrals, however, were a specifically Indian product, being unknown in the Indo-Iranian period³. They are still rare in the RV., where they occur medially and finally only. According to most scholars, they are due to aboriginal, especially Dravidian, influence⁴. As a rule, they have arisen immediately after ṣ or an r sound from dentals. But before consonants and finally they may represent the old palatals j ś h.

a. The voiceless cerebrals t̪ th take the place of the dentals t th after ṣ (= s, ś or j); e. g. vṛṣ-ti 'rain' (suffix -ti); duṣ-tīra 'invincible' (= dus-tīra); nākiṣ te (= nākiṣ te); vāṣ-ti 'wishes' (= vāś-ti); mṛṣ-tā 'cleansed' (= mṛj-tā)⁵. Similarly the voiced cerebrals ḍ ḍh take the place of the dentals d dh after z* (= s or old palatal j, h), which has disappeared⁶; e. g. nūḷd 'nest' (= IE. nizdō); dū-dhi 'ill-disposed' (= dus-dhi); ūḷ-ē 'I worship' (iḷ-ḍ* = ij-d for yaj-d); dr̪hī 'firm' (= drh-tā). The preceding voiced sibilant z* (= s and ś) has (instead of disappearing) itself become ḍ in ḍiḍiḷ-dhi (from dis 'show') and vivūḷ-dhi (from viṣ 'be active')⁷.

a. When the dental here was immediately followed by an r sound, the cerebralization seems originally to have been stopped. Hence dr̪hrā (= drh-tra), beside dr̪hā (= drh-ta) 'firm'; and though ṣr occurs several times in the RV.⁸, the r seems to have been dropped in pronunciation, as the only stems ending in -ṣra which show a case-form with n, do not cerebralize it: ūṣtrānām and rāṣtrānām, as if no r preceded. In TS. I. 2. 5⁹, r is actually dropped after ṣ in tvāṣṭrānti 'accompanied by Tvaṣṭr'.

b. In several instances a cerebral appears by an evident Prakritism, in place of a dental originally preceded by an r (or ḷ) sound; thus vi-kāṣa 'monstrous', beside kṛ-tā 'made'; kūṭā 'depth', beside *kartā*⁹ 'pit'; avaṣā (SV. VS.) 'pit', beside *avā*¹⁰ 'down'¹¹; and as shown by comparative evidence, kūṭuka 'sharp'; kūḍayati 'singes'; kēvaṣa 'pit'; jāḍhu 'dull'; kūṭā (AV. TS.) 'horn-ness'. In the following words, though cognate languages show *ṛ*¹², the cerebral is similarly based on Indian r or *r*¹³ + dental: kūṭa 'frontal bone'; jathīra 'belly'; taḍit 'contiguous', tūḷa (AV.) 'blow'; piṇḍa 'lump'; kiṇḍa (AV.) 'piece'¹⁴.

c. Cerebrals have in some instances supplanted dentals owing to the analogy of similar words with phonetic cerebral. In paḍbhis 'with feet', and perhaps pād-grbhi-, N., it is due to paḍbhis, inst. pl. of both pās- 'look', and of pās- 'cord', and to pādvisa-, pādvisa (VS.) 'fetter', which is derived from pās- 'cord'. Vāsaṭ and śrāusaṭ, sacrificial calls, probably for vāksaṭ and śrōsaṭ* (3. sing. aor. subj. of vah- 'convey', and śru- 'hear'), seem to owe their cerebral to the influence of the sacrificial call vāt (VS.), vāt (TS.), 3. sing. aor. of √vah-. The ḍ of puroḍās- 'sacrificial cake' (from dās- 'worship'), is perhaps due to du-ḍās- 'impious' (for duḥ-dās-)².

¹⁴ The cerebral could be similarly accounted for in kūṭa (RV.) 'house' (?), if it is related to kula (pa-) 'family', and kūḍāya (AV.) 'nest'. In daṇḍā 'staff' if identical with Gk. δένδρον (J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 25, 52, note 1) we seem to have an instance of a cerebral for a dental + following r, but such a change seems not to be in accordance with the phonetic laws of either Vedic (cp. dr̪hrā, above a, α) or Prakrit. On two other examples of this supposed change, āṇḍā

d. In a few instances a cerebral ṭ or ḡ appears in place of the cerebral sibilant s. The phonetic representative of the latter before bh would be ḍ (parallel to d for IE. z before bh)³, where it appears in vipriḍ-bhis (VS.) 'with drops'. From here the cerebral spread to the nom. sing., where it appears in vi-prīṭ (AV.) 'drop', from pruṣ- 'sprinkle', and in edhamāna-dviṭ 'hating the arrogant' (from dviṣ- 'hate').

The cerebral ḍ also appears before the -dhi of the 2. sing. impv. for s in aviḍḍhi (= avi-s-dhi) aor. of av- 'favour', and in viviḍḍhi (= viviṣ-dhi), red. aor. of viṣ- 'be active'. The phonetic form here would be viḥ* (= iṣ-dh)⁴, instead of which iḍḍh appears under the influence, perhaps, of the cognate verbal forms with the short vowel (aviṣtu, aviṣām etc.).

43. Cerebrals in many instances represent the old palatals j ś ḥ. They are found thus:

a. as final: 1. in nom. sing. m. f.: bhrāt 'lustre' (bhrāj-); rāt 'ruler' (rāj-); vīpāt, N. of a river (vīpās-); vīt 'settlement' (vīs-), spāt 'spying' (spās-); sāt 'overcoming' (sāk-); -vāt 'conducting' (-vāh-), paṣṭhavāt (VS.), -vāt (TS.). The guttural k would have been phonetic in this case, as the nom. sing. originally ended in *s*⁵, and even the old palatals became k before s; the cerebral must here therefore be due to the influence of forms in which it was phonetic.

2. in nom. acc. śāt, from śās- 'six'. As k might have been expected (IE. sveks), the cerebral is doubtless due to forms containing śas-, as śasṭi- 'sixty', śasṭhā- (AV. VS.) 'sixth'.

3. in the first member of a compound, where the final of the nom. sing. appears, in śāt- 'six', and pād- (from pās- 'cord', in pād-bīsa-).

4. in 2. 3. sing. aor. for the radical palatal after the endings have been dropped: thus ā-bhrāt (bhrāj- 'shine'); yāt (yaj- 'sacrifice'); rāt (rāj- 'shine'); naṭ, ā-naṭ (naṣ- 'reach'); ā-prāt (praṣ- 'ask' in praṣ-nā- 'question'); ā-vāt (vah- 'convey'). Here ṭ is phonetic in the 3. pers. only, standing for s-ṭ (= IE. k-t). It has been transferred to the 2. sing., where k would be phonetic (standing

² The form vy-āvāt in MS. III. 49 (B.) beside vy-āvāt, AV. VIII. 12^a, from vi-vas- 'shine forth', is probably due to the influence of a-vāt, aor. of √vah-; but cp. BARTHOLOMAE, Studien I, 24, note. On the cerebral in avātā- (SV. VS.), beside avātā-, naḍā- 'reed', beside nadā-, and in kijā- (AV.), markāya- (VS.) cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 148 b, note.

ṛvik 'sacrificer' (√yaj-); ūrṅ (VS.) 'nourishment' (ūrj-); dik (AV.) 'region' (dik-). For -dṛk, the later Samhitās have -dṛn also. In the n. nom. the m. f. form appears: -dṛk, -spṛk; but as there was no s here, it must be assumed that the cerebral was originally used in these neuter forms. In bhiṣāj- 'healer', the k has spread from the nom. to other cases, where it is not phonetic (cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 138). The original value of the palatal in usij- 'desiring', usṇih- (AV. VS.), a kind of metre, which have k in the nom. is uncertain. The k in the nom. nāk 'night' is probably not based on an old palatal s (cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 149 a, note).

for k-s = IE. k̂s). The reverse transference of k to the 3. sing. has taken place in prá nak beside á-naṣ (naṣ 'reach') and in á-srāk (from srj- 'discharge').

b. before consonant suffixes:

1. the phonetic cerebral appears before case-endings beginning with bh in paḍ-bhis, from pás- 'look' and 'cord'; viḍ-bhis from viś- 'settlement'; sarāḍ-bhyas 'for the bees' (probably from sarāh-*); *śaḍ-bhis*¹. In anaḍhāḍ-bhyas (AV.), from anaḍ-vāh- 'bull', ḍ appears for ḍ by dissimilation; while the guttural of the nom. instead of the phonetic ḍ appears in susamḍḡg-bhis (from ḍrś- 'see') 'fair to see' and in diḡ-bhyās (AV.) from diś- 'region'.

2. before the -su of the loc. pl. k is phonetic, and appears in vik-śú, from viś-, in spite of the unphonetic ṣ of the nom. viṣ. But owing to the influence of the other cases the unphonetic cerebral (in the form of t dissimilated for ṣ) appears in anaḍūt-su.

3. before the dhi of the 2. sing. impv. the cerebral is phonetic in dididḍhi, from *diś-*²; also in ṣ (= s), which after cerebralizing the dh is dropped, leaving a compensating length, in tāḍhi from takṣ- 'hew' (= IE. təḡzdhī); also in ṣo-dhā 'sixfold' (for ṣas-dhā : as-, like as-, becoming o before a voiced mute)³.

c. The cerebrals in the following words have not been satisfactorily explained: āghātī- and āghātā- (AV.) 'striker', beside -āghāta- (VS.); āṇḍā- 'egg'; īḍant- (X. 171) 'wandering'(?), kūṣa- 'house'(?), kūṣa- 'frontal bone'; kṛpīṭa- 'fuel'(?), maṇḍāka- 'frog'; īṭa- (AV.) 'reed'; rarāṭa- (VS.), lalāṭa- (AV.) 'forehead'. Some others, mostly containing b, may be suspected of non-Aryan origin: bāt, baḍā, interjections; baṭūrin- 'broad'(?), bīriṣa- 'troop'(?); bekanāṭa- 'usurer'; āḍāmbara- (VS.) 'drum'; khadḡā- (VS. MS.) 'rhinoceros'; cāṇḍālā- (VS.) 'outcast'; markāṭa- (VS.) 'ape'.

44. The dentals.—The dentals are at the present day pronounced as interdental in India, but according to the Prātisākhya⁴ they were post-dental, being produced at the root of the teeth (dantamūla). They represent IE. dentals, corresponding to similar sounds in the cognate languages. When two IE. dentals met, there seems to have been a tendency to change the first to a sibilant⁵. A survival of this appears in some Vedic combinations of d or dh with dh, which point to an earlier zdh, viz. in de-hī, beside dad-dhī 'give'; dhe-hī (for dhadh-dhī*) 'put'; kiye-dhā 'containing much', in all of which examples e is based on Ilr. *az*⁶.

a. Change of s to t. The dental sibilant as the final of roots or nominal stems becomes *t*⁷:

1. before the s of verbal suffixes (future, aorist, desiderative) in the three verbs vas- 'dwell', vas- 'shine', and ghas- 'eat'⁸: thus avātsis (AV.) 'thou hast dwelt'; vāt-syati (MS.) 'will shine'; jighat-sati (AV.) 'desires to eat', and jighat-sū- (AV.) 'hungry'.

² It is not phonetic in aviḍḍhi and viḍḍhi (see above, 42 d). Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 149 c (end).

³ The cerebral which in this paragraph represents (except before s) the old palatals, is based on an Ilr. śh- sound ṣ ṣ (as shown by the Avesta having ṣ ṣ in the corresponding forms). This sibilant, Indian ś, first became the cerebral mute ḍ before the bh-suffixes (as dental s became dental ḍ) when it first spread to the nom., and lastly to the loc. pl.

⁴ See RPr. I. 19; TPr. II. 38.

⁵ For example, Gk. foiśba, Av. voistā, beside vēt-tha 'thou knowest'. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 152 b.

⁶ Loc. cit., also note.

⁷ See discussion of attempted explanations in WACKERNAGEL I, 153, note.

⁸ All the other roots in s add the suffix with connecting vowel i.

2. before the t of the 3. sing. of a past tense: thus vy-āvāt (AV.) 'has shone forth', from vi-vas-. This is, however, probably not a phonetic change, but is rather due to the influence of the 3. sing. of other preterites with -t; ā-vās-t* having thus, instead of ā-vās*, become *ā-vāt*¹.

3. before case-terminations beginning with bh, and when final (in nom. acc. sing. neut.), in the perf. part. and in four other words: thus jāgr-vād-bhis, inst. pl., 'having awakened', tatan-vāt, acc. n., 'having stretched'; uśād-bhis, from uśās- 'dawn'; mād-bhis, mād-bhyās (AV.), from māś- 'month'; svā-tavad-bhyas (VS.), from svā-tavas- 'self-strong'. The change of s to t began before the bh endings (like that of s to ṣ or ḍ)² and was extended to the nom. acc. sing. neut. in the RV., but not till later before the -su of the loc. pl.³

a. Allied to the change of final s of roots and stems to t, is the apparent change of the medial dental sibilant to d in madgā- (VS.) 'diver', from majj- 'dive' (jj = IE. zs)⁴.

β. The substitution of dentals for other mutes is extremely rare. In consequence of dissimilation, a dental replaces a cerebral in anaḍṣu and anaḍṣabhyas (AV.), from anaḍvāh- 'bull'; in drḍhrā- 'firm', beside drḍhā- 5; in paśṭhāvāt (TS.) 'four year old bull', beside paśṭhāvā- (VS.).

A dental seems to take the place of a labial in ad-bhis, ad-bhyās, beside ap- 'water': but this is probably due to the analogy of nadbhis*, nadbhyās, beside nāpāt- 'grandson'⁶.

45. The labials. — These sounds as a rule represent IE. labials; e. g. pitṛ-, Gk. πατήρ; bhāra 'bear', Gk. φέρε. But owing to the great rarity of IE. b, there are very few Vedic examples of inherited b; e. g. rambate 'hangs down', Lat. labi 'glide'.

a. The number of words containing b has been greatly increased by new formations. 1. Thus b replaces p or bh before other voiced mutes: e. g. pī-bā-anā- 'firm', beside pad-ā- 'place'; rab-dhā-, beside rabhante 'they take'. — 2. It is the regular substitute for bh in reduplicative syllables or when initial aspiration is lost owing to a following aspirate; e. g. ba-bhūva from bhū- 'be', bāhū- 'arm', bandh- 'bind'⁸. — 3. In a few examples it takes the place of or interchanges with *v*⁹; thus pādṛśa- (RV.), beside pādṛśa- (VS.); bānā- beside vānā- 'arrow'; -baśa- (AV.) beside -valsa- 'twig'; bānā- (AV.) 'music' beside vānā-; -blina- (AV.) 'crushed', beside vlina- (B.)¹⁰. — 4. It further occurs in some new onomatopoetic words; budbudi- 'bubble'; bāl (AV.) interj. 'dash!'; bata interj. 'alas!' and batī- 'weakling'. — 5. In one instance b seems to stand for m before r, in brū- 'speak', for mrū-*¹¹, originally appearing most likely after a pause or after a final consonant¹².

b. In many words the origin of b is obscure. Most of these probably come from a foreign source: 1. owing to their meaning: arbudi- and ārbuda-, balbūthā-, sāmbara-, śvinda-, names of foes of Indra and of the Aryans; brbū-, a proper name; bajā- (AV.), bālbaja- (AV.), bilvā- (AV.), names of plants; bākura- and bākura-, a musical instrument. — 2. owing to their phonetic form: kilbiṣa- 'sin'; biśa- 'root-fibre'; busā- 'vapour'; bāt and baḍā, interjections;

bandā- (AV.) 'crippled'; bārsva- (VS.) 'socket'; baskāya- 'yearling'; bāskiha- (VS.) 'decrepit'; blā- 'cave'; bilma- 'chip'; biriṭa- 'troop' (?); bekanāṭa- 'usurer'. — 3. for both reasons: iltibisa- and bṛsaya-, names of demons; alību- (AV.) 'bottle gourd'. — 4. Other words which if not of foreign origin, are as yet insufficiently explained: bārjaha- 'udder'; bastā- 'he-goat'; bāsri- 'quickly'; -bāra- 'aperture'; bīja- 'seed'; bundā- 'arrow'; bṛbād-uktha-, an epithet of Indra; chūbuka- 'chin'; sabāla- 'brindled'; sām̐ba-, a weapon of Indra; balāsa- (VS. AV.), a disease; bleṣka- (K.) 'noose'.¹

46. The nasals. — There are five nasals corresponding, in regard to place of articulation, to the five classes of mutes. Each of them can only appear before a mute of its own class². Before sibilants and h the nasals do not appear³; before l only m is found; ñ does not appear finally any more than the palatal mutes.

a. The guttural nasal ṇ regularly appears before gutturals: e. g. an̐kā- 'hook'; an̐khāya- 'embrace'; āṅga- 'limb'; jāṅghā- 'leg'. Before other consonants or as a final, it appears only when a following k or g has been dropped, as in stems ending with -ñc- or -ñj- and in those compounded with -dṛś-; e. g. pratyāñ-, nom. sing. of pratyāñc- 'facing'; yun̐dhi (= yun̐j-dhi), 2. sing. impv. of yuj- 'join'; kṛ-dṛñ-, nom. sing. of kṛ-dṛś- 'of what kind?'.

b. The palatal nasal ṇ is found only before and after c or j, and before ch; e. g. vāñcati (AV.) 'wavers'; yajñā- 'sacrifice'; vāñchantu 'let them desire'.

c. The labial nasal m as a rule represents IE. m; e. g. mātṛ- 'mother', Lat. māter; nāman- 'name', Lat. nōmen. It is by far the most common labial sound⁴, its frequency being greater than that of the four labial mutes taken together⁵. By some scholars m is regarded as representing an original n or v in certain instances⁶.

d. The dental nasal n as a rule represents IE. n; e. g. nā 'not', Lat. nē; mānas- 'mind', Gk. μένος. It is the commonest of the nasals, being more frequent than m, and about three times as frequent as the other three taken together⁷. The dental nasal also appears instead of dental mutes and of the labial nasal.

α. It appears in place of d before the nominal suffix -na-, and of t, as well as c, before the m of secondary suffixes; e. g. ān-na- 'food' (ad- 'eat'); chin-nā- 'cut off' (chid-); vidyūn-mant- 'gleaming' (vidyūt- 'lightning'); mṛn-maya- 'earthen' (mṛd- VS. 'earth'). This substitution is in imitation of Sandhi, as dn tm dm otherwise occur within words; e. g. udnā (from udān- 'water'), ātman- 'breath', vid-mā 'we know'.

β. dental n regularly appears in place of m: 1. before t; e. g. from yam- 'restrain': yan-tir- and yan-ti- 'guide', yan-trā- 'rein'; from śram- 'exert oneself': śrāntā- 'wearied'; 2. before suffixal m or v; e. g. from gam- 'go': ā-gan-ma, gan-vahi, *jagan-vāṇs-*⁸; 3. when radically final, originally followed by suffixal s or t; e. g. from gam- 'go', ā-gan, 2. 3. sing. aor. (= ā-gam-s, ā-gam-t); from yam- 'restrain', a-yān, 3. sing. aor. (= a-yām-s-t); from dām- 'house', gen. (pātir) *dān*⁹

² Excepting in a few instances when a mute has been dropped, as in yun̐dhi = yun̐gdhi (see a).

³ Excepting in a few instances ñ or n before the -su of the loc. pl.

⁴ Excluding the semivowel v.

⁶ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 177, note.

⁷ WHITNEY 75.

⁸ This change of m to n may be due to the influence of the cognate forms in which m phonetically becomes n when final (below 3).

⁹ On this explanation of dān (denied by PISCHEL, VS. 2, 307 ff.) see especially BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 8, in 'Arica' 229—249; also RICHTER, KZ. 36, 111—123, on dām-pati-.

'of the house' (= dam-s). Here the change of m to n was evidently due (as in r) to the dental s or t which originally followed¹.

47. The cerebral n.—This nasal, like the cerebral mutes, is an Indian innovation. It is for the most part the result of a regular phonetic development, but is also in a number of words due to Prakritic influence.

A. Besides regularly appearing before cerebral mutes, e. g. in daṇḍā- 'staff', the cerebral n phonetically takes the place of dental n after *r r s*², either immediately preceding, e. g. nṛṇām 'of men', vārṇa- 'colour', uṣṇā- 'hot'; or when only vowels³, guttural or labial mutes⁴ or nasals, y v or h, intervene; e. g. kṛpāna- 'misery'; kṛmāṇa- 'step'; kṣóbhāna- 'exciting'. This rule is followed throughout within a word even when a s which it contains is produced by Sandhi⁵; thus not only trpṇóti (trp- 'be satisfied') and gybhñāti (gybh- 'seize'), but also u suvānāḥ (for suvānāḥ, IX. 107⁶). In su-ṣumnā- 'very gracious' (where the s is produced by internal Sandhi), the dental n remains probably owing to the influence of the simple word sumnā-.

a. The cerebralization of dental n takes place almost as regularly in verbs compounded with the prepositions prá 'before', pārā 'away', pári 'round', nir (for nis) 'out'; as well as in nominal derivatives of these combinations. But the r does not cerebralize n when there is tmesis or any other preposition but ā intervenes⁶. The cerebralization takes place:

1. in the initial of roots; e. g. prānak (naš- 'reach'); parāṇide (nud- 'thrust'); pra-neti- 'guide' (nṛ- 'lead'). But n remains if r or kṣ follows; hence prānṛtyat (AV.) from nṛt- 'dance', and pári nakṣati 'encompasses' (nakṣ- 'reach'). The cerebralization is also absent, without this dissimilating cause⁷, in abhi prá nonu- (SV.) beside abhi prá nonu- 'shout towards', and in *prā-nabh-*⁸ (AV.) 'burst'.

2. medially or finally in the roots hnu- 'hide', an- 'breathe', han- 'strike' (though not in forms with ghn); thus pári-hñutā (AV.) 'denied'; prāṇiti 'breathes'; nir hanyāt (AV.), but abhi-pra-ghnānti.

3. in suffixal n the cerebralization fluctuates: it always takes place in the n of the 1. sing. subj., e. g. nir gamāni; not always in the pres. base of hi- 'impel'; e. g. prā hiṇomi, etc., but *pari-hinómi*⁹; never in that of mināti 'diminishes' or of minóti 'establishes'; it is also absent in yáju ṣkannām (X. 1813)¹⁰; but -tṛṇna- (VS.), from trā- 'pierce'.

b. In nominal compounds cerebralization takes place less regularly when there is r r or s in the first member, and n in the second:

1. an initial n is here nearly always cerebralized in the RV.: e. g. dur-nāman- 'ill-named'; prā-ṇapāt- 'great-grandson'; also dur-nāsa- (AV.) 'un-

³ On the absence of cerebralization in uṣṭrānām and rāṣṭrānām, see above 42 a, a.

⁴ In some instances where the mute immediately precedes the n, the cerebralization does not take place; e. g. vytra-ghni; kṣepni- 'springing'.

⁹ Cp. VP. III. 87; AP. III. 88; IV. 95; TP. XIII. 12.

attainable', dur-nihita- (AV.) 'ill-preserved'; but (because a r or r follows) not in -nṛmṇa- 'manhood', -niṣṭhā- 'eminent'; -niṣṣidh- 'gift'; -nirṇij- 'adornment'; nor (owing to the intervening gh and m) in dirghā-nūtha-, N., yusmā-nūta- 'led by you'. The cerebralization is further absent, without any preventing cause, in akṣā-nāh- 'tied to the axle' (beside pari-nāh- 'enclosure'); tri-nākhā- 'third heaven'; tri-nābhi- 'three-naved', and vīṣa-nābhi- 'great-naved'; pīnar-nava- 'renewing itself' (but AV. pīnar-nava-); dur-niyāntu- 'hard to restrain'.

2. It is less frequent medially; e. g. pūrvāhṇā- 'forenoon'; aparāhṇā- (AV.) 'afternoon'; nṛ-vāhana- 'conveying men'; prā-vāhana- (VS.) 'carrying off'; purīṣa-vāhana- (VS.) beside purīṣa-vāhana- (TS. K.) 'removing rubbish'; nṛ-mānas- 'kind to men', vīṣa-mānas- 'manly-spirited', but īṣi-manas- 'of far-seeing mind'; dru-ghand- 'wooden club', but vṛtra-ghnē, dat., 'Vṛtra-slaying'; *su-sumnā-*¹ 'very gracious'; su-pra-pānā- 'good drinking place'; nṛ-pāna- 'giving drink to men'; but pari-pāna- 'drink', pari-pāna- (AV.) 'protection'; pary-uhyamāna- (VS.) beside pary-uhyamāna- (Vṛah-).

c. Even in a closely connected following word cerebralization may take place after r or r in the preceding one.

1. This is frequently the case with initial n, most usually in nas 'us', rarely in other monosyllables such as nū 'now', nā 'like'²; e. g. sahō śū nah (VIII. 73²). Initial n occasionally appears thus in other words also; e. g. pāri neti ... viśat (IX. 103⁴); śṛṅga-vṛṣo napāt (SV., napāt, RV.); asthūrī nau (VS., no RV. TS.); (gōmad) ū śū nāsatyā (VS.) prā nāmāni (TS.); pīnar nayāmasi (AV.); suhār nah (MS.) = suhārṇ nah; vār nāma (TS. v. 6. 13).

2. Medial n also occurs thus, most often in the enclitic pronoun ena- 'this'; e. g. indra enam. It occasionally appears in accented words also after final r: gōr ohēna (I. 180⁵); nīr ēnasah (AV.); nṛbhīr yemānāh (SV., yemānāh, RV.); pañbhīr vīdāmānāh (TS.)³. A final n is treated as medial and cerebralized thus in īṇ imān (MS.) and akṣān āva (MS.).

B. In a number of words ṇ has a Prakritic origin.

a. It is due to a preceding r or r which has been replaced by a i u or has disappeared through assimilation. This is indicated to be the case by the appearance beside them of cognate words containing r or l sounds: 1. in Vedic itself: thus anī- 'pin of the axle'; kāṇā- 'one-eyed', beside *karṇā-*⁴ 'crop-eared' (MS.); kāṇa- (AV.) 'particle': kalā- 'small part'; jañjanā-bhāvan 'glittering': jūrṇi- 'glow' (-jañ- probably = jṛñ- from old pres. jṛñāti*); pūnya- 'auspicious': pī- 'fill'; phaṇ- 'bound' (= phryn-, pharn-) cp. parpharat 'may he scatter'; dhāṇikā- 'cunnius': dhāṇakū- (VS.), id.—2. in allied languages: gaṇā- 'crowd'; paṇ- (VS.) 'purchase'; vañij- 'merchant'⁵; ānu- 'minute'; kūṇāru- 'having a withered arm'; pāṇi- 'hand'; sthāṇi- 'stump'⁶.

b. Owing to the predilection for cerebrals in Prakrit, which substituted ṇ for n throughout between vowels, even without the influence of neighbouring cerebrals, one or two words with such ṇ seem to have made their way into Vedic: maṇi- 'pearl' (Lat. monile); amṇāh (MS.) 'at once': amṇāh (AV.), id.⁷.

c. The exact explanation of the ṇ in the following words (some of which may be of foreign origin) is uncertain: kāṇva-, N.; kalyāṇa- 'fair';

48. The semivowels. — The semivowels y, r, l, v have the peculiarity that each has a vowel corresponding to it, viz. i r l u respectively. They are called anta(h)sthā in the Prātiśākhya³, the term doubtless meaning 'intermediate', that is, standing midway between vowels and consonants.

a. y and v regularly represent the final i and u of diphthongs before vowels, e and ai becoming ay and āy, o and au av and āv. But while y and v are regularly written for i and u before vowels, they were often pronounced as iy and uv. This is shown by the fact that:

1. iy and uv are frequently written, beside y and v, in the inflexion of i- and u-stems. Thus from dhi- 'thought', there are several compounds, in some of which the stem is written with iy before vowels, as ithādhiy- 'very devout', in others with y, as ādhy- 'longing'. Similarly -jū- 'hastening', regularly appears as -jūv-; but -pū- 'purifying', -śū- 'swelling', -sū- 'bringing forth', always as -pū-, -śū-, *-sū-*⁴. In the same way, the suffix -ya is often written -iya; e. g. āgr-ya- 'first', beside āgr-ya- (VS.); ītv-ya- and ītv-ya- 'regular'; urv-iyā and urv-yā (VS. TS.) 'widely'. This spelling is characteristic of the TS. Here iy is generally written where more than one consonant precede, almost invariably so in the inflexion of stems in i and i; e. g. indrāgnīy-ās 'of Indra and Agni', lakṣmīyā 'by Lakṣmī'; very often also in the suffix -ya; e. g. āśv-ya- beside āśv-ya- (RV.) 'relating to horses'⁵. Similarly uv appears here for v in sīvar- and svargā- 'heaven', beside svār (RV.) and svargā- (RV.); in the inflexion of tanū- 'body', in some forms of vāyī- 'wind', bāhī- 'arm', urū- 'thigh'⁶. In the SV. and MS.⁷ there are two or three other examples of iy and uv for y and *v*⁸.

2. according to metrical evidence, y and v (though written as pronounced in classical Sanskrit) have a syllabic value in a large number of examples in the Vedic hymns⁹. This was recognized to be the case by the Prātiśākhya¹⁰.

3. r appears instead of r before the suffix -ya; e. g. in pitr-ya- 'paternal', from pitṛ- 'father'.

4. ay āy ey appear before the suffix *-ya*¹¹; e. g. saha-śyāyā-, dat., 'for lying together'. Here yy is always to be read as y-iy in the RV. (except in Book x and daśdyā- in I. 129²)¹².

² On these words see WACKERNAGEL I, 174 b and 173 d, note.

⁵ Several other examples, loc. cit.

⁶ Cp. WHITNEY on TPr. II. 25.

⁷ See WACKERNAGEL I, 181 a, note (p. 201, mid.).

⁸ On the other hand there are some isolated instances of y and v in the Vedas as compared with iy and uv in classical Sanskrit; see WACKERNAGEL I, p. 201, bottom.

⁹ In certain words and formatives y and v are regularly consonantal: in the relative yā-;

the present suffix -ya; the comp. suffix -yas; the gen. ending -ya, and the fut. suffix -sya; the initial v of suffixes; the uv- of the 5th class; in āśva- 'horse' and vāṇī-, N. On the other hand the syllabic pronunciation is sometimes used artificially by the poets, as is apparent from the isolation of such occurrences. In some individual words the written iy and uv have to be pronounced as consonantal y and v: always in svāṇā-, pres. part. of śū- 'press'; occasionally in bhīyās- 'fear', hiyānā- 'impelled'. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 181 b, note, bottom.

¹¹ See GRASSMANN, Wb. 1711, columns 4 and 5.

¹² WACKERNAGEL I, 181 c 7.

That this syllabic pronunciation was not simply i and u (with hiatus), but iy and uv, is rendered probable not only by the spelling iy uv beside y v, but by the consideration that y and v are respectively the natural transition from i and u to a following dissimilar vowel.

b. In the RV. y and v are pronounced with a syllabic value under the following conditions:

1. almost invariably after a group of consonants and generally after a single consonant if preceded by a long vowel. Thus the ending -bhyaś and the suffix -tya are regularly pronounced as dissyllables after a long vowel, but as monosyllables after a short vowel. Hence, too, v is pronounced as well as written in the forms davidhv-āt, suśv-ātī, suśv-ānā, juhū-ē, jūhv-ātī.¹

2. after a single initial consonant at the beginning of a verse, or, within a verse, if the preceding syllable is heavy, in some half dozen words. Thus tyā 'that', and tvām 'thou' are nearly always pronounced as they are written after a short vowel, but tiyā and tvām at the beginning of a Pāda or after a long vowel. The y is pronounced as iy in jyā and jyākā 'bowstring' only at the beginning of a verse or after a long vowel, in jyāyas 'mightier' only after a long vowel. Finally tva 'many', must generally be read as tuva after a long vowel, but almost invariably tva after a short vowel.

3. in the inflexion of the nouns in ī (nom. sing. -īs) and *ū*², where the stem has (with only six exceptions) to be pronounced with iy and uv.³

Thus the transition from iy and uv to y and v began in the RV., the traditional text writing for the iy and uv which was pronounced by the poets of that Veda, sometimes iy and uv, sometimes y and v.

49. The semivowel y.—This semivowel, when not derived from i before other vowels (48 a) within Vedic itself, is based either on IE. j (= Gk. spiritus asper) or voiced palatal spirant (= Gk. ζ)⁴; e. g. yā-s 'who' (ō-s); yaj- 'sacrifice' (ōy-ios); yudh- 'fight' (ýs-mín); but yáva- 'corn' (ξεία); yas- 'boil' (ξέω); yuj- 'yoke' (ζυγ-); yūśán- 'broth' (ζύ-μν). It is probably due to this difference of origin that yas- 'boil' and yam- 'restrain', reduplicate with ya- in the perfect, but yaj- 'sacrifice', with i-.

a. This semivowel sometimes appears without etymological justification: 1. after roots in -ā before vowel suffixes; e. g. dā-y-i, 3. sing. aor. (dā- 'give'), á-dhā-y-i (dhā- 'put'), á-jñā-y-i (jñā- 'know'); upa-sthā-y-am, abs. 'approaching'; ṛṣabha-dā-y-in- (AV.) 'bestowing bulls'. This is probably due to the influence of roots in -āi (27 a), which have ā- before consonants, but āy- before vowels; e. g. pai- 'drink': pā-tave, á-pāy-i, pāy-āna.—2. owing to the influence of closely allied words or formations, in: yū-y-ām 'you' (for yūśam*, Av. yūšem, cp. yus-mā-, stem of other cases)⁵ because of vay-ām 'we'; bhū-y-iśtha- 'most' because of bhū-yas- 'more'; bhūve-y-am, 1. sing. opt. (for bhāvayam*) because of bhāves, bhāvet, etc.

b. very rarely in the later Samhitās after palatals: tiraścyē (AV. xv. 3⁵) var. lect. for tiraścē, dat., 'transverse'; śnyāptra- (TS. I. 2. 13³): śnāptra- (VS.) 'corner of the mouth'.

c. interchanging (after the manner of Prakrit) occasionally with *v*⁶ in ⁶ In khyā- 'tell', y seems at first sight to be interchanged with the ś of kṣā-, which occurs in the K. and the MS. (cp. v. SCHROEDER's ed., I, p. XLIII, 7); but the two verbs, though synonymous, have probably a different origin. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 188 c, note.

the Samhitās of the YV.; e. g. ātatāyin- (VS.) beside ātatāvin- (TS.) 'having one's bow drawn'¹.

50. The semivowel v.—This sound was, at the time of the Prātiśākhya², a voiced labio-dental spirant like the English v or the German w. Within Vedic it is very frequently derived from *u*³. It seems otherwise always to be based on IE. u; there is no evidence that it is ever derived from an IE. spirant v which was not interchangeable with *u*⁴.

a. This semivowel is sometimes found interchanging with *b*⁵, with *y*⁶, and according to some scholars, with *m*⁷.

b. In two roots in which v is followed by r, an interchange of sonantal and consonantal pronunciation, together with metathesis takes place, vr becoming ru: hence from dhvr- 'bend' are derived both -dhvr-t- and -dhrī-, -dhrī-t-, dhrī-ti-; from hvr- 'go crooked', -hvr-t-, -hvr-ta-, -hvr-ti- and hru- nā-ti, 3. sing., hri-t-, -hru-ta-. The root rudh- 'grow', may be a similar variation of *vr*dh- 'grow'⁸.

51. The semivowel r.—The liquid sound r must originally have been a cerebral, as is shown by its phonetic effect on a following dental n (47 A). By the time of the Prātiśākhya⁹, it was, however, pronounced in other phonetic positions also. Being the consonantal sound corresponding to r before vowels (like y v to i u), it is in that position correspondingly graded with ā; e. g. ā-kr-an, ā-kr-ata, beside ā-kr-ihās: ā-kar-am, aor. of kṛ- 'do'; dr-ū-: dār-u- 'wood'.

a. r generally corresponds to r in the cognate languages, but not infrequently to l also; and where these languages agree in having l, the latter may in these instances be assumed to be the original sound. As old Iranian here invariably has r, there seems to have been a tendency to rhotacism in the Indo-Iranian period¹⁰. Words in which Vedic r thus represents IE. l are the following:

1. initially: raks- 'protect'; ragh-ū- 'swift'; raṇhate 'speeds'; rabh- 'grasp'; ramb- 'hang down'; rā- 'bark'; ric- 'leave'; rip- 'smear'; rih- 'lick'; ruc- 'shine'; ruj- 'break'; rudh- and ruh- 'grow'.

2. medially: āṅāra- 'coal'; ajirā- 'agile'; aratni- 'elbow'; arh- 'be worthy'; iṛāti 'sets in motion'; ir- 'set in motion'; ārpā- 'wool'; ūrmī- 'wave'; garūṁmant-, a celestial bird; gārdabhā- 'ass'; gārṇha- 'womb'; cakrā- 'wheel'; car- 'move'; caramā- 'last'; cirā- 'long'; chardls- 'protection'; dhārī- (AV.) 'sucking'; paraśū- 'axe'; pīpartī 'fills'; pūr- 'fort'; purū- 'much'; prath- 'spread out'; -prī-t- 'swimming'; -pruta- part. 'floating'; pravate 'waves'; mārdhati 'neglects'; -marśana- (AV.) 'touching'; mūrdhān- 'head'; varā- 'suitor', and various forms of vr- 'choose'; vārcas- 'light'; śaraṇā- 'protecting'; śarman- 'protection'; śārka- 'gravel'; śīśira- (AV.) 'cold season'; śri- 'lean'; śru- 'hear'; śrōṇi- 'buttock'; sar- in forms of sr- 'run', and sarirā- (VS.) 'flood'; sarpi- 'clarified butter'; sahāsra- 'thousand'; svār- 'heaven'; sūrya- 'sun'; harit- and hārīta- 'yellow'; hiraṇya- 'gold'; hrādīni- 'hail'¹¹.

⁹ See WHITNEY on APr. I. 20, 28.

¹¹ See WACKERNAGEL I, 189.

b. r appears in place of phonetic ḍ (= ṣ, Iir. ḍ)¹ as final of stems in -is and -us, before endings which begin with bh-; e. g. hāvīr-bhis and vāpūr-bhis. This substitution is due to the influence of Sandhi, where is, us would become ir, ur. r also takes the place of ḍ in irā- beside īḍā- 'refreshing draught'. In urubjā- 'wide open' r apparently takes the place of dental ḍ (= ud-ubjā-*), perhaps under the influence of the numerous compounds beginning with uru- 'wide', e. g. uru-jrī- 'wide-striding'².

c. Metathesis of r takes place when ār would be followed by ṣ or h + consonant. Under these conditions it appears to be phonetic, being due to the Svarabhakti after r being twice as great before h and sibilants as before other consonants³: when a vowel followed the sibilant or h (e. g. darśatā-)⁴, the Svarabhakti was pronounced; but if a consonant followed, rā took the place of ār + double Svarabhakti. This metathesis appears in forms of drś- 'see' and srj- 'send forth': drāṣtum (AV.), draṣṭr- (AV.) 'one who sees'; sām-sraṣṭr- 'one who engages in battle', 2. sing. aor. srās (= srāk*)⁵; also in prās-ti- 'side-horse', beside pārs-u- and prṣṭi- 'rib'; moreover in brahmān- 'priest', brāhman- 'devotion', beside barhī- 'sacrificial litter' (from bṛh- or barh- 'make big'); perhaps also drahyāt 'strongly' (drh- 'be firm'). The same metathesis occurs, being, however, very rare and fluctuating, before kṣ-: thus tuvi-mrakṣā- 'injuring greatly', mrakṣa-kṣtvan- 'rubbing to pieces' (from mrj- 'wipe', or mṛṣ- 'stroke'), but tārksya-, N.⁶.

52. The semivowel l.—The liquid sound l is the semivowel corresponding to the vowel ḷ (which however occurs only in some half dozen perfect and aorist forms of the root kḷp- 'be adapted'). It is pronounced at the present day in India as an interdental; but it must have had a post-dental sound at the time of the Prātisākyas⁷, by which it is described as being pronounced in the same position as the dentals⁸.

a. It represents IE. *l*⁹ and, in a few instances, IE. r. It is rarer in Vedic than in any cognate language except old Iranian (where it does not occur at all)¹⁰. It is much rarer than r, which is seven times as frequent¹¹. The gradual increase of l, chiefly at the cost of r, but partly also owing to the appearance of new words, is unmistakable. Thus in the tenth Book of the RV. appear the verbs mluc- and labh-, and the nouns loman-, lohitā-, but in the earlier books only mruc- 'sink', rabh- 'seize', rōman- 'hair', rohitā- 'red'; similarly daśāṅgulā- 'length of ten fingers', hlādaka- and hlādikā-vant- 'refreshing', beside sv-aṅguri- 'fair-fingered', hradā- 'pond'. Moreover, while in the oldest parts of the RV. l occurs¹² in a few words only, it is eight times as common in the latest parts. Again, in the AV. it is seven times as common as in the RV.¹³; thus for rap- 'chatter', rikh- 'scratch', a-srīvā- 'ugly', appear in the AV. lap-, likh- (also VS.), aślīlā-. The various texts of the YV. also show an increased number of words with l as compared with the RV.; thus babhlusá- (VS.) 'brownish' beside babhrú- 'brown'; khlála- (VS.) 'potter' beside carú- 'pot'. The MS. has a special predilection for *l*¹; thus purítát 'pericardium' beside purítát (AV. VS.). The SV. has pāmsulá- 'dusty', for pāmsurá- in the corresponding passage of the RV.

In a certain number of words r interchanges with l in the same period: thus purú- and pulú- 'much'; miśrá- and -miśla- 'mixed'; jargur- and jalgul-, intv. of gṛ- 'swallow'; in the AV.: -girá- and -gildá- 'swallowing', ksudrá- and ksullaká- (= ksudla-ka*) 'small', tiryá- and tilá- 'sesamum'.

The above considerations render it probable that the Vedic dialect was descended from an Indo-Iranian one in which rhotacism had removed every l. But since the oldest parts of the RV. contain some words with IE. l, and in its later parts as well as in the other Samhitās l predominantly interchanges with r representing IE. l, there must have been another Vedic dialect in which IE. r and l were kept distinct; from the latter l must have found its way into the literary language to an increasing extent².

b. In the oldest parts of the RV. there are no verbal forms which preserve IE. l, and only a few nouns, viz. (u)loká- 'free space', ślōka- 'call', and -miśla- 'mixed'. A few other words containing l have no IE. cognates and may therefore be of foreign origin: nīla- 'dark-coloured', jálāṣa- 'healing', tilvīla- 'fertile', and the denominative tilvilāyáte.

In the latest parts of the RV. l represents IE. l in: 1. verbal forms and primary derivatives: lebhire, lebhná-, labdhá-, from labh- 'grasp', layantam, from li- 'cling'; alipsata, aor. of lip- 'anoint'; lobháyanti- part. from lobh- 'desire'; calá-calá-, -cācali- 'swaying' (also pums-calí- 'whore', AV. VS.), from cal- 'move'; plávate, plavá- 'boat', from plu- 'swim'.

2. the following nouns: logá- 'clod'; ulūka- 'owl'; ulká- 'meteor'; ulba- 'membrane'; kaldśa- 'jar'; kalá- 'small portion'; kāla- 'time'; kalyāna- 'fair'; khlā- 'family'; gildā- 'trickling' (VS. gal- 'drop'); palitá- 'grey'; pulú- (in compounds) 'much'; phalgvā- 'weakly'; bála- 'strength'³; balí- 'tax'; māla- 'dirty garment'; salilá- 'surging'; hlādaka- and hlādikāvant- 'refreshing'; also words with the suffix *-la, especially with diminutive sense; e.g. vr̥ṣa-lá- 'little man', śiśú-la- 'little child'⁴.

a. In the later Samhitās l represents IE. l in the following words: -kulva- (VS.) 'bald'; klōman- (AV. VS.) 'lung'; glāhana- (AV.) 'dicing'; glāu- (AV. VS.) 'excrescence'; tulá- (VS.) 'balance'; palāva- (AV.) 'chaff'; pula-sti- (VS.) 'smooth-haired'; plthán- (AV. VS.) 'spleen'; phaigú- (VS.) 'reddish'; laghi- (AV.) 'light'; lap- (AV.) 'prate' (= rap- RV.).

c. On the other hand, l to some extent represents IE. r also⁶.

1. In the RV. this value of l is rare and occurs only in the neighbourhood of labial sounds (u, o, p, m, v): ulūkhalā- 'mortar' beside urū- 'broad'; jalgul-, intv. of gṛ- 'swallow'; plīsi-, a kind of insect, beside prus- 'squirt'; klōśa- 'call' beside krōśant- 'calling', krōśaná- 'crying'; -lohítá- 'red', lodhá-, a kind of red animal, beside rohít-, rohítá- 'red'; lopāśá- 'jackal', lup- (AV.) 'break', beside rup- 'break'; ipala- 'upper millstone' beside upāri 'above'; jālpí- 'muttering'; piṣṣala- 'berry'; mā- 'fade' beside mṛ- 'die'; valá- 'cave' beside vārate 'encloses'.

2. In the later Samhitās the use of this l = IE. r extends further than in the RV.; thus dlam (AV.) 'enough': āram; liś- (VS.) 'tear': riś-; -luñcá- (VS.)

'tearing out'; babhuśā- (VS.) 'brownish': babhrū- 'brown'; sthūḍ- (AV. VS.) 'gross': *sthūrā-*¹.

3. In a few instances l represents IE. r by dissimilation; thus ālarṣi ālarti, intv. of r- 'go' (= arar-); prā tilāmi (VS.) = prā tirāmi 'I promote'².

d. In the later Samhitās l occasionally appears in place of phonetic *q*³ between vowels; and that this change could easily arise, is shown by the fact that l regularly appears instead of q between vowels⁴. This substitution is regularly found in the Kanva recension of the VS.; e. g. ile = ile (RV. ile); āsālha = āsāḍha (RV. āsālha). Other instances are ilīyati (AV.) 'stands still', for ilīyati* (RV. ilayati)⁵ from il- 'refreshment'; ilā- (MS.) 'refreshment', byform of ilā- (RV. ilā-); mī- (AV.) 'close the eyes'⁶, connected with mi- 'wink'.

In the later Samhitās l is also found for q between vowels when the final of a word (like l in RV.): thus turāṣāl āyuktāsaḥ (VS.) for turāṣāt 'overpowering quickly'; phāl iti (AV.) for phāt (AV.); probably also in sāl iti (AV.) and bāl iti (AV. TS.), cp. RV. bāl itthā.

e. In at least one word l stands for dental d: kṣulla-kā- (AV.) 'small', for kṣudlā-*, byform of kṣudrā- (VS.) 'small'.

f. Sometimes l has an independent Indian origin in onomatopoetic words; thus alālā-bhāvānt- 'sounding cheerfully'.

g. On the other hand there are many words in which a foreign origin may be suspected; such are, besides those already mentioned in 45 b, the following: kaulitarā-, N.; ālina- and bhālānās-, names of tribes; libuja- 'creeper'; lavaṇā- (AV.) 'salt'.

53. The sibilants.—The three sibilants, the palatal ś, the cerebral ṣ, and the dental s, are all voiceless. Even apart from the regular phonetic change of ś or s to ṣ, and of s to ś, both the palatal and the dental are further liable, in many words and forms, to be substituted for each of the other two.

a. Assimilation of s is liable to occur

1. initially, when ś or s appear at the end of the same or the beginning of the next syllable. This is the case in śvāsura- 'father-in-law'; śvaśrā- 'mother-in-law'; śmāsru- and -śmāsaru- 'beard'; śāśvant- 'ever-recurring'; in śās- 'six' (Lat. sex), and its various derivatives, śaṣ-ṭi- 'sixty', ṣoḍhā (= śaṣ-ḍhā*) 'sixfold', and others⁷.

2. initially s in the RV. almost invariably becomes ś in sah- 'overcoming', when the final h (= Hr. ḥ), with or without a following dental, becomes cerebral: nom. sing. śāt 'victorious', and the compounds janā-śāt, turā-śāt, purā-śāt, pṛtanā-śāt, vīrā-śāt, vṛthā-śāt, pṛā-śāt (VS.), viśvā-śāt (TS. AV.); also ā-śāḍha- 'invincible'. The only exceptions are sādhā, nom. sing. of sāḍhy- 'conqueror', and the perf. part. pass. sāḍhā- (AV.)⁸. The s of the nom. has been transferred to forms with -sāḥ, when compounded with pṛtanā-, though

⁴ See above p. 5, note 5.

⁶ A form with the original q is found in mūḍam (K.) 'in a low tone'.

⁷ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 197 a, note.

⁸ A B. passage of the MS. has sāḍhyāi (I. 83).

there is no phonetic justification for the cerebral (as the s is preceded by ā): thus prīanā-sāham, gen. prīanā-sāhas, prīanā-sāhya 'victory in battle', but prīanā-sāham (SV.). When compounded with āyumnā-, dhanvā-, rathā-, vibhuvā-, sadā-, the phonetic form -sāh- remains¹.

3. Medial s has been assimilated to initial ś in śaśā 'hare' (IE. ḥasō-²).

b. Without assimilation³, s or ś has been changed to ś, mostly under the influence of allied words, in the following: kśsa 'hair': kśsara (AV. VS.); śākyt 'excrement'; śubh 'adorn' (probably owing to śudh 'purify'); śūśka 'dry' (IIr. suśka-), śūsyati 'dries'; śru 'flow', śrāvas 'stream': sru-, srāvas-, svas-, śus 'breathe'; svātra-, svātrya 'dainty': svad 'taste'⁴; pyāśisimahi (AV.): pyāśisimahi (VS.), aor. (534) of pyā 'swell'; ośiṣṭha-hān (VS. TS.) 'striking very swiftly' beside ośiṣṭha-dāvan (TS.) 'giving very rapidly' (from ośām 'quickly', lit. 'burningly'), owing to āśiṣṭha 'very swift'; kśsa 'receptacle' (in the later language often also kośa-); kūśmā (VS.) beside kūśmā (MS.), a kind of demon; ruśatī (AV.) 'angry', beside rus 'be angry', probably owing to riśant 'shining'.

a. On the other hand, s occasionally appears in the later Samhitās, chiefly AV., for ś: thus asyate (AV. v. 19²): as 'eat'; vāśi (AV.) 'pointed knife': vāśi-, sāru (AV.) 'arrow': sāru-, arus-srāṇa (AV.), a kind of wound preparation: śrā 'boil'; saspiṇjara (TS.) 'ruddy like young grass', owing to sasā 'grass', for śas-piṇjara (VS. MS.) = śas[pa]-piṇjara-⁶.

54. The palatal ś.—This sibilant is a palatal both in origin (= IIr. ś), as indicated by cognate languages, and in employment, as its combination with other consonants shows. Thus it represents an old palatal in śatām 'a hundred', āśva 'horse', śvān 'dog', śru 'hear'. In external Sandhi it regularly appears before voiceless palatal mutes, e. g. indrāś ca. At the present day the pronunciation of ś in India varies between a sh sound (not always distinguished from ś) and a s sound followed by y. It is to some extent confused with the other two sibilants even in the Samhitās, but it is to be noted that here it interchanges much oftener with s than with *ś*⁸.

The aspirate of ś is *śh*⁹; its media is represented by j and when aspirated by h. These four form the old palatals (IIr. ś, śh, ś̥, ś̄h), representing IE. ḥ kḥ ḡ ḡh. The exact phonetic character of the latter is doubtful, but it is probable that they were dialectically pronounced in two ways, either as mutes (guttural¹⁰ or palatal) or as spirants, the centum languages later following the former, the satem languages the latter¹¹.

a. In external Sandhi ś regularly appears for s before the palatals c, ch, *ś*¹². It also stands for s internally in paścāt and paścātāt 'behind'¹³, and in vr̥ścātī 'hews' beside -vr̥śkā 'lopping'.

b. Before s the palatal sibilant when medial is regularly replaced by k, and sometimes also when final; e. g. dr̥k-sase and -dr̥k, from dr̥ś 'see'. Otherwise ś very rarely interchanges with k or c; thus riśant 'brilliant', beside ruc 'shine'; perhaps kārṇa 'ear': śru 'hear'¹⁴. There are also a few words with ś to which k corresponds in the satem languages; such are krus- 'cry'; āsman- 'stone'.¹

⁹ Cp. above 40.

55. The dental s.—This sound as a rule represents IE. dental s; e. g. sa 'he', Gothic sa; āsva-s 'horse', Lat. equo-s; āsti, Gk. ἔστι. In the combinations ts and ps, when they stand for etymological dhs and bhs, the s represents IE. zh; as in gṛtsa- 'adroit' (from gṛdh- 'be eager') and dīpsa- 'wish to injure' (from dabh- 'injure'), where the final aspirate of the root would have been thrown forward on the suffix, as in bud-dhā- from √budh-, and -rab-dha-, from √rabh-.²

The dental s is in Sandhi frequently changed to the palatal *ś*³, and still more frequently to the cerebral *ṣ*⁴.

56. The cerebral ṣ.—The cerebral sibilant is altogether of a secondary nature, since it always represents either an original palatal or an original dental sibilant.

The cerebral ṣ stands for a palatal before cerebral tenuis (themselves produced by this ṣ from dental tenuis) in the following two ways:

a. for the palatal ś (= Ilr. ś) and j (= Ilr. ǵ); e. g. naś-tā-, from naś- 'be lost'; mṛṣ-ta, 3. sing. mid., from mṛj- 'wipe'; pṛṣ-tā- 'asked', prāṣ-tum 'to ask', from praś- 'ask' in praś-nā- 'question' (present stem *prcchā-*⁵ with inchoative suffix -chā). In some instances it is shown by the evidence of cognate words to represent ś; thus aṣṭāu 'eight' beside aṣṭī- 'eighty'; pṛṣṭi- 'rib', prāṣṭi- 'side-horse', beside pṛṣṭu- 'rib'; āṣṭrā- 'goad', beside āṣīni- 'thunderbolt'; possibly also *apāṣṭhā-*⁶ 'barb', beside āsman- 'bolt'.

b. for the combination kṣ, which in origin is ś + *s*⁷; e. g. cāṣ-te, a-caṣṭa, from *cakṣ-*⁸ 'see'; a-taṣ-ta, taṣ-tā-, *tāṣ-ty-*⁹, beside takṣ- 'hew'; nīr-aṣ-ta- 'emasculated' beside nīr-akṣ-nu-hi (AV.) 'emasculate'; also aorist forms like ā-yaṣ-ta, 3. sing. mid. from yaj- 'sacrifice', beside 3. sing. subj. yāḥkṣ-at; ā-sṛṣ-ta, 3. sing. mid., beside ā-sṛkṣ-ata, 3. pl. mid. from sṛj- 'emit'. As in all these instances kṣ = ś + s or j (= ǵ) + *s*¹⁰, loss of s before t must here be assumed, the remaining ś or j combining with the following t as usual to *ṣṭ*¹¹. A similar origin of ṣ is indicated by the evidence of cognate languages in ṣaṣ-thā- (AV.) 'sixth', where the final s has been dropped (as in Gk. ἕκ-τος), while retained in Lat. sex-tus; also in ṣaṣ-ṭi- 'sixty', ṣoḍhā 'sixfold', ṣoḍaśā- (AV.) 'sixteenth'. It has possibly the same origin in aṣṭhivānt- 'knee'¹².

57. The cerebral ṣ stands for dental s after vowels other than a or ā, and after the consonants k, r, ṣ.

i. Medially this change regularly¹³ takes place, both when the s is radical — e. g. tī-ṣṭhātī, from sthā- 'stand'; su-sṛp-ur, 3. pl. perf. from svap-

⁷ Cp. op. cit. I, 116 b.

⁹ On the origin of tvaṣṭr- = tvarṣṭr-*, see WACKERNAGEL I, 202 c, note.

¹⁰ Though kṣ is regularly based on a palatal or a guttural + s in the Vedic language, there are some words of IE. origin in which the ṣ appears to represent not s but a dental spirant tenuis (ḍ) or media (dh). In a few words, kṣip-, kṣu-, kṣubh-, kṣurā-, the sibilant comes first in the cognate languages: see WACKERNAGEL I, 209.

¹² Cp. BARTHOLOMAE, Studien zur indogermanischen Sprachgeschichte 2, 103.

¹³ The change does not take place in some forms of the perfect of sic- 'pour': sistic (III. 32¹⁵), sisticur (II. 24¹), beside sīcatur.

'sleep'; us-ānā-, part., from vas- 'wear'; ṛṣa-bhā- 'bull'; ukṣān- 'ox'; varṣā- 'rain' — and when the s is suffixal; as in the superlative suffix -iṣṭha; in the loc. pl. suffix -su, e. g. agni-su, akū-su, nī-su, vik-śh, gūr-śh, haviṣ-su; in the s-suffix of the aorist, e. g. yāḥ-s-at, from yaj- 'sacrifice'.

The change is phonetic even when Anusvāra intervenes between ī ā ū and s; e. g. piṃśānti from piś- 'crush'; haviṃśi 'offerings' from haviṣ-; cākṣūṃṣi 'eyes' from cākṣus-. The s, however, remains in forms of hiṃs- 'injure', nīṃs- 'kiss', and pūṃs- 'man', being probably transferred from the strong forms hināsti, pūmāṇsam, etc.

α. The s, however, remains when immediately followed by r or ṛ, owing to a distaste for a succession of cerebrals ¹; e. g. ūsrās, tiśṛbhis, tiśṛnām, f. of trī- 'three'; usrās gen., usri and usrām, loc. (beside uṣar, voc.), usrā- 'matutinal'; usrā- 'bull'; sarīṣpā- 'creeping'. Owing to the influence of forms with sr, the s further remains in the syllable sar, instead of ṣar, as in sisarṣi, sīṣartī (beside sīṣrate, sīṣat, sarsrē etc.). In hīsara- (AV. VS.) 'hair', the retention may be due to the r having originally followed the s immediately ². The s also remains unchanged in the combinations stir, stūr, spār, spṛ, sphūr; e. g. ūstirā, from stīṛ- 'strew'; piśṛṣas, from piśṛ- 'touch' ³. It remains in the second of three successive syllables in which s-s-s would be expected; thus yāsisīṣhās, beside ayāṣisam, from yā- 'go'; sīṣakṣi, beside sīṣakti, from sac- 'follow'.

β. Words in which s otherwise follows r or any vowel but ā, must be of foreign origin; such as bīsa- 'root fibre'; būṣā- 'vapour'; bṛṣaya-, a demon; ṛbīsa- 'cleft'; kīṣā- 'praiser'; bārsvā- (VS.) 'socket'; kusūla- (AV.), a kind of demon; mīṣala- (AV.) 'pestle' (for mīṣra-?); sīsa- (AV. VS.) 'lead' ⁴.

γ. The cerebral s is sometimes found even after ā, representing an early Prakritic change in which aś is based on ṛś and āś on aṛś. Instances of this are kaśati (AV.) 'scratches'; paśṭhāvāḥ (VS. TS.) 'young bull' (lit. 'carrying on the back') and paśṭhauḥ ⁶ 'young cow', beside prṣṭhā- 'back'; pāṣyā- ⁷ 'stone'; bhaṣā- ⁸ (VS.) 'barking' ⁹. There are besides several unexplained instances, doubtless due to foreign influence or origin; such are āṣatara- 'more accessible'; kaṣāṣa-, N.; āṣa- 'blue jay'; kaṣāla- 'knob'; jālāṣa- 'remedy'; baṣkāya- 'yearling'; baṣkiha- (VS.) 'decrepit'; māṣa- 'bean' (AV. VS.); śāṣpa- (VS.) 'young grass' ¹⁰.

2. Initially ¹¹ the change regularly takes place, in the RV.:

a. in verbal compounds after prepositions ending in i or u, and in nominal derivatives from such compound verbs; also after the preposition nīṣ 'out'; e. g. nī ṣīda (x. 98⁴); ānu ṣṭuvanti (VIII. 3⁸); nīḥ-śdhamāṇaḥ (I. 127³).

α. But (as when it is medial) the s remains unchanged when followed by ṛ (even when t or p intervenes) or r (even though a intervene, with an additional m or v in the roots smar- and svar-); e. g. vī ṣṛja 'let flow', vī-ṣṛjī- 'creation'; vī ṣṛṇtām 'let him extend'; nī-ṣṛṣe 'to caress' (but ā-nī-ṣṛta- 'unchecked'); pāri-ṣṛta- 'flowed round'; vī-sargā- 'end', vī-sārjana- 'extension' (owing to the influence of the forms with sr from ṣṛj-); vī-sarmān- 'dissolving', vī-sārā- 'extent', and even vī sasre (owing to the influence of forms with sr from ṣṛ- 'flow'); prāti smarēthām 'may ye two remember' (Vsmṛ-); abhi-svāranti 'praise', abhi-svār- 'invocation', abhi-svārē, loc., 'behind', abhi-svartṛ- 'invoker'. But st ṣp sph are changed according to the general rule, when ār ir ur follow; e. g. prāti sphura 'repel'. In roots which contain no r, the initial s rarely remains; thus in forms of as- 'be': abhi santi, pāri santu, pāri santi (beside pāri śantu), abhi syāma (beside abhi-syāma); and owing to dislike of repeated s: ānu-sēśidhat (sidh- 'drive off'); ānu-ṣpaṣṭa- 'noticed' (ṣpaṣ- 'see'); pāri sani-ṣvaṇat (svan- 'sound').

² See WACKERNAGEL I, 50.

³ The combination sr is found only where sr would be quite isolated amid cognate forms with s; thus ajus-ran, from jus- 'be satisfied', since all the other very numerous forms of this verb have s.

⁴ See WACKERNAGEL I, 203 e, note.

¹⁰ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 208 b β.

¹¹ Finally, ś stands for s in the first

β. In the later Saṃhitās initial s is similarly changed to ṣ; but its retention is in some instances somewhat less restricted; thus abhi sphūrjati (AV.) 'sounds towards'; ādhi skanda (AV.) and *abhi-skādam*¹, beside pari-skandā- (AV., VS.), from skand- 'leap'; prati-spāśana- (AV.) 'lying in wait', prati-spāś- (TS.) 'spying'; anu sthana (TS. v. 6. 1³), from as- 'be'; owing to the following ṣ also in abhi siṣyade (AV.) from syand- 'run'.

γ. The divergence between the later Saṃhitās and the RV. is much greater when the augment intervenes between a preposition ending in i and the initial s of a root. In the RV. the s regularly remains unchanged (as ny-āsīdat, vy-āsthāt, etc.) except in pary āśavajāt 'embraced' (under the influence of pāri śavaje). In the other Saṃhitās, however, the s here regularly becomes ṣ; thus abhy-āśīcan (TS.), abhy-āśicyanta (AV.) from sic- 'sprinkle'; vy-āśahanta (AV.)², from sah- 'overcome'; ādhy-aśhām (AV.), ādhy-aśhāt (AV.), abhy-aśhām (AV.) from sthā- 'stand'. In the root sthā- 'spit', which first occurs in the AV., the initial s has been displaced by ṣ throughout. The form praty aśhīvan indicates the transition which led to the change.

Similarly when a reduplicative syllable containing ā intervenes between a preposition ending in i and an initial radical s, the latter always remains unchanged in the RV.; thus pāri śavaje; ni-śasāthā (VIII. 48⁹); ati-tasthau (X. 60³); but the AV. has vī-taṣṭhīr, vī taṣṭhe (owing to vī tiṣṭhate, vī-ṣṭhita-), but also ādhi tasthūr.

b. Initially in the second member of other than verbal compounds ṣ is more common than s when preceded by vowels other than ā. But s even in the RV. the is not infrequently retained; not only when r or r follows as in hṛdi-ṣpīś- 'touching the heart', su-sūrtu-, N., ṣi-svarā- 'sung by seers', but also when there is no such cause to prevent the change; thus gō-śakhi- beside gō-śakhi- 'possessing cattle'; go-sāni- (AV. VS.) beside go-sāni- 'winning cattle'; rayi-sthāna- beside rayi-sthāna- (AV.) 'possessing wealth'; tri-saptā- beside tri-saptā- (AV.) 'twenty-one'; sīḥ-samiddha- beside sīḥ-samiddha- (SV.) 'well-kindled'; āpāke-stha- (AV.) 'standing in the oven' beside -stha- in other compounds after -e-; pṛthivī-sād- (VS.) beside pṛthivī-sād- (AV.) 'seated on the earth'; sīḥ-samrddha- (AV.) 'quite perfect'. After r the s becomes ṣ in svaṛ-śā- 'light-winning', svār-sāti- 'obtainment of light'; after k, probably only in fk-śama- (TS.) 'resembling a ṛc', beside fk-sama- (VS.).

α. In Avyayībhāvas ṣ seems to appear in the RV. only; thus anu-śvadhām 'according to wish'; anu-ṣatyām 'according to truth'; anu-śvāpam 'sleepily'.

β. In some compounds ṣ appears where it is not phonetically justifiable, owing to the influence of cognate words; thus upa-ṣīt, adv., 'at one's call' (because of the frequency of -ṣtu- after i and u), beside upa-stut- 'invocation'; sa-ṣībḥ- (TS.), a metre, owing to anu-ṣtubḥ-, tri-ṣībḥ-; savya-ṣhū- (AV.), owing to compounds in -e-ṣtha-.

γ. In Āmreḍita compounds, however, the s regularly remains unchanged because of the desire to leave the repeated word unaltered; thus subh-sute and somī-some 'at every Soma draught'; also in stuhī stuhī 'praise on'³.

3. Initially in external Sandhi s frequently becomes ṣ after a final i and u in the RV. This change chiefly takes place in monosyllabic pronouns and particles, such as sā(s), sā, syā(s), sīm, sma, svid, and particularly sīḥ. It also appears in verbal forms like stha sthas sthana, santu, syām, syāma (from as- 'be'); sīdati, satsat, satsi (from sad- 'sit'); siñca, siñcata (from sic- 'pour'); stavāma, stave, stuhī (from stu- 'praise'); in participles like sām, sātis (from as- 'be'); sīdan (from sad 'sit'); suṇānds (su- 'press'); sītām (si- 'bind'); stutīs (stu- 'praise'); skannām (skand- 'leap'). In other words the change member of the compound and often in external Sandhi; see below 78.

Indo-arische Philologie I, 4.

³ This is not treated as an Āmreḍita compound in the Padapāṭha (VIII. 130): stuhī stuhī [it]; but pībā-pībā (II. 11¹⁴) is analyzed as pībā-pībā [it].

rarely takes place; e. g. ānu rājati śtīp (IX. 96¹⁸); trī śadhāsthā (III. 565); *nīh śadhāsthāt*¹ (V. 31⁹); nā śhīrām (I. 64¹⁵); dāhi śulnā (IX. 97¹⁰).

The ś usually follows short words such as u, tī, nī, śī, hī, and occurs where there is a close syntactical connection of two words; e. g. rājajisu śdan (VII. 34¹⁶); vāmsu śdati (IX. 57³); divi śān (VI. 2⁶); divi śantu (V. 2¹⁰); rcchānti śma (X. 102⁶). In no word, however, even when these conditions are fulfilled, is the change of initial ś to ś invariably made.

a. In the later Samhitās, apart from passages adopted from the RV. this form of external Sandhi is very rare except in the combination ñ śī. Examples are ād u śtenām (AV. IV. 3⁴); māhi śād dyumān nāmah (TS. III. 2. 8²)².

58. The breathing h.—The sound h is, at the present day, pronounced as a breathing in India, and this was its character at the period when Greek and Indian words were interchanged, as is shown e. g. by ōpa being reproduced by hōrā. It is already recognised as a breathing by the TPr. (II. 9), which identifies it with the second element of voiced aspirates (g-h, d-h, b-h). This is borne out by the spelling हह (= dh) beside ह (= ḍ). The TPr. further (II. 47) assigns to it, on the authority of some, the same place of articulation as the following vowel, this being still characteristic of the pronunciation of h at the present day in India³. The breathing is, moreover, stated by the Prātisākyas⁴ to have been voiced. This pronunciation is proved by the evidence of the Samhitās themselves; for h is here often derived from a voiced aspirate, e. g. hitā- from dhā- 'put'; it is occasionally replaced by a voiced aspirate, e. g. jaghāna from han- 'strike'; and in Sandhi initial h after a final mute regularly becomes a voiced aspirate, e. g. tād dhi for tād hī. It is in fact clear that whatever its origin (even when = Ilr. śh)⁵, h was always pronounced as a voiced breathing in the Samhitās.

As h cannot be final owing to its phonetic character⁶, it is represented in that position by sounds connected with its origin⁷. It appears in combination with voiced sounds only; being preceded only by vowels, Anusvāra, or the semivowels r and *l*⁸ (in Sandhi also by the nasals ñ and n), and followed only by vowels, the nasals ṇ, n, m, or the semivowels y, r, l, v.

The breathing h as a rule represents a voiced aspirate, regularly a palatal aspirate, occasionally the dental dh and the labial bh. It usually represents a new palatal (= Ilr. jh, Av. *ṣ*⁹), appearing beside gh, e. g. druhyī- drōgha-, as j beside g, e. g. ōṣṭyas: ugrā-. But in many words it also stands (like j for ś) for the old palatal śh, the voiced aspirate of ś, being recognizable as such in the same way as *j*¹⁰.

i a. h represents the palatalization (= Ilr. jh) of gh when, in cognate forms, gh (or g) is found before other sounds than s; e. g. hān-ti 'strikes': ghn-anti, jaghāna; ārhati 'is worthy': arghā- 'price'; ṛh-ant- 'weak': ragh-nī- 'light'; jānh-as- 'gait': jānghā- 'leg'; dāhati 'burns': dag-dhā- 'burnt'; dāhate 'milks': dāghāna- 'milked'; dug-dhā- 'milked'; dudrāha 'have injured': drug-dhā- 'injured'; drōgha- 'injurious'; māmhate 'presents': maghā- 'gift'; mīh- 'mist':

⁸ The combination lh is rare; it is found in upa-valh- (VS.) 'test by riddles'; viḥālha- (AV.), of unknown meaning; and in the Kāṇva recension of the VS. as representing dh.

meghá 'cloud'; mihyati 'is perplexed'; mugdhá 'gone astray', mogha 'vain'; rāṇhi 'speed'; raghū 'swift'; hāras- and gharmá 'heat'; harmye-sṭhā- and gharmye-sṭhā 'dwelling in the house'; hr̥ṣīti 'glad'; gh̥ṣu 'joyful', gh̥ṣvi 'gladdening'. In āhi 'serpent' and duhitṛ 'daughter' the guttural origin of h is shown by cognate languages¹.

b. h represents the old palatal aspirate (= Iir. śh):

a. when, either as a final or before z, it is replaced by a cerebral (like the old palatals ś and j = Iir. ś); e. g. vah 'carry': á-vāt, 3. sing. aor. guh 'conceal': *gūdhá*² 'concealed'; trhāti 'crushes': *tr̥dhá*³; dymhati 'makes; firm', dr̥hyati 'is firm': dr̥dhá 'firm'; bahū 'abundant': bādhá 'aloud'; mih 'make water': mādhra (AV.) 'penis'; rihāti 'licks': rēdhi 'licks', rūdha 'licked'; vāhati 'carries': vādhum 'to carry', ūdha 'carried'; sāhate 'overcomes': sādhṛ 'victor'.

β. when it is followed by sounds which do not palatalize gutturals⁴, before which dh and bh do not become h, and before which the other old palatals ś and j (= ś) appear; thus ānhas- and anhatṛ 'distress' because of an̥hū 'narrow'; āhan 'day', because of āhnām, g. pl., and pūrvāhna 'forenoon' (not ghn as in ghnanti from han-); *jēhamāna*⁵ 'panting', because of jīhmá 'oblique'; bāhū 'arm'; brāhman- n. 'devotion', brahmān 'one who prays'; rāhū (AV.), demon of eclipse; yahvā, yahvānt 'ever young', because of yahū, id. This applies to all words beginning with hū, hr̥, hn, hr̥, hv; e. g. hu 'pour'; hṛd and hṛdaya 'heart'; -hṛaya 'ashamed'; -hvā, hū 'call'; hṛy 'be crooked'.

γ. when the 'satem' languages have a corresponding voiced spirant (z or ś)⁶; thus ahām 'I'; ehā (AV.) 'desirous'; garhate 'complains of'; dih 'besmear'; plīhān (AV. VS.) 'spleen'; barhīs 'sacificial straw'; mah 'great'; varāhā 'boar'; sahāśra 'thousand'; simhā 'lion'; sprh 'desire'; hamsā 'goose'; hānu 'jaw'; hi 'impel'; hemān 'zeal', het 'weapon'; hūya 'steed'; hāri and hārita 'tawny'; hāryati 'likes'; hāsta 'hand'; hā 'forsake'; hāyana (AV.) 'year'; hi 'for'; himā 'cold'; hiranya 'gold'; hirā (AV. VS.) 'vein'; hims 'injure'; hēsas 'wound'; hṛ 'take'; hyās 'yesterday'⁷.

δ. h according to the evidence of cognate languages, represents other palatals in some words. Thus in hṛd 'heart', ś = IE. k would be expected; and j = IE. g in ahām 'I', mahānt 'great', hānu 'jaw', hāsta 'hand', hvā, hū 'call'. These irregularities are probably due to IE. dialectic variations⁸.

2. h also represents dh and bh not infrequently, and dh at least once.

a. It takes the place of dh in four or five roots (with nominal derivatives) and in a few nominal and verbal suffixes. Thus it appears initially in hitā, -hiti, beside -dhita, dhiti, from dhā 'put'. Medially it is found in gāhate 'plunges' (with the derivatives gāhā 'depth', gāhana 'deep', dur-gāha 'impassable place') beside gādhā 'ford'; rōhati 'rises', 'grows' (with the derivatives rūh 'growth', rōhana 'means of ascending', rōhas 'elevation') beside rōdhati 'grows' (with the derivatives vī-rūdh 'creeper', rōdha 'growing', rōdhas 'bank', ā-rōdhana 'ascent'); derivatives of rudh* 'be red': rohī, rōhita,

⁶ This includes several examples given under α and β.

⁷ Perhaps also in has 'laugh' and hā 'go', as these verbs have no forms with gh; also nah 'bind' in spite of nad-dhā. In several words the origin of the h is uncertain, e. g. jāṅgahe 'struggles', as the evidence is doubtful.

⁸ See WACKERNAGEL I, 216 b; for a few doubtful examples, ibid. 216 a, note.

-lohita- 'red', beside lodhā- 'reddish animal', rudhirā- (AV.) 'red'; also rauhiṇā- beside rudhikrā-, names of demons; the evidence of cognate languages further shows that h represents dh in grhā- 'house'¹.

h moreover represents dh in the adverbial suffix -ha in viśvā-ha beside viśvā-dha 'always'; in sahā 'together', beside sadha- in compounds; in iḥā 'here', as shown by the Prakrit idha; and doubtless also in sama-ha 'somehow', though there is no direct evidence. The evidence of cognate languages, moreover, shows that in the endings of the 1. du. -vaha-, -vahi-, -vahai and the 1. pl. -mahe-, -mahi-, -mahai h represents dh (cp. Gk. -μεθα, etc.)².

b. h takes the place of bh in the verb grah-, grh- 'seize' (with its derivatives grāha- 'ladleful', grāhi- 'demoness', grāhy- 'to be grasped', grhā- 'servant', hasta-gṛhya 'having take the hand') beside grabh-, grbh- (with the derivatives grābha- 'taking possession of', grābhā- 'handful'); and in the nouns kakuhā- 'high', beside kak'ubh- 'height', kakubhā- (VS. TS.) 'high', m. (AV.) a kind of demon; bali-hṛt- 'paying tax' (beside bhr- 'bear'); probably bārjaha- 'udder'(?), if formed with suffix -ha = -bha (in ṛṣa-bhā-, etc.)³.

c. h takes the place of dh in bārbyhi, 2. sing. impv. of the intv. bārbyh- of the root brh- 'make strong', for barbyrhi* (= barbyrdhi*, with the cerebral dropped after lengthening the preceding r in pronunciation)⁴.

d. The rule is that h appears for dh, dh, bh, only between vowels⁵, the first of which is unaccented; e. g. iḥā, kakuhā-, grhā- bārjaha-, bali-hṛt- rauhiṇā-, sahā. Similarly in grabh- 'seize', h alone appears after unaccented r in RV. I-IX⁶; while on the other hand, in the 2. sing. impv. of graded roots, -dhi regularly appears after strong and therefore originally accented vowels; e. g. bodhi! (from bhū- 'be'), yidhi (from yu- 'yoke'), yuyodhi (from yu- 'separate'); śiśadhi, but śiśihī (śā- 'sharpen'). Again, in rudh- 'rise', the unaccented form of the root is regularly ruh-, while when it is accented, forms such as rīdhati appear beside rīhāti, and in nominal derivatives dh predominates in accented radical syllables, the RV. having rīdha- and ā-rōdhana- only, but the AV. rīha- and ārīhaṇa-⁷.

a. At the same time dh and bh remain in a good many instances after an unaccented vowel; thus in the 2. sing. impv. krādhī, gadhi, śrudhī, śṛṇudhī; in adhās 'below', adhamā- 'lowest', abhi 'towards'; rābhī- 'defect'; mādhā- 'reward'; medhā- 'wisdom'; vidhātī 'adores'; vidhū- 'solitary'; vidhāvī- 'widow'; vadhū- 'bride'; sādhū- 'right'; rudhirā- (AV.) 'red'; derivatives formed with -dhi-, -bhā-, etc.⁸ The retention of the dh and bh here is partly to be explained as an archaism, and partly as due to borrowing from a dialect in which these aspirates did not become h, and the existence of which is indicated by the Prakrit form idha beside the Vedic iḥā 'here'. The guttural aspirate media is probably to be similarly explained in meghā- 'cloud' and aṛhā- 'sinful'.

² The h in the perf. āha, āhīr, may represent dh; not, however, in nāhyati 'binds', in spite of naddhā-, nah- rather stands for Ilr. nāzh- (cp. Lat. necto); the pp. instead of nādhā*-, became naddhā- through the influence of baddhā- from bandh- 'bind'. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 217 a, note, where several other wrong explanations of h = dh are discussed.

³ Some erroneous etymologies in which h is explained as = bh are discussed in WACKERNAGEL I, 217 b, note.

⁴ Cp. 12 and 17, 5.

⁵ It appears initially in hīlā = -dhīlā-, but originally it was doubtless preceded in this position by a final vowel. That h appears, though a vowel does not follow, in grhṇātu (IV. 57) and hasta-gṛhya, is due to other forms of grabh- in which h is followed by a vowel.

⁶ In RV. x, however, grāha- and grāhi- occur; cp. above, 2 b.

⁷ Exceptions like rōhita-, viśvāha and inflected forms such as gāhate, are due to normalization.

⁸ Where the RV. fluctuates between h and dh bh (above 2, a, b), h appears throughout in the later Samhitās; thus always -hi, after vowels in imperatives except ādhi 'be'; thus for śṛṇudhi (RV. VIII. 84.3), SV. has śṛṇuhi. But a new h of this kind hardly occurs. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 219 a.

3. The various origins of h led to some confusion in the groups of forms belonging to roots which contain h.

a. roots in which h represents an original guttural (Iir. jh) show some forms which would presuppose an old palatal (Iir. śh). Thus from muh- 'be confused', phonetic derivatives of which are mugdhá-, mígha-, are formed mūḍhā- (AV.) 'bewildered' and mihur 'suddenly'.

b. roots in which h represents an old palatal (Iir. śh) show forms with a guttural before vowels and dentals; thus from dih- 'besmear' is formed digdhá- (AV.) 'owing to the influence of dah- 'burn', and duh- 'milk'. Similarly, from sarāh-* 'bee', beside sarāḍbhyas, is formed sāraghā- (AV. VS.) 'derived from the bee'¹.

c. the root ruh-, though = rudh- 'ascend', is treated as if the h represented (as in vah-) an old palatal (Iir. śh); hence aor. drukṣat, des. rīrukṣati, pp. -rādha- (AV.), ger. rūdhvā (AV.).

59. The cerebral l.—This sound, as distinguished from the ordinary dental l, is a cerebral *l*². It appears in our (Śākala) recension of the RV. as a substitute, between vowels, for the cerebral ḍ and, with the appended sign for h, for the cerebral aspirate *ḍh*³; e. g. līṛ- 'refreshment'; ś-sāḥu- 'invincible'. It also appears in Sandhi when final before an initial vowel; e. g. turāsāḥ abhībḥūtyojāḥ (III. 43⁴). In the written Samhitā text, however, it does not appear if followed by a semivowel which must be pronounced as a vowel; e. g. vīṭv-āṅga- 'firm-limbed', to be pronounced as vīṭv-āṅga- and analysed thus by the Padapāṭha. In one passage of the RV. the readings fluctuate between l and ḷ in nīlavat or nīlavat (VII. 97⁵)⁴.

60. Anusvāra and Anunāsika.—Anusvāra, 'after-sound', is a pure nasal sound which differs from the five class nasals; for it appears after vowels only, and its proper use is not before mutes, but before sibilants or h (which have no class nasal). But it resembled the class nasals in being pronounced, according to the Prātisākhya of the RV. and the VS.⁵, after the vowel. The vowel itself might, however, be nasalized, forming a single combined sound. The Prātisākhya of the AV.⁶, recognizes this nasal vowel, called Anunāsika, 'accompanied by a nasal', alone, ignoring Anusvāra, which with the preceding vowel represents two distinct successive sounds. WHITNEY⁷, however, denies the existence of any distinction between Anunāsika and Anusvāra. In any case, the Vedic Mss. have only the one sign ² (placed either above or after the vowel) for both⁸, employing the simple dot where neither Anusvāra nor Anunāsika is allowable. The latter sign is used in the TS. for final m before y v, and in both the TS. and MS. before mutes instead of the class nasal⁹, a practice arising from carelessness or the desire to save trouble. There is thus no ground for the prevalent opinion that ² represents Anunāsika and ² Anusvāra¹⁰. Throughout the present work m with a dot (m̐) will be used for both, except if they appear before a vowel, when m with the older sign (m̐) will be employed.

³ This practice is followed by the Mss. of secondary texts of the RV.

¹⁰ See WHITNEY, JAOS. 7, 92, note.

Anusvāra and Anunāsika are commonest when final. As in that position they belong to the sphere of Sandhi, the conditions under which they then appear, will be stated below¹. Medially Anusvāra and Anunāsika are found under the following conditions:

a. regularly before sibilants and h; e. g. vaṃśá- 'reed'; havīṃsi 'offerings'; māṃśá- 'flesh'; siṃhát- 'lion'. This is generally recognized as the sphere of Anusvāra, except by the APr.²; but māṃścatí- 'light yellow', is stated³ to have Anunāsika, while punścalí- (AV. VS.) is said to have both Anunāsika and Anusvāra⁴. The Anusvāra usually appears before s, and all forms with ms are shown to be based on original ns or ms by the evidence of cognate forms corroborated by that of allied languages⁵; thus māṃsate, 3. sing. subj. aor. of man- 'think'; jighāṃsati, des. from han- 'strike'; piṇśánti beside piṇśáti, from pis- 'crush'; the neuter plurals in -āṃsi, -īṃsi, -ūṃsi from stems in -as, -is, -us, with nasal after the analogy of -ānti, nom. acc. pl. from neuters in -nt; stems in -yāṃs, -vāṃs beside nom. sing. in -yān, -vān; kramśyāte (AV.) from kram- 'stride'. When Anusvāra appears before s and h derived from an IE. palatal or guttural, it represents the corresponding class nasal. The reduction of these old nasals to Anusvāra is probably IIr. after long vowels (ām, -īṃr, -ūṃr); probably later after short vowels, for it does not appear in forms like āhan (for āhans), though s was not dropped after an in the IIr. period; but the s must have been dropped early in the Indian period, before -ans became *-aṃs*⁶. Anusvāra before h (= Av. ṛj) must have arisen in the Indian period.

b. before any consonant in the intensive reduplicative syllable, the final of which is treated like that of the prior member of a compound; e. g. nāṃnam-tī (v. 83⁵)⁷ from nam- 'bend'.

c. before any consonant which is the initial of secondary suffixes; thus from śam- 'blessing', is formed śam-yú- 'beneficent'; śam-tāti- or śant-ti- 'blessing'.

6i. Voiceless Spirants.—a. The sound called Visarjanīya⁸ in the Prātiśākyas⁹, must in their time have been pronounced as a voiceless breathing, since they describe it as an āsman, the common term for breathings and sibilants. This conclusion is borne out by the fact that, in the RPr., Jihvāmūlīya and Upadhāmānīya, the sounds which are most nearly related to and may be replaced by Visarjanīya, are regarded as forming the second half of the voiceless aspirates kḥ and ph respectively, just as h forms the second half of the voiced aspirates gh, bh, etc. At the present day Visarjanīya is still pronounced in India as a voiceless breathing, which is, however, followed by a weak echo of the preceding vowel. According to the TPr.¹⁰, Visarjanīya has the same place of articulation as the end of the preceding vowel. The proper function of this sound is to represent final s and r in pausā; it may, however, also appear before certain voiceless initial sounds, viz. k, kh, p, ph, and the sibilants (occasionally also in compounds)¹¹.

b. Beside and instead of Visarjanīya, the Prātiśākyas recognise two voiceless breathings as appropriate before initial voiceless gutturals (k, kh)¹² and labials (ṣ, ph)¹ respectively. The former (ḥ) called Jihvāmūliya, or sound 'formed at the root of the tongue', is the guttural spirant χ; the latter (ḷ), called Upadhmāniya, or 'on-breathing', is the bilabial spirant *f*². In Mss. they are regularly employed in the Kāśmīrian Śarādā character.

62. Loss of Consonants.—Consonants have been lost almost exclusively when they have been in conjunction with others. The loss of a single consonant which is not in conjunction with another is restricted to the disappearance of v before u, and much more rarely of y before i. The v thus disappears finally in the Sandhi of āv before u in the RV. and VS.³ Initially, v is lost before ūr derived from a r vowel; thus in ūraṇa- and ūrā- 'sheep'; ūras- 'breast'; ur-ānā-, mid. part. (vr- 'choose'); ūrj- 'vigour'; ūrṇā- 'wool'; ūrṇōti 'covers' (vr- 'cover'); ūrdhvā- 'high'; ūrmi- 'wave'. Such loss of v before ūr also occurs after an initial consonant in tūrtā- 'quick' (= Iḥr. tūrtā-); dūrvati, ādūrvata, dūrti-, from dhy- 'cause to fall'; hūrya-, juhūrthās; juhur-, from hvr- 'go crookedly'⁴. Before simple u the v has disappeared at the beginning of the reduplicative syllable u- (= vu-* for original va-), in u-vāc-a from vac- 'speak'; u-vāsa from vas- 'shine'; u-vāh-a from vah- 'convey'.

Similarly initial y has disappeared from the reduplicative syllable i- = yi-* in the desiderative īyak-ṣati, īyak-ṣamāṇa-, from yaj- 'sacrifice'⁵.

1. When a group of consonants is final, the last element or elements are regularly lost (the first only, as a rule, remaining) in pausā and in *Sandhi*⁶.

2. When a group of consonants is initial, the first element is frequently lost. The only certain example of an initial mute having disappeared seems to be tur-īya- 'fourth', from ktur-*, the low grade form of catūr- 'four', because the Vedic language did not tolerate initial conjunct mutes⁷. An initial sibilant is, however, often lost before a mute or nasal. This loss was originally⁸ doubtless caused by the group being preceded by a final consonant. There are a few survivals of this in the Vedas; thus cit kām̐hanena (x. 1115), otherwise skām̐bhāna- 'support'; and the roots stambh- 'support', and sthā- 'stand', lose there s after ud-; e. g. ūt-thita-, ūt-tabhita-. On the other hand the sibilant is preserved after a final vowel, in compounds or in Sandhi, in d-skṛdhoyu- 'uncurtailed', beside kr̥dhū- 'shortened'; ścandrā- 'brilliant', in āśva-ścandra- 'brilliant with horses'⁹, ādhi ścandrām (viii. 65¹¹), also in the intens. pres. part. cāni-ścad-at 'shining brightly', otherwise candrā- 'shining', and only candrā-mas- 'moon'. In derivatives from four other roots, forms with and without the sibilant¹⁰ are used indiscriminately, without regard to the preceding

³ See below, Sandhi, 73.

⁴ The v has either remained or been restored before such ūr and ū in hotr-vūrya- 'election of the invoker'; in the opt. vurita, from vr- 'choose'; and in the 3. pl. perfect babhū-vur, jūhu-vur, sūsu-vur, tūṣtu-vur.

⁵ The evidence of cognate languages seems to point to the loss of initial d in dāru- 'tear' (Lat. dacryma, Gk. δάκρυ). It is, however, probable that there were two different but synonymous IE. words akru and daṛu. On some doubtful etymologies based on loss of initial consonants, see WACKERNAGEL 1, 228 c, note.

⁷ There are some words in which an initial mute seems to have been lost in the IE. period; thus t in satəm 'hundred' (= IE. h₂entóm); d perhaps in vimśati- 'twenty' and vī- 'between'; l perhaps in yákr̥t- 'liver'. An initial mute seems to have been lost before a sibilant (originally perhaps after a final consonant) in stāna- 'breast', svid- 'sweat'; ṣaṣ- 'six' (KZ. 31, 415 ff.).

⁸ Dissimilation may also have played some part in the loss of the sibilant in the reduplicative syllable of roots with initial sk(h) st(h), sp(h), as askānda, tiṣṭhāmi, paspārāsa.

¹⁰ The verb kr- 'do', after pāri and sam, shows an initial s; e. g. paṛiṣkr̥vanti, pāri- sound; from stan- 'thunder', stanayitnú-, beside tanayitnú- 'thunder', tanyati- (also AV.) 'thunder', tanyí- 'thundering', tanyati 'resounds'; stená- 'thief', stāy-ánt- (AV.) 'stealing', stāyá- (VS.) 'thief', stāya- 'theft', beside tāyá- 'thief'; stī-, beside ī- 'star'; spās- 'spy' and spā- 'see' in verbal forms d-spās-ta aor., paspa- perf., spāsáyati caus., -spašta- part., 'seen', beside pāsáyati 'sees'¹.

The loss of initial s may be inferred in the following words from the evidence of cognate languages in which it has been preserved: tij- 'sharpen'; tuj- 'strike'; tud- 'beat'; narmá- (VS.) 'jest'; nṛt- 'dance'; parṇá- 'wing'; piká- (VS.) 'Indian cuckoo'; plihán- (VS. AV.) 'spleen'; phéna- 'foam'; mṛd- 'crush', mṛdú- (VS.) 'soft'; vīp- 'tremble'; śūpti- 'shoulder'.

A few examples occur of the loss of the semivowels y or *r*² as the last element of an initial consonant group. Thus y disappears in derivatives of roots in īw formed with suffixes beginning with consonants: -mūta- 'moved', mū-rá- 'impetuous', mū-tra- (AV. VS.) 'urine', from mīw- 'push'; sūci- 'needle', sū-ná- 'plaited basket', sū-tra- (AV.) 'thread', beside syū-man- 'thong', syū-tá- 'sewn', from sīw- 'sew'. Loss of v seems to have taken place in sīti- 'white' (only at the beginning of compounds), beside svit- 'be bright', svīty-ānc- 'brilliant', svitrá- (AV.) 'white', svitrya-, perhaps 'white'; and, on the evidence of the Avesta, in ksíp- 'throw' (Av. hšīw), śás- (Av. hšvas).

3. When the group is medial, the loss usually taken takes place between single consonants. a. The sibilants s and ṣ thus regularly disappear between mutes; e. g. á-bhak-ta, 3. sing. aor., for ábhak-s-ta* beside á-bhak-ṣ-i, from bhaj-, 'share'; caṣ-te for caṣ-te (= original caṣ-s-te*)³. Similarly a-gdha- (TS.) 'uneaten', for a-gḥs-ta-*, from ghas- 'eat'⁴.

b. The dental t has disappeared between a sibilant and c in paś-cá and paś-cát 'behind' (= IE. post-qē, post-qēt); and between p and s in nap-su* which must have been the loc. pl. (AV. naṣṣu), from napt-*, 'weak stem of nápāt-, beside the dat. nád-bhyas 'to the grandsons', for napt-bhyas, where on the other hand the p has been dropped.

c. A mute may disappear between a nasal and a mute; e. g. pañti- for pañkti-, yundhi for yundkhi. This spelling is common in Vedic Mss.; it is prescribed in APr. II. 20, and, as regards the mediae, in VPr. VI. 30.

4. The only example of the loss of an initial⁵ mute in a medial group of consonants seems to be that of b before dbh in nádbhyas for nabdbhyas* from napt- for nápāt-. The semivowel r seems to be lost before a consonant when another r follows in cakr-át (Pp. cakrán) and *cakr-iyās*⁶ for carkr-* beside carkar-mi, from kṛ- 'commemorate'; and, on the evidence of the Avesta, in tvāṣtr- (cp. pwaras 'cut', pwaršta- 'created'), skṛta-, sám-skṛta-; also after nis in nir askṛta (Pp. akṛta), perhaps owing to Sandhi forms with sk such as niṣkuru (AV.). There can be little doubt that the s here was not original but was due to analogy; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 230 a, β, note.

⁴ On ápnas- 'property', dāmpati- 'lord of the house', see WACKERNAGEL I, 233 c, note.

⁵ The guttural mute only seems to be lost when kṣ + t becomes ṣt: see above, 56, 6. The loss of m in the inst. sing. -nā of nouns in -man is only a seeming one; for dānā, prāthina, preṇā, bhūnā, mahinā, varinā (TS.) appear beside the stems dāman- etc., because some of them had a stem in -n without m, so that -nā seemed an alternative from -mnā: see BENFLEY, GGA. 1846, 702. 880; Göttinger Abhandlungen 19, 234; BLOOMFIELD, JAOS. 17, 3; cp. IF. 8, Anzeiger, p. 17.

probably starting from forms like tvāṣ/rā (AV.) in which the r immediately followed¹

But the loss of a spirant (Iir. s, z, ś, ṣh) at the beginning of a medial group is common.

a. The sibilant *s*² has thus been lost before k followed by a consonant in vārktam, vrkṇā-, vrktvī, vrksi (TS.), from vraśc- 'lop' (cp. -vraskī-).

b. The voiced form (Iir. z) of dental s has disappeared³ before voiced dentals, without leaving any trace, in the roots ās- 'sit', and śās- 'order'; thus ā-dhvam, śāsā-dhi. But when ā preceded the z, the disappearance of the sibilant is indicated by e taking the place of az before d, dh, h (= dh); thus e-dhi, from as- 'be'; *sed-*⁴, perfect stem of sad- 'sit' (for sazd-, like sasc- from sac-). This e also replaces az with loss of the sibilant in de-hi 'give'; dhe-hi 'put'; kiye-dhā- 'containing much'; néd-tyas- and néd-iṣṭha- 'very much'; *ped-ñ-*⁵ N.; medati 'is fat'; medhā- and medhās- 'wisdom'; mīdhā- 'juice'⁶.

c. When a vowel other than ā preceded, the z was cerebralized (like s before a voiceless dental) and disappeared after cerebralizing the following dental and lengthening the preceding vowel; thus *a-sto-dhvam*⁷ (= ā-stoṣ-dhvam for a-stos-dhvam) 2. pl. aor., beside a-sto-ṣ-ā, 3. sing., from stu- 'praise'. Thus also are to be explained nīd- 'nest' (= nīḍā- for nī-sd-a-); pīd- 'press' (= pīḍ- for pī-sd- or pīḍ-); mīdhā- 'reward' (Gk. μισθός); vīd- 'strong', vīdyati 'is strong' (from vīs- 'work' + -d)⁸; *hīd-*⁹ 'be angry', and its Guna forms, e. g. hīḍ-as- 'anger'; mīdāti 'be gracious', mīdīkā- 'gracious' (for mīḍ-d- from mīṣ- 'forget') with vowel pronounced long (12), ā-raḍ-ant- (TS.) 'not deceiving' (= a-reṣḍ-ant-), from riṣ- 'injure'.

d. Similarly the old voiced palatal spirant (Iir. ś) disappeared after cerebralizing a following d or dh and lengthening the preceding vowel; thus tā-dhi for taś-dhi* (= taḥ-s-dhi) from takṣ- 'fashion'; ṣo-dhā for saś-dhā* (= sakḥ-s-dhā), beside ṣaṣ-ṭhā (AV.) 'sixth'. A similar loss is to be assumed in īd- 'praise' (= iś-d for yaj-+d)¹⁰.

e. This loss is specially frequent in the case of the old voiced palatal aspirated spirant (Iir. ṣh) represented by h, which was dropped after cerebralizing and aspirating a followed t and lengthening the preceding vowel; thus bādhā-

² In ch = IE. śh, the original s was lost in a pre-Indian period.

³ Before voiced mutes other than dentals, z became d, as in madgī- (44, 3 a) 'diver'; similarly ṣ became ḍ, as in paḍbhis, from pās- 'look' or 'cord'; and in vī-ṣṭhū-bhis from vīpṛh- 'drop'.

⁵ Cp. BARTHOLOMAE, KZ. 27, 361. On edh- 'thrive', mīdādhā- 'broth', vedhās- 'virtuous', see WACKERNAGEL I, 237 c.

⁶ In stems in -as before case terminations beginning with bh, and before secondary suffixes beginning with m, y or v, the sibilant is lost (instead of becoming d in the former circumstances, or remaining in the latter) owing to the influence of Sandhi; e. g. dvēṣo-bhis from dvēṣ-as- 'hate'. An original sibilant has perhaps been lost in makhīḍā-, sākhvāms-, jākhṣāḍ-, krādāni-, jas- 'be exhausted'; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 237 a ṣ, note.

⁷ The origin of krōḍ- (AV. VS.) 'breast' (Av. hrōvādra- 'hard') and of many words with d or ḍh preceded by a long vowel, and with no collateral forms containing a sibilant, is obscure.

¹⁰ On krīḍ-, cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 238 b, note; FISCHER, BB. 23, 253 ff. On īd-, cp. OLDENBERG, SBE. 30, 2.

'strong', ni-bṛṛḍha- 'dense' (= baṛḍhā- for bah-tā-) from banh- 'be strong'; sāḍhy- 'conqueror', d-ṣāḍha- 'invincible', from sah-; rīḍhā- (= riṣḍhā-), from rih- 'lick'; uḍhā- (= uṣḍhā-) from vah- 'carry'; gūḍhā- 'concealed', from guh- 'hide'; trḍhā-, trḍhvā (AV.), from trh- 'crush'; dṛḍhā- 'firm', from dṛh- 'be strong'. Here e also appears for a in trṇḍhu (AV.) from trh- (= trṇa-ḍhu); and o in voḍhām (= vaṣḍham), 2. du. aor. of vah- 'carry'. We also find e as Guṇa of i in mēḍhra- (AV.), from mih- 'mingere' (= meṣḍhra-).

63. Metathesis. — Apart from the few examples of ra before s and h (51 c), there are probably no certain instances of metathesis in the RV.¹ In the later Samhitās, however, a few other forms of metathesis are to be found. Thus -valh- seems to be a transposition of hval- 'go deviously' in upa-valh- (VS.) 'propound a riddle to'.² In valmika- (VS.) 'anthill', m appears transposed beside vamri- and vamrā- 'ant', vamra-kā- 'little ant'. Metathesis of quantity occurs in ās-thas for as-thās*, 2. sing. mid. aor. of as- 'throw'. This is analogous to the shortening, in the RV., of the radical vowel of dā- 'give', in the forms ādam, ādas, ādat, where the verb is compounded with the verbal prefix *ā*³, while otherwise the forms dām, dās, dāt alone appear.

64. Syllable. — The notion of the syllable is already known to the late hymns of the R̥gveda, though the word (a-kṣāra-) is there generally used as an adjective meaning 'imperishable'. Thus akṣāreṇa nimate sapta vāṇi means 'with the syllable they measure the seven metres'. The vowel being according to the Prātisākhya⁴ the essential element of the syllable, the word *akṣara-*⁵ is used by them in the sense of 'vowel' also. Initially, a vowel, or a consonant and the following vowel form a syllable. Medially, a simple consonant begins a syllable, e. g. ta-pas; when there is a group of consonants, the last begins the syllable, e. g. tap-ta-, and if the last is a sibilant or semivowel, the penultimate also belongs to the following syllable⁶, e. g. astām-ṣṣit, an-tya-. A final consonant in pausa belongs to the preceding vowel, e. g. i-dam.

By the process called haplology one of two identical or similar syllables in juxtaposition is dropped. Syllable is here to be taken in the sense not only of a consonant with a following vowel, but of a vowel with a following consonant.

1. The first of the two syllables is dropped within a word in tuṣṭ-rā[va]vān 'roaring mightily', beside tuṣṭ-rāva-; madh[ya]yā 'in the middle', from mādhyā- (like āsa-yā, nakta-yā); vṛ[ta]thā 'at will', from vṛtā- 'willed' (like ṛtu-thā 'according to ṛtu-'); svapatyāi for svapat[yā]yai, dat. sing. f. of sv-apatyā- 'having good offspring'; perhaps also yās, beside yāyo, gen. loc. du. of *yā-*⁷. Examples of a vowel with following consonant being dropped are: ir[adh]ādhyai, inf. of iradh- 'seek to win'; ca[an]anta, r[an]anta, *v[an]anta*⁸; perhaps sād[as]a-pāti- beside sādāsas-pāti- 'lord of the seat'⁹.

a. The final syllable of the first member of a compound is sometimes dropped in this way; thus śē[va]-vāra- 'treasury'; śē[va]-vṛdha- 'dear'; madhīgha- (AV.),

² Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 212 b, note, and 239 b.

³ These forms are not resolved in the Pada text, i. e. they are treated as if they did not contain the verbal prefix ā.

as the designation of syllable is not found in Pāṇini.

N. of a plant yielding honey, beside madhu-dīgha 'shedding sweetness'; śas[pa]-pīñjara- (VS.) 'tawny like young grass'¹.

2. The second syllable is dropped in the datives pāumsyā[ya], ratnadhīyī[ya], sakhyā[ya], and abhikhyā beside abhikhyāya; also in vrkāt[āt] 'destruction', beside vrkātāt and devā-tāti; and at the beginning of the second member of a compound in śirya-[śak]ti- (AV.) 'headache'².

a. A following syllable is sometimes dropped in spite of a different one intervening; thus in the dative maryādā[ya] 'boundary'; and somewhat peculiarly in āvarī[ar]ur, 3. pl. impf. beside the 3. sing. ā varīvar and 3. sing. pres. ā varīvartī.

II. EUPHONIC COMBINATION (SANDHI).

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik p. 21—70. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 34—87. — WACKERNAGEL, Altindische Grammatik I, 301—343. — ARNOLD, Vedic Metre p. 70—80.

65. The nature of Vedic Sandhi.—The sentence is naturally the unit of speech which forms an unbroken chain of syllables euphonically combined. It is, however, strictly so only in the prose portion of the AV.³ and the prose Mantras of the YV. As the great bulk of the Vedas is metrical, the RV. and the SV. being entirely so, the editors of the Samhitā text treat the hemistich (consisting generally of two Pādas or verses)⁴ as the euphonic unit, applying the rules of Sandhi with special stringency between the Pādas or metrical units which form the hemistich. The evidence of metre, however, shows that, in the original form of the text, Sandhi at the end of an internal Pāda is all but unknown⁵. The verse, therefore, is the true euphonic unit⁶. The final of a word appears either at the end of this unit in pausa (avasāne)⁷, or within it as modified by contact with a following initial. The form which the final of a word assumes in pausa, being regarded as the normal ending, is generally the basis of the modification appearing within the verse. It will therefore conduce to clearness if the rules relating to absolute finals are first stated.

66. Finals in pausa.—a. Vowels⁸ in this position undergo no change other than occasional nasalization.

1. In all the Samhitās *ā ī ū*⁹ are frequently nasalized when prolated; e. g. vindatīzṃ | = vindati (x. 1.46'); babhūvāzṃ | = babhūva (AV. x. 2²⁸); viveśāzṃ | = viveśa (VS. XXIII. 49); mamāzṃ | = mamā (TS. VII. 4²⁰).

2. In the Samhitā text of the RV. there survive, at the end of a verse within a hemistich, from the period when such end also was accounted a pause, several instances of nasalized ā, preserved to avoid hiatus and con-

² Cp. WHITNEY, Translation of AV. I, 123.

³ See BLOOMFIELD, The Atharvaveda, in this Encyclopedia, § 1 (beginning) and note 1.

⁴ In the Gāyatrī metre, in which there are three Pādas, the third alone constitutes the second hemistich; in the Pañkti, which has five Pādas, the last three constitute the second hemistich.

⁶ The sentence within a Pāda, as well as the Pāda itself, is the unit of accent; cp. below, 83.

⁷ Cp. RPr. I. 3; VI. 5; X. 5; XI. 30.

⁸ Final r never occurs in the RV., its place being supplied by m as nom. acc. s. n. e. g. sthātūr 'standing' (cp. WACKERNAGEL, KZ. 25, 287 f.); but the TS. already has janayitṛ and bhartṛ (B?), WACKERNAGEL I, 259 a, note.

⁹ The vowels ī and ū, when dual terminations (praghyā), cannot be nasalized.

traction. Thus ā appears as am̐ before e and o; e. g. ghanénam̐'kaś (I. 33⁴); ā appears ām̐ before e o r; e. g. yām̐'rṇay:cayś (v. 30¹⁴); while the prepositions ā 'near', and sācā 'together', are nasalized before any vowel; e. g. sācām̐'udyān. The vowel ā once appears as ām̐ before r in vīpanyām̐'rtāsya (IV. 1¹²), following the regular rule that unnasalized ā is shortened before r in the RV.

b. Consonants are liable to change of mode of articulation and, to some extent, of place of articulation.

1. Final mutes, whether tenuis, media, or aspirate, are without distinction represented by the corresponding tenuis; e. g. dūrāt (III. 59³) = dūrād 'from afar'; uśar-bhūt (I. 65⁹) = uśar-bhūdh 'waking at dawn'.

2. The palatals c and j revert to the original guttural, becoming k; thus arvāk (I. 118⁷) = arvāc 'coming hither'; su-yūk = su-yūj 'well yoked'. The old palatal j, however, becomes t, e. g. rāj (I. 121³), m. f. 'king', 'queen', = rāj; in ṛtvik, however, it becomes the guttural, = ṛtvij 'priest' (from yaj- 'sacrifice')¹.

3. The ritual exclamations vāsaṭ (X. 115⁹) and śrāusaṭ (I. 139¹), which are probably modified forms of the 3. sing. aor. subj. of vah- 'carry', and śru- 'hear', have t for t owing to the analogy of the exclamations vāt (VS.), vāt (TS.), 3. sing. aor. of √vah-⁵.

4. The nasals occurring as finals, ñ, n, *m*⁶, remain unchanged. Of these, n and m are very common; but ñ is found very rarely and only secondarily after the loss of a following k (representing an original palatal; e. g. prāñ for prāñk*, from prāñc-). Probably no instance of final n can be found in Vedic Mantras. The palatal ñ never occurs, since final palatals become guttural (b, 2).

a. In the rare instances in which a radical m becomes final after dropping a following -t or -s, it appears as n owing to the influence of the dental; thus dān (= dam-s*) 'of the house' (dam-)⁷; ā-kran (= ā-kram-t*), 3. sing. aor. of kram- 'stride'; ā-gan (= a-gam-s*, a-gam-t*), 2. 3. sing. aor., a-jagan (= ajagam-t*), 3. sing. plup., aganṭgan (VS.), 3. sing. intv. of gam- 'go'; ā-yān (= a-yam-s-t*), 3. sing. aor. of yam- 'reach'⁸.

5. The semivowels *y v l*⁹ do not occur as finals. r is represented by Visarga; thus pīnar 'again', is written *pīnaḥ*¹⁰.

6. The sibilants and h are all changed when final.

a. The dental s, which is by far the commonest of final sibilants, becomes Visarga; e. g. ketis is written ketiḥ (III. 61³).

β. The cerebral ṣ, which is very rare as a final, becomes cerebral ṣ in śat 'six', for śāṣ; -dviṣ 'hating', for -dviṣ; vi-pruṣ (AV.) 'sprinkling',

⁵ Loc. cit.

⁶ Final m is often incorrectly written as Anusvāra in Mss. (as conversely in Prakrit Mss. m is often written as n under Sanskrit influence: cp. FISCHER, Grammatik der Prakrit-Sprachen, in this Encyclopedia, 339, 348), and their example is sometimes followed in printed editions.

⁸ See 46 d, β.

¹⁰ When ḥ stands for etymological r, this is indicated by an added iti in the Pada-pāṭha; e. g. pīnar iti (X. 85¹⁸).

for vi-prīś. These are the only examples occurring in the RV. and AV. In the only two examples in which s occurs in the RV. as a final in the compound form kś, it is dropped: anāk 'eyeless', from an-āks-; ā-myak, 3. sing. aor. of myaks- 'be situated'(?).

γ. The palatal ś becomes either k or *t*¹; e. g. -drk for drś- (III. 61⁹); vīpāt, N. of a river, for vīpśt-.

δ. According as it is guttural or palatal in origin, h become k or t; thus ā-dhok, 3. sing. impf. of duh- 'milk'; but ā-vāḥ, 3. sing. aor. of vah- 'carry'.

c. The rule is, that only a single consonant may be final. Hence all but the first of a group of consonants are dropped; e. g. ābhavan for ābhavant*; tān for tāns*; tudān for tudānts; prāñ for prāñks* (= prāñcs*); acchān for achantst*, 3. sing. aor. of chand- 'be pleasing'.

α. k t or l, when they follow an r and belong to the root, are allowed to remain; e. g. vārk, 2. 3. sing. aor. of vry- 'bend'; ūrē (VS), nom. of ūrj- 'strength'; āmāṛ, 3. sing. impf. of mry- 'wipe'; ā-vart, 3. sing. aor. of vrt- 'turn'; suhānt (AV.), nom. of suhārd- 'friend'. The only instance of a suffix remaining after r is dar-t, 3. sing. aor. of dr- 'cleave', used also for 2. sing. beside ā-daḥ = ā-dar (for ā-dars*).

β. Some half-dozen instances have been noted, in the Samhitās, in which a suffixal s or t seems to have been retained instead of the preceding consonant; but they are probably all to be explained as due to analogical influence. They are:

1. the nominatives sadhā-mās (beside sadhā-mād) 'companion of the feast'; ava-yās 'sacrificial share', and puro-jās (acc. puro-jāsam) 'sacrificial cake'. Sadhā-mās may be due to the influence of nom. with phonetic s like mās 'moon', beside inst. pl. mā-bhis (44 a 3). Ava-yās, in the only passage in which it occurs in the RV., has to be read as quadrisyllabic (also in AV.), i. e. as ava-yījaś, and is probably to be explained as a contraction which retains the living -s of the nom. (and not the prehistoric s of yīj-s*). Puro-jās (from dīs- 'worship'), occurring only twice in the RV., may be due to the influence of a frequent nom. like draviṇo-dīs 'wealth-giver'. That the prehistoric nom. -s should in these three forms have survived in the linguistic consciousness of the Vedic poets, and as such have ousted the preceding consonant, which in all other analogous nominatives alone remains, is hardly conceivable². The only reasonable explanation is to assume the analogical influence of the nom. -s which was in living use after vowels.

2. The four verbal preterite forms (a-yās (for a-yāj-s*) beside a-yāt, 2. sing. aor. of yaj- 'sacrifice'; srīs (AV.) = a-srāj-s*, 2. sing. aor. of syj- 'emit'; a-bhanas (AV.) = a-bhanak-s*, 2. sing. impf. of bhañ- 'break'; and a-srat (VS.) = a-sras-t*, 3. sing. aor. of sras- 'fall') are the beginnings of the tendency (of which there are several other examples in the Brāhmaṇas)³, to normalize the terminations, so as to have -s in 2. sing. and -t in 3. sing. This tendency is extended in the RV. from the s and t of 2. 3. sing. even to 1. sing. in the forms a-kramim (beside a-kramiṣam) owing to a-kram-īs, a-kram-it; and vam (for var-am) owing to 2. sing. vaḥ (for var), aor. of vry- 'cover'.

67. Rules of Sandhi.—The body of euphonic rules by which final consonants are assimilated to following initials and hiatus is avoided between final and initial vowels is called Sandhi in the Prātiśākhya⁴. The editors of the Samhitā of the RV. have greatly obscured the true condition of the text with which they dealt by applying to it rules of euphonic combination which did not prevail at the time when the text was composed. Thus though the Sandhi between the verses of a hemistich is (excepting a few survivals from the older form of the text)⁵ applied with greater stringency than elsewhere, the metre clearly shows that the end of the first verse of a hemistich constitutes a pause as much as the end of the last. Within the verse, moreover, Sandhi is, according to metrical evidence, not applied where the caesura occurs; nā, when it means 'like' (as opposed to nā 'not'), is never contracted with any following vowel, nor ād 'then' with a preceding *a*⁶; i and ū before dissimilar initial vowels are hardly ever changed to the corresponding semi-vowels¹, and often remain uncontracted even before similar vowels²; the elision of a after e o is rare³; contraction is commonly avoided by the final vowel of monosyllabic words, and by an initial vowel followed by conjunct consonants⁴. Nevertheless, it may be said in a general way that the poets of the RV. show a tendency to avoid the meeting of vowels⁵. The divergences between the apparent and the real Sandhi which appear in the RV., decrease in the later Vedas, while the application of particular rules of Sandhi becomes more uniform⁶.

a. External Sandhi, or that which applies between words in the sentence, is to a considerable extent identical with internal Sandhi, or that which applies within words. The most striking difference is, that in the latter consonants remain unchanged before verbal and nominal terminations beginning with vowels, semi-vowels, or nasals⁷. External Sandhi is on the whole followed in the formation of compounds, the divergences from it in the latter being merely survivals of an earlier stage of external Sandhi due to the closer connexion between members of a compound that renders them less liable than separate words to be affected by modifications of phonetic laws.

External Sandhi is to a considerable extent affected by the law of finals in pausā. Under that influence it avoids final aspirates and palatals. There are, however, in the treatment of final n r, and s, certain survivals which do not agree with the corresponding forms in pausā.

b. There are certain duplicate forms which were originally due to divergent euphonic conditions. Thus the tendency was to employ the dual ending ā before consonants, but au before vowels. Similarly, the word sādā 'always', was used before consonants, but sādam before vowels⁸.

68. Lengthening of final vowels.—Final vowels as a rule remain unchanged before consonants. But ā ī ū are very frequently lengthened⁹ before a single initial consonant¹⁰ both in the metrical portion of the Samhitās and in the prose formulas of the Yajurveda; e. g. śrudhī hāvam 'hear (our) call'. This practice includes examples in which the consonant is followed by a written y or v, to be pronounced, however, as i or u; e. g. ādha hy āgne (IV. 10²¹) = ādha hī agne; abhī sv āryāh (X. 59³²) = abhī śū āryāh. The lengthening here appears to have arisen from an ancient rhythmic tendency of the language to pronounce long, between two short syllables, a final short vowel which was liable to be lengthened elsewhere as well¹¹; this tendency being utilized by the poets of the Samhitās where metrical exigencies required a long syllable. Thus ādha 'then', appears as ādha when a short syllable follows. Similarly tū 'but' generally becomes tū before a short syllable; and śū 'well' nearly always becomes śū between short syllables¹².

² Op. cit. 124.

³ Op. cit. 127.

⁴ Thus māpsavaḥ (IV. 47^d) must be read mā āpsavaḥ, but māduvaḥ (for mā āduvaḥ) remains (ibid.).

⁵ Cp. OLDENBERG 434f.

⁶ Cp. BARTHOLOMAE in KZ. 29, 37, p. 511f.

⁷ Thus śakat, ā-saknuvan, śakra-, śākvān (from śak 'be able'), in all which forms g would be required by external Sandhi.

⁸ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 309, bottom.

⁹ The Padapāṭha in these instances regularly gives the original unlengthened vowel.

¹⁰ Except in compounds, this lengthening disappears in the later language; there are, however, several survivals in the Brāhmaṇas; see AUFRECHT, Aitareya Brāhmaṇa 427; and cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 264 b.

¹¹ This tendency survived in the post-Vedic language in compounds, in words (which followed the analogy of compounds) before suffixes beginning with consonants, and in reduplicative syllables.

¹² Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 264 b.

a. The short vowel regularly remains unchanged at the end of a verse¹ (even within a hemistich); and often before the caesura of a Tristubh or Jagatī Pāda (even in terminations otherwise liable to be lengthened)².

b. The final vowel is not lengthened in 1. vocatives (except vr̥ṣabhā VIII. 45³⁸, and hariyojanā I. 61¹⁶); 2. datives in -āya; 3. nom. plur. neuter in -i; 4. verbal forms ending in -i and -u (excepting imperatives in -dhi and the 3. sing. rākṣati II. 26⁴); 5. the prepositions *ūpa*⁴ and āpa (except āpā vr̥dhi VII. 27²).

c. In some instances final vowels appear to be lengthened before vowels⁵ or two consonants⁶.

69. Contraction of similar vowels.—When a final ā ī ū or ā ī ū is followed by corresponding initial ā ī ū or ā ī ū, contraction resulting in the long form of the respective vowel regularly takes place; e. g. īhāsti = īhā asti; īndrā = īndra ā; tvāgne = tvā agne; vīdām (VI. 9⁹) = vī idām;

a. The contraction of ā + a and of ū + ū occasionally does not take place even in the written text of the RV. both at the end of and within a Pāda; thus manīṣā | agnīh (I. 70¹); manīṣā abhi (I. 101⁷); pūṣā āsurah (V. 51¹¹), pūṣā abhi- (VI. 50⁵), pūṣā aviṣtu (X. 26^{1d}); vīlī utī (I. 39²); sū ūrdhvā(h) (VI. 24⁹); sū ūtibhih (I. 112¹⁻²³); the compound sunūtiyāh (VIII. 47¹⁻¹⁸)⁸.

b. On the other hand, in many instances where the contraction is written, the original vowels have to be restored in pronunciation with hiatus⁹. The restored initial in these instances is long by nature or position, and the preceding final if long must be shortened in pronunciation¹⁰; e. g. cāsāt (I. 27³) = ca āsāt; cārcata (I. 155¹) = ca arcata; māpēh = mā āpēh; māpsāvaḥ = mā āpsāvaḥ; mṛlatīdīṣe (IV. 57¹) = mṛlati dīṣe; yāntīndaraḥ (IV. 47²) = yānti īndaraḥ; bhavantūksānaḥ (VI. 16⁴⁷) = bhavantu ūksānaḥ. After monosyllables, the hiatus is regular in the case of the written contractions ī and ū, especially when the monosyllables are vī and hī; e. g. vīndra (X. 32²) = vī īndra; hīndra (I. 102⁵) = *hī īndra*¹¹.

c. Duals in ā ī ū are regularly uncombined. Such ī and ū are usually written with hiatus in the Samhitā text; the dual ā always appears before *u*¹², but at the end of internal Pādas invariably coalesces in the written text.

70. Contraction of ā with dissimilar vowels.—1. When final ā is followed by ī ū, contraction takes place resulting in *e o*¹³ respectively; e. g. pitāva = pitā īva; īm = ā īm; ūbhā = ā ūbhā. When ā is followed by r, contraction is never written in the RV. and VS.¹⁴, but the metre shows that the combination is sometimes pronounced as ar, as is the case in the compound saptarṣāyāh 'the seven seers'¹⁵.

¹³ Because the long monophthongs ī and ū represent IE. ai and au.

¹⁴ The MS. does not contract either, but on the contrary often lengthens ā to ā, even where the metre requires contraction. Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 267 a α, note.

¹⁵ See GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch p. VII.

a. In the RV. $\tilde{a}+i$ is once contracted to ai - in prāisyāyī (I. 120⁵) = prā isayāyī (Pp.)¹; in the SV. $\tilde{a}+i$ is once contracted to ai - in dindra = \tilde{a} indra (I. 2. I. 45); and in the AV. and VS. the preposition \tilde{a} contracts with r to \tilde{ar} in ārti = \tilde{a} -r-tī 'suffering', and ārchatu = \tilde{a} -r-*chatu*². The last three instances are perhaps survivals of an older contraction. That \tilde{a} is not otherwise contracted with \tilde{i} \tilde{u} r to ai au \tilde{ar} , is doubtless to be accounted for by the previous shortening of \tilde{a} in hiatus³.

b. Occasionally \tilde{a} followed by i remains uncontracted in the written text of the RV.; thus jyā itām (VI. 75³); pibā imām (VIII. 17¹); raṇayā ihā (VIII. 34¹¹)⁴. When \tilde{a} is followed by r , it is either shortened⁵ or nasalized; e. g. tātha r-tūh for tāthā r-; kadām rtacid (V. 39) = kadā r-; vibhāim rbhuv (IV. 33⁶) = vibhā r-; vīpanyāmī | rtāsya (IV. 1¹²) = vīpanyā rtāsya.

c. On the other hand, in many instances where the contraction e or o is written, the original simple vowels must be restored with hiatus; e. g. ēndrāgnī (I. 108⁴) = \tilde{a} indrāgnī; subhāgoshā (I. 48⁷) = *subhāgā uṣāh*⁸.

2. Final \tilde{a} contracts with a following e or ai to ai ; and with o or au to au ; e. g. āibhih for \tilde{a} ebhih. But though the contraction is written, the original vowels must sometimes be restored; e. g. āiṣu (I. 61¹⁶) must be read \tilde{a} esū.

a. Final \tilde{a} , instead of being contracted with e and o , is in a few instances elided before those diphthongs; thus talār'evēd (VII. 33³) = talāra evēd; iv'ēlayah (X. 91⁴) = iva ēlayah; āvin'evēt (VII. 99) = āvinī | evēt; yāth'ohiṣe (VIII. 53) = yāthā ohṣe; ūp'ēṣatu = *ūpa ēṣatu*⁹. An example of a compound with this elision seems to be dāsa-ṇi-¹⁰ = dāsa-ṇi 'having ten aids'.

b. Final \tilde{a} , instead of being contracted with e is, in a few instances, nasalized before that diphthong; thus *aminantām'ēvaih*¹¹ (I. 79²) for $-a ē-$; śāśādnām'ēṣi (I. 123¹⁰) for $-ā ē-$; upāsthām'ēkā (I. 35⁶) for $-ā ē-$.

3. When \tilde{a} remains after a final y or s has been dropped, it does not as a rule contract with the following vowel. Nevertheless such contraction is not infrequent in the Samhitās. In some instances it is actually written; thus sārtavājāu (III. 32⁶) = Pp. sārtavādi ājāu; vāsāu (V. 17³) = Pp. vāi asāu; and the compound rājesitam (VIII. 46²⁸) = Pp. rājāh-iṣitam; in the later Samhitās are found kṛtyēti (AV. X. 1¹⁵) = Pp. kṛtyah iti; pīvopavasānanām (VS. XXI. 43) = Pp. *pīvali-upavasānanām*¹².

In other instances the contraction, though not written, is required by the metre; thus ta indra (VII. 21⁹), Pp. te indra, must be read as tendra; prthivya' antāriṣāt (AV. IX. 1⁹), Pp. prthivyāh, as *prthivyāntāriṣāt*¹³; goṣṭhā ūpa (AV. IX. 4²³), Pp. goṣṭhē ūpa, as goṣṭhāpa.

a. There appear to be several other instances of such written contraction, which are however otherwise explained by the Padapāṭha; thus rāyātā (X. 93¹⁰) = rāyē utā, ¹ Several instances of this contraction occur in B and later.

² The TS. extends this contraction to prepositions ending in a : ūpārchatī, avārchatī; see WHITNEY, APr. III. 47f., TPr. III. 9f. In the post-Vedic language this contraction was extended to all prepositions ending in \tilde{a} .

³ Cp. BENFEY, GGA. 1846, p. 822.

⁶ vibhāim occurs thus three times; see LANMAN 529.

⁸ See ARNOLD, Vedic Metre 123.

⁹ This is a precursor of the post-Vedic rule by which the \tilde{a} of a preposition before initial e and o of verbs (except eti etc. and edhate etc.) is elided.

¹⁰ Though the AV. has pāṇcaudana = pāṇca odana the elision of a before $-adana$ often takes place in the Sūtras and later.

¹³ In the Paippalāda recension this contraction is actually written.

Pp. rāyā utā; bhūmyopāri (x. 753) = bhūmyāh upāri, Pp. *bhūmyā upāri*¹. In a few of these the contraction must be removed as contrary to metre; thus uṣā yāti (III. 61⁴), Pp. uṣā yāti, which means 'Dawn goes', should be read as uṣā ā yāti, as the sense requires 'Dawn comes', and the metre requires an additional syllable; abhiṣṭpāsi (II. 20²), Pp. -pā asi, should be read as abhiṣṭpā(h) asi; vṛṣabhēva (VI. 46⁴), Pp. *vṛṣabhā iva*², as vṛṣabhā(h) iva.

b. In a very few instances a final m is dropped after a, which then combines with a following vowel. This contraction is actually written in durgāhātāt (IV. 18²) for durgāham etāt (but Pp. durgāhā etāt)³, and sāvanedām (TS. I. 4. 44²) for sāvanam idām (Pp. sāvanā idām). Occasionally this contraction though not written is required by the metre; thus rāstrām ihā (AV.) must be read rāstrēhā.

71. Final ī and ū before dissimilar vowels.—1. The final vowels ī and *ū*⁴ before dissimilar initial vowels and before diphthongs are in the Samhitās regularly written as y and *v*⁵ respectively; e. g. prāty āyam (I. 11⁹) = prāti āyam; ā tv ēā (I. 5¹) = ā tī ēā; jānitry ajjanat (x. 134¹) = jānitri ajjanat. The evidence of the metre, however, shows that this y or v nearly always has the syllabic value of i or *u*⁶; e. g. vy ūṣāh (I. 92⁴) must be read as vī ūṣāh: vidāttheṣv añjān (I. 92⁵) as vidāttheṣu añjān.

a. The final of disyllabic prepositions must, however, frequently be pronounced as a semivowel, especially before augmented forms; e. g. adhyāsthāh (I. 49²); amv acāriṣam (I. 23²³); also amv ihi (x. 536⁷).

b. In all the Samhitās the particle u following a consonant is written as v and pronounced as u before a vowel; e. g. āvēd v indra (I. 281⁸); but the long form of the same particle occasionally remains unchanged in the RV. even after a consonant; e. g. ūd ū ayām (VI. 71⁹); tām ū akṛṇvan (x. 88¹⁰).

c. In RV. I—IX there are other instances of monosyllabic and disyllabic words at the end of which y and v are pronounced; but the only example of a trisyllabic word in which this occurs is śreyatu in śreyatu āpāh (II. 32⁴). In RV. x there are a few further examples; e. g. devēṣv ādhi (x. 121⁸)⁹.

d. The semivowel is regular in the compounds ṛtv-ij-, *gāvy-ūti*¹⁰, sv-āhā, and *sv-id*¹¹.

2. Unchangeable ī and ū. a. The dual ī and ū never change to y or v; nor is the former ever prosodically shortened, though the latter sometimes is; e. g. hārī (—) rtāṣya; but sādhū (—) asmāi (II. 27¹⁵). The dual ī may remain even before i; e. g. hārī iva, hārī indra, akṣī iva; but the contraction is written in upadhīva, pradhīva, dāmpatīva, viṣpātīva, nṛpātīva (AV.), *rōdastim*¹² (VII. 90³) = rōdast imē 'these two worlds'. There are also several passages in which the contraction, though not written, must be read¹³.

b. The rare locatives in ī and *ū*¹³ (from stems in ī and ū) are regularly written unchanged in the Samhitā text of the RV., except vāty asyām (II. 3⁴),

² In instances in which contraction with iva seems to take place, the existence of a byform va has to be taken into consideration; cp. GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch, column 221; WACKERNAGEL I, 268 a, note.

³ Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum 67, end.

⁴ In the RV. r is never final, and I doubt whether any example can be quoted from the other Samhitās in which it is followed by an initial vowel.

⁵ The Sandhi which changes a vowel to the semivowel is called kṣaīpra 'gliding', in the Prātiśākhya; cp. RPr. II. 8; III. 7; VII. 5.

⁷ WACKERNAGEL I, 271 b; OLDENBERG 438, note, ZDMG. 44, 326 note; ARNOLD, Vedic Metre 125.

⁸ The TS. has uv for v. Elsewhere also iy and uv are sometimes written for i and u; e. g. sv-iti = sv-iti 'accessible'; hence the pronunciation may have been iy, uv; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 270 c, 271 a.

⁹ See ARNOLD, Vedic Metre 125.

¹⁰ If the analysis of BR., gāvi-ūti, is correct; the Pp. divides gā-vi-ūti.

¹¹ See ARNOLD, Vedic Metre 125.

¹² Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 270 b, note. Here we have probably not contracted forms with iva, but the dual ī + va, the byform of iva.

¹³ The vowels which regularly remain unchanged are called pragṛhya, 'separated', by the native phoneticians; see RPr. I. 16 etc.; VPr. I. 92 etc.; Apr. I. 73 etc. They are indicated as such in the Pp. by an appended ili. The particle u is indicated as pragṛhya in the Pp. of RV. and AV. by its nasalized form ūm (nasalization being employed to avoid hiatus: see above 66, 1).

where, however, the vowel must be pronounced (- - -). The vowels here (unlike the dual ī) seem always to be treated as prosodically short¹.

c. The final ī of other cases also occasionally remains unchanged; thus the nominatives pr̥thivī, pr̥thujrāyī, samrājī and the instrumental susāmī sometimes retain their ī, and the inst. utī frequently does so².

72. Final e and o.—i. a. Before a. The diphthongs e and o remain unchanged before an initial a. This a is often not written in the Saṃhitās³, being dropped in about three-fourths of its occurrences in the RV. and in about two-thirds in the AV.⁴; but the evidence of metre shows that, in 99 instances out of 100 in the RV., and in about 80 in the AV. and the metrical parts of the YV., it is, whether written or not, to be read, and at the same time shortens the preceding diphthong to ē or *ō*⁵. In vīśve devāso aptūrah (I. 3⁸) the a is both written and pronounced; in sūndāv | 'gne (I. 1⁹) it must be restored: sūndāv | *āgne*⁶. The exceptional treatment of e in st̥tava ambyām (VIII. 72⁵), for st̥tave ambyām, indicates that the Sandhi of e and o before a was originally the same as before other vowels⁷. But their unchanged form, as before consonants, gained the day, because the short close ē, when coming immediately after them in their character of monophthongs, would have a natural tendency to disappear and thus leave a consonant to follow.

b. Before other vowels. The diphthongs e and o before any vowels but ā would naturally become ay and av, as being originally = āi and āu, and as having the form of ay and av within a word. But ay regularly drops the y; e. g. agna ihā (I. 22¹⁰); av on the other hand generally retains the v, dropping it before *ū*⁸; e. g. vāyav ā yāhi (I. 2¹); but vāya ukthēbhīr (I. 2²).

2. Unchangeable e. a. The e of the dual nom. acc. f. n. of a-stems, e. g. ubhe 'both', is regularly uncontracted (pragr̥hya), because it consists of a + the dual *ī*⁹.

b. Under the influence of this nominal dual e, the verbal dual *e*¹⁰ of the 2. 3. present and perfect middle, e. g. vāhethe 'ye two bring', bruvāte 'they two speak', ās-āthe 'ye two have obtained', come to be uncontractable, though the e is nearly always prosodically shortened; e. g. yuñjāthe apāh (I. 151⁴); but parimannāthē asmān (VII. 93⁶).

c. The e of the locative tvē 'in thee', is uncontractable. Under its influence the other pronominal forms asmē 'us', and yuṣmē 'you', are also always treated as pragr̥hya by the Saṃhitā as well as the Padapāṭha; it is,

² Cp. op. cit. I, 270 b, note. Such forms, in which the absence of contraction is only occasional, are not indicated by itī in the Pp.

⁵ Cp. OLDENBERG 435 f., 453 ff., ZDMG. 44, 331 ff.; WACKERNAGEL I, p. 324.

⁶ The few instances (70 out of 4500) of the elision of a in the RV. are the fore-runners of the invariable practice of post-Vedic Sandhi.

⁷ Internally the original Sandhi of the compound gā-agra must have been gāe-agra; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, p. 325, note.

⁸ There are a few survivals of ay; e. g. tāy ā (MS. I. 11) = tā ā (TS.); cp. TPr. X. 23; OLDENBERG 447 ff. In the MS., the K., and Mantras occurring in the Mānavasūtras, unaccented a for e before an accented initial vowel is lengthened; e. g. ā dadhā itī.

⁹ See above 71, 2. A dual e once appears contracted in dhiṣṇyemē (VII. 72³), which, however, should probably be read uncontracted as dhiṣṇye imē. The -eva which occurs several times (I. 186⁴ etc.) and looks like a contraction of the dual e with iva, in reality probably stands for the dual e + va, the byform of iva; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, p. 317, note, top.

however, doubtful whether they were so treated in the original text of the RV.¹

3. Unchangeable o. a. When o is the result of combining the final ā of particles with u (which itself is often unchangeable)², it is pragyha; thus ś (= ā u), dtho (= dtha u), utō (= utā u), mō (= mā u).

b. Following this analogy, the vocative in o of u-stems is sometimes treated as pragyha in the Saṃhitā of the TS.; e. g. pīto ā (TS.v. 7.24). It is regularly so treated in the Padapāṭhas of the RV., AV., VS., TS. (but not SV.). Thus in vāyav ā (I. 2¹), vāya ukthēbhīr (I. 2²), vāyo tāva (I. 2³) the vocative is equally given in the Padapāṭha as vāyo iti.

73. The diphthongs ai and au.—The diphthongs ai and au are treated throughout in the same way as e and o before vowels other than a. Thus ai is regularly written ā (having dropped the y of āy); e. g. tāsmā aksī (I. 116¹⁶); tāsmā indrāya (I. 4⁹). On the other hand, au is generally written av, but always ā before ñ in the RV. and VS.; e. g. tāv ā (I. 2⁵); tāv indrāgnī (I. 108³); but sujihvā ūpa (I. 13⁸). In the AV. ā appears before u in pādā ucye (AV. xix. 6⁵). In the MS. ā appears before other vowels also³.

74. Euphonic combination of consonants.—The Sandhi of final consonants, generally speaking, starts from the form which they assume in pausā. Thus an aspirate first loses its aspiration; the palatal c becomes k; j ś h become k or *t*⁴; and of a group of consonants the first alone remains. Final n is, however, to a great extent differently treated from what it is in pausā; and the Sandhi of s and r is, for the most part, based not on h, their form in pausā, but on the original letter.

A final consonant is assimilated⁵ in quality⁶ to the following initial, becoming voiceless before a voiceless consonant, and voiced before a voiced sound⁷; e. g. tāt satyām (I. 15) for tād; yāt tvā (I. 15¹⁰) for yād; haryavād juhvāsyah (I. 12⁶), through -vāt for -vāh; gāmad vājebhiḥ (I. 5³) for gūmat; arvāg rādhaḥ (I. 95) for arvāc through arvāc.

a. A final media before a nasal may become the nasal of its own class. There seems to be no certain instance of this in the RV.; cakrān nā (x. 95¹², 13), however, probably stands for cakrāt nā, though the Pp. has cakrān nā. This assimilation is regular in some compounds; e. g. ṣaṇ-ṇavati-‘96’ for ṣaṇ-ṇavati-. From here it penetrated into internal Sandhi; e. g. ṣaṇ-ṇām.

b. Assimilation not only in quality, but also largely in the place of articulation occurs in the Sandhi of final m, of the final dentals⁸ t n s, and of final r (under the influence of s).

75. Euphonic combination of final m.—1. Before vowels, final m remains unchanged; e. g. agūlm ŋe (I. 1¹). In a very few instances, however, the m is dropped, and the vowels then contract. This Sandhi is mostly indicated by the metre only: it is very rarely written⁹, as in durgāhaitāt

³ See GARBE, GGA. 1882, 117 f.; WACKER-NAGEL I, 274; OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 60, 755—758 (Duale auf -ā und -au).

⁵ Final t before vowels becomes ṭ in the RV., not ṭ as later; e. g. bāṭ itthā, for bāt.

⁶ Within a word a voiced consonant is not necessary before vowels, semivowels, and nasals.

(iv. 18²) for durgāham etāt, and it is never analysed by the Padapāṭha in this way. It may perhaps have started from the analogy of the doublet tūbhya beside tūbhyam 'to thee'¹.

2. Before mutes, final m is regularly assimilated², becoming the corresponding nasal, and before n similarly becoming n. The Mss. and printed texts, however, represent this assimilated m by the Anusvāra sign; e. g. bhadrām karisyāsi (I. 1⁶) for bhadrām karisyāsi; bhadrām no (x. 20¹) for bhadrām no. This actual change of m to n before dentals led to some errors in the Pada text; e. g. yām ni-pāsi (iv. 11⁶), analysed as yāt instead of yām; āvi-venan tām (iv. 24⁶), analysed as āvi-venan instead of āvi-venam (cp. iv. 25³).

3. Before r ś s s and *h*³, final m becomes Anusvāra (ṃ); e. g. hōtāraṃ ratnadhāmam (I. 1¹); vārdhamānaṃ svē (I. 19); mitrām huve (I. 27). From its original use before sibilants and h, Anusvāra came to be employed before the semivowel also⁴. A compound like sam-rāj- 'overlord' shows that m originally remained unchanged in Sandhi before r.

4. Before y / v, final m is assimilated as nasalized ỵ / ṿ. The TPr.⁶, however, allows Anusvāra beside these, while the APr. even requires Anunāsika before y and v; and the printed texts regularly use Anusvāra; e. g. sām yudhī (I. 8³); yajñām vaśu (I. 30¹⁰). Forms like yamyāmāna- 'extended' and dpa-mhukta- 'concealed' show that final m originally remained unchanged in Sandhi before y and *l*⁵; and forms like jaganvān, from gam- 'go', point to its having at one time become n before v in Sandhi.

76. Euphonic combination of final t. — 1. Before l, final *t*⁶ becomes fully assimilated as l; e. g. āngāt lōmnaḥ (x. 163⁶) for āngāt lōmnaḥ.

2. Before palatals (including ś)⁷ final *t*¹ becomes palatal⁸; e. g. tāt cāksuḥ (vii. 66¹⁶) for tāt cāksuḥ; rohīc chyāvā (I. 100¹⁶) for rohīt śyāvā; and in a compound yātayāj-jana- 'marshalling men', for yātayāt-jana-.

77. Euphonic combination of final n. — 1. Before vowels. Final *n*⁹, a. if preceded by a short vowel, is doubled¹⁰; e. g. dhann āhim (II. 11⁵) for āhan. The final n is here chiefly based on original ns or nt. Though it is always written double¹¹, the evidence of metre shows that this rule was only partially applied in the RV.¹²

b. If preceded by a long vowel, it becomes within¹³ a Pāda in the RV. m̐ after *ā*¹⁴, but m̐r after *i ṛ ī*¹⁵; e. g. sārgāṃ iva, for sārgān; paridhīm̐r āti, for paridhīm̐; abhīsum̐r iva, for abhīsūn; n̐m̐r abhi, for n̐n. This Sandhi was caused by the n having originally been followed by *s*¹⁶; e. g. vṛkān originally ⁴ In the post-Vedic language Anusvāra came to be allowed before mutes and nasals also.

⁵ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 283 c.

⁶ Representing th d dh also, if they occur.

⁸ Final dentals never come into contact with initial cerebrals in the Samhitās.

⁹ This rule applies to final guttural n̐ also; e. g. kūḍh̐n̐ ī- (x. 1083), cp. LANMAN 490; hīn̐ ākṛ̐not (I. 164²⁸) for hīn̐ ā-.

¹⁰ The compound vṛṣaṇ-āsvā- 'having stallions as steeds', forms an exception.

¹² Cp. OLDENBERG 424 f., 429 ff.

¹³ At the end of a Pāda, -ān -in -ān remain unchanged (as being in pausā) before a vowel. For passages in which -ān is unchanged within a Pāda, see below and OLDENBERG 428.

¹⁴ In the MS. and K., -ān̐ is shortened to -am̐; e. g. asmān̐ ānotu for asmān̐. Cp. v. SCHROEDER, ed. of the MS. I, p. XXIX.

¹⁶ For examples of this Sandhi applied to nominatives in -ān̐, see LANMAN 506 A, note (mahān̐), 512 (-vān̐), 514 (-yān̐), 517 (-mān̐); for accusatives, 346.

vykants*¹; mahān for mahānts*; ā-yān, 3. sing. aor. for ā-yān-st* (1. sing. ā-yāṁsam)². The n became Anusvāra (or Anunāsika) before this s, which was treated in exactly the same way as when it followed an unnasalized vowel (ās becoming ā, but ts, us, fs becoming tr, ur, fr).

u. The ān of the 3. pl. subjunctive (originally ānti), however, remains unchanged before vowels within a Pāda, obviously owing to the -t which at one time followed. There happen to be only five occurrences of this form under the conditions required: ā vahān āśi (I. 84¹⁶); ghōṣān ūtārā (III. 33⁸); sphurān rjipyām (VI. 67¹¹); gacchān id (VIII. 79⁵); gacchān ūtārā (X. 10¹⁰).³

2. Before consonants. Final n remains unchanged before all gutturals and labials (including m), as well as before voiced dentals (including n). It is, however, liable to be changed before the following sounds:

a. Before p, final n, when etymologically = ns, sometimes becomes ṇḥ; thus nṇḥ pāhi (VIII. 84³)⁴; nṇḥ pātram (I. 121¹).

b. Before all palatals that occur it becomes palatal ñ; e. g. ūrdhvāñ carāthāya (I. 36¹⁴) for ūrdhvān; tāñ jusethām (V. 51⁶) for tān; vajrñ chnathihi (I. 63⁵) for *vajrñ snathihi*⁵; devāñ chlokaḥ (X. 12⁵) for devān ślokaḥ.

Before c, however, the palatal sibilant is sometimes inserted⁶ in the RV., the n then becoming Anusvāra. This insertion occurs only when the sibilant is etymologically justified (that is, in the nom. sing. and acc. pl. masc.) almost exclusively (though not invariably) before ca and cīd; thus anayājāñs ca (X. 51⁸), amenāñs cīd (V. 31²)⁷. In the other Samhitās the inserted sibilant becomes commoner, occurring even where it is not etymologically justified (that is, in the 3. pl. impf. and the voc. and loc. of n-stems)⁸.

c. Before dental *t*⁹, final n usually remains; but the dental sibilant is sometimes inserted in the RV., the n then becoming Anusvāra. This insertion, however, occurs in the RV. only when it is etymologically justified; it is commoner in the other Samhitās¹⁰, where it appears even when not etymologically justified.

d. Before y r v h, final n as a rule remains unchanged; but -ān, -in, -ūn sometimes become *-āṁ*¹¹, -īṁ, -ūṁ, as before vowels; e. g. -annāṁ rayivādhah (VII. 91³) for -annān; dadvāṁ vā (X. 132³) for dadvān; pañīṁ hatam (I. 184²) for pañīn; dīsyāṁr yonau (I. 63¹) for dīsyān.

e. Before l, final n always becomes nasalized *l̥*¹²; e. g. jigvāl lakṣām (II. 124⁴).

f. Before the dental sibilant, final n remains; but a transitional *t*¹³ may be inserted; e. g. ahant sāhasā (I. 80¹⁰) 'he slew with might'; tān sām may also be written *tānt sām*¹⁴. In the former example the t is organic; from such survivals it spread to cases where it was not justified. A similar insertion may take place before ś; that is, vajrñ snathihi may become vajrñ śnathihi or vajrñ chnathihi (through vajrñ śnathihi for vajrñ śnathihi)¹⁵.

³ Cp. OLDENBERG 428.

⁴ The MS. (II. 131¹) has nṇḥ pāhi.

⁵ For examples of nominatives with this Sandhi, see LANMAN 506 A, note, 512 (top), 517.

⁶ Op. cit., 506 A, note, and 514.

⁷ Op. cit., 512.

⁸ There are no examples of the inserted sibilant before ch in the Samhitās. In the post-Vedic language a sibilant is invariably inserted after n before all voiceless palatals, cerebrals, and dentals.

⁹ Neither th nor t̥ occur in the Samhitās after final n.

¹⁰ Cp. LANMAN 516 A, note.

¹² As m does before l; see above 75, 4.

¹³ Before s a transitional k may similarly be inserted after a final n; e. g. pratyāñ sū may also be written pratyāñk sū.

¹⁵ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 282, note.

78. Euphonic combination of final s. — I. Before voiced sounds.

a. Final s after all vowels except ā, assumes its voiced form r before all vowels and voiced consonants¹; e. g. ṛṣibhīr īdyo (I. 1²) for ṛṣibhis; agnīr hōtā (I. 1⁵) for agnis; paribhūr dsi (I. 1⁴) for paribhūs; nītanair utā (I. 1²) for nītanais.

The s doubtless became r through an older transitional voiced cerebral *ṣ*², as is shown by the Avesta, e. g. in duṣṭa- = *dur-ita-*³.

b. Final s after ā must originally have become z before voiced sounds. But āz drops the sibilant before vowels and voiced consonants, while az drops it before vowels except *a*⁴, but becomes *o*⁵ before voiced consonants⁶ and a; thus sutā imē (I. 3⁴) for sutās; viśvā vi (I. 3¹²), for viśvās; khyā ā for khyas (I. 4³); no dī (I. 4³) for nas; indavo vām (I. 2¹) for indavas.

2. Before voiceless consonants. a. Before the palatals c, ch, ś final s becomes the palatal sibilant *ś*⁷; e. g. devās cakrmd (x. 37¹²).

b. Before the dental *t*⁹, final s following ā always remains; e. g. yās te (I. 4⁴); mēdhīrās tēsām (I. 11⁷). After i *ū*¹⁰, it remains as a rule; e. g. āpṛibhis tīnā (I. 3⁴). But s becomes ṣ, which cerebralizes the following t to ṭ: a. regularly in compounds¹¹ in all the Samhitās; e. g. dīs-ṭara- 'insuperable' for dīs-tara- (but rajas-tūr- 'traversing the air'); β. often in external Sandhi in the RV. This occurs chiefly, and in the independent passages of the other Samhitās¹² only, before pronouns; e. g. agnīṣ te; krātus tām; otherwise it occurs occasionally only in the RV.; thus niṣ-ṭataṣṭīr (x. 31⁷); gobhiṣ ṭarema (x. 42¹⁰); nākiṣ ṭanāsu (viii. 20¹²)¹³.

c. Before k kh p ph, final s as a rule becomes Visarjaniya (its pause

² This ṣ would be the voiced cerebral corresponding to the voiceless ś, which appears before voiceless consonants (e. g. in duṣkha-).

⁵ In the compound ānar-viṣ- (I. 121⁷) 'having a wain as his abode', ar instead of o (cp. ānar-vant- 'possessed of a wain') is perhaps due to the influence of vanar-, beside vanas- and vana-. On a still more anomalous compound of the same word, anad-vāh- 'drawer of a cart', 'bull', cp. WACKERNAGEL I, p. 339, top. The vowel ā appears instead of o in pracetā | rājan (I. 24¹⁴) 'O wise king' (pracetā rājan in the same verse, TS. I. 5. 113), probably owing to the voc. pracetā, as it would have been pronounced at the end of a Pāda in the original text, having been misunderstood as a voc. in -tar (from a stem in -ṭr), which would become -tā before r.

⁶ The starting point of this Sandhi was probably the treatment of as before voiced dentals, where the sibilant was dropped and the preceding vowel lengthened to e or o. The latter finally carried the day, e surviving only in śīve duhitā (I. 345); cp. BARTHOLOMAE, BB. 15, 1 f.; WACKERNAGEL I, p. 338.

⁷ Sā cit does not stand for sāḥ cit, but for sā u cit.

⁸ If initial cerebral mutes had existed in the Samhitās, final s would doubtless have become the cerebral sibilant ś before them.

¹⁰ Final rs never occurs; ṛs, occurring only once in the RV., remains unchanged in mātṛs tvīm (I. 164¹⁰).

¹¹ The only exception in the RV. is cātus-trīṃśat 'thirty-four', doubtless due to the avoidance of the combination ṣtr.

¹² The TS. also has niṣ-ṭap- 'heat'. On the usage of the SV., see BENFEY, SV. p. XLIII; on that of the AV., see WHITNEY, APR. II. 84.

form), or Jihvāmūliya (h) before the gutturals and Upadhmanīya (h) before the labials; e. g. Indraḥ pāñca (i. 79). But ās remains and īs ūs ṛs become *īs ūs ṛs*¹: a. regularly in compounds in all the Samhitās; e. g. paras-pā- 'far-protecting'; haviṣ-pā- 'drinking the offering'; duṣ-kṛt- 'evil-doing'; duṣ-pāt- 'evil-footed'. The general rule, however, applies in the following compounds: purāḥ-prasravaṇa- 'streaming forth'; chāndah-pakṣa- (AV.) 'borne on the wings of desire'; śrīyaḥ-keta- (AV.) 'striving after superiority'; sadyaḥ-kri- (AV.) 'bought on the same day'; bahiḥ-paridhī (TS.) 'outside the enclosure'; itih-pradīna- (TS.) 'offering from hence (= this world)'.

The repeated (or āmreṣita) compounds also follow the general rule, doubtless from a desire to change the repeated word as little as possible; thus pūraḥ-pūro 'each first'; parāḥ-paraḥ 'always without' (AV.); pāruṣaḥ-paruṣa (VS.) 'from every knot'; pūruṣaḥ-puruṣo (TS.) 'every man'; pāruḥ-paruḥ (TS.) 'joint by joint', but pāruṣ-parur also in RV. AV. TS.

β. Often in external Sandhi in the RV.²; e. g. dīvās pāri (x. 45¹) 'from the sky'; pātnivatas kṛdhi (i. 14¹) 'make them possessed of wives'; dyāus pītā (iv. 1¹⁰) 'Father Heaven'.

d. Before mutes immediately followed by s or ś, final s regularly becomes Visarjaniya; e. g. śatākratuḥ tsīrat (viii. 1¹¹); ubhayataḥ-kṣṇir (TS.) 'two-edged'. Occasionally the sibilant disappears, as in ādha kṣārantir (vii. 34²)³.

e. 1. Before a simple sibilant final s is either assimilated or becomes Visarjaniya; e. g. vaś śivātamo or vaḥ śivātamo (x. 9¹); dāvās śaḥ or dāvīḥ śaḥ (x. 128⁵); naś sapītṛ or naḥ sapītṛ (x. 128⁹). Assimilation is undoubtedly the original Sandhi⁴ and is required by some of the Prātisākhya⁵; but the Mss. usually employ Visarjaniya, and European editions regularly follow this practice⁶.

a. The sibilant disappears in the compounds barhi-śāt- 'sitting on the sacrificial litter'; dyāu-saṁśīta- (AV.) 'sky-sharpened'; and, after lengthening the preceding a, ayī-śayā rajā-śayā harā-śayā (TS. i. 2. 11² = MS. i. 27) for ayāś-, harāś-.

2. Before a sibilant immediately followed by a voiceless mute, a final sibilant is dropped; e. g. mandibhi śīmebhir (i. 9³) for mand'bhīś; mītha-spīdhya (i. 166⁹) for mīthas-; du-śrut- 'ill praise' for *duṣ-*⁷. The omission is required by the Prātisākhya of the RV., VS., TS., and is the practice of all the Mss. of the MS.

3. Before a sibilant immediately followed by a nasal or semivowel, a final sibilant is optionally dropped; thus kṛta śrāvah (vi. 58³), beside which (though the Pp. reads kṛta) the MS. reads *kṛtaḥ śrāvah*⁸; nī-svarām (vii. 1¹) for nīś-svarām 'noiseless' (Pp., however, nī-svarām).

79. Euphonic combination of final r. — As h is the pause form of both r and s, a certain amount of mutual contamination appears in their Sandhi; r, however, suffers much more in this respect than s. Since both s and r when preceded by i ū have the same natural Sandhi, it is in a few

² adī pītā (i. 187⁷) is probably only an apparent exception, as adī = āda u, not ādus (Pp. adīḥ); the Paippalāda recension of the AV., however, has ādus pītā, for adīś.

⁴ Cp. WHITNEY on APr. II. 40.

⁵ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, p. 342, top.

⁶ In pāriḥ śīncata (x. 107¹), itī probably = itā u (Pp. pāri itāḥ).

⁸ Cp. BOLLESEN, ZDMG. 45, 24; FISCHER, Vedische Studien I, 13.

instances uncertain which was the original sound. Thus it is somewhat doubtful whether the -uḥ of the abl. gen. sing. of r-stems and of the 3. pl. act. of past tenses represents original us or ur. In the verbal form, the r in the corresponding middle termination of the perfect, -re, seems to decide in favour of *ur*¹.

1. a. Before vowels and voiced consonants (except r itself) r remains not only when preceded by ī *ū*², but by ā also³; e. g. gír | iṣā (I. 117¹); pūr devatrā (VII. 52¹); prātār agnīh (V. 18¹); pūnar naḥ (X. 57⁵); svār druho (II. 35⁶)⁴.

b. Before r, r disappears, after lengthening a preceding vowel; e. g. pūnā rūpāni (AV. I. 24⁴). In a few instances, however, o appears instead of ā (= ar), under the influence of -aḥ as the pause form of neuters in -as; thus ūdho romaśam (VIII. 31⁹), for ūdḥā; and the compound aho-rātrā 'day and night', for aḥā.

2. Before voiceless consonants final r is as a rule treated like s.

a. Before the gutturals k kh and the labials p ph, it becomes h under the influence of the pause form; e. g. pūnaḥ kalēh (X. 39⁸); pūnaḥ pātīm (X. 85³⁹); pūnaḥ-punar (I. 92¹⁰). But that the r originally remained before these consonants is shown by its survival in the compounds pūr-pati-, svār-pati-, vār-kāryā-, ahār-pati- (VS.). But even here the pause form was gradually introduced; e. g. svāh-pati- (SV.); it supplanted the r of antār throughout; e. g. antaḥ-pēya- 'drinking up'; antaḥ-kośā- (AV.) 'inside of a store-room'; antaḥ-parśavyā- (VS.) 'flesh between the ribs'; antaḥ-pātrā- (AV.) 'interior of a vessel'; and because the pause form of r and s was identical, the Sandhi of s came to be applied here even in the RV.; thus āntas-patha- 'being on the way' (for āntar-); cātus-kaparda- 'having four braids', cātus-pād- 'four-footed' (for cātur-).

b. Before the palatals c ch, final r invariably (like s) becomes the palatal sibilant ś; e. g. pūś ca (I. 189²) for pūr ca. This applies almost always even in compounds; e. g. cātus-cātvarīṃśat (VS.) 'forty-four'. There are only two examples of the r being retained even here: svār-caḥśas- 'brilliant as light', svār-canas- 'lovely as light'.

c. Before dental t, final r is without exception treated like s; e. g. gīs tribarhiṣi (I. 181⁸) for gír; cātus-trīṃśat 'thirty-four' for cātur-. The retention of r before t in āvar tāmaḥ (I. 92⁴) is only apparently an exception, as this really stands for *āvart tāmaḥ*⁵.

d. Before sibilants, final r appears in its pause form as Visarjanīya in sentence Sandhi, e. g. pūnaḥ śm (II. 38⁴). In compounds, however, it

⁴ āha evā (VI. 48⁷) for āhar evā is due to āhaḥ, the pause form of āhar, being treated like that of a neuter in -as, āhas. In akṣā indur (IX. 98³) for akṣār indur (Pp. akṣār), the editors of the Saṃhitā misunderstood akṣāḥ, as the form would originally have been pronounced at the end of an internal Pāda. ūdho for ūdhar, which appears before a and m, is due to the influence of neuters in as, the pause form of which, -aḥ, would be the same as of those in -ar. The form avā, for avār 'down', which appears before d (avā divāḥ V. 40⁶, etc.), but before m, avār mahāḥ, I. 133⁶), is due to the influence of pāro divāḥ and pāro divā (for pāras), cp. RPr. I. 32. āvo before a, d, m, explained by BENFEY (SV. XL and 176) as standing for āvar is probably from vas- 'shine' (cp. WACKERNAGEL I, p. 335, top).

frequently remains; thus vanar-sād- and vanar-sād- 'sitting in the wood'; dhūr-sād- 'being on the yoke'; svār-sā- 'winning light'; svār-sāti- 'acquisition of light'; dhūr-sāh- (VS.) 'bearing the yoke'. This indicates that it originally remained before sibilants in sentence Sandhi also.

80. Initial aspiration.—The palatal sibilant ś and the breathing h, when initial, may under certain conditions be changed to aspirates.

a. After a final c, initial ś may become, and in practice always does become, ch; e. g. yāc chaknāvāma (x. 2³) for yād śaknāvāma. The same change occasionally takes place after ṣ; thus vṣpāṣ chutuadrī (iii. 33¹), for śutuadrī; turāśāṣ chusmī (v. 40¹) for śusmī.

b. After a final voiced mute, initial h may be and usually is changed to the aspirate of that mute; e. g. tād dhī (i. 126²) for tād hī; sīdad dhōtā (x. 12⁴) for sīdad (= sīdat) hōtā; āvāt dhavyāni (x. 16¹²) for havyāni.

81. Sandhi of compounds.—The euphonic combination at the junction of the members of compounds is on the whole subject to the rules prevailing in external Sandhi or between words in a sentence. Thus the evidence of metre shows that contracted vowels are often even in compounds to be read with hiatus, when the initial vowel of the second member is in a heavy syllable; e. g. yukti-asva- 'having yoked horses', devī-iddha- 'kindled by the gods', āccha-ukti- 'invitation'. Many archaisms of Sandhi are, however, preserved in compounds which have either disappeared from or are obsolescent in the sentence.

1. An earlier stage of Sandhi has been preserved by compounds alone in the following instances:

a. Several old phonetic combinations appear in single words: dvi-bārha-jman- 'having a double course' for dvi-bārha-j-man- (= dvi-bārhad-* from bārḥ-as, with -ad for -as before the voiced palatal)²; barhi-sād- 'sitting on the sacrificial litter' (from barhis- for barhiś-sād-); viś-pāti- 'lord of the house' and viś-pātnī- 'mistress of the house' (with ś retained instead of f)³, sam-rāj- 'sovereign ruler' (with m preserved before r)⁴.

b. In a group of compounds with dus- 'ill' as first member, the combinations dū-d = duṣ-d and dū-n = duṣ-n appear instead of dur-d and dur-n: dū-dābha- 'hard to deceive', dū-dhī- 'malevolent', dū-nāsa- 'hard to attain', dū-nāsa- 'hard to attain' and 'hard to destroy', dū-dās- (AV.) 'not worshipping'. But dur-, the form which would be required by external Sandhi, is already commoner in the RV.; e. g. dur-dṛśika- 'looking bad', dur-dhūr-ttu- 'hard to restrain', dur-nāman- 'having a bad name', dur-nāsa- (AV.) 'hard to attain'.

c. Final r in the first member is preserved in the RV. before voiceless sounds⁵; thus vār-kāryā- 'producing water', svār-caṣyas- 'brilliant as light', pūr-pati- 'lord of the stronghold', svār-pati- 'lord of heaven', *dhūr-sād-*⁶ 'being on the yoke'.

d. Radical stems ending in -ir and -ur mostly lengthen their vowel before consonants (as within words), e. g. dhūr-sād- 'being on the yoke', dhūr-sāh- (VS.) 'bearing the yoke', pūr-pati- 'lord of the stronghold', pūr-bhīd- 'breaking down forts', pūr-bhīdya- n. 'destruction of forts', *pūr-yāna-*⁷ 'leading to the fort'.

³ Later vṣpāṣ-pati- (TB. ii. 5, 74), and even in the RV. pāṣ-bhīa- 'fetter' from paś- 'bind'.

⁴ Otherwise Anusvāra, as in sam-rājantam.

⁵ While in external Sandhi it would become Visarjanīya or a sibilant.

⁷ But gir retains the short vowel in gir-vaṇas- 'fond of praise', gir-vāhas- 'praised in

e. As first member of a compound dyu- 'heaven' appears as div- before vowels¹ (while yu would in external Sandhi become yv), as dīv-iṣṭi- 'striving for heaven', div-it- 'going to heaven'.

2. Compounds in the Samhitās preserve many euphonic archaisms which, while still existing in external Sandhi, disappear from the sentence in later periods of the language though still partially surviving in compounds.

a. A final consonant disappears before the same consonant when the latter is the initial of a group: upá(s)-stha- 'lap', ná(k)-ksatra- 'star', hr(d)-dyotá- (AV.), an internal disease, hr(d)-dyótana (AV.) 'breaking the heart'².

b. A final sibilant disappears before a mute followed by a sibilant, as in divá-ksa- 'heavenly' ('ruling over heaven', div-ás, gen.)³.

c. A sibilant as initial of the second member is retained; thus ścandra- 'bright' in puru-ścandrā- 'much-shining' and many other compounds, but almost invariably candrā- as an independent word⁴.

d. A final s in the first member or an initial s in the second is cerebralized; e.g. duṣ-śára- 'invincible', niṣ-śákvart- (AV.) 'running away', duṣ-śvápnya- 'evil dream'.

e. An original n in the second member is cerebralized after a r r ṣ with the necessary phonetic restrictions (47) a. In derivatives from verbs compounded with prepositions containing r, initial, medial, or final n of the root is almost invariably cerebralized in the Samhitās; thus nir-ṇij- 'bright garment', pari-hñuta- (AV.) 'denied' (√hnu-), pari-náh- 'enclosure', pary-ā-naddha- (AV.) 'tied up', pra-ni- and pra-ñet- 'leader', prá-niti- 'guidance', prānū- 'breath', prānana- and prānātha- (VS.) 'respiration' (an- 'breathe'). The cerebralization appears even in suffixes, as pra-yāna- 'advance'⁵.

β. In other compounds n greatly predominates when the second member is a verbal noun; e.g. grāma-ni- 'chief of a village', dur-gāni 'dangers'; ny-pāna- 'giving drink to men', piti-yāna- 'trodden by the fathers', pūr-yāna- (AV.) 'leading to the fort', rakṣo-hān- 'demon-slaying', vitra-hān- 'Vitra-slaying'. The cerebralization fluctuates in yāvan: thus prātar-yāvan- 'going out early', viśa-pra-yāvan- 'going with stallions', but puro-yāvan- 'going in front', subhira-yāvan- 'going in a radiant chariot'; also in purīṣa-vāhana- (VS.) and purīṣa-vāhana- (TS. K.) 'removing rubbish'. Cerebralization never takes place in -ghn-, the weak form of -han- 'killing'; nor in akṣā-nāh- 'tied to the axle', *kravya-vāhana-*⁶ 'conveying corpses', carma-mnā- 'tanner', yusmā-nūta- 'led by you'.

γ. The cerebralization takes place somewhat less regularly when the second member is an ordinary (non-verbal) noun; e.g. urū-nasā- 'broad-nosed', tri-navā- (VS.) 'consisting of three times nine parts', tri-nāman- (AV.)⁷ 'having three names', dru-ghañ- 'mallet', ni-mānas- 'friendly to men', puri-nāman- 'many-named', pūrvāhñā- 'forenoon', prā-napāt- 'great-grandson'. There is song'. The long vowel in án-āṣir-dā- 'not fulfilling expectation', āṣir-dā- and āṣir-dāyū- 'fulfilment of a benediction' is due to analogy, as ā-śis- is derived from the root śās-.

³ Also in external Sandhi ādha kṣārantūr (VII. 34²), cp. above 78, 2 d.

⁴ Divergence from external Sandhi is sometimes not archaic but due to innovation; as go- 'cow' instead of gav- before vowels, e.g. gá-agra- 'headed by cows'; cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 129 e. Another kind of innovation in compounds is due to haplogy; cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 241 a β; 21, p. 128 bottom.

⁶ Like kravya-vāhana- 'conveying oblations'.

⁷ The later Samhitās always have n after tri-, while the RV. always has n; as tri- fluctuation when dus- 'ill' assumes the later Sandhi form of dur-, as dur-nāman- 'having a bad name', dur-haṇu- 'having ugly jaws', but dur-niyantu- 'hard to restrain'; also in vārdhrā-nasā- (TS.) 'rhinoceros' and vārdhri-nasā- (VS.) 'having streaks on the nose'; śrī-maṇas- (TS.) and śrī-manas- (VS.) 'well-disposed'.

But n often remains in this type of compound: initially in kṛpā-nīla- 'whose home is splendour', candrā-nirṇij- 'having a brilliant garment', varṣā-nirṇij- 'clothed with rain', treṣā-nṛmṇa- 'of brilliant power', dirghā-nītha-, N. of a man, pūnar-nava- 'again renewed', babhrī-nikāśa- (VS.) 'looking brownish', vṛṣa-nābhi- 'having a mighty navel'; medially in *īśi-manas-*² 'inspired', indragñi 'Indra and Agni', ksātra-vāni- (AV.) 'addicted to military rule', brāhma-vani- (VS.) 'well disposed to the priesthood', cātura-anika- 'four-faced', try-anikā- 'three-faced', *jyōtir-anika-*³ 'having a shining face', citrā-bhānu- 'having bright lustre', dhruvā-yoni- (VS.) 'having a fixed abode', pra-mānas- (AV.) 'careful', *hri-manyu-siyaka-*⁴ (RV. x) 'stimulating the mettle of the bays'.

f. The final vowel of the first member is often lengthened. This frequently occurs before v-; e. g. annā-vṛdh- 'prospering by food', prati-vartā- (AV.) 'returning into itself', *prā-vṛṣ-*⁵ 'rainy season'. It is often due to the rhythmical tendency (which also prevails in the sentence) to lengthen a vowel before a single consonant between two short syllables; e. g. ahā-śiva-, N. of a demon (from ahi-), urū-nasā- 'broad-nosed', pti-sāh- (VS.) 'maintaining the sacred law', pavā-nasā- (AV.) 'having a nose like a spearhead', *naghā-riṣṭ-*⁶ (AV.) N. of a plant, rathā-sāh- 'able to draw the car'. Lengthening of a vowel between other than two short syllables is less common, being probably due to imitation of compounds in which the long vowel is produced by the normal rhythm; e. g. dhanvā-sāh- 'skilled in archery' and vibhva-sāh- 'overcoming the rich' like rathā-sāh-; sahasrā-magha- 'having a thousand gifts' like satā-magha- 'having a hundred gifts'. The interchange of short and long is entirely regulated by the rhythmic principle in sanā- 'of old' and almost entirely in tuvi- 'much'; e. g. sanā-jīr- 'long since aged' and sāna-śruta- 'famous of old', tuvi-magha- 'very rich' and tuvi-bādhā- 'killing many'. The final vowel of prepositions is particularly often lengthened in the later Samhitās without reference to rhythm, especially before nouns ending in -a with long radical vowel, e. g. nṛ-vā- (AV.) 'liturgical invitation', abhi-moda-mā- (AV.) 'excessively joyful', nṛ-nāhā- (AV.) 'girth', prati-bodhā- (AV.) 'vigilance', v-barhā- (AV.) 'scattering'. Sometimes the final vowel is left unlengthened between two short syllables; e. g. rayi-pāti- 'lord of wealth', ghṛta-duh-as (voc. pl.) 'yielding ghee'.

g. On the other hand, final ā and ī of the first member are often shortened before a group of consonants or a long syllable; e. g. amīva-cātana- (AV.) 'driving away disease' and amīva-hān- 'destroying disease' (āmīva-); ūrṇa-mradas- 'soft as wool' (ūrṇa-) and ūrṇa-vābhi-* 'spinning wool', 'spider', in the patronymic aurṇavābhā-; kaksya-prā- 'filling out the girth' (kaksyā-); nāhā- 'third heaven', tri-nābhi- 'having three naves'.

¹ The AV. here always has the cerebral, as dur-nihita- 'badly kept'.

² But nṛ-māyas- 'friendly to men' and vṛṣa-maṇas- 'manly-spirited'.

³ But purvā-nika- 'having many faces'.

⁴ But vṛṣa-manyu- (RV. i) 'vigorous-minded'.

⁵ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 1, 42.

⁶ Beside nagha-mārā- (AV.) N. of a plant.

⁷ Cp. also prā-sāh- and pra-sāh- 'victorious'. The long vowel in the former is probably historic, = IE. prō.

⁸ The vowel is originally long, in aṣṭā- 'eight', probably also in acchā- 'to' and viśvā- 'all', and may be differently explained in ā-deva- 'hostile to the gods', ā-nipita- (IV. 57) meaning, and ā-sat-; see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 131, note.

senā-jit- (VS.) 'vanquishing armies' (śnā-); gāuri-vīti- N. of a seer (from gauri-), prthivi-śhā- 'standing on the earth'; even before a short syllable in prthivi-śād- (AV.) and prthivi-śād- (VS.) 'sitting on the earth' (prthivī-), sārasvati-kṛta- (VS.) 'made by Sarasvatī'¹.

82. Extension of external to internal Sandhi. — The rules of sentence Sandhi as applied between members of a compound are often found to affect the internal form of words.

a. Nominal (chiefly secondary) suffixes with initial consonants are frequently treated like the second member of a compound; e. g. beside duvaṣ-yū- 'worshipping', appears *duvo-yū-*². This influence extends even to radical finals before primary suffixes; e. g. ān-na- 'food' for ād-na-; ṣaṇ-nām for ṣaṇ-nām, from śās- 'six'; nāmo-bhis, from nāmas- 'obedience', with o for ad (as in uśād-bhis from uśās- 'dawn')³; *haviḥ-ṣu*⁴ for haviṣ-ṣu, from havis- 'oblation'; jigī-vāms- for jigī-vāms- 'having conquered', with radical final lengthened as in sentence Sandhi.

b. In the verb the influence of sentence Sandhi is seen in reduplicated forms. Thus parallel with the lengthening of final syllables in the sentence, the final radical vowel is made long before the ending -hi in didīhi beside the more usual ḍidīhi, from di- 'shine'. The rhythmical lengthening in the reduplicated aorist is probably due to a similar influence.

III. ACCENT.

ROTH, Nirukta LVII—LXXII: Ueber die Elemente des indischen Accenten nach den Prātiśākhya Sūtren. — BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik p. 9—13. — WHITNEY, 'On the nature and designation of the accent in Sanskrit', Transactions of the American Philological Association, 1869—70; Oriental and Linguistic Studies 2, 318 ff.; Sanskrit Grammar³, p. 28—33; see also General Index, s. v. 'Accent'. — HAUG, Ueber das Wesen und den Werth des vedischen Accents, München 1873 (cp. WEBER, Indische Streifen 3, 335 ff.; WHITNEY, JAOS. 10, IX ff., CII f.). — WACKERNAGEL, Altindische Grammatik I, 243 ff. — Cp. also HIRT, Der indogermanische Akzent, Strassburg 1895, and Akzentstudien in IF. VI—IX; BRUGMANN, Kurze vergleichende Grammatik I (Strassburg 1902), p. 52—66.

Besides the Prātiśākhya several other native authorities refer to the accent. Pāṇini and his commentators give an account of it; all the Sūtras of Pāṇini relating to accentuation are collected in a chapter of the Siddhānta-kaumudī called vaidika-svara-prakriyā 'section on the Vedic accent'. The accent is further dealt with in the Bhāṣikasūtra, in the Pratiśākhya, in the Śikṣāś, and as regards the position of the accent in individual words, in the Uṇādisūtras and especially in the Pīṭhīsūtras.

83. General character of the Vedic accent. — In Vedic literature sacred texts only, primarily all the Saṃhitās⁵ have been handed down in an accented form. Of all other sacred texts, only those to which a special importance was attached, have preserved the accent. These are the Taittirīya Brāhmaṇa (together with its Āraṇyaka) and the Śatapatha Brāhmaṇa (including the Bṛhadāraṇyaka Upaniṣad). There is, however, evidence to show that the Pāṇcaviṃśa Brāhmaṇa⁶ and other Brāhmaṇas were at one time accented⁷.

² Hence the Padapāṭha treats a nominal stem which takes a suffix with initial consonant like the first member of a compound, separating it from the suffix by Avagraha; e. g. duvaṣ-yūh for duvo-yūh; adriṣvaḥ for adriṣvaḥ, voc., 'armed with a bolt'; ūtīśbhiḥ for ūtīśbhiḥ 'with aids'.

⁶ WEBER, Indische Studien 10, 421; cp. MAX MÜLLER, ASL. 348; BURNELL, Sāmavedhāna Brāhmaṇa p. VI. The Mantra parts of the Aitareya-Āraṇyaka are accented (KEITH's ed. p. 10).

⁷ The Suparṇādhyaṃya, an artificially archaic

The Sūtras, though not themselves accented, occasionally accent the Mantras which they quote.

The Vedic accent, like that of ancient Greece, was of an essentially musical nature. This is indicated by the fact that the accent exercises no influence on the rhythm of versification. The phoneticians of the Prātiśākhya, in describing it, speak only of its pitch, which is also indicated by the name of the chief tone, ud-ātta 'raised', 'high'¹. But that the Vedic accent was accompanied by some stress², is shown by certain phonetic changes which cannot otherwise be explained³.

In the Vedic accent three degrees of pitch may be distinguished: the high, properly represented by the udātta, the middle by the svārīta ('sounded'), and the low by the an-udātta ('not raised'). That the Udātta originally denoted the highest pitch in the oldest form of the Vedic language, is shown by the evidence of Comparative Philology, and especially of Greek which, as far as its peculiar laws of accent will admit, has the acute on the same syllable as in the Vedic language has the Udātta (e. g. Διὸς : divās; ἐντὶ : saptá; ὄκτω : ashtu). This conclusion is also supported by the method of marking the Udātta in the Sāmaveda, the Maitrāyaṇī Saṃhitā, and the Kāṭhaka. In the R̥gveda, however, the Udātta has a middle pitch, lower than that of the Svarīta, as is shown both by the way in which it is marked and by the account given of it in the Prātiśākhya. This must be an innovation, though an old one.

The Svarīta is a falling accent of a dependent nature, marking the transition from an accented to a toneless syllable. It regularly follows an Udātta, to the rise of which its fall corresponds in pitch. It assumes an independent appearance when the preceding Udātta is lost in consequence of the vowel that bears the Udātta being changed to a semivowel in Sandhi. It is described in Pāṇini 1. 2³⁴ as a combination of Udātta and Anudātta, which means that it falls from the high pitch of the acute to the low pitch of unaccented syllables. According to the RV. Prātiśākhya and the TS. Prātiśākhya, however, the first part of the Svarīta sounds higher than the Udātta. This means that, instead of falling immediately from the high pitch of the preceding Udātta, it first rises somewhat before falling to low pitch⁵. It would thus have something of the nature of a circumflex in the RV.; only the rise in pitch above the highest level of the Udātta is but slight (corresponding to the initial rise of the Udātta from Anudātta to Anudātta level), while the fall corresponds to the total rise of the *Udātta*⁶. The low tone of the syllables preceding an accented syllable (with Udātta or Svarīta) is called an-udātta 'not raised' in the Prātiśākhya⁷. When it follows a Svarīta it is called the *pracaya*⁸ (svara), or 'accumulated pitch' (as several such unaccented syllables often occur in succession) which continues at the low level reached by the preceding Svarīta till the syllable immediately preceding the next accent¹. The latter syllable, called sanna-tara 'lower' or *anudatta-tara*² 'more lowered', sinks somewhat below this monotone.

² The Vedic accent, like the Greek, was, after the beginning of our era, changed to a stress accent which, however, unlike the modern Greek stress accent, did not remain on the original syllable, but is regulated by the quantity of the last two or three syllables, much as in Latin; cp. HAUG 99, end.

84. Methods of marking the accent.—The accent is marked in the Vedic texts in four different ways.

i. The system of the R̥gveda is followed also by the Atharvaveda³, the Taittirīya Saṃhitā (along with its Brāhmaṇa) and, with only slight deviations in the treatment of the Svarita, by the Vājasaneyi Saṃhitā. This system is peculiar in not marking the principal accent at all. The explanation is doubtless to be found in the fact that the pitch of the Udātta is in the RV. intermediate between that of the other two tones. Hence the preceding Anudātta, as having low pitch, is marked by a horizontal stroke below the syllable, while the following Svarita, as rising to a higher pitch, is marked by a vertical stroke above the syllable⁴; e.g. अग्निना agninā = agninā. The presence of successive Udāttas at the beginning of a hemistich is recognizable by the absence of all marks till the Svarita which follows the last of them, or the Anudātta which follows the last of them and precedes the next accented syllable; thus तावा यातम् tāv ā yātam = tāv ā yātam; तवत तत सत्यम् = tāvat tāt satyam. On the other hand, all the unaccented syllables at the beginning of a hemistich are marked; e.g. वैश्वानरम् = vaiśvānarām = vaiśvānarām. But all the syllables following a Svarita remain unmarked till the one immediately preceding the next Udātta or Svarita; e.g. इमं मे गङ्गे यमुने सरस्वति स्तुति imam me gaṅge yamune sarasvatī śtutir = *imam me gaṅge yamune sarasvatī śtutir*⁵.

a. The hemistich being treated as the unit with regard to accentuation⁶, the marking of the Anudātta and of the Svarita is not limited to the word containing the Udātta which those accents precede and follow respectively⁷. Hence the final syllable of one word may be marked with an Anudātta as preceding an Udātta of the next initial syllable; or the initial syllable of one word may be marked with the Svarita following the Udātta at the end of the preceding word; e.g. पूर्वभिर्ऋषिभिर् pūrvēbhīr ṛṣibhīr = pūrvēbhīr ṛṣibhīr; यज्ञमध्वरम् yajñam adhvaram = yajñam adhvaram. But if an initial syllable after a final Udātta precedes an accented syllable, it loses the enclitic Svarita and must be marked as Anudātta; e.g. देवमत्विजम् devam ṛtvijam = devam ṛtvijam.

b. If an independent Svarita⁸ precedes an Udātta, it is marked with the numeral १ (1) when its vowel is short, and with ३ (3) when it is long, the figures receiving both the sign of the Svarita and that of the Anudātta⁹ which precedes an Udātta; e.g. अप्स्व १ न्तर = apsv āntār; रायो ३ वनिः = rāyō 'vāniḥ. The phenomenon is described by the phoneticians with the words kampa

³ The Mss. of the AV., however, show considerable variations; see WHITNEY's Translation p. CXXI ff.

⁶ From the point of view of the sentence accent the Pāda is the unit; thus a verb or vocative is always accented at its beginning.

⁷ In the Padapāṭha, on the other hand, each word receives its natural accent only, so that where the one text has a Svarita, the other may have an Anudātta; e.g. in I. 13 the Saṃhitā has rayim āśnavat, the Pāda rayim āśnavat (the latter word being unaccented has the Anudātta marked under each syllable).

⁸ Examples of independent Svarita are svār for stār; kṛā for kūā; vīryam for vīrīam. 'Independent' Svarita in the above rule is intended to include that which results from change to a semivowel (ksaipra), from contraction (prāṣṭiga) and from elision of a (abhinihita).

⁹ The long vowel before the ३ receives the Anudātta stroke as well.

'quaver', vikampita, and the verb pra-kamp-. In the TS. it appears only when the second syllable as well as the first has the Svarita, and the figure 2, as well as 1 and 3, is here used.

2. In the system of the *Maitrāyaṇī Saṃhitā*¹ and of the *Kāthaka*², the Udātta is marked by a vertical stroke above (which seems to indicate that this accent was here pronounced with the highest pitch); e. g. अग्निना = agninā. The two Saṃhitās, however, diverge in their method of indicating the Svarita. The MS. marks the independent Svarita by a curve below the accented syllable, e. g. वीर्यम् vīryam; but the dependent Svarita by a horizontal stroke in the middle or three vertical strokes above the accented syllable. The Kāthaka, on the other hand, marks the independent Svarita by a curve below (if an unaccented syllable follows), e. g. वीर्यं बध्नाति vīryam badhnāti; or by a hook below (if an accented syllable follows) e. g. वीर्यं व्याचष्टे vīryam vyācāṣṭe; but the dependent Svarita by a dot below the accented syllable³. Both these Saṃhitās mark the Anudāttatara in the ordinary way by a stroke below the syllable. In L. v. SCHROEDER's editions, however, the Udātta and the independent Svarita only are marked. When the text of any of the Saṃhitās is transliterated in Roman characters, it is the regular practice to omit any indication of the dependent Svarita and of the Anudātta as unnecessary.

3. In the system of the Sāmaveda, the figures 1 2 3 are written above the accented syllables to represent three degrees of pitch. Here 1 always stands for the highest pitch (Udātta), and 3 always for the lowest (Anudātta), and 2 generally for the middle pitch (Svarita); e. g. ³ ¹ ² barhiṣi = RV. barhiṣi (barhiṣi). But 2 also represents the Udātta when the latter is not followed by a Svarita (that is when the Udātta syllable is final in the hemistich or when an Anudāttatara preceding another accented syllable follows); e. g. ³ ² girā = RV. girā (girā); ³ ² ³ ² ³ ¹ ² yajñānām hotā viśveṣām = RV. yajñānām hotā viśveṣām (yajñānām hōtā viśveṣām). If there are two successive Udāttas, the second is not marked, but 2r is written over the following Svarita; e. g. ³ ¹ ^{2r} dviṣo martyasya = RV. dviṣo martyasya (dviṣo mārtyasya). If in such case there is no room for 2r, the first Udātta has 2u written over it instead; e. g. ³ ^{2u} ³ ¹ ² eṣa sya pītaye = RV. eṣa sya pītaye (eṣi syā pītaye). The independent Svarita (as well as the dependent one which follows two successive Udāttas) is marked with 2r; and the Anudātta which precedes it, with 3k; e. g. ^{3k} ^{2r} tanvā. Syllables which follow a Svarita and in which the pitch remains unchanged, are left unmarked; e. g. ³ ¹ ² dūtām vṛṇīmahe hotāram = RV. *dūtām vṛṇīmahe hōtāram*⁴.

4. Though the Brāhmaṇas do not come within the scope of this work, the system of accentuation in the Satapatha Brāhmaṇa cannot be passed over here, as it must be treated in connexion with the other systems of the Vedic period. It is historically important as forming a transition to the post-Vedic period, when the accent assumed a different character⁵. The system of the SB. in various respects differs considerably from the three described above.

⁵ Cp. LEUMANN, KZ. 31, 50 (mid.).

a. Its chief peculiarity is that it marks only the main accent, the Udātta. This is done by means of a horizontal stroke below the accented syllable; e. g. पुरुषः puruṣaḥ. If there are two or more successive Udāttas, only the last is marked; e. g. agnir hi vai dhūr atha = agnir hi vai dhūr ātha. When, however, an Udātta is thrown back as the result of Sandhi, an immediately preceding Udātta is also marked; e. g. so 'gnim evābhīkṣamānaḥ = só 'gnīm evābhīkṣamānaḥ, where evābhī- stands for evābhi- = evā abhi-. Two successive syllables are also sometimes marked when a compound receives a secondary Udātta; e. g. sprhayad-varnaḥ, for sprhayíd-varnaḥ.

b. An independent Svarita is thrown back on the preceding syllable in the form of an Udātta; e. g. manuṣyeṣu, that is, manuṣyeṣu for manuṣyeṣu. The Svarita resulting from change to a semivowel (ḥṣaipra), from contraction (praśliṣṭa), or elision of a (abhinihita), is similarly treated; e. g. kathān nṛ imam, that is, kathān nṛ imām for kathān nṛ imām; evaitad, that is, evaitād from evā dād; tē 'rcantaḥ, that is, tē 'rcantaḥ for tē 'rcantaḥ.

When, however, the prepositions ā and prā, and final ā in the first member of a compound, combine with an unaccented vowel, the contracted syllable retains the Udātta; e. g. īhi (= ā ihi); prāha (= prā āha); citrā-ūti- (= citrā-ūti-) 'bestowing wondrous gifts'.

c. Before a pause an accented syllable may lose its Udātta or receive a reduced accent marked with three dots, if the initial syllable after the pause has an Udātta or independent Svarita; e. g. sa bhāgāḥ | samsthite, for sā bhāgāḥ | samsthite. The penultimate syllable may also be thus reduced; e. g. juhōti || ātha, for juhōti || ātha. This may occur even when the following initial syllable is unaccented; e. g. nāpsu || āpa, for nāpsu || āpa.

d. Reduplicated forms or long compounds accented on the first syllable or prior member, sometimes receive a secondary accent near the end of the word; e. g. bālbālīti, that is bālbālīti for bālbālīti; eka-catvāriṃśat, that is, eka-catvāriṃśat for eka-catvāriṃśat. Sometimes, in such case, the primary accent itself is lost; e. g. eka-saptatīḥ beside eka-saptatīḥ. Somewhat analogous to this double accentuation of compounds is the frequent accentuation of both verbal prefix and verb at the same time; e. g. abhi gopayéd (cp. 109). Finally, the accent occasionally appears on a syllable different from that on which it usually rests. The irregularities mentioned here (d) are much commoner in Books x–xiii than in the earlier Books; they are commonest of all in xiv¹.

85. Normal accentuation of words.—As a general rule, every Vedic word is both accented and has one main accent only. The Udātta is the only main accent in the original text of the R̥gveda. It is generally found on the syllable which, according to the evidence of Comparative Philology², bore it in the Indo-European period³. Sometimes, however, the Udātta is secondary, being a substitute for the independent Svarita (itself the result of an original Udātta). Thus there is already a tendency in the RV. to change a final Svarita into a final Udātta: the vocative dyāus (= dīaus) 'O Heaven', appears as dyāus (VIII. 89¹²); aryā- (= aria-) 'kind', occurring only once (I. 123¹), otherwise and very frequently appears as aryā-; thus, too, śvān- 'dog', was probably at one time śvān- for śhān- (Gk. κύων), which would explain the

² Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 45, 1.

³ Under the influence of analogy the Vedic Udātta shifted, in a few instances, to other syllables in the Brāhmaṇas and in Pāṇini's system; thus saptā, ŚB. and C. sāpta, aṣṭau, C. aṣṭau; AV. VS. ŚB. tīla- 'sesamum', C. tīla-; sīdātī 'sit', C. also sīdātī; AV. gāhvara- 'deep', C. gahvarā-.

abnormal accentuation śīnas etc. instead of the regular accentuation śundās* etc. prevailing in monosyllabic stems (93). Or the final Svarita is thrown back as an Udātta on the preceding syllable: thus mītrya- 'friendly', beside *mītryā*¹.

In some Vedic words, however, the only accent which is written is the 'independent' Svarita, by the native phoneticians called the 'genuine' (jātya)² or also the 'invariable' (nītya). Always following a y or v, it is, however, just as much due to a preceding Udātta (lost by the change of i and ū to y and v), as the dependent Svarita is; e. g. kvā (= klā) 'where?'; svār (= śār, TS. sīvar) 'light'; rathyām (= rathīām, from rathī- 'charioteer'); tanvām (= tanūām from tanū- 'body'); ok-yā- (= ok-lā-) 'belonging to home'; vasav-yā- (= vasav-lā-) 'wealthy'. In reading the RV. the original vowel with its Udātta must be restored except in a very few late passages³.

a. Double accent. Contrary to the general rule that a word has a single accent only, a certain class of infinitives and a special type of compounds have a double accent⁴. The infinitives in -tavai, of which more than a dozen examples occur, accent both the first and the last syllable; e. g. ē-tavāi 'to go', āpa-bhartavāi 'to take away'. The Udātta on the final syllable is probably to be explained as a secondary accent like that of the ŚB. in intensives and compounds (bālbāliti, eka-catvāriṃśāt, cp. 84, 4 d), where an accent at the beginning of a word is counterbalanced by another at the end.

A good many compounds of a syntactical type, in which both members are duals in form or in which the first member is nearly always a genitive in form, accent both members; e. g. mītrā-varuṇā 'Mitra and Varuṇa', bṛhas-pāti- 'Lord of prayer'⁵.

b. Lack of accent. Contrary to the general rule that every word is accented, some words never have an accent, while others lose their accent under special conditions.

1. The following are invariably enclitic:

a. pronouns: tva- 'another'; sama- 'some'; ena- 'he', 'she'⁶; me, D. G., 'of or to me'; mā, A., 'me'; nau, du. A. D. G., 'us two', etc.; nas, A. D. G., 'us', etc.; te, D. G., 'of or to thee'; tvā, A., 'thee'; vām, A. D. G., 'ye two', etc.; vas, A. D. G., 'you', etc.; īm, sīm 'him', 'her', 'it', 'them', etc.; kis 'some one' in nā-kis, mā-kis 'no one'; kīm in ā-kīm 'from', nā-kīm, mā-kīm 'never'.

β. particles: ca 'and'; u 'on the other hand'; vā 'or'; iva 'like', 'as it were'; kaṃ 'indeed' (after nū, sū, hī); gha, ha 'just' (emphasizing); cid 'at all'; bhala 'indeed'; sama-ha 'somehow'; sma 'just', 'indeed' (almost invariably with the present tense); svīd 'probably'.

2. The following classes of forms or individual words are subject to loss of accent according to their position or function in the sentence:

a. vocatives, unless beginning the sentence or Pāda.

β. finite verbs, in principal clauses, unless beginning the sentence or Pāda.

γ. all oblique cases formed from the demonstrative pronoun a-, when used merely to replace a preceding substantive, and not occurring at the beginning of a sentence or Pāda; e. g. asya jānīmāni 'his (i. e. Agni's) births' (but asyā uṣāsaḥ 'of that Dawn').

¹ Cp. the accentuation of the ŚB., 84, 4 b. In Pāṇini's system of accentuation this tendency went still further; thus V. vīryā- (= vīriā-), becomes in C. vīrya-; and the gerundive in -tavyā (= -taviā) appears in C. as -tavya also.

Indo-aryische Philologie. I. 4.

³ Cp. BENFEY, Gött. Abhandlungen 27, 31 ff.

⁴ In the Brāhmaṇas also the particle vāvā-

⁵ See below, on the accentuation of compounds, 91.

⁶ The A. sing. f. occurs once (VIII. 619) accented at the beginning of a Pāda as enām.

ḍ. yáthā 'as', when used in the sense of iva 'like', 'as it were', at the end of a Pāda; e. g. tāyávo yathā (I. 50²) 'like thieves'.

ē. ná 'not', when followed by hi 'for'¹, the two particles being treated as one word; e. g. nahí tvā ... ivatāh (I. 10⁸) 'for the two do not restrain thee'; similarly when combined with the particle nú 'now': ná-nú 'certainly not'.

1. Accentuation of Nominal Stems.

86. A. In primary derivation no general law for the accentuation of nominal suffixes can be stated; but there is a tendency, when -a, -ana, -as, -an, -man are added, to accent the root in action nouns, and the suffix in agent nouns; and in nouns formed with -as and -man difference of gender is to some extent accompanied by difference of accent.

1. Root stems when reduplicated or compounded with prepositions as a rule retain the accent on the radical syllable; e. g. juhā- 'tongue' and 'ladle', yav-yidh- 'eager to fight'; pra-nēti- 'guiding constantly'. In stems formed with intensive reduplication, however, the reduplicative syllable is sometimes accented; thus jīgū- 'singing aloud', vānivan- 'desiring', dāridra- (VS.) 'roving'. The prefix is accented in āva-sā- 'deliverance', āpa-stu-t- 'invocation', pāri-jri- 'running round'².

2. When the suffix -a is added, the root is accented in action nouns, but the suffix in agent nouns; e. g. vāda- 'knowledge', śiśāda- 'perforation'; but cod-ā- 'instigator', cacar-ā- 'moveable'³. When there is a verbal prefix, the final syllable is as a rule accented; e. g. sam-gam-ā- m. 'coming together'. In a few of these compounds, however, the root is accented, as ut-pāt-a- (AV.) 'portent', ā-srēs-a- (AV.) 'plague'; and in some others (mostly agent nouns) the prefix: ā-bhag-a- 'sharing', prāti-ves-a- 'neighbour', vy-ās-a- (AV.) 'burning', sam-kās-a- (AV.) 'appearance'.

3. The suffix -ata is always accented on the final syllable; e. g. dars-ata- 'visible', pac-ata- 'cooked', yaj-ata- 'to be adored'.

4. Of the participial suffixes -at and -ant the former is never accented when the sense is verbal; e. g. dād-at- 'giving', dās-at- 'worshipping'. A few old participles, however, which have become substantives, have shifted the accent to the suffix: vah-āt- 'stream', vegh-āt- (AV. VS.) 'barren cow', vāgh-āt- 'sacrificer', sraṇ-āt- 'stream', sāśc-āt- 'pursuer'. The suffix -ant is accented in the present participle of the second (450) and sixth (429) classes and of the denominative (562), e. g. ad-ant-, tud-ant-, aghāy-ant-; in the future (537), e. g. dāsy-ant- (AV.); in the root aorist, e. g. bhid-ant- and sometimes in the a-aorist, e. g. vṛdh-ant-; also in the old present participles which have become adjectives, rh-ant- 'weak', brh-ant- 'great', and (with lengthened vowel) mah-ant- 'great'.

5. The suffix -an is generally accented; e. g. ukṣ-an- m. 'bull', ud-an- n. 'water'. The radical syllable is, however, not infrequently accented; e. g. rāj-an- m. 'king', ūdh-an- n. 'udder'.

6. Stems formed with -ana predominantly accent the root; e. g. kār-ana- n. 'act', cōd-ana- (AV.) 'impelling'. The final syllable is, however, accented fairly often; e. g. kar-anā- 'active', kros-anā- 'yelling', kṣay-anā- (VS.) 'habitable', tvār-anā- (AV.) 'hastening', roc-anā- 'shining' (AV.), n. 'light', svap-anā- (VS.) 'sleepy'. The penultimate is also accented in several words: the substantives kir-āna- m. 'dust', kṛp-āna- n. 'misery' (but kṛp-ānā- 'miserable' AV.), damś-āna- n. 'great deed', vṛj-āna- n. 'enclosure', veś-āna- n. 'service'; and the adjectives tur-āna- 'hastening', doh-āna- 'milking', bhand-āna- (VS. TS.) 'rejoicing', man-āna- 'considerate', mand-āna- 'joyful', sakṣ-āna- 'overcoming'. When the stem is compounded with a verbal prefix, the root is nearly always accented; e. g. saṃ-gāmana- 'gathering together'; but the final syllable is accented in vi-caṣṣaṇā- 'conspicuous', upari-śayanā- (AV.) 'couch'.

7. The suffix -anā, whether forming the feminine of adjectives in -ana or f. action nouns, is always accented either on the penultimate or the final syllable; e. g. tur-ānā- 'speeding', spand-anā- (AV.) 'kicking'; arh-dnā- 'merit', jar-anā- 'old age'. The word pṛt-anā- 'fight' is irregularly accented on the radical syllable.

8. The suffix -ani is always accented, either on the final or the penultimate syllable; e. g. dyot-anī- 'brilliance'; aś-āni- 'missile'.

9. The suffix -anī being the feminine form of action and agent nouns in -ana, is similarly accented; e. g. pṛś-anī- (AV.) 'beautiful' (pṛś-ana-). The accent is, however, sometimes shifted to the final syllable; e. g. tap-anī- 'heat' (tāp-ana-).

10. Stems formed with the suffix -as accent the root if they are action nouns, but the suffix if they are agent nouns; e. g. āp-as- n. 'work', but ap-ās- 'active'. There are also some masc. substantives with the accent on the suffix; e. g. rakṣ-ās- m. beside rākṣ-as- n. 'demon'.

11. The suffix -ā, forming action nouns from roots and secondary conjugation stems, is invariably¹ accented; e. g. nind-ā- (AV.) 'blame'; jigṛṣ-ā- 'desire to win'; gamay-ā- (AV.¹) 'causing to go'; aśvay-ā- 'desire for horses'.

12. The suffix -āna, forming middle participles, is normally accented on the final syllable; e. g. ad-ānā- 'eating'. Reduplicated stems, however, regularly accent the first syllable; e. g. ddd-āna- 'giving', jōhuv-āna- 'invoking'. A few others accent the root; e. g. cit-āna- (AV.¹) 'shining', dyūt-āna- (RV.¹) 'beaming' (beside the usual dyūt-ānā-)². There are also a few adjectives and substantives ending in -āna in which the primary character of the suffix or the derivation of the word is doubtful. These also accent the first syllable; e. g. vāsav-āna- 'possessing wealth', pārs-āna- m. 'abyss'.

13. No general rule can be stated regarding the suffix -i, either the suffix or the root being accented with about equal frequency; e. g. āj-i- 'race', grāh-i- 'seizure'. Action nouns used as infinitives, however, regularly accent the suffix; e. g. ārś-dye 'to see'. Reduplicated derivatives tend to accent the initial syllable; e. g. cākr-i- 'active'; while stems compounded with a preposition usually accent the final syllable; e. g. parā-dad-i- 'delivering over'.

14. Stems formed with the superlative suffix -iṣṭha regularly accent the root; e. g. yāj-iṣṭha- 'sacrificing best'. The only exceptions are jyēṣṭhā- when meaning 'eldest' (but jyēṣṭha- 'greatest') and kan-iṣṭhā- 'youngest' (but kān-iṣṭha- 'smallest', TS. B). When the stem is compounded with a preposition the latter is accented; e. g. āgam-iṣṭha- 'coming best'.

15. The suffix -is is nearly always accented; e. g. arc-is- 'flame'. The exceptions are ām-is- 'raw flesh', jyōt-is- 'light', and vydth-is- 'course'(?).

16. The few action and agent nouns formed with the suffix -ī, are accented either on the root or the suffix; e. g. deh-ī- 'rampart', śac-ī- 'power'.

¹ If jānghā- 'leg' is formed with this suffix, it is the only exception.

³ See below, Nominal stem formation, under -āna- (130).

17. Stems formed with the comparative suffix -īyāms invariably accent the root; e. g. jīv-īyāms- 'swifter'. When the stem is compounded with a preposition the latter is accented; e. g. prīti-cyav-īyāms- 'pressing closer against'.

18. The suffix -u is usually accented; e. g. ur-ū- 'wide', pād-ū- m. 'foot'. The radical syllable is, however, not infrequently accented; e. g. tūk-u- 'speeding', ās-u- m. 'life'. The suffix is regularly accented in adjectives formed from desiderative, causative, and denominative stems; e. g. dīps-ū- 'wishing to harm', bhāvay-ū- 'cherishing', aghāy-ū- 'malignant'.

19. Substantives formed with the suffix -us regularly accent the root (excepting jan-ūs- 'birth'); e. g. dhān-us- 'bow'. But a few adjectives which are never used as substantives accent the suffix; e. g. jay-ūs- 'victorious', but tāp-us- both 'hot' and 'heat'.

20. The suffix -ū forming independent feminine substantives is regularly accented; as cam-ū- 'dish', vadh-ū- 'bride'.

21. When the suffix -ta forms past passive participles it is invariably accented; e. g. jā-tā- 'born', raḅs-i-tā- 'protected'. But a few ordinary nouns formed with this suffix accent the radical syllable: ś-ta- 'variegated'; m.: gīt-ta- 'car-seat', mār-ta- 'mortal', vāt-ta- 'wind', hās-ta- 'hand'; n.: ās-ta- 'home', nāk-ta- 'night'.

22. Stems formed with the suffix -tar generally accent the root when the meaning is participial, but the suffix when it is purely nominal; e. g. dāt-tar- 'giving' (with acc.), but dāt-tār- 'giver'.

23. Stems formed with the suffix -ti accent the root more frequently than the suffix; e. g. īś-ti- 'offering', ḅṣi-ti- (AV.) 'destruction', dhū-ti- m. 'shaker', but īś-tī- 'desire', ḅṣi-tī- 'abode', jñāt-tī- m. 'relative', rāt-tī- 'gift'. Reduplicated derivatives seem to have accented either the first syllable or the suffix; e. g. dīdhi-ti- 'devotion' and carky-ti- 'fame'. When these stems are compounded with prepositions, the latter are nearly always accented; e. g. ā-hu-ti- 'offering'; the only exceptions are ā-sak-ti- 'pursuit', ā-su-ti- 'brew' and 'enlivening', and abhi-ś-ti- m. 'helper' beside abhi-ś-tī- f. 'help'.

24. Derivatives formed with the suffix -tu, with some half dozen exceptions, accent the root (invariably when they are used as infinitives); e. g. tān-tu- 'thread', but ak-tū- 'ray'.

25. The suffix -tnu is always accented; e. g. ha-tnū- 'deadly', jigha-tnū- 'harming'.

26. Derivatives formed with the suffix -tra generally accent the root; e. g. mān-tra- 'prayer', but ḅṣa-trā- 'dominion'.

27. Gerundives formed with the suffix -tva regularly accent the root; e. g. kār-tva- 'to be made', vāk-tva- 'to be said', bhāv-i-tva- 'future'.

28. Derivatives formed with the suffix -tha generally accent the latter; e. g. uk-thā- n. 'saying'. Sometimes, however, the root is accented; e. g. ār-tha- 'goal'. When the suffix is added with the connecting vowel -a-, the latter is generally accented; e. g. uc-ā-tha- n. 'praise'.

29. The suffix -na when forming past passive participles is invariably accented; e. g. bhin-nā- 'split'. When forming ordinary nouns, whether adjectives or masc. substantives, it is usually accented; e. g. r-nā- 'guilty', ghr-nā- m. 'heat'; but a few masculines accent the root, as kār-na- 'ear', vār-na- 'colour', svāp-na- 'sleep'. Neuters (except śu-nā- 'welfare') and feminines (-nā) accent the root; e. g. *ān-na-*¹ 'food', tī-na- 'grass', tīś-nā- 'thirst'.

30. Derivatives formed with -ni accent either the root or the suffix; e. g. yó-ni- m. 'receptacle', but ag-ní- m. 'fire'.

31. The suffix -nu is almost invariably accented; e. g. vag-nú- 'sound'. An exception is vis-nu-¹, N. of god.

32. Derivatives formed with the suffix -ma accent the suffix more than twice as often as the root; e. g. tig-má- 'sharp', ghar-má- 'heat', dhu-má- 'smoke', but ú-ma- 'friend', só-ma- 'Soma'.

33. Derivatives formed with -man regularly accent the root in neuter substantives; e. g. kár-man- 'action', ján-man- 'birth', nā-man- 'name'. There are, however, several masculine agent nouns which accent the suffix; e. g. dar-mán- 'breaker'. In several instances the accent varies in the same word according to the gender and meaning; e. g. bráh-man- n. 'prayer', brah-mán- m. 'one who prays'; sád-man- n. 'seat', sád-mán- m. 'sitter'. These stems when compounded with prepositions nearly always accent the latter; e. g. prá-bharman- n. 'presentation'.

34. The participial suffix -māna is never accented except in the anomalous perfect participle sasr-māná- (RV¹) = sasr-āná- 'speeding'. The accent of these derivatives is regularly on the same syllable as in the tense-stem to which the suffix is added; e. g. yája-māna- 'sacrificing', icchá-māna- 'desiring', idhyá-māna- 'being kindled', yaksyá-māna- 'about to sacrifice'.

35. Gerundives formed with the suffix -ya invariably accent the root; e. g. hív-ya- 'to be invoked'.

36. The suffix -ra is usually accented; e. g. ak-rá- m. 'banner', rud-rí-, m. N. of a god, abh-rá- n. 'cloud'. The root is, however, accented in a good many words; e. g. gá-dh-ra- 'greedy', áj-ra- m. 'field', ind-ra-, N. of a god, íg-ra- n. 'point'.

37. Derivatives formed with the suffix -ri accent the root oftener than the suffix; e. g. bhú-ri- 'abundant', but also sū-ri- m. 'patron'.

38. Derivatives formed with the suffix -va accent the suffix rather oftener than the root; e. g. rk-vú- 'praising', but also íbh-va- 'skilful'.

39. The root is regularly accented in derivatives formed with the suffix -van; e. g. ké-t-van- 'active', pát-van- 'flying', yáj-van- 'sacrificing'. This is the case even when the stem is compounded with a preposition; e. g. vi-míḡ-van- (AV.) 'cleansing'.

40. The suffixes -vana, -vanu, -vani are always accented, the first two on the final, the last on the initial syllable; e. g. vag-vaná- 'talkative', vag-vanú- m. 'noise', bhur-váni- 'restless'.

41. Derivatives formed with the suffix -vara chiefly accent the final syllable when they are masc. nouns, but the root when they are neuter substantives; e. g. i-t-vari- 'going', is-vará- (AV.) 'able', but kúr-vara- n. 'deed', gáh-vara- (AV.) n. 'thicket'. The suffix appears with l instead of r in the adjective vid-valá- 'cunning'.

42. The suffix -vāms of the perfect participle is always accented, even in the reduced form -us appearing in the weak cases; e. g. cakr-vāms- and cakr-ús- 'having made'.

43. Derivatives formed with the suffix -vi from the simple root accent the radical syllable, but the first syllable of the reduplicated root; thus ghé-s-vi- 'lively', but jágy-vi- 'watchful'.

altindischen Sprache, Amsterdam 1898; cp. BLOOMFIELD, AJPh. 17, 427 f., 'crossing the back (of the world)'.

44. Derivatives formed with the suffix -sa sometimes accent the root, sometimes the suffix; e. g. gīt-sa 'adroit', ūt-sa m. 'fountain', but prk-śā 'dappled', ghraṃ-śā m. 'sun's heat'.

45. The suffix -snu is always accented; e. g. jī-snu- 'victorious', vr̥dh-snu- 'joyful', car-i-snu- 'wandering', ni-sat-snu- 'sitting down', tāpay-i-snu- 'tormenting', abhi-śocay-i-snu- (AV.) 'causing torments'.

B. In secondary derivation five groups of stems may be distinguished with regard to accentuation: a. those which accent the suffix, being formed with -āyand-, -āyī-, -āyā-, -in-, -iya-, -ina-, -iya-, -enī-, -būya-, -tā-, -tar-yā-, -tū-, -tū-tā-, -tand-, -mā-, -mīya-, -m'n-, -mud-, -yīn-, -rā-, -vāt-, -vālī-, -v'n-; b. those in which the suffix is not accented, being formed with -taya-, -lara-, -tī-, -tāt-, -tāti-, -tā-, -tāya-; c. those in which only the first syllable is accented, being formed with -i- and -nī-; d. those in which either the first or the last syllable is accented, being formed by means of Vr̥ddhi with the suffixes -eya-, -a- or -na- (the last two also without Vr̥ddhi); e. those in which the accent is sometimes on the suffix, and sometimes on one or other syllable of the primitive stem, being formed with the suffixes -ā-, -ānī-, -ima-, -ī-, -ka-, -tana- or -tā-, -tama-, -tha-, -bha-, -mant-, -ya-, -ra-, -la-, -van-, -vant-, -vaya-, -śa-. The following is a detailed account of the accent in derivatives formed with the above secondary suffixes in their alphabetical order.

1. Stems formed with the suffix -a and Vr̥ddhi of the first syllable from primitive stems ending in -a are predominantly accented on the final syllable. This is, however, mostly the case when the primitive is accented on any syllable other than the last; e. g. amitrā- 'hostile' from amitra- 'foe', nārāśaṃsā- 'belonging to Nārā-śaṃsa', śaucadrathā-, patronymic from śuciā-ratha- 'having a shining car', pāvamānā- 'relating to the clear-flowing (pāvamāna-) Soma'. In several instances, however, the primitive stem is also oxytone, e. g. kaśīkā- 'belonging to Kuśīkā'. On the other hand, stems formed with Vr̥ddhi sometimes accent the first syllable, when the primitive is otherwise accented; e. g. mādhyamā-dina- 'belonging to midday' (madhyām-dina-), śubhagan- 'luck' from su-bhāga- 'lucky', vādhyasva- 'descendant of Vadhryasvá'. The derivative divodāsa- 'belonging to Divodāsa' is, however, formed from a stem similarly accented (dīvo-dāsa-).

A similar rule prevails in the accentuation of stems derived from other primitives by means of the suffix -a and Vr̥ddhi of the first syllable; e. g. āyasā- 'made of metal' (dyas-), saumanasā- 'benevolence' from su-mānas- 'well-disposed'; also sometimes from stems similarly accented, as paidvā- 'belonging to Pedū'. On the other hand, the first syllable is accented in derivatives from primitives mostly accented on the last; e. g. pārthiva- 'earthly' from pr̥thivī- 'earth', māghona- 'belonging to the bountiful one' (maghāvan-); but sometimes also from stems similarly accented, as nāhusa- 'neighbouring' from nāhus- 'neighbour'. The accentuation is similar when the secondary -a is added without Vr̥ddhi; e. g. parusā- 'knotty' from pārus- 'knot', but haritā- 'fallow' from harit-.

2. The suffix -ā forming feminines to masculines in -a retains the accent on the same syllable as in the masculine; e. g. prīyā- beside prīyā- 'dear'.

3. Stems formed with the somewhat rare suffix -ānī accent one of the last three syllables; e. g. indrānī- 'wife of Indra', mudgalānī- 'wife of Mūdga', purukūtsānī- 'wife of Purukūtsa', uśindrānī- 'queen of the Uśīnaras'.

4. The only example of the patronymic suffix -āyana in the RV. kāṇvāyana- 'descendant of Kaṇva' is unaccented (occurring in the voc. only); the final syllable seems to have been accented judging by dāks-āyand-

(VS. AV.) 'son of Dakṣa', and the fem. rāmāyaṇī (AV.) 'daughter of the Black one'. The derivative ukṣanyāyana-, N. of a man, is unique both in accentuation and absence of Vṛddhi.

5. The suffix -āyī occurs accented on the first syllable only in agn-āyī 'wife of Agni'; vṛṣākapa-āyī (RV¹.) 'wife of Vṛṣākapi', occurring in the voc. only, is unaccented.

6. The suffix -āyya- forming gerundival adjectives is always accented on its first syllable; e. g. pan-āyya- 'to be admired'.

7. Derivatives formed with the suffix -i and Vṛddhi, being almost exclusively patronymics, always accent the first syllable; thus āgniveś-i- 'son of Agniveśa', pūrukuts-i- 'descendant of Purukútsa', prātardan-i- 'descendant of Pratardana', prāhrād-i- (AV.) 'son of Prahrāda', sāṃvaraṇ-i- 'descendant of Saṃvāraṇa'. Similarly formed and accented is sārath-i- 'charioteer' (from sa-rītha-m 'on the same chariot'). Two other words, formed without Vṛddhi, take the secondary -i: tāpus-i- 'burning' (tāpus- 'heat') and, accented on the final syllable, śucant-i-, N. of a man.

8. The very frequent suffix -in forming possessive adjectives is always accented; e. g. āśv-in- 'possessing horses', dhan-in- 'wealthy'; manṁ-in- 'wise'; abhimāt-in- 'insidious'. The adjective śāk-in- 'powerful' occurs once accented on the first syllable: śāk-i (1. 51⁸); the accentuation of this form and of the two nominatives (each occurring once) īr-i 'violent' and sūr-i 'speeding' is perhaps due to error.

9. The accentuation of the suffix -ima, which is attached to three stems in -tra- and to one in -ra, varies: khanitr-ima- 'made by digging', kṛtr-ima- 'artificial', pūtr-ima- (AV.) 'purified'; agr-imā- 'foremost'.

10. The suffix -iya is regularly accented either on its first or its second syllable; e. g. abhr-īya- and abhr-iyā- 'derived from the clouds' (abhrā-), kṣatr-īya- 'having authority' (kṣatrā-), amitr-īya- 'inimical' (amitra- 'foe'); agr-iyā- 'foremost', indr-iyā- 'belonging to Indra'. The only exceptions are ṛtv-īya- (AV.) 'being in season' (ṛtī-), beside ṛtv-īya-, and śrūtr-īya- (AV.) 'learned' (śrūtra- 'learning').

11. Derivatives with the feminine suffix -ī commonly accent the same syllable as the corresponding masculines (except oxytones); e. g. bhūvant-ī 'being', m. bhūvant-. But the feminine in -ī from masculines in -a that are not accented on the final syllable usually accents the -ī (and follows the radical i-declension); e. g. rath-ī 'charioteer' (m. f.) from rātha- 'chariot'. The -ī is also accented when it forms the fem. of masc. oxytones in -u, e. g. prthv-ī 'broad' (prth-ū-); in -ant, e. g. usāt-ī 'desiring' (us-ānt-); in -tār, e. g. avit-ī 'protectress' (avi-tār-); in -āñic taking Samprasāraṇa, e. g. pratic-ī 'facing' (praty-āñic-). The fem. in -ī from masc. oxytones in -a sometimes retains the accent on the suffix, e. g. devī- 'goddess' (devā- 'god'), but more usually throws it back on the first syllable, e. g. āruṣ-ī 'ruddy' (aruṣā-).

12. The suffix -ina is generally accented on its first syllable, rarely on its last; e. g. apāc-īna- 'western', saṃvatsar-īna- 'annual'; pratic-īnā- 'turned towards'. The suffix is unaccented only in māh-īna- (RV¹.) 'mine'.

13. The suffix -īya is always accented on its first syllable; e. g. ārjīk-īya- a kind of Soma vessel, āhavan-īya- (AV.) 'sacrificial fire', grāhamedh-īya- 'relating to the domestic sacrifice', parvat-īya- (AV.) 'mountainous'. Similarly in the ordinals dvit-īya- 'second', trīti-īya- 'third', tur-īya- 'fourth'.

14. The suffix -ena is accented on the final in its only occurrence in the feminine form sāmidh-enī- 'relating to fuel' (sāmidh-).

15. The suffix -enya, nearly always forming gerundives, regularly accents its first syllable; e. g. drś-nya- 'worthy to be seen'. The only exception is vīr-nya- 'desirable'. Similarly accented are the ordinary adjectives vīr-nya- 'manly' (vīrā-) and kīrt-nya- 'famous' (kīrtī- 'fame').

16. Derivatives formed with the suffix -eya and Ṛddhi accent the final syllable when they have a patronymic sense, but otherwise the first; e. g. ārś-eyā- 'descendant of a seer' (ārśi-), but pādurus-eya- 'relating to man' (pāruṣa-). The analogy of the gerundive from roots ending in -ī, which is formed with -eya (e. g. dāya- 'to be given'), is followed by didṛkṣ-eya- 'worth seeing' (didṛkṣā-) and sabh-eya- 'fit for an assembly' (sabhā-).

17. Derivatives formed with -ka are variously accented. Those which have a diminutive sense regularly accent the suffix; e. g. arbhā-kā- 'small', *kanīna-kā-*¹ 'youth', kumāra-kā- 'little boy'. Otherwise the accent sometimes remains on the same syllable as in the primitive; e. g. ānta-ka- 'making an end' (ānta-), yusmā-ka- 'your' (yusmā-); or it shifts to the suffix, e. g. anya-kā- 'other' (anyā-), sana-kā- 'old' (sāna-); or to the first syllable, e. g. rūpa-ka- (AV.) 'having an assumed form' (rūpā- 'form').

18. The rare suffix -ta is regularly accented: eka-tā- (VS.) 'First', dvī-tā- 'Second', tri-tā- 'Third' as Proper Names, ava-tā- 'well', muhūr-tā- 'moment'.

19. Derivatives formed with the suffix -tana or its syncopated form -tna are variously accented: nī-tana- and nī-tna- 'present', sanā-tīna- (AV.) and sand-tna- (AV.) 'lasting', pra-tū- 'ancient'.

20. The suffix -tama when forming superlatives is hardly ever accented², the primitive nearly always retaining its original accent; e. g. *tavds-tama-*³ 'very strong'. But when it forms ordinals the final syllable is accented; e. g. śata-tamā- 'hundredth'.

21. A few adjectives formed with -taya from numerals meaning 'consisting of so many parts', accent the primitive: cātus-ṭaya- (AV.) 'fourfold', dśā-taya- 'tenfold'.

22. The suffix -tara forming comparatives is hardly ever accented, the primitive retaining its original accent; e. g. rathī-tara- 'better car-fighter'. An exception is vṛtra-tāra- 'a worse Vṛtra'.

23. Derivatives formed with -tā regularly accentuate the syllable preceding the suffix; e. g. a-gō-tā- 'want of cows', devd-tā- 'divinity', puruṣā-tā- 'human nature'. The only exception is a-vṛta-tā- 'want of sons'.

24. Derivatives formed with -tāti and -tāt have the same accentuation as those formed with -tā; e. g. a-riṣṭā-tāti- 'security', devd-tāti- 'divinity', śānt-tāti- 'good fortune'. The accent is exceptional in āsta-tāti- 'home' and dikṣa-tāti- (AV.) 'cleverness'.

25. The suffix -tya, forming nouns from particles, is never accented: āpa-tya- n. 'offspring', amā-tya- 'companion', āvis-tya- 'manifest', ul-tya- 'own', nīs-tya- 'foreign', sānu-tya- 'secret'. When attached to the substantive ap- 'water' it is, however, accented: ap-tyā- and āp-tyā- 'watery'.

26. The suffix -tva is invariably accented; e. g. amṛta-tvā- 'immortality', pati-tvā- 'matrimony'.

27. The very rare suffix -tva-tā is accented on its first syllable: iṣṭa-tvātā- 'excitement', puruṣa-tvātā- 'human nature'.

28. The suffix -tvana is always accented on its final syllable; e. g. kavi-tva- 'wisdom', pati-tva- 'matrimony', sakhī-tva- 'friendship'.

¹ Accented kanīnaka- in the VS. The fem. in the RV. is kanīnakā- but in the AV. kanīnikā-.

² Except puru-tama- 'very many' and ut- tamā- 'highest', śasvat-tamā- 'most frequent' (with the ordinal accent).

³ It is shifted in mṛḍayāt-tama- 'showing great compassion' (mṛḍāyat-). Cp. below 89.

29. The suffix -tha, forming ordinals from a few numerals and adjectives of a cognate sense from pronominal stems, is nearly always accented: thus catur-thá (AV.) 'fourth', ṣaṣ-thá (AV. VS.) 'sixth', kati-thá 'the how-maniest'; but saptá-tha 'seventh'.

30. The rare derivatives formed with the suffix -na are accented either on the first or the last syllable: stráti-na 'feminine' (strí 'woman'), vṛṣa-na 'various'; but *purā-ná*¹ 'ancient', samā-ná 'like'.

31. With the suffix *-bha*² are formed the names of a few animals with one exception accented on the final syllable: ṛṣa-bhá and vṛṣa-bhá 'bull', gārda-bhá 'ass', śara-bhá (AV. VS.) 'fabulous eight-legged animal', rāsa-bha 'ass'. This suffix also occurs once in the adjective sthūla-bhá (AV.) 'big'.

32. The suffix -ma is regularly accented, whether forming superlatives; e. g. adha-má 'lowest', madhya-mi 'middle-most', or ordinals; e. g. aṣṭa-má 'eighth'. An exception is *anta-ma*³ 'next'.

33. Derivatives formed with the suffix -mant retain the accent of the primitive, unless the latter is oxytone, when the accent in the great majority of instances (about three-fourths) is thrown forward on the suffix; e. g. śradh-mant (AV.) 'rich in herbs', asāni-mant 'bearing the thunderbolt'; but agni-mánt 'having fire' (agní).

34. The suffix -maya is always accented on the first syllable; e. g. ayas-máya 'made of metal', go-máya 'consisting of cows', śaka-máya 'arising from excrement'.

35. The suffix -min is accented (like -in) in the only two derivatives formed with it: iṣ-mín 'impetuous', and ṛg-mín 'jubilant with praise' (ṛc).

36. The rare suffix -mna is always accented: dyu-mná 'brightness', nṛ-mná 'manliness', nī-mná 'depth', su-mná 'welfare'.

37. Derivatives formed with the suffix -ya and Vṛddhi accent the initial or the final syllable with the same shift as appears in those formed with -a: the initial, when the primitive is accented on the final (or sometimes a medial) syllable, but the final, when the primitive is accented on the initial (or sometimes a medial syllable); e. g. dāiv-ya 'divine' (devá 'god'), ārtviṣ-ya 'office of priest' (ṛtvíḥ), gārhapat-ya 'position of a householder' (grhá-pati); but āditi-yá 'son of Aditi', prajāpat-yá (AV.) 'relating to Prajāpati'. In a very few instances the accent remains unchanged, as ādhipat-ya 'lordship' (ādhi-pati 'lord'), pāṇs-ya 'manliness' (pāṇs 'man'), vāis-ya 'man of the third caste' (vāis 'settler'), śrādisṭh-ya (AV.) 'superiority' (śrēṣṭha 'best'); while in several instances it shifts from the final syllable to the suffix (instead of to the initial syllable); e. g. kāv-yá 'descendant of Kavi' (but kāv-ya 'endowed with the qualities of a sage', kavi).

a. In derivatives formed without Vṛddhi the accentuation is to some extent similar; thus a final accent shifts to the first syllable; e. g. in pitr-ya 'belonging to the fathers' (pitr), prātijan-ya 'adverse' (prati-janít 'adversary' AV.); or from the first to the last; e. g. grām-yí 'belonging to the village' (grāma); or it remains on the first syllable; e. g. āv-ya 'belonging to sheep' (āvi), gāv-ya 'derived from cows' (gá); or it shifts from the final syllable to the suffix (instead of the first syllable); e. g. kāv-yá 'wise' (kavi). But here the accent may also remain on or be shifted to a medial syllable; e. g. svarāj-ya 'autocracy' (svarāj 'sovereign'), viśvādev-ya 'belonging to all gods' (viśvā-deva); hiraṇyá-ya 'golden' (hiraṇya 'gold'), avyá-ya 'derived from sheep' (beside avya-ya), gavyá-ya 'derived from cows' (beside gavya).

³ But antamēdhi (I. 1655).

But a peculiarity of the derivatives formed without Ṛddhi is that the majority of them have the Svarita accent on the suffix; e. g. rājan-yā- 'belonging to the royal class' (rājan-); doṣaṇ-yā- 'relating to the arm' (doṣān-); vāyav-yā- 'belonging to Wind' (vāyā-); -duṇḍubh-yā- (VS.) 'relating to a drum' (duṇḍubh-); budhn-yā- 'belonging to the bottom' (budhn-). The suffix thus accented also appears in the gerundive in -tav-yā- (twice found in the AV.) formed from an infinitive stem in -tu (585, 4).

38. The rare suffix -yān is (like -in) always accented: atati-yān- (VS.) 'having one's bow drawn', dhaurā-yān- (VS.) 'bearing a bow', marā-yān-, N. of a man, syāt-yān- (VS.) 'having a spear', śradhā-yān- (VS.) 'owning the Svadhā'.

39. Derivatives formed with -ra having a comparative sense (chiefly from prepositions) accent the initial syllable: dūha-ra- 'lower', āpa-ra- 'later', dva-ra- 'lower', āpa-ra- 'lower', ānta-ra- 'near' (ānta- 'end'). Other nouns formed with the suffix are chiefly accented on the final syllable; e. g. a-śrī-rā- 'ugly', dhūm-rā- (VS.) 'dusky' (dhūmā- 'smoke'), pāṃsu-rā- 'dusty', rath-i-rā- 'riding in a chariot'; but sometimes otherwise; thus āgnīdh-ra- 'belonging to the fire-kindler' (āgnīdh-), mīdh-i-ra- 'wise', karmā-ra- 'smith'.

40. Derivatives formed with -la nearly always accent the suffix; e. g. a-śrī-lā- (AV.) 'ugly', jīva-lā- (AV.) 'lively', bahu-lī- 'abundant', madhu-lā- 'sweet'; but tilvi-lā- 'fertile', śloṣa-lā- (AV.) 'slimy', śiśū-lā- 'little child'.

41. The suffix -va is regularly accented: arpa-vā- 'billowy', keśa-vā- (AV.) 'hairy', añji-vā- (AV.) 'slippery', śanti-vā- (AV.) 'friendly', śradhī-vā- 'credible'.

42. The fem. substantives formed from adverbs or prepositions with the suffix -vāt always accent the final syllable: arvā-vāt- 'proximity', ā-vāt- (AV.) 'proximity', ud-vāt- 'height', nī-vāt- 'depth', parā-vāt- 'distance', pra-vāt- 'height', saṃ-vāt- 'region'.

43. Derivatives formed with the suffix -van may have the accent on any syllable; e. g. āthar-van- 'fire-priest', indhan-van- 'possessed of fuel', īghā-van- 'violent', rūti-van- 'regular', maghā-van- 'bountiful'; arāti-vān- 'hostile', śruṣṭi-vān- 'obedient'.

44. Derivatives formed with -vant generally retain the original accent except in oxytone stems (if not ending in a or ā), which as a rule throw it on the suffix; e. g. keśa-vant- 'hairy', putrā-vant- (VS.) 'having a son', prajā-vant- 'having offspring', dyāvāprthivī-vant- 'connected with heaven and earth'; but agni-vānt- 'having fire' (agn-), āsan-vānt (AV.) 'having a mouth'. The accent is anomalously shifted in kṛśānti-vant- 'decorated with pearls' (kṛśāna-) and viśū-vānt- 'central' (viśu-) 'in both directions'.

45. The very rare derivatives formed with the suffix -vaya accent either the suffix or the primitive: dru-vāya- (AV.) 'wooden dish' and cātur-vaya- 'fourfold'.

46. Derivatives formed with the rare suffix -vala accent their final syllable: kṛṣṭi-valā- 'peasant', naḍ-valī- (VS.) 'reed bed'.

47. The suffix -vin is always accented; e. g. namas-vīn- 'reverential', yaśas-vīn- (AV.) 'beautiful', medhā-vīn- (AV.) 'wise', dhṛṣad-vīn- 'bold'.

48. The very rare names of relationship formed with the suffix -vya accent the first syllable: bhrātr-vya- (AV.) 'nephew'.

49. A few adjectives and substantives formed with the suffix -śa accent either the final or, less often, the first or second syllable: arva-śā- or

* This word may, however, be derived from antār- 'within', with BR. and WHITNEY 1209 i.

śrva-śa 'hasting', eta-śa- or ēta-śa 'variegated', babhu-śa- (VS. MS.) 'brownish', roma-śa- 'hairy', yuva-śa- 'youthful', aṅku-śa- 'hook', turvā-śa-, N. of a man. Perhaps also kāśma-śa- (AV.) 'stupefaction'(?), and kalā-śa- 'jar'.

2. Accentuation of Compounds.

AUFRECHT, De accentu compositorum Sanscriticorum, Bonn 1847. — GARBE, KZ. 23, 470f. — REUTER, Die altindischen nominalcomposita, ihrer betonung nach untersucht, KZ. 31, 157—232; 485—612. — WACKERNAGEL, Altindische Grammatik 2, p. 40—43, etc.

87. The rule as to the accentuation of compounds, stated in the most general way, is that iteratives, possessives, and governing compounds place the accent on the first member; determinatives and regularly formed copulatives (with one accent) on the last member and to a large extent on its final syllable. Speaking generally the accent of a compound is that of one of its members. But some words always change their accent when compounded; thus viśva- 'all' regularly becomes viśvā-, and in the later Saṃhitās śārva- 'all' sometimes becomes sarvā-. Other words when compounded change their accent in certain combinations only; thus some paroxytones become oxytone, as pūrvā- 'prior' in pūrvā-citti- 'foreboding', pūrvā-pīti- 'precedence in drinking', pūrvā-hūti- 'first invocation'; nēma- 'one' in nemā-dhiti- 'separation'; médha- 'sacrifice' in medhā-pati- 'lord of sacrifice', and medhā-sāti- 'receiving the oblation'; vṛṣan- in vṛṣā-kapi-, N. of a monkey; on the other hand some oxytones throw back the accent, as khādī- 'bracelet' in khādī-hasta- 'having hands adorned with bracelets'; grīvā- 'neck' in tuvi-grīva- 'powerful-necked'; vīrā- 'hero' in puru-vīra- 'possessed of many men' and su-vīra- 'heroic'; dhūmā- 'smoke' in saka-dhūma- (AV.) 'smoke of cowdung'.

An adjective compound may shift the accent from one member to the other if it becomes a substantive or a Proper Name; thus a-kṣāra- 'im-perishable', ā-kṣarā- 'speech'; sū-kṛta- 'well done', su-kṛtī- n. 'good deed'; ā-rāya- 'niggardly', a-rāya-, N. of a demon.

88. In iteratives, which may consist of repeated nouns, pronouns, adverbs, prepositions, or particles, the first member alone is accented, the two words being separated by Avagraha in the Pada text, like the members of other compounds. Examples are: āhar-āhar jāyate māsi-māsi (x. 52³) 'day after day he is born, month after month'; yād-yad yāmi tād ā bhara (VIII. 61⁶) 'bring to me whatever I ask'; yāthā-yathā matāyaḥ śānti nṛṇām (x. 111¹) 'as are the desires of men in each case'; adyādya śrāḥ-śva indra trāsya parā ca naḥ (VIII. 61¹⁷) 'on each to-day, on each to-morrow protect us, Indra, and in the future'. The prepositions which appear as iteratives are ūpa, pārā, prā, sām; e. g. prā-pra pūṣṇas tuviṣṭāśya śasyate mahitvām (I. 138¹) 'forth and again the greatness of the mighty Pūṣan is praised'. The only verbal iterative occurring is piba-piba (II. 11¹¹)² 'drink again and again'.

89. Governing compounds always accent the first member when it is a verbal noun¹, as trāsā-dasyu- 'terrifying the foe', N. of a man. When the first member is a present or aorist participle, its final syllable is invariably accented, whatever the original accentuation may have been, e. g. viddā-vasu- 'winning wealth', tardā-dveṣas- 'overcoming (tīrat-) foes'.

² Otherwise a repeated verbal form is not treated as an iterative, e. g. stuhī stuhī (VIII. 130⁹).

³ Except śikṣā-narā- 'helping men'.

a. When the first member is a preposition, the accentuation is much the same as in possessives: either the first member is accented on its proper syllable, as abhi-dyu- 'directed to heaven'; or the last member on the final syllable, but only when it ends in the compositional suffix -a, or when as a simple word it is not accented on the final syllable; e.g. adhas-pad-á- 'being under the feet', anu-kāma- 'according to wish' (kāma-). The accentuation of api-prāna- (f. -ī-) 'accompanying the breath' is quite exceptional.

90. A. Possessive compounds (Bahuvrīhis) normally accent the first member on the same syllable as the simple word, e.g. rāja-putra- 'having kings as sons' (but rāja-putrá- 'son of a king'). Other examples are: án-abhimlāta-varna- 'whose colour is not dimmed', iddhāgni- 'whose fire is kindled', indra-ijestha- 'having Indra as chief', indra-sakhi- 'having Indra as a friend', ghṛtā-prṣṭha- 'butter-backed', rūśad-vatsa- 'having a bright calf', sahasra-pad- 'thousand-footed'¹. Similarly when the first member is a preposition, an ordinary adverb, or sahá- and (chiefly in the later Vedas) sa- in the sense of 'accompanied by'; e.g. nir-hasta- (AV.) 'handless', prá-mahas- 'having pre-eminent might', vi-grīva- 'wrynecked', viśvato-mukha- 'facing in all directions', sahá-vatsa- 'accompanied by her calf', sá-kāma- ('accompanied by' =) 'fulfilling desires' (VS.), sá-cetas- 'intelligent'².

a. The original accent of the first member is sometimes changed. 1. The adjective vīva- 'all' always, and (owing to its influence) sárva- 'all' sometimes in the later Samhitās, shift their accent to the final syllable; e.g. viśvā-peśas- 'having all adornment', *sarvā-janman-*³ (AV.), sarvā-buddha-vāla- (VS.) 'having a completely white tail', sarvāyus- (VS.) 'having all life'⁴. — 2. Present participles in several instances shift the accent to their final syllable; e.g. krandādi-īṣṭi- 'having roaring (krandāt-) speed', dravād-āva- 'having swift (dravat-)⁵ steeds'. Other participles with this shift of accent are arcdt- and bhāndāt- 'shining', rapśāt- 'swelling', svandāt- 'resounding'. — 3. There are also a few miscellaneous examples of shift of accent in the first member: abhiṣṭi-dyumna- 'abounding in aid', jyoti-ratha- 'whose car is light' (jyōtis-), dādṛśāna-pavi- 'whose felly is visible' (dādṛśāna-), avakolba- (AV.) 'surrounded with Avakā plants' (āvakā-); cātur-aṅga- 'four-membered' (cātūr-), khādī-hasta- 'having hands adorned with bracelets' (khādī-).

B. About one eighth of the total number of Bahuvrīhis accent the second member, and in the majority of instances on the final syllable.

a. This accentuation is common when the first member is a dissyllabic adjective ending in i or u. It is invariable in the RV. after the very frequent puru- 'much' and the less frequent krāhī- 'shortened', bahū- 'much', śīti- 'white'; e.g. puru-putrá- 'having many sons', puru-vāra- 'having many treasures', krāhu-kārṇa- 'having short ears', *baho-anná-*⁶ 'having much food' (anna-), śīti-pád- 'white-footed'. Examples of this accentuation after other adjectives ending in i and u are: āśu-héśas- 'having swift steeds', uru-kśāya- 'having a wide abode', rju-krātu- 'whose works are right', tuvi-dyumná- 'having great glory', tr̥su-cyāvas- 'moving greedily', pr̥thu-pákṣas- 'broad-flanked', vibhu-krātu- 'having great strength', vīṣu-pāṇi- 'strong-hoofed', hiri-śiprá- 'golden-cheeked'⁷. In the later Samhitās there is an increasing tendency to follow

¹ When another adjective or an adverb precedes the first member, it has the accent; e.g. eka-śīti-pad- (VS. TS.) 'having one foot white'; cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 291.

² There are, however, a few exceptions in which the final member is accented, as vi-sikhá- 'hairless' (but vi-sikha- AV.), puro-rathá- 'whose car is foremost', sa-práthas- 'extensive', sāṅgá- (AV.) 'together with the limbs'.

³ This is the only example (occurring beside vīśvā-janman-) of this shift of accent in sárva- in the AV., where sárva- as first member is common.

⁴ sárva- shows this shift of accent in the RV. in the adverb sarvā-tas 'from all sides' and in the derivative sarvā-tīti- 'totality'.

⁵ Here the accent may be affected by that of the adverb dravāt 'swiftly'.

⁶ After bahu- the final syllable is always accented, even in the later Samhitās.

⁷ Both accentuations occur in pr̥thu-budhna- and pr̥thi-budhna- 'broad-based'.

the general rule; e. g. purā-nāman- (AV.) 'many-named', śīti-kakud- 'having a white hump', and śīti-bhasad- 'having white buttocks' (TS. v. 6. 14¹).

b. Bahuvrīhis beginning with dvi- and tri- generally accent the second member; e. g. dvi-pād- 'two-footed', dvi-dhāra- 'forming two streams', tri-dāntu- 'having three webs', tri-nābhi- 'having three naves', tri-vandhurā- 'three-seated'². The only exceptions to this rule in the RV. are dvi-sayas- 'having twofold night', try-āmbaka- 'having three mothers' and try-āśir- 'having three products of milk'. The later Sāphitās accent dvi- and tri- in new Bahuvrīhis as often as not. In a few possessives beginning with other numerals the second member is accented on the last syllable, e. g. catur-akṣa- 'four-eyed'³.

c. Possessives beginning with the negative prefix a- or an- almost invariably accent the final syllable irrespectively of the original accent of the second member (doubtless in order to distinguish them clearly from determinatives); e. g. a-dānt- 'toothless', a-phalā- 'unfruitful' (phāla-), a-balā- 'not possessing strength' (bāla-). A very few accent the penultimate; *a-bhrātṛ-*⁴ (AV.) 'brotherless', a-vīra- 'childless', a-sēśas- 'without offspring'. On the other hand a good many (though only a small proportion of the whole) accent the prefix (like determinatives), especially when the second member is a noun formed with the suffix -ti; e. g.⁵ ā-gu- 'kineless', ā-jñās- 'kinless', ā-dyu- 'not burning', an-āpi- 'kinless', ā-prajas- (AV.) 'childless', ā-mṛtyu- 'deathless', ā-hri- 'bold', ā-kṣiti- 'imperishable'⁶.

d. Possessives beginning with *dus-*⁶ 'ill' or su- 'well' regularly accent the second member, usually on the original syllable; e. g. dus-mānman- 'ill disposed', su-bhāga- 'well ended'. There is, however, a tendency to throw the accent forward on the final syllable; e. g. sv-aṅguri- 'fair-fingered' (aṅgūrī-), su-phalā- (AV.) 'fruitful', su-bāndhi- (AV.)⁷ 'closely related'⁸. On the other hand, the accent is in a few instances shifted from the final to the penultimate syllable, as su-vīra- 'rich in heroes' (vīrā-), and su-gāndhi- 'sweet-smelling' beside su-gandhi- (from gandhā- 'smell')⁹.

g. Determinatives as a rule accent the last member, and pre-vaillingly on the final syllable.

A. 1. In the descriptive type, that is, those in which a substantive is described by an adjective or an appositional substantive (Karmadhāraya) and those in which a verbal noun is described by an adverbial word, the accent is on the final syllable; e. g. kṛṣṇa-śakunā- (AV.) 'black bird', mahā-dhanda- 'great spoil', ajñāta-yakṣmā- 'unknown disease', yāvayat-sakhā- 'a protecting friend', rāja-yakṣmā- ('king' =) 'royal disease'¹⁰, sūrya-śvit- 'sun-bright'; pura-ctf- 'going before', prathama-jā- 'first-born', *prātara-yuj-*¹¹ 'early yoked', svayam-bhū- 'self-existent', dus-kṛt- 'acting wickedly', *su-pra-tūr-*¹² 'victorious', a-ghārin- (AV.) 'not anointing', a-cit- 'senseless', *a-jarayit-*¹³ 'not aging', a-jūr- 'unaging'.

⁴ For many other examples see WACKER-NAGEL 2¹, 114 note (p. 293).

⁵ The only possessive of this kind in which the second member ends in -ti and accents the final syllable seems to be a-gavyūti- 'pastureless'.

⁶ The only exception in the case of dus- is dus-āśir- 'ill-mixed'.

⁷ The RV. retains the original accent, su-phāla-, su-bāndhu-.

⁹ Op. cit. 2¹, p. 295 7, note.

¹⁰ Exceptions, when the first member is a noun, are all compounds formed with viśva- 'all', as viśvā-mānuṣa- 'every man', also madhyāhna-dina- 'midday', vṛṣā-kapi- 'male ape', in all of which the original accent of the first member is shifted.

¹¹ ādhri-gu- 'irresistible' and sadhū-stha- 'standing together', are exceptions.

¹² sv-ā-vṛj- 'easy to acquire' is an exception.

¹³ But ā-maviṣṇu- 'immoveable'.

a-yoddh- 'not fighting', a-rājīn- 'not shining', *a-pra-mṛṣ-yá-*¹ 'indestructible', a-budh-yá- 'not to be wakened', an-aty-ud-yá- (AV.) 'unspeakable', an-ādhrṣ-yá- 'unassailable', an-āmayi-inū- 'not making ill'.

a. When, however, the second member ends in -van, -man or -i, or has the form of a gerundive used as a neuter substantive, the penultimate (radical) syllable is accented; e. g. raghu-pátvan- 'swift-flying', *puro-yávan-*² 'going in front'; su-tárman- 'crossing well', vīlu-pátman- 'flying mightily', raghu-yāman- 'going swiftly', su-vāhman- 'driving well', dur-gbhī- 'hard to hold', ṛju-vāni 'striving forward', tuvi-svāni- 'roaring mightily', pūrva-pāyya- and pūrva-pēya- n. 'precedence in drinking', saha-śēyya- n. 'act of lying together', *amutra-bhāya-*³ (VS.) n. 'state of being in the other world'.

2. The first member is, however, accented under certain conditions.

a. It is generally accented if it is an adverbial word and the last member is a past participle in -ta or *-na*⁴ or a verbal noun in -ti; e. g. dāmsu-jūta- 'speeding wondrously', dūr-hita- 'faring ill', *sāna-śrūta-*⁵ 'famed from of old'; puri-hiti- 'priestly ministration', sadhā-stuti- 'joint praise'.—b. The privative particle a- or an- when compounded with a participle⁶, adjective, or substantive is nearly always accented; e. g. *an-adant-*⁷ 'not eating', d-ditsant- 'not wishing to give', d-manyamāna- 'not thinking', d-himsāna- 'not injuring', d-vidvāms- 'not knowing', *d-kṛta-*⁸ 'not done'; *d-kr-a-*⁹ 'inactive', d-suṣv-i- 'not pressing Soma', d-tandra- 'unwearied', *d-kumāra-*¹⁰ 'not a child'; d-citti- 'thoughtlessness'. The particle is regularly accented when it negatives a compound; e. g. d-dus-kṛt- 'not doing ill', an-aśva-dā- 'not giving a horse', d-pāścād-daghdvan- 'not remaining behind'; *d-punar-diyamāna-*¹¹ (AV.) 'not being given back', an-agni-dagdha- 'not burnt with fire', *an-abhi-śasta-*¹² 'blameless'.

B. 1. Dependent determinatives as a rule accent the second member and that mostly on the last syllable, even if the simple word is not an oxytone.

a. When the second member is a root¹³, a verbal noun in -a, an ordinary substantive (without verbal sense), or an adjective ending in *-in*¹⁴, the final

² satyā-madvan- 'truly rejoicing' is an exception.

³ sadhā-stutya- n. 'joint praise', is an exception.

⁴ Here the adverb is treated like a preposition compounded with a past participle.

⁵ There are a good many exceptions in which the original accent of the past participle remains on the final syllable; e. g. tuvi-jātā- 'mightily born', dus-kṛtā- 'ill done', su-jātā- (beside sū-jātā-). This is the regular accentuation when the first member is puru-; e. g. puru-śūtā- 'much praised'.

⁷ But a-sācānt- beside ā-sācānt- 'not ceasing', a-odānt- (v. 44²) and as substan-tives a-rundhat-i- (AV.) a name, and a-jārant-i- (VS.) 'unaging'.

⁸ Exceptions are a-citta-, a-dṛṣṭa-, a-mṛta-, a-yūta- n. 'myriad' but (AV.) ā-yūta- 'undisturbed', a-tūrta- (beside ā-tūrta-), a-bhinna- (AV.) beside ā-bhinna-.

⁹ There are also some verbal derivatives in -a which accent the second member; e. g. a-kṣār-a- 'imperishable', a-jār-a- 'unaging', a-dābh-a- 'not deceiving', a-ṭp-ā- 'dissatisfied', a-vadh-ā- 'inviolable', a-vṛdh-ā- 'not furthering', an-āvrak-ā- (AV.) 'not falling off'; cp. WHITNEY 1283—88.

¹⁰ There are also several ordinary nouns which are accented as second member; e. g. a-citrā- 'colourless', a-mitra- 'enemy', a-vīra- 'unmanly'.

¹¹ But a-ni-pādyamāna- (AV.) 'not going to rest' where RV. has ā-ni-padyamāna-.

¹² But an-ā-śastā- (RV.) 'not praised', a-pṛa-śastā- beside ā-pṛa-śasta- 'not praised'.

¹⁴ This suffix being invariably accented in the simple word (86 B. 8).

syllable is regularly accented; e. g. gotra-bhīd- 'opening the cowpens', ghṛtā-vṛdh- 'delighting in ghee', divi-spṛś- 'touching the sky', patan-gā- 'going by flight', 'flying', varuna-dhrī-t- 'deceiving Varuṇa'; *agnim-indh-ā-*¹ 'fire-kindling', hasta-grābh-ā- 'hand-grasping', purāṇ-dar-ā- 'fort-destroying'; uda-meghā- 'shower of water', go-śaphā- (VS.) 'cow's hoof', jīva-lokā- 'world of the living', indra-senā- 'Indra's missile' (śnā-), kṛṣṇājīnā- (AV. TS.) 'hide (ajina-) of the black antelope', *deva-kośā-*² (AV.) 'cask (kōśa-) of the gods', *deva-mānā-*³ 'abode (māna-) of the gods'; uktha-śams-in- 'uttering praise', bhādra-vād-in- 'uttering auspicious cries'.

a. The word pāti- 'lord' follows this rule in only a few compounds occurring in the later Saṃhitās; thus in the AV.: apsarā-pāti- 'lord of the Apsarases', vṛāja-pāti- 'lord of a troop' (vṛājā-pāti-, RV.); in the VS.: amhasas-pāti- 'lord of perplexity', upa-pāti- 'paramour', edidhiṣuk-pāti- 'husband of a younger sister', nadī-pāti- 'lord of rivers'; in the MS.: ahar-pāti- 'lord of day', cit-pāti- 'lord of thought', vāk-pāti- 'lord of speech'. In a few determinatives pāti- retains its own accent as second member, as nṛ-pāti- 'lord of men', rayi-pāti- 'lord of wealth', viś-pāti- 'lord of the tribe', also the f. in vasu-pātnī- 'mistress of wealth', *viś-pātnī-*⁴ 'mistress of the tribe'; in the VS. ahar-pāti-, cit-pāti-, vāk-pāti-; in the AV. ṛtu-pāti- 'lord of proper seasons', paśu-pāti- 'lord of animals' (VS.), puṣṭi-pāti- 'lord of welfare', bhūta-pāti- 'lord of beings', *stha-pāti-*⁵ 'governor'. In compounds with pāti-, however, the first member is usually accented, there being 22 cases in the RV., besides 10 with patnī-; e. g. grhā-pāti- 'lord of the house', gṛ-pāti- 'lord of kine', paśu-pāti- 'lord of creatures', *medhā-pāti-*⁶ 'lord of animal sacrifice' (mēdha-), vasu-pāti- 'lord of wealth', vāja-pāti- 'lord of booty', *svār-pāti-*⁷ 'lord of light'; grhā-pātnī- 'mistress of the house', devā-pātnī- 'wife of a god', vāja-pātnī- 'queen of booty'. In the AV., of 15 new masculines ending in -pāti- more than half accent the first member as do all the 8 new ones ending in patnī-; e. g. ālithi-pāti- 'entertainer of a guest'. In the other Saṃhitās also occur: kyātrā-pāti- (VS.) 'lord of dominions', bhūva-pāti- (VS.) 'lord of the atmosphere', bhūvana-pāti- (VS. TS.) 'lord of beings', bhūt-pāti- (TS.) 'lord of the world', samveśā-pāti- (VS.) 'lord of rest', viṣṇu-pātnī- (VS. TS.) 'Viṣṇu's wife'⁸.

b. Determinatives which have as their second member verbal nouns in *-ana*⁹, adjectives in -i and -van, as well as action nouns in -ya, regularly accent the radical syllable of the second member; e. g. deva-mād-ana- 'exhilarating the gods', *keśa-vārdh-ana-*¹⁰ 'causing the hair to grow'; pathi-rāks-i- 'protecting the road'; soma-pā-van- 'somadriking', talpa-śī-van- 'lying on the couch', *prātar-i-t-van-*¹¹ 'coming early'; ahi-hāt-ya- 'slaughter of the dragon', deva-hūt-ya- 'invocation of the gods', mantra-śrī-t-ya- n. 'listening to counsel', *vṛtra-tār-ya-*¹² 'conquest of Vṛtra'.

2. Dependent determinatives, however, which have as their second member past passive participles in -ta and -na or action nouns in -ti accent

³ But deva-yāna- 'going to the gods'.

⁴ Also the Karmadhāraya sa-pātnī- 'cowife' and the Bahuvrīhi su-pātnī- 'having a good husband'.

⁵ Cp. BLOOMFIELD, SBE. 42, 319.

⁶ In K. mēdha-pāti-.

⁷ svā-pāti- 'one's own lord' is a Karma-dhāraya; as a Bahuvrīhi it is accented sva-pāti- (AV.) 'having an own consort'.

⁸ On doubly accented compounds with -pāti- see below (3).

⁹ Just as when such nouns are compounded with prepositions.

¹⁰ The very few apparent exceptions to this rule are due to these words losing their verbal character; e. g. yama-sādanā- (AV.) 'Yama's realm'.

¹¹ In mātarī-śvan- and māturi bhvan- the suffix is probably -an; here the original accent of the first member (if it is the loc. mātrī-) has shifted, perhaps owing to the influence of words like prātarī-śvan-.

the first member (like a preposition); e. g. indra-prasūta- 'incited by Indra', devā-hita- 'ordained by the gods', hāsta-yata- 'guided by the hand'; devā-hūti-² 'invocation of the gods', dhāna-sāti-³ 'winning of wealth'.

3. Double accentuation. A certain number of determinative compounds, syntactical in origin, which have a genitive case-form in the first member, and nearly always -pāti- in the second, are doubly accented. Such are bṛhas-pāti- and brāhmaṇas-pāti-⁴ 'lord of prayer', gnās-pāti- 'husband of a divine woman' (with the anomalous fem. gnās-pātnī- 'divine wife'), jās-pāti-⁵ 'head of a family'. The compound sādas-pāti- 'lord of the seat' (sādas-) probably stands by hapology for sādasas-pāti*-, but vāna-s-pāti-⁶ 'lord of the wood' perhaps, and rātha-s-pāti- 'lord of the car' (rātha-) probably, owe their s to the analogy of bṛhas-pāti-⁷. Though without case-ending in the first member, śāci-pāti- 'lord of might' follows the analogy of the above compounds. Other doubly accented compounds with case-form in the first member but not ending in -pāti- are śūnaḥ-śēpa- 'Dog's tail', N. of a man; dasyave-vyka- 'Wolf to the Dasyu', N. of a man; apām-nāpāt- 'son of waters', the analogy of which is followed by tānū-nāpāt- 'son of himself' (tānū-) though it is without case-ending in the first member; nārā-sāmsa-⁸ 'Praise of men' (for nārām-sāmsa*-), the analogy of which is followed by nī-sāmsa-. The name nābhā-nēdiṣṭha- seems to contain an old locative in the first member, while the uninflected stem appears in ās-pātra- (TS. II. 5. 9³) 'vessel for the mouth'.

92. 1. The regular class of copulatives, which have only one accent, places the acute on the final syllable⁹ irrespective of the accent of the uncompounded word. In the plural occur: ajāvdyah m. 'goats and sheep', ukthārka n. 'praises and songs', ahorātrāṇi 'days and nights'; in the dual: ṛk-samē n. 'song and chant', satyānrte n. 'truth and untruth', sāsanānaśamē n. 'what eats and does not eat'; in the singular: nīlalohitām n. 'blue and red'¹⁰, *iṣṭa-pūrtām*¹¹ n. 'what is sacrificed and presented', keśa-śmaśrī- (AV.) n. 'hair and beard', añjanābhyañjanām (AV.) n. 'salve and ointment', kaśipu-barhaṇām (AV.) n. 'mat and pillow', kṛtākṛtām (AV.) n. 'what is done and undone', cittākūtām (AV.) n. 'thought and desire', bhadra-pāpām (AV.) 'good and evil', bhūta-bhavyām (AV.) n. 'past and future', n. pl. priyāpriyāṇi (AV.) 'things yaj-yā- 'worship of the gods', beside deva-yaj-ya-, jāta-vid-yā- 'knowledge of things', muṣṭi-hat-yā- 'hand to hand fight'.

² There are, however, a good many exceptions in which the final syllable is accented (as in prepositional determinatives), e. g. agni-taptā- 'glowing with fire', agni-dagdha- 'burnt by fire'.

⁵ Though brāhmaṇas-pāti- is not treated as a compound in the Pada text, it is so treated in the Dvandva indrā-brāhmaṇas-pāti (II. 24¹²).

⁶ Thus accented in Book VII, but jās-pāti, in Book I. The latter is the only Tatpuruṣa in the RV. in which double accentuation does not take place when -pāti- is preceded by s. The only other instance in the RV. of a Tatpuruṣa with case-ending in the first member and yet singly accented is dīvō-dāsa-, N. of a king. Elsewhere occur apsu-yoga- (AV.) 'connecting power in water', amhasas-pāti- (VS.), perhaps mātūr-bhrātrā- (MS. I. 6¹²) 'mother's brother' (the Mss. read mātūr-bhrātrā-).

⁷ In vānas-pāti- the first member may be the gen. sing. of van- 'wood' (gen. pl. van-ām); but in rātha-s-pāti- the s must be inorganic; cp. GARBE, KZ. 23, 490; RICHTER, IF. 19, 17; BARTHOLOMAE, BB. 15, 15 note¹; WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 247.

⁹ Cp. Foy, JAOS. 16, CLXXII-IV.

¹⁰ The two or three exceptions which occur in the AV. and VS. are doubtless due to wrong readings.

¹¹ The adjectives being used as substantives.

¹² In the VS. used in the dual also.

agreeable and disagreeable'; and as adjectives tāmra-dhūmrā- (AV.) 'tawny and dark', dakṣiṇa-savyā- (AV.) 'right and left', saptamāṣṭamā- (AV.) 'seventh and eighth'.

a. The very few adverbial copulatives which occur accent the first member: āhar-divi 'day by day', sāyam-prātar (AV.) 'at even and at morn'.

2. The class of Devatā-dvandvas, each member of which is dual in form, and which in the RV. is about thrice as frequent as the regular class, retains the accent of simple words in each member of the compound¹: thus agnī-viṣṇu (AV.), agnī-sōmā, indrā-pūṣṇā, *indrā-bhīṣpātī*², indrā-vārunā, indrā-viṣṇu, indrā-sīmā, usāsā-nāktā 'Dawn and Night', dyāvā-ksāmā 'heaven and earth', dyāvā-prthivī, dyāvā-bhīmī, nāktosāsā, pārjanya-vātā, prthivī-dyāvā, mitrā-vārunā, sūryā-māsā. A few others are formed in the same way from substantives which are not the names of deities: krātū-dikṣau (VS.) 'understanding and will', turvāsa-yaddu (iv. 30¹⁷) 'Turvaśa and Yadu', dhūmī-cūmuri 'Dhuni and Cumuri', mātā-rā-pitṛā (iv. 67) 'mother and father'.

a. A certain number of these compounds have been assimilated to the regular class of copulatives by giving up the accent of the first member: indrāgni, indrā-pūṣṇā, somā-pūṣṇā, vātā-parjanya, sūryā-candramāsā, bhāvā-rudrāu (AV.), bhāvā-sarvāu (AV.)³; one has been completely assimilated by giving up also the dual form in the first member: indra-vāyā.

a. There occurs once a secondary adjective copulative accented on both members, being formed from an adverbial Dvandva: āhar-divā- (VS.) 'daily' (āhar-divi 'day by day').

3. Accent in Declension.

93. The vocative, when accented at all (85, 2) invariably has the acute on the first syllable; e. g. pitar, N. pitā 'father'; dēva, N. devī-s 'god'. The regularly accented vocative of dyāu- (dyāv-) 'heaven' is *dyāu-s*⁴, that is dīaus, but the nominative form dyāus is also used in its stead.

a. Otherwise, in the a-declension (f. -ā) the accent always remains on the same syllable; e. g. N. devā-s, G. devā-sya, pl. devā-nām. This rule is also followed by monosyllabic pronominal stems in -a; e. g. from ma-: I. māy-ā 'by me', D. mā-hyam, L. māy-i; from tī- 'that', G. sing. tī-sya, pl. G. tī-ṣām, I. *tī-bhis*⁵.

a. An exception to this rule is formed by the plural cardinal stems ending in -a. They regularly accent that vowel before endings with initial consonant, and throw the acute on the ending of the genitive; e. g. pāṇca 'five': I. pañcā-bhis. G. pañcānām; aṣṭā 'eight', however, shifts the accent to the endings generally, thus I. aṣṭā-bhis, D. aṣṭī-bhyas (TS.).

94. When the final syllable of the stem is accented, the acute (except in the ā-declension) is liable to shift to the endings in the weak cases.

i. This is the rule in monosyllabic stems; e. g. nāu- 'ship': A. nāv-am, but I. nāv-ā, pl. I. nau-bhis, L. nau-ṣi; dānt- m. 'tooth': I. dat-ā, pl. A. *dat-ās*⁶, I. dad-bhis.

² Retaining the double accent of the second member.

³ In the AV. the number of Devatā-dvandvas is only about half that in the RV. (though the total number of Dvandvas is more than double); about one-half of these, again, have only one accent, which as in the regular class is on the final syllable.

Indo-arische Philologie. I. 4.

⁴ Retaining the ncm. -s, instead of dīau* (Gk. Zē).

⁵ An exception is the pronoun a- 'this', which is treated like a monosyllabic stem, e. g. G. a-syā, pl. m. a-ṣām, f. ā-sām; a few times, however, the accentuation ā-smai, ā-sya, ā-bhis occurs; cp. WHITNEY 502 b.

⁶ The accusative plural is treated as a weak case and accented on the ending in

a. Exceptions to this rule are the rare monosyllabic stems in -ā, which retain the accent on the stem; e. g. gnā- 'woman': pl. I. gnā-bhis, L. gnā-su. Individual exceptions are gō- 'cow', dyō- 'sky'; e. g. I. gāv-ā, pl. G. gāv-ām, I. gō-bhis; L. dyāv-i, pl. I. dyāv-bhis. Similarly nī- 'man': D. nār-e, pl. I. nī-bhis, L. nī-su, but G. nar-ām and nī-nām; kṣām- 'earth'; L. kṣām-i; tān- 'succession': I. tān-ā (and tan-ā), D. tān-e; rān- 'joy': rān-e, pl. L. rān-su; vān- 'wood': pl. L. vām-su (but G. van-ām); vīp- 'rod': G. vīp-as; stī- 'star': pl. I. stī-bhis; svār- 'light': G. sūr-as (but D. sūr-ē); also the infinitives bādh-e 'to press', vāh-e 'to convey'. In some words the irregular accentuation is due to their having originally been dissyllables; such are drū- 'wood', snū- 'summit', svān- 'dog', yūn- weak stem of yīvan- 'young'; e. g. I. drū-nā; pl. L. snū-su; I. sūn-ā, pl. svā-bhis; I. *yūn-ā*¹.

2. When the accented vowel of the final syllable in polysyllabic stems disappears either by syncope or by changing to a semivowel, the acute is thrown on endings with initial vowel in the weak cases; thus from māhimān- 'greatness', I. māhimn-ā; from mūrdhān- 'head', D. mūrdhn-ē; from agnī- 'fire', G. du. agny-ōs; from dhenū- 'cow', I. sing. dhenv-ā; from vadhū- 'bride', D. vadhv-ā (AV.); from pitr̥- 'father', I. pitr̥-ā.

a. Polysyllabic stems in -i, -ū, -ṛ, and in the RV. usually those in -i, throw the acute on the ending of the G. pl. also, even though the vowel retains its syllabic character in this case; e. g. agnī-nām, dhenū-nām, dātṛ-nām; *bahvṛ-nām*².

3. Present participles in -āt and -ānt throw the acute on the endings with initial vowel in the weak cases; e. g. from tud-ānt- 'striking': I. sing. tud-at-ā (but tud-ād-bhis). This rule is also followed by the old participles mah-āt- 'great' and bṛh-āt- 'large', e. g. mahat-ā (but mahād-bhis)³.

4. In the RV. derivatives formed with accented -āñc throw the acute on endings with initial vowel in the weak cases when contraction to ī and ū appears in the final syllable; thus from praty-āñc- 'turned towards', I. sing. pratic-ā (but L. pl. pratyāk-su); from anv-āñc- 'following'; G. anūc-ās (but from prāñc- L. sing. prāc-i). The other Samhitās, however, generally retain the accent on the stem⁴.

4. Verbal Accent.

95. As regards personal endings, those of the singular active in all tenses and moods are always unaccented except the 2. imperative -dhī or -hi. Others may be accented; if dissyllabic, they have the acute on the first syllable, as -anti, -māhi.

When the tense stem ends in -a in the present, in the future, in the unaugmented imperfect and aorist, and throughout the subjunctive, the accent is never on the ending, as it remains on the same syllable of the stem throughout.

96. All tenses formed with the augment invariably accent the latter, if the verb is accented at all (85, 2β); e. g. impf. ā-bhara-t, plupf. ā-jagan, aor. ā-bhū-t, conditional ā-bharisya-t. If the augment is dropped, the accentuation is as follows. In the imperfect the acute is on the same syllable as in the present; e. g. bhāra-t, pres. bhāra-ti. The pluperfect, if regularly hardly more than one third of the stems occurring; see WHITNEY 390 a; cp. LANMAN 494, 499, 504 top, 505.

² This regularly takes place in the G. of the plural cardinals in -a: as pāñca 'five', pāñcā-nām, dāśa 'ten', daśā-nām.

³ The accent is, however, not shifted in the old participle vāghāt- m. 'worshipper'; nor in the two forms a-codāt-e 'not urging' (from cōd-ant-) and rathirāyāt-ām 'speeding'; cp. LANMAN p. 505-6 (top).

⁴ Thus the f. stem pratic-ī (AV.), but RV. pratic-ī (once in the A. praticim).

formed, accents the root, as 3. sing. cākān (√kan-), 3. sing. rārān (√ran-), 1. sing. cikētam (√cit-); when formed with thematic -a, it accents that vowel, as 3. pl. cakrpa-nta. The aorist if formed with -sa, accents that syllable, e. g. 3. pl. dhuk-sā-n, dhuk-sā-nta (from duh- 'milk'); if formed with -s, it accents the root, as may be inferred from 1. sing. vām-s-i (from van- 'win'), the only accented example occurring; if formed with -is-, it accents the root, e. g. 1. sing. *sāms-is-am*¹. If formed from the root, it accents the radical vowel in the singular active, but the endings elsewhere, as 3. sing. vārē (√vṛj-), but 2. sing. mid. nut-thās (√nud-). If formed from the root with thematic -a, it usually follows the analogy of the present ā-class, e. g. ruhā-m, bhujā-t, vidā-t, budhā-nta; in several instances, however, it accents the root, as āra-nta (r- 'go'); sāra-t (sr- 'flow'); sāda-tam (sad- 'sit'); sāna-t (san- 'gain') but opt. sanēma; vōca-t (vac- 'speak') but opt. vocēyam. The reduplicated aorist usually accents the reduplicative syllable, as 2. sing. dīdharas, nīmaśas, 3. sing. pīparat, sīśvap, jījanat, pl. jījanan; but sometimes the root, as 2. sing. śīśrāthas, 3. sing. pīparat, śīśnāthat. Passive aorists accent the root, e. g. dhā-y-i, śrāv-i, ved-i, jān-i, pād-i, sād-i.

97. Present system.—1. Throughout the present system of the a-conjugation the accent remains on the same syllable of the stem in all moods; on the radical syllable in verbs of the first and fourth classes; e. g. bhāva-ti from bhū- 'be', nāh-ya-ti from nah- 'bind'; on the thematic -a in the sixth class; e. g. tudā-ti from tud- 'strike'.

2. In the second or graded conjugation, the singular indicative active, the whole of the subjunctive, and the 3. sing. imperative active² accent the stem, while all other forms accent the endings³. In the strong forms the radical syllable is accented in the second class; generally the reduplicative syllable, but sometimes the root, in the third class; the suffix in the fifth, eighth, seventh, and ninth; e. g. 3. sing. ind. ās-ti, subj. ās-a-ti, impv. ās-tu, from as- 'be', 2nd cl.; 3. sing. ind. bī-bhar-ti from bhr- 'bear', 3rd cl.; 3. sing. ind. kr-nō-ti, subj. kr-nāv-a-t, 2. pl. impv. kr-nō-ta, and kr-nō-tana from kr- 'make', 5th cl.; 3. sing. subj. man-āva-a-te from man- 'think', 8th cl.; 1. sing. ind. yu-nā-j-mi, 3. sing. subj. yu-nā-j-a-t from yuj- 'join', 7th cl.; 3. sing. ind. grbh-nā-ti, 2. sing. subj. grbh-nā-s from grabh- 'seize', 9th cl.; but 2. sing. impv. ad-dhi, 3. pl. opt. ad-yūr from ad- 'eat', 2nd cl.; 1. pl. ind. bī-bhr-māsi; 1. sing. ind. mid. kr-nv-ē, 2. sing. impv. kr-nv-hi; 1. pl. opt. van-u-yāma, 3. pl. impv. van-v-āntu from van- 'win', 8th cl.; 3. sing. mid. yūik-tē, 2. sing. impv. mid. yūik-svā; 1. pl. ind. gr-nī-māsi, 2. sing. impv. gr-nī-hi from gr- 'praise', 9th cl.

a. Irregularities. In the second or root class, several verbs accent the radical syllable throughout⁴: ś- 'lie' does so besides taking Guṇa; e. g. 1. sing. śay-e, 2. sing. śe-se etc.⁵ Occasional accentuation of the root in weak forms appears in 2. sing. impv. *jān-i-svā*⁶ (√jan-), māt-sva (√mad-), yāk-sva (√yaj-), sāk-sva and sāk-sva (√sah-), śāh-a-t, subj. (śāh- 'thrive'), 3. pl. impv. svāp-antu (AV.), and śvās-antu (AV.)⁷. A few roots of the third class accent the root instead of the reduplicative syllable in the strong forms. These are ci- 'note', mad- 'exhilarate', yu- 'separate', hu- 'sacrifice'; e. g. 2. sing. ci-kē-si (AV.); 3. sing. subj. ma-mād-a-t, 3. sing. impv. ma-māt-tu; 3. sing. subj. yu-yāv-a-t, 2. pl. impv. yu-yō-tana; 3. sing. ju-hō-ti. Occasional forms thus accented are 2. sing. iy-ār-si (RV.) from

³ The final syllable of the ending of the 3. pl. middle is regularly accented in several verbs, as ri-hatē, duh-atē; see WHITNEY 613, 685, 699; DELBRÜCK, Verbum 73.

ṛ- 'go', 2. sing. mid. dhāt-se from dhā- 'put', and bi-bhār-ti (RV. AV₂) beside the usual bi-bhar-ti. Both types, when the ending begins with a vowel, throw the accent back on the reduplicative syllable; e. g. 3. pl. jūhv-ati and bibhr-ati, but 2. pl. jūhu-thā and bibhithā. The subjunctive here, as usual, follows the accentuation of the strong indicative; its stem from the same two roots would be jūhāv-a- and bibhar-a-. In the optative middle the accent is thrown back on the reduplicative syllable because the modal affix begins with a vowel; e. g. 1. sing. dādhi-ya etc. beside 1. sing. act. dadh-yām etc.¹ The RV., however, once has dadhī-tā beside dādhi-ta (3 times). In the imperative, endings with initial consonant are accented in the weak forms, otherwise the reduplicative syllable; e. g. 2. sing. de-hi, 2. du. dat-tām, but 3. mid. pl. jihatām. The strong 3. sing. impv. act. follows the strong ind., e. g. dādhatu, pīpartu; the 2. pl. is often strong; e. g. jūhāta, dādhatā. The participle regularly accents the reduplicative syllable; e. g. jūhv-at, jūh-āna, except only pīpānā- (pā- 'drink'). — In the seventh class the root hims- 'injure' (originally perhaps a desiderative of han- 'strike') accents the radical syllable in weak forms, as 3. sing. hims-te, pl. hims-anti, part. hims-āna-. — In the fifth and eighth classes the RV. has several instances of irregular accentuation of the final syllable in the 3. pl. mid.: kr-ṇv-ati, vr-ṇv-ati, sp-ṇv-ati; tan-v-ati, man-v-ati. — In the ninth class the irregular accentuation of the 3. pl. mid. occurs in pu-n-a-tē and ri-ṇ-ati (ri- 'flow'). The ending -āna, which is here added in the 2. sing. impv. act. to a few roots with final consonant, is accented on the last syllable: grh-ānā, badh-ānā (AV.), stabh-ānā (AV.).

98. The perfect. — The singular indicative active and the whole subjunctive² accent the radical syllable; all other forms of the indicative, as well as the whole imperative and optative accent the endings; e. g. ind. 3. sing. cakr-a, pl. cakr-ir, 1. pl. mid. cakr-māhe; subj. sing. 2. paprāth-a-s, pīprāy-a-s; 3. jabhār-a-t, pīprāy-a-t, mumūc-a-t; dadhārs-a-ti, vavārt-a-ti; pl. 1. cākān-āma, sāsāv-āma, 3. paprāth-a-n; opt. sing. 1. vavrt-yām, 2. susrū-yās, 3. tutuj-yāt, du. 2. susrū-yātam; pl. 3. vavrt-yūr; mid. sing. 2. vāvrdh-ti-thās, 3. śisr-tā (śri- 'resort'); impv. sing. 2. pīpr-hi, mumug-dhi (√ muc-), du. 2. jajas-tām; mid. sing. 2. *dadhī-ṣvā*³. The participle, both active and middle, accents the suffix; e. g. cakr-vāms; cakr-ānā.

99. The aorist. — The accentuation of the unaugmented forms of the indicative has already been stated (96). With regard to that of the moods, the following notes may be added.

1. The root aorist accents the radical syllable in the subjunctive; e. g. sing. 2. kār-a-s, 3. kār-a-t, du. 3. śrāv-a-tas, pl. 3. gām-a-nti, mid. sing. 3. bhōj-a-te; in the injunctive, the radical syllable in the singular, but the ending elsewhere; e. g. sing. 1. nām-s-i, pl. 3. dabh-ir, mid. sing. 2. my-thās; in the optative, the endings throughout; e. g. act. sing. 1. aś-yām, 2. bhū-yās, mid. pl. 1. aś-imāhi; in the imperative, the root in the 3. sing. act., but the ending elsewhere; e. g. sing. 3. śrō-tu, but 2. kr-dhi, du. 2. ga-tām, pl. 2. *bhū-tā*⁴, mid. sing. 2. kr-ṣvā; in the participle, the suffix is accented in the active, e. g. bhid-ant, and generally in the middle, e. g. budh-ānā, but in several instances the root; e. g. dyūt-āna.

2. In the a-aorist the accentuation follows that of the unaugmented indicative; thus the subjunctive sing. 3. vidāt; the injunctive sing. 1. dārśa-m, ruhā-m, 3. ruha-t, vidāt, sāna-t, pl. 3. vidā-nta; optative, sing. 1. vidēyam, sanēyam, pl. 1. sakēma, sanēma and sānema; the imperative, sing. 2. sāna, sāra, du. 2. ruhā-tam, sāda-tam, pl. 2. khyā-ta. The participle usually accents the thematic -a, but sometimes the root; e. g. typā-nt, but sāda-nt; guhā-māna, but dāsa-māna.

² When the primary endings are added, the reduplicative syllable is almost always accented; e. g. jūjāsasi; some others, which take secondary endings, but do not strengthen the root, also accent the reduplicative syllable, as dādhyanta; see below 490.

³ A few forms accent and strengthen the radical syllable, du. 2. mumūc-a-tam, pl. 2. mumūc-a-ta, mid. sing. 2. pīprāy-a-sva.

⁴ But the root is strong and accented in several forms, kār-ta etc., of the 2. pl. imperative.

3. In the reduplicated aorist the only accented form in the subjunctive seems to be vócātī; in the injunctive, either the reduplicative syllable or the root is accented; e. g. sing. 2. nīnāś-as, śīśrāthas, 3. pīparat and pīpārat; in the optative, the thematic vowel or the ending; e. g. pl. 1. vócēma, cucyuvī-māhi; in the imperative, the thematic vowel or the ending; e. g. du. 2. jigr-tām, pl. jigr-tā, susūdd-ta (AV.).

4. The s-aorist accents the root in the subjunctive; e. g. dūr-s-a-t (dūr- 'split'), yāk-s-a-t (yaj- 'sacrifice'), du. 2. pār-s-a-thas (pr- 'take across'); the root in the injunctive as far as can be judged from the extremely few accented forms, as mid. sing. 1. vām-s-i (van- 'win'); the ending¹ in the optative, as mid. sing. 1. bhak-s-ī-yā (√bhaj-), pl. dhuk-s-ī-māhi (duh- 'milk'); in the imperative no accented forms occur; the participle accents the root in the active, as dāk-s-ant- (dah- 'burn'), but in the irregularly formed middle² nearly always the suffix, as arc-a-s-ānd-, but dh-a-s-āna- (527).

5. The is-aorist accents the root in the subjunctive; e. g. sing. 3. bōdh-is-a-t; the root in the injunctive, e. g. sing. 2. māth-īs, but once the ending in pl. 3. tār-is-ūr (AV.); the ending in the optative; e. g. sing. 1. edh-is-ī-yā (AV.); the ending in the imperative; e. g. sing. 2. av-iq-qhī, du. 2. av-is-tām.

6. In the sis-aorist no accented forms occur except one in the imperative, where the ending has the acute, du. 2. yā-sis-tām.

7. The sa-aorist accents that syllable in the injunctive, as pl. 3. dhuk-sā-nta (but once sing. 3. dhūk-sa-ta), and in the imperative, as sing. 2. dhuk-sā-sa (√duh-). No subjunctive or optative forms occur.

100. The future.—The accent in all forms of this tense remains on the suffix -syāt- or -i-syā; e. g. sing. 3. e-syāt-tī (AV.) 'he will go' (√i-); sing. 1. stav-i-syāmi 'I shall praise' (√stu-), 3. kar-i-syāti 'he will do' (√kr-); participle kar-i-syānt- 'about to do'.

101. Secondary conjugations.—All these, except the active form of the intensive, accent the same syllable of the stem throughout. They are the causative, the denominative, the passive, the secondary form of the intensive, and the desiderative, the stem of all of which ends in -a. The causative accents the penultimate syllable of the stem; e. g. krodh-āya- 'enrage'.—The passive, the secondary form of the intensive, and the denominative, accent the suffix -yā; e. g. pan-yā-te 'is admired'; rerih-yā-te 'licks repeatedly'; gopā-yāntī 'they protect'. A certain number of unmistakable denominatives, however, have the causative accent; e. g. mantrā-ya-te 'takes counsel'.—The desiderative accents the reduplicative syllable; e. g. pīprī-ṣa-tī.—The primary form of the intensive agrees in accentuation with the third or reduplicating class of verbs, that is, it accents the reduplicative syllable in the strong forms, but the endings with initial consonant in the weak forms of the indicative active; e. g. sing. 3. jāhav-ī-tī, du. 3. jar-bhī-tīs, pl. 3. vār-urī-ati. In the middle indicative, however, the reduplicative syllable is more often accented than not; e. g. tē-tik-te and nenik-tē. In the subjunctive the reduplicative syllable is regularly accented; e. g. sing. 3. jāñghan-a-t, but once the root in sing. 1. jāñghān-āni; mid. pl. 3. jāñghan-anta, but once the ending in du. 3. tantas-āte. No accented form of the optative occurs. In the imperative the ending is accented; e. g. sing. 2. jāgr-hī, car-kr-tāt. In the participle, both active and middle, the reduplicative syllable is regularly accented; e. g. ekkit-at, ekkit-āna; there are, however, two exceptions in the middle: badbadh-ānā- and marmrj-ānā- (548a).

participles irregularly formed with -māna, hā-s-a-māna- and dhi-s-a-māna-.

y- 'go', 2. sing. mid. dhāt-se from dhā- 'put', and bi-bhār-ti (RV¹, AV².) beside the usual bi-bhār-ti. Both types, when the ending begins with a vowel, throw the accent back on the reduplicative syllable; e. g. 3. pl. jīhve-ati and bībhr-ati, but 2. pl. julu-thā and bībhī-thā. The subjunctive here, as usual, follows the accentuation of the strong indicative; its stem from the same two roots would be jūhāv-a- and bībhār-a-. In the optative middle the accent is thrown back on the reduplicative syllable because the modal affix begins with a vowel; e. g. 1. sing. dādh-īya etc. beside 1. sing. act. dadh-yām etc.¹ The RV., however, once has dadhī-tā beside dādhī-ta (3 times). In the imperative, endings with initial consonant are accented in the weak forms, otherwise the reduplicative syllable; e. g. 2. sing. de-hi, 2. du. dat-tām, but 3. mid. pl. jīhatām. The strong 3. sing. impv. act. follows the strong ind., e. g. dādhātu, pīpartu; the 2. pl. is often strong; e. g. jūhāta, dādhāta. The participle regularly accents the reduplicative syllable; e. g. jūhāv-at, jūhāv-āna, except only pīpānā- (pā- 'drink'). — In the seventh class the root hims- 'injure' (originally perhaps a desiderative of han- 'strike') accents the radical syllable in weak forms, as 3. sing. hims-te, pl. hims-anti, part. hims-āna. — In the fifth and eighth classes the RV. has several instances of irregular accentuation of the final syllable in the 3. pl. mid.: kr-ṇv-atē, vy-ṇv-atē, spṛ-ṇv-atē; tan-v-atē, man-v-atē. — In the ninth class the irregular accentuation of the 3. pl. mid. occurs in pu-n-a-tē and ri-ṇ-a-tē (ri- 'flow'). The ending -āna, which is here added in the 2. sing. impv. act. to a few roots with final consonant, is accented on the last syllable: gṛh-ānā, badh-ānā (AV.), stabh-ānā (AV.).

98. The perfect. — The singular indicative active and the whole subjunctive² accent the radical syllable; all other forms of the indicative, as well as the whole imperative and optative accent the endings; e. g. ind. 3. sing. cakār-a, pl. cakr-ūr, 1. pl. mid. cakr-māhe; subj. sing. 2. pāprāth-a-s, pīprāy-a-s; 3. jabhār-a-t, pīprāy-a-t, mumūc-a-t; dadhār-s-a-ti, vavārt-a-ti; pl. 1. cākān-āma, sūsāv-āma, 3. pāprāth-a-n; opt. sing. 1. vavṛt-yām, 2. sūsṛū-yās, 3. tutuj-yāt, du. 2. sūsṛū-yātām; pl. 3. vavṛj-yūr; mid. sing. 2. vāvṛdh-t-thās, 3. sīsṛt-tā (sri- 'resort'); impv. sing. 2. pīprī-hi, mumug-dhi (√ muc-), du. 2. jajas-tām; mid. sing. 2. *dadhī-ṣvā*³. The participle, both active and middle, accents the suffix; e. g. cakr-vāns-; cakr-ānā-.

99. The aorist. — The accentuation of the unaugmented forms of the indicative has already been stated (96). With regard to that of the moods, the following notes may be added.

1. The root aorist accents the radical syllable in the subjunctive; e. g. sing. 2. kār-a-s, 3. kār-a-t, du. 3. śrēv-a-tas, pl. 3. gām-a-nti, mid. sing. 3. bhōj-a-te; in the injunctive, the radical syllable in the singular, but the ending elsewhere; e. g. sing. 1. ndm-s-i, pl. 3. dabh-ūr, mid. sing. 2. mṛ-thās; in the optative, the endings throughout; e. g. act. sing. 1. aś-yām, 2. bhū-yās, mid. pl. 1. aś-īmāhi; in the imperative, the root in the 3. sing. act., but the ending elsewhere; e. g. sing. 3. śrō-tu, but 2. kr-dhi, du. 2. ga-tām, pl. 2. *bhū-tā*⁴, mid. sing. 2. kr-ṣvā; in the participle, the suffix is accented in the active, e. g. bhid-ant, and generally in the middle, e. g. budh-ānā-, but in several instances the root; e. g. dyūt-āna-.

2. In the α-aorist the accentuation follows that of the unaugmented indicative; thus the subjunctive sing. 3. vidāt; the injunctive sing. 1. dārśa-m ruhā-m, 3. ruhā-t, vidāt-t, sāna-t, pl. 3. vidā-nta; optative, sing. 1. vidēyam, sanēyam, pl. 1. śakēma, sanēma and sānema; the imperative, sing. 2. sāna, sāra, du. 2. ruhā-tam, sāda-tam, pl. 2. khyā-ta. The participle usually accents the thematic -a, but sometimes the root; e. g. typā-nt-, but sāda-nt-; guhī-māna-, but dāsa-māna-.

² When the primary endings are added, the reduplicative syllable is almost always accented; e. g. jijyāsi; some others, which take secondary endings, but do not strengthen the root, also accent the reduplicative syllable, as dādhyānta; see below 490.

⁴ But the root is strong and accented in several forms, kār-ta etc., of the 2. pl. imperative.

3. In the reduplicated aorist the only accented form in the subjunctive seems to be vócati; in the injunctive, either the reduplicative syllable or the root is accented; e. g. sing. 2. nīnaś-as, śīśrāthas, 3. pīparat and pīpdrat; in the optative, the thematic vowel or the ending; e. g. pl. 1. vócāma, cucyuv-i-māhi; in the imperative, the thematic vowel or the ending; e. g. du. 2. jīgr-tām, pl. jīgr-tā, susūdā-ta (AV.).

4. The s-aorist accents the root in the subjunctive; e. g. dār-s-a-t (dr- 'split'), yāk-s-a-t (yaj- 'sacrifice'), du. 2. pār-s-a-thas (pr- 'take across'); the root in the injunctive as far as can be judged from the extremely few accented forms, as mid. sing. 1. vām-s-i (van- 'win'); the ending¹ in the optative, as mid. sing. 1. bhak-s-i-yā (√bhaj-), pl. dhuk-s-i-māhi (duh- 'milk'); in the imperative no accented forms occur; the participle accents the root in the active, as ddk-s-ant (dah- 'burn'), but in the irregularly formed middle² nearly always the suffix, as arc-a-s-ānā, but dh-a-s-āna- (527).

5. The iś-aorist accents the root in the subjunctive; e. g. sing. 3. bódh-iś-a-t; the root in the injunctive, e. g. sing. 2. māth-īś, but once the ending in pl. 3. tār-iś-ūr (AV.); the ending in the optative; e. g. sing. 1. edh-iś-īyā (AV.); the ending in the imperative; e. g. sing. 2. av-iṭ-dhī, du. 2. av-iś-tām.

6. In the śis-aorist no accented forms occur except one in the imperative, where the ending has the acute, du. 2. yā-siś-tām.

7. The sa-aorist accents that syllable in the injunctive, as pl. 3. dhuk-śā-nta (but once sing. 3. dhūk-śa-ta), and in the imperative, as sing. 2. dhuk-śā-sva (√duh-). No subjunctive or optative forms occur.

100. The future.—The accent in all forms of this tense remains on the suffix -syā- or -i-syā-; e. g. sing. 3. e-syā-ti (AV.) 'he will go' (√i-); sing. 1. stav-i-syāmi 'I shall praise' (√stu-), 3. kar-i-syāti 'he will do' (√kr-); participle kar-i-syānt 'about to do'.

101. Secondary conjugations.—All these, except the active form of the intensive, accent the same syllable of the stem throughout. They are the causative, the denominative, the passive, the secondary form of the intensive, and the desiderative, the stem of all of which ends in -a. The causative accents the penultimate syllable of the stem; e. g. krodh-āya- 'enrage'.—The passive, the secondary form of the intensive, and the denominative, accent the suffix -yā; e. g. pan-yā-te 'is admired'; rerih-yā-te 'licks repeatedly'; gopā-yānti 'they protect'. A certain number of unmistakable denominatives, however, have the causative accent; e. g. mantrā-ya-te 'takes counsel'.—The desiderative accents the reduplicative syllable; e. g. pīprī-sa-ti.—The primary form of the intensive agrees in accentuation with the third or reduplicating class of verbs, that is, it accents the reduplicative syllable in the strong forms, but the endings with initial consonant in the weak forms of the indicative active; e. g. sing. 3. jóhāv-ti, du. 3. jar-bhr-tās, pl. 3. vār-vrt-ati. In the middle indicative, however, the reduplicative syllable is more often accented than not; e. g. tē-tik-te and nenik-tē. In the subjunctive the reduplicative syllable is regularly accented; e. g. sing. 3. jānghān-a-t, but once the root in sing. 1. jānghān-āni; mid. pl. 3. jānghān-anta, but once the ending in du. 3. tantas-āite. No accented form of the optative occurs. In the imperative the ending is accented; e. g. sing. 2. jāgr-hi, car-kr-tāt. In the participle, both active and middle, the reduplicative syllable is regularly accented; e. g. cēkit-at, cēkit-āna-; there are, however, two exceptions in the middle: badbadh-ānā- and marmrj-ānā- (548 a).

² The root is accented in two middle participles irregularly formed with -māna, hā-s-a-māna- and dhī-s-a-māna-.

5. Accent of nominal verb forms.

102. The accentuation of participles formed from tense and conjugation stems has already been stated. When these are compounded with prepositions, they retain their accents; thus the present and perfect participles of apa-gám- 'go away' would be apa-gácchant-, apa-gácchamāna-; apa-jaganvāms-, apa-jagmāná-. The preposition is, however, not infrequently found separated from the participle by another word or is placed after it, when it is treated as independent and accented, e. g. prá śmāstru didhuvāt (x. 23¹) 'shaking his beard'; āpa dylhāni dārdrat (vi. 17⁵) 'bursting strongholds asunder'; ā ca pára ca pathibhiś cārantam (i. 164³¹) 'wandering hither and thither on (his) paths'; mādhū bibhrata ūpa (i. 166²) 'bringing sweetness near'; tanvānta ā rājāḥ (iv. 45²) 'extending through the air'. The preposition is occasionally found independently accented immediately before the participle, as abhi dākṣat (ii. 4⁷) 'burning around'; vī vidvān (i. 189⁷) 'distinguishing' (probably in distinction from vividvān, perfect participle of vid- 'find').

a. When there are two prepositions, either both are compounded and unaccented, as vi-pra-yāntaḥ (ix. 22⁵) 'advancing', pary-ā-vivṛtsan (vii. 63²) 'turning round'; or one is compounded and the other independent and accented, as abhi ā-cārantīḥ (viii. 96¹⁵) 'approaching'; ava-srjānn ūpa tmānā (i. 142¹¹) 'bestowing indeed'; prá vayām uj-jhānāḥ (v. 1¹) 'flying up to a branch'.

b. Participles in -tar generally accent the root, as kār-tar 'making', but when compounded the suffix. But nī-cetar- 'observing' occurs beside nī-cetār- 'observer'.

103. The past passive participle regularly accents the suffix; e. g. ga-tā- 'gone', pat-i-tā- (AV.) 'fallen', chin-nā- 'cut off' (✓ chid-). But when this participle is compounded with prepositions, the latter are as a rule accented. In several instances, however, the accent of the simple participle is retained, as apa-kṛī-tā- (AV.) 'bought', nī-ci-tā- 'seen', nīṣ-kṛ-tā- 'prepared', nī-ṣat-tā- 'seated', nī-vā-tā- (AV.) 'uninjured', pra-jah-i-tā- 'given up' (from jah-, a secondary form of hā- 'leave'), pra-śas-tā- 'celebrated', saṃ-skr-tā- 'prepared' (beside sāṃ-skr-ta-), saṃ-hi-tā- (VS.) 'variegated'¹. The preposition may be separated from the participle by another word, as pāri soma siktāḥ (ix. 97¹⁵) 'poured, O Soma, around'. When there are two prepositions, the first remains unaccented, as apā-vṛktāḥ (viii. 80⁸) 'removed' (apa-ā-), sam-ā-kṛ-tam (x. 84⁷) 'accumulated'; or it may be separated and independently accented, as prá yāt samudrá ā-hitāḥ (ix. 64¹⁹) 'when despatched forth to the ocean'; pāri gōbhir ā-vṛtam (ix. 86²⁷) 'encompassed round by streams of milk'.

104. Of the gerundives, those in -ya (or -t-ya) and -tva accent the root; e. g. cākṣ-ya- 'to be seen', śrū-t-ya- 'to be heard', car-kr-t-ya- 'to be praised', vāk-tva- 'to be said'; those in -āyā, -enya, -anīya (AV.) accent the penultimate; e. g. pan-āyā- 'to be admired', īkṣ-ēnya- 'worthy to be seen', while those in -tavya accent the final syllable, as jan-i-tavyā- (AV.) 'to be born'². When compounded with prepositions³, gerundives nearly always leave the accent unchanged; e. g. pari-cākṣ-ya- 'to be despised'; with Svarita on the final syllable in the RV. only ā-kāy-yā- 'desirable' and upa-vāk-yā-

² The gerundives in -anīya and -tavya only begin to appear in the AV., where two examples of each occur (581 a, b).

³ The preposition is here always inseparable.

'to be addressed'; abhy-ā-yams-ēnya- 'allowing oneself to be drawn near'; ā-mantri-āṇīya- (AV.) 'to be addressed'.

105. Infinitives are as a rule accented like ordinary nominal cases formed from the same stems.

a. The dative infinitive from root stems accents the ending; e. g. dr̥ś-ē 'to see', but when compounded, the root; e. g. sam-idh-e 'to kindle', abhi-pra-cāks-e (I. 113⁶) 'to see'. Those formed from stems in -as generally accent that suffix, but sometimes the radical syllable; e. g. car-āse 'to fare', but cāks-as-e 'to see'. Those formed from stems in -i and -ti accent the suffix; e. g. dr̥ś-āye 'to see', pi-tāye 'to drink'. Those from stems in -tu accent the root, as bhār-tav-e; also those from stems in -tavā, but with a secondary accent on the final syllable, as gān-tavdi. When these two forms are compounded with prepositions, the latter are accented; e. g. *prā-vantave*¹ 'to win', āpa-bhartavai 'to be taken away', the latter retaining its final accent as well. When there are two prepositions, the first may be independent and accented as well; e. g. vi prā-sartave (VIII. 67¹²) 'to spread'. Infinitives formed with -dhyai generally accent the preceding a of the verbal stem, but sometimes the root; e. g. iyā-dhyai 'to go', but gāma-dhyai 'to go'. Those formed from stems in -man accent the root; e. g. dā-man-e 'to give', except vid-mān-e 'to know'; from stems in -van there are dā-vān-e 'to give', tur-vān-e 'to excel', but dhār-vān-e 'to injure' (√dhvy-)².

b. The accusative infinitive if formed from a radical stem accents the root even when compounded with a preposition; e. g. ślūh-am 'to shine', ā-sād-am 'to sit down'; if formed from a stem in -tu, it accents the root in a simple stem, but the preposition in a compounded stem; e. g. dā-tum 'to give', prā-bhar-tum 'to present', anu prā-volhum 'to advance'³.

c. The ablative-genitive infinitive, if formed from radical stems, which here occur only in combination with prepositions, accents the root; e. g. ava-pād-as '(from) falling down'; if formed from a stem in -tu, the root in a simple stem, but the preposition in a compound stem; e. g. gān-tos 'going', ni-dhā-tos 'putting down'.

d. The locative infinitive if formed from radical stems accents the ending in the simple form, but the root in the compounded form; e. g. budh-i 'at the waking', but saṃ-dr̥ś-i 'on seeing'. The one locative infinitive formed from a stem in -tar, and those from stems in -san accent the suffix; e. g. dhar-tār-i 'to bestow', ne-śān-i 'to lead'.

106. Uncompounded gerunds formed with -tvī, -tvā, tvāya accent the suffix, while the compounded gerunds⁴ formed with -yā or -tyā accent the root; e. g. ga-tvī 'having gone', bhū-tvā 'having become', ga-tvāya 'having gone'; saṃ-gr̥bh-yā 'gathering', upa-sr̥iṭ-tya (AV.) 'having overheard'.

107. Case-forms used as adverbs frequently show a shift of accent. This appears oftenest in the accusative neuter. Thus drav-dt 'quickly', but drāv-ant 'running', probably also *drah-yāt*⁵ 'stoutly'; aparām 'later', but āparām as neuter adjective; ā-vyus-ām (AV.) 'till dawn'⁶; and the adverbs in -vāt, as aṅgiras-vāt 'like Aṅgiras', manuṣ-vāt 'as Manus did', purāṇa-vāt,

² A preposition is occasionally uncompounded with or separated from the infinitive, when both are accented, as prā dāvāne (IV. 32³; V. 653); prā dāśiṣe dātave (IV. 20¹¹).

³ When there are two prepositions, the first is independent and therefore also accented.

⁴ The preposition is here always inseparable.

⁵ Which seems to be formed from an irregular present participle of dr̥h- 'be firm'.

⁶ The ordinary A. of vy- 'dawn' would be vyūṣ-am.

pūrā-vāt, pratna-vāt 'as of old', which are accusative neuters of the adjective suffix *-vāt*¹ (unaccented); and some adverbs from the comparative in -tara, ut-tarām (AV.) 'higher', but it-tara- as adjective; similarly ava-tarām, paras-tarām and parā-tarām 'farther away', vi-tarām 'more widely'² saṃ-tarām (AV.) 'still farther'. Similarly the instrumental dīvā 'by day', but dīvā 'through heaven'; and the dative aparāya 'for the future', but āparāya 'to the later'; and the ablatives apūkāt 'from afar' (āpūka- 'far'), amāt 'from near' (īma- AV. 'this'), sanāt 'from of old' (sāna- 'old')³.

6. Accent in Sandhi.

108. 1. When two vowels combine so as to form a long vowel or diphthong, the latter has the Udātta if either or both of the original vowels had it⁴; e. g. nudasvātha for nudasva ātha; tāvāt for tāva it; kvāt for *kvā it*⁵; āgāt for ā agāt; pitāva for pitā iva, satū for satū u; nāntaras (VI. 63²) for nā antaras.

The contraction of i + i is, however, accented *ī*⁶ the (dependent) Svarita having here (in ī) ousted the preceding Udātta⁷; e. g. dīvīva (RV. AV.) for dīvī iva. This is the prastīṣṭa, 'contracted', Svarita of the Prātiśākhya⁸.

2. When ī and ū with Udātta are changend to y and v, a following unaccented vowel receives the Svarita; e. g. vy ānaṭ for vī ānaṭ.

The uncontracted form with Udātta must, however, almost invariably be read in the RV. This is the *kṣaipra*⁹ Svarita of the Prātiśākhya⁸. Here the enclitic Svarita assumes the appearance of an independent accent.

3. When ā is elided, it throws back its Udātta on unaccented e or o; e. g. sūdvē 'gne for sūndve dgne; vō 'vasaḥ for vo āvasaḥ. But when unaccented a is elided, it changes a preceding Udātta to Svarita; e. g. sō 'dhamāḥ for sā adhamāḥ. This is the abhinihita Svarita of the Prātiśākhya⁸. Here also the enclitic Svarita (in ō ā) has ousted the preceding Udātta (as in dīvīva)¹⁰.

7. The Sentence Accent.

HASKELL, Votive-Accent in the Veda, JAOS. 11, 57. — BÖHTLINGK, ein erster Versuch über den Accent im Sanskrit (Mémoires de l'Académie imp. de St. Pétersbourg 1843) p. 38 ff. — WHITNEY, JAOS. 5, 193 ff., 387 ff. — AUREL MAYR, Beiträge aus dem Rigveda zur Accentuirung des verbum finitum (Sitzungsberichte der phil.-hist. Classe der kaiserlichen Akademie der Wissenschaften, Wien 1871, p. 219 ff.). — WEBER, IS. 13, 70 ff. — BÖHTLINGK, Sanskrit-Chrestomathie² p. 356. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 591 ff. — DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax (Halle 1888) 21—29. — OLDENBERG, Die Verbalenklisis im Rgveda, ZDMG. 60, 707—740.

109. The vocative.—a. The vocative, which whether it consist of a single word or a compound expression, is invariably accented on the first syllable, retains its accent only at the beginning of a sentence or Pāda¹¹;

³ Cp. op. cit. 1114 a.

⁴ Cp. BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 64.

⁵ But when a Svarita is followed by an unaccented syllable, it of course remains; e. g. kvēyatha for kvā iyatha (VIII. 17).

⁶ Except in the Taittiriya texts which follow the general rule (dīvīva).

⁷ This also takes place in sūdgātā (TS.) for sū-udgātā 'a good Udgāt' (TS. VII. 1. 8¹: B.).

⁸ Cp. HAUG 75.

⁹ So called because 'uttered with a quick' (kṣaipra-) pronunciation, the semivowel replacing the vowel.

¹⁰ Cp. WACKERNAGEL I, 251, b α; BRUGMANN, KG. 45, 2.

that is to say, when, having the full force of the case, it occupies the most emphatic position; e. g. agne sūpāyanī bhava (I. 19^b) 'O Agni, be easy of access'; ūrjo napāt sahasāvan (x. 115^{8a}) 'O mighty son of strength'; hōtar yaviṣṭha sukrato (iv. 4^{11d}) 'O most youthful, skilful priest'. This rule also applies to doubly accented dual compounds, as mitrāvaruṇa (I. 15^{6b}) 'O Mitra and Varuṇa' (N. mitrā-vārunā).

a. Two or more vocatives at the beginning of a Pāda are all accented; e. g. ādile, mitra, vāruna (II. 27^{14a}); ūrjo napāt, bhādraśoce (VIII. 71^{3b}) 'O son of strength, O propitiously bright one'¹.

b. The vocative, when it does not begin the sentence, loses its accent, being unemphatic as referring only incidentally to a person already invoked; e. g. ṛtēna mitrāvaruṇāu ṛtāyrdhāv ṛtasprśā (I. 2⁸) 'through Law, O Mitra and Varuṇa, lovers and cherishers of Law'; īpa tvā agne divā-dive, dṛṣā-vastar dhiyā vayām | ... āmasi (I. 17) 'to thee, O Agni, day by day, O illuminer of darkness, with prayer we come'; ā rājānū² maha ṛtasya gopā (VII. 64²) 'hither (come), O ye two sovereign guardians of great order'; yād, indra brahmanas-pate, abhidrohān cāramasi (x. 164⁴)³ 'if, O Indra, O Brahmanaspati, we commit an offence'⁴.

a. The vocative, whether at the beginning of or within a sentence, not being regarded as part of it, does not interfere with the normal accentuation of the sentence. Hence a verb at the beginning of a sentence, following a vocative, is accented as the first word of the sentence; while a verb within a sentence, following a vocative, remains unaccented; e. g. dēvā, jīvata (AV. XIX. 70¹) 'O gods, live'; asmē ū sū, vṛṣṇā, mādayethām (I. 184²) 'beside us, ye two heroes, enjoy yourselves'.

110. The verb.—A. The finite verb in a principal sentence is unaccented except when it is the first word; e. g. agnīm 1le purōhitam (I. 1¹) 'I praise Agni, the domestic priest'; but īle agnīm vipāścitam (III. 27²) 'I praise Agni the wise'. This rule and its exception must, however, be understood with the following restrictions:

1. A sentence is regarded as capable of having only one verb. Hence all other verbs syntactically connected with the subject of the first, are accented as beginning new sentences (a subject or object coming between two such verbs being generally counted to the first); e. g. tṛṣām pāhi, śrudhāt hāvam (I. 2¹) 'drink of them, hear our call'; asmādbhyaṃ jeṣi yōtsi ca (I. 132⁴) 'conquer and fight for us'; tarūnir 1j jayati, kṣēti, pūṣyati (VII. 32⁹) 'the energetic man conquers, rules, thrives'; jahi prajāṃ nīyasva ca (AV. I. 83) 'slay the progeny and bring (it) hither'.

2. The verb, though not beginning a sentence, receives the accent if it coincides with the beginning of a Pāda (which is treated as the beginning of a new sentence); e. g. dtha te dntamānām | vidyāma sumatīnām (I. 4³).

3. Since a vocative (or vocatives) at the beginning of a sentence is treated as extraneous to it, the verb which immediately follows it becomes the first word of the sentence and is accordingly accented; e. g. agne, juṣṣva

² When the first word of a compound vocative is an adjective (not a genitive), it retains its accent within a Pāda; thus vīśve devāsaḥ 'O All-gods', would appear within a Pāda as well as at the beginning.

³ This is an example of two distinct vocatives. The preceding example may contain two also, as the accent of two as well as of one vocative would be lost within a Pāda; but if rājānū stood at the beginning of a Pāda, the accentuation would be rājānū maha ṛtasya gopā, supposing two vocatives were intended.

⁴ The very rare exceptions to the rules given above (a, ū) are doubtless due to errors on the part of the editors or of tradition.

no haviḥ (III. 28¹) 'O Agni, enjoy our sacrifice'. Thus the following sentence of six words contains three accented verbs as well as three accented vocatives: indra, jīva, sūrya, jīva, devā, jīvata (AV. XIX. 70²) 'O Indra, live; O Sūrya, live; O gods, live'.

4. There are some instances in the RV. of the verb when emphatic, even though not placed at the beginning of the sentence, being accented before the particle id, and even before canā; e. g. ādha smā no maghavañ carkrītā id (I. 104³) 'then be mindful of us, bounteous one'; nā, devā, bhasādīhaś canā (VI. 59⁴) '(him) O gods, ye two never consume'².

B. The accent always rests on the verb of a subordinate clause (which is almost invariably introduced by the relative ya- and its derivatives, or contains the particles ca and cā 'if', nēd 'lest', hi 'for', kuvid 'whether'); e. g. yām yajñām paribhūr dsi (I. 1⁴) 'what offering thou protectest'; grhān gaccha grhapātñi yāthāśasā (X. 85²⁵) 'go to the house, that thou be lady of the house'; indraś ca mrlāyati no, nā naḥ paścād aghāñ naśat (II. 41¹¹) 'if Indra be gracious to us, no hurt will thereafter reach us'; vī cād uccānty, āśvinā, uśāsā, prā vām brāhmāṇi kārāvo bharante (VII. 72⁴) 'when the dawns shine forth, O Āśvins, the singers offer their prayers to you'; mā cirāñ tanuthā āpaḥ, nēt tvā . . tāpāti sūro arcīśā (V. 79⁹) 'do not long delay thy work, lest the sun burn thee with his beam'; tvām hi baladā dsi (III. 53¹⁸) 'for thou art a giver of strength'; tām, indra, mādām ā gahi, kuvin³ nō āsya tṛṇāvalā (III. 42²) 'come to this gladdening drink, O Indra, (to see) whether thou mayst enjoy it'.

1. When the first of two clauses, though in form a principal one, is virtually subordinate in sense (being equivalent to one introduced by 'if' or 'when'), its verb is occasionally accented; e. g. sām āśvaparnāś cāranti nō nāro, smākam, indra, rathīno jayantu (VI. 47³¹) 'when our men winged with steeds come together, may the car-fighters of our side, O Indra, win the victory'.

2. Similarly, but much more frequently, the verb of the first of two clauses which are antithetical in sense, is accented⁴. The occurrence of correlative words like anyā-anyā, ēka-ēka, vā-vā, ca-ca, often makes the antithesis obvious; e. g. prā-pra anyē yānti, pāry anyā āsate (III. 9³) '(while) some go on and on, others sit about'; sām ca idhāsva agne, prā ca bodhaya enam (VS. XXVII. 2) 'both be kindled, O Agni, and waken this man's knowledge'; ūd vā sītādadhvam āpa vā pṛṇadhvam (VII. 16¹¹) 'either pour out or fill up'. If the verb of both clauses is the same, it usually appears (as is natural in the circumstances) in the first only; e. g. duipāc ca sārvañ nō rākṣa, cātuspād yāc ca naḥ svām (AV. VI. 107¹) 'protect both every biped of ours and whatever quadruped is our own'.

3. The second clause, on the other hand, accents the verb if it contains an imperative (with a final sense), and follows a clause with an imperative of i-, gam- or yā- 'go'; e. g. ēka, dhīyañ kṛṇāvāma (V. 45⁶) 'come, let us (= that we may) make prayer'; tāyañ ā gahi, kṇveṣu sādā pīva (VIII. 4³) 'come quickly, beside the Kaṇvas drink thy fill'.

III. Verbal prepositions.—A. The preposition, which generally precedes, but sometimes follows the verb, being often separated from it by other words, ¹ Cp. DELBRÜCK 23, 3, 4; 26, 2; WHITNEY 598 a. In the ŚB. hanta regularly accents the verb.

² Cp. GRASSMANN, Wb. under id and canā.

³ There are only two passages in the RV. (v. 3¹⁰, 36³) in which kuvid does not accent the verb; cp. GRASSMANN, sub verbo; DELBRÜCK 550, end.

⁴ This accentuation is more strictly applied in B. than in V., and among the Samhitās least strictly in the RV.; cp. WHITNEY 597 a.

is regularly accented in principal sentences; e. g. ā gamat (I. 1⁵) 'may he come'; jāyema sām yudhi spṛdhah (I. 8³) 'may we conquer our foes in fight'; gāvām āpa vrajām vṛdhi (I. 10⁷) 'unclose the stable of the kine'; gāmad vājebhir ā sā nah (I. 5³) 'may he come to us with booty'.

a. When there are two prepositions, both are accented in the RV., being treated as separate words; e. g. āpa prā yāhi (I. 82⁶) 'come forth'; pāri spāśo ni śadire (I. 25¹³) 'the spies have sat down around'; āpa prāyobhir ā gatam (I. 2⁴) 'come hither with refreshments'; āgne, vi paśya brhatā abhi rāyā (III. 23²) 'O Agni, look forth towards (us) with ample wealth'.

a. When ā immediately follows another preposition (unless it ends in i), it alone is accented, both being compounded with the verb; e. g. *upāgahi*¹ (I. 91¹⁰) 'come hither'; samākṛnoṣi jīvase (X. 25⁶) 'thou fittest (them) for living'. The general rule, however, is followed if the preposition preceding ā ends in i; e. g. prāty ā tanuṣva (IV. 4⁴) 'draw (thy bow) against (them)'². In the only passage in which it has been noted in combination with another preposition preceding it, āva is treated like ā: upāvasrya (X. 110¹⁰) 'pour out'³.

B. The preposition in subordinate clauses is generally compounded with the verb, when it is regularly unaccented; e. g. *yād . . niśidathah*⁴ (VIII. 9²¹) 'when ye two sit down'. It is, however, often separated from the verb, and is then accented as well as the verb. In this case it is commonly the first word of a Pāda, but occasionally comes after the verb; e. g. vi yō mamā rājast (I. 160⁴) 'who measured out the two regions'; yās tastāmbha sāhasā vi jmo āntān (IV. 50¹) 'who with might propped earth's ends asunder'. Occasionally the preposition is separate and accented even when immediately preceding the verb; e. g. yā ākutim pāri vādā nāmobhiḥ (VI. 1⁹) 'who fully knows the offering with devotion'.

a. When there are two prepositions, either both are unaccented and compounded with the verb, or the first only is separate and accented; e. g. yāyām hi, devir, rṭayigbhir āsvaiḥ pariprayāthā (IV. 51⁵) 'for ye, O goddesses, proceed around with steeds yoked by eternal order'; sām yām āyānti dhendvāḥ (V. 6²) 'to whom the cows come together'; yātra abhi saṃnāvāmahe (VIII. 69⁵) 'where we to (him) together shout'. A very rare example of two independent prepositions in a dependent sentence is prā yāt stotā . . āpa gūrbhir ite (III. 52⁵) 'when the praiser pours forth laudation to (him) with songs'.

IV. NOMINAL STEM FORMATION.

GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch zum Rig-veda 1687—1738 (list of nominal stems according to alphabetical order of the final letter). — LINDNER, Altindische Nominalbildung. Nach den Samhitās dargestellt. Jena 1878. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1136—1245; Roots, Verb-forms, and Primary Derivatives, 1885.

112. The bare root, both verbal and pronominal, is often used as a declinable stem. But much more generally the stem in declension is formed by means of suffixes. These are of two kinds: primary, or goes much further, apparently making accentuation of the second preposition the rule; cp. DELBRÜCK p. 48.

² The treatment of two prepositions is on the whole the same in the AV. (cp. WHITNEY, APr. 185 ff.) and the TS. (cp. WEBER, IS. 13, 62 ff.); but the TS. treats some other prepositions like ā, and the MS.

³ Cp. DELBRÜCK p. 47, end.

those that are added directly to roots; secondary, or those that are added to stems already derivative (pronominal stems being also accounted as such). The distinction between these two kinds is, however, not absolute. Suffixes containing a secondary element sometimes have the appearance and application of primary suffixes (as -anīya = -an-īya). Less frequently primary suffixes come to be used as secondary ones; thus the participial suffixes are added not only to the root, but also to primary and secondary conjugation stems as well as to tense stems. These nominal suffixes are sometimes added by means of what looks like and may conveniently be called a connecting vowel, though it may not be so in origin. Primary suffixes are also added to roots compounded with verbal prefixes¹.

I. Primary Nominal Derivation.

113. As regards form, the root when used without suffix usually remains unchanged in respect to its vowel²; it is then, however, liable to modification in two ways: always adding the determinative -t if it ends in -i, u, or -r, and occasionally appearing in a reduplicated form. But before primary suffixes the root usually appears in a strong form: either with Guna of medial or final vowels, as véd-a 'knowledge' from √vid-, sár-ana- 'running' from √sy-; or with Vrddhi of final -i, -u, -r and lengthening of medial a, as kār-á- 'making' from √kr-, grābh-á- 'seizer', from √grabh-.

a. As regards meaning, there are two classes of primary derivatives: the one expressing abstract action nouns (with an infinitival character), the other concrete agent nouns (with a participial character) used as adjectives or substantives. Other senses are only modifications of these two; as that of the passive participle, which expresses an agent who becomes the recipient of an action. The primary suffixes forming action nouns can also nearly all be used to form agent nouns; and many of those properly forming agent nouns may also form action nouns. Those which properly form action nouns are: -a, -an, -ana, -anā, -ani, -ant, -as, -ā, -ī, -is, -i, -īka, -us, -tas, -ti, -tu, -tna, -tha, -thu, -nas, -ni, -nu, -pa, -ma, -man, -mi, -yu, -van, -sas. Those which properly form agent nouns are: -aka, -at or -ant, -ata, -anīya, -asi, -āku, -āna, -in, -iṣṭha, -īyāms, -u, -uka, -ū, -ūka, -ka, -ta, -tar, -tmu, -tra, -tri, -tva, -thi, -na, -māna, -min, -ya, -ra, -ri, -ru, -la, -li, -lu, -va, -vana, -vani, -vanu, -vara, -vas, -vāms, -vi, -sa, -sani, -saru, -sna, -snu.

Root stems.

114. These stems are used both as action nouns (often in the function of infinitives) and as agent nouns, either substantives or adjectives.

1. Examples of the simple root form are: dyūt- f. 'splendour', nīt- (AV.) f. 'gesticulation', būdḥ- f. 'awaking'; dā- 'giver', bhīd- f. 'destroyer', yūj- m. 'companion', spās- m. 'spy'; māh- 'great', vīdh- 'strengthening'.—2. With root determinative -t: mī-t- f. 'pillar', stī-t- f. 'praise'.—3. With reduplicated root: cikī- 'wise' (cit- 'observe'), juhī- f. 'sacrificial spoon' (hu- 'offer'), juhī- 'tongue' (hū- 'call'), *dadīh-*³ 'heartly' (dāh- 'be firm'), didyī- m. 'missile', didyī-t- f. 'missile', 'lightning', sasyád- f. 'running stream' (syana- 'run')⁴ and with intensive

² That is, the root appears in the weak form, in which it is usually stated.

³ In dadīh adv. 'heartily'.

⁴ Perhaps also gāngā- f. 'Ganges' if reduplication: jāgū- 'singing aloud' (gu- 'sound'), pra-ṇenī- 'guiding constantly' (nī- 'lead'), yatyādh- 'warlike' (yudh- 'fight'), vāntvān- 'desiring', a-sūst- (AV.) 'barren' ('not bringing forth'). dāridra- (VS.) 'roving' (drā- 'run') is a transfer to the radical a-stems¹.

-a: action and agent.

115. A vast number of derivatives is formed with this suffix, before which the root is generally strengthened, but sometimes remains unchanged or is reduplicated. Those formed with Guṇa are more than twice as numerous as all the rest taken together. Medial a generally remains unchanged.

1. Examples of derivatives with Guṇa are the following action nouns: āy-a- m. 'course' (i- 'go') hāy-a- m. 'invocation' (hū- 'call'), tār-a- m. 'crossing' (tī- 'cross'); vid-a- 'knowledge' (vid- 'know'), jās-a- 'enjoyment' (ju- 'enjoy'), sārg-a- 'emission' (srj- 'send forth'); agent nouns: plav-ā- m. 'boat' (plu- 'float'), megh-ā- m. 'cloud' (mih- 'discharge water'), cod-ā- 'instigator' (cud- 'incite'). With medial a: grābh-a- m. 'seizure' (grabh- 'seize'), śrām-a- m. 'weariness' (śram- 'be weary').

a. In several words thus formed the meaning varies according as the root is accented or the suffix, the word in the former case being nearly always an abstract substantive, in the latter regularly an adjective or an agent noun; thus ārth-a- m. 'side', arāh-ā- 'half'; ts-a- m. 'speed', es-ā- 'speeding'; cād-a- m. 'goad', cod-ā- m. 'instigator'; vār-a- m. 'choice', var-ā- m. ('chooser') 'suitor', śās-a- m. 'command', śāś-ā- m. 'commander', śāk-a- m. 'glow', śok-ā- (AV.) 'glowing'.

2. Vrddhi of final vowels and lengthening of *a*²: action nouns are dāv-ā- (AV.) 'fire' (du- 'burn'), tār-ā- (VS.) 'crossing' (tī- 'cross'), bhāg-ā- 'share' (bhaj- 'divide'); agent nouns are nāy-ā- 'leader' (nī- 'lead'), jār-ā- 'lover', grābh-ā- 'seizer'.

3. Several derivatives are formed from the weak form of the root, the suffix being accented³; thus prīy-ā- 'dear' (prī- 'please'), sruv-ā- m. 'spoon' (sru- 'flow'), *vr-ā-*⁴ m. 'troop' (vr- 'surround'), tur-ā- 'rapid' (tī- 'cross'); yug-ā- n. 'yoke', śuc-ā- 'bright', kṛś-ā- 'lean'⁵.

a. Several derivatives of this type, which occur almost exclusively at the end of compounds, are made from various tense stems; e. g. -ā-saj-a- 'stopping', -tud-ā- (AV.) 'impelling', -paś-ya- 'seeing', -irv-ā- 'urging', -pr-ṇā- 'bestowing', -indh-ā- 'kindling', -bruv-ā- (AV.) 'saying', -pih-ā- (AV.) 'drinking', -ej-ayā- 'exciting'⁶; je-s-ā- m. 'attainment' (aor. stem of ji- 'conquer'), neśā- m. 'guidance' (aor. stem of nī- 'lead').

4. A considerable number of derivatives are formed from the reduplicated root; thus cacar-ā- 'movable', dadhṛs-ā- 'bold', vavr-ā- m. 'hiding' (vṛ- 'cover'), śiśay-ā- 'strengthening' (śi- 'sharpen'), śiśnūth-a- 'perforation' (śnath- 'pierce'), sasr-ā- 'flowing' (√sr-). They are more usually formed directly from the intensive stem or from stems analogously reduplicated; e. g. cākṣm-ā- 'gracious' (kṣam- 'forbear'), rerih-ā- (AV.) 'continually licking' (rih- 'lick'), -rorud-ā- (AV.) 'shedding tears' (rud- 'weep'), revij-ā- 'quick' (rij- 'dart'); carā-car-ā- 'far-extending', calā-cal-ā- 'unsteady', pani-spād-ā- (AV.) 'palpitating' (√spand-), marī-mṛś-ā- (AV.) 'groping' (mṛś- 'feel'), malī-mruc-ā- (AV.) 'moving about in from gā- 'go'; śiśu- m. 'child', if from śū- 'grow'.

² In these words the suffix is almost invariably accented; kām-a- 'desire' is accented on the root as differentiated from kām-ā- 'desiring'; similarly śāk-a- 'help' and śāk-ā- 'helpful'.

³ See LINDNER p. 33.

⁴ According to GRASSMANN, f. vṛā-.

⁵ Some of the derivatives of this type are transitions from the root stems to the a-declension, especially at the end of compounds.

⁶ See below, Determinative Compounds, 272.

the dark', a kind of demon (mluc- 'set', of the sun), varī-vrt-ā- (AV.) 'rolling' (vrt- 'turn'), sani-śyad-ā- (AV.) 'running' (śyand-), sani-sras-ā- (AV.) 'decrepit' (sraṇs- 'fall'), sarī-srp-ā- 'crawling' (śrp-).

a. The suffix -a is by far the most frequent one used in forming derivatives from the root with a verbal prefix, being nearly always accented whether the noun expresses an action or an agent; e. g. am-kar-ā- (AV.) 'assistance', abhi-droh-ā- 'enmity', ud-ān-ā- (VS.) m. 'breathing upwards', ni-meṣ-ā- (VS.) 'wink', praty-ā-brāv-ā- 'response', saṃ-gam-ā- 'assembly'; ati-yāj-ā- 'sacrificing excessively', 'over-pious', adhi-cankram-ā- (AV.) 'climbing over', ā-dardir-ā- 'crushing', ut-tud-ā- (AV.) 'rousing', pari-car-ā- (AV. VS.) 'wandering', vi-bodh-ā- 'wakeful', saṃ-gir-ā- (AV.) 'swallowing', saṃ-jay-ā- 'victorious'.

b. There are many words which have the appearance of ending in this suffix, though the root cannot be found elsewhere. They include several nouns of plants and animals. Examples are ukhā-² (AV.) 'caldron', brōdā- (VS. AV.) 'breast', khlā- (AV.) 'waste land', nakhā- 'nail', paṣā- 'wing', vamśā- 'reed'³.

116. This suffix, which consists of the primary -a with the secondary -ka added, is in a few words used as a primary suffix forming agent nouns only: abhi-kṛś-aka- (VS.) 'reviler', pīy-aka- (AV.) 'abuser', a class of demon, vādh-aka- (AV.), a kind of reed ('destructive'), śāy-aka- n. 'missile' (śi-); also pāv-akā- 'purifying', 'bright', which though always written thus is invariably to be pronounced pavākā-.

-ata : agent.

117. In a few adjectives the primary suffix -a with -tā added is attached to the strong form of the root, chiefly with the sense of the gerundive: dars-ātā- 'visible', pac-ātā- 'cooked', bhar-ātā- 'to be tended', yaj-ātā- 'to be adored', *raj-ātā-*⁵ 'silvery', *hary-ātā-*⁶ 'desirable'.

-at and -ant : agent.

118. The suffixes -at and -ant are almost restricted to the formation of active participles. The former appears chiefly in the formation of present participles of the reduplicating class, as dād-at- 'giving'; also in dās-at- 'worshipping', śās-at- 'instructing', and the aorist participle dīks-at- and dhīks-at- from dah- 'burn'. There are besides a few substantives originally participles, which have shifted their accent, formed with -at: vah-āt- f. 'stream', vegh-āt- (AV. VS.) f. 'barren cow', vāgh-āt- m. 'sacrificer', sraṇ-āt- f. 'stream', śaśc-āt- m. 'pursuer'⁷. The suffix -ant is used to form the active participle of present stems (excepting those of the reduplicating class), of future stems, and aorist stems. Some of these have become independent adjectives: ṛhi-ant- 'weak', pīṣ-ant- 'spotted', brh-ant- 'great', *mah-ant-*⁸ 'great', ṛiś-ant- 'brilliant'; also the substantive d-ant- m. 'tooth'⁹. dvay-ant- in d-dvay-ant- (RV.) 'not double-tongued' has the appearance of a participle of a denominative stem from dvī- 'two'. With the same suffix are formed the two pronominal stems i-y-ant- 'so great' ('making this', i-) and kl-y-ant- 'how great?' ('making what?' kl-).

119. Few words are formed with this suffix, and in some of them the root is doubtful.

² Also in ukha-cchid- (RV.) 'fragile as a pot', f. ukhā-.

³ Cp. LINDNER p. 33, bottom.

⁴ -āka- also appears in the Proper Name nabh-āka-.

⁵ Probably from the root raj- 'colour'.

⁶ Formed from the denominative stem of hāri- 'bright'.

⁷ See below, Participial stems in -at, 311 A.

⁸ With lengthened vowel in the strong cases.

⁹ See below, Participles in -ant, 313.

The only action nouns are the following neuters: māh-ān-¹ 'greatness', rāj-ān- (RV¹) 'guidance', gāmbh-ān- (VS¹) 'depth'. The infinitives in -s-ān-i (588c) are, however, probably locatives of action nouns formed with -an from aorist stems.

Agent nouns are: uś-ān- m. 'ox', cāks-ān- (AV.) n. 'eye', tāks-ān- m. 'carpenter', pūś-ān- m., N. of a god, plih-ān- (VS. AV.) m. 'spleen', majj-ān- m. 'marrow', mūrdh-ān- m. 'head', rāj-ān- m. 'king', vīś-ān- adj. 'virile', m. 'bull', sāgh-ān- (TS. III. 2. 1¹) 'vulture'.

a. There are also several words formed with -an the root and original meaning of which are mostly doubtful: 1. yū-v-ān- m. 'youth', yōś-ān- f. 'maiden', śv-ān- m. 'dog'; 2. defective neuter nouns; aks-ān- 'eye', ās-ān- 'blood', asth-ān- 'bone', āh-ān- 'day', ās-ān- 'face', ud-ān-² 'water', ūdh-ān- 'udder', dadh-ān- 'sour milk', doś-ān- (AV.) 'arm', yak-ān- 'liver', sāk-ān- (AV. VS.) 'dung', sakth-ān- 'thigh'; 3. stems occurring at the end of compounds only: -gm-ān- and -jw-ān- (also used independently) 'course', -dāw-ān-³ 'playing'; -bhv-ān-⁴ 'being', -śv-ān-⁵ 'growing' (?)⁶.

120. With the suffix -ana are formed a large number of derivatives with both types of meaning. The root generally shows Guṇa, sometimes Vrddhi, occasionally no change, rarely a weakened vowel. These derivatives very often appear with a preposition, such verbal compounds coming next in frequency to those formed with the suffix -a.

1. With Guṇa are formed neuter action nouns; e. g. kār-ana- 'deed', cāy-ana- (AV.) 'piling', dāv-ana- 'play', bhōj-ana- 'enjoyment', vārdh-ana- 'increase', vēd-ana- 'possession', hāv-ana- 'invocation', adhi-vi-kārt-ana- 'cutting off'; also agent nouns; e. g. the adjectives kar-ant- 'active', cēt-ana- 'visible', cōd-ana- (AV.)⁷ 'impelling', vi-mōc-ana- 'releasing'; from a duplicated (intensive) stem: iāgar-ant- (VS.) 'waking' (Vgr-).

2. With Vrddhi⁸ or lengthened medial a are formed neuter action nouns, sometimes with a concrete sense; e. g. ut-pār-ana- (AV.) 'transporting', upa-vās-ana- (AV.) 'clothing', 'dress', pra-vāc-ana- 'proclamation', sād-ana- 'seat'; also agent nouns; e. g. saṃ-srāv-ana- (AV.) 'flowing together'; -cāt-ana- 'driving away', mād-ana- 'gladdening', -vāh-ana- 'conveying', -spāt-ana-⁹ (AV.) 'spying'; svād-ana- m. 'sweetener'.

3. With unchanged vowel (final -ā and medial a) are formed neuter action nouns; e. g. dāna- 'giving', ud-yāna- (AV.) 'going out', ni-dhāna- 'receptacle', rāks-ana- 'protection', sād-ana- 'seat', ava-pra-bhṛānt-ana-¹⁰ (AV. XIX. 39⁸) 'slipping down', prāṇ-ana- 'breathing' (Van-); anomalously formed directly from a preposition, sām-ana- 'meeting'; also agent nouns; e. g. tīp-ana- 'burning', ā-kṛm-ana- (VS.) 'stepping upon', saṃ-gm-ana- 'assembling'.

4. With weak vowel are formed very few derivatives: either neuter action nouns partly with concrete meaning: kṛp-āna- 'misery', pīś-ana- 'tenderness', bhīv-ana- 'being', vṛj-āna- and (once) vīj-ana- 'enclosure', -śiv-ana- (AV.) 'procreation'; or agent nouns: kṛp-ant- (AV.) 'miserable', tur-āna-

² From ud- 'be wet'.

³ From dāv- 'play' in prati-dāv-ān- 'adversary at play'.

⁴ From bhū- 'be' in vi-bhvan- and vi-bhvan- 'far-reaching'.

⁵ In the Proper Names mātari-śv-ān- and yji-śv-ān-, cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 125, bottom, and above, p. 95, n. 11.

⁷ In the RV. only as final member of compounds, ṛṣi-cōd-ana- etc.

⁸ In this type the only vowel appearing in the radical syllable is ā.

⁹ In prati-spāśana- (AV. VIII. 5¹¹).

¹⁰ See WHITNEY's note on nāvaprabhṛānt-sana- in his translation of AV. XIX. 39⁸ and WEBER's erroneous interpretation of this as 'descent of the ship'.

'speeding'; m. ūr-āna- 'ram' (vr- 'cover'), kir-āna- m. 'dust' ('scattering'), vīś-āna- (VS.) 'testicle'.

-anā : action and agent.

121. With this suffix (accented on the first or the last syllable) are formed some feminine action nouns (like the neuters in -ana) which sometimes have a concrete meaning: as-anā 'missile', jar-anā 'old age', dyot-anā 'brilliance', man-anā 'devotion', rodh-anā ('obstruction') 'dam', śvet-anā 'daybreak', has-anā 'laughter'. kap-anā 'caterpillar' and raś-anā 'rein' have the appearance of being formed with this suffix, though the radical parts are not found in independent use. Accented on the penultimate syllable: arh-ānā 'merit', jar-ānā 'dry wood'(?), barh-ānā 'might', bhand-ānā 'brilliance', manh-ānā 'readiness', meh-ānā 'abundance', vaks-ānā 'belly', vadh-ānā 'slaughter', van-ānā 'desire'. The formation of yoś-ānā (RV¹), usually yīś-ānā, 'woman' is obscure¹. With the suffix -anā is also formed (though irregularly accented on the radical syllable) *pīt-anā*² 'fight' from a root not found in independent use³. The suffix -anā also forms feminine agent nouns (adjectives) corresponding to masculines in accented -ana; thus *tur-ānā*⁴ 'speeding', tvar-ānā (AV.) 'hasting', spand-anā (AV.) 'kicking'.

a. Derivatives in -ana with verbal prefixes, if compounded with other words, form their f. in -anā; thus an-apa-vāc-anā (AV.) 'not to be ordered away', sūpa-vāñc-anā and *sūpa-sarp-anā*⁵ (AV.) 'easy of approach', śāḍ-vi-dhānā 'forming an order (vi-dhāna) of six'.

-ani : action and agent.

122. This suffix, accented either on the first or the last syllable, is added to either the strong or the weak form of the root.

1. It forms feminine action nouns, sometimes with concrete sense; thus aś-āni 'missile', iś-āni 'impulse', kṣip-āni 'blow', dyot-āni 'brilliance', dham-āni 'piping', vart-āni 'track', śar-āni 'injury'; also jarāni 'noise' (?) in the compound jarāni-prā 'moving with noise'(?).

2. It forms agent nouns, both m. f. substantives and adjectives; thus ar-āni f. 'fire-stick', caḥś-āni m. 'enlightener', car-āni 'movable', 'active', tar-āni 'swift', dhvas-āni 'sprinkling', vaks-āni m. 'strengtheners'; also in the compounds an-ars-āni, N. of a demon, āj-āni (AV.) f. 'stick for driving' (ā-aj-) and udani-mūt 'abounding in waves' (ud-āni 'undulating' from ud- 'be wet').

a. From the reduplicated root: papt-āni (pat- 'fly') in su-papt-āni f. 'swift flight'. From aorist stems: carś-āni 'active' (car- 'move'), f. pl. 'men', parś-āni 'crossing' (pr- 'cross'), sakś-āni 'overcoming' (√sah-). From desiderative stems: ruruks-āni 'willing to destroy' (ruj- 'break'), siśās-āni 'eager to win' (√sā-), āśusuks-āni 'gleaming forth' (śuc- 'shine').

-anī : action and agent.

123. This suffix is the feminine form corresponding to the action and agent nouns formed with -ana from the strengthened or unreduced root⁶, with or without verbal prefix; thus *-cōd-anī*⁷ 'urging' (cōd-ana), pśś-anī (AV.) 'well-formed' (pśś-ana), prōks-ānī (VS. AV.) f. 'sprinkling water', pra-jñānī

¹ Other stems with the same meaning are: yōś-an-, yōś-ā-, yōś-īt-. The root is probably yu- 'unite'.

² The suffix -anā never otherwise occurs when the root is accented.

³ Only as a nominal stem pīt- 'fight'.

⁴ This is the only example of such accentuation.

⁵ That is, su-apa-vāñc-anā and su-apa-sarp-anā.

⁶ See -ana, 120. I—3.

⁷ In brahma-cōdānī 'stimulating devotion'.

(AV.) 'easily known', spār-anī- (AV.) 'preserving'; abhi-sāv-anī- (AV.) 'pressing implement', vi-dhūr-anī- (AV.) 'preserving'.

a. In some (partly obscure) words the accent here shifts from the radical vowel to the final of the suffix: arṣ-anī- (AV.) 'piercing pain', cet-anī- (AV.) 'visible' (cet-ana-), tāp-anī- 'heat' (tāp-ana- 'burning'), ted-anī- (AV. VS.) 'blood', pṛṣ-anī- 'tender' (pṛṣ-ana- 'tenderness'), vṛj-anī- 'enclosure' (vṛj-āna- and vṛj-ana-).

-an-īya : gerundive.

124. This is a new compositive suffix beginning to be attached directly to the root in the formation of the gerundive. It is based on the primary suffix -ana of neuter action nouns extended with the secondary adjective suffix -īya. There are two examples in the AV.: upa-jīv-anīya- 'to be subsisted on', and ā-mantr-anīya- 'to be addressed'.

-ar : agent.

125. This suffix is found in a very few words: uṣ-ār- f. 'dawn', dev-ār- m. 'husband's brother', nt-nānd-ar- f. 'husband's sister'¹.

-as : action and agent.

126. This suffix forms a large class of neuter action nouns (which sometimes acquire a concrete sense) accented on the root, and a small class of agent nouns (mostly adjectives) accented on the suffix. Some words belong to one class or the other according to the accent. The root generally takes Guṇa, and medial a is sometimes lengthened, while the vowel is reduced in a few instances.

i. Examples of action nouns are: with Guṇa, prāy-as- 'pleasure' (√pr-), śrāv-as- 'fame' (√śru-), kūr-as- 'deed' (√kṛ-), cīt-as- 'brilliance' (√cit-), tēj-as- 'splendour' (√tij-), dōh-as- 'milking' (√dūh-)². With medial a unchanged: dv-as- 'aid', tāp-as- 'heat', prāth-as- 'breadth', vāc-as- 'speech'; and with partially or wholly concrete meaning, cākṣ-as- 'lustre', 'eye', mān-as- 'thought', 'mind', sār-as- 'lake'. With lengthened a: vāc-as-3, vās-as- 'covering', 'garment', vāh-as- 'offering', svād-as- 'flavour' in prā-svādas- 'agreeable'; and from roots not in independent use: pāj-as- 'brilliance' and pāth-as-4 'path'. With reduced vowel: śr-as- 'breast', jīv-as- 'speed' (beside jāv-as-), mīdh-as- 'contempt', śir-as- 'head'; also vip-as- 'inspiration' in the compounds vipāś-cit- 'inspired' and vipo-dhā- 'bestowing inspiration'; iras- 'anger' in the denominative iras-yā- 'be angry'; hur-as- 'deceit' in huraś-cit- 'plotting mischief'. Perhaps also the adverbs (with shift of accent) tir-ās 'across' and mith-ās 'mutually'.

a. To roots ending in -ā the suffix is added direct in bhās-5 n. 'light' (bhā- 'shine') and -dās-5 'giving'⁶ (√dā-). jñās- 'kinsman' and mās- 'moon' are probably also formed with the suffix -as, but being masculines were most likely agent nouns in origin: mā-ās- = 'measurer' (mā- 'measure'). The suffix seems to be added with an intervening y in -hāy-as 'agility'⁷ if it is derived from hā- 'leave'⁸, while in dhāy-as- n. 'enjoyment' and -gāy-as- 'song'⁹ the y probably belongs to the root¹⁰.

² The word hēy-as- 'missile' is perhaps formed from the aorist stem of hi- 'impel'.

³ In vi-vācas- (AV.) 'speaking variously' and sā-vācas- (AV.) 'speaking similarly'.

⁴ According to OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 54, 607 this word means 'home' and is perhaps formed with a suffix -has from pā- 'protect'; according to SIEG, Gurupūjākaumudī 97, it means 'food', and is derived from pā- 'drink'.

⁵ Often to be read as dissyllables, bhaus- and daas-.

⁶ In -das- 'giving' and -dhas- 'placing' an -as has been formed probably by a misunderstanding of the N. sing. -dās and -dhās-.

⁷ In vi-hāyas- 'vigorous' and sārva-hāyas- (AV.) 'having all strength'.

⁸ But it may be a derivative of hi- 'impel'.

⁹ From dhe- 'suck' and gai- 'sing'; cp. above 27 a.

¹⁰ In pī-v-as- n. 'fat' (pī- 'swell') the v may

2. Agent nouns in -ās, mostly adjectives, correspond in several instances to action nouns accented on the root. These are ap-ās 'active' (īp-as 'work'), tār-ās (VS¹) 'quick' (tār-as 'quickness'), tyaj-ās m. 'descendant' (tyaj-as 'abandonment'), duv-ās 'stirring' (dīv-as 'worship'), mah-ās 'great' (māh-as 'greatness'). The derivative tav-ās occurs both as an adjective 'strong' and without change of accent¹ as a m. substantive 'strength'. A few others have no corresponding action noun: toś-ās 'bestowing', dīwar-ās 'deceiving', yaj-ās 'offering', vedh-ās 'worshipper', veś-ās (AV.) 'neighbour'; and from a denominative stem mṛgay-ās (AV¹) 'wild animal'².

a. There are a few substantives accented on the suffix and seemingly never neuter, which are allied to the neuter action nouns in meaning, some being abstract, others concrete in sense. The change of accent may be due to change of gender³. Thus rakṣ-ās m. occurs beside rākṣ-as n. both meaning 'demon'. There also occur jar-ās m. 'old age', bhīy-ās m. 'fear', *tves-ās*⁴ 'impulse', hav-ās 'invocation'; us-ās f. 'dawn' may have been an agent noun originally; doś-ās (AV¹) f.(?) beside doś-ā 'night' may be due to parallelism with us-ās. The stem upās 'lap' (the gender of which is uncertain, as it occurs only in the locative singular) may have been formed under the influence of *upā-stha*⁵ m. 'lap'.

a. A few Proper Names are formed with the suffix -as; thus noth-ās; arcanānas is a compound of ānas 'wain', possibly also bhalānds. *ap-sarās*⁶ f. 'nymph' is perhaps a compound ('moving in the waters'). āngiras, a name of Agni, has the appearance of being formed with this suffix, but the -s is perhaps secondary⁷.

-asī : action and agent.

127. This suffix, which is an extension of -as with -i, forms a couple of action nouns with concrete sense, and a few agent nouns: dhāsi m. 'drink' (dhe 'suck') and dhāsi f. 'abode'; at-asī m. 'beggar', dharm-asī 'strong', sān-asī 'victorious'.

-ā : action.

128. By far the greatest proportion of words in -ā consists of secondary feminine adjectives corresponding to masculines and neuters in -a.

There is, however, also a considerable number of feminine action nouns of an independent character, formed by adding -ā sometimes to the root, but usually to secondary conjugation stems (desiderative, causative, denominative). Thus īś-ā (AV.) 'dominion', nind-ā (AV.) 'blame'; jigīs-ā 'desire to win', bhikṣ-ā (AV.) 'begging', *vīrts-ā*⁸ 'desire to frustrate'; *gamay-ā*⁹ (AV¹) 'causing to go'; aśvay-ā 'desire for horses', apasy-ā 'activity', urusy-ā 'readiness to help', jīvanasy-ā (TS. II. 3. 10²·3) 'desire of life', sukratūy-ā 'skill'.

a. This suffix has the appearance of being added to a reduplicated stem in *jāngh-ā*¹⁰ 'leg' and jihv-ā 'tongue'; it may also be contained in the very obscure word *sūśā*¹¹ (AV¹).

² The suffix is probably contained in ā-han-ās 'wanton', but the derivation is obscure, Cp. FRÖHDE, BB. 21, 321—330.

³ The dative infinitives from stems in -as are sometimes accented on the root, but usually on the suffix (105 a). This may indicate a difference of gender, the former being neuter, the latter masculine.

⁴ As tves-ās and hav-ās occur in the I. sing. only, the gender is uncertain, but owing to the accent it is probably masc.

⁵ According to GRASSMANN, however, upā-stha probably = upās-stha; cp. 81, 2 a.

⁷ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 188.

⁸ From vi-īrtsa desiderative of ṛdh 'prosper'.

⁹ The causative stem used in the formation of the periphrastic perfect.

¹⁰ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 106, top.

¹¹ See WHITNEY's note on AV. I, 113.

-āku : agent.

129. This very rare suffix seems to have been limited to the formation of agent nouns. It appears in mṛday-āku 'gracious' (formed from a causative stem), pṛd-āku (AV. VS.)¹ 'adder', ikṣv-āku, N. of a man.

-āna : agent.

130. This suffix forms a middle participle² from the present (455, 461, 467, 473, 479), the perfect (493) and (in the form of -s-āna) from the aorist tense stem³ (527). It also appears in the formation of a few adjectives and substantives, a preceding u always taking Guṇa. Such adjectives are: tīkav-āna 'speeding' (beside tīk-u- and tīk-va-), bhīgav-āna 'beaming' (beside bhīgu-m.), vīsav-āna 'possessing wealth' (vīsu-), ūrdhva-s-āna 'being erect' (formed like an aorist participle from ūrdhvā- 'upright').

There are also the Proper Names āpnav-āna-, cydv-āna-, pīthav-āna-, also cydvat-āna- which looks as if formed by adding -āna to the active present participle stem of cyu- 'fall'. Of doubtful derivation are the substantives pārs-āna- m. 'abyss' and rujānā-⁴ f. 'river' (I. 32⁶).

-i : action and agent.

131. With this suffix are formed numerous feminine action nouns, agent nouns (adjectives and masculine substantives), and a few neuters of obscure etymology⁵.

The root appears in various forms: sometimes with Guṇa, Vrddhi or lengthened a, generally with unchanged or weak vowel, often reduplicated. Before the suffix a final radical palatal regularly appears (not the original guttural). In many of these derivatives the root is not traceable elsewhere. The accent is so fluctuating that no general rule can be stated. The meaning is often greatly specialised.

1. Examples of action nouns are: with Guṇa, rōp-i (AV.) 'pain', śoc-i (AV.) 'heat'; with lengthened a: āj-i- m. f. 'race', grāh-i- 'seizure', dhrāj-i- 'course'; with unchanged vowel: san-i- 'gain'; with weak vowel: tol-i- 'brilliance', kṛs-i- 'tillage', rlc-i- (AV.) 'brightness'.

2. Examples of agent nouns are: with Guṇa, ar-i- 'devout', arc-i- m. 'beam'; with Vrddhi, kār-i (VS.) 'drawing'; with lengthened vowel -jāni-⁶ f. 'wife', śār-i- f. 'arrow' (RV¹), a kind of bird (VS. TS.), dās-i (AV.) 'poisonous matter'; also in a few words of obscure etymology, drāp-i- m. 'mantle', nābh-i- f. 'navel', pāṇ-i- m. 'hand', rās-i- m. 'heap'; with unchanged vowel: krād-i- 'playing', granth-i- m. 'knot', māh-i- 'great'; with weak vowel: śuc-i- 'bright', gṛbh-i (AV.) 'container', bhīm-i- 'lively' (beside bhīm-i- f. 'lively motion'). From the reduplicated root, which nearly always has a weak or reduced radical vowel, are formed with ordinary reduplicative vowel: cikīti-i-⁷ (SV.) 'understanding', cākr-i- 'active', jāghr-i- 'sprinkling about' (ghr-), pāpr-i- 'bestowing abundantly', babhr-i- 'carrying', vavr-i- m. 'covering', sāsr-i- 'speeding', śiṣv-i- 'pressing'; yīyudh-i- 'warlike', vivic-i- 'appropriating' (Vvyac-);

³ āpnāna- seems to be an irregular present participle of āp- 'obtain' formed from the stem āp-nā- instead of āp-nu-.

⁴ For this word occurring in the form of rujānās see p. 59, note 1.

⁵ See GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch 1718f.; LINDNER p. 55—58.

⁷ Various reading for the cikīti-i- of the RV.

jāgm-i 'hastening' (gam- 'go'), jāghn-i 'striking' (√han-), sāsn-i 'winning'; jāgur-i 'conducting' (√gr-), tātūr-i 'victorious' (√tr-), pāpur-i and pīpur-i (SV.) 'bestowing abundantly' (√pr-) beside pāpr-i; with lengthened or strong reduplicative vowel: tātrp-i 'gladdening', dādhr̥s-i 'bold', vāvah-i 'driving swiftly', sāsah-i 'victorious'; tātuy-i 'speeding', tātuy-t m. 'stimulator', yūyuv-i 'driving away', yāyudh-i 'warlike'; jarbhār-i 'nourishing' (√bhr-)¹. The weak reduplicated present stem appears in dad-t 'giving' and dādhi 'bestowing'; from similar stems (appearing in the perfect) are formed pap-i 'drinking' (√pā-) and yay-i 'speeding' (√yā-).

a. There are only about half a dozen neuters formed with the suffix -i, nearly all being obscure in origin. They are āks-i 'eye', āsth-i (AV. VS.) 'bone', dādhi 'sour milk', sām-i 'toil' (sām- 'work'); and with Vṛddhi hārd-i 'heart'.

b. The root is sometimes compounded with verbal prefixes in these derivatives, the suffix being then usually accented; thus ā-jān-i f. 'birth', vi-vaur-i m. 'opening', saṃ-tan-t f. 'harmony', 'music', ā-yaj-t 'bringing near by offerings', ā-mūr-i m. 'destroyer', ni-jāghn-t 'striking down', parā-dad-t 'delivering over', vi-sāsah-t 'victorious', *vy-ānaś-t*² 'pervading'.

c. From dhā- 'put' is derived the stem -dhi- which is used in forming many m. compounds; e. g. antar-dhi- (AV.) 'concealment', ud-dhi- (AV.), part of a car, ni-dhi- 'treasure', pari-dhi- 'fence'. From sthā- 'stand' is similarly formed -sthi- in prati-sthi- f. 'resistance'. There is here some doubt as to whether we have a reduced form of the root (as in dhi-ta-) or displacement of the radical vowel by the very frequent suffix -i. The latter alternative is perhaps the more probable owing to the almost invariable accentuation of the i and the occurrence of a stem like prati-sthi- 'resistance' beside prati-sthā- 'standpoint'.

132. The very frequent secondary suffix -in seems sometimes to have the value of a primary suffix, exclusively, however, at the end of compounds; thus -ād-in 'eating', -es-in (AV.) 'seeking', -tod-in 'piercing', -ā-nām-in 'unbending', -vyādh-in (AV.) 'piercing'; from a present stem -aś-nuv-in (VS.) 'reaching'; from an aorist stem *-sakṣ-in*³ overpowering (√saḥ-); from a reduplicated stem -yay-in 'going'⁴.

133. With this suffix attached to the root is formed the superlative with an adjectival sense. The root is regularly accented⁵, i and ū taking Guna, while a remains unchanged, though in two or three instances it is strengthened with a nasal. Roots in -ā combine that vowel with the initial -i of the suffix to e, which, however, is usually to be read as two syllables. About fifty superlatives formed with this suffix occur in the Saṃhitās. Examples are: nāy-iṣṭha 'leading in the best manner' (nā- 'lead'), jāv-iṣṭha 'quickest' (jā- 'speed'), vād-iṣṭha 'procuring most' (vid- 'find'), śoc-iṣṭha 'most brilliant' (śuc- 'shine'); yāj-iṣṭha 'sacrificing best'; bāṃh-iṣṭha 'most abundant' (bāṃh-

² From the perfect stem ān-aś- of aś- 'attain'.

³ In pra-sakṣ-in 'victorious'.

⁴ In ni-yay-in 'passing over'. Cp. LINDNER p. 59; WHITNEY 1183 a.

⁵ Except two or three times iyesthā- and kan-iṣṭhā- (see above p. 83, 14); and when the superlative is compounded with a prefix, which then has the accent.

'make firm'), mām̐h-iṣṭha 'most liberal' (māh 'be great'); jyēṣṭha 'greatest' and jyēṣṭhā 'eldest' (jyā 'overpower'), dheṣṭha 'bestowing the most' (√dhā), yēṣṭha 'going fastest' (√yā).

a. In many instances these superlatives attach themselves in meaning to derivative adjectives, being formed from the root which the latter contain; thus *oṣ-iṣṭha*¹ (TS. I. 6. 12³) beside oṣa-m 'quickly', bār̐h-iṣṭha 'greatest' beside br̐h-ānt 'great', vār̐-iṣṭha 'choicest' (vr̐ 'choose') beside vār̐-a 'choice', sādh-iṣṭha 'straightest' beside sādh-ū 'straight'. In a few cases the suffix is added to the derivative form of the root which appears in the adjective; thus ās-iṣṭha (AV¹) 'swiftest' beside ās-ū (from as- 'reach'); and in nāv-iṣṭha 'newest' the suffix is attached to the radical element in *nāv-a*² 'new' (and not directly to the root from which that word may be derived).

b. In some cases the root is compounded with a verbal prefix or other indeclinable; thus ā-gam-iṣṭha 'coming best', ā-sram-iṣṭha 'never tiring', *sām-bhav-iṣṭha*³ 'most beneficial'.

a. There are some irregularities in the formation of this superlative. Thus bhū retains its vowel unchanged, adding the suffix with an intervening -y-; *bhū-y-iṣṭha*⁴ 'greatest'; the roots pr̐ and sr̐ are treated as if they ended in -ā: pr̐ṣṭha 'dearest', sr̐ṣṭha 'most glorious'; pār̐-s-iṣṭha 'taking across best' is made from an aorist stem of pr̐ 'cross'. The abnormal accentuation of jyēṣṭhā 'eldest' is doubtless intended to differentiate its meaning from jyēṣṭha 'greatest'. The use of kan-iṣṭhā 'youngest' is parallel to that of the former⁵.

134. This suffix forms a dozen neuter action nouns, mostly used in a concrete sense. Though the root takes Guṇa, the suffix is accented except in three instances. The words thus formed are: arc-is 'flame', *ām-is*⁶ 'raw flesh', krav-is 'raw flesh', chad-is 'cover', chard-is 'protection', jyōt-is 'light', barh-is 'straw', roc-is 'light', vart-is 'track', vyāth-is 'course' (?), śoc-is 'flame', sarp-is 'melted butter', hav-is 'oblation'.

a. Besides these av-is- appears for av-as- 'aid' and māh-is- for māh-as- 'greatness' in a few derivatives: aviṣ-yānt 'helping readily', aviṣ-yā 'desire', aviṣ-yū 'desirous'; māhiṣ-vant 'great'; and with inorganic -s tīvi-s 'might', śuci-s 'flame', su-rabhi-s 'fragrant' for tuvi-, śuci-, surabhi- in a few derivatives: tīviṣ-mant 'mighty', śuciṣ-mant (only voc.) 'brilliant', surabhiṣ-tama 'very fragrant'.

135. This suffix, besides its secondary use in the formation of feminines, chiefly adjectives, from m. and n. stems in -a, -i, -u, -r, as well as various consonant stems (201), seems to be primary in forming a few independent feminine action and agent nouns. Such are dēh-ī 'rampart', nad-ī 'stream', nānd-ī 'joy', pēs-ī (RV¹) 'swaddling clothes' (?), veś-ī 'needle', śac-ī 'power', sām-ī and śim-ī 'work'; seemingly from an aorist stem (√vah-) vaks-ī (RV¹) 'flame'. There are also about a dozen masculines: ah-ī 'serpent', upāv-ī (VS.) 'encouraging', dakṣ-ī (RV¹)⁷ 'flaming', prāv-ī 'attentive', duṣ-prāv-ī

¹ In the compound oṣiṣṭha-dāvan 'giving immediately'.

² Probably from a demonstrative root m- which appears in nū 'now', nū-tana 'present'.

³ This superlative is formed under the influence of the positive sām-bhū as the independent superlative of bhū is bhū-y-iṣṭha.

⁴ The regular form bhav-iṣṭha occurs in combination with sām.

⁵ kān-iṣṭha 'smallest' appears in books v and vi of the TS.

⁶ This word, which occurs in the L. sing. form āmiṣ-i only, is given as m. in BR., pw., and GRASSMANN, but why it should not be like all the rest a neuter, is not clear.

⁷ Only voc. dakṣi, Pada dhakṣi, I. 141⁸. Cp. p. 119, note 5.

'unfriendly', su-prāv-ī 'very attentive', rath-ī 'charioteer', ā-rath-ī 'not a charioteer'; and the Proper Names nām-ī and *pīth-ī*¹.

-īka : action and agent.

136. This suffix forms a few neuter substantives and some adjectives: thus ān-īka n. 'face', dī-īka n. 'aspect', mṛd-īka n. 'grace', ā-sar-īka (AV.) n. 'rheumatic pains'; *-rj-īka*² 'beaming', dībh-īka m., N. of a demon, vṛdh-īka m. 'increaser', vi-sar-īka (AV.) m., a kind of disease; from a reduplicated stem: par-phar-īka m. 'filler'.

137. This suffix is used in forming comparatives, being added to the root in the same way as the superlative suffix -īṣṭha (133). At least 40 of these derivatives³ occur in the Samhitās. Examples are: jāv-īyāms 'quicker', māmh-īyāms 'more liberal', yāj-īyāms 'sacrificing better', tij-īyāms 'sharper', vēd-īyāms 'procuring more', yōdh-īyāms 'fighting better', *prīyāms*⁴ 'dearer' (√prī-), *śrīyāms*⁵ (√śrī-) 'more splendid', -stheyāms 'lasting' (√sthā-). Connected in sense with the corresponding positive are ān-īyāms (AV.) 'smaller', beside ānu- 'minute', śās-īyāms 'more frequent', beside śās-vant- 'constant'; and from a derivative form of the root tīkṣṇ-īyāms (AV.)⁵ 'sharper', beside tīkṣṇ- 'sharp' (tij- 'be sharp').

a. Beside the usual form in -īyāms there appear some half dozen comparatives made with a shorter form of the suffix -yāms: tāv-yāms beside tāv-īyāms 'stronger', nāv-yāms beside nāv-īyāms 'new', pān-yāms beside pān-īyāms 'more wonderful', *bhū-yāms*⁶ '(becoming) more', 'greater', beside bhāv-īyāms 'more plentiful', rābh-yāms beside rābh-īyāms (VS.) 'more violent', sāh-yāms beside sāh-īyāms 'stronger'; jyā-yāms 'greater', 'older', and sān-yāms 'older' (sāna- 'old') appear without an alternative form beside them.

b. With verbal prefixes or particles: vi-kled-īyāms (AV.) 'moistening more', pāri-svaj-īyāms (AV.) 'clasping more firmly', prāti-cyav-īyāms 'pressing closer against'; ā-stheyāms 'not enduring'.

-u : agent.

138. This suffix forms a considerable number of agent nouns, both adjectives and substantives. The latter are chiefly masculines, but there are also several feminines and neuters. The suffix is usually accented. The root is generally weak, but sometimes shows Vrddhi, least often Guṇa; it also occasionally appears in a reduplicated form. Medial a usually remains unchanged, but is sometimes lengthened; occasionally it is nasalized or appears as e. Final -ā adds an intervening y, but is occasionally dropped. Gutturals only (not palatals) appear before this suffix.

² As final member of a few compounds, as bhā-rjīka 'light-shedding'.

³ See LINDNER p. 155; WHITNEY 466—470.

⁴ The roots prī- and śrī- being treated as ending in -ā: prā-īyāms and śrā-īyāms as in the superlative.

⁵ In the TS. pāp-īyāms is formed directly from the adjective stem pāp-, the radical element of which is uncertain.

⁶ With the radical vowel unchanged as in the superlative.

tāp-u- 'hot', ās-ū- 'swift' (as- 'reach'); anḥ-ū- 'narrow'; cāru- 'active' (car- 'move'); *dhā-y-ū-*¹ 'thirsty', pā-y-ū- 'protecting'; y-ū- 'going' (vyā-)²; rēku- 'empty' (Vric-).

2. Examples of substantives are: m. gyh-ū- 'beggar', rip-ū- 'cheat'; pīpr-u-, N. of a demon; ās-u- 'life', mān-u- 'man', pād-ū- 'foot', bāh-ū- 'arm', amś-ū- 'filament', vā-y-ū- 'wind'; f. īś-u- (also m.) 'arrow', sindh-u- (also m.) 'river', dhān-u- 'sandbank', pārs-u- 'rib', hām-u- 'jaw'; n. āy-u 'life', jān-u- 'knee', tāl-u- (VS.) 'palate', trāp-u- (AV. VS.) 'tin', dār-u- (also m.) 'wood', sān-u (also m.) 'summit'; with syncope, kṣ-ū- 'food' (ghas- 'eat'); with reduplication, tī-ta-ū- 'sieve'.

a. In a few of these derivatives the root appears with a prefix: upā-y-ū- (TS. I. I. 1¹) 'approaching', nī-cer-ū- 'gliding', pra-may-ū- (AV.) 'liable to destruction', pari-tatn-ū- (AV.) 'surrounding', sām-vas-u- 'dwelling together'; *abhīś-ū-*³ m. 'rein', vi-klind-u- (AV.) m. a kind of disease.

139. There is besides a large class of agent nouns formed with -u not directly from the root but from tense or secondary conjugation stems.

1. From present stems are formed: tany-ū- 'thundering' (tanya-ti 'roars'), bhind-ū- m. 'destroyer' (bhind-anti 'they split'), *vind-ū-*⁴ 'finding' (vindati 'finds'); from an aorist stem *dāks-u-*⁵ and dhāks-u- 'burning'.

2. From desiderative stems are formed i-yaks-ū- 'desirous of sacrificing' (Vyaj-), cikits-ū- (AV.) 'cunning' (Vcit-), jigīs-ū- 'desirous of winning' (Vjī-), jighats-ū- (AV.) 'greedy' (ghas- 'eat'), titiks-ū- (AV.) 'patient', dīs-ū- 'ready to give' (Vdā-), *did'kṣ-u-*⁶ (VII. 863) 'eager to see' (Vdṛṣ-), didhīś-ū- 'wishing to obtain' (Vdhā-), dīps-ū- 'wishing to harm' (Vdabh-), ninits-ū- 'wishing to revile', bībhats-ū- 'feeling disgust' (Vbādh-), miniks-ū- 'mingling' (Vmiś-), mumukṣ-ū- 'desiring release' (Vmuc-), ririkṣ-ū- 'wishing to damage' (Vriṣ-), vivakṣ-ū- (AV.) 'calling aloud' (Vvac-), sīśās-ū- (AV.) 'eager to win' (Vsā-).

3. From causative stems are formed: dhāray-ū- 'streaming', bhājay-ū- 'liberal', bhāway-ū- 'cherishing', manḥay-ū- 'liberal', manday-ū- 'joyous', śramay-ū- 'exhausting oneself'; from a causative denominative mṛgay-ū- (AV.VS.) m. 'hunter'.

4. By far the commonest are the derivatives from regular denominatives, of which nearly 80 occur in the RV., and at least half a dozen additional cases in the AV. About 35 of these words are formed from denominative stems in actual use⁷; thus aghāy-ū- 'malignant', arātīy-ū- (AV.) 'hostile', vasūy-ū- 'desiring wealth', carāy-ū- 'mobile', manasy-ū- 'desirous'. A few are formed from pronouns, as ahany-ū- 'selfish', asmay-ū- 'favouring us', kiṇy-ū- 'desiring what?', tvāy-ū- 'loving thee', yuvay-ū- and yuvāy-ū- 'desiring you two', svay-ū- 'left to oneself'. In the absence of an accompanying denominative, there is the appearance of a secondary suffix -yu (with the sense of 'desiring' or some more general adjectival meaning) attached directly to nouns. Thus there are derivatives in the RV. in which the -as of noun stems is changed to -o, as if the suffix were actually -yu: anḥo-yū- 'threatening', duvo-yū- 'honouring' beside duvas-yū-, and ā-skṛdho-yu- 'not niggardly'.

140. This suffix probably consists of the primary -u extended with the secondary -ka. It is very rare in the Samhitās. There is no certain example

² Also in the reduplicated form yāy-u- (VS.) 'swift'; the final -ā seems also to be dropped in ā-kh-ū- 'mole' (khā- 'dig') and in su-śh-ū- ('standing') well' (sthā- 'stand').

³ Probably from abhi-ā- 'rule'.

⁴ In go-vind-ū- 'searching for milk'.

⁵ The Pada text has dhāks-u-. Cp. p. 117, note 7.

⁶ With irregular accent.

⁷ See the list in LINDNER p. 63.

in the RV., but sām-uká- (RV¹.) 'desirous of prey' (√san-) and the Proper Name per-uká- (RV¹.) may be instances. In the AV. occur ghāt-uka- 'killing', vi-kas-uka- 'bursting', sām-kas-uka- 'crumbling up', á-pra-māy-uka- 'not dying suddenly'. In the TS. occurs vas-uká-, but the meaning and derivation are doubtful.

-us : action and agent.

141. This suffix forms neuter action nouns which have mostly a concrete sense, and masculine agent nouns, altogether less than 20 in number. All the substantives except one are accented on the root, which generally takes Guna, but in one instance Vrddhi. Those adjectives which also appear as substantives have the same accentuation; but those stems which are used solely as adjectives accent the suffix.

1. The neuter substantives are: ár-us- (AV.) 'wound', dy-us- 'life', cákṣ-us- 'light', táp-us- 'heat', tár-us- 'battle', dhán-us- 'bow', pár-us- 'knot', yāj-us- 'worship', váp-us- 'marvel', śás-us- 'command'; with accent on the suffix: jan-ús- 'birth' (also m.).

2. The masculine substantives are: náh-us- 'neighbour', mán-us- 'man'; adjectives identical in form with neuter substantives are: cákṣ-us- 'seeing', táp-us- 'glowing', váp-us- 'wondrous'; adjectives without corresponding substantives are: jay-ús- 'victorious', van-ús- 'eager', *vid-ús-*¹ 'heedful'; also dakṣ-ús- 'flaming' from the aorist stem.

-ū : feminine substantives.

142. This rare suffix chiefly forms feminines corresponding to masculines and neuters in *-u*². Independent feminine substantives are: cam-ū- 'dish', tan-ū- 'body', vadh-ū- 'bride'; perhaps *pan-ū-*³ 'admiration'. There are also the compounds pumpś-cal-ū- (VS.) 'courtesan', pra-jan-ū- (AV.) 'organ of generation'.

-ūka : intensive adjectives.

143. This suffix is merely the lengthened form of -uka used in forming a few derivatives from the reduplicated intensive stem. It appears in jāgar-ūka- 'wakeful', dandaś-ūka- (VS.) 'mordacious', salal-ūka- (RV¹.) 'wandering aimlessly'.

-ka : agent.

144. This is a very common secondary suffix, but very rarely appears in a primary character. It is thus used in át-ka- m. 'garment', su-mé-ka- 'firmly fixed' (mī- 'fix'), śús-ka- 'dry', ślú-ka- m. 'call' (śru- 'hear'), sto-ká- m. 'drop'. In vṛśc-i-ka- m. 'scorpion' the suffix is added with connecting -i-. The feminine form of the suffix appears in śtú-kā- 'flake', rā-kā-, N. of a goddess.

145. This suffix is employed almost exclusively to form past participles⁴, chiefly with passive, sometimes with intransitive meaning. Its more general and original sense is, however, preserved in some words used as adjectives or as substantives with concrete meaning; thus ṛṣ-tá- 'rough', āṛdhá- 'firm', śr-tá- 'cold', *vāṇá-ta-*⁵ 'dear'; m. dū-tá- 'messenger', sū-tá- (AV. VS.) 'charioteer',

¹ With weak root; the only instance of medial vowel other than ā in the radical syllable.

³ The stem may be pan-ū-, as the only form occurring is the I. sing. panvī.

⁴ See below, Past passive participles, 572, and the lists in LINDNER p. 70f.

*kīstā*¹ 'singer', *bastā*² 'he-goat'; n. r-tā 'right', ghy-tā 'ghee', jā-tā 'kind', dya-tā (AV.) 'gambling', nṛ-tā (AV.) 'dance', pūr-tā 'reward', *vra-tā*² 'ordinance'; with accented and strong radical syllable: ā-tā 'variegated'; m. gār-tā 'car-seat', mār-tā 'mortal', vā-tā 'wind', hās-tā 'hand'; n. ās-tā 'home', nāk-tā 'night'.

a. In many past participles the suffix is added with connecting -i-, as rakṣ-i-tā 'protected'. Some of these are used as n. substantives; thus jiv-i-tā 'life', car-i-tā 'behaviour'. Several words thus formed appear as adjectives only; thus *tig-i-tā*³ 'sharp', pal-i-tā 'grey'; also some other names of colours with strong and accented radical syllable: ās-i-tā 'black', rōh-i-tā 'red', lōh-i-tā (AV.) 'red', hār-i-tā 'yellow'; śye-tā 'white' is perhaps anomalously formed with -iā- from *śyā*⁴ 'freeze'⁵.

146. The agent nouns formed with this very frequent suffix⁶ are often used participially, governing an accusative. The root is generally accented when they have this verbal force, but the suffix, when they are purely nominal (86A 22). The root regularly has Guṇa, a and ā remaining unchanged; thus nē-tar 'leader' (√n-), hō-tar 'priest' (√hu-), kar-tār 'doer' (√kr-), bhet-tār 'breaker' (√bhid-), yok-tār 'yoker' (√yuj-); yaṣ-tār 'sacrificer' (√yaj-), dā-tār 'giver'⁷. With weak root: uṣ-tār m. 'ploughing bull'⁸.

a. Less commonly the suffix is added to the root with connecting -i-: regularly when the root ends in more than one consonant⁹, as vand-i-tār 'praiser', but also often when it ends in a single consonant and sometimes when it ends in a vowel, as cod-i-tār 'instigator', sav-i-tār 'stimulator' (√sū-).

b. The suffix is combined with -ī- instead of -i- in grābh-ī-tar (AV.) 'seizer', prati-grah-ī-tār (AV.) 'receiver', saṃ-grah-ī-tār (VS.) 'charioteer', prat-tar-ī-tār 'prolonger', ā-mar-ī-tār 'destroyer'; with -u- in tār-u-tar 'winning' and tar-u-tār 'conqueror', dhan-u-tar 'running swiftly', sān-u-tar 'winning'; with -ū- in var-ū-tār 'protector'; with -o- in *man-ō-tar*¹⁰ and man-o-tār 'inventor'.

c. These derivatives are very frequently compounded with prepositions¹¹; e. g. pura-et-tār 'leader', apa-bhar-tār 'taking away', prāv-i-tār 'protector' (av- 'favour'), pra-sav-i-tār 'vivifier'.

d. They are very rarely formed from secondary conjugation or from tense stems, as coday-i-tār 'stimulator'¹², bodhay-i-tār 'awakener', *nē-ṣ-tār*¹³, a kind of priest. From the reduplicated root is formed vāvā-tar 'adherent'.

e. Several names of relationship appear to be formed with this suffix. Being all very old words, the radical syllable is obscure in meaning or irregular in form. They are jā-mā-tar 'son-in-law', duh-i-tār 'daughter', nāp-tar 'grandson', pi-tār 'father', bhrā-tar 'brother', mā-tār 'mother'.

¹ These two words are of doubtful origin.

² If derived from vr- 'choose' with anomalous form of radical syllable; but according to WHITNEY (1176 b) it is to be explained as vrat-ā- formed from vrt- 'turn' like vraj-ā- from √rj-.

³ With anomalous guttural before -i-.

⁴ Originally perhaps 'rimy', cp. śī-tā 'cold'.

⁶ See the lists in LINDNER p. 72-75.

⁷ -tur appear, instead of -tar in yan-tur beside yan-tār 'guide' and in sthā-tur beside sthā-tār 'stationary'.

⁸ The f. of these words is formed with -ī from the weak stem, i. e. in ā-tī.

⁹ Except damṣ-tār (AV.) 'biter'.

¹⁰ Connected with the present stem manu-te etc. of man- 'think'.

¹¹ See LINDNER p. 73 f.

¹² In the f. coday-i-tār.

¹³ From the aorist stem of nī- 'lead'.

-tas : action.

147. This suffix is identical in meaning with -as, being used to form neuter action nouns which have acquired a concrete meaning. It is very rare, occurring only in ri'-tas 'semen' (ri 'flow') and sri'-tas 'stream', 'current' (sru 'flow').

-ti : action and agent.

148. This suffix is used to form a large number of feminine action nouns; it also appears in a few agent nouns employed either as adjectives or masculine substantives¹. The root generally has the same weak form as appears before the -ta of the past passive participle²; it is, however, more often accented than the suffix. In a few words the suffix is added with the connecting vowels -a, -i or -ī.

1. Action nouns. With accent on the suffix are formed e. g. iṣ-ti 'desire' (iṣ 'seek'), ā-ti 'aid' (√av-), kīr-ti 'praise' (kṛ 'commemorate'), dhan-ti 'stream' (dhā- 'flow'), pī-ti 'draught' (pī 'drink'), pūr-ti 'reward' (pṛ 'fill'), bhakti 'distribution' (bhaj 'divide'), mat-ti 'thought' (man 'think'), ri-ti 'gift' (ri 'give'), ri-ti 'flow' (ri 'flow'), viṣ-ti 'work' (viṣ 'be active'), stut-ti 'praise'; from the reduplicated root: carkṛ-ti 'praise' (kṛ 'commemorate'); with connecting *-a*³: amh-a-ti 'distress', dyś-a-ti 'appearance', mith-a-ti 'conflict', vas-a-ti 'abode'. With accent on the root are formed e. g. ṣi-ti 'offering' (√yaj-), gā-ti 'motion' (√gam-), dā-ti 'liberality' (dā 'give'), vr̥d-dhi 'increase' (√vr̥dh-), sān-ti (AV. VS.) 'repose' (√sam-); from the reduplicated root dadhī-ti 'devotion' (dhi 'think')⁴; with connecting -a: *ām-a-ti*⁵ 'indigence' (am 'be afflicted').

a. The derivative di-ti 'giving' when used as the final member of a compound is reduced to -tti: bhāga-tti, maghā-tti, vāsu-tti; above 26 a 2.

2. Agent nouns. These are rare, amounting to hardly 20 in number. Accented on the suffix: jñā-ti m. 'relative', pat-ti m. (AV. VS.) 'pedestrian', ri-ti 'willing to give'; with connecting -a: ar-a-ti m. 'servant', khal-a-ti (VS.) 'bald', and with accent on the connecting vowel vyk-ā-ti m. 'murderer'. Accented on the root: m. dhāt-ti 'shaker', pā-ti 'master', mīṣ-ti 'fist', sāp-ti 'steed'; adjectives: dhīṣ-ti (VS.) 'bold', pū-ti (AV.) 'putrid', vās-ti 'eager'; and from the reduplicated root jigar-ti m. 'swallower'; with connecting vowels: ām-a-ti 'poor', rām-a-ti (AV. TS.) 'liking to stay', jj-ī-ti 'glowing', turv-ī-ti, N. of a man (turv = tur, tr 'overcome'), *dabh-ī-ti*⁶, N. of a man⁷, snh-a-ti 'carnage' and snh-i-ti (SV.).

a. These derivatives are often compounded with prepositions⁸, which are almost always accented; thus ānu-ma-ti 'assent', abhī- 'attack' (abhī-ti), ā-hu-ti 'offering', nir-p-ti 'dissolution', vy-āp-ti (AV.) 'attainment', sām-ga-ti 'coming together', abhi-mā-ti 'insidious' (man 'think')⁹; with suffix accented, only ā-sak-ti 'pursuit', ā-su-ti 'brew' (√su) and 'enlivening' (√sū); also abhi-ṣ-ti m. 'helper' beside abhi-ṣ-ti f. 'help'.

³ The -a here often, if not always, belongs to a verbal stem.

⁴ Roots which have the connecting -i in the past participle, do not take it here: gūp-ti (AV.) 'protection' beside gūp-i-tā, prā-dyp-ti 'arrogance' beside ā-dyp-i-tā 'not infatuated' (also ā-dyp-ta). These are, however, the only two examples.

⁵ But with the connecting -a accented: am-ā-ti 'lustre', ram-ā-ti (AV.) 'haunt', vrat-ā-ti 'creeper'.

⁶ This word may be a compound (dabhi-ti*).

⁸ See LINDNER p. 77 f.

⁹ Compounded with a noun: kāma-kā-ti 'requiring the fulfilment of a wish'.

b. The suffix is added to a secondary stem in jān-aya-ti (VS.) f. 'generation'; it seems to have a secondary character in yāva-ti f. 'maiden', adj. 'young'. It is secondary in pakṣa-ti (VS.) 'root of the wing'; in the numerals vimśa-ti '20', ṣaṣ-ṭi '60', and others; in pañk-ti f. 'set of five'; in the pronominal words kā-ti 'how many?', tā-ti (AV.) 'so many', yā-ti 'as many as'; and in addhā-ti m. 'sage', formed from the adverb ad-dhā 'truly'.

149. The great majority of the words derived with this suffix are infinitives appearing in the form of the dative, ablative-genitive, and accusative cases. Besides these, there are a few action nouns used independently, and still fewer agent nouns. The root is usually accented¹ and takes Guṇa; but the suffix is accented in some half dozen instances, in two or three of which the radical syllable is weakened. The gender is usually masculine, but a few feminines and neuters also occur.

1. Accented on the root: m. ō-tu 'weft' (vā 'weave'), krā-tu 'capacity' (kr 'make'), tān-tu 'thread', *-dhāt-tu*² 'element', sāk-tu 'groats' (√sañj), sāt-tu 'bond' (si 'bind'), sāt-tu 'libation' (su 'press'), dhāt-tu adj. 'drinkable' (dhe 'suck'); m. mān-tu 'adviser'; f. vās-tu 'morning' (vas 'shine'), *sāt-tu*³ (AV.) 'birth'; n. dāt-tu 'division' (dā 'divide'), *vās-tu*⁴ 'abode' (vas 'dwell').

2. Accented on the suffix: m. ak-ti 'ray' (añj 'anoint'), gā-ti 'way' (gā 'go') and 'song' (gā 'sing'), jan-ti 'creature', he-ti 'cause' (hi 'impel'); with weak radical vowel: r-ti 'season', pī-ti 'drink' (pī 'swell')⁵.

a. The suffix is attached in a few instances (as in some infinitives) with connecting -ī: dur-dhār-ī-tu 'irresistible', su-hār-ī-tu 'to be successfully invoked', *tur-phār-ī-tu*⁶.

b. The suffix appears in a few instances to be attached to a present or a secondary conjugational stem: adha-ti m. 'welfare' (ādha-te 'thrives'), tāpya-ti adj. 'glowing' (tāpyā-te 'is heated'), vaha-ti m. 'wedding' (vāha-ti 'conveys'), *sisāsā-tu*⁷ 'desirous of obtaining'; jīvā-ti f. 'life' (jīva-ti 'lives').

c. Derivatives formed with -tu are in several instances compounded with the particles du- and su-: dur-dhār-ī-tu and dur-dhār-tu 'irresistible', dur-vār-tu 'difficult to ward off', duṣ-ṭār-ī-tu 'unconquerable', su-yān-tu 'guiding well', su-śrō-tu 'hearing willingly', su-hān-tu 'easy to slay'; also with a pronoun in svāitu 'going one's own' (sva- 'gait' (ctu-)).

-tna : action and agent.

150. This suffix is very rare, occurring only in cyan-tnā n. 'concussion', adj. 'animating' (cyu 'stir') and in rā-tna n. 'gift' (rā 'give').

-tnu : agent.

151. This suffix, which is always accented, forms more than a dozen adjectives and a few substantives. It is added to the root either directly or more commonly with the connecting vowel -a- (which probably belongs to the present stem) or -i- (which is almost exclusively used with causative stems).

1. Attached directly to the root: kr-tni 'active', dar-tni m. 'breaker', ha-tni 'deadly' (√han-); with reduplication: jiga-tni 'hastening' (gam 'go'), jigha-tni 'harming' (han 'strike').

2. With connecting -a-: *kav-a-tni*⁸ 'miserly', pīy-a-tni 'reviling' (pīya-ti

² Only in the compounds tri-dhātu 'three-fold' and saptā-dhātu 'sevenfold'.

³ Without Guṇa.

⁴ With lengthened a.

⁵ kītu-as 'times' is probably an acc. pl. of a stem kī-tu 'making'. Cp. BB. 25, 294.

⁶ The derivation of this word is uncertain and its meaning is obscure. [Cp. Mahābhāṣya Vol. I, p. 363, l. 25.]

⁷ From the desiderative stem of sā 'obtain'.

⁸ Cp. WHITNEY, Roots, under kū 'design'.

'abuses'), meh-a-tñi-, N. of a river (mēha-ti), ā-ruj-a-tñi- 'breaking' (ruj-i-ti 'breaks').

3. With connecting -i-: drav-i-tñi- 'running' (dru- 'run'); from causative stems: tanay-i-tñi- 'thundering', drāway-i-tñi- 'hasting' (dru- 'run'), poṣay-i-tñi- 'causing to thrive' (√puṣ-), māday-i-tñi- 'intoxicating' (√mad-), sūday-i-tñi- 'causing sweetness to flow' (√sūd-), stanay-i-tñi- m. 'thunder' (√stan-); an-āmay-i-tñi- 'not making ill', 'curative' (√am-).

-tra : agent.

152. This suffix was doubtless originally formed by a secondary -a added to -ṭṛ (the weak form of tar-). But having early attained an independent character, it came to be largely employed as a primary suffix. It is used to form some half dozen adjectives¹ and about 60 substantives, the latter being neuters except about a dozen (partly masc. and partly fem.)². The substantives generally express the means or instrument by which the action of the verb is performed, sometimes the place where it is performed. The root is generally accented and has Guṇa; but it is sometimes unaccented and has a weak vowel. The suffix is generally added directly to the root, but in about a dozen instances with a connecting vowel.

1. Attached directly to the root: adjectives: *jāi-tra*³ 'victorious', *śvā-trā*⁴ 'invigorating'; with reduplication: johā-tra 'calling aloud' (√hū-).

m. *a-trā*⁵ 'eater', *ās-tra*⁶ 'buffalo', dāṃṣ-tra 'tusk' (dāṃṣ- 'bite'), mān-tra 'prayer'; with weak (etymologically doubtful) root: *pu-trā*⁷ 'son', *mi-trā*⁷ 'friend', *vṛ-trā*⁸ 'foe'.

f. āṣ-ṭrā 'goad' (aṣ- 'reach'), nāṣ-ṭrā (AV. VS.) 'destroyer' (√naṣ-), mā-trā 'measure', hū-trā 'sacrifice'.

n. With accent on the root: *ā-tra*⁹ 'food', kār-tra (AV.) 'spell', kṣṭ-tra 'field', kṣṇū-tra 'whetstone', gā-tra 'limb', jñā-tra (VS.) 'intellectual faculty', tān-tra 'warp', *dāt-tra*¹⁰ 'gift', dā-tra 'knife', dhār-tra 'support' (VS. TS.), pāt-tra (VS.)¹¹ 'wing', pā-tra 'cup', (pā- 'drink'), pēs-tra (AV.) 'bone', mā-tra (AV.) 'urine', mēḍhra- (AV.) 'penis', yok-tra 'rope', vār-tra (AV.) 'dam', vās-tra 'garment', śrū-tra 'ear', sū-tra (AV.) 'thread' (śiv- 'sew').

With accent on the suffix and often with an abstract meaning: as-trā (AV.) 'missile', *kṣa-trā*¹² 'dominion', dā-trā 'share', deṣ-ṭrā 'indication' (√diṣ-), net-rā (AV.) 'guidance', rāṣ-ṭrā 'dominion', śas-trā (VS.) 'invocation', śās-trā 'command', sai-trā 'sacrificial session', sto-trā 'praise', sthā-trā 'station', ho-trā 'sacrifice'.

2. With connecting vowel -a-: ām-a-tra 'violent', yāj-a-tra 'adorable'; kṛnt-ā-tra 'shred', gāy-a-trā 'song', pāt-a-tra 'wing', vādh-a-tra 'deadly weapon', f. var-a-trā 'strap'; with -i-: khan-i-tra 'shovel', car-i-tra 'foot', jan-i-tra 'birth-place', pav-i-tra 'sieve', bhar-i-tra 'arm', bhav-i-tra 'world', san-i-tra 'gift'; with -u-: *tār-u-tra*¹³ 'overcoming'.

¹ These have mostly masc. forms, some neuter; the only one which has fem. forms is yājatra- 'deserving adoration'.

² Six or seven masculines and five feminines.

³ With exceptional Vṛddhi of the radical syllable.

⁴ From śvā- = śū- 'swell'.

⁵ For at-trā from ad- 'eat'. Cp. p. 125, note 1.

⁶ With weak root though accented.

⁷ Occurs in the RV. as a n. when it means 'friendship'.

⁸ Occurs also as a n. in the RV. when plural.

⁹ For āt-tra from ad- 'eat'.

¹⁰ Probably for dāt-tra from the present-stem of dā- 'give'.

¹¹ Only at the end of a compound in the RV.

¹² nakṣatra- 'asterism' is perhaps a compound. Cp. above 81, 2 a.

¹³ Cp. tar-u-tār- 'victor'.

-tri : agent.

153. This very rare suffix occurs in only three or four derivatives: *á-tri*¹ 'devouring', sá-tri-m., N. of a man²; with connecting -a in arc-á-tri 'roaring'; also in the f. form with ī in *rā-trī*³ 'night'.

-tru : agent.

154. This suffix is found only in sátru 'enemy' for sát-tru*, perhaps from sad- 'prevail'.

-tva : agent.

155. This suffix probably arose by the addition of the secondary suffix -a to action nouns in -tu, which turned them into adjectives used in a gerundive sense. It occurs in about a dozen such derivatives which are almost restricted to the RV.; e. g. kár-tva 'to be made'⁴.

-thā : action.

156. This suffix is almost exclusively used to form action nouns (some of which have acquired a concrete meaning) in all genders⁵. The root generally appears in a weak form, as the suffix is mostly accented. The suffix is attached to the root either directly or more commonly with a connecting vowel⁶.

1. Attached directly to the root: m. *ár-thā*⁷ 'goal', gā-thā 'song', pák-thā, N. of a man, bhr-thā 'offering', *rú-thā*⁸ 'car', *há-thā*⁹ 'slaughter'; in composition with prepositions: sam-i-thā 'conflict', nir-r-thā 'destruction', sam-ga-thā 'union' (gam- 'go'), *ud-gī-thā*¹⁰ (AV.) 'singing of chants'; in composition with nouns: putra-kr-thā 'procreation of sons', dirgha-yā-thā 'long course', *go-pī-thā*¹¹ 'protection' (pā- 'protect') and 'draught' (pā- 'drink') of milk'.—f. kās-thā 'course', gā-thā 'song', nī-thā 'trick'.—n. uk-thā 'saying' (√vac-), tīr-thā 'ford' (tī- 'cross'), nī-thā 'song', *yā-thā*¹² 'herd', rik-thā 'inheritance'¹³.

2. With connecting vowel -ā: ay-ā-thā n. 'foot', uc-ā-thā n. 'praise' (√vac-), car-ā-thā n. 'mobility', tves-ā-thā m. 'fury', proth-ā-thā n. 'snorting', *yaj-ā-thā*¹⁴ 'worship', rav-ā-thā m. 'roar', vaks-ā-thā m. 'growth', *vid-ā-thā*¹⁵ n. 'assembly', sap-ā-thā m. 'curse', śay-ā-thā n. 'lair', śvas-ā-thā m. 'snorting', sac-ā-thā m. 'aid', stan-ā-thā m. 'thunder', stav-ā-thā m. 'praise', sra-ā-thā m. or n. 'flow'; with prefix: ā-vas-a-thā (AV.) 'abode', pra-vas-a-thā n. 'absence', *prāṇ-ā-thā*¹⁶ (VS.) 'respiration'.

a. With -ū: jār-ū-thā, m. a kind of demon ('wearing out', jī-), vār-ū-thā n. 'protection'; with -u: *mat-ā-thā*¹⁷ m. 'sage'.

² For sát-tri from sat- 'cut in pieces'.

³ In AV. rā-tri also.

⁴ See below, Future Passive Participles, 581.

⁵ The fem. form of the suffix is -thā.

⁶ This vowel for the most part belongs in reality to a present stem.

⁷ With accented strong root.

⁸ The root is uncertain.

⁹ With root accented though weakened by loss of nasal (han- 'slay').

¹⁰ With gā- 'sing' weakened to gī-.

¹¹ Both pā- 'protect' and pā- 'drink' are weakened to pī-. Cp. above 27.

¹² The root in this word is uncertain.

¹³ prsthā 'back' probably contains the root sthā- 'stand', = pra-sthā-* 'prominent'.

¹⁴ The gender is uncertain, as the word occurs in the dat. sing. only.

¹⁵ Probably from vidh- 'worship': OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 54, 608—611; cp. above p. 23, note 10.

¹⁶ When there is a prefix the accent is thrown on the suffix; but prāṇ- (= pra-an-) is treated like a root.

¹⁷ Perhaps from man- with double suffix (-tu, -thā).

-thi : agent.

157. As far as can be judged from the very few examples occurring, this suffix was used to form agent nouns. It is attached with or without a connecting vowel. The derivation of all the words which seem to be formed with this suffix is doubtful: āt-i-thi- m. 'guest' (if from at- 'wander'); ud-ār-a-thi- adj. 'rising'; me-thi- (AV.) m. 'pillar' (mi- 'fix'). The neuters āsthi- (AV. VS., beside asth-ān-) 'bone' and sákthi- (beside sakth-ān-) may be formed with the suffix -i.

-thu : action.

158. This very rare suffix, which is not found in the RV., appears only with the connecting vowel -a- (which in reality belongs to a present stem), forming masculine action nouns: ej-ā-thu- (AV.) 'trembling', vep-ā-thu- 'quivering', stan-ā-thu- (AV.) 'roar'.

159. This suffix is in the first place used, like -ta, to form past passive participles¹; e. g. bhin-ná- from bhid- 'split'; but, unlike -ta, it is never added to the root with a connecting vowel or to a secondary conjugation stem.

It is further employed to form a number of adjectives and masculine substantives, mostly accented on the suffix. It also forms a few feminine (-nā) and neuter substantives, all but one of the latter being accented on the root. The substantives have partly an abstract and partly a concrete meaning. A medial vowel never takes Guna, but a final vowel nearly always does.

1. The adjectives (f. -ā) are: ās-nā- 'voracious', uś-nā- 'hot', ū-nā- 'deficient', r-nā- 'guilty', kṛś-nā- 'black', kṣo-nā- 'immovable' (?), nag-nā- 'naked', bradh-nā- 'pale red', śv-ṇa- 'red', śro-nā- and ślo-nā- (AV.) 'lame', ślakṣ-nā- (AV.) 'slippery', śvlt-na- 'white', syo-nā- 'agreeable'; compounded: an-āmṛ-nā- 'inviolable', ā-rūkṣ-ṇa- (AV.) 'tender', sadā-pr-nā- 'always munificent'.

2. Substantives are: m. ghṛ-nā- 'heat', budh-nā- 'bottom', bhrū-nā- 'embryo', yaj-ñā- 'sacrifice', śye-nā- 'eagle', ste-nā- 'thief'; sam-pras-nā- 'question'; accented on root: ās-na- 'stone', kūr-ṇa- 'ear', vār-ṇa- 'colour', śīs-ṇa-, N. of a demon, svāp-na- 'sleep'. — n. tṛ-ṇa- 'grass', dhū-na-² 'booty', par-nā- 'wing', vas-nā- 'price', śīs-na- 'penis', śu-nā- 'welfare', śtū-na- 'want', śi-na- 'property'. — f. tṛś-ṇā- 'thirst', dhē-nā- 'milk cow', sē-nā- 'missile', sthū-nā- 'post'.

160. This suffix, which has the same meaning as -as and -tas, is used in forming a few action nouns which have mostly acquired a concrete sense. These are āp-nas- n. 'possession', ār-nas- n. 'flood', -bhar-nas-³ 'bearing' (?), rēk-nas- n. 'property left by bequest' (ric- 'leave'). With connecting vowel: drāv-i-nas- n. 'movable property' (āru- 'run'), pār-ī-nas- m. 'abundance' (pṛ- 'fill'). It also appears in the agent noun dām-ū-nas- adj. 'domestic', m. 'friend of the house' (dam-).

-ni : action and agent.

161. This not very frequent suffix is employed to form m. and f. action nouns as well as agent nouns (adjectives and substantives). Either the radical vowel or the suffix may be accented; and the root in several instances takes Guna. The feminines have rarely an abstract sense, having generally acquired a concrete meaning.

² Probably from dhā- 'place'.

³ In sahāsra-bhar-nas- 'thousandfold'.

1. The feminines are: jūr-ni- 'heat', *ḥyā-ni-*¹ (AV.) 'injury', me-ni- 'missile', śrē-ni- 'line', śrō-ni- 'hip', śf-ni- and śy-ni- 'sickle'; masculines are: *ghṛ-ni-*² 'heat', yō-ni- 'receptacle'.

2. Agent nouns, adjectives and m. substantives, are: ag-ni- m. 'fire', jūr-ni- 'singeing', tūr-ni- 'speeding', dhar-ni- m. 'supporter', pīś-ni- 'speckled', pre-ni- 'loving' (√ pr-), bhūr-ni- 'excited', vāh-ni- m. 'draught animal', vīś-ni- and vīś-ni- 'virile', m. 'ram'.

a. The suffix occurs with a connecting -u- in hrād-ū-ni- f.(?) 'hail'³.

162. With this suffix is formed a small number of action and agent nouns of all genders, but mostly masculine. The action nouns often have a concrete meaning. As the suffix is almost invariably accented, the radical vowel, with one exception, never shows Guna. This suffix, like -tu, is sometimes preceded by -a (which really belongs to present stems).

1. The substantives occurring are: kṣep-ni- m. 'jerk' (x. 51⁶), *dā-nu-*⁴ m. f. 'demon', f. 'dew', n. 'drop', dhe-ni- f. 'cow', bhā-ni- m. 'light', vag-ni- m. 'sound', *vīś-nu-*⁵ m., N. of a god, sū-ni- m. 'son', *sthā-ni-*⁶ m. 'pillar'; with connecting -a-: krand-a-ni- m. 'roaring', kṣip-a-ni- m. 'missile', nad-a-ni- m. 'roaring', *nabh-a-ni-*⁷ m. 'fountain'⁸.

2. Adjectives are: grdh-ni- 'hasty', dhr̥ś-ni- 'bold'; with connecting -a-: the compound vi-bhañj-a-ni- 'breaking to pieces'.

-pa : concrete substantives.

163. A few words are formed with this suffix, but the origin of all of them is more or less obscure⁹. These are: pīś-pa- n. 'flower', *stu-pi-*¹⁰ (VS.) m. 'tuft', *sth-pa-*¹⁰ m. 'top-knot'; perhaps also tāl-pa- m. 'couch', śās-pa- (VS.) n. 'blade of grass', śil-pa- (VS.) n. 'ornament', śūr-pa- (AV.) 'winnowing basket'; possibly apū-pi- m. 'cake', ūla-pa- m. 'shrub', kīṇa-pa- (AV.) n. 'corpse'¹¹.

164. This suffix forms a considerable number of action nouns (almost exclusively masculine) as well as agent nouns, both adjectives and substantives. Only a single neuter and one or two feminine substantives occur. The suffix is accented more than twice as often as the root. The vowel r̥ always takes Guna in the radical syllable; on the other hand, initial or medial i and u never take Guna; when final they only do so if the root is accented. Several of these derivatives in -ma appear beside others in -man-; some at least are transfers from the latter; thus dhār-man- 'ordinance' alone is found in the RV., while dhār-ma- appears beside it in the later Samhitās.

1. Accented on the suffix: adjectives: e. g. jih-mā- 'oblique', tig-mā- 'sharp', das-mā- 'wondrous', bhī-mā- 'terrible', śag-mā- 'mighty'; with reduplication, ¹ In sarva-jyāni- (AV.) 'complete loss of property'.

² Beside ghr-nā- m. and ghr-nā- f.

³ This suffix is in several words preceded by -a-, much in the same way as -ti; but as -ani has assumed a more independent character it is treated above (122) as a separate suffix.

⁴ With irregular accent.

⁵ Perhaps originally an adjective vīś-ni-*, with shift of accent on becoming a Proper Name. But cp. p. 85, note 1.

⁶ The origin of the cerebral n here is obscure.

⁷ Also nabh-anū- f.

⁸ The Proper Name kṛś-ānu- is perhaps similarly formed, but with long -ā-.

⁹ Cp. LINDNER p. 69; LIDEN, IF. 18, 496.

¹⁰ Probably from a root stu- 'drip'; see WHITNEY, Roots.

¹¹ yūpa- m. 'sacrificial post' is probably derived from yup- 'obstruct'.

tātu-má- 'powerful'; substantives: m. aj-má- 'course', idh-má- 'fuel', ghar-má- 'heat', dar-má- 'breaker', dhū-má- 'smoke', nar-má- (VS.) 'jest', ruk-má- 'ornament', hi-má- 'cold'.

2. Accented on the root: substantives: m. e. g. ū-ma- 'friend' (av- 'favour'), é-ma- (VS.) 'course', dhár-ma- (AV. VS. TS.) 'ordinance', bhā-ma- 'brightness', sár-ma- 'flow', só-ma- 'Soma' (√su-), stó-ma- 'praise' (√stū-), hó-ma- 'offering'; f. hi-mā- 'winter'; n. blī-ma- 'chip'.

a. The suffix seems to be added once with connecting -a- (which really belongs to a present stem) in the f. sar-d-mā- 'the fleet one', N. of a goddess.

165. This suffix forms a large number of derivatives¹, which are almost exclusively action nouns. The great majority of these are neuters accented on the root, but there are also a good many masculines accented on the suffix. Besides these occur a few agent nouns, mostly accented on the suffix, both adjectives and masculine substantives, all of them, except brah-mán- 'priest', of rare occurrence. The same word in several instances varies in meaning according to the accent and gender²; e. g. dhár-man- n. ordinance', m. dhar-mán- 'ordainer'. The root in these derivatives usually takes Guna; in a few instances it has Vrddhi or lengthens a; sometimes it is weak. The suffix is often added with the connecting vowels -i- or -ī-. The derivatives are occasionally compounded with prepositions, which are then nearly always accented.

1. Examples of action nouns are: n. ád-man- 'food', é-man- 'course', kár-man- 'action', kárs-man- 'goal', ján-man- 'birth', trā-man- 'protection', dā-man- 'gift' (dā- 'give') and 'bond' (dā- 'tie'), nā-man- 'name', pāt-man- 'flight', bráh-man- 'devotion', bhár-man- 'table', bhū-man- 'world', vák-man- 'invocation', várt-man- 'course', vás-man- 'dwelling', sák-man- 'power', sís-man- 'praise', sák-man- 'power', hó-man- 'sacrifice' (√hu-) and 'invocation' (√hū-); with connecting -i-: ján-i-man- 'birth', vár-i-man- 'expanse' (beside var-i-mán- m.); with connecting -ī-: dár-ī-man- 'destruction', dhár-ī-man- 'ordinance', *pár-ī-man-*³ 'abundance', bhár-ī-man- 'maintenance', vár-ī-man- 'expanse', sár-ī-man- 'course', sáv-ī-man- 'impulse'⁴, háv-ī-man- 'invocation'. — m. ūs-mán- (AV. VS.) 'heat', o-mán- 'favour', je-mán- (VS. TS.) 'superiority', drāgh-mán- (VS.) 'length' (beside drāgh-i-mán-), pāp-mán- (AV.) 'wickedness', bhū-mán- 'abundance', vid-mán- 'knowledge', svād-mán- 'sweetness', he-mán- 'impulse'; with connecting -i-: jar-i-mán- 'old age', prath-i-mán- 'breath', mah-i-mán- 'greatness', var-i-mán-, vars-i-mán- (VS.) 'height' (beside vārs-man- and vars-mán-), har-i-mán- 'yellowness'.

2. Agent nouns accented on the suffix are: dar-mán- 'breaker', dā-mán- 'giver', dhar-mán- 'supporter', brah-mán- 'one who prays', bhuj-mán- 'fertile', vad-mán- 'speaker', sad-mán- 'sitter', so-mán- 'Somapresser'; accented on the root: ás-man- 'stone', ó-man- 'friend', jé-man- 'superior', bhás-man- 'chewing'⁵.

a. The following words are according to difference of accent neuter action nouns or masculine agent nouns dā-man- 'gift' and dā-mán- 'giver'; dhár-man- 'ordinance' and dhar-mán- 'ordainer'; bráh-man- 'worship' and brah-mán- 'priest'; sád-man- 'seat' and sad-mán- 'sitter'.

² Somewhat in the same way as the derivatives in -as (126).

³ Also with anomalous -e-: pār-e-man- (SV1).

⁴ Also stár-ī-man- 'spreading' used in the loc. as an infinitive.

⁵ In a compound also svādu-ksád-man- 'having sweet food'.

b. In a few words difference of gender and accent is not accompanied by difference of meaning: vārṣ-man- n. and varṣ-mān- m. both mean 'height'; svād-man- n. and svād-mān- m. 'sweetness'; vār-i-man- n. and var-i-mān- m. 'expanse'.

c. In a few instances difference of accent is accompanied by a reversal of the usual distinction of meaning: jé-man- 'victorious', je-mān- (VS. TS.) 'superiority'; ô-man- m. 'friend', o-mān- m. 'favour'.

d. A few derivatives in -man both action and agent nouns are compounded with prepositions: vi-gā-man- n. 'step', prā-bhar-man- n. 'presentation', prā-yā-man- n. 'departure', vi-dhar-man- m. 'maintainer', *vi-pāt-man-*¹ 'flying through', ānu-vart-man- (AV.) 'following after', *vi-sar-mān-*² m. 'flowing asunder'.

-māna : agent.

r66. This suffix is used to form the present³, future, and aorist middle participle and the present passive participle⁴. It is always preceded by a except in the anomalous perfect participle sasṛ-mānā- (= sasṛ-ānā-) 'speeding'.

-mi and -mī : action and agent.

r67. The suffix -mi is used to form a few adjectives and masculine substantives; it also forms (generally in the form of -mī) a few feminine substantives with a concrete meaning: ūr-mī- m. 'wave' (√vr-), -kūr-mi- 'action' in tuvi-kūr-mi- 'working mightily', jā-mī- 'related', 'kinsman'; bhūt-mi- and bhūt-mī- f. 'earth', lakṣ-mī- f. 'sign', sūr-mī- f. 'tube'; probably also raś-mī- m. 'ray' and the adj. *krudh-mī-*⁵ (RV¹.) 'irascible'.

-min : agent.

r68. A few adjectives have the appearance of being formed with a suffix -min. They are iṣ-min- 'impetuous', bhā-min- 'shining', śuś-min- 'roaring'. They may, however, be explained as secondary derivatives made with the suffix -in, like dhūm-in- from dhūmā- 'smoke'.

-ya : gerundive.

r69. This suffix is used to form a large number of future participles passive⁶. It probably has a primary character in other derivatives besides these; but it is so difficult to distinguish them from those which are secondary, that it is preferable to treat all but gerundives under secondary -ya (228).

-yu : action and agent.

r70. This suffix forms a few action and agent nouns. The root remains unchanged, while the accent varies. Action nouns are: man-yū- m. 'anger', mṛt-yū- m. 'death'. Agent nouns are: dās-yu- m. 'enemy', druh-yū-, N. of a man ('hostile'), ślṣ-yu- 'enemy'; bhuj-yū- both adj. 'wealthy' and m. as N. of a man. Adjectives only are: yāj-yu- 'pious', śundh-yū- 'pure', sāh-yu- 'strong'.

-ra : agent.

r71. A large number of derivatives are formed with this suffix⁷, which is usually accented, the root consequently almost always appearing with a weak vowel. These words are mostly adjectives, but a few substantives occur in all genders. The suffix is frequently added with the connecting vowels -a-, -i-, -ī-, -u-.

¹ Or as a Bahuvrīhi 'having the flight of a bird' (vi-).

² With unusual accent on the suffix instead of on the preposition.

³ In the a-conjugation.

⁴ See below under those tenses, 427, 435, 442, 447; 512, 538; and cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum 226; LINDNER 72.

Indo-arische Philologie. I. 4.

⁵ The only form occurring krudhmī-, N. pl. n. might, however, come from krudh-mīn-.

1. Of derivatives accented on the suffix there are more than 60 adjectives; e. g. ak-rá 'swift', ug-rá 'mighty', cit-rá 'bright', tu-rá 'strong', mū-rá 'stupid', śak-rá 'mighty', śuk-rá 'bright', hims-rá 'injurious', Substantives are: m. us-rá 'bull', kṣu-rá 'razor', mṛdh-rá 'foe', rud-rá, N. of a god, vam-rá 'ant', vī-rá 'man', śud-rá 'man of the fourth caste'; n. abh-rá 'cloud', kṛcch-rá 'distress', krū-rá (AV. VS.) 'wound', kṣī-rá 'milk', khid-rá 'weight', rip-rá 'defilement', stī-rá 'plough'; f. hi-rā (AV. VS.) 'vein'.

a. With connecting vowel -a-: drau-a-rá 'running', pat-a-rá 'flying', ny-oc-a-rá (AV.) 'suiting'¹; n. gambh-a-rá 'depth', tas-a-rá 'shuttle'²; with i: aj-i-rá 'swift', iṣ-i-rá 'lively', dhvas-i-rá 'stirring up', badh-i-rá 'deaf', mad-i-rá 'pleasing', rudh-i-rá (AV.) 'red', sphi-rá 'fat'; m. khad-i-rá, a kind of tree; n. sar-i-rá (VS.) 'wave'; with ī: gabh-ī-rá and gambh-ī-rá 'deep'; with u: amh-u-rá 'narrow', vith-u-rá 'tottering'.

2. Of stems accented on the root the only adjectives are: gṛdh-ra 'greedy', thm-ra 'stout', dht-ra 'wise', vīp-ra 'inspired'; substantives are: m. āj-ra 'field', ind-ra, N. of a god, vāj-ra 'thunderbolt', vārdh-ra (AV.) 'girth', śā-ra 'hero'; n. āg-ra 'point', rāndh-ra 'hollow', śvābh-ra 'pit'; f. dhā-rā 'stream', śīp-rā 'jaw', śū-rā 'intoxicating liquor'.

a. With connecting vowel -i-: sthāv-i-ra 'firm'; m. āṅg-i-ra, N. of a seer, ās-i-ra 'missile'; with -ī-: śtv-ī-ra 'mighty'; n. śtr-ī-ra 'body'; with -u-: m. ās-u-ra 'spirit', bāk-u-ra 'trumpet'.

a. A few of these derivatives are compounded with prepositions: nī-ci-rā 'attentive', nī-mṛg-ra 'attached'; m. ā-kha-rā 'lair', sam-ud-rā 'sea'.

-ri : agent.

172. This suffix forms adjectives as well as m. and f. substantives. It is sometimes added with connecting -u-. The root is more frequently accented than the suffix.

1. Adjectives are: bhū-ri 'abundant', vādh-ri 'emasculated', śubh-ri 'beautiful'; with connecting -u-: jās-u-ri 'exhausted', dās-u-ri 'pious', sāh-u-ri 'mighty'.

2. Substantives are: m. dūgh-ri (VS.) 'foot', jī-ri 'flowing water', sū-ri 'patron'; f. abb-ri (AV. VS.) 'hoe', ās-ri 'edge', ils-ri 'dawn', vānk-ri 'rib'; with connecting -u-: āṅg-ū-ri 'finger'; -ri occurs in tand-ri (AV.) 'weariness'.

-ru : agent.

173. This rare suffix forms adjectives and a very few neuter substantives. It is added either directly to the root or with a preceding -a-, -ā-, or -e-. Either the root or the suffix may be accented.

1. Adjectives are: cā-ru 'dear', dhā-ri (AV.) 'sucking', pā-ru 'causing to swell' (pī-), bhī-ri 'timid'; ar-ā-ru 'hostile', pat-ā-ru 'flying'; *jāb-ā-ru*³ (RV.) 'speeding', phī-ā-ru 'reviling', vand-ā-ru 'praising', sar-ā-ru 'injurious'; mad-e-ri 'intoxicating', *san-ē-ru*⁴ 'obtaining'.

2. Substantives are: n. ās-ru 'tear', śmās-ru 'beard'.

-la : agent.

174. This rare suffix, a later form of -ra, is equivalent in sense and use to the latter, sometimes also interchanging with it. It forms adjectives and a ¹ bhārvārā- (of doubtful meaning) is probably a secondary formation, and vāsarā- 'matutinal' seems to be derived from vasar- 'morning'.

² Also ṛkṣarā- 'thorn' m. in an-ṛkṣarā- 'thornless'.

³ Perhaps for jāv-ā-ru* from jū- 'speed'.

⁴ The suffix is secondary in mitr-ru- 'ally'.

few masculine and neuter substantives. The radical syllable is accented in two or three substantives only. The suffix is added either directly to the root or with the connecting vowels -a-, -i-, -u-.

Derivatives thus formed are: -pā-lā- (VS.) m. 'guardian' in aja-pālā- (VS.) 'goat-herd', suk-lā- (AV.) n. 'white colour' (beside suk-rā- 'white'), sthā-lā- (AV.) 'thick' (beside sthā-rā-); with connecting -a-: trp-ā-la- 'joyous', bhṛm-a-lā- (AV.) 'torpid', mūs-a-la- (AV.) m. 'pestle', śab-ā-la- 'mottled', śam-a-la- (AV.) n. 'defilement'; with -i-: āni-la- m. 'wind', trā-i-lā- 'porous', sal-i-lā- 'surging' (beside sari-rā- VS. 'flood'); with -u-: taṇḍ-u-lā- (AV.) m. 'grain', śak-u-lā- (AV. VS.) m., a kind of fish.

-li and -lu : agent.

175. The suffix -li occurs only once as the equivalent of -ri in aṅg-ū-li- (VS¹) f. 'finger' (beside aṅg-ū-ri-). Similarly -lu occurs only once as the equivalent of -ru in patayā-lh- (AV¹) 'flying', formed from the conjugation stem patiya- (from pat- 'fly').

-va : agent.

176. This suffix forms about 20 adjectives and seven or eight substantives, mostly masculines with a concrete meaning. With one or two exceptions it is added directly to the root. The accent is rather oftener on the suffix than on the radical syllable. The root hardly ever appears in a strengthened form.

1. Accented on the suffix are the adjectives: ūrkh-vā- 'upright', ṛk-vā- 'praising', ṛṣ-vā- 'lofty', tak-vā- 'swift', dhru-vā- 'fixed', pak-vā- 'ripe', mal-vā- (AV.) 'foolish', yah-vā- 'swift', raṇ-vā- 'joyful', *viś-vā-*¹ 'all', śik-vā- (AV.) 'deft', śyā-vā- 'dark brown', hras-vā- (VS.) 'short'; the substantives: m. ūr-vā- 'stall', śar-vā- (AV. VS.), N. of a god, sru-vā- 'ladle'; f. pruṣ-vā- (AV.) 'rime'; *vidh-ā-vā-*² 'widow'.

2. Accented on the root are: ṛbh-va- 'skilful', é-va- 'quick', m. 'course', pī-va- 'fat', pūr-va- 'preceding', vāk-va- 'twisting', viś-va- 'all', sār-va- 'all'; m. ās-va- 'horse', khāl-va- (AV. VS.), a kind of grain, srūk-va- 'corner of the mouth'; f. ām-i-vā- 'disease'³.

a. A few such derivatives occur only compounded with prefixes: ā-khar-va- 'not shortened', āi-kuka- (VS.) 'too bald', vi-bhā-va- 'brilliant'.

-van : agent.

177. This suffix is used almost exclusively to form agent nouns⁴, both adjectives and substantives, which are mostly masculine, but sometimes neuter. Though the root is regularly accented⁵, it almost invariably appears in its unstrengthened form. If it ends in a short vowel -i- is added before the suffix. The feminine of these words is regularly formed with -varī (179 a).

Examples of adjectives are: ṛk-van- 'praising', kṛ-t-van- 'active', drūh-van- 'injurious', pāt-van- 'flying', pī-van- 'fat', yāj-van- 'sacrificing', rā-van- (VS.)

³ Also n. ūlva- 'caul' if this stands for ūlva-* from vr- 'cover'.

⁴ The only action nouns are the few which in the active are employed as infinitives; cp. WHITNEY 1169 e.

⁵ The only exceptions are two words formed with the connecting vowel -i-, mīṣ-i-vān- 'robber', san-i-t-van- 'bestower', and two others from the reduplicated root, rārā-van- 'liberal', cikīṭ-vān- 'wise'.

'bestowing', śák-van- (VS.) 'able', śít-t-van- 'pressing Soma'; substantives: m. ádḥ-van- 'road', ár-van- 'steed', grá-van- 'stone'; n. tīg-van- 'ford', dhán-van- 'bow' and 'desert', pár-van- 'joint', *sná-van-*¹ (AV. VS.) 'sinew'.

a. Several derivatives with -van are compounded with prepositions; thus ati-skád-van- (VS.) 'transgressing', upa-hás-van- 'mocking', vi-vás-van- 'shining forth', vi-mṛṣ-g-van- (AV.) 'cleansing', sam-bhṛ-t-van- (AV.) 'accumulating'².

-vana, -vani, -vanu : agent.

178. These rare suffixes are doubtless secondary forms of -van. They are all three accented: -vana and -vanu on the final, -vani on the first syllable. With -vana are formed: vag-vaná- 'talkative', sát-vanít-, m. 'warrior' (beside sát-van-), and from the reduplicated root śusuk-vand- 'shining' (√śuc-). The suffix -vani seems to be preferred for derivatives from the reduplicated root; thus besides tur-váni- 'overcoming', bhur-váni- 'restless', occur jujur-váni- 'praising', tutur-váni- 'desiring to gain', dadhṛs-váni- 'daring', śusuk-váni- 'shining' (√śuc-); the obscure word arhariṣ-váni- 'exultant' seems to be derived with this suffix from an irregularly reduplicated form of hṛs- 'be excited'. With -vanu is formed only vag-vanít- m. 'noise'.

-vara, -vala : action and agent.

179. This suffix makes a few masculine nouns (f. -r) chiefly accented on the final syllable of the suffix, and a very few neuter substantives accented on the root. The masculines are: i-t-vará- 'going', ī-t-vará- (AV.) 'able', phár-vara- 'sower', vyadh-vará- (AV.) 'piercing'³ (√vyadh-). Neuter substantives are: kár-vara- 'deed', gáh-vara- (AV.) 'thicket'. There are also two feminines which have the appearance of being derived with this suffix, ur-várā- 'field' and ur-váṛi- (AV.) 'filament', but their origin is uncertain. This suffix appears with l instead of r in vid-valá- 'cunning'.

a. The f. of this suffix, -varī, is used as the f. of adjectives in -van, with which it corresponds in accent and treatment of the radical syllable. There are about 25 of these feminines in the RV.; e. g. yáj-varī- 'pious', śít-varī- 'speeding'⁴.

-vas : action and agent.

180. This very rare suffix forms only the neuter substantive vár-i-vas- 'wide space' (beside vár-i-man-) and the adjectives fbh-vas- 'skilful' (beside fbh-va- and fbh-van-) and śik-vas- 'skilful' (beside śik-van-). The vocative khid-vas (VI. 22⁴) 'oppressing' is probably from a perfect participle *khid-vāms-*⁵ formed without reduplication, not from a stem khid-vas-.

-vāms : agent.

181. This suffix is used to form a large number of perfect participles active, being added with or without the connecting vowel -i-; e. g. cakṛ-vāms- 'having done', vy-i-vāms- 'having gone'; sometimes without reduplication; e. g. vid-vāms- 'knowing'⁶. This suffix, which is always accented, is in the weak cases reduced to -ús- before vowels⁷.

¹ On two or three doubtful derivatives with this suffix see WHITNEY 1169 b.

² Several others are compounded with nouns; see LINDNER p. 107.

³ According to the Pada text vi-adhvará-.

⁴ See WHITNEY 1171 b; for such femi-nines occurring in the AV. see his Index Verborum 375.

⁵ Cp. pw.; in BR. the stem is given as khid-van-. According to WHITNEY 1173 b, it is derived from √khād-.

⁶ For the forms occurring see below 492.

⁷ See Declension, -vāms stems, 347.

-vi : agent.

182. This rare suffix is used to form some half dozen adjectives and one f. substantive, partly from the simple root (which is accented), partly from the reduplicated root (of which the reduplicative syllable is accented). The adjectives are: ghīṣ-vi 'lively', *jīr-vi*¹ (AV.) 'aged', dhri-vi 'firm'; jāgr-vi 'watchful', dā-dhr-vi 'sustaining', dī-dī-vi 'shining'²; f. *dār-vi*³ 'ladle'.

-vit : agent.

183. This suffix, which is perhaps an extension of -vi with -t, occurs in the single form cikīṭ-vit (RV.) 'deliberately'.

-sa : agent.

184. This suffix is used to form about two dozen adjectives and substantives of all genders. It is added to the root with or without the connecting vowels -i- or -ū-. The accent is sometimes on the suffix, sometimes on the root, which is usually unstrengthened. Many of these derivatives are of obscure origin.

The suffix is added direct in: gīt-sa 'adroit', *-dīk-sa*⁴ (VS.), prk-sā 'dappled' (√prc); ūt-sa m. 'fountain', kūt-sa, N. of a man, ghraṇ-sā m. 'sun's heat', drap-sā m. 'drop', ruk-sā m. 'tree'; *bhīṣ-sā*⁵ f. 'fear'.

a. The suffix is added with a connecting vowel (-i-, -ū-) in: *tav-i-sā*⁶ 'strong', bhar-i-sā 'rapacious', mah-i-sā 'mighty'⁷; ṛj-i-sā 'rushing', *ṛbī-sa*⁸ n. 'chasm', pūr-i-sa n. 'rubbish'; man-i-sā f. 'devotion'; *ar-u-sā*⁹ 'red', aś-līś-a 'voracious', tār-u-sa m. 'overcomer', pūr-u-sa m. 'man', mān-u-sa 'man'; āṅg-ū-sā m. 'hymn', piy-ū-sa n. 'biestings'.

-sani : agent.

185. This suffix is found only in the derivatives car-saṇi 'active', f. pl. 'people', and par-sāni 'carrying across' (pr- 'cross').

-sara : agent.

186. This suffix appears only in mat-sarā 'intoxicating' (√mad) and perhaps in sap-sarā (I. 1689) 'inspiring awe' (?) if derived from sap- 'do homage'.

-sas : action.

187. This suffix seems to be contained in vāp-sas (RV.) 'beauty' (?)¹⁰, and possibly in tār-ū-sas (RV.) 'superior' (√tr).

-sna : agent.

188. This suffix (perhaps syncopated for -sana) forms some half dozen adjectives and m. or n. substantives: tīk-snā 'sharp' (√tij), *de-snā*¹¹ n. 'gift'

¹ From jīr- 'age'; see WHITNEY's note on AV. XIV. 121. The RV. has jīr-vi.

² The derivation of pra-pharvī (RV.) is uncertain.

³ In VS. dārvi in the vocative darvi.

⁴ In i-dīk-sa (VS.) 'looking like this' 'such' (from dīś- 'see').

⁵ Only in the I. s. bhīṣā which is a contraction for bhīyasā.

⁶ The f. is tāviṣī.

⁷ The f. is māhiṣī.

⁸ The absence of cerebralization in the s, together with the b, makes the origin of this word quite uncertain; it is most probably borrowed.

⁹ The f. is aruṣī.

¹⁰ This is Sayana's interpretation of the word.

¹¹ Generally to be read trisyllabically as da-iṣṇā.

(dā- 'give'), ślak-śnā- (AV.) 'smooth'; with connecting -a-: kar-ā-sna- m. 'fore-arm', māt-a-sna-, n. 'lung', vadh-a-snā- n. 'deadly weapon'.

-snu : agent.

189. This suffix, which is always accented, forms adjectives, being added with or without a connecting vowel to the simple root, or more usually with connecting -i- to the causative stem.

1. From the simple root: jī-śnū- 'victorious', danḥ-śnū- (VS.) 'biting' (√danḥ-), ni-śat-śnū- 'sitting down'; vadh-a-śnū- 'murderous', vṛdh-a-śnū- 'joyous'; car-i-śnū- 'wandering', *ā-maviṣṇu-¹ (x. 94¹¹) 'immovable' (√mū-* = mīv-).

2. From the causative stem: tāpay-i-śnū- 'tormenting', namay-i-śnū- 'bending', patay-i-śnū- 'flying', pāray-i-śnū- 'saving', posay-i-śnū- (AV.) 'causing to thrive', māday-i-śnū- 'intoxicating', abhi-śocay-i-śnu- (AV.) 'causing torments'.

II. Secondary Nominal Derivation.

LINDNER, Altindische Nominalbildung p. 114—52. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 454—80.

190. Secondary nominal stems are those derived from stems already ending in a suffix. They, however, include derivatives from pronominal roots, as i-tara- 'other', and exceptionally from indeclinable words or case-forms, as antār-vant- 'pregnant' (antār 'within'), māma-ka- 'belonging to me' (māma 'of me'). The stem to which secondary suffixes are added is subject to certain changes. Thus final -a and -i vowels are regularly dropped before suffixes beginning with a vowel or y, while final -u generally takes Guṇa; thus aśv-in- 'possessing horses' (āśva-), khād-in- 'adorned with rings' (khād-), vāyav-yā- 'relating to the wind' (vāy-). Again, the n or the a of stems ending in -an is occasionally lost, e. g. vṛṣa-tvā- 'manly power', vṛṣṇ-ya- 'manly' (but vṛṣṇ-vant- 'drawn by stallions'); while stems in -ant regularly appear in the weak form of -at, e. g. vāivasvat-a- 'son of Vivāsvant'. The commonest change is, however, the strengthening of the initial syllable with *Vṛddhi*², e. g. āmītrā- 'hostile' (a-mītra- 'enemy'), pārthiv-a- 'relating to the earth' (prthiv-), maitrāvaruṇ- 'derived from Mitrā-vāruṇa', sāubhaga- 'luck' (subhāga- 'lucky').

As regards meaning, the great majority of secondary suffixes form adjectives with the general sense of 'relating to' or 'connected with'. In several, however, the meaning has become specific. Thus the suffixes -āyana, -ī, -eya, form patronymics or metonymics; -in, -mant, -vant express possession; -tama and -tara imply degrees of comparison; -tā and -tva form abstract substantives. The masculines and feminines of adjectives are frequently used as appellatives, while the neuter is commonly employed as a substantive expressing the attributive sense of the adjective as an abstraction.

a. The secondary suffixes are in their alphabetical order the following: -a, -ā, -ānī, āyana, āyī, āyā, -ī, -in, -īma, -īya, -ī, -īna, -īya, -ent, -enya, -eya, -eya, -ka, -tā, -tana and -tma, -tama, -taya, -tara, -tavya, -tā, -tāt, -tāti, -tya, -tva, -tvatā, -tvana, -tha, -na, -nī, -bha, -ma, -mant, -maya, -min, -mna, -ya, -yin, -ra, -la, -va, -vat, -van, -vant, -vaya, -vala, -vin, -vya, -śa.

² Strengthening with Guṇa is, on the other hand, extremely rare in secondary derivation, as devā- 'divine' (dīv- 'heaven'), drōṇa- 'wooden vessel' (drū- 'wood'), bhṛṣaj- 'medicine' (bhṛṣaj- 'healing'); cp. 191 a &.

191. With the suffix -a is formed a very large number of derivatives which are primarily adjectives expressing the sense of relation to or connexion with the primitive word; in the m. and f. they are, however, often used as appellatives, and in the neuter as abstracts. The first syllable of the primitive word, whether it is simple or compound is in the great majority of instances strengthened with Vṛddhi; e. g. mārut-a 'relating to the Maruts' (marūt-), māghon-a n. 'bountifulness' (maghāvan- 'bountiful')¹; dāśarājñ-ā 'battle of the ten kings' (dāśa-rājan-)²; jaitr-a 'victorious' (jē-tr- 'conqueror'), tvāṣṭr-ā 'belonging to Tvaṣṭr'; mānav-ā 'belonging to man' (mānu-), *tānu-a*³ 'belonging to the body' (tanu-); sārasvat-ā 'coming from the Sarasvatī', aindrāgn-ā (AV. VS. TS.) 'belonging to Indra and Agni' (indrāgni-); yāmun-ā (AV.) 'coming from the Yamunā'; *vādhryaśv-a*⁴ 'descended from Vadhryaśvā', vaiśvadev-ā (AV. VS.) 'sacred to all the gods' (viśvā-deva-).

a. A comparatively small number of derivatives add the suffix without taking Vṛddhi. These are probably to a considerable extent due to transfers from other declensions to the a-declension. Such are tamas-ā (AV.) 'dark-coloured', paruṣ-ā 'knotty' (pārus- 'knot'), hemant-ā 'winter'; dpāk-a 'distant' (dpāñc- 'behind'); hoṭr-ā 'office of priest' (hōtr-); sakhy-ā 'friendship' (sākhī- 'friend').

a. With Guṇa are formed tray-ā 'threefold' (tri- 'three'), dvay-ā 'twofold' (dvi- 'two'), nāv-a 'new' (nū- 'now'); dev-ā 'divine' (div- 'heaven'), bheṣaj-ā 'medicine' (bhīṣaj- 'healer').

192. The suffix -ā is used in a very large number of stems to form the feminine of adjectives which in the masculine and neuter end in -a. Thus nāv-ā f., nāva- m. n. 'new'; priy-ā f., priyā- m. n. 'dear'; gat-ā f., gatā- m. n. 'gone'.

193. The suffix *-ānī*⁵ is used to form the feminine from stems in -a, designating the wife of the corresponding male being, or expressing a feminine personification: arany-ānī 'Forest Nymph' (āranya- 'forest'), indr-ānī 'wife of Indra', uśinār-ānī 'Queen of the Uśinaras', ūrj-ānī 'Strength' (personified), purukuts-ānī 'wife of Purukutsa', mudgal-ānī 'wife of Mudgala', varuṇ-ānī 'Varuṇa's wife'.

194. The suffix -āyana- forms a few patronymics with Vṛddhi in the first syllable: ānty-āyanā- (VS. TS.) 'descendant of Āntyā', amūṣy-āyanā- (AV.) 'descendant of so and so' (amūṣya- gen. of adās), kāṇv-āyana- 'descendant of Kaṇva', dāks-āyanā- (VS. AV.) 'descendant of Dakṣa'; also the f. rām-āyanī (AV.) 'daughter of the Black One' (rāmā-). The derivative ukṣaṇ-āyana-, N. of a man, being formed without Vṛddhi is perhaps not meant for a patronymic.

195. The suffix -āyī occurs perhaps only twice, forming the feminine from two masculine stems in -i and designating the wife of the corresponding male: agn-āyī 'wife of Agni' and vṛṣākāp-āyī (only voc.) 'wife of Vṛṣākapi'.

196. The suffix -āyā forms gerundives⁶; e. g. śrav-āyā- 'glorious' (śru- 'hear'). There are also a few other derivatives similarly formed, which are used as ordinary adjectives or as neuter abstracts; thus nr-pāyā- 'guarding

² With syncope of the vowel of the suffix.

⁴ It is natural to suppose that the suffix

-a is added to stems in -a as to others (the final vowel of the primitive disappearing before it) and not that derivation by Vṛddhi alone takes place here; cp. WHITNEY 1208 i.

⁵ Cp. LEUMANN, KZ. 32, 294 ff.

⁶ These are probably formed from dative infinitives in -ai + -ya; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1422; cp. also IF. 12, 2.

men', bahu-páyya 'protecting many'; pūrva-páyya 'first drink', mahay-áyya 'enjoyment', kuṇḍa-páyya and puru-máyya as Proper Names; also formed from nouns, ras-áyya 'tasteful' (rása 'sap') and uttam-áyya n. 'summit' (uttamá 'highest')¹.

197. The suffix -i forms a few patronymics from nouns in -a with Vṛddhi in the initial syllable: āgnivēś-i 'descendant of Agniveśa', pāurukuts-i 'son of Purukutsa', prātardan-i 'descendant of Prātardana', prāhrād-i (AV.) 'son of Prāhrāda', sāṃvaran-i 'descendant of Saṃvarana'. Similarly formed, but with the sense of an ordinary substantive, is sārath-i 'charioteer' (from sa-rātha-m 'on the same chariot'). Two other words add a secondary -i without Vṛddhi or patronymic sense: tāpus-i 'burning' and sucant-i, N. of a man (seemingly an extension of the participle suc-ánt 'shining')

198. Hundreds of adjectives are formed with the suffix -in from stems in -a, but very rarely from stems with any other final; e. g. ark-in 'praising' (arkā 'praise'), manīś-in 'wise' (manīśā 'wisdom'), arc-in 'radiant' (arcī 'beam'), śatagv-in 'consisting of hundreds' (śata-gva*-), varm-in 'clad in armour' (vārman-), śvan-in (VS.) 'keeping dogs' (śván-). With loss of final -as: ret-in 'abounding in seed' (rītas-) and perhaps in the Proper Name varc-in (vārc-as 'power'); with loss of -ya: hiraṇ-in 'adorned with gold' (hiraṇ-ya-).

199. The suffix -ima is very rare, being employed to form adjectives from the stems in -tra and from one in -ra: krtr-ima 'artificial', khanitr-ima 'made by digging', pūtr-ima (AV.) 'purified'; agr-imā 'foremost' (āg-ra 'front').

200. The suffix -iya is employed to form some 20 adjectives (from stems in -a). It is only a modified form of -ya which is added for facility of pronunciation after two or more consonants, the last of which is generally r, rarely n, m or v; e. g. abhr-iyā 'derived from the clouds' (abhrā-), samudr-iyā 'belonging to the sea' (samudrā-), indr-iyā 'belonging to Indra'; kṛṣṇ-iyā, N. of a man (kṛṣṇā 'black'); rgm-iyā 'praiseworthy'; aśv-iyā 'consisting of horses', 'troop'.

201. The suffix -ī is employed in a very large number of derivatives to form the feminine of masculine stems; often from stems in *-a*²; e. g. āruṣ-ī 'ruddy' (āruṣā-), dev-ī 'goddess' (devā-); or in -u; e. g. prthiv-ī 'broad' (prthil-); or from stems formed with suffixes ending in consonants, as participles in -at or -ant, e. g. pīprat-ī 'protecting' (pīr 'take across'), ad-at-ī 'eating' (ad-ánt-), mīd-ant-ī 'rejoicing' or in -vāṃs-, e. g. jagm-īś-ī 'having gone'; comparatives in -īyāṃs-, e. g. nāv-īyas-ī 'new'; stems in -tar, e. g. avitr-ī 'protectress'; in -mant, e. g. dhenu-māt-ī 'abounding in nourishment'; in -vant, e. g. āma-vat-ī 'impetuous'; in -an, e. g. sōma-rājñ-ī 'having Soma as king'; in -in, e. g. arkīṇ-ī 'radiant'; in -āñc, e. g. arvāc-ī 'hitherward'; in compounds of -han 'slaying', e. g. a-pati-ghn-ī 'not killing a husband', of -dṛś 'look', as su-dṛś-ī 'well-looking', and of -pād 'foot', as a-pād-ī 'footless'.

202. The suffix -īna forms more than a dozen adjectives from the weak stems of derivatives in -āñc, expressing direction without change of meaning; e. g. arvāc-īna and arvāc-īnā 'turned towards' (arvāñc 'hitherward'). It also forms six or seven adjectives from other words, expressing the general sense of relation; e. g. añjas-īna 'straightforward' (añjas 'straight'), viśvajān-īna (AV.) 'containing all kinds of people'.

² This is regularly the case in stems e. g. mānuṣ-a 'human', f. mānuṣ-ī.

203. The suffix -īya forms fewer than a dozen general adjectives, of which only two occur in the RV.; e.g. ārjīk-īya, designation of a Soma vessel, gr̥ha-medh-īya 'relating to the domestic sacrifice'; āhar-an-īya (AV.) 'sacrificial fire', parvat-īya (AV.) 'mountainous'. This suffix also appears in the three ordinals dvit-īya 'second', tr̥t-īya 'third', tur-īya 'fourth'.

204. The suffix -ēna with Vṛddhi of the initial syllable, occurs only once, forming a general adjective, in its feminine form sāmidh-ēni 'relating to fuel' (samidh-).

205. The suffix -enya was doubtless originally formed by the addition of -ya to derivatives made with -na, but it nearly always has a primary value as forming gerundives; e.g. ārś-ēnya 'worthy to be seen'. It appears, however, also in the two ordinary adjectives kīrt-ēnya 'famous' (kīrti- 'fame') and vīr-ēnya 'manly' (vīrā- 'hero').

206. The suffix -eya, with Vṛddhi of the initial syllable, is employed to form fewer than a dozen adjectives of a patronymic or metronymic value and some half dozen adjectives of a general character, the latter occasionally appearing in the neuter as abstract substantives; e.g. ārś-eyā 'descended from a seer' (īśi-), āditi-eyā 'son of Aditi'; pāurus-eya 'relating to man' (puruṣa-), māun-eya 'position of a sage' (mīni-). Two words with this suffix are formed without initial Vṛddhi, following the analogy of gerundives from roots ending in ā like dāya 'to be given' (dā- 'give'): didrks-ēya 'worth seeing' (as from didrks-ā- 'desire to see') and sabh-ēya 'fit for an assembly' (sabhā-).

207. The very rare suffix -eyya forms adjectives with a gerundive sense in *śus-ēyya*¹ 'praise-worthy', and śapath-eyyā (AV.) 'worthy of cursing'. It also forms an ordinary adjective used as a neuter substantive, sahas-ēyya-n 'lying together' (śr- 'lie').

208. The suffix -ka was probably used originally to form adjectives expressive of connexion, but it has become so attenuated in meaning as often to be added to substantives or adjectives without changing the sense; while on the other hand it has become specialized as a suffix forming diminutives. 1. Examples of its significant use are: ānta-ka 'making an end' (ānta-), rūpa-ka (AV.) 'having an assumed form' (rūpā- 'form'); asmā-ka 'our' (asmā- 'us'), māma-ka 'my' (māma 'of me'); ānti-ka 'near' (ānti 'before'). 2. The suffix appears without changing the meaning in e.g. dūra-kā 'distant' (dūrā- 'far'), vamra-kā 'ant' (vamrā- 'ant'), sarva-kā (AV.) 'all' (sārva-), and in the fem. form of -kā in: avi-kā 'ewe' (āvi- 'sheep'), īṣu-kā (AV.) 'arrow' (īṣu-), dhēnu-kā (AV.) 'cow' (dhenū-). 3. The diminutive sense appears in e.g. arbha-kā 'small', kumāra-kā 'little boy', pāda-kā 'little foot', putra-kā 'little son'². Sometimes a contemptuous meaning is conveyed at the same time, as in anya-kā 'other' (anyā-), āla-ka-m 'in vain' (āla-m 'enough')³.

a. With Vṛddhi in the first syllable is formed *māma-kā*⁴ 'belonging to me' (māma); and with connecting -i-: vārṣ-i-ka (AV. VS.) 'belonging to the rains' (vārṣā-), vāsant-i-ka 'belonging to the spring' (vasantā-), and in the fem. kairāt-ikā (AV.) 'relating to the Kirātas'.

209. The rare secondary suffix -ta has an ordinal sense in eka-tā (VS.)

¹ This gerundive is probably based on the infinitive śusē 'to praise'; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1422 (5).

² The feminine of some of these diminutives is formed with -ikā: īyāt-ikā 'so small', kumār-ikā (AV.) 'little girl', khārv-ikā (AV.) 'mutilated', śakunt-ikā 'little bird', śīt-ikā 'cool' (AV. śītā- 'cold').

³ Cp. WHITNEY 521.

⁴ Beside the more normal māma-ka.

'First', dvi-tā- 'Second', tri-tā- 'Third' as Proper Names. It also appears in ava-tā- 'well' and muhūr-tā- 'moment'.

210. With the suffix -tana and its syncopated form -tna are made, from adverbs or prepositions, a very few adjectives with a temporal sense: nū-tana- and nū-tna- 'present' (nū 'now'), sanū-tāna- (AV.) and sand-tna- (AV.) 'eternal' (sānā 'from of old'), pra-tnā- 'ancient' (prā 'before').

211. The suffix -tama has two uses. It is employed to form superlatives from nominal stems and from the preposition id; e. g. puru-tāma- 'very many', mādhumat-tama- 'very sweet', rathī-tama-¹ 'best charioteer'; ut-tamā-² 'highest'. It is also used to form ordinals; e. g. śata-tamā- 'hundredth'.

212. With the suffix -taya are formed only two adjectives from numerals in the sense of 'consisting of so many parts': cātuṣ-taya- (AV.) 'fourfold' and dāśa-taya- 'tenfold'.

213. The suffix -tara is regularly used to form comparatives from adjectives, substantives, or the preposition id; e. g. tavās-tara- 'stronger', rathī-tara- 'better charioteer', vr̥tra-tāra- 'worse Vṛtra'; ūt-tara- 'higher'. It also forms the ordinary adjective dīvā-tara- (RV¹) 'diurnal' (dīvā 'by day'), and a few substantives in which the meaning of the suffix is somewhat obscure: aśva-tāra-³ (AV.) 'mule' (f. -ī), vatsa-tarā-⁴ 'weaned calf'⁵ (f. -ī).

214. The suffix -tav-ya, probably originating from the predicative use of dative infinitives in -tav-e and beginning to be used in a gerundive sense, appears only twice in the AV.: jan-i-tav-yā- 'to be born' and hims-i-tav-yā- 'to be injured'.

215. The suffix -tā forms, from adjectives and substantives, some two dozen abstract nouns expressing the sense conveyed by the English suffixes -ness and -ship; e. g. bandhī-tā- 'relationship', vasī-tā- 'wealthiness'; agō-tā- 'lack of cattle', devā-tā- 'divinity', puruṣā-tā- 'human nature'; janā-tā- (AV.) has acquired the concrete sense of 'mankind'⁶. Exceptional formation appears in mamā-tā- 'selfishness' and trī-tā-⁷ (VS. TS.) 'triad'. This suffix is probably contained in sū-nī-tā-⁸ 'gladness' also.

a. The suffixes -tāti and -tāt are related to -tā and have the same sense. With the former are made about a dozen abstract substantives; e. g. a-riṣā-tāti- 'security', gr̥bhātā-tāti- 'the being seized', jyeshthā-tāti- 'superiority', devā-tāti- 'divinity', vasī-tāti- 'wealth', sarvā-tāti- 'completeness'. The two substantives śān-tāti- 'good fortune' and satyā-tāti- 'truth' also appear as adjectives meaning respectively 'beneficent' and 'truthful'. The suffix -tāt, which seems to be an abbreviation of -tāti and occurs only in the RV., is employed to form four or five abstract substantives: uparā-tāt- 'proximity', devā-tāt- 'divine service', vr̥kā-tāt- 'wolfishness', sarvā-tāt- 'completeness'.

216. The suffix -tya forms some half dozen adjectives and substantives from prepositions and adverbs. These are āpa-tya- n. 'offspring', amā-tya- 'companion' (amā 'at home'), āvis-tya- 'manifest' (āvis 'openly'), nīś-tya- 'foreign' (nīś 'out'), sānu-tya- 'secret'⁹. This suffix is also added to

² The superlatives tīvi-ś-tama- 'strongest' and surabhi-ś-tama- 'most fragrant' insert a sibilant before the suffix.

³ Perhaps 'more (like a) horse' (than an ass).

⁴ Probably 'more than a calf'.

⁵ In ratham-tarā-, designation of a kind of Sāman, in which the case ending of the acc. remains, the second part is doubtless the verbal -tara 'speeding' (ty- 'cross'). kāroṭarā- 'filter' and kaṇṭharā-, designation of Sāmbara, are probably formed with -a and Vṛddhi.

⁶ Like 'humanity' in English.

⁷ Also in tret-in-ī- (RV.) 'the threefold flame of three fires'.

⁸ Though it appears also as a neuter sū-nīta- 'gladness' and as an adjective 'joyful'.

⁹ Cp. sānu-tār 'aside'.

the substantive āp- 'water' to form the two adjectives ap-tyá- and āp-tyá- 'watery'.

217. With the suffix -tva are formed more than thirty abstract substantives with the same sense as those in -tā; e.g. amṛta-tvá- 'immortality', aḥam-uttara-tvá- (AV.) 'assertion of superiority', bhrātṛ-tvá- 'brotherhood', maghavat-tvá- 'liberality', raśas-tvá- 'sorcery'. The final syllable of the primitive is lengthened in an-āgās-tvá- 'sinlessness'; while it is shortened in *sadhani-tvá-*¹ 'companionship'. Owing to the influence of the nominative, s is inserted before the suffix in su-prajā-s-tvá- 'possession of many children' and with initial Vṛddhi in *sauprajā-s-tvá-*² (AV.¹) 'possession of good offspring'.

a. The two suffixes -tā and -tva, identical in meaning, are pleonastically combined in the form of -tva-tā- in the two derivatives iṣṭa-tvātā- 'excitement', and puruṣa-tvātā- 'human nature'.

218. The suffix -tvana, an extension of -tva with -na, appears in the formation of some eight neuter abstracts occurring almost exclusively in the RV. These are kavi-tvaná- 'wisdom', jani-tvaná- 'state of a wife'; pati-tvaná- 'matrimony', mātya-tvaná- 'the ways of man', māhi-tvaná- 'greatness', vasu-tvaná- 'wealth', vṛṣa-tvaná- 'manliness', sakhī-tvaná- 'friendship'. All of these except mātya-tvaná- have beside them the corresponding abstracts formed with *-tva*³.

219. The suffix -tha forms a few ordinals from cardinals, and adjectives from pronominal stems with a general numerical sense. Thus catur-thá (AV.) 'fourth', ṣaṣ-thá- (AV. VS.) 'sixth', saptá-tha- 'seventh'; kati-thá- 'the how manyth?'.⁴

220. The rare secondary suffix -na appears in one adjective derived with initial Vṛddhi from a substantive, strāi-na- 'feminine' (strī- 'woman'), and in three adjectives derived from adverbs without any internal change: purā-ná- 'ancient' (purā 'before'), viśu-na- 'various' (viśu- 'apart'), samā-ná- 'like' (samā- 'equal').

221. The suffix -nī is used to form the feminine of pāti- 'lord' and paruṣ-á- 'knotty', as well as of several adjectives in -ta denoting colours. Thus pāt-nī- 'mistress', pāruṣ-nī-, as N. of a river. The suffix is substituted for -ta in ś-nī- 'variegated' (ś-ta-), rōhi-nī- 'red cow' (rōhi-ta- 'red'), śyē-nī- 'white cow' (śyē-tá- 'white'), hāri-nī- 'fallow' (hāri-ta-). In a few such words -nī is substituted for the final a, while k takes the place of the *t*⁵: āsik-nī- 'black' (āsi-ta-), pālik-nī- 'grey' (pāli-tá-), hārik-nī- in the diminutive form hārikṇ-ikā- (AV.) 'yellowish' (hāri-ta- 'fallow').

222. The suffix -bha forms half a dozen derivatives, all names of animals except one adjective⁶: ṛṣa-bhá- and vṛṣa-bhá- 'bull', gārda-bhá- and *rāsa-bha-*⁶ 'ass', śara-bhá- (AV. VS.) 'fabulous eightlegged animal'. The one adjective is sthūla-bhá- (AV.¹) beside sthūlá- 'big'.

223. The suffix -ma forms some eight superlatives, partly from prepositions, and the ordinals from the cardinals for 'five' and 'seven', 'eight', 'nine', 'ten'. The former are: adha-má- 'lowest', apa-má- 'farthest', ava-má- 'lowest',

¹ From sadha-nī- ('one who leads with him') 'companion', which is, however, analysed in the Pada text as sa-dhantī-.

⁵ See BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 203; cp. p. 89, note 2.

upa-má- 'highest', *ánta-ma-*¹ 'nearest', cara-má- 'last', para-má- 'remotest', madhya-má- 'middlemost'. The ordinals are: pañca-má- (AV. VS.) 'fifth', sapta-má- (VS.) 'seventh', aṣṭa-má- 'eighth', nava-má- 'ninth', daśa-má- 'tenth'.

224. The suffix -mant forms in the Samhitās between 80 and 90 possessive adjectives, like the parallel suffix *-vant*², with which it is to some extent interchangeable. Unlike -vant, however, it never forms derivatives from stems ending in -ā except kāṇva-mant- (RV¹.) 'prepared by the Kaṇvas' and yáva-mant- 'rich in barley'. Examples are: aśáni-mant- 'possessing the thunder-bolt', śadhi-mant- (AV.) 'rich in herbs', krātu-mant- 'having power', vadhū-mant- 'drawn by mares'(?), hōṭi-mant- 'provided with a sacrificer', gó-mant- 'rich in kine', virūk-mant- 'gleaming', garūt-mant- 'winged'(?), *kakūd-mant*³ 'provided with a hump', cákṣus-mant- 'possessed of eyes', *vidyūn-mant*⁴ 'containing lightning'.

a. A final -i is sometimes lengthened: tvīṣi-mant- 'vehement' (tvīṣi- 'vehemence'), dhṛāji-mant- 'gliding' (dhṛāji- = dhṛāji- 'gliding motion'), hīrī-mant- 'tawny-horsed' (hīrī- = hāri- 'bay steed'); -ī is inserted in jyōtiṣ-ī-mant- (AV.)⁵ 'full of light' (beside jyōtiṣ-mant-), and s in *śuci-ś-mant*⁶ 'shining'. In the derivative susu-mānt- (RV¹.) 'very stimulating' the suffix seems to have primary value⁷. The adverb āśu-māt (AV¹), formed from the neuter of this suffix, seems to follow the analogy of adverbs in -vat from derivatives in -vant.

225. The suffix -maya (f. -ī) forms fewer than a dozen adjectives with the sense of 'consisting of', 'derived from', 'abounding in'. The suffix -as remains unchanged before the m, but d is assimilated as in external Sandhi. Derivatives thus formed are: ayas-māya- 'made of metal', aśman-māya- 'made of stone', kim-māya- 'consisting of what?', go-māya- 'consisting of cattle', nabhas-māya- 'vaporous', manas-māya- 'spiritual', mṛn-māya- 'made of clay' (mṛd-), śaka-māya- 'arising from dung', *sū-māya*⁸ 'well-fashioned'.

226. The suffix -mīn was most probably due to the derivatives in -in from nouns in -ma, like dhūm-in- 'smoking' (dhūmá- 'smoke') which are fairly common. It has an independent character, however, in iṣ-mīn- 'impetuous' and *ṛg-mīn*⁹ 'jubilant with praise' (ṛc-).

227. The rare suffix -mna forms a few neuter abstracts from nouns or particles. It seems to be an extension with -a of -man syncopated like -tṇa for -tana. The derivatives formed with it are: dyu-mná- 'brightness' (dyū- 'sky'), nṛ-mná- 'manliness' (nṛ- 'man'), nī-mná- 'depth' (nī- 'down'), su-mná- 'welfare' (su- 'well').

228. The very common suffix *-ya*¹⁰ forms a large number of adjectives of relation, including a good many patronymics, and abstract substantives. It is pronounced -ia nearly four times as often as -ya. The feminine is usually -yā, both in adjectives and abstract substantives; but in the former it is sometimes -ī, as ār-ī- and ār-yā- 'Āryan', *dāiv-ī-*¹¹ and dāiv-yā- 'divine'.

a. All the patronymics besides a good many general adjectives, and most of the abstract substantives are formed with initial Vṛddhi; e. g. ādīty-yá- 'Son of Aditi', sāhaddev-yá- 'descendant of Sahadeva'; grāiv-ya- (AV.) 'relating to the neck' (grīvā-), dāiv-ya- 'divine' (devá- 'god'), prajāpat-yá- (AV.)

² Which is, however, about three times as common.

³ The VS. has kakūn-mant- as in external Sandhi.

⁴ With assimilated t as in external Sandhi.

⁵ Following the analogy of tāvīṣi-mant- 'strong'.

⁶ Occurring only once in the vocative śuci-mas.

⁷ The word is analysed in the Pada text as susu-mān.

⁸ This derivative seems to preserve the originally nominal character of this suffix.

⁹ In this derivative the original guttural appears, though it has become sonant as in external Sandhi.

¹¹ These are evident instances of the reduction of unaccented yā to ī; cp. 24 a.

'relating to Frajāpati'; ādhipat-ya- 'lordship' (ādhi-pati- 'lord'), jānarāj-ya- (VS.) 'kingship' (jana-rājan- 'king of the people'), vaimanas-yā- (AV.) 'dejection' (vi-manas-), sāṅgrāmajit-ya- (AV.) 'victory in battle' (samgrāma-jit- AV.) 'conquering in battle'), *sāuvasv-ya-*¹ 'wealth in horses' (sv-dśva-).

b. Derivatives formed without Vṛddhi are mostly ordinary adjectives, being about four times as numerous as those formed with Vṛddhi. They are made from stems with all kinds of finals. The following are examples: śśv-ya- 'relating to horses' (śśva-); urvar-yā- (VS.) 'belonging to cultivated land' (urvárā-); śv-ya- 'belonging to sheep' (śvi-); *vāyav-yā-*² 'belonging to wind' (vāyū-); nār-ya- 'manly' (nā- 'man'); pitr-ya- 'belonging to the fathers' (pitr-); gāv-ya- 'derived from cows' (gā-); nāv-yā- (AV.) 'navigable' (nāu- 'boat'), svarāj-ya- 'autocracy' (sva-rāj- 'sovereign'); karman-yā- 'skilful in work' (kārman-), *vīṣṇ-ya-*³ 'virile' (vīṣan- 'male'); *sat-yā-*⁴ 'true' (sant-), prāc-yā- (AV.) 'eastern' (prāñc-); āyus-yā- (VS. AV.) 'length of life' (āyus-).

a. The final -a is retained before the suffix in hiraṇyā-ya- 'made of gold' (hiraṇya-), while -an is dropped before it in aryam-yā- 'intimate' (arya-mān- 'companion'). The suffix is added pleonastically in avyā-ya- and āvyā-ya- 'belonging to sheep' (beside śv-ya-) and gāv-yā- 'derived from cows' (beside gāv-ya-); also in forming a few possessive compounds, as su-hast-ya- 'skilful-handed' (beside su-hāsta-)⁵. It is also used in forming a few governing compounds, as ādhi-gart-ya- 'being on the driver's seat' (gārta-), abhinabhi-yā-m, adv. 'near the clouds' (nābhas-)⁶.

β. In some adjectives and substantives, the suffix has a primary appearance; e.g. pīṣ-ya- 'flower', yij-ya- 'related', mādh-ya- 'middle', mār-ya- 'young man', sūr-ya- 'sun', f. *sūr-yā-*⁷ (svār- 'light').

γ. Though as a gerundive suffix -ya must be regarded as primary, it is manifestly secondary in certain adjectives which have a gerundive sense; thus avi-mok-yā- (AV.) 'not to be loosened', *pari-varg-yā-*⁸ (AV.) 'to be avoided'.

δ. Akin to the gerundives are a few abstract feminines in -yā; e.g. kr-t-yā- 'action', 'enchantment', *vid-yā-*⁹ (AV.) 'knowledge', deva-yaj-yā- 'worship of the gods'.

229. The rare suffix -yin, like -in, forms a few possessive adjectives, all of which except one occur in the VS. They are ātata-yin- (VS.) 'having one's bow drawn' (ā-tata-), dhanvā-yin- (VS.) 'bearing a bow' (dhanvān-), *marā-yin-*¹⁰ (RV¹), N. of a man, śrka-yin- (VS.) 'having a spear' (śrkā-), *svadhā-yin-*¹¹ (VS.) 'owning the Svadhā'.

230. The suffix -ra forms four superlatives from prepositions and about a dozen ordinary nouns, most of which are adjectives. The superlatives are ādha-ra- 'lower', āpa-ra- 'later', āva-ra- 'lower', *ūpa-ra-*¹² 'lower'. The ordinary adjectives formed with the suffix have the sense of 'belonging to' or 'connected with'. It is usually added direct; e.g. dhūm-rā- 'grey' (dhūmā- 'smoke'), āśr-rā- 'ugly', pāṃsu-rā- 'dusty' (pāṃsū- 'dust', AV.), and with initial Vṛddhi āgnīdh-rā- 'belonging to the fire-kindler' (agnīdh-). It is added with connecting i in medh-i-rā- 'wise' (medhā- 'wisdom') and rath-i-rā- 'riding in a car'. It also occurs in a few substantives, some of which are of

² With Guna of final -u as usual before secondary suffixes (190); prāśav-yā- 'to be partaken of' (pra-ś-) and ūrjav-yā- 'rich in nourishment' (ūrj-) are formed without any primitives prāśu- and ūrju-.

⁶ Cp. WHITNEY 1212 m.

⁷ Cp. WHITNEY 1213 e; and Roots, under svar- 'sound'.

⁸ Here the guttural shows that these words are derived from nominal stems -moka- and -varga-.

⁹ In the RV. only in the compound jātā-vidyā- 'knowledge of creatures'.

¹⁰ Perhaps meaning 'brilliant' or, according to Sayana, 'destroying' enemies.

¹¹ The TS. IV. 4. 114 has svadhā-vin-.

doubtful etymology: *karmā-ra*¹ 'smith', muṣka-rā (AV.), a kind of small animal², *sāmbara*³, N. of a demon, śāṅkurā (AV.) 'penis', sahāś-ra 'thousand'.

231. The suffix -la forms about a dozen adjectives with the same meaning as those formed with -ra, with which it sometimes interchanges and of which it is generally a later form. Examples are: astī-lā (AV.) 'ugly', kapi-lā 'brown', jīva-lā (AV.) 'lively', tilvi-la 'fertile', bahu-lā 'abundant', madhu-lā 'sweet', śeva-la (AV.) 'shiny'. This suffix also forms two or three diminutives: vṛṣa-lā 'little man', śiśū-la 'little child', and the fem. śalāka-lā (AV.) 'small splint'.

232. The suffix -va forms a few adjectives: arṇa-vā 'billowy', keśa-vā (AV.) 'hairy', añji-vā (AV.) 'slippery', santi-vā (AV.) 'friendly', śraddhi-vā 'credible'.

233. The suffix -vat forms seven feminine abstract substantives, with a local sense, from adverbs or prepositions: *arvā-vāt*⁴ 'proximity', ā-vāt (AV.) 'proximity', ud-vāt 'height', nī-vāt 'depth', parā-vāt 'distance', pra-vāt 'height', saṃ-vāt 'region'.

234. With the suffix -van, before which -a and -i may be lengthened, are formed some twenty derivatives, nearly all adjectives with the sense of 'possessing' or 'connected with'. The adjectives are: amatī-vān 'indigent', arātī-vān 'hostile', iṅhā-van 'impetuous', ṛṇā-vān 'indebted', *dhitā-van*⁵ 'rich in gifts', dhi-van (AV.) 'clever', maghā-van 'bountiful', śruṣṭi-vān 'obedient', *satyā-van*⁶ (AV.) 'truthful', samād-van 'warlike', svadhā-van, f. *-vart*⁷ 'faithful', hārd-van (VS.) 'hearty'; also the feminines sumnā-vārī 'bringing favour', śūṇṭā-vārī 'joyous'. Somewhat anomalously formed are indhan-van 'possessed of fuel' (indhana-), *sahā-van*⁸ and *sāho-van*⁹ (AV.) 'mighty'. There are also the substantives āthar-van m. 'fire-priest', muṣṭ-vān m. 'robber', and *santī-t-van*¹⁰ 'reward'.

235. The suffix -vant forms, from nominal stems of every kind, possessive adjectives numbering at least 250 in the Samhitās. A final vowel is often lengthened before the suffix, most frequently -a, but very rarely -u. Examples are: keśa-vant 'hairy', āsvā-vant 'possessed of horses' (beside āsva-vant); prajā-vant 'having progeny'; sākhi-vant 'having friends', sākti-vant 'mighty' (sākti 'might'); *dyāvā-prthivī-vant*¹¹ (AV.) 'connected with heaven and earth'; vīṣṇu-vant 'accompanied by Viṣṇu', viśū-vānt 'dividing' (vīṣu 'apart'); hārit-vant 'gold-coloured'; āsan-vānt (AV.) 'having a mouth', rōman-vant and lōma-vant (AV.) 'hairy', śīrṣan-vānt (AV.) 'having a head'; kakibh-vant (MS. 1. 11) 'having a peak'; śār-vant 'splendid'; pāyas-vant 'containing milk', nas-vānt (AV.) 'having a nose'. With external Sandhi: pīśad-vant 'variegated'¹².

a. Some of these derivatives, especially if formed from pronominal stems, have the meaning of 'resembling' instead of 'possessing'; thus mā-vant 'like me', i-vant 'so great', kī-vant 'how far?', *Indras-vant*¹³ 'like Indra', nila-vant

² The word occurs in TS. v. (B) as an adjective meaning 'having testicles'.

³ Probably a foreign word.

⁴ From arva 'hither' contained in arvāñc 'hitherward' and some other derivatives.

⁵ The Pada text has dhitā-van.

⁶ The Pada text has satyā-van.

⁷ The fem. of the secondary -van being formed like that of the primary -van; see 177 and cp. 179 a.

⁸ The Pada text has sahā-van.

⁹ The only instance of external Sandhi with this suffix.

¹⁰ With -i interposed, as after short radical vowel preceding primary -van; e. g. kṛ-i-van.

¹¹ Retaining the double accent of the primitive.

¹² In a few derivatives -vant has the appearance of a primary suffix: vīdās-vant or vī-vasvant 'shining', dr-vant 'swift', yah-vant 'speeding'.

¹³ With the s of the nominative.

'blackish', ny-vānt 'manly'. From this sense is derived the use of the neuter acc. as an adverb of comparison, e.g. manuṣ-vāt 'like Manus', 'as Manus did'.

236. The very rare suffix -vaya, probably a noun in origin, seems to be found only in one numeral adjective, cātur-vaya 'fourfold', and one substantive, dru-vāya (AV.) 'wooden dish'.

237. The suffix -vala (cp. 179) seems to be used in the formation of secondary derivatives only in kṛṣi-valā 'peasant' (kṛṣi 'tillage') and in the fem. naḍ-valā (VS.) 'reed-bed'.

238. The suffix -vin is used in forming nearly twenty possessive adjectives from stems ending in -a (which is lengthened), *-ā*¹, -as; thus ubhayā-vin 'partaking of both' (ubhāya-), aṣṭrā-vin 'obedient to the goad', yaśas-vin (AV.) 'beautiful'. To the analogy of the derivatives from stems in -as is due the insertion of s in śata-s-vin 'possessing a hundred'. The only derivatives from stems ending in any consonant other than s are dhr̥ṣad-vin 'bold' (dhr̥ṣāt-) and vāg-vin (AV.) 'eloquent' (vāc 'speech'), both formed as in external Sandhi.

239. The only derivative of the suffix -vya forming names of relationship which occur in the Samhitās seems to be bhrātṛ-vya (father's) 'brother's son'².

240. The suffix -śa forms eight or nine adjectives or substantives without in most instances changing the original meaning. The adjectives are līa-śa 'variegated', bāhlu-śa (VS.) 'brownish', yuva-śa 'youthful', and with possessive sense roma-śa 'hairy'. The substantives are aṅku-śa m. 'hook', kāśma-śa (AV.) m. or n. 'stupefaction'(?), kālā-śa m. 'jar', turvā-śa, N. of a man, *lopā-śa*³ m. 'jackal'.

V. COMPOUNDS.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik p. 245—282. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1246—1316. — REUTER, Die altindischen nominalcomposita, ihrer betonung nach untersucht, KZ. 31, 157—232; 485—612. — WACKERNAGEL, Altindische Grammatik, 2¹, Nominalkomposition, 1905: cp. BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 20, 162—172 (Anzeiger).

241. Form of compounds.—The Vedic language has inherited from the Indo-European speech the power of combining words into a compound treated like a simple word as regards accent, inflexion, and construction. Both in the frequency and the length of compounds the Vedic language resembles that of Homer. In the RV. and the AV. no compounds of more than three independent members occur; and those which consist of three members are rare, such as ādabdhā-vrata-pramati 'superior-minded owing to unbroken observances', pūrva-kāma-kṛtvān 'fulfilling former wishes', mithā-avadya-pa 'mutually warding off want', hāri-manyu-sāyaka 'stimulating the mettle of the bays'.

The two characteristic features of a compound are unity of accent and use of the uninflected stem in the first member (or members). There are, however, exceptions to both these rules. The Sandhi between the two numbers is occasionally different from that between words in a sentence. Occasionally also tmesis of a compound occurs⁴. Generally speaking a

³ Cp. GUSTAV MEYER, IF. I, 328.

⁴ Frequently in dual compounds, as dyāvā ha ksāmā 'heaven and earth'; occasionally in others also, as śināś cic chēpam for śināḥ-śēpam; nārā vā śāmsam for nārā-śāmsam; saptā me saplā for saptā-sapta me.

compound assumes a modified and single meaning as compared with the same words used in juxtaposition in a sentence; e. g. kṛṣṇa-śakuntī- (AV.) 'raven', while kṛṣṇāḥ śakuntīḥ would mean 'black bird'. Compounding must take place when a derivative has to be formed from the two words; as kṣātrapat-ya- 'property' beside kṣātrasya pāti- 'lord of the field'. Sometimes, however, the case-ending remains while the compound accent is used, as rāyas-poṣa-dā- 'bestowing abundance of wealth', beside rāyās pōsa- 'abundance of wealth'. There is a tendency to compounding when the first of two syntactical words is indeclinable. Thus beside sām yōs 'happiness and welfare' also appears sām-yōs (I. 34⁶); and analogously the indeclinable form or stem of a word takes the place of the case¹. Sometimes compounds are formed by the coalescence of inflected words occurring side by side in a sentence. Thus viśvāḥ (TS.) 'all days' beside dāḥ viśvā (RV.) has become viśvāḥ 'daily' with a single accent. Occasionally, when two compounds have the same final member, the latter is used only once, as *mitrótā*² médhyātithim (I. 36⁷) for mitrātithim utā médhyātithim; patayān mandayāt-sakham (I. 47) for patayāt-sakham mandayāt-sakham. Sometimes one of the members of a compound governs a case³ outside the compound, as ārvato māmsa-bhikṣām (I. 162¹²) 'begging for the flesh of the steed'; in some instances pleonastically, as gaṇānām gaṇā-pātim (II. 23¹) 'troop-leader of troops'. A case-form may agree with the first member of a compound when that member has the form or even only the sense of that case, as rāyās-kāmo viśvāpsnyasya (VII. 42⁶) 'desirous of wealth of all forms'; or a case-form may agree with the second member, while coordinated in sense with the first, as mahā-dhané . . ārbhe (I. 75) 'in great booty (and) in small'.

a. The gender of compounds is, in Copulatives (Dvandvas) and Determinatives (Tatpuruṣas) ending in substantives, that of the last member⁴; but collective compounds are regularly neuter⁵. Compounds ending in adjectives, possessives, and governing compounds have the gender of the substantives with which they agree or which they represent. The number in Determinatives is that of the last member. In Copulatives of the older types it is dual or plural according to the total number meant by the combination, while it is singular (and neuter) in the later type. Collective compounds (whether copulatives or possessives) are singular. Compounds ending in adjectives, possessives, and governing compounds, have the number of the substantive with which they agree or which they represent.

A. The First Member of Compounds.

242. Its form. — The first member of nominal compounds may consist of nouns (including numerals and pronouns) or indeclinables suitable for qualifying nouns. Exceptionally an inflected form appears in this position qualifying the second member in dependent determinatives and possessives. This is mainly due to words frequently in juxtaposition becoming permanently joined; thus beside the two independent words jās pātiḥ (VII. 38⁶) 'lord of the family'

² The Pada text reads mitrā utā.

⁴ In a few Dvandvas the gender of the first member prevails (265, notes 1 and 2); and a few Determinatives change the gender of the final member, as patnī-śāla- (VS.) n. (śālā-) 'shed for the wives (of sacrificers)' and agra-jihvā- (VS.) n. 'tip of the tongue' (jihvā-).

⁵ Both Dvandvas (266) and Bahuvrhis (290).

we find the compound jās-pātim (I. 185⁸). But it partly also arises from a desire to express the syntactical relation of the words in the compound even without antecedent juxtaposition; as in the verbal determinatives dhanaṃ-jayā- 'winning booty', apsu-sād- 'dwelling in waters'; or in possessives like rāyās-kāma- 'desirous of wealth'. Such case-endings show a tendency to encroach beyond their legitimate sphere; thus the frequency of the ending -as before -pāti-, e. g. vāc-ds-pāti- 'lord of speech', led to its becoming the general genitive sign before that word, as in rātha-s-pāti- 'lord of the car' (rātha-). Similarly, according to apsu-kṣi-t- 'dwelling in the waters' was formed apsu-jī-t- beside ab-jī-t- 'winning waters', where the locative is not appropriate. Ordinarily the first member appears only in its stem form. As the stem cannot express number it may mean either the singular or the plural. That it often indicates the plural is shown by expressions like narāṃ or jānānāṃ nr-pātī- 'man-guardian of men' or 'people'. The plural sense is also evident in compounds like devā-kṛta- 'made by the gods', vīrā-jāta- 'produced by men', nr-pāti- 'lord of men'. In personal pronouns and cardinals the number is of course inherent in the stem itself.

a. The gender is expressed in the first member only in as far as feminine words retain their f. stem when coordinated in copulatives or dependent on the final member in the sense of a case in determinatives; e. g. patnī-sāla- (VS.) 'shed for wives'. The f. suffix -ā is, however, often shortened to *a*², as in amīva-hān- 'destroying suffering', amīva-sātana- 'dispelling suffering' (āmīva-). But when a feminine adjective as first member agrees attributively with a feminine in the last member, it appears in the masculine stem-form³; e. g. prīyata-dakṣiṇa- 'one by whom a sacrificial fee (dakṣiṇa-) has been presented'⁴.

243. If the stem is liable to gradation, that form is used which occurs in the weak cases. Thus in the vowel stems -i, -u, -r, appear; e. g. pāti-juṣṭa- 'dear to a husband', vasu-vid- 'finding wealth', pitr-yajñā- 'sacrifice to the manes'. Similarly dyu- (dṛṇ-) 'heaven' appears before consonants, as dyu-kṣā- 'dwelling in heaven', dyū-bhaktā- 'presented by heaven', but div- before vowels, as div-īt- 'going to heaven', div-iṣṭi- 'prayer'. The two stems dāru- 'wood' and āp- 'water' are reduced to dru- and ap-: dru-padd- 'wooden pillar', dru-sād- 'sitting on the tree'; ap-tir- 'overcoming the waters', ab-jā- 'derived from waters'. The stem pīmāṇs- 'man' appears in the weak form pums- in pums-calī- (VS. AV.) and pums-calū- (VS.) 'courtezan' ('running after men').

a. Stems in -an have -a not only before consonants⁵, but also before vowels⁶ and y, vī; e. g. rāja-putrā- 'king's son', ukṣāṇma- 'devouring bulls' (ukṣān-), āsmāsyā- 'whose mouth is a rock' (āsman-), brāhmeddha- 'kindled with devotion' (brāhman-), brahmaudantā- (AV.) 'boiled rice (odant-) for Brāhman' (brahmān-). Exceptions, however, are nemann-īs- 'following the lead', vṛṣaṇ-aśvā- 'drawn by stallions', vṛṣaṇ-vasu- 'having great wealth'⁸.

b. Stems in -in seem to follow the same analogy, dropping the -n before consonants; thus śāci-gu- (only voc.) 'having strong cattle' and śāci-pūjana- (only voc.) 'worshipping the strong'⁹.

¹ The compounding of such forms probably often started from vocatives like sahasas putra treated as a unit in regard to accent.

² This, however, seems to be due to metrical influence.

³ An exception in urvy-ūti- 'giving wide aid', where the f. stem urvī- appears instead of the m. urī-.

⁴ In brhāc-chandas- (AV.) 'having Brhatī Indo-arische Philologie. I. 4.

as metre' and jāgac-chandas- (AV. VS.) 'having Jagatī as metre', the first members doubtless represent neuter names of the metres.

⁵ As in rāja-bhis etc.

⁶ Unlike rāj-ñe etc.

⁷ Not -an as in rājan-yā, udan-vānt-.

⁸ In āsānn-iṣu- 'having arrows in his mouth' the first member is a locative.

⁹ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 54 β, note.

c. Occasionally the weak grade stem used as first member does not occur as an independent word; thus kṣā-pāvant- and kṣa-pāvant- 'earth-protector' from kṣām- 'earth'; jñu-bādḥ- 'bending the knee' from jānu- 'knee'; man-dhāt- 'devout man' from mān-as- 'mind' (through manz-*), sūt-pati- 'lord of the abode', probably from sād-as- 'abode' (through sats-*).

204. When in the inflexion of a word two or more collateral stems (not differing in gradation only) are used, the one which appears in weak cases is mostly employed as first member in compounds. 1. Even though the stem ās-yā- 'mouth' is inflected throughout, the alternative stems of weak cases ās- and āsan- are preferred: ā-daghnā- 'reaching to the mouth', *āsann-iṣu-*¹ 'having arrows in his mouth'. 2. *udān-*² 'water' is preferred to *uda-kā-*³: uda-grābhā- m. 'holding water', uda-pī- (AV.) 'purified by water', uda-meghā- 'water-shower'; uda-kā- appears only in *uddātman-*⁴ (AV.) 'having water for its chief substance'. 3. Of the three stems pānthān-, pathi-, pāth-, only the middle one, which appears before consonant endings, is used: pathi-kṛt- 'path-making', pathi-rākṣi- 'protecting roads'. 4. *śākan-*⁵ is preferred to śākṛt- 'dung': śāka-dhūma- (AV.) 'dung-smoke', śāka-piṇḍā- (VS.) 'lump of dung', śāka-pūta- ('purified by dung'), N. of a seer. 5. śīrsān- is preferred to śīras- 'head': śīrṣa-kapālā- (AV.) 'skull', śīrṣa-bhīḍya- (AV.) n. 'head-splitting', śīrṣa-mayā- (AV.) m. 'disease (āmaya-) of the head'. 6. There is fluctuation between pād- and pāda- 'foot', *māms-*⁶ and māmsā- 'flesh', hṛd- and hṛdaya- 'heart': *pād-ghoṣā-*⁷ (AV.) 'sound of footsteps', but pāda-gṛhya-, ger. 'seizing by the foot'; māms-pācana- 'used for cooking flesh', but māmsa-bhikṣā- 'begging for flesh', hṛd-roḡā- 'heart-disease', but hṛdaya-vidh- 'wounding the heart'⁸.

245. Alternative adjective stems sometimes appear in the first member of compounds. Thus in the RV. mahi- interchanges with *mahā-*⁹ 'great' in Karmadhārayas and Bahuvrīhis, as māhi-kṣatra 'owning great sway', but mahā-dhānā- 'great booty', mahā-manas- 'great-minded'¹⁰. A few stems in -i appear instead of or interchanging with others in -ra: rji- in rji-pyā- and the Proper Names *rji-svan-*¹¹ beside rjīrā- 'quick' in rjīrāśva- ('having quick horses'), N. of a man; dabhi-* in dabhīti- (for dabhi-iti-*) 'injurer', beside dabhrā- 'small' in dabhrā-cetas- 'of little wit'; sviti- in *svitī-dān-*¹² 'bright', beside svitrā- (AV.) 'white'; saci- in saci-vid- 'belonging together', beside *ā-sk-ra-*¹³ 'united'; perhaps also -kravi- for krivi-* in ā-kravi-hasta- 'not having bloody hands', beside *krū-rā-*¹⁴ (AV.) 'bloody'.

a. A few adjective stems in -i used as first member neither occur as uncompounded adjectives nor have corresponding adjective stems in -ra: tuvi-jātā- 'mightily born', tuvi-grīva- 'strong-necked', tuvi-bjas- 'very strong'; gabhi-śāk (AV.) 'deep down'.

² Inst. sing. udā, pl. udā-bhis.

³ Nom. n. acc. udakām.

⁴ With irregular accent; cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 56, note.

⁵ Inst. śāka-bhis (TS.), nom. acc. śākṛt.

⁷ Perhaps in pād-gṛbhi-, N. of a man or demon, if pād- = pad-, cp. WACKERNAGEL 1, 148 a.

⁸ On the other hand, of the alternative stems asṛj- and asān- 'blood', only the nom. acc. form is used; e. g. asṛj-pāvan- (AV.) 'drinking blood', asṛj-mukha- (AV.) 'bloody-faced'.

⁹ mahā- being the m., mahi- the n. nom. acc. stem, beside the weak dat. mah-i etc.

¹⁰ The AV. has the stem mahāt- in the Karmadhāraya mahāt-kāṇḍā-, 'great section'.

¹¹ Perhaps also in rjīli- (= rji-ili-), cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 59.

¹² Cp. śiti-pād- 'white-footed', śiti-pr-sṭha- 'white-backed'.

¹³ From sac- 'be attached' with syncope.

¹⁴ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 59.

246. Extension of the stem sometimes takes place in the first member. The commonest addition is -a owing to the frequency of that ending: dur-a-dabhná- (AV.) 'eluding doors', ásvin-a-kṛta- (VS.) 'done by the Ásvins'; *viśaṁjās-*¹ (VS.) 'ruling the people'; *ṣaṭ-a-rā-*² (AV.) 'collection of six verses'. An a-stem becomes one in -as in yakṣma-dhāt- (AV.) 'seat of a disease' (yakṣma-). An extension with -d appears in *śatád-vasu-*³ 'having a hundred (śatá-) treasures', and in *án-atid-bhuta-*⁴ 'unsurpassed'.

a. Shortening of the stem sometimes takes place by the dropping of a final t or s (preceded by a) or of the vowel -a; thus pr̥ṣodará- (TS. v. 6. 14¹) 'having a spotted (pr̥ṣat-) belly' (udāra-); ápnā-rāj- 'ruling over riches' (ápnas-); *bhar-isd-*⁵ (rv. 40²) 'desiring booty' (bhāra-); tīl-pīñja- (AV.) 'barren sesamum' (tīlā-); sas-pīñjara- (TS. iv. 5. 2³) 'reddish like grass' (sasā-), may also be an example, but it is more probably a modification of śas-pīñjara- (VS. xvi. 17) by haplology for śaspa-pīñjara-*.

247. Adverbs often occur as first member of compounds. In several instances a nominal stem in -a represents an adverbial case (acc., inst., abl., loc.) formed from that stem; thus nitya-vatsa- 'having a calf continually' (nityam); satya-yāj- 'sacrificing truly' (satyam), samantá-tīti-bāhu- (VS.) 'whose forefeet are white all round' (samantām); sana-jā- 'born of old' (= sanā or sanāt); upākā-cakṣas- 'visible from near at hand' (upākē 'near'). Occasionally a nominal stem which has no separate existence is abstracted from the adverb; thus ará-maṇas- 'ready-minded' (from áram 'ready'), ará-mati- 'suitable prayer', abhyardha-yájvan- 'offering apart' (abhyardhús). A cardinal is sometimes thus used instead of its adverb: try-āruṣa- 'reddish in three places' (trī-s), dvi-jā- (AV.) 'born twice' (dvi-s).

248. The case-ending is also preserved in several instances; thus aráṇ-kṛt- 'preparing', sākam-ikṣ- 'sprinkling together', sākam-yāj- 'joined together' (sākām), sāyam-bhavá- (AV.) 'becoming evening'; paścā-doṣā- (VS.) 'late evening'. Adverbs that are neither case-forms nor look like them regularly remain unchanged; thus *akṣṇayā-drīh-*⁶ 'injuring wrongly'; itihā-dhī- 'truly devout'; idā-vatsará- (VS. AV.) 'the present year', a particular kind of year; pīnar-nava- 'renewing itself', punar-bhūt- 'arising again'; viśvato-dhī- 'observing in all directions', viśu-rūpa- 'coloured variously' (viśu-), viśu-vṛt- 'rolling in various directions'. A nasal is added in makṣu-m-gamā- 'approaching quickly' (makṣā).

249. Prepositions frequently occur as the first member of a compound.

1. Owing to their originally adverbial character they may qualify ordinary adjectives or substantives like adverbs; thus āti-kṛṣṇa- (VS.) 'excessively dark', vī-mahī- 'very great'; prā-napāt- 'great grandson', vī-vāc- 'opposing shout'; and in Bahuvrīhis: prā-sṛigā- (VS.) 'having prominent horns', vṛ-āṁsa- 'having shoulders wide apart'.

2. Owing to their constant connexion with verbs they are very common before verbal nouns; e.g. ūpa-śtu-t- and ūpa-stuti- 'invocation'; pura-hita- 'domestic priest'.

3. Owing to their frequent connexion with cases, they also appear in a governing sense; e.g. ādhi-gart-ya- 'being on the car-seat', anu-pathā- 'following the path'.

² Like pañcarā- = pañca-ra-.

³ Influenced by the analogy of pañcāśád- '50' etc., and vidád-vasu-, etc.

⁴ Due to a confusion of ati-bhuta-* = ati-bhūta- 'surpassed' and ādibhuta- 'marvellous'.

⁵ According to the analogy of gav-isd- 'desiring cows'.

⁶ akṣṇa-yāvan- 'going across' stands by haplology for akṣṇayā-yāvan-*. Cp. WACKER-NAGEL 2¹, p. 128 d.

a. Prepositions as first member sometimes appear in a shortened form; thus bhi- = abhi- in *bhi-sāj-*² 'healer'; o- = ava in o-gaṇā- ('away from the crowd') 'isolated', 'wretched', and in o-paśā- 'top-knot' ('that which is tied down', from paś- 'fasten'). On the other hand, anu several times appears lengthened to ānu-: thus an-ānu-kṛtyā- 'inimitable', an-ānu-dā- 'not giving way', an-ānu-diṣṭa- 'unsolicited', an-ānu-bhūti- 'disobedient', ānu-sāk 'in constant succession'.

250. Sam and sa-. — The preposition sām is of very common occurrence as first member. This is its form invariably before vowels, and when accented originally always before consonants. Its unaccented form sa- (= sm-) should phonetically always appear before consonants. But the proper use of sām- and sa- before consonants has begun to be confused.

a. In determinatives (1) when the final member is a verbal noun sam- always appears before a vowel, as sam-āṅkā- (AV.) 'hook' (from āṅc- 'bend'), sam-īdh- 'fuel'; and sām- if accented predominates³ before consonants, being phonetic; e. g. sām-gati- f. 'coming together', sām-dhātṛ- 'one who puts together', sām-prkta- 'mixed'. sā-, however, also occurs in sā-gdhi- (VS. MS.) f. 'eating together', sā-cyuti- (MS. II. 7¹²) 'falling together', sā-pūti- (VS. MS.) f. 'drinking together', sā-hūti- f. 'joint invocation'.

(2) sa- is preserved before accented verbal nouns formed from the simple root with or without -t, or with the suffixes -a, -ana, -van, -in; thus sa-cit- 'thinking', sa-bādḥ- (TS. III. 2. 12⁴) 'oppressed', sa-yij- 'united', sa-yādh- 'increasing together', sa-ṣṭibh- (TS. IV. 3. 12²), a kind of metre. sa-syād- 'streaming together'⁴; sa-kṣit- 'dwelling together', sa-srīt- 'streaming'⁵; sa-gm-d- (VS.) 'coming to terms', sa-jōsa- 'unanimous', sa-mādana- 'conflict'⁶; sa-yāvan- 'going along with', sa-yūg-van- 'united with', sa-sthāvan- 'standing together', sa-jit-van- 'victorious'; sa-vās-in- (AV.) 'dwelling together'⁷.

b. In Bahuvrihis when the meaning is (1.) 'together' (as in the verbal use of the preposition) sam- appears, as sām-hanu- (AV.) 'striking the jaws together', sam-gavā- m. '(time when the) cows (are driven) together', and (as usual before vowels) sam-udrā- m. 'sea'. But when the meaning is (2) 'united with', 'accompanied by' what is expressed by the final member, sa- is almost exclusively used (and nearly always even accented)⁸, as sā-cetas- 'accompanied by intelligence', 'rational'; sam- occurs here only in sām-sahasra- 'accompanied by a thousand', and in sām-pātṇ- (AV.) 'accompanied by her husband'⁹. In this sense sam- still appears before vowels in sām-agra- and sam-agrā- (AV.) ('including the top'), 'complete', sām-aṅga- (AV.) 'accompanied by all limbs'¹⁰, 'complete', sām-āsir- 'accompanied by mixture', 'mixed'; but even here sa- once in the RV. takes the place of sam- in the compound sāsana- (x. 90⁴)

² See WACKERNAGEL 2^a, p. 72 s., and cp. BRUGMANN, KZ. 25, 214, note.

³ sam- occurs more than three times as often as sa- before consonants, doubtless owing to the parallel use of sam- with verbs.

⁴ But also sam-gir- 'assenting', sam-yāt- 'contiguous'.

⁵ But also sam-jit- 'conqueror', sam-hāt- 'layer'.

⁶ But also sam-gamā- 'coming together', sam-cāraṇa- 'suitable for walking on'.

⁸ With the usual Bahuvrihi accent on the first member.

⁹ In order to distinguish this sense from that of sa-pātṇ- 'co-wife'.

¹⁰ Cp. also the adv. sam-antā-m (AV.) 'including the ends', 'completely'.

'provided with food' (śāna-), 'eating', and becomes common in the later Samhitās; e. g. sāṅga- (AV.) 'accompanied by the limbs' (āṅga-), sāntar-dēsa- (AV.) 'accompanied by the intermediate quarters' (antar-dēśa-). — When the meaning is (3.) 'in common', 'same', 'identical'¹ *sa-*² is very common before consonants, as sā-keta- 'having the same intention', sā-lakṣman- 'having the same characteristics'; while sa- appears only in saṃ-śīśvar- 'having a calf in common', sām-manas- (AV.) 'being of the same mind', unanimous, sām-mātr- 'having the same mother'. In this sense sa- alone appears (as usual) before vowels: sām-anta- 'contiguous' ('having the same boundary'), sām-okas- 'having a common abode', 'living together'.

251. Particles, which for the most part have no independent existence, frequently appear as first member of compounds.

1. The negative particle, the form of which in the sentence is na, almost invariably appears in composition as *a-*³ before consonants, and invariably as an- before vowels. It completely reverses the meaning of the final member; thus mitrā- 'friend', a-mitra- 'enemy', śastī- 'praise', ā-śasti- 'curse'⁴. As participles, infinitives, and gerunds are nominal forms, they may be compounded with the privative particle: thus ā-bibhyat- 'not fearing', ā-budhya-māna- 'not waking', ā-dāsyant- (AV.) 'not about to give', ā-vidvāms- 'not knowing'⁵. The syntactical form of the particle is very rare: na-murā- (AV¹.) 'non-dying'(?)⁶. Perhaps also in nā-pūt- 'grandson', if it originally meant 'un-protected'⁷.

2. su- 'well', 'very', except in the RV. very seldom used independently⁸, and du- 'ill', 'hardly', which occurs as a prefix only, appear as first member in determinatives and possessives; e. g. su-kāra- 'easy to be done', śū-kṛta- 'well-done', su-dā- 'giving willingly', su-vasanā- 'fair raiment', su-varṇa- 'fair-coloured', sv-dśva- 'having excellent horses'; dū-dāś- (AV.) 'not-worshipping', 'irreligious', duś-cyavanā- 'difficult to be felled', dur-vāsa- 'having bad clothing', 'ill-clad'; dur-āhā (AV¹.) 'wail!' is formed as an antithesis to sv-āhā 'hail!'.⁹

3. There are a few prefixes beginning with k- which seem to be etymologically connected with the interrogative, and express depreciation, badness, or difficulty: *ku-*⁹ in ku-carā- 'wandering about', ku-nakṣin- (AV.) 'having diseased nails', ku-naṇṇamā- 'hard to bend', kū-yava- (VS.) 'bringing bad harvest'¹⁰; kad- in kat-payā- 'swelling horribly'; kim- in kim-śilā- (VS. TS. MS.) (land) 'having small stones', kim-puruṣa-, a kind of mythical being ('some-what like a man'); a collateral form kavā- perhaps in kavārt- 'stingy', kavā-sakhā- 'selfish'¹¹.

4. The particles -id and -cid make their way into the first member of compounds in the company of pronominal words to which they may be

¹ sa- is also used in this sense: as saṃāna-bandhu- 'having the same relatives'.

² sa- has the sense of 'one' in sāhnd- (AV.) 'lasting one day', sa-kṛt 'once', sa-dīvas and sa-dyās 'on one and the same day'.

³ This is the low-grade form (= u-) of nā-.

⁴ It frequently reverses the pregnant sense of the final member, as vi-śastī- '(good) dissector', a-viśastī- 'bad dissector'.

⁵ See KNAUER, Ueber die betonung der composita mit a privativum im Sanskrit, KZ. 27, 1—68; examples from the later Samhitās in DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax p. 540 f., Syntaktische Forschungen 2, p. 530 f.

⁶ nā-puṃsa-ka- 'neuter' also occurs in MS. and ŚB.

⁷ See LEUMANN, Festgruss an Böhlingk, p. 77 f. For a few other doubtful compounds with na- see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 78, note.

⁸ śū occurs as an independent particle about 250 times (but never at the beginning of a sentence) in the RV., rarely in the later Samhitās: only 14 times in AV.

⁹ Often in adverbs such as kū-tas 'whence', kū-tra 'where'.

¹⁰ On a few doubtful compounds with ku-, see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 83, note.

¹¹ Also in kāvā-tiryāṇic- (TS.) 'directed somewhat across'.

appended; thus tad-id-artha- 'directed to that particular object'; kū-cit-karā- 'effecting all manner of things'; kū-cid-arthin- 'striving to get anywhere', kuha-cid-vid- 'wherever being'.

5. A few interjectional or onomatopoetic words are compounded with -kāra- and -kṛti- 'making' = 'sound', 'utterance', or -kartṛ- 'maker', to express the actual phonetic sound of those words: thus vaṣaṭ-kārā- (AV. VS.) 'the interjection vaṣaṭ', svadhā-kārā- 'pronouncing (the benediction) sva-dhā', svāhā-kṛti- 'consecration with the call svāhā', hin-kartṛ- (TS.) 'one who utters the sound hin', hin-kārā- (VS.) 'the sound hin'. In has-kartṛ- 'enlivener', has-kārā- 'laughter', hās-kṛti- 'loud merriment', the first member represents either an interjection connected with the verb has- 'laugh', or a reduced form of hasas-* 'laughter' (like sāt-pati- for sādas-pati- through sāts-pati-*).

B. The Last Member of Compounds.

252. Its form. — Practically all nouns may appear in this position. But many verbal nouns, especially participles, if used in their primary sense, are found exclusively after indeclinables which are capable of being combined with the corresponding verbs. Some stems also occur as final members though not used independently; such are verbal nouns formed from the simple root with or without an added determinative -i; also derivatives like -janīna- (AV.) 'belonging to the people (jāna-) of —'.

a. Change of ending. — When the gender of the final member is changed, the -ā of feminine words, even though radical, becomes -a in masculine or neuter compounds; thus priyosriyā- 'fond of cows' (usriyā-); an-avasā- 'restless' (from ava-sā- 'rest'), a-śraddhā- 'unbelieving' (from śrad-dhā- 'belief'), ṛtā-jya- 'well-strung' (from jyā- 'bowstring'). Even -i in a few instances becomes -a; thus ati-rātrā- 'performed overnight' and aho-rātrā- 'day and night' (rātrī-); api-sarvarā- 'early in the morning' and ati-sarvarā- or ati-sarvarāṣu (AV.) 'late at night' (śarvarī-).

On the other hand m. and n. stems in -a regularly end in -ā in the feminine, as cittā-garbhā- 'having evident offspring' (gārbha- m.); and pāti- 'husband' in f. possessives substitutes -patnī-; thus eka-patnī- (AV.) 'having a single husband', dāsā-patnī- 'having demons as lords', sa-patnī- 'having one husband in common', sām-patnī- (AV.) and sahā-patnī- (AV.) 'having her husband with her', su-patnī- 'having a good husband'; also in the determinative vīrā-patnī- 'wife of a hero'.

253. Alternative stems. — When in the inflexion of a word alternative stems are used, only one of these, and as a rule the older one, appears as final member of possessive compounds: thus dānt- 'tooth' (not dānta-) in śatā-dant- (AV.) 'hundred-toothed', śuci-dant- 'bright-toothed'; pād- 'foot' (not pāda-): a-pād- 'footless', uttanā-pad- 'whose feet are extended', *eka-pad-*¹ 'one-footed'; nās- 'nose' (not nāsā-) in *fjū-nas-*² 'straight-nosed', N. of a man³; ūdhan- 'udder' (not ūdhar-) in *an-ūdhān-*⁴ 'udderless', rapśād-ūdhan- 'having a distended udder', f. ā-cchīdrodhnī- 'having an intact udder'; dhanvan- 'bow' (not dhanus-) in abalā-dhanvan- (AV.) 'having a weak bow', avatata-dhanvan- (VS.) 'having an unstrung bow', kṣiprā-dhanvan- 'having a swift bow', śatā-

² According to BLOOMFIELD also in rujānās, for rujānā-nās 'broken-nosed'; see p. 59, note 1.

³ According to WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 92 (top), a-nāsikā- occurs in TS. (VII. 5. 12¹).

dhanvan- (VS.) 'having a hundred bows'¹; śīrśān- 'head' (not śīras-) in a-śīrśān- 'headless', tri-śīrśān- 'three-headed'², f. rūru-śīrśān- 'having the head of a Ruru antelope'³; hṛd- 'heart' (not hṛdaya-) in its long-grade form hārd- in dur-hārd- (AV.) 'ill-disposed' and su-hārd- 'good-hearted'.

a. Sometimes an alternative stem is used which has not been preserved as an independent word; thus jñu- 'knee' (weak form of jānu-) in asitā-jñu- (AV.) 'dark-kneed', mitā-jñu- 'firm-kneed'⁴; an old stem -medhas- in su-medhās- 'wise' and puru-mēdhas- (SV.) 'wise' beside the regular compounds in -medha- (from medhā- 'wisdom') such as puru-mēdha- 'having much wisdom'; *-tvacas-*⁵ 'skin' in śīrya-tvacas- (AV. VS.) 'having a skin bright as the sun' and hiranya-tvacas- (AV.) 'having a golden skin', beside tvac- in śīrya-tvac- and hiranya-tvac-.

254. Transfer stems. — Some four stems appear in certain forms changed to stems in -as from a misunderstanding of the nom. -s in -ās (as in su-prajā-s); thus from prajā- 'offspring', ā-prajas- (AV.) 'having no offspring', and *su-prajās-*⁶ 'having good offspring', *īdā-prajas-*⁷ (MS. I. 5³) 'descendant of Idā'; from kṣā- 'dwell', divā-kṣas- 'living in heaven'; from dā- 'give', dravino-dās- 'bestowing wealth'; from dhā- 'put', vayo-dhās- (AV. VS.) 'bestowing strength' and varco-dhās- (AV.) 'bestowing vigour'. On the other hand, by the loss of final -s or -t a few consonant stems are transformed to a-stems; thus beside an-āgas- 'guiltless' appears an-āga-, and beside puru-dāmsas- 'abounding in wondrous deeds', puru-dāmsa-; urv-aṣṭhīd- (VS.)⁸, n. du. 'thigh and knee', beside aṣṭhī-vānt- m. du. 'knees' ('bony'); *ubhayā-da-*⁹ (AV.) 'having teeth in both (jaws)', beside ubhayā-dat-.

255. Vowel gradation in final member. — a. 1. The low grade vowel of the roots dā- 'give' and dhā- 'cut' disappears when the past participles dita-* 'given'¹⁰ and dita- 'cut' and the action noun diti-* 'giving' become unaccented final members in a compound: thus ava-tta- (VS.) 'cut off', devā-tta- 'given by the gods', vy-ā-tta- (AV. VS.) 'opened', pārī-tta- (VS.) 'given up'¹¹, ā-pratī-tta- (AV.) 'not given back'; bhāga-tti- 'gift of fortune', maghā-tti- 'giving of presents', vāsu-tti- 'granting of wealth'¹². Unreduced forms, however, occur in tvā-dāta- and tvā-datta- 'given by thee' and in havyā-dāti- 'sacrificial gift'¹³.

2. The vowels ī and ū in the radical syllable of the final member is in a few instances reduced to i and u; thus try-udhān- 'having three udders' (ūdhan-), dhrī-jū- 'inspiring the mind' (jū- 'impel'), su-śirā- 'having a good channel', 'hollow' (śīrā- 'stream'), sū-ṣuti- 'easy birth' (sū-ti- TB.), ā-huti- 'invocation' (otherwise sā-hūti- 'joint invocation', etc.). Derivative -ī is reduced to -i in ā-ni-bhṛṣṭa-taviṣi- 'having unabated power' (taviṣi-).

² The AV. however has prthīśīras- 'broad-headed'.

³ From āsthan- (beside āsthi-, AV.) occur both an-asthān- and an-asthā- 'boneless'.

⁵ Also in the derivative tvacas-yā- (AV.) 'being in the skin'.

⁶ Under the influence of this new stem is formed su-prajāś-tvā- 'possession of good offspring' (for su-prajā-tva-*).

⁷ In K. idā-prajas- (IS. 3, 463) with the ā of idā- unshortened.

⁸ Formed by dropping the -t of the weak stem aṣṭhī-vānt-.

⁹ Formed by dropping the -t of the weak stem -dat-.

¹⁰ This phonetic form has otherwise been ousted by the anomalous participle dat-ī- made from the weak present stem dad-.

¹¹ The participle prā-tta- 'given up' also occurs in TS. II. 2. 8⁴ (B).

¹² prā-tti- 'gift' also occurs in TS. v. 4. 7² (B) and nir-ava-tti- 'distribution of shares' in K.

¹³ The ā of sāman- 'chant' is perhaps reduced to a in śk-sāma- (VS.), śk-sāma- (TS.), and ścī-sāma-; cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, 43 L, note.

3. The o of gó 'cow' is reduced to -u in púṣṭi-gu 'rearing cows', N. of a man, and su-gí 'having fine cows'. The -ai of rái 'wealth', is reduced to -i in *brhád-ri*¹ 'having abundant wealth'; perhaps also in *ṛdhád-ri*², N. of a man.

4. Final -i and -u of the first member combine with the low grade form of ā of āp 'water' in the last member to ī and ū, in *divīp-ā*³ 'island' (divi-āp), pratīp-ām 'against' (prati-) 'the stream', anūp-ā 'pond' (anu-āp).

b. On the other hand, radical a in several instances appears lengthened to *ā*⁴. This occurs in several possessive compounds of jāni 'wife': bhadrā-jāni 'having a beautiful wife' (only voc.), yúva-jāni 'having a young wife', vittā-jāni 'having found a wife', 'married', and with shifted accent divi-jāni 'having two wives' and a-jāni (AV.) 'having no wife'. A similar lengthening appears in prthu-jāghana (only voc. f.) 'broad-hipped'; sahā-jānuṣa 'with offspring' (jānuṣ); ni-pādā 'low ground' (pādā); tvāt-pitṛas (TS. I. 5. 10⁵), N. pl. 'having thee as father'; su-vācas 'having good speech', 'very eloquent', *sā-vācas*⁵ (AV.) 'employing similar speech', vī-vācas (AV.) 'speaking in various ways' (vācas), viśvā-sārada (AV.) 'occurring every autumn' (sārād) 'annual', śatā-sārada 'lasting a hundred autumns'⁶.

256. Adjectival suffixes. — Adjective compounds not infrequently add certain suffixes to mark their adjectival character more clearly. These suffixes are -ka, -i, -ya, -a, -in.

1. The suffix *-ka*⁷ is thus used in only two somewhat obscure compounds in the RV. tri-kadru-ka (only pl.), a designation of certain soma vessels (kadrū) and try-āmba-ka 'having three mothers' (amba voc.); in the AV. occur vi-manyu-ka 'free from anger' and sahā-kaṇṭhi-kā f. 'with the throat' (kaṇṭhā, B.)⁸.

2. In the final member of a few Bahuvrihis, the suffix -i sometimes takes the place of -a; thus praty-ardhi 'to whom the half (ārdha) belongs'; āñjana-gandhi 'having a smell (gandhā) of ointment', dhūmā-gandhi 'smelling of smoke', su-gāndhi or su-gandhi 'sweet-smelling'; kr̥ṣṭā-rādhi (AV.) 'attaining success (rādha) in agriculture'.

3. The suffix -ya is frequently added in Bahuvrihis; thus anyōdar-ya 'born from another womb' (udāra), *dāśa-mās-ya*⁹ 'ten months old', dirgha-jihv-yā 'long-tongued'¹⁰, mādhu-hast-ya 'honey-handed', mayāra-śep-ya 'peacock-tailed'¹¹, viśvā-jan-ya 'belonging to all men', viśvā-dev-ya 'relating to all gods', viśvāṅg-yā (AV.) 'being in all limbs', sā-garbh-ya (VS.) 'born from the same

³ Also nīp-a 'low-lying' (nī-āp 'into which the water flows down') in K.

⁴ For a phonetic explanation of this phenomenon see WACKERNAGEL 21, 43 (p. 100); and cp. I, 68.

⁵ There is a various reading śi-vācasas in AV. VII. 122, on which see WHITNEY's note.

⁶ On vi-hāyas 'of extensive power', sārva-hāyas (AV.) 'having all vigour', su-rāmā 'delighting', su-yāmā 'guiding well', see WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 101 (middle).

⁷ This suffix, which is never accented, is probably identical with that which forms adjectives, as ānta-ka 'ending' from ānta 'end'.

⁸ In the YV. several examples occur; WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 102, quotes from the TS. a-karṇā-ka 'earless', a-dantā-ka 'toothless', a-pādā-ka 'footless', an-akṣi-ka 'eyeless', an-asṭhi-ka 'boneless', a-tvāk-ka 'skinless', sāśī-ka 'accompanied by a blessing', an-āśī-ka 'lacking a blessing'; from the MS. a-cchandaś-ka 'metreless', an-āśtha-ka 'boneless'.

⁹ Also ṣaṇ-māsya 'six months old', and saṣṭa-māsya 'seven months old' in K.

¹⁰ Also in TS. some compounds formed with -deva-tyā 'having — for a deity' (devātā); nānā-viś-yā (MS.) 'consisting of various villages'.

¹¹ Also vi-śīn-ya (K.) 'tailless'.

womb', sa-dhan-yā- 'accompanied by gifts', sā-yūth-ya- (VS.) 'belonging to the same herd', su-hāst-ya- 'fair-handed' (beside su-hāsta-), hiranya-keś-ya- 'golden-maned' (beside hiranya-keśa-)¹.

The suffix -ya is also common in governing compounds with prepositions as first member; thus dāhi-gart-ya- 'being on the car-seat', anīḥ-parśav-yā- (VS.) and antah-parśv-yā- (VS.) 'being between the ribs', antr-āntr-ya- (AV.) 'being in the entrails', api-kakṣ-yā- 'situated near the arm-pit', ūpa-tyñ-ya- (AV.) 'being in the grass', ūpa-mās-ya- (AV.) 'occurring every month', pāri-rath-ya- (AV.)² 'being around the car', n. part of the car. It also appears in the adverbially used governing compounds abhi-nabh-yā-m 'near the clouds' and ud-āp-yā-m (AV.) 'upstream'.

4. The final member of Bahuvrīhi is very frequently extended by the suffix -a. In the RV. there are at least fifteen such stems; thus aks- 'eye' in an-aks-ā- 'eyeless', dāhy-aks-a- 'eye-witness', catur-aks-ā- 'four-eyed', bhūry-aks-ā- 'many-eyed', sahasrākṣ-ā- 'thousand-eyed', hiranyākṣ-ā- 'golden-eyed', āktākṣ-a- (AV.) 'whose eyes are anointed', *an-āktākṣ-a-*³ (AV.) 'whose eyes are not anointed', dhūmākṣ-ā- (AV.) 'smoke-eyed', paryastākṣ-ā- (AV.) 'with eyes cast about', sanisrasākṣ-ā- (AV.) 'having constantly falling eyes', hary-aks-ā- (VS.) 'yellow-eyed'; asth-* 'bone' in an-asth-ā- 'boneless' beside an-asthān-; udar-* 'water' in an-udr-ā- 'waterless'; gō- 'cow' in su-gāv-a- 'having fine cows', saṃgav-ā- 'time when cows come together', and in atīthi-gv-ā-, a name, lta-gv-a- 'variegated', dāśa-gva-, N. of a mythical group, *nāva-gv-a-*⁵, N. of a mythical group; janus- in sahā-jānuṣ-a- 'with offspring'; div- 'heaven' in brhād-div-a- and brhad-div-ā-, N. of a seer, su-div-ā- (AV.) 'bright day'; dur- 'door' in satā-dur-a- 'having a hundred doors'; dhur- 'yoke' in su-dhūr-a- 'going well under the yoke' (beside su-dhūr-), sā-dhur-a- (AV.) 'harnessed to the same yoke'; nas- 'nose' in urū-nas-ā- 'broad-nosed', pavī-nas-ā- (AV.) 'having a nose like a spear-head', vārdhrī-nas-ā- (VS.) 'rhinoceros'; mṛdh- in *vi-mṛdh-ā-*⁶ (AV.) 'warding off foes' (beside vi-mṛdh-, VS.); rāi- 'wealth' in ā-rāy-a- 'not liberal'; vāstu- 'dwelling' in nāva-vāstu-a- 'having nine abodes'; sarād- 'autumn' in satā-sarād-a- 'lasting a hundred autumns'; āp- 'water' in dvīp-ā- 'island'⁷.

In the later Samhitās several other final members extended with -a occur: dhan- 'day' in sāhn-ā- (AV.) 'lasting a day'; fc- 'verse' in eka-rc-ā- (AV.) 'consisting of one verse'; kṣām- 'earth' in su-kṣm-ā- (VS.) 'consisting of good earth'; netṛ- 'leader' in agni-netr-a- (VS. TS.)⁸ 'having Agni as leader'; path- 'road', in vi-path-ā- (AV.), a kind of chariot ('fit for untrodden paths'); pād- 'foot' in ā-bā-a- (VS.) 'year'; vatas-* 'year' in tri-vats-ā- (VS.) 'three years old'; saṃ-dṛś- 'aspect' in mādhū-saṃdṛś-a- (AV.) 'sweet-looking'.

a. The final member is also sometimes extended with -a after a governing preposition; thus anu-path-a- 'going along the road', āntas-path-a- 'being on the road', antūp-ā- 'tank' ('lying along the water'), upānas-ā- 'being on the car' (-ānas-), parō-kṣ-a- (AV.) 'away from the eye' (aks-), puro-gav-ā- 'leader' ('preceding the cows').

² The accent of these words in -ya is usually the same as it would be without the suffix; for a few exceptions, see WACKER-NAGEL 2¹, 47 d (p. 108).

³ The Mss. (AV. XX. 1286) read anāktākṣa-.

⁵ See BLOOMFIELD, AJPh. 17, 422 ff.

⁶ Also the f. vi-mṛdh-ā- (TS. II. 4. 2¹ B).

⁸ In TS. I. 8. 7¹ = VS. IX. 35, 36 several other names of deities compounded with -netr-a- occur.

b. A similar extension with -a occurs in collectives which are allied to Bahuvrīhis: thus try-āyus-ā- (VS.) 'threefold lifetime', dvi-rāj-ā- (AV.) 'battle of two kings', ṣaḍ-rc-ā- 'aggregate of six stanzas', sam-udr-ā- 'collection of waters' (udar-*), 'sea', sa-vidyut-ā- (AV.) 'thunderstorm' ('accompanied by lightning'). Akin to these are compounds in which the first member expresses a part of the last (with change of gender); thus ardha-rc-ā- (AV. VS.) m. 'half-stanza', aparāhṇ-ā- (AV.) m. 'afternoon', ny-dhṇ-a- (AV.) 'decline of day', pūrvāhṇ-ā- 'forenoon', prō-pad-a- 'tip of the foot'. There are further some neuter determinatives which probably had originally a collective sense; thus, with change of gender, tri-div-ā- 'third heaven', su-div-ā- (AV.) 'fine day'; ā-path-a- (AV.) 'pathlessness', su-pāth-a- 'good path'. From neuter stems in -as, devainas-ā- (AV.) 'curse of the gods', manuṣyainas-ā- (AV.) 'sin (énas) of men'; brahma-varcas-ā- (AV. VS.) 'divine power', hasti-varcas-ā- (AV.) 'vigour of an elephant', brāhmaṇa-varcas-ā- (AV.) 'dignity of a Brahman'.

c. The ending -a frequently takes the place of *-an*¹ in the final member of Bahuvrīhis, collectives, and Karmadhārayas; thus deva-karmā- 'doing divine work', viśvā-karma- 'performing all work', vīrā-karma- 'performing manly work', priyā-dhūma- 'occupying desirable places', chando-nāma- (VS.) 'named metre', 'metrical', vi-parvā- 'jointless', *dvi-vrṣā-*² (AV.) 'having two bulls', añji-sakthā- (VS.) 'having coloured thighs', ut-sakthā- (VS.) 'lifting up the thighs', lomaśā-sakthā- (VS.) 'having hairy thighs'³, rk-sāmd- 'the Rc verses and the Sāmans', ṣaḍ-ahā- (AV.) m. 'period of six days'; bhadrāhā- (AV.) n. 'auspicious day', eka-vrṣā- (AV.) 'only bull', mahā-vrṣā- (AV.) 'great bull'.

d. The suffix -a takes the place of -i in kavā-sakhā- 'having a niggard for a friend' (sakhi-), in mandayāt-sakha- 'gladdening his friend', and in daśāṅgulā- 'length of ten fingers' (āṅgūli-).

5. In Bahuvrīhis the suffix -in is sometimes pleonastically added; thus ku-nakh-in- (AV.) 'having bad nails', mahā-hast-in- 'having large hands', yaśo-bhag-in- (VS.) 'rich in glory', sa-rath-in- (VS.) 'riding on the same chariot'.

257. Classification of Compounds.—The Indian grammarians divided compounds into three main classes according to their syntactical relations: 1) copulatives, or those in which the members are coordinated, called *dvandva*⁴ ('couple'); 2) determinatives, or those in which the first member determines the second, called tat-puruṣa- ('his man')⁵; 3) those which are dependent on another word, called *bahu-vrīhi*⁶. The latter are usually regarded as compounds of the determinative class transmuted to adjectives, which would thus have a secondary character. They are often called 'possessives' since their meaning can usually be rendered by 'possessing', as bahv-annā- 'possessing much food'. To these may be added three other groups in order to treat Vedic compounds exhaustively: 4) governing compounds, or those in which the first member governs the last in sense; e. g. kṣayād-vīra- 'ruling men'; 5) a certain remnant of irregular combinations which are best dealt with together; 6) iteratives, or repeated words which are treated as compounds in the Sāṃhitās inasmuch as they have only one accent and a special meaning when thus combined; in these the second member is called āmreḍita 'repeated' by the Indian grammarians.

² -vrṣa- for -vrṣan- occurs in the AV. after other numerals also.

³ For some doubtful examples see WACKER-NAGEL 2¹, p. 116.

⁴ The word first occurs in a B. passage of the TS. (t. 6. 91) in the form of dvandvāni 'couples', and in the AB.

⁵ An example used as the name of the class.

⁶ 'Having much rice', an example used as the name of the class.

1. Iteratives.

COLLITZ, Transactions of the Oriental Congress of Berlin 2², 287 ff. — DELBRÜCK, Vergleichende Syntax, Dritter Theil (1900), p. 141—153: Iterativcomposita. — WACKER-NAGEL 2¹, p. 142—148.

258. The repetition of an inflected form with loss of accent in the second word is very frequent in the RV. Such repetitions are treated in the Pada texts as compounds the members being separated by the Avagraha. The word thus repeated is generally a substantive and iteration is expressed chiefly in regard to time or distribution in regard to space; e. g. āhar-ahar, divé-dive, dyāvi-dyavi 'every day'; grhṛ-grhe, dāme-dame, viśé-viśe 'in every house'; disó-disah (AV.) 'from every quarter'. Substantives are also thus repeated to express frequency or constant succession in other matters: śatroḥ-śatroḥ 'of every foe'; annam-annam (AV.) 'food in perpetuity'; agnim-agnim vah samidhā duvasyata (VI. 15⁶) 'worship Agni again and again with your fuel', yajñasya-yajñasya 'of every sacrifice' (X. 1⁵), āṅgād-āṅāt 'from every limb' (X. 163⁶), pārvaṇi-parvaṇi 'in every joint' (X. 163⁶). Adjectives repeated in this way are less common; e. g. pānyam-panyam . . . dhāvata . . . sīmam (VIII. 2²⁵) 'cleanses Soma who is again and again to be praised'; prācīm-prācīm pradīśam (AV. XII. 3⁷) 'each forward (eastern) direction'; uttarām-uttarām sāmām (AV. XII. 13³) 'each following year', 'year after year'².

a. The repeated word was originally used in the singular only. But the plural meaning of this repetition led to the beginnings of plural forms, as ekam-ekā satā daduḥ (V. 52¹⁷) 'they have given a hundred each' (lit. 'hundreds, each one'). But a word thus iterated seems never to be in the plural except in agreement with a plural.

b. The frequency of -e as locative of a-stems led to the occasional use of the dative in consonant stems; div-i-div-e (for div-i-div-i*) and viś-i-viś-e (for viś-i-viś-i*).

c. The transition from iteratives to regular compounds, which appears in B., began with numerals. Thus the eka-ekah of the RV. (III. 29¹⁵) appears in the ŚB. as ekaika; and from the dvā-dvā of the RV. (VIII. 68¹⁴) we come to the adverbial dvān-dvām 'in pairs' in the MS., and finally to dvandvā 'pair' in the TS. (B).

d. Adjective compounds in which a word is repeated for emphasis are unconnected with iteratives, differing from them both in sense and accent; thus mahā-mahā 'mightily great'; ṣaīṣṭ f. of ṣaīṣā* (= ṣa-ṣā) 'very speedy'³. Whether carā-carā and calā-calā 'moveable' belong to this group is somewhat uncertain.

2. Copulative Compounds.

REUTER, Die altindischen nominalcomposita, KZ. 31, 172—87: I. Copulative composita. — DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax 31. — RICHTER, Die unechten Nominalkomposita des Altindischen und Altiranischen: IF. 9, 23 ff. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1252—61. — WACKERNAGEL 2¹, 62—74 (p. 149—173).

259. Classification of Dvandvas.—This class consists of compounds consisting of two substantives, far less commonly adjectives, the syntactical relation of which in the sentence is the same and which may be regarded as connected in sense by 'and'. The successive stages in the development of this class can be closely traced from the beginning in the Samhitās.

1. First we have in the RV. the most numerous group (about three-fourths of all the Dvandvas) in which the compound consists of two co-ordinated nouns in the dual, each with its own accent. 2. The first member assumes an unchangeable form. 3. Only one accent remains and is restricted to the last syllable of the final member. 4. The first member assumes (but quite rarely in the RV.) the form of the stem. 5. The formation, becoming more general, can assume plural endings (but the RV. has only a few examples in the last book). 6. In the later Samhitās this type becomes quite general, forming a single category with the dual Dvandvas. 7. The final stage (of which the examples are few) is that of Dvandvas which are neuter singulars of a collective character.

¹ A vocative repeated to express emphasis is not treated in the same way: in aranyāny aranyāni (X. 146¹) both vocatives are accented, the second being as emphatic as the first.

² The only repetition of a verbal form in this way is pība-pība (II. 11¹¹) 'drink again and again'; cp. above 88.

260. In the commonest and earliest type of the old Dvandvas each member is dual in form and has a separate accent. This type seems to have originated from two grammatical practices frequent in the Vedas: (a) the juxtaposition of two coordinate words without ca; e.g. bhūmano divās pāri (IX. 73⁵) 'away from earth and heaven', krātum dīkṣam (VIII. 42³) 'understanding and will'; (b) the use of the elliptic dual¹ which puts one of a pair in the dual to express both, as dyāvā 'heaven and earth'. This origin is probable because the dual Dvandvas are found alternating with one or both of these usages; thus mitrā-vāruṇā 'Mitra and Varuṇa' appears beside both mitrā alone and mitrō vāruṇaḥ (or mitrō vāruṇas ca and mitrās ca vāruṇas ca); mātārā-pitārā 'mother and father' beside mātārā or pitārā and pitre mātre and other cases, the VS. (IX. 19) having pleonastically even pitārā-mātārā ca meaning 'father and mother'. The transition from the syntactical collocation divās . . prthivyaś (VI. 30¹) to a dual compound is seen in divās-prthivyāś 'of heaven and earth' (occurring four times in the RV.) where the second word is put in the dual to show clearly that an associated couple is meant. In the RV. the two duals of the compound are often separated; e.g. dyāvā ha kṣāmā (X. 12¹) 'heaven and earth'; dyāvā yajñdāḥ prthivī (VII. 53¹); indrā no ātra vāruṇā (IV. 41¹)²; ā naktā barhiḥ sadatām usāsā (VII. 42⁵) 'let Night and Dawn seat themselves upon the litter'; indrā nī pūṣṇā (VI. 57¹) 'Indra and Pūṣan'; indrā nṛ agnī (VI. 59³) 'Indra and Agni'; indrā yo agnī (VI. 60¹)³; cakṣur māhi mitrāyor aṁ eti priyām vāruṇayoḥ (VI. 51¹) 'the great, dear eye of Mitra and Varuṇa comes'. In two or three examples of tmesis the dual ending appears in the first member only, while the singular remains in the second; thus mitrā . . vāruṇaḥ (VIII. 25²) and *indrā yō vāṇi varuṇa*⁴ (VI. 68⁵) 'O Indra and Varuṇa'. Generally, however, the two duals are in immediate juxtaposition, as indrā-bṛhaspātī 'Indra and Bṛhaspati'; dyāvā-prthivī 'Heaven and Earth'; agnī-śomā 'Agni and Soma'; gen. *mitrāyor-vāruṇayoḥ*⁵ 'of Mitra and Varuṇa'.

The characteristic final vowel of the first member is -ā⁶, as usāsā-naktā (or naktōśāsā); hence it even ousts -ī as in agnī-viṣṇū (AV.) 'O Agni and Viṣṇu'. Beside this -ā there sometimes appears a in the vocative, both in tmesis, as in mitra rājānā varuṇā (V. 62³) 'O kings Mitra and Varuṇa' (voc. of rājānā mitrā-vāruṇā, III. 56⁷; X. 64⁵); and when the members are joined, as

⁵ Double duals in -bhyām do not appear to occur.

⁶ The ending -au or -āv never occurs in the first member.

in pārjanya-vātā (vi. 49⁶), voc. of parjanya-vātā (vi. 50¹²), and always in *indra-vāyū*¹ 'O Indra and Vayu'. The ending -ī appears in the first member in agnī-sōmau 'Agni and Soma'; and -ū in krātu-dākṣau (VS.)².

261. These coordinate duals having early come to be regarded as a unit, the commonest ending of the first member, that of the nom. acc., came to be retained unaltered in other cases and in derivatives³. Thus arose the forms mitrā-vāruṇābhyām; mitrā-vāruṇayos beside mitrāyor-vāruṇayos, indrā-vāruṇayos; in the AV. dyāvā-prthivībhyām and dyāvā-prthivyós (instead of the divās-prthivyós of the RV.).

262. In a minority of instances, but comparatively oftener in the later Samhitās than in the RV., the first member loses its accent and only the last syllable of the final member (irrespectively of its original accent) has the acute⁴; thus indrā-pūṣnós (beside indrā-pūṣānā); somā-pūṣābhyām; bhāvā-rudrāu (AV.) 'Bhava and Rudra', bhāvā-sarvāu (AV.) 'Bhava and Sarva'⁵; vātā-parjanya 'Vāta and Parjanya' (parjanya-); sūryā-candramāsā 'sun and moon' (candramās-).

a. In the later Samhitās there are a few examples in which the nom. sing. of stems in -tṛ has, doubtless owing to identity in form of the final vowel with the Vedic dual ending -ā, become fixed in the first member: pitā-putrāu (AV.) 'father and son'; neṣṭā-potābhyām (TS. i. 8. 18¹) 'to the Nestṛ and the Potṛ'⁶. They doubtless started from syntactically coordinated nominatives (like divās-prthivyós beside divās prthivyās, vi. 47²⁷)⁷.

263. Dvandvas with a single accent having established themselves, the stem form began to encroach in the first member. The only two examples from RV. i.-ix, are indra-vāyū (the transition being facilitated by the more frequent occurrence of the vocative indra-vāyū) and *satyānṛtī*⁸ (vii. 49³) 'truth and untruth'. Two additional neuters occurs in book x: sāśanānaśana 'what eats (sa-aśana-) and does not eat' (an-aśana-); and ṛk-sāmābhyām 'with hymns and chant'. In the later Samhitās this becomes the prevailing type regularly followed in new formations; prastotr-pratihartībhyām (TS. i. 8. 18¹) 'to the Prastotr and Pratihartī'; krātu-dākṣau (VS.); dakṣa-kratū (TS.), sūdrārydu (VS.) 'a Sūdra and an Ārya'⁹.

264. The stem form having established itself in the first member, the compounding of Dvandvas became freer, and not only neuters but feminines began to be admitted, as dīkṣā-tapās-os (VS.) 'consecration and austerity'. Here, too, the final syllable of the compound has the acute; the svarita of the original word is, however, retained in brahma-rājanyāu (VS. xxvi. 2; AV. xi. 32⁸) 'a Brahman and a warrior'.

265. Dvandvas with plural ending are on the whole later than those with dual ending. They would first have been used to express the plural sense of the pair in question, thus ṣaṭ āhur dyāvā-prthivīḥ (viii. 9¹⁰) 'they speak of six heaven-and-earths'; aho-rātrāṇi = 'pairs of day-and-night'.

² The dual notion is sometimes emphasized by the addition of ubhāu 'both', as ubhā mitrā-vāruṇā; sūryā-candramasāv ubhā (AV.).

³ Like jeder-manns for jedes-manns in German. BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 20, 168 (Anzeiger) regards these Dvandvas as abbreviations by dropping the common ending in the first member.

⁴ This accentuation is probably due to the influence of collective compounds which are nearly allied to Dvandvas. Indrāgnī, indrāgnībhyām, indrāgnyós and agnindrābhyām are examples which may contain the stem form in the first member (263).

⁵ WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 153, also quotes somā-rudrāyos (TS.), uṣṇīhā-kakūbhau (MS.).

⁶ On tvastī-varitṛ see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, 64 (p. 154).

⁷ The three divisions of Dvandvas treated above include masculines and feminines only. Neuters of similar type first appear in the Sūtras, as idhmā-barhīṣi 'fuel and litter'.

⁸ This is the earliest example of a neuter Dvandva.

⁹ WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 155, gives some further examples from B. portions of the later Samhitās.

A transition to the use of plural Dvandvas, that is, of pairs of groups, is made by indrā-marutas 'O Indra and Maruts', where the dual notion is made up of a singular on the one hand and a group on the other. The older type of such plural Dvandvas (which express two coordinated plurals, the first member retaining its accent and the archaic ending -ā, like the -ā of dual Dvandvas) is represented by āṅgā-pāruṃṣi 'limbs and joints' occurring in a B. passage of the TS. (II. 5. 6¹). Examples of the later type with one accent are ukthā-śaṣṭrāṇi (VS. XIX. 28) 'recitations and praises', ukthā-madāni (AV.) 'recitations and rejoicings', and probably ukthārkā (VI. 34¹) 'recitations and hymns'. The latest type of these plural Dvandvas (like that of the duals) has the stem form in the first as well as the acute on the last syllable of the final member. The only examples of this type in the RV. occur in book X: *aho-rātrāṇi*² 'days and nights', ajādyas 'goats and sheep', dhana-bhākṣṣu 'in riches and enjoyments'. In the later Samhitās this type becomes quite general, forming a single category with the duals; e. g. deva-manuṣyās (AV. VIII. 10⁹), bhadra-pāpās (AV.) 'the good and the bad', priyā-priyāṇi (AV.) 'pleasant and unpleasant things'³.

a. The expression amṛta mārtyānām (I. 269) appears to be an abridgment for amṛtānām mārtyānām 'of immortals (and) mortals', amounting almost to a plural Dvandva (= amṛta-mārtyānām)⁴.

266. A few Dvandvas appear in the Samhitās with a singular ending, these being neuter only. The older type in which a dual or plural has been turned into a singular at the end, only in order to express a collective meaning, is represented in the RV. by *iṣṭā-pūrtām*⁵ 'what has been offered or given', originally a pl. n. in both members (iṣṭā-pūrtā*) which has become a singular to emphasize its collective character⁶. Both owing to the lack of an early type of neuter Dvandvas and because of the desire to express a collective sense, nearly all the neuter Dvandvas of the later kind are singular. In most instances both members are neuter; e. g. kṛtākṛtā-m (AV.) 'what has been done and not done', cittākūtā-m (AV.) 'thought and intention' (ākūtā), bhūta-bhavyā-m (AV.) 'the past and the future', saṁṣṭa-yajñs (VS.) 'sacrifice and sacrificial formula', bhadra-pāpasya (AV.) 'of good and evil', añjanābhyañjana-m (AV.) 'unction and inunction' (abhyañjana), kaṣipūpabarhaṇā-m (AV.) 'mat and pillow'.

a. In a few instances the first member is a masculine or feminine: keśa-smāsrū (AV.) 'hair and beard', iṣv-āyudhē (loc. sing.) 'arrows and weapons' (AV.).

267. Adjectives also occur as Dvandvas, but they are of rare occurrence. Three types may be distinguished.

i. Adjectives of colour expressing a mixture: e. g. nīla-lohitā 'dark-blue and red' = 'dark red'; tāmarā-dhūmrā (AV.) 'red and black' = 'dark red'; aruṇā-babhru- (VS.) 'ruddy and yellow', dhūmrā-rohita- (VS.) 'grey and red'.

¹ Probably = ukthā-arkā, not ukthā-arkā, the gender of the first member having prevailed over that of the last.

² The gender of the first member here prevails over that of the second.

⁴ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 157.

⁵ See WINDISCH in Festgruss an Böhtlingk, p. 115 ff.

⁶ WACKERNAGEL (2¹, 68) quotes idhmā-barhis from the MS., 'fuel and litter', which with its double accent as well as dual ending in the first member represents a still earlier type.

⁷ Except in these colour adjectives in the VS., the accentuation of the adjective Dvandvas is the same as that of neuter substantive Dvandvas, that is, the last syllable of the final member has the acute.

2. Adjectives expressing a contrast; e. g. utkūla-nikūlā (VS.) 'going uphill and downhill'.

3. Adjectives used with dual or plural substantives to express that each is an attribute of one unit of the kind; e. g. padbhyām dakṣiṇa-sarvābhyām (AV. XII. 1²⁸) 'with the right foot and the left'; or with the substantive to be supplied, saptamāṣṭamābhyām svāhā (AV.) 'hail to the seventh and the eighth (Āngirasa)'; aghaśaṃsa-duḥśaṃsābhyām (AV.) 'by those plotting evil and those plotting ill'; sāhnātirātrādu (AV.) 'terminating with a day (sa-ahna-) and exceeding a day' (ati-rātrā-).

268. As regards the order of the members in a Dvandva, the rule seems to be that the more important or the shorter word comes first; thus dyāvā-kṣāmā, dyāvā-bhūmī, *dyāvā-prthivī*¹ 'heaven and earth'; sūryā-māsā and sūryā-candramāsā 'sun and moon'; indrā-varuṇā 'Indra and Varuṇa'; ulākhala-musalā (AV.) 'mortar and pestle'. Indrā- regularly comes first in the RV. and the later Samhitās in some dozen Dvandvas²; e. g. indrāgnī; otherwise agnī- always precedes; sōma- comes after indrā- and agnī-, but before pūṣan- and rudra-. The longer word comes first, perhaps, as the more important, in *parjanya-vātā*³ 'Parjanya and Vāta' and in turvāśa-yādū 'Turvaśa and Yadu'. This can hardly be the reason in sambādha-tandryās (AV.) 'oppressions and weariness'. The shorter word comes first in mitrā-varuṇā, though Varuṇa is the more important of the two⁴; in ṛk-sāmābhyām the shorter word is at the same time the more important.

3. Determinative Compounds.

269. Classification.—The large class of determinative compounds in which the first member determines or limits the sense of the last, is best divided into two main groups. In the one, the final member is a verbal noun which governs the first member in meaning, and often even in form, as a verb governs its case. In the other, the final member is an ordinary noun (either adjective or substantive), the relation of which to the first member is a purely nominal one.

a. Verbal Noun as final member.

270. The final member is often a verbal noun either not occurring as a simple word or at least not belonging to a type used as simple words: either the bare root⁵ or a verbal derivative formed with the suffixes -a, -ana, -i, -in, -man, -van. These nouns limited to use as final members are agent nouns; e. g. haviṣ-dā 'eating the oblation', sam-idh- 'flaming', jyotiṣ-kr-t- 'producing light', abhi-hrī-t- 'causing injury', go-ghn-t- 'cow-slaying', ā-kar-t- 'scattering'; amitra-dāmbh-ana- 'injuring enemies', tuvi-gr-t- 'devouring much', uru-dākr-i- 'doing large work'; bhadra-vād-in- 'uttering an auspicious cry'; āśu-hē-man- 'swiftly speeding', bhūri-dā-van.⁶ 'giving much'.—Occasionally agent-nouns limited to use as final members are formed with other suffixes: prati-dv-an- 'adversary at play', vi-bhū-an- 'far-reaching' and vi-bhū-dn- 'skillful'; pra-py-asā- (AV.) 'swelling', sva-bhy-asā- (AV.) 'spontaneously frightened';

¹ This form occurs 79 times in the RV. and prthivī-dyāvā only once.

³ Once also vātā-parjanya.

⁴ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 168 (middle).

⁵ Appearing in its weakest form or, if ending in a short vowel, with determinative -t.

⁶ -mant and -vant occasionally appear as variations for -man and -van, as vi-rūk-mant- 'shining'; prāṇa-dā-vant- (AV.) 'life-giving' (cp. WHITNEY on AV. IV. 35⁵); see REUTER, KZ. 31, 560 f.

duḥ-sās-u- 'malignant', vi-bhīnd-ū- 'splitting', pra-yīy-u- 'used for driving', go-vind-ū- 'seeking cows', pari-tatn-ū- (AV.) 'encompassing', pūnś-cal-ū- (VS.) 'prostitute'; *pīva-sphā-kā-*¹ (AV.) 'abounding in fat', nī-hā-kā- 'whirlwind'; vi-bhañj-anī- 'shattering'; pra-cet-ūna- 'affording a wide prospect'; div-l-tmant- 'going to heaven'; tuvī-kūrm-l(n)- 'stirring mightily'; vāsah-palpūl-ī- (VS.) 'washing clothes'.

a. The meaning of these agent-nouns restricted in use as final members is chiefly active. But in those of them which consist of the bare root (with or without the determinative -t) it is often intransitive; e. g. namo-vadh- 'growing by adoration'; it is not infrequently passive, as mano-yīj- 'yoked at will', su-yīj- 'well-yoked'; yāma-hū- 'called by entreaties', indra-pā-tama- 'most eagerly drunk by Indra', īra-si-t- 'pressed from the fermenting mass', hṛdaya-vidh- 'pierced to the heart'² (AV.). The passive meaning also appears in one derivative formed with -a: pari-mar-ā- (TS.) 'died around' = 'around whom people die'. Final members formed with -a, -ana, (i)-tu when compounded with su- or dus- also have a passive (gerundive) meaning expressive of the ease or difficulty with which the verbal action is performed; e. g. su-kār-a- 'easy to be done', su-mān-tu- 'easily recognisable', su-ved-anā- 'easily acquired'; dur-āp-anā- 'hard to attain'; dur-ni-yān-tu- 'hard to restrain', dur-dhār-t-tu- 'irresistible', dū-dābha- 'hard to deceive'; also an isolated derivative with -i, dur-gṛbh-i- 'hard to catch', and one with -na, su-śrū-ṇa- 'easily heard' (beside su-śrī-t- 'hearing easily').

271. A certain number of verbal nouns restricted to employment as final members which are formed from the simple root (with or without determinative -t) or with the suffixes -a, -ana, -tha are nouns of action; e. g. śrad-dhā- 'belief', āśir-dā- (VS. TS.) 'fulfilment of wishes', ūpa-stu-t- 'invocation', pari-pād- 'snare', saṃ-nām- (AV.) 'affection'; ksudhā-mār-ā- (AV.) 'death by hunger', pāpa-vād-ā- (AV.) 'evil cry'; deva-hēd-ana- 'offence against the gods', baddhaka-mōc-ana- (AV.) 'release of a prisoner'; go-pr-thā- 'drink of milk', putra-kṛ-thā- 'procreation of sons', saṃ-i-thā- 'conflict'. kāma-pr-ā- is both a noun of action, 'fulfilment of desires' (AV.) and an agent-noun, 'fulfilling desires' (RV.)³.

a. A class of secondary nouns of action is here formed by adding the suffixes -ya and -yā to agent nouns formed from the simple root (with or without -t). These are abstracts (neuter and feminine respectively); e. g. haviṛ-ād-ya- 'enjoyment of the oblation'; pūrva-pāy-ya- and pūrva-pē-ya- 'precedence in drinking' (pūrva-pā- 'drinking first'), nr-pāy-ya- 'protection of men', bāhu-pāy-ya- 'protection of many', 'large hall', deva-yāj-ya- n. and yaj-yā- f. 'adoration of the gods' (deva-yāj- 'adoring the gods', VS.), nr-sāh-ya- 'overcoming of men' (nr-sāh- 'overcoming men'), rāja-sū-ya- (AV.) 'royal consecration' (rāja-sū- 'creating a king', VS.), madhyama-sthēy-ya- 'standing in the middle' (madhyama-sthā- adj., VS.); su-kṛt-yā- 'righteousness' (su-kṛ-t- 'righteous').

272. The close verbal connexion of these final members with the roots from which they are derived, shows itself formally. Thus they retain the palatal of the verb where the guttural would otherwise appear⁴. Again, agent nouns of this kind are formed from almost every kind of present stem. The following are examples of such nouns from present stems of: 1. the first class: cakram-ā-sajā- 'stopping⁵ the wheel'; 2. the sixth class: ut-tudd- (AV.) 'instigator' (tudd-ti), saṃ-girā- (AV.) 'swallowing' (sāṃ girāmi). 3. stems with -cha: go-vyacchā- (VS.) 'cow-tormentor' (from a lost present stem vyaccha-*)

² But 'heart-piercing' (RV.).

³ Isolated examples of nouns of action formed with other suffixes are su-papt-anī- 'good flight', saṃ-treṣ-īṇā- (AV.) 'conflict'(?).

⁴ See WACKERNAGEL 2ⁱ, 76. Exceptions to this would be tuvī-kūrmī-(n)- and divā-karā- (AV.) 'sun', if these words are derived from car- 'fare'.

4. the fourth class or passive with -ya: *ākṛṣṭa-pacyā*¹ (AV. VS. TS.) 'ripening in unploughed ground', a-pasyā 'not seeing', ugram-pasyā (AV.) 'fierce-looking', mām-pasyā (AV.) 'looking at me', adhi-pasya (AV. Paipp.) 'superintendent', punar-manyā 'remembering' (mānya 'thinks'), ā-riṣanya 'not failing' (riṣanyā-ti), bala-vi-jñāyā 'recognized by his strength', a-vi-dasyā 'not ceasing' (vī dasyanti 'they cease'), a-vi-driyā 'not bursting' (dṛ- 'split').
5. stems with -aya: vācam-ñikhayā 'stirring the voice', samudram-ñikhaya (only voc.) 'stirring the vat' (ñikhāya-nti 'they shake'), viśvam-ējaya (only voc.) 'exciting all' (ējāya-ti 'sets in motion'), ati-pārayā 'putting across'. 6. the fifth (-nu) and ninth (-nā) classes: viśvam-invā 'all-urging' (inv-ti, inv-a-ti 'urges'), dhiyam-jinvā 'stirring devotion' and viśva-jinvā (voc. du.) 'all-quickenings' (jinv-a-ti 'stirs'), ā-daghnā 'reaching to the mouth'² (dagh-nu-yāt 'may reach', K.), dura-dabhnā (AV.) 'eluding doors' = 'not to be kept by bars and bolts' (dabhnuv-anti 'they deceive'), dānu-pinvā 'swelling with drops' (pinv-ānā 'swelling'), sadā-prṇā 'always giving' (prṇā-ti 'fills', 'bestows'), *a-minā*³ (beside ā-minant-) 'undiminishing' (minā-ti 'diminishes'), pra-mṛṇā 'destroying' (pra-mṛṇānt- 'crushing', prā mṛna 'destroy'), *a-sinvā*⁴ (beside ā-sinvant-) 'insatiable', a-suvā 'not pressing Soma' (beside ā-suvant-).
7. the sixth and seventh classes: agnim-indhā 'fire-kindling' (indh-āte 'they kindle'), pra-krntā (TS. IV. 5. 3⁵) and vi-krntā (VS.) 'cutting to pieces' (krntā-ti 'cuts'), bhāmi-dṛṇhā (AV.) 'firmly fixed on the ground' (dṛṇha-ta 'make firm'), nī-limpā (AV.) a kind of supernatural being (nī limpāmi 'I besmear', AV.).
8. the root class: vṛātya-bruvā (AV.) 'calling himself a Vṛātya' (bruv-ānti 'they say'). 9. the reduplicating class: anu-jighrā (AV.) 'snuffing at' (jighrantī 'smelling'), sam-pibā (AV.) 'swallowing down' (sām pibāmi, AV.)⁵.

a. In a few instances verbal nouns which are final members of compounds in the RV. or the later Samhitās subsequently appear as independent words. Thus jāta-vidyā 'knowledge of things', vidyā (AV. TS.) 'knowledge'⁶. On the other hand, verbal nouns derived from roots without suffix, which in the RV. appear both as independent words and as final members of compounds, often survive in the later Samhitās in their compound form only; such are tūr- 'racing', dā- 'giver', sū- m. 'begetter', f. 'mother', sthā- 'standing'. As a rule verbal nouns which occur independently have the same general meaning as when they form the final member of a compound. But those formed without any suffix generally, and those formed with -a occasionally, have the sense of agent nouns at the end of compounds, but of action nouns or of designations of things conceived as feminine, when they are used independently. Thus gṛbh- f. 'act of seizing', jāva-gṛbh- adj. 'seizing alive'; vid-ā 'with knowledge', hotrā-vid- adj. 'knowing the oblation', yūdh- f. 'fight', pra-yūdh- adj. 'assailing'; bhar-ā (AV.) 'act of carrying', puṣṭim-bharā- 'bringing prosperity'. Sometimes the simple word has the meaning of an agent noun as well as of an action noun; e. g. dṛś- adj. 'seeing' and f. 'act of seeing'; bhūj- adj. 'enjoying' and f. 'enjoyment'; stūbh- adj. 'shouting' and f. 'shout'; but at the end of a compound these three words express the agent only. Similarly grābh-ā m. 'seizer' (AV.) and 'grasp', but grāva-grābh-ā 'handling the Soma stones'⁷.

273. Independent verbal nouns.—Several kinds of verbal nouns which are also capable of independent use occur as final member of compounds. Among these the only ones of frequent occurrence are those in -ta which are adjectives (often used as substantives) and the corresponding abstract

³ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 181, note.

⁴ From a lost root si-nū-ti* 'satisfies'.

⁵ There is also a transition form (leading to the later -dada-) in āyur-dād-am (AV.)

acc. f. 'life-giving' (beside āyur-dā-, AV. VS. TS.): dād-ali 'they give'.

⁶ For examples of verbal nouns which assume an independent character in the later language, see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, 77 a.

substantives in -ti; e. g. puró-hita-adj. 'placed in front', m. 'domestic priest'; puró-hiti-f. 'domestic priesthood'.

1. Agent nouns. Those which are formed with -aka and -snu are compounded with prepositions only: abhi-króś-aka- (VS.) 'one who cries out', vi-láy-aka- (VS.) 'melter'; abhi-śocayī-snu- (AV.) 'causing heat', ni-śat-snu- 'sitting firmly'. Agent nouns in -tr may be compounded with adverbs, as pura-ett- 'going before', purah-sthāt- 'standing at the head', and rarely with substantives, as ni-pāt- 'protecting men', *man-dhāt-*¹ 'applying (his) mind', 'thoughtful man'. Agent nouns formed with -u from secondary present stems are in a few instances compounded with substantives: gir-vanasy-ú- 'fond of hymns', deva-pīy-ú- (AV. VS.) 'hating the gods', rāṣṭra-dīps-ú- (AV.) 'wishing to injure the country'.

2. Action nouns. A few action nouns formed with -ā from adjectives in -u derived from secondary verbal stems, begin in late passages of the RV. to appear in composition with a substantive: māṃsa-bhīks-ā- (I. 162¹²) 'request for flesh', śraddhā-manasy-ā- 'faithful intent' (X. 113⁹); śajāta-vanasy-ā- (TS. II. 6. 67) 'desire to rule over relatives'. Much more common are the abstracts in -ti (corresponding to adjectives in -ta), which may be compounded with indeclinables or nouns (adjective or substantive)²; e. g. án-iti- 'no help', d-śasti- 'curse', nir-ṛti- 'dissolution', sá-hūti- 'joint invocation', su-ñti- 'good aid'; sóma-pīti- 'drinking of Soma', sóma-suti- 'pressing of Soma'. Some of these are becoming or have become agent nouns; thus jarād-aṣṭi- 'attaining great age' as well as 'attainment of old age'; vásu-dhiti- 'bestowing wealth' as well as 'bestowal of wealth'; but vásu-nīti- (AV.) only 'bringing wealth'. Others, even in the RV., approximate to the type of the non-verbal determinatives, as ásu-nīti- 'world of spirits', ṛjū-nīti- 'right guidance', devā-hiti- 'divine ordinance', námo-vṛkti- 'cleansing for adoration', púrvā-citti- 'foreboding': these can, however, be understood as abstracts to corresponding compounds in *-ta*³.

3. Gerundives. The gerundives formed with -ya are ordinarily compounded with adverbial prepositions, as puro-nuvākyā- (sc. ḥc- AV.) '(verse) to be repeated beforehand'. In the later Samhitās a noun here sometimes appears as first member: nīvi-bhāryā- (AV.) 'to be worn in a skirt', prathama-vāsyā- (AV.) 'worn formerly'. The Proper Names kuṇḍa-pāyya-, puru-māyyā-, vṛṣṭi-hārya-, if they are formed with the gerundive suffix -ya, would be examples from the RV.⁴—Gerundives formed with -anīya and *-enya*⁵ are compounded with prepositions and a(n)- only: ā-mantranīya- (AV.) 'to be asked'; saṃ-carēnya- 'suitable for walking on', a-dviṣenya- 'not malevolent'.—Gerundives in -tva are not compounded at all except with a(n)-.

4. Participles. Besides prepositions and a(n)-, only indeclinable words occurring in connexion with verbs are found compounded with participles (exclusive of the past passive participle): thus alalā-bhāvānt- 'murmuring' (waters) and jañjanā-bhāvānt- 'crackling' (flame), astam-yānt- (AV.) 'setting' and astam-ṣyānt- (AV.) 'about to set', d-punar-dīyamāna- (AV.) 'not being given back', āviś-krīvānd- 'making visible', dūr-vidvāms- 'ill-disposed', sū-vidvāms- 'knowing well'.

² The verbal force is strongest when the preceding substantive has the sense of an object.

³ As devā-hiti- 'act of ordaining by the gods' beside devā-hita- 'ordained by the gods'.

⁴ The compounds amā-vāsyā- (AV.) sc. rātr- 'night of the new moon', eka-vādya-

(AV.) 'uttering a single sound', a kind of spectre, and vār-kāryā- (I. 88⁴) are obscure in their formation.

⁵ A few gerundives in -tavya begin to be compounded with prepositions or particles in the B. portion of the TS. and MS.: pravaṣṭavyām (TS.) 'one should go on a journey'; a-bhartavyā- (MS.) 'not to be borne', sv-ṣṭavyam (TS.) 'easy to go'.

a. By far the commonest verbal nouns occurring as final member are the past participles in -ta, which are compounded with nouns as well as prepositions and other indeclinables. The meaning is mostly passive. It is, however, sometimes active, but in the RV. almost exclusively when a preposition precedes, as ud-ita- 'risen'; when a noun precedes, only in sārga-takta- 'speeding with a rush' and sārga-pratahta- 'darting forth with a rush'. In the AV. a noun appears also in uda-plutī- 'swimming in the water'; occasionally even transitively governing the first member in sense: kyti-dviṣṭa- (AV.) 'hating what has been done' (by another)¹.

b. The past participle in -na is less frequent and occurs in the RV. only compounded with prepositions, a(n)- and su-; e. g. pāri-cchinna- 'lopped around'; d-bhinna- 'not split'; śu-pūrṇa- 'quite full'. But it is found a few times in the later Saṃhitās with a preceding substantive: agni-nunna- (SV.) 'driven away by fire', reṣma-cchinna- (AV.) 'rent by a storm'; and with active (transitive) sense gara-gṛṇṇa- (AV.) 'having swallowed poison'.

5. There are besides some verbal adjectives in -ra or (after a vowel) -tra, -la and -ma, the first of which occurs compounded with nouns as well as prepositions: d-sk-ra- 'united'², nī-mṛg-ra- 'attached to', tanū-śubh-ra- 'shining in body', hāri-ścand-ra- 'shining yellow'; vi-bhṛ-tra- 'to be borne about in various directions'; d-miś-la-, nī-miś-la-, sām-miś-la- 'commingling'; dva-kṣā-ma- (AV.) 'emaciated', uc-chuṣ-ma- (TS. I. 6. 2²) 'hissing upwards', nī-sus-ma- (TS. I. 6. 2²) 'hissing downwards'.

6. Comparatives and superlatives in -jyāms and -iṣṭha having originally been verbal adjectives are found in composition with prepositions and sām- when they still retain their verbal meaning: ud-yamjyāms- 'raising excessively', pūri-śvajjyāms- (AV.) 'clasping more firmly', prāti-cyavjyāms- 'pressing closer against', vi-kledjyāms- (AV.) 'moistening more'; d-gamiṣṭha- 'coming quickly', sām-bhaviṣṭha- 'most beneficial'.

First member in verbal determinatives.

274. a. Prepositions. At the beginning of determinatives prepositions are employed in accordance with their use in verbal forms; e. g. pra-ñi- and prā-ñiti- 'furtherance', pra-netī- 'leader', prā-ñita- 'furthered', pra-ñenī- 'guiding constantly'. Even in the many instances in which the corresponding verbal combination has not been preserved, it may be assumed to have existed; e. g. in abhi-pra-mīr- 'crushing' and abhi-pra-bhaṅgīn- 'breaking'. Occasionally, however, the preposition has a meaning which otherwise occurs only before non-verbal nouns; e. g. ati-yājī- 'sacrificing excessively'³. A preposition belonging to the second member is once prefixed to the first in saṃ-dhanā-jī-t (AV.) 'accumulating (= saṃ-jī-t) 'wealth'.

b. Adverbs. Various kinds of adverbs occur in this position, as puro-yāvan- 'going before', akṣayā-drūh- 'injuring wrongly'; amutra-bhīya- (AV. VS.) 'state of being there' (i. e. in the other world). The privative a(n)- though belonging in sense to the final member always precedes the first; e. g. an-agni-dagha- 'not burnt by fire'; d-pāścād-daghvan- 'not remaining behind'; d-dāra-sy-t (AV.) 'not falling into a crack'.

c. Nouns. The first member, when a noun, expresses various relations to the last.

¹ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2², p. 195; but also WHITNEY on AV. VII. 113¹.

³ In TS. II. 5. 44 (B.) ati-yaj- means 'to pass over in sacrificing'.

It expresses: 1. the object, which is the prevailing meaning when the final member is an agent noun or an action noun; e.g. ab-jī-t- 'winning waters', aśva-hayá- 'urging on steeds', nr-pātí- 'protecting men', vāja-sāti- 'act of winning booty', vītra-hátya- n. 'act of slaying Vītra'.¹ When the final member is a verbal noun formed from kṛ- 'make', the first member does not necessarily express the product, but may mean the material with which the activity is concerned; thus hiranya-kārā- (VS.) is not 'gold-maker' but 'worker in gold', 'goldsmith'.

2. the agent when the last member has a passive sense; e.g. indra-pā-tama- 'most drunk by Indra', sōma-śita- 'excited by Soma'; occasionally also when the final member is an action noun, as devā-hiti- 'ordinance of the gods', parṇa-śadā- (AV. VS.) 'fall of leaves', mitra-tūrya- (AV.) 'victory of friends'.

3. the instrument, the source, or the locality when the final member is an agent noun or a past passive participle; e.g. *ādri-dugdha-*² 'milked with stones', aritra-pāraṇa- 'crossing with oars'; gō-jāta- 'produced from kine', tīra-sit-t- 'pressed from the fermenting mass'; udā-plutā- (AV.) 'swimming in the water', dhar-jāta- (AV.) 'born in the day', puru-bhā- 'being in many places', bandhu-kṣi-t- 'dwelling among relatives', *pīśni-ni-prasita-*³ 'sent down to earth'.

4. in an appositionally nominative sense, that as or like which the action of the final member is performed; e.g. śāna-kṛ-t- 'acting as a ruler', pūrva-pā- 'drinking first', vāmā-jāta- 'born as one dear' = 'dear by nature'; dhāra-vākā- 'sounding like streams', śyenā-jāta- 'speeding like an eagle'.

5. in the sense of a predicative nominative before a past participle, or a predicative accusative before an agent noun expressive of 'saying'; e.g. bhaksām-kṛta- (TS.) 'enjoyed', śīma-tasṭa- 'fashioned as a hymn of praise'; vrātya-bruvā- (AV.) 'calling oneself a Vrātya'.

6. adverbially the manner in which an action is done, sometimes by means of a substantive, more often by means of an adjective; e.g. rtu-ij- 'sacrificing at the proper time', that is, 'regularly', sārga-takta- 'speeding with a rush'; āsu-pātvan- 'flying swiftly', dhruva-kṣi-t- (VS.) 'dwelling securely', satya-yāj- 'sacrificing truly'; with a numeral in dvī-jā- (AV.) 'twice-born'.

275. Before a verbal noun a nominal first member very often appears with a case-ending⁴, generally with that which the corresponding verb would govern in a sentence. The accusative is here the commonest case, the locative coming next, while the other cases are rarer. A singular case-ending (the acc. or inst.) may here indicate a plural sense; e.g. āśvam-iṣṭi- 'seeking horses', purāṇ-darā- 'destroyer of forts', śīneṣita- 'driven by dogs' (śīnā-). Plural (acc.) endings sometimes occur, but dual endings are never found in these compounds.

The accusative case-ending is very common, generally expressing the object of a transitive verb, as dhanam-jayā- 'winning booty'. But it also expresses other senses, as that of the cognate accusative; e.g. śubham-yā-(van)- 'moving in brilliance'; or of an adverbial accusative, e.g. *ugram-patīyā-*⁵

¹ WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 198, quotes loka-jit-am svargam (AV. IV. 34⁸) as showing that the first member was felt to have an accusative sense = 'winning the heavenly world' (svargam lokam); but the Paipp. Ms. has the reading svargyam, which WHITNEY regards as better, translating 'world-conquering, heaven-going'.

² When the first member is a part of the body it expresses the sense of 'with reference to', as bāhū-jūta- 'quick with the arms'.

³ The local sense here is that of the accusative of the goal.

⁴ Cp. LINDNER, Nominalbildung p. 28.

⁵ Occasionally the -m is inorganic, as in maksam-gamā- and āsum-gā- (AV.) 'going swiftly'. In patam-gā- 'bird', patam- probably a. The accusative form is commonest before agent nouns ending in -a or -i which begin with a single consonant and the first syllable of which is short; that is, the -m here appears in a syllable in which rhythmic lengthening would be allowed⁵. This accusative form is the regular rule in the RV. when the stem of the first member ends in -a, being found before -kara- 'making', -caya- 'collecting', -jaya- 'conquering', -tara- 'overcoming', -dara- 'cleaving', -bhara- 'bearing', -ruja- 'breaking', -santi- 'winning', -saha- 'overwhelming'; e.g. abhayaṇ-karā- 'procuring security'. The only exceptions to this rule in the RV. are aśva-hayā- 'urging on steeds', sukra-dīgha- 'emitting clear fluid'. In the RV. the ending -im also occurs in puṣṭim-bharā- 'bringing prosperity' and *harim-bharā-*⁶ 'bearing the yellow-coloured (bolt)'; and -um inorganically in makṣum-gamā- 'going quickly'. In the later Samhitās also occur iram-maddā- (VS.) 'rejoicing in the draught', dūram-gamā- (VS.) 'going far', devaṇ-gamā- (TS.) 'going to the gods', yudhīm-gamā- (AV.) 'going to battle', viśvam-bharā- (AV.) 'all-sustaining', *śakam-bharā-*⁷ (AV.) 'bearing ordure'⁸.

b. The accusative form in -am is not uncommon before a final member with initial vowel (coalescence of the two vowels being thus avoided); e.g. caḥram-aśajā- 'obstructing the wheel', viśvam-invā- 'all-moving', dśvam-iṣṭi- 'desiring horses', vācam-tīkḥayā- 'word-moving', samudram-tīkḥaya- (only voc.) 'stirring the vat', viśvam-ējyā- 'all-exciting'; in -im: agnim-indhā- 'fire-kindler'; in -ām: tvām-āhuti- (TS.) 'offering oblations to thee'.

c. The accusative form is common when the final member is formed from a present stem, owing to the close connexion of such verbal nouns with the verb; e.g. dhiyaṇ-jinvā- 'exciting meditation', ugram-paśyā- (AV.) 'looking fiercely', mām-paśyā- (AV.) 'looking at me'.

d. Apart from the conditions stated above (a, b, c) the accusative case-ending rarely occurs in the first member of verbal determinatives; e.g. vanam-kāraṇa-, a particular part of the body; dhiyaṇ-dhī- 'devout', śubhaṇ-yā-(van)- 'moving in brilliance'⁹.

e. In the great majority of instances the first member, if it has the accusative case-form, ends in -am, mostly from stems in -a, but also from monosyllabic consonant stems (ṣur-am- etc.)¹⁰, and from one stem in -ī (dhiy-am-). Otherwise there are three or represents IE. petn-; while in pūram-dhī- 'fertile woman' and vṛjan-dhī- 'bold', the origin of the nasal is doubtful; cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 202.

¹ In B. this predicative accusative sometimes comes to have the value of a predicative nominative when compounded with a gerundive or a derivative of bhū-, as śṛtaṇ-kṛtya- (TS.) 'to be made cooked', nagṇam-bhāvuka- (TS.) 'becoming naked'.

² pāśvas acc. pl.

³ Here huraś- might be a genitive as ṣcit- governs that case as well as the acc.

⁴ ṣuro-hā 'destroying forts' may contain an acc.; also iṣa-stūt- 'praise of prosperity', which the Pada analyses as iṣaḥ-stūt-.

⁵ How much the use of these forms is dependent on rhythm is seen in the alternation of ṛṇam-cayā- and ṛṇa-cit- 'paying a debt', khajaṇ-karā- and khaja-kṛt- 'causing the din of battle', dhanam-jayā- and dhanajit- 'winning booty', janam-sahā- 'overcoming beings' and vṛāta-sāhā- 'conquering crowds'.

⁶ Beside kavi-ṛdhā- 'prospering the wise'.

⁷ Here the acc. of an a-stem is substituted for śakān-.

⁸ The compound narāṇ-dhīṣa- (VS.) is of doubtful meaning and irregular accent.

⁹ For several other examples occurring in Brāhmaṇa passages of the later Samhitās see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 207 d, e.

¹⁰ In hṛd-am-sini- 'winning the heart' the neuter hṛd- is treated as if it were a masc. or fem.

four in -in (agnim- etc.), one in -um (makṣum-), and two pronominal accusatives in -im (mām-, tvām-). Polysyllabic consonant stems never have the accusative case-ending in the first member¹.

276. The locative case-ending is in the RV. almost limited to employment before agent-nouns formed from the simple root with or without determinative -t: agre-gā- 'going before', agre-gā- (VS.) 'moving forwards', agre-ñt- (VS.) 'leader', agre-pā- 'drinking first', agre-pā- (VS.) 'drinking first', *āṅge-śthā-*² (AV.) 'situated in a member of the body', *ṛte-jā-*³ 'produced at the sacrifice', hr̥cchre-śrī-t- 'running into danger', gahvare-śthā- (VS.) 'being at the bottom', divi-kṣī-t- 'dwelling in heaven', divi-yāj- 'worshipping in heaven', divi-śrī-t- (AV.) 'sojourning in heaven', divi-sād- (AV.) 'sitting in heaven', dūre-dīś- 'visible afar', doṣaṇi-śrīś- (AV.) 'leaning on the arm', rathe-sūbh- 'flying along in a car', rathe-śthā- 'standing in a car', vane-rāj- 'shining in a wood', vane-sāh- 'prevailing in woods', sute-gṛbh- 'taking hold of the Soma', hr̥di-spīś- 'touching the heart'⁴.

2. The RV. has only two examples of a locative before an agent noun formed with the suffix -a: divi-kṣayā- 'dwelling in heaven', vahye-śayā- 'resting in a litter'⁵. There are several others in the later Samhitās: agre-vadhā- (VS.) 'killing what is in front', talpe-śayā- (AV.) 'resting on a couch', divi-carā- (AV.) 'faring in heaven', divi-śtamdhā- (AV.) 'supported on the sky', dūre-vadhā- (VS.) 'far-striking', *harā-śayā-*⁶ (MS. I. 27) 'resting in gold'. In the AV. also occurs an example of the locative before an agent noun formed with -in: parame-śth-in- 'standing in the highest (place)'.⁷

3. The locative plural is much rarer than the singular in the first member: apsu-kṣī-t- 'dwelling in the waters', apsu-jā- 'born in the waters', apsu-jī-t- 'vanquishing in the waters', apsu-sād- 'dwelling in the waters', apsu-vāh- (SV.) 'driving in water', apsu-saṃśīta- (AV.) 'excited in the waters', goṣu-yūdh- 'fighting in (= for) kine', pṛtsu-tūr- 'conquering in battles', bhāreṣu-jā- 'produced in fights', hr̥tsu-ās- 'piercing to the heart'.

a. In these locative compounds the second member is most commonly -stha- or -sthā- in the RV., while the first member is most usually agre-, dūre- or vane-. The locative in -e is the predominant one, even displacing -i in pathe-śthā- 'standing on the road' beside patit-śthā- (AV.).

277. The instrumental case-ending occurs several times in the first member of verbal determinatives: ksamā-carā- (VS.) 'being in the ground', girā-vjdh- 'rejoicing in song', dhiyā-jūr- 'aging in devotion', yuvā-datta- 'given by you two', yuvā-nīta- 'led by you two', yusmā-datta- 'given by you', yusmā-nīta- 'led by you', śīneṣita- 'driven by dogs' (śīnā). When the stem of the first member ends in -a there is some doubt whether -ā here represents the instrumental ending or lengthening of the vowel⁷; thus śaphā-rīj- may mean 'breaking with the hoof' or 'hoof-breaker'; and in yuvā-yīj- 'yoked by you two' the vowel may be simply lengthened. In divā-kard- (AV.) 'sun' the first member is an old instrumental used adverbially⁸.

a. The examples of the ablative case-ending are rare: dakṣiṇāt-sād-

² There are several other locatives compounded with -śthā-.

³ There are several other locatives compounded with -jā-.

⁴ In nare-śthā- (RV¹), an epithet of the car, the first member may be a locative (Sāyana), but it may also be a dative of nr̥- (BR., GRASSMANN), 'serving for a man to stand on'.

⁶ In VS. v. 8 harī-śayā-; harā- here is the locative of hāri-.

⁷ Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, 56.

⁸ See WACKERNAGEL 2¹, 213 a, note.

(MS. II. 63) 'sitting in the south'; divo-jā- 'produced from heaven', divo-dih- (SV.) 'milking from the sky', divo-rūc- 'shining from the sky'.

b. The ending of the genitive would naturally appear only before derivatives from verbs governing the genitive. There seem to be no certain examples: divā-kṣas- 'ruling over the sky' (divā-) however seems probable¹.

b. i. Ordinary Adjective as final member.

278. Ordinary adjectives which are not of a verbal character may appear as final member of determinatives much in the same way as past participles in -ta and -na (273, 4). But adjectives ending in -u are almost exclusively compounded with the privative a(n)- and prepositions; e.g. an-āśū- 'not swift', an-rju- 'dishonest', ā-dāśu- 'impious', ā-bhīru- 'not terrible'; prāśū- 'very (prā-) swift' (āśū-). The only final members otherwise compounded are -vasu- 'rich' in vibhā-vasu- 'radiant' and other compounds, and -raghu- 'swift', in māde-raghu- 'quick in exhilaration'.

a. The first member may be a substantive in the relation of a case to the last; e.g. tanū-subhra- 'shining in body', yajñā-dhīra- 'versed in sacrifice', vakmarāja-satya- 'faithful to the ordainers of hymns', viśvā-sambhū- 'salutary for all'. The relation is sometimes expressed by the case-ending: the locative in gāvi-śhīra- (AV.) 'strong in kine (gāvi-) as a name, māde-raghu- 'quick in exhilaration', sutā-kara- 'active in (offering) Soma', sumnā-āpi- 'united in affection (sumnā-)'; instrumental² in dhiyā-vasu- 'rich in devotion', vidmanāpas- 'working (apās-) with wisdom (vidmānā-)'. The first member may also appositionally express a comparison as representing a type: śīka-babhru- (VS.) 'reddish like a parrot'³.

b. The first member may be an adjective qualifying the final member in an adverbial sense; thus aprāmi-satya (voc.) 'eternally true', *ūrdhvā-prāśni-*⁴ (VS.) 'spotted above', try-ārūṣa- 'reddish in three (parts of the body)', *mahā-nagnī-*⁵ (AV.) 'courtesan' ('very naked'), mahā-mahī-vrata- 'ruling very mightily', mahā-vaśūrin- 'very broad', viśvā-ścandra- 'all-glittering'⁶.

c. Adverbs and particles often appear as first member; e.g. an-āśū- 'not swift', anyāta-ent- (VS.) 'variegated on one side (anyātas-)', evāra- 'quite (evā-) ready (dra-)', duḥ-śēva- 'unfavourable', plnar-nava- 'renewing itself', satā-mahānt- 'equally (sa-tās-) great', satā-brhat- (VS.) 'the equally great' (a metre), satyām-ugra- 'truly mighty', śī-priya- (AV.) 'very dear'.

d. Several prepositions appear as first member, mostly with their original adverbial meaning; e.g. *āti-kṛṣṇa-*⁷ (VS.) 'very dark'; ā-miśṭa-tama- 'mixing very readily'⁸; upottamā- (AV.) 'penultimate'; nī-dhruvi- ('fixed down') 'persevering', nī-kevalya- (VS.) 'belonging exclusively'; prāśū- 'very swift', pra-

¹ But it has also been otherwise explained; cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 213 c, note; who also quotes ā-kasya-vid- 'knowing nothing' from the MS.

² The word jātū-śhīra- probably contains an old instrumental = 'naturally solid'; in nābhā-nēdīṣṭha- 'nearest in kin' as a name, the first member though looking like a locative, probably represents an Ilr. stem nabhā-; cp. RICHTER, II, 9, 209. The compounds śī-priya-, an epithet of Indra, and ghāṣṭa-ajra- (VS.) are Bahuvrīhis.

³ A transition to this compound use appears in māno jāviṣṭham (RV. VI. 95) 'very swift as thought'.

⁴ Here the adjectival stem is used for the adv. ūrdhvām.

⁵ From this is formed the m. mahā-nagnā- (AV.) 'paramour'.

⁶ The meaning of sādhv-aryā- 'truly faithful'(?), which occurs only once, is doubtful; cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 237 (top).

⁷ āti in the sense of 'very' does not occur in the RV., but in the later Samhitās it is the commonest of the prepositions compounded with adjectives.

⁸ 'Very slightly mixed', GELDNER, VS. 3, 181. — ā-tura- 'suffering' is obscure in origin.

śarāha- (voc.) 'bold'; vi-mahī- 'very great', vi-sama- (VS.) 'uneven', vi-sadr̥sa- 'dissimilar', vy-ant- 'variously tinted' (dawn); sāṃ-vasu- 'dwelling together', sām-priya- (VS.) 'mutually dear'.

b. 2. Ordinary Substantive as final member.

279. Determinatives with ordinary non-verbal substantives as their final member¹ are not common in the earliest period of the language. In the first nine books of the RV., except the frequent compounds in -pati- and -patnī-, there are not many more than three dozen examples²; the tenth book has quite two dozen more, and the AV. seven dozen more.

The first member is frequently a substantive also. Its relation to the final member seems to be limited to the genitive sense in the Samhitās. This genitive sense appears when the final member is a word expressive of relationship, or -pati- 'husband' or 'lord'; e. g. rāja-putrā- 'king's son', mṛtyu-bāndhu- 'companion of death', viś-pāti- 'lord of the tribe'. It sometimes expresses the material, as dru-padā- 'post of wood', hiranya-rathā- 'car of gold' or 'car full of gold'. In deva-kilbiṣā- 'offence against the gods' we have an example of an objective genitive. There seems to be no instance in the RV. of a Proper Name appearing as the first member of a determinative in the genitive sense³ except in indra-senā- (x.102)⁴ 'Indra's missile'⁵, which compound is itself perhaps a Proper Name⁶. In camasādhvaryu- (AV.) 'the priest of the cups', the first member expresses quite a general genitive sense of relation = 'the priest who is concerned with the cups'.

280. As in determinatives with verbal noun as final member, the case-ending may appear in the first member. But it is less common here, and owing to the purely nominal character of the final member, is almost restricted to the genitive. The ending of this case is very common before -pati- 'lord' or 'husband': aṇhas-as-pati- (VS.) 'lord of distress', N. of an intercalary month, *gnā-s-pāti-*⁶ 'husband of a divine woman', jā-s-pāti- 'lord of the family', *bṛh-as-pāti-*⁷ and brāhmaṇ-as-pāti- 'lord of devotion', mānas-as-pāti- 'lord of mental power', *vān-as-pāti-*⁸ 'lord of the wood', 'tree', vāc-as-pāti- 'lord of speech', vāstos-pāti- 'lord of the dwelling', śubh-as-pāti- 'lord of splendour', sādas-as-pāti- 'lord of the sacrificial seat'. According to the analogy of these compounds which end in -s-pati-, were also formed from *a-*stems ṛta-s-pati- (only voc.) 'lord of pious works' and rātha-s-pāti- 'lord of the car'. The word dām-pati- may stand for dām-s-pati-*¹⁰ 'lord of the house' (dām-, the gen. pl. of which, dam-ām, occurs).

² See WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 241 (97 note).

⁴ 'Indra's missile' (BR.), 'Indra's army' (GRASSMANN).

⁵ This is the opinion of GELDNER, VS. 2, 1, and of DELBRÜCK, Vergl. Syntax 3, p. 202.

⁶ An anomalous f. gnās-patnī- was formed from this word after the etymology had been forgotten, as conversely the m. sapātina- 'rival' was formed from sa-patnī- 'co-wife'.

⁸ van- 'wood' appears also in the pl. G. van-ām, L. vām-su-.

¹⁰ PISCHEL, VS. 2, 93 ff., 307 ff., rejects any connexion between dām-pati- and dām- 'house'. Cp. WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 249 e, note.

a. These compounds in -pāti- are treated by the Pada text in three different ways: 1. gnāspāti-, bṛhaspāti-, vānaspāti-, viṣpāti- (and viṣpātni-) appear as simple words; 2. gnāh-pātni-, jāh-pāti-, sāc-pāti-, ṛta-pate (voc.), rādhā-pate (voc.), and those with a single accent (except viṣpāti-) as compounds separated by the Avagraha sign; 3. all other doubly accented compounds (e. g. brāhmaṇas-pāti-) as two separate words; even rāthas-pātis is written rāthah | pātih | as if rāthah were a nom. sing.¹

a. Otherwise the genitive ending appears only two or three times in the RV. in Proper Names: divo-dāsa- 'Servant of heaven'(?), *śīnaḥ-śēpa-*² 'Dog's tail', and (with gen. pl.) nārā-sāṃsa- (for nārāṇi-sāṃsa-*)³ 'Praise of men', an epithet of Agni. The VS. has also rāyas-poṣa- 'increase of wealth' in rāyas-poṣa-dā- 'bestowing increase of wealth' and rāyas-poṣa-vāni- 'procuring increase of wealth'.

b. Other case-endings are very rare in such determinatives. The locative appears in svapne-dṣvapnyā- (AV.) 'evil dreaming in sleep'⁴; the instrumental in vācā-stena- 'thief by speech', 'one who makes mischief by his words'; the dative in dasyave-vṛka- (voc.) 'Wolf to the Dasyu', N. of a man; and possibly dāsyave sāhaḥ (I. 36¹⁸) may be meant as a name with double accent.

281. In a few instances the first member is a substantive used appositionally to express sex or composite nature: puruṣa-mrgā- (VS.) 'male antelope'; ūtuka-yātu- 'owl demon' (= demon in form of an owl), śusūtuka-yātu- 'owlet demon'; puruṣa-vyāghrā- 'man-tiger', a kind of demon, vṛṣā-kapi- 'man-ape'.

282. An adjective may appear as first member determining the sense of the following substantive. This type, which is called Karmadhāraya by the Indian grammarians, is uncommon in the Samhitās. Among the oldest are *candrā-mās-*⁵ ('bright) moon' and pūrṇā-mās-a- (TS. III. 4. 4¹) 'full moon'. Besides these occur eka-vīrā- 'unique hero', kṛṣṇa-śakunt- (AV.) 'raven'⁷, nava-jvārā- 'new pain', mahā-grāmā- 'great host', mahā-dhānā- 'great booty', mahā-vīrā- 'great hero'⁸, saptā-rṣāyas 'the Seven Seers', N. of a group of ancient sages (beside the separate words saptā ṛṣayaḥ and ṛṣayaḥ saptā in Books I-IX), saptā-grdhṛāḥ (AV.) 'the seven vultures'⁹.

a. A variety of Karmadhāraya is that in which the first member expresses a part of the last: adhara-kanthā- (VS.) 'lower part of the neck', *ardha-devā-*¹⁰ 'demi-god', ardha-māsā- (AV. VS.) 'half-month', madhyāhni-dina- 'midday'; also with change of gender: agra-jihvā- (VS.) n. 'tip of the tongue (jihvā-)'; with the suffix -a: ardha-rcā- (AV. VS.) 'hemistich', pūrvāhṇā- 'forenoon'¹¹.

283. Prepositions frequently occur as first member, all except prā in their ordinary adverbial senses. Those which are thus used in the RV.

³ Cp. nārāṇi nā sāṃsa- (I. 1739 etc.) and sāṃso nārāṇi (VI. 242); see WACKERNAGEL 2ⁱ, p. 248 d, note.

⁴ hrād-cakṣus 'mirrored in the lake' is regarded by GELDNER (VS. I, 173) as a Tatpuruṣa = 'eye in the lake'. For one or two doubtful examples of locative pl. see WACKERNAGEL 2ⁱ, p. 249 (bottom).

⁵ That this is a very old combination is shown by the fact that mās- 'moon' occurs almost exclusively in compounds (sūrya-māsā and pūrṇa-mās, SB.), only two or three times alone (though often in the sense of 'month'), and is therefore obsolescent in the RV.

⁶ In the later Samhitās candrā- comes to mean 'moon' as an abbreviation of candrā-mās-.

⁷ With change of meaning from 'black bird'.

⁸ In K. appears the dative viśva-devāya, the expression viśve devāḥ having become a Karmadhāraya.

⁹ Translated by WHITNEY (AV. VIII. 9¹⁸) as a Bahuvrihi, 'seven-vultured'.

¹⁰ ardhā- 'half' is here used in a figurative sense.

are ādhi 'over', ni 'down', pāri 'around', prā 'forward'¹, 'front part of'², 'extreme' (of high degree), 'great' (in names of relationship), prāti 'against', vi 'asunder'³, sām 'together' (also sa- in the same sense); and in the later Samhitās, antār 'between', āpa 'away', ā 'at hand', ūd 'up', ūpa 'beside', ūpari 'above'. The following are examples in the alphabetical order of the prepositions: ādhi-pati (AV. VS.) 'over-lord', ādhi-patnī (AV. VS.) 'sovereign lady', ādhi-bhojana- 'additional gift', adhi-rājā- 'supreme king'; antar-deśā- (AV.) 'intermediate region', antaḥ-pātrā- (AV.) 'inner (= interior of the) vessel'; āpa-rūpa- (AV.)⁴ 'absence of form', 'deformity'; ā-pati- (VS. MS. I. 27) 'the lord here'; ut-sūrya* 'sunrise' in otsūryām (AV.) 'till sunrise' (ā-utsūryām); upa-pati- (VS.) 'paramour' (lit. 'sub-husband'); upari-śayana- (AV.) 'elevated couch'; ni-dhāna- (AV.) 'conclusion', ni-pakṣati- (VS.) 'second rib', ni-pādā- 'low ground', *ny-dhna-*⁵ (AV.) 'close of day'; pāri-pati- 'lord (of all) around', pāri-vatsarā- 'full year'; pragāthā- (VS.) 'fore-song', a kind of stanza, prā-dīś- 'region' and (AV.) 'intermediate quarter', prā-dhāna- 'prize of battle', prādhvanā- ('forward course', dāhvan-) 'bed of a river', prārtha- (AV.) 'preparation', 'implement'; *prā-pada-*⁶ 'tip of the foot', prā-uga- 'forepart of the shafts (of a chariot)'⁷; prā-napāt- 'great-grandson', prā-tatāmaha- (AV.¹) and prā-pitāmaha- (VS. TS.) 'great-grandfather'; prā-div- (AV.) 'third (or fifth) heaven', prā-patha- 'distant path', prā-maganda- 'arch-usurer', prā-vira- 'great hero', prāyus- (MS. I. 54) 'long life' (āyus); prati-jand- (AV.) 'adversary', prati-dīvan- 'adversary at play'; vi-dīś- (VS.) 'intermediate region', vi-madhya- 'middle', vi-manyu- 'longing'⁸, vi-vāc- 'opposing shout', 'contest', vy-ōdana- (RV.¹) 'different food'⁹; sa-pātnt- 'co-wife', saṃ-grāmā- (AV.) 'assembly', 'encounter', saṃ-antikā- 'battle-array'¹⁰, saṃ-bāndhu- 'akin', *saṃ-vatsarā-*¹¹ 'full year'.

284. Other indeclinables sometimes occur as first member, but very rarely in the RV. They include a few adverbs and the particles a(n)-, du-, su-, kim-, ku-: paścā-dosā- (VS.) 'late evening', pūrō-agnī- (VS.) 'fire in front'; a-mitra- 'enemy', ā-hotṛ- (AV.) 'incompetent Hotṛ'; duc-chīnā- 'calamity'¹²; sū-brāhmaṇa- (AV.) 'good Brāhman', sū-bheṣaja- (AV. TS.) 'good remedy', *su-vasanā-*¹³ 'fair garment'; kim-puruṣā- (VS.) a kind of mythical being, kūśara- (RV.¹), a kind of reed.

4. Bahuvrīhi Compounds.

285. The term Bahuvrīhi, employed by the Indian grammarians to designate this type, is perhaps the most convenient name for these secondary adjective compounds, as it represents their general character both in form and meaning. For the final member is practically always a substantive, and the relation of the first member to the last is mostly attributive

² This and the following meanings do not occur in the combination of prā with verbs.

³ Expressing separation, extension, derivation.

⁴ In apa-kāmā- 'aversion' the final member is a verbal noun. There seem to be no certain instances of this kind of compound with āpi: cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 259 β, note.

⁶ Once prā-pad- in AV.

⁷ Probably for prā-yuga-.

⁸ From manyū- 'zeal'.

⁹ This is Sāyaṇa's explanation (vividhe 'me) of the word in VIII. 52⁹.

¹⁰ From āntika- 'front'.

¹¹ sām in this compound expresses completeness.

¹² Cp. śunām 'with success'. On the Sandhi see p. 31, note 4.

286. Attributive Bahuvrīhis.—The commonest form of Bahuvrīhi is that in which an attributive noun is the first member. It is most frequently an adjective, as ugrā-bāhu 'powerful-armed', *urvy-ūti*³ 'giving wide aid', jīva-putra 'having living sons', śukrā-varṇa 'bright-coloured'⁴. The first member is also often a past passive participle in -ta or -na, the action expressed by which is usually performed by the person denoted by the substantive with which the Bahuvrīhi agrees; e.g. prīyata-dakṣiṇa 'he by whom the sacrificial fee has been presented', rātā-havis 'who offers an oblation'⁵. The action is, however, not infrequently supposed to be performed by others, always in the case of hata 'slain'; e.g. hatā-vṛṣṇ-t 'whose husband has been slain', hatā-mātṛ 'whose mother has been slain'. Both senses appear in rātā-havya 'he by whom' and 'to whom offerings have been made'. An outside agent is sometimes expressed by an additional member at the beginning of the compound, as jīvā-pīta-sarga 'whose streams have been drunk by the living'⁶. A present participle occasionally occurs as first member; e.g. ā-yād-vasu (AV.) and saṃ-yād-vasu (AV.) 'to whom wealth comes', bhrājad-ṛṣṭi 'having glittering spears', rūṣad-vatsa 'having a shining calf', śucā-d-ratha 'having a brilliant car'⁷; also a perfect-participle in dadyā-and-pavi 'whose felly is visible', yuyujānd-sapti 'whose steeds are yoked'.

a. The first member is further often a substantive used predicatively; e.g. śva-varṇa 'horse-winged' = 'whose wings are horses' (car); indra-satru 'whose foe is Indra'; *tad-īd-ārtha*⁸ 'having just that as an aim', drōṇāhava 'whose pail (āhāvā) is a trough', śiśnā-deva 'whose god is a phallus', śirodaka (AV.) 'whose water is spirit' (śīrā). The final member is here sometimes a comparative or superlative (including pāra) used substantively: *avaras-parā*⁹ (VS.) 'in which the lower is higher' = 'topsy-turvy'¹⁰, asthi-bhūyānis (AV.) 'having bone as its chief part' = 'chiefly bone', indra-jyēṣṭha 'having Indra as chief', 'of whom Indra is chief', yamā-treṣṭha (AV.) 'of whom Yama is best', sōma-treṣṭha (AV.) 'of which Soma is best'.

⁵ The sense is thus identical with verbal determinatives or verbally governing compounds such as vājam-bharā and bharād-vāja 'bearing booty'. In vīti-hotra 'having an invitation sacrifice' = 'inviting to sacrifice', a stem in -ti is used almost like a past participle in -ta; cp. vīd-havya as a name.

⁶ Cp. WHITNEY 1299 a.

⁸ Here a pronoun appears instead of a substantive in the first member.

⁹ Here the first member retains the -s of the nom. surviving from the use of the two words in syntactical juxtaposition; the first member also is used substantively in this compound.

¹⁰ On eka-parā (said of dice) see now LÜDERS, Das Würfelspiel im alten Indien (Abh. d. K. Ges. der Wiss. zu Göttingen 9, 2) p. 64.

A comparison is sometimes implied between the first substantive and the second: varsāṣya (AV.) 'whose rain is like butter', vrkṣā-keśa- 'tree-haired' = 'whose trees are like hair' = 'wooded' (mountain).

The first member further sometimes expresses the material of which the second consists; e. g. rajatā-nābhi- (VS.) 'whose naval is (made of) silver'; hīranya-nemi- 'whose felines are (made of) gold'; or something closely connected with and characteristic of it, as niyūd-ratha- 'whose car is (drawn by) a team'.

287. Dependent Bahuvrīhis.—The first member is dependent on the last in the sense of a case-relation, the case-ending being sometimes retained.

a. It has often a genitive sense¹, as pāti-kāma- (AV.) 'having desire for a husband'; with genitive ending, rāyās-kāma- 'having a desire of wealth'. Here the first member often implies a comparison (when it never has the case-ending): agni-tejas- (AV.) 'having the brightness of fire', 'fire-bright', ṣkṣa-grīva- (AV.) 'having the neck of a bear' (demons), gō-vapus- 'having the form of a cow', jñāti-mukha- (AV.) 'having the face of (= like) relatives', māno-javas- 'having the swiftness of thought' = 'swift as thought', mayūra-roman- 'having the plumes of peacocks' (Indra's steeds).

b. In a few instances it has the sense of, and then always the ending of, the instrumental: ā-giraukas- 'not to be kept at rest (ikas-) by a song (girā)', krātū-magha- 'constituting a reward (gained) by intelligence', bhāsi-ktu- 'recognisable by light'².

c. The locative sense is more frequent, being often accompanied by the case-ending: āsann-iṣu- 'having arrows in his mouth', divi-yoni- 'having origin in heaven'; also several formed with dūre- 'in the distance', as dūr-anta- 'ending in the distance', dūr-gavyūti- (AV.) 'whose sphere is far away'³.

There are further examples in which the last member has the locative sense when it is a part of the body and what is expressed by the first member appears in or on it: asru-mukhī- (AV.) 'having tears on her face', 'tear-faced', kīlālodhn- (AV.) 'having sweet drink in her udder', ghṛtā-prṣṭha- 'butter-backed', pātra-hasta- (AV.) 'having a hand in which is a vessel', maṇi-grīvā- 'having pearls on the neck', mādhu-jihva- 'having a tongue on which is honey', vāja-bāhu- 'having an arm on which is a bolt'.

288. Coordinate Bahuvrīhis.—No example is found in the RV. and hardly any in the other Samhitās of the first and last members of Bahuvrīhis being coordinated in sense. The VS. has stōma-prṣṭha- 'containing Stomas and Prṣṭhas'; also āhar-dīvā- (xxxviii. 12) 'daily', which is a kind of Dvandva Bahuvrīhi, being formed from the adverb āhar-dīvi 'day by day'. The form somendrā- 'belonging to Soma and Indra', occurs only in B. passages of later Samhitās (TS. MS. K.).

289. Indeclinables as first member.—In a number of Bahuvrīhis the first member is not a noun, but an indeclinable word, either a preposition or an adverb.

a. Prepositions are common as first member of Bahuvrīhis, expressing the local position of the final member in relation to the substantive with which the Bahuvrīhi agrees. Some sixteen prepositions are thus used, the most frequent being vi which occurs as often in the RV. as all the rest put together. They are diti 'beyond', ādhi 'on', antār 'within', āpa 'away', abhi

¹ An accusative in sense and form appears in tvām-kāma- 'having a desire for thee'.

² The compound vidmanāpas- 'working with skill' (vidmānā) is probably a determinative formed with the adj. apās- 'working', not a Bahuvrīhi with āpas- 'work'; cp. 278 a and 91 B.

³ On a few doubtful instances of such locative compounds see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 278 (bottom).

'around' and 'toward', āva 'down', 'away', ā 'near', ūd 'upward', ūpa 'near', nī 'down', nīś 'away', pāri 'around', prā 'in front', 'very', prāti 'against', vī 'apart', sām 'together'. Of these ūpa is used thus in the RV. only, while antār, āva, nī appear in the later Samhitās only. The following are examples of compounds thus formed in the alphabetical order of the prepositions: dīty-ūrmī- 'overflowing', dīti-cchandās- (VS.) 'having redundant metres' (verse); ādhi-nirṇij- 'having a garment on', ādhy-akṣa- 'having an eye on', 'overseer'; antar-dīvā- (AV.) 'having fire within'; āpodaka- 'waterless', apa-rtī- (AV.) 'unseasonable'; abhi-vīra- and abhi-satvan- 'having heroes around', abhi-rūpa- (AV.) 'beautiful', abhi-ṣeṇā- 'directing arrows'; ava-keśā- (AV.) 'having hair hanging down', āva-toka- (AV. VS.) 'miscarrying'; ā-deva- 'having the gods near', 'devoted to the gods', ā-manas- (AV. TS.) 'kindly disposed'; ūt-sakthi- (VS.) 'having the thighs raised', ūd-ojas- 'highly powerful'; ūpa-manyu- 'having zeal at hand', 'zealous', ūpā-vasu- 'bringing riches near'; nī-manyu- (AV.) 'whose anger has subsided', nī-vakṣas- (TS. v. 6. 23¹) 'having a sunken breast', nī-kūlī- (VS.) 'going down hill', nī-kilbiśā- 'deliverance from sin' ('that in which sin has subsided'); nir-jarāyu- (AV.) 'having cast its skin', nir-māya- 'powerless', nir-hasta- (AV.) 'handless'; pari-marā- (TS. v. 6. 21¹) 'having death around' = 'round whom people have died', pari-manyu- 'very angry'; prā-śṛṅgā- (VS. TS.) 'having prominent horns', prā-tvakṣas- 'very energetic'; prā-manas- (AV.) 'very thoughtful'; prāti-rūpa- 'having a corresponding form', 'like', prati-vartmān- (AV.) 'having an opposite course', prāti-veśa- 'neighbour' ('living opposite'); vī = 'apart': vī-karṇā- (AV.) 'having ears far apart', vī-sākha- (AV.) 'branched', vy-āṁsa- 'having the shoulders apart', 'broad-shouldered'; = 'extensive': vī-manas- 'wide-minded', 'sagacious', vī-hāyas- 'of extensive power'; = 'divided': vy-adhvā- (AV.) 'having a divided course' = 'being midway between zenith and earth'; = 'various': vy-āilaba- (AV.) 'making all kinds of noises'; = 'divergent': vī-pathī- 'following wrong paths', vī-vrata- 'refractory'; = 'distorted': vī-grīva- 'having a twisted neck', vy-āṅga- (AV.) 'having distorted limbs'; = 'different': vī-rūpa- 'having a different form', vī-vācas- (AV.) 'speaking differently'; = 'devoid of', 'less': vī-māya- 'devoid of magic', vy-ēnas- 'guiltless'; sāpi-hanu- (AV.) 'striking the jaws together'.

b. Adverbs with a local meaning, which are akin to prepositions, also frequently appear as first member of Bahuvrīhis, being generally speaking equivalent in sense to predicative adjectives. Examples of such Bahuvrīhis in the alphabetical order of the adverbs are the following: adhās 'below': adhō-varcas- (AV.) 'powerful below'; ānti 'near': ānti-mitra- (VS.) 'having friends at hand', ānti-sumna- (AV.) 'having benevolence at hand', ānty-ūti- 'having aid at hand'; āvās 'down': āvā-deva- 'attracting the gods down'; ārē 'afar': ārē-āgha- 'having evil far-removed', ārē-śatru- (AV.) 'whose foes are far away'; itās 'hence': itā-ūti- 'helping from hence'; ihā 'here': ihā-mātr- 'whose mothers are, the one here, the other there'; ihā-kratu- (AV.) 'whose will is hitherward', ihā-citta- (AV.) 'whose thought is hitherward'; īdhak 'apart': īdhan-mantra- (AV¹) 'having a special sacred text'; kuhayā 'where': kuhayā-kṛtī- (only voc.) 'where active?'; dakṣiṇa-tās 'on the right': dakṣiṇatās-kapardā- 'having a coil of hair on the right'; nīcā 'downward': nīcā-vayas- 'whose strength is low'; pūrd 'in front': pūro-rathā- 'whose car is in front', pūro-vasu- (TS. III. 2. 5¹) 'preceded by wealth' (only voc.); prācā 'forward': prācā-īhva- 'moving the tongue forward', prācā-manyu- (only voc.) 'striving forward'.

a. Bahuvrīhis are also formed with a few adverbs of another kind as first member: itthā-dhī- 'having such thought', 'devout', nānā-sūrya- 'illuminated by various suns', pinar-magha- (AV. TS.) 'repeatedly offering oblations', purudhā-pratika- 'having various aspects', sadyā-ūti- 'helping at once'¹. There are also several formed with sahā-, sumād-, *smād-*² 'together with', as sahā-gopa- 'having the cowherds with them', sahā-puruṣa- (AV.) 'accompanied by the men', sumā-jāni- 'accompanied by his wife', sumād-gu- (AV.) 'accompanied by the cows', smād-abhiṣu- 'provided with reins', smād-iṣṭa- 'having an errand', smād-ūdhan- 'provided with an udder'.

c. Certain particles frequently appear as the first member of Bahuvrīhis. These are the privative a- or an-, *ku-*³ expressing depreciation, duṣ- 'ill', su- 'well'; e. g. a-pād- 'footless', a-sapatnā- 'having no rivals', an-udakā- 'having no water', 'waterless'; kū-yava- 'causing a bad harvest', duṣ-pād- 'ill-footed'; su-parṇā- 'having beautiful wings'.

290. Bahuvrīhis are very frequently used as m. (sometimes f.) substantives in the sense of Proper Names, in many instances without the adjectival sense occurring at all; thus brhād-uktha- m., as the N. of a seer and adj. 'having great praise'; brhād-dīva- m., N. of a seer (brhād-dīvā- f., N. of a goddess) and adj. 'dwelling in high heaven'; but priyā-medha- m. ('to whom sacrifice is dear') and vāmā-deva- m. ('to whom the gods are dear') only as the names of seers.

a. Bahuvrīhis are further not infrequently used as neuter substantives with an abstract and a collective sense, especially when the first member is the privative particle a- or an- and sarva- 'all'; e. g. a-śatrh- 'free from foes', n. (AV.) 'freedom from foes', a-sapatnā- 'having no rivals', n. (AV.) 'peace', a-sambādā- (AV.) n. 'non-confinement', a-skambhā- (AV.) n. 'lack of support', an-apatyā- 'childless' (AV.), n. 'childlessness', an-amitrā- (AV.) 'foeless', n. (AV. VS.) 'freedom from foes'; sarva-rathā- 'the whole line of chariots', sarva-vedasā- (AV. TS.) 'whole property'; ni-kilbiṣā- n. 'deliverance from sin', pitṛ-bandhū- (AV.) 'paternal kinship', mātr-bandhū- (AV.) 'maternal kinship', *rikta-kumbhā-*⁴ (AV¹) 'empty-handedness', su-mṛgā- (AV.) 'good hunting'⁵.

b. A special category of Bahuvrīhis used as substantives are those in which the first member is a numeral from dvī- 'two' upwards⁶. They express a collection or aggregate and are singular neuter⁷ except those formed with -ahā- 'day', which are singular masc.; e. g. tri-yugā- n. 'period of three lives', tri-yojanā- (AV.) n. 'distance of three Yojanas', try-udāyā- n. 'threefold approach to the altar', daśāṅgulā- n. 'length of ten fingers', daśāntarusyā- n. 'distance of ten stations', dvi-rājā- (AV.) n. 'battle of two kings', pañca-yojanā- (AV.) n. 'distance of five Yojanas', ṣaḍ-ahā- (AV. TS.) m. 'series of six days'. These numeral collectives always end in accented *-ā*⁸.

291. Origin of Bahuvrīhis.—Considering that Bahuvrīhis, which are adjectives, are far commoner than the corresponding determinatives, which are substantives, it cannot be assumed that the former always passed through

² Compounds formed with these three words might also be explained as belonging to the 'governing' class.

³ Also the cognate kim- in kim-silā- (VS. TS.) (land) 'having small stones'.

⁴ See WHITNEY's note on AV. XIX. 8⁴.

⁵ Accentuation of the final syllable (as in the cognate singular Dvandvas) prevails in these n. Bahuvrīhis; exceptions are ā-bhaya-, n. 'safety' (adj. 'free from danger'), and vi-hṛdaya- (AV.) 'lack of courage'.

⁶ These are called Dvigu by the Hindu grammarians, and are classed by them as a subdivision of Tatpuruṣas.

⁸ With the suffix -ya is formed sahasrāṅgha-yā- n. (AV.) 'a thousand days' journey'.

the process of transmutation from the latter. They must in the vast majority of instances have been formed directly and independently in conformity with the type of these secondary adjectives which had come down from the IIr. period¹. WACKERNAGEL (2¹, 112) adopts the view that the origin of Bahuvrīhis is not to be explained by transmutation from determinatives, but from the predicative or appositional use of groups of words characterizing a substantive². This use he exemplifies by the following quotations from the RV.: urīḥ kākṣo nā gāṅgyāḥ (vi. 45³¹) 'like the broad shoulder dwelling on the Ganges', that is, for urī-kākṣaḥ* 'Broad-shoulder' as a Proper Name; sā jāyase sāho mahāt (v. 11⁶) 'thou art born a great power' (= mahā-sahūḥ* 'one having great power'); tvācam kṛṣṇām arandhayat (i. 130⁸) 'he delivered over the black skin' (that is, 'those having a black skin', 'the black-skins'); drighāya cid vācāsa ānavāya (vi. 62⁹) 'to Ānava, deceitful speech', that is, 'who utters deceitful speech'³; and narīm . . sāmsaḥ (ii. 34⁶) 'praise of men' as representing an earlier stage than nārā-sāmsa 'receiving the praises of men' as a Bahuvrīhi. Appositional Bahuvrīhis, he thinks, similarly arose from explanatory clauses, as indra-jyēsthā devāḥ 'the gods having Indra as their mightiest' from devāḥ indro jyēsthaḥ 'the gods — Indra their mightiest'. The first step here would have been assimilation in case and number to the main substantive, involving change to a compound (with stem-form and single accent), followed by assimilation in gender. The change to the Bahuvrīhi had already become the rule in the pre-Vedic period.

5. Governing Compounds.

292. In a considerable number of compounds the first member governs the last in sense, being either a preposition (prepositional adverb) or a verbal noun. These compounds being adjectives are allied to Bahuvrīhis.

1. In the prepositional group the first member is a preposition or adverb capable of governing a case. There are about twenty examples in the RV. In some instances they seem to have arisen from the corresponding syntactical combination, as ādhi-ratha- n. 'wagon-load' from ādhi rāthe (x. 64¹²) 'on the wagon'. In other instances they seem to have originated from the corresponding adverb; thus the adjective in pra-dīv-ā ketinā (v. 60⁸) 'with long-existing light' has been changed from the adverb pra-dīvas 'from of old' to agree with a substantive in the instrumental. The ending of the second member has been preserved for the most part only when it was -a; otherwise the suffix -a or -ya is generally added. Like Bahuvrīhis, compounds of this type may become neuter substantives; thus upānas-ā- 'being on the wagon', n. (AV.) 'space in a wagon'.

a. All prepositions which govern cases (except āva) as well as prā (though it never governs a case), besides several adverbs capable of being used with a case, are employed as first member in these compounds⁴. The following are examples of prepositional governing compounds: ati-mātrā- (AV.) 'beyond measure', ati-rātrā- 'lasting overnight', āty-aṇhas- (VS.) 'beyond the reach of distress', āty-avi- 'running over the wool'; ādhi-gart-ya- 'being on the car-seat', adhi-gav-ā- (AV.) 'derived from cows'; adhas-pad-ā- 'being

³ Cp. drogha-vāc- 'uttering deceitful speech'.

⁴ This type of governing compound is similar in form to the prepositional Bahuvrīhis; the meaning, however, is quite different, as in the latter the preposition does not govern the following member, but refers adverbially to the substantive with which the Bahuvrīhi agrees.

under the feet', adho-akṣā- 'remaining below the axle'; ānu-path-a- and ānu-vartman- (AV. VS.) 'along the road', anu-kāṃā- 'according to wish', ānu-vrata- 'obedient'; āntas-path-a- 'being within the path'; api-prāna- 'being on (= accompanying) the breath', api-sarvā- 'bordering on night' (śārvār-); abhi-dyu- 'directed to heaven', abhi-rāṣṭra- 'overcoming dominion'; ā-jaras-ā- 'reaching to old age', ā-pathi- and ā-pathī- 'being on the way', ā-bhaga- 'taking part in', 'participator'; ūpa-kakṣā- 'reaching to the shoulder', upānas-ā- 'being on a wagon', ūpa-trṇ-ya- (AV.) 'lurking in the grass', ūpa-mās-ya- (AV.) 'occurring every month'; upāri-budhna- 'raised above the ground', upāri-martya- 'being above men'; ūrdhvā-nabhas- (VS.) 'being above the clouds', ūrdhvā-barhis- (VS.) 'being above the litter'; tīr-ahn-ya- ('being beyond a day' =) 'belonging to the day before yesterday'; *pari-panth-in-*² ('lying around the path') 'adversary', pari-hastā- (AV.) ('put round the hand') 'hand-amulet'; pari-mātra- ('being beyond measure') 'excessive', pari-kṣ-a- (AV.) ('lying beyond the eye') 'invisible'; puro-gav-ā- ('going before the cows') 'leader'; prati-kāmyā- (AV.) 'being in accordance with desire'; saṃ-gayā- 'blessing the household'.

2. In verbal governing compounds the first member is either an agent noun or an action noun governing the last member as an object. The abnormal position of the verbal form before the object in this class is probably to be explained by the first member having originally been an imperative, which usually has this position. These compounds are an old formation, two types going back to the Indo-European period, and one to the Indo-Iranian. They are adjectives, but the final member never adds a compositional suffix except in śikṣā-nar-ā- 'helping men'. Three types are to be distinguished.

a. The first member consists of a present stem or the root, which probably represents an imperative³; of this type there are few examples: trasā-dasyu- m., N. of a man ('terrify the foe'), *radā-vasu-*⁴ (only voc.) 'dispensing wealth', *śikṣā-narā-*⁴ 'helping men', *sthā-raśman-*⁵ 'loosening bridles'⁶.

b. Examples of the second type are more numerous. Here the first member ends in -āt, but the participle, being formed from present stems in -a, -ā or -aya, which appears in these compounds, in a few instances does not occur in independent use. This type, which is almost entirely restricted to the RV., is also Iranian. It seems to have taken the place of the older one (a), which owing to its form was apt to be confused with Bahuvrīhis though differing from them in meaning. The form which they assumed was probably aided by the analogy of Bahuvrīhis with a present participle as their first member, like śucād-ratha- 'having a brilliant car', which are formed from intransitive verbs, while those in the governing compounds are of course transitive. Examples of this type are the following: *ṛdhād-ray-*⁷ ('increasing wealth') m., N. of a man, and *ṛdhād-vāra-*⁷ 'increasing goods', *ksayād-vīra-*⁸ 'ruling men', *codayān-mati-*⁹ 'stimulating devotion', *jamād-*¹⁰

¹ Occurs only in the dative as an adverb meaning 'up to old age'.

² Formed with the suffix -in which is not properly attached to compounds; cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, 53 (p. 121 bottom).

³ See BRUGMANN, IF. 18, 76; DELBRÜCK, Vergleichende Syntax 3, 174; JACOB, Compositum und Nebensatz (1897), 46—82; WACKERNAGEL 21, p. 315.

⁴ Rhythmically lengthened for radā, śikṣā.

⁵ The Pāda has sthāh-raśman-. The meaning is doubtful; it may be a simple Bahuvrīhi, 'having firm bridles' (GRASSMANN).

⁶ kṛpā-niḍa- would be another example if it means 'arranging his abode', but the meaning of the first member is doubtful.

⁷ ṛdhāt- is an aorist participle of ṛdh- 'increase'.

⁸ From ksáyati 'rules'.

⁹ From codáyati 'urges'.

¹⁰ jamāt- a palatalized form from gam- 'go'.

agni- ('going to Agni'), N. of man, *tarād-dveṣas-*¹ 'overcoming foes', *drāvayāt-sakha-*² 'speeding the comrade', dhārayāt-kavi- 'supporting the wise' and *dhārayāt-kṣiti-*³ 'supporting men', bhārad-vāja- ('carrying off the prize') m., N. of a man, and *ā-bhārad-vasu-*⁴ 'bringing wealth', *manhayād-rayi-*⁵ 'lavishing wealth', *mandād-vīra-*⁶ 'gladdening men', vidād-aśva-*⁷ 'possessing steeds', *vidād-vasu-*⁸ 'winning wealth', śrāvayāt-pati- 'making his lord famous', and *śrāvayāt-sakhi-*⁹ 'making his friend famous', sanād-rayi- 'bestowing possessions' and *sanād-vāja-*¹⁰ 'bestowing booty', *sādād-yoni-*¹¹ 'sitting in one's place', *spṛhayād-varṇa-*¹² 'striving after lustre'. Two such governing compounds are once combined in such a way that the final member common to both is dropped in the first: patayān mandayāt-sakham (I. 47) 'causing his friend to fly (patīya-) and to be glad' (mandīya-)¹³.

c. In the third type, which goes back to the Indo-European period¹⁴, the first member is a noun of action variously accented. There are some half-dozen examples in the RV.: dāti-vāra- 'giving treasures', phṣti-gu- ('rearing kine') m., N. of a man, *ṛtī-āp-*¹⁵ 'causing waters to flow', vīti-rādhas- 'enjoying the oblation', vīti-hotra- 'enjoying the sacrifice', vṛṣṭi-dyāv- 'causing the sky to rain'¹⁶.

6. Syntactical Compounds.

293. There are some irregular formations in which words not in coordinate, attributive, dependent or governing relation are compounded owing to constant juxtaposition in the sentence.

1. The relative word yāt (abl.) 'in so far as' is compounded with a superlative in RV. III. 53¹⁷: *utlbbhiḥ ... yāc-chreṣṭhābhiḥ*¹⁷ 'with the best possible aids', lit. 'with aids in so far as (they are) the best'. The adverb yād-rādhyām (II. 38¹⁸) 'as quickly as possible', lit. 'in so far as possible', is analogous.

2. The initial words of a text begin to be compounded in the later Samhitās as a designation of that text; thus ye-yajāmahā- (VS.) in the nom. pl. m. means the text beginning with the words *yé yajāmahe*¹⁸.

3. Phrases, almost always consisting of two words, used in connexion with certain actions are compounded; thus *aham-uttarā-*¹⁹ (AV.) 'dispute for precedence', from the phrase used by each disputant ahām uttarāḥ 'I (am) higher'; mama-satyāsu 'in disputes as to ownership', in which every one says māma satyām ('it is) certainly mine'; mām-paśyā- (AV.) as the name of a plant used by a woman to secure the love of a man with the words mām paśya 'look at me'²⁰. Similarly in connexion with persons, as kuvit-sa- 'some

² From drāvāya- causative of dru- 'run'.

³ From dhārāya- causative of dhṛ- 'support'.

⁴ From bhāra-ti 'bears'.

⁵ From manhāya- causative of manh- 'be great'.

⁶ From mānda-ti 'gladdens'. The SV. has the wrong variant vandād-vīra-.

⁷ To be inferred from the patronymic vādādaśvi-.

⁸ From vidād-ti 'finds'.

⁹ From śrāvāya- causative of śru- 'hear'.

¹⁰ From sāna-ti or sanād-ti 'wins'.

¹¹ Lengthened for sādād- from sāda-ti 'sits'.

¹² From spṛhaya-ti 'desires'.

¹⁴ See WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 320 (bottom).

¹⁵ This is the only example recognized by BR. as belonging to this type; GRASSMANN explains them all as Bahuvrhis.

¹⁶ BRUGMANN, IF. 18, 70 f., explains these compounds as having originated in imperatives, while JACOBI, Compositum und Nebensatz p. 64 f., thinks the first member represents an original 3. pers. sing.

¹⁷ In AV. VII. 31¹ yāvāc-chreṣṭhābhiḥ is a corrupt variant. Compounds formed with yāvāt- do not otherwise occur till the Sūtras.

¹⁸ In the TS. also occurs idām-madhu- m. as a designation of the text idām evā sārāghām mādhu-. This kind of compound becomes common in the ancillary literature when particular hymns are referred to.

¹⁹ Used in the locative only.

²⁰ One or two doubtful examples are discussed by WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 327 (top).

one' from the phrase kvī́t sá 'is it he?'. This type is more commonly based on phrases used by people about themselves; thus *āham-sana*¹ (voc.) 'rapacious', that is, one who says āham saneyam (dhānāni) 'may I obtain (wealth)'; āham-pūrvā 'eager to be first', that is, one who says āham pūrvah (syām) 'I (should be) first'; kim-ivā (VS.) 'asking garrulously' that is, one who continually says 'what (are) you (doing)?'.

VI. DECLENSION.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 707—780. — WHITNEY, Grammar 261—526.

294. General character.—Declension means the inflexion of nominal stems by means of endings which express the various relations represented by what are called cases. The stems belonging to the sphere of declension are most conveniently divided, owing to difference of meaning, form, and use, into nouns, pronouns, and numerals. Pronouns have to be treated separately because they have certain peculiarities of inflexion, besides to some extent lacking the distinction of gender. Numerals again show other peculiarities of form as well as partial lack of gender. Nouns are divided into substantives as names of things and adjectives as names of attributes. But as no definite line of demarcation can be drawn between substantive and adjective in any of the classes of declension in the Vedic language, these two categories are nowhere treated separately in the present work.

I. Nouns.

LANMAN, Noun-inflection in the Veda, JAOS. vol. x (1880), p. 325—600.

295. Owing to considerable divergencies of inflexion, nominal stems are best grouped in the two main divisions of consonant and vowel declension. Stems ending in semivowels form a transition from the former to the latter. The stems contained in the two main classes have further to be sub-divided, owing to difference of derivation and, in part, consequent variety of inflexion, into radical and derivative stems.

a. Like other Aryan tongues, the Vedic language distinguishes in declension the three genders, masculine, feminine, and neuter. It also distinguishes three numbers, the singular, dual, and plural, the dual being in full and regular use².

b. There are eight cases: nominative, vocative, accusative, instrumental, dative, ablative, genitive, locative, all in regular and unrestricted use. The same ending, however, is to a limited extent employed to express the sense of two and sometimes of three cases. Thus the eight cases of the dual have among them only three endings; in the plural the single ending -bhyas does duty for both dative and ablative; while in the singular the same ending -as appears for both ablative and genitive in all but the a-declension.

c. The normal endings of cases are the following:

Singular: nom. m. f. -s, n. none; voc. of all genders, none; acc. m. f. -am, n. none; inst. -ā, dat. -e, abl. gen. -as, loc. -i.

Dual: nom. voc. acc. m. f. -ā, -au, n. -ī, inst. dat. abl. -bhyām, gen. loc. -os.

Plural: nom. voc. acc. m. f. -as, neut. -ī; inst. -bhis, dat. abl. -bhyas, gen. -ām, loc. -su.

² But while the employment of the dual is generally strict, the plural is often used instead of the dual of natural pairs in the 'hieratic' parts of the RV.; see BLOOMFIELD, Johns Hopkins University Circular for 1905, p. 18 f., OLIPHANT, ibid. p. 22—31.

d. A distinction is often made in the stem between strong (or full) and weak (or reduced) case-forms. It appears in its full development only in derivative consonant stems, affecting the suffixes *-āñc*¹; -an, -man, -van; -ant, -mant, -vant; -tar; -yāms; -vāms. The strong form of the stem appears in the masculine nom. voc.² acc. singular and dual, and in the nom. voc. plural; and in the neuter nom. voc. acc. plural only. The weak form of the stem appears in the remaining cases. But in the first four and in the last of the above suffixes the weak stem which appears before endings with initial consonant is further weakened before endings with initial vowel.

e. The way in which the normal endings are attached to the strong and the weak stem with accompanying shift of accent, may be illustrated by the inflexion of the stem ad-ānt 'eating' in the masc.:

Singular: N. ad-ān. V. ād-an. A. ad-āntam. I. ad-at-ā. D. ad-at-ē. Ab. G. ad-at-ās. L. ad-at-i.

Dual: N. A. ad-ānt-ā, -au. V. ād-ant-ā, -au. I. D. Ab. ad-ād-bhyām. G. L. ad-at-ās.

Plural: N. ad-ānt-as. V. ād-ant-as. A. ad-at-ās. I. ad-ād-bhis. D. Ab. ad-ād-bhyas. G. ad-at-ām. L. ad-at-su.

The neuter differs only in the N. A. V. of all numbers: Sing.: N. A. ad-āt; V. ād-at. Du.: N. A. ad-at-ī. Pl.: N. A. ad-ānt-i.

A. Consonant Stems.

296. Among these stems there are none ending in gutturals³ and only two ending in the cerebral ḷ. Those which end in the labials p, bh, m are fairly numerous. The majority end in dentals, the only class of consonants in which every sound contained in the group (t, th, d, dh, n) is represented. Of the semivowels, y is represented by one stem, v by three stems, and r by a large number of stems. There are many stems ending in the sibilants ś, s, and several in the breathing h as representative of both a new and an old palatal.

1. Palatal Stems.

297. 1. Radical stems in -c. — All uncompounded stems (being of course monosyllabic) are, with very few isolated exceptions, feminine substantives. The exceptions are: tvāc 'skin', otherwise f., occurs twice in the L. sing. tvact as a m.; ārc, in its only occurrence, I. sing. arc-ā, is a m. adj. in the sense of 'shining'; and kriñc, 'curlew' (VS.) is a m. substantive.

Compounds, as being adjectives, are often m.; but excepting those formed with āñc the only n. is ā-pīk (from pīc 'mix'), used adverbially. Compounds ending in *-āñc*⁴ regularly distinguish strong and weak forms. This distinction elsewhere appears to a limited extent only in compounds ending in the three roots vyac 'extend', vac 'speak', sac 'accompany': the first by nasalization in *uru-vyāñcam*⁵ 'far-extending', the other two by lengthening the radical vowel in several compounds.

¹ Though in origin a radical element, -āñc is practically a suffix; cp. 293.

² The voc. sing., however, generally assumes a somewhat shortened form owing to the accent invariably shifting to the initial syllable in this case.

³ The gutturals as finals of nominal stems having become the new palatals c, *j*² and *h*²

⁴ These compounds formed with the root āñc will, owing to the peculiar changes which the stem undergoes, be treated apart from other words ending in radical c.

⁵ Through the influence of compounds formed with -āñc, like praty-āñcam.

Inflexion.

The forms actually occurring, if made from vāc-f. 'speech', would be the following:

Sing.: N. V. vāk. A. vācam. I. vācā. D. vācē. Ab. G. vācās. L. vāci. — Dual: N. A. V. vācā and vācau. I. vāgbhyām (VS.). — Plur.: N. V. vācas. A. vācas and vācās. I. vāgbhīs. D. vāgbhyās (VS.). Ab. vāgbhyās (AV.). G. vācām.

298. Stems in -āñc. A considerable number of compounds is formed by adding as final member the root añc- 'bend', which almost assumes the character of a suffix¹ expressing the meaning of 'ward'; e. g. prāñc- (= prā-āñc-) 'for-ward'. Strong and weak forms are regularly distinguished, the nasal which appears in the former being always lost in the latter. If -āñc is preceded by a word ending in i or u, the syllables ya and va thus produced are further weakened to ī and ū before vowel endings, and if bearing the accent, shift it to those endings²; e. g. Sing. A. m. pratyāñcam, N. n. pratyāñk, G. pratyāñcīs.

In these compounds -āñc is added to words ending in i, ū, with which it coalesces: adharāñc- 'tending downward' (ādharma-)³, āpāñc- 'backward' (āpa), arvāñc- 'hitherward' (arvā-), āvāñc- 'downward' (āva), asmatrāñc- 'turned toward us', ghṛtāñc- 'filled with ghee' (ghṛtā-), devāñc- 'directed toward the gods' (devā-), pārāñc- 'turned away' (pārā-), prāñc- 'forward' (prā-), viśvāñc- 'universal' (viśva-)⁵, satrāñc- 'going together' (satrā-)⁶, 2. -i-: akudhryāñc- 'going nowhere' (aku-dhri-), asmadryāñc- 'turned towards us' (asmad-ri-)⁷, *ūdanāñc-*⁸ 'turned upward' (ūdā-), *kadryāñc-*⁷ 'turned towards what' (kādā-), tiryāñc- 'going across' (tiri-)⁹, dadhyāñc- 'sprinkling curds' (dādhi-), *devadryāñc-*⁷ 'turned towards the gods' (devā-), nyāñc- 'turned down' (nī-), pratyāñc- 'turned towards' (prāti-), *madryāñc-*⁷ 'turned towards me' (mad-ri-), viśvadryāñc- 'going everywhere' (viśva-a-dri-), śvītyāñc- 'whitish' (śvīt-i-), *sadhryāñc-*⁷ 'coming together' (sa-dhri- 'the same goal'), samyāñc- 'going together' (sam-i-), 3. -u-: anvāñc- 'going after' (anu-), ṛjvāñc- 'moving straight forward' (ṛju-), viśvāñc- 'going in all directions' (viśva-), svāñc- 'going well' (svā-). The two feminines *purīñc-*¹ 'abundant' and *urūñc-¹ 'far-reaching' presuppose similar stems (puru-āñc- and uru-āñc-*).

Inflexion.

299. These stems are inflected in the m. and n. only, as they form a f. in -ī from the weak or contracted stem, e. g. prāñc-, f. prāñc-ī-; pratyāñc-, f. pratyāñc-ī-. The only cases occurring in the pl. are the N. A. and in the du. the N. A. and L.

The forms actually found, if made from pratyāñc-, would be as follows: Sing. N. m. pratyāñ, n. pratyāñk. A. m. pratyāñcam. I. pratyāñcā. D. pratyāñcī. Ab. G. pratyāñcīs. L. pratyāñcī. — Du. N. A. m. pratyāñcā, pratyāñcau (AV.), n. pratyāñcī. L. m. pratyāñcīs. — Pl. N. m. pratyāñcas. A. m. pratyāñcīs and pratyāñcas (AV.).

a. The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. adharāñ (AV.), āpāñ, arvāñ, āvāñ (TS. II. 2. 5³), ūdan (AV.),

² The accent is similarly shifted to the suffix -ī with which the f. of these stems is formed (cp. 86 B II, p. 87). This rule of accentuation applies to the RV. only, not to the later Samhitās; cp. A. pl. below (p. 182).

³ With shifted accent.

⁴ In this and some other of these compounds only the weak unnasalized form of the stem occurs.

⁵ With shift of accent.

⁶ The f. narāñc-ī (AV.), N. of a plant, is doubtless based on a similar stem formed from nāra- 'man', with shift of accent.

⁷ The suffix -ri- in these compounds perhaps spread from sadhri-āñc- (the dh also to akudhryāñc-), while the d of deva-dryāñc- and viśvadryāñc- may be due to the pronominal forms mād- and asmād-.

⁸ The weak stem udāñc- being formed as if from ūd-i-āñc-*.

⁹ tiri- appearing instead of tirās- 'across' from which the weak stem tirāñc- (= tirās-ac-) is formed.

300. Radical stem in -ch. — Only one stem ending in ch, which occurs in a single form as a noun, has been found. This is made from the root prcch- 'ask', in the compound N. du. m. bandhu-prcch-ā 'asking after kinsmen'. The D. and A. of the same stem also appear as infinitives in the forms prcchī 'to ask', sam-prcche 'to greet'; vi-prccham and sam-prccham 'to ask'.

301. Stems in radical -j-. — These stems are inflected in all three genders alike. The neuter would of course differ in N. A. V. dual and plural, but these forms do not occur. When uncompounded these stems are f. substantives except yūj- and rāj-, which appear as m. also; bhrāj-, which occurs as a m. adj. as well as a f. substantive; āj-, which is found once (AV.)⁸, and vij- twice as a m. only. Neuter cases occur from bhāj-, yūj-, rāj- and vij- as final members of adj. compounds, but no distinctively neuter forms (N. A. V. du. pl.) are met with even here.

The only stem showing traces of the distinction of strong and weak cases is yūj-, which has the nasalized form yūñj- beside the unaltered stem in the N. A. sing. and du.

In the N. sing. the j, when derived from a guttural, appears as k, but when it represents an old palatal, it becomes the cerebral ṭ except in *ṛtv-ij*⁹ 'priest'; but before the -su of the L. pl. both alike¹⁰ become k.

² pratyāñk- before s- in TS. I. 8. 21¹.

³ The forms tvadrīk, madrik and madryadrīk, yuvadrīk, 'towards thee, — me, — you', are doubtless shortened forms of -dryāk, which pronunciation is favoured by the metre in some instances: LANMAN 456 (bottom).

⁴ prācā is probably used adverbially in III. 31⁵ also. As an adj. the form, being a compound, would be accented prācā.

⁵ N. of a demon, formed with -āñc- from viśva-, an extension of viśu-, as in viśva-dryāñc-.

⁶ The weak form arvācas seems to be used for arvāñcas in VII. 48¹.

⁷ A transition form, N. m. svītīcāyas (x. 46⁷) = svītīyāñcas, is made from an i-stem svītīci- based on the regular f. svītīcē.

⁸ In AV. XIX. 50⁵, where the reading ījam is somewhat doubtful; see WHITNEY's note.

⁹ Which is derived from yaj- 'sacrifice': ṛtv-ij- 'sacrificing in due season'.

² Probably 'one who conjures', cp. in the later language, abhi-sajati 'utters an imprecation'; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 8, bottom; UHLENBECK, Etymologisches Wörterbuch, rejects this etymology in favour of a derivation connected with Av. -bis 'healing'.

³ From nir-ñij 'wash out'.

⁴ There is also the transition form bhrājā-s (IX. 170³).

⁵ See LANMAN 463.

⁶ See above 66 c β (p. 61).

⁷ Strong form (301).

⁸ According to Sayana, used adverbially in the sense of 'emulously'.

⁹ bhrāj is probably a reduced form of bhrāj-. cp. the later meaning of ñjās 'lustre'.

¹⁰ There is also the transfer form bhrājāya (VS. viii. 40) 'for the bright one'.

¹¹ There is also the transfer form ñjāye (v. 46⁷) from ñj-i.

¹² Probably a reduced form of bhrāj-. cp. WHITNEY on AV. vii. 90².

303. Stems in derivative -j-. — There are seven m. and f. adjectives or substantives formed with the suffixes -aj and -ij: ā-svapnaj- 'sleepless', trṣṇdj- 'thirsty', dhṛśāj- 'bold', sanāj- 'old'; uś-tj 'desiring', bhur-tj- f. 'arm', van-tj- m. 'trader'. There is also the n. *āsrj-*⁷ 'blood', which is of obscure etymology, but the -j of which is probably a reduced suffix. The forms occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. uśik, vanṭk. — n. āsrk. — A. m. uśijam, trṣṇājam, vanijam (AV.). — I. uśijā (VS. xv. 6) 'ghee'. — D. m. trṣṇāje, vanije. — G. m. uśijas.

Du. N. f. sanājā. — G. f. bhurijos. — L. f. bhurijos.

2. Cerebral Stems.

304. There is only one doubtful derivative stem in -t, raghdāt-, which occurs in the single form raghdātas (AV. viii. 7²⁴), possibly a mistake for *raghdavas*⁸ 'swift'.

² Occurring once (x. 68¹), bhrāj- being a reduced form of bhrāj-; cp. D. m. mṛtā-bhrāje, G. f. bhrājas (AV.); cp. p. 183, notes 9 and 12.

³ The Pada text reads stanā-bhūjas.

⁴ See WHITNEY's note on AV. vii. 4¹.

⁵ A word of doubtful derivation and meaning, occurring only once (viii. 4²⁰).

⁶ The corresponding form is pra-yāśu in TS. iv. 1. 8¹ and VS. xxvii. 14.

⁷ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 559, 560.

⁸ See LANMAN 466, and WHITNEY, note on AV. viii. 7²⁴.

There are besides only two radical stems ending in -d̥, *īd̥*¹ 'praise', and *īd̥*² 'refreshment'. Of the former occurs only the sing. I. īdā; of the latter only the sing. I. īdā and the G. *īdās*³.

3. Dental Stems.

305. Stems ending in all the dental mutes as well as the nasal are of frequent occurrence except those in -th. There are radical stems ending in each of the dentals, but no derivative stems in -th or -dh. The distinction of strong and weak appears with slight exceptions only in the derivative stems in -ant and -an.

306. Stems in radical -t. — The only four monosyllabic stems occurring are feminine substantives: dyūt 'splendour', nūt 'dancing', pūt 'battle', *vūt*⁴ 'hostile array'. There are also two reduplicated stems, which are primarily adjectives: cikūt 'knowing' (Vcit) and didyūt 'shining'. The rest are compounds, used mostly in the masculine or feminine. Neuter cases occur from only four of them: aksi-pūt 'falling into the eye', ān-apā-vūt 'not turning away', tri-vūt 'three-fold', *saṃ-yāt*⁵ 'continuous'.

307. Stems in determinative -t. — Derivative nominal stems are formed from nearly thirty roots ending in the short vowels i, u and r by means of the suffix *-t*³. The roots adding it are i- 'go', kṛ- 'make', kṣi- 'dwell', gu- 'sound', ci- 'pile', 'note', cyu- 'move', ji- 'conquer', dhṛ- 'hold', dhvṛ- 'injure', pi- 'swell', pru- 'flow', bhṛ- 'bear', mi- 'fix', yu- 'join' and 'separate', ri- 'flow', vr- 'cover', sri- 'resort', śru- 'hear', su- 'press', sr- 'flow', stu- 'praise', spṛ- 'win', sru- 'flow', hu- 'sacrifice', hr- 'take', hṛv- or hru- 'be crooked'. Two other roots, gam- 'go', and han- 'strike', are modified so as to end in short a (representing the sonant nasal) before adding the suffix: -gāt and hāt.

These stems are mostly m. and f. Neuter cases are very rare, occurring from five or six stems only. The inflexion is exactly the same as that of the stems in radical -t.

Participial Stems in -at and -ant.

311. Participles in -at are almost limited to the present active form of stems made with reduplication, viz. those of the third class (457) and of intensives (545). The old reduplicated participle (from gā- 'go') jīgat- 'going', 'living', is used chiefly as a n. substantive meaning 'the animate world'. The analogy of these participles is followed by a few others formed from un-reduplicated stems: dās-at- 'worshipping', śās-at- 'instructing'⁷; also dāḥsat- and dāḥṣat-, the aor. participle of dah- 'burn'. A few others, again, originally participles, having come to be used as substantives, have shifted the accent to the suffix: *vāh-āt*⁸ 'stream', *veh-āt*⁹ (AV. VS.) f. 'barren cow', *vāgh-āt*¹⁰ m. 'sacrificer', *srāv-āt*¹¹ f. 'stream'; like the regular participle śāśc-at- (from sac- 'accompany'), which as a substantive becomes śāśc-āt m. 'pursuer'. In

² Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 559.

³ The suffix may here have been a primary -t added to the root pā-: cp. LEU-MANN'S etymology (1888), Festgruss an Böhtlingk 77 f.; BRUGMANN 2, p. 366.

⁴ These forms might be locatives of devātāti-, satyātāti-, sarvātāti-.

⁵ These forms might be A. pl.

⁶ Perhaps marut in evayā-marut.

⁷ LANMAN 505, would place dās-at- 'injuring' here, but there is no evidence, as only a weak case, dāsatas G. sing., occurs.

⁸ But vāh-ant- 'carrying'.

⁹ The derivation of this word is obscure.

¹⁰ In one or two passages vāghāt- still retains its participial sense.

¹¹ But srāv-ant- 'flowing'.

this class masculines are frequent, but only about half a dozen neuter forms occur, and the feminines are limited to three substantives¹ and the adjective a-sāscāt 'unequalled'². The inflexion is like that of the radical -t stems, the accent never shifting to the endings.

313. Participles in -ant are formed from all present stems (except those of the reduplicating class and of intensives and the few others that follow their analogy), from all future stems, and from aorist stems. Their analogy is followed by rhānt- 'weak', pīśant- 'spotted', bṛhānt- 'great', rūśant- 'brilliant', which have lost their participial function; also by *dānt-*⁵ m. 'tooth'. The adjective mahānt- 'great', having lost its original participial meaning deviates from the participial declension in lengthening the vowel of the suffix in the strong forms. In the inflexion of this group the distinction between

² But ā-sāscānt-ī from sāscāt.

³ See below, Verb, 461.

⁵ This word is probably an old pres. participle of ad- 'eat', with prehistoric loss of the initial a like s-ānt- 'being' from as-be' (25, 1). The RV. has one transfer form, N. dāntas- (starting from the A. dānt-am); the AV. has others, dāntās and dāntais.

strong and weak forms is regularly made, -ant appearing in the former only and being reduced to -at in the latter, which shift the accent, if resting on the suffix, to the ending. These participles are declined in the m. and n. only, as they form a special f. stem in *-ṛ*¹. The m. and n. forms are the same, except of course in the N. A.; the former are very frequent, the latter rare.

Inflexion.

314. The forms occurring, if made from bhāvat 'being', would be as follows:

Sing. N. m. *bhāvan*². — n. bhāvat. — A. m. bhāvāntam. — I. m. n. bhāvātā. — D. bhāvate. — Ab. m. n. bhāvatas. — G. m. n. bhāvatas. — L. bhāvati.

b) forms in -au. I. asṇāntau, tirāntau, yāntau, vṛdhāntau, sāntau; mahāntau. — 2. iśyāntau, kṛṇḍāntau, kṣyāntau, mādāntau (AV.), yājāntau, rājāntau.

N. A. n. yati; brhāti. — D. m. mṛḍayādbhyām; mahādbhyām. — G. m. jāratos. — n. saṃ-yatās (AV.) 'going together'.

Pl. N. m. From the very numerous forms occurring the following may be quoted: *mādāntas; gṇāntas, yāntas, sāntas; pāśyāntas; icchāntas; bhindāntas; kṛṇvāntas; grṇāntas; devayāntas, vājyāntas; dīpsāntas*⁵; aor. *krāntas*⁶, *bhiddāntas*⁷; pīśatas (VS. XXIV. 11), *mahāntas*⁸. — V. uśāntas; mahāntas. — N. A. n. *sānti*⁹; brhānti (AV. VIII. 9¹), mahānti.

A. m. I. usātās, ṛghīyatās, grṇātās, taruśyatās, tvāyatās, pṛṇātās, pṛtanyatās, bhāndanīyatās, manīyatās, yatās, rudātās, vanuśyatās, vājīyatās, vidhātās, śṛṇvātās, śravasyatās, śrudhīyatās, sakhīyatās, satās, sasatās, stuvātās; brhātās, mahātās; datās.

2. ā-pṛṇatas, ā-prayucchatas, ārcatas, kṣyāyatas, dhāvatas, dhrājatas, pātatas, rāyatas, riśatas, rūrukṣatas (Vruk-), vādatas, vārdhatas, śārdhatas, śiśrpsatas; śyāvā-datas (AV.).

¹ On the accent see 90 B c. The dative of ad-ant 'eating' would be ad-āt.

² That is, pra-anatās.

³ For āsatas according to the Pada text.

⁴ Aor. participle of gam 'go'. In one passage (I. 122¹¹) the Pada reads gmāntā; the sense seems to require the pl. gmāntas. See LANMAN 509.

⁵ Desiderative of dabh 'injure'; cp. LANMAN 508 (gen. masc.).

⁶ gmāntas should perhaps be read for gmānta in I. 122¹¹.

⁷ On the anomalous N. pl. perf. participle, vavṛdhāntas, see above p. 190, note 4.

⁹ The Pada text reads sānti; see RPr. IX. 25.

G. m. 1. adhvarīyatām, usatām, rjūyatām, grṇatām, ghnatām, juratām, devayatām, dvīsatām, yatām, yātām, vanusyatām, vājayatām, satrūyatām, śrīvātām, śravasyatām, sakhīyatām, satām, sasatām, sunvatām, stuvātām, *śhātām*², brhatām, mahatām; datām (AV.). — 2. á-sunvatām, cīratām, jāyatām, nītyatām, pātātām, vīvāsātām, śārdhatām. — n. *rathirāyātām*³.

L. m. grṇītsu, devayātsu, patāyātsu, mahātsu. — n. jūryātsu.

Stems in -mant and -vant.

315. As these two suffixes have the same sense, that of 'possessing', and are inflected exactly alike, the stems formed with them are best treated together in declension. These stems are used in the m. and n. only⁴, as they form a separate f. by adding -ī to the weak stem. They are inflected like the participles in -ant except that they lengthen the vowel of the suffix in the N. sing. m. and never shift the accent from the suffix to the ending in the weak cases. Strong and weak forms are as strictly distinguished as in the -ant stems⁵. The regular vocative of these stems ends in -mas and -vas in the RV., but the AV. has neither⁶ in any independent passage, and the VS. has only bhagavas and patīvas. The RV. has also three vocatives in -van, and the AV. adds five others; but no voc. in -man occurs.

Three stems in -vant and one in -mant have case-forms supplementing the inflexion of stems in -an and forming transitions from the latter declension to the former. Thus from maghāvant 'bountiful' alone are formed the pl. I.: maghāvadbhis, D. maghāvadbhyas, L. maghāvātsu; also the N. sing. maghāvān beside the usual maghāvā from maghāvan; from sāhāvant the N. sāhāvān beside sāhāvā; from yūvant 'young', the A. n. yūvat beside the N. m. yūvā; from varimānt the I. m. sing. varimātā beside forms from varimān 'width'⁷.

Inflection.

316. Sing. N. m. 1. from stems in -vant: *akṣānvān*⁸, agnīvān, āṅgirasvān, ānnavān, ā-pavīravān, āmavān, ārvān, āśīrvān, ilāvān, iśāvān, īghāvān, etāvān, kakṣīvān, kṣapāvān and kṣāpāvān, ghñīvān, jānīvān, tāpasvān, taryāvān, tīvasvān, tīviṣvān, tāvān, *tuvīrvān*⁹, tvāvān, dāmsānavān, dākṣīnā-

¹ The AV. (XI. 337) has the transfer form dāntais.

² From the aor. stem sthāt 'standing'.

³ With irregular accent on the suffix instead of the ending, from rathirā-yāt.

⁴ In two or three instances the m. form seems to be used for the f., as havīsmatā (I. 128²) and rāthavate (I. 122¹¹); see LAN-MAN 515 (bottom).

⁵ There seem, however, to be two or three instances of a weak form used instead of a strong: kṣumātī (IV. 218), A. pl. n., krātumatā (x. 59¹), N. du. m., indrāvatas (IV. 27¹), N. pl.; see LANMAN 516.

⁶ In AV. XIX. 34⁸ the Mss. read bhagavas which is emended to samābhavas in the printed text.

⁷ On the other hand, ārvant 'steed', has two forms representing a transition to the -an declension: N. ārvā, A. ārvānam.

⁸ On the Sandhi of these forms, see LAN-MAN 517.

⁹ Probably for tūvī-rāva-vān*.

¹ Representing two words: I. 'dexterous' (dāksīṇa- 'right hand'); 2. 'possessing sacrificial gifts' (dāksīṇā-).

² To be read stāvān 'thundering', from ṽstan-; see GRASSMANN, s. v.

³ Transfer form from the -an stem yūvan-.

⁴ Also the Āmreḍita compound śāsvacchaṣvat.

⁷ See LANMAN 518 (bottom).

⁸ Erroneously unaccented (I. 135^r).

⁹ The f. rāthavatyai should perhaps be read for rāthavate in I. 122^r, as the latter form agrees with a f. substantive, and the former is favoured by the metre; cp. LANMAN 519.

Stems in radical -th.

317. There are only three stems in -th: *kāprth*⁵ n. 'penis', *path*⁶ m. path', with its compound su-path 'fair path', and abhi-śnāth adj. 'piercing'. Among them these three furnish examples of all the cases in the singular, but there are no dual forms, and in the plural only the A. and G. occur.

Sing. N. kāprī; A. *kāprī*⁷; I. *pathā*⁸, supāthā; D. pathē (VS.); Ab. pathās, abhi-śnāthas; G. *pathās*⁹; L. pathī. — Pl. A. *pathās*¹⁰; G. *pathām*¹¹.

Stems in radical -d.

318. About a hundred stems ending in d are made in the form of compounds (only seven being simple stems) from the twenty roots ad 'eat', kṣad 'divide', chad 'cover' and 'please', pad 'go', mad 'be exhilarated', sad 'sit', syad 'move on', chid 'cut off', nid 'revile', bhid 'cleave', vid 'know', vid 'find', ud 'wet', nud 'push', mud 'rejoice', rud 'weep', sud 'enjoy', śud

¹ As also in the only N. pl. n. of the present part. in -ant, sānti (314). The SV. also has the short ā.

² Cp. LANMAN 521.

³ In VI. 17¹⁴ the Padapāṭha reads dyumātā indra as dyumātāḥ; GRASSMANN explains it as a D. dyumātē agreeing with rāyē. On the other hand dyumāntāḥ in AV. XVIII. 15⁷ should probably be emended to dyumātāḥ; cp. WHITNEY's note, and LANMAN 521⁴.

⁴ Forms transferred from the -van declension.

⁵ The derivation of this word is uncertain: the -th is radical if the word is derived from prath 'extend' (see GRASSMANN, s. v.);

but it is suffixal if the word is connected with Lat. capere (cp. UHLENBECK, Etymologisches Wörterbuch, s. v.). With this possible exception there are no derivative stems in -th.

⁶ This stem supplements pānthā and pathī.

⁷ kāprthā-m occurs once as a transfer form.

⁸ Once (I. 1299) nasalized before a vowel pathām a.

⁹ Once (II. 24) with the radical vowel lengthened, pāthās.

¹⁰ Accented as a weak form.

¹¹ The transfer form pathīnām also occurs in TS. IV. 2. 55.

'put in order'; trā- 'pierce', mrā- 'crush'¹. Of these roots only seven occur as monosyllabic substantives: nīd- 'contempt', bhīd- 'destroyer', vīd- 'knowledge', līd- 'wave', mīd- 'joy', mrā- 'clay', being f., and pād- 'foot', m. There is also the monosyllabic n. hīd- 'heart'².

Strong and weak forms are not distinguished except in pād-; and the inflexion is the same in all genders except, of course, the N. A. n. du. and pl.

a. The following peculiarities or irregularities of this declension are to be noted.

1. The weak reduplicated present stem dād- of dā- 'give', is once treated as a root in the form āyur-dād-am (AV.) 'giving long life'. — 2. The vowel of mād- is lengthened in sadha-mād- 'drinking companion', and soma-mād- 'intoxicated with Soma', of both of which, however, only strong cases occur. The vowel of pād- is lengthened not only in the strong cases, but occasionally in others also: dvīpāt, N. sing. n., beside dvīpāt, D. dvīpāde 3, L. pl. dvīpātsu, while the N. pl. m. is once dvīpādas (AV.). — 3. The euphonic combination is irregular in the I. pl. of pād- which is *padbhis*⁴ beside the Ab. du. pad-bhyām. — 4. The stem hīd- is found in weak cases only⁵. Its place is taken in the N. A. sing. pl. by hīd-aya-, which is also used in other cases (hīdayāt, hīdaye, hīdayeṣu), though in the RV. almost entirely in late passages. — 5. There are a few transitions to the a-declension in the inflexion of these stems. Starting from the strong A. pād-am are formed the N. sing. pāda-s and the N. pl. pādās, both in late passages of the RV.⁶ Similarly, starting from the A. sadha-mād-am are formed the locatives sadha-māde and sadha-mādeṣu. Beside nīd-ās, the ordinary Ab. of nīd-, the form nīdāyās occurs once.

Inflection.

319. The inflection of these stems is identical with that of the radical -t stems. The forms actually occurring, if made from pād- 'foot', and -vīd- m. f. n. 'finding', would be as follows:

Sing. N. pāt, -vīt. — A. pādam, -vīdam. — n. -vīt. — I. padā, -vīdā. — D. padē, -vīde. — Ab. padās, -vīdas. — G. padās, -vīdas. — L. padī, -vīdī. — V. (sārva)-vīt.

Du. N. A. V. pādā, m. f. -vīdā. — I. padbhyām. — Ab. padbhyām. — G. padōs. — L. padōs.

a. The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. i. with lengthened vowel: pād- with its compounds and sadha-mād-: pāt (AV.); a-pāt, eka-pāt, eka-ṣiti-pāt (VS. xxix. 58) 'having one white foot', cātus-pāt, tri-pāt, dvī-pāt and dvī-pāt (AV.), viśvātas-pāt, ṣiti-pāt (AV.), sārva-pāt (AV.), sahāsra-pāt; sadha-māt (IV. 21¹) and the abnormal *sadha-mās*⁷ (VII. 187).

² The strong form of this word, hārd-, appears in composition with du- and su-. Another word for 'heart', śrād- (Lat. cord-) n. occurs only in the A. sing. with the verbs kṛ- and dhā-.

³ The lengthening here is, however, metrical.

⁴ Owing to the confusing influence of the I. pl. padbhis from pās- 'look'.

⁵ Its high grade form -hārd occurs in the N. sing. m.

⁶ Probably also the A. sing. m. pānca-pādam; see LANMAN 471².

Stems in derivative -d.

320. There are some six stems formed with suffixal -d, seemingly all feminines⁹, which with one exception (śarād-) are of rare occurrence. They are dyśād- and dhṛśād- (RV.¹) 'nether millstone', bhasād- 'hind quarters', with its compound su-bhasād- 'having beautiful buttocks', *vanād-*¹⁰ (RV.¹) 'longing', śarād- 'autumn'; *kakīd-*¹¹ 'summit', with its compound tri-kakīd- (AV.) 'three-peaked', kākūd- 'palate'. The inflexion is like that of radical -t stems. The forms occurring are the following:

Sing. N. f. kakīt, kākīt, dhṛśāt, bhasāt, śarāt. — m. tri-kakīt (VS. AV.).

¹ In AV. XVIII. 2¹⁴ occurs the ungrammatical form pathi-sādī an imitation of pathi-rāksī of RV. X. 14¹¹.

² The form rapsīdā, occurring once, is of uncertain meaning and origin.

³ This form is used with an ablative sense in AV. I. 18².

⁴ AV. X. 26 has dvi-pādas.

⁵ The transfer form pādās occurs once in the RV. (I. 163⁹).

⁶ Used as ablative infinitive.

⁷ There are no N. A. V. forms in the n. pl. Cp. LANMAN 474.

⁸ Four times in RV. and once in VS.

(XXIII. 13) owing to confusion with paḍbhis, I. pl. of pās- 'look'.

⁹ Except the adj. tri-kakīd- (AV.), śiti-kakīd- (TS.) 'white-humped' and possibly vanād-.

¹⁰ This stem occurs only once (II. 4⁵) in the form vanādas, N. pl. m. 'Verlangen' (from van- 'desire') according to BR.; G. sing. m. of van-ād- 'wood-consuming' according to GRASSMANN.

¹¹ The origin of this -d is obscure. On the relation of this word to kakūh- see LANMAN 471⁴.

Stems in radical -dh.

321. Stems ending in -dh are all radical, simple or compound. There are some fifty derived, with only two or three exceptions, from the following sixteen roots: bādh- 'oppress', sādh- 'succeed'; idh- 'kindle', vidh- 'pierce' (= vyadh-), sidh- 'succeed', sridh- 'blunder' (?); kṣudh- 'be hungry', budh- 'waken', yudh- 'fight', rudh- 'grow' and 'obstruct'; rdh- 'thrive', mṛdh- 'neglect', vṛdh- 'grow', spṛdh- 'contend'.

In this declension there occurs no stem distinguishing strong and weak cases. Masculines and feminines are inflected exactly alike. No distinctively neuter forms (N. A. du. pl.) occur, and only four case-forms (G. L. sing.) are found as neuters. There are two monosyllabic m. nouns: vṛdh- 'strengthening' and (perhaps) *bādh-*¹; besides seven f. substantives: *nādh-*² 'bond'; srīdh- 'foe'; kṣīdh- 'hunger', yīdh- 'fight'; mīdh- 'conflict', vīdh- 'prosperity', spīdh- 'battle'. Neuter cases occur in the sing. (I. G.) of compounds of -vidh-, -yudh-, and -vṛdh-.

a. Three or four stems are of doubtful origin: agnīdh- is probably to be explained as agni-dh- 'priest who prepares (dhā- 'put') the fire', rather than as a shortened form of agnīdh- 'fire-kindler' (from idh- 'kindle') which does not occur in the RV.³; hīdh- 'offering' (RV⁴) is perhaps a shortened form of nis-sīdh- 'offering'⁵; prkṣīdh- (RV⁶) is obscure in meaning and origin; śūrīdh- f. 'invigorating draught' is perhaps derived from ṣṛdh- 'be defiant' with Svarabhakti⁷.

Inflexion.

322. Sing. N. m. agnīt, anu-rīt (VS.) and anū-rīt 'loving'; uṣar-bhūt 'waking (budh- at morn', *yāvīyūt*⁸ 'eager to fight', śvā-vīt (AV. VS.) 'porcupine' ('dog-piercer', √vidh-), saṁ-t 'flaming'. — f. kṣīt (AV.); pra-vīt 'growth', vṛ-rūt 'plant' (AV.), *saṁ-t*⁹ 'fuel'.

A. m. vīdham, and its compounds: annā-vīdham 'prospering by food', āhuti-vīdham 'delighting in sacrifices', girā-vīdham 'delighting in praise', tugryā-vīdham 'favouring the Tugryas', namo-vīdham 'honoured by adoration', payo-vīdham 'full of sap', parvatā-vīdham 'delighting in pressing stones', madhu-vīdham 'abounding in sweetness', yajña-vīdham (AV.) 'abounding in sacrifice', vayo-vīdham 'increasing strength', sadyo-vīdham 'rejoicing every day', saho-vīdham 'increasing strength', su-vīdham 'joyous'; agnīdham, anu-rīdham (VS. xxx. 9), a-srīdham 'not failing', uṣar-bīdham, *goṣu-yīdham*⁸ 'fighting for kine', marmā-vīdham (AV.) 'piercing the vitals', yajña-sādham 'performing sacrifice', hṛdayā-vīdham (AV.) 'wounding the heart'. — f. kṣūdham, yūdham, srīdham; a-srīdham, uṣar-būdham, niṣ-sīdham, vṛrūdham, saṁ-rīdham (AV.) 'check' (in gambling)⁹, saṁ-idham.

I. m. su-vīdhā. — f. kṣudhā (AV.), yudhā, vṛdhā; saṁ-idhā, su-bīdhā (AV.) 'good awakening', su-vīdhā (AV.), su-saṁ-idhā 'good fuel'. — n. payo-vīdhā, yāvīyūdha, sākaṇ-vīdhā 'growing together'.

¹ In bādhas A. pl. in VI. 11¹ (GRASSMANN); BR. do not acknowledge a m. use of bādh-, and in VIII. 45¹⁰, IX. 109⁶ they would join the word with the preceding pāri.

² In nādbhyas (x. 60⁶) if derived from nādh- = nāh- 'bind' (BR. s. v. nāh-); but it is more probably = nādb-* bhyas from napt-, weak stem of nāpāt-, as also indicated by the accent.

Stems in radical -n.

323. The radical stems ending in -n are formed from half a dozen roots: from tan- 'stretch', ran- 'rejoice', van- 'be pleasant', are formed monosyllabic substantives meaning 'succession', 'joy', 'wood', respectively; from van- 'sound' is formed the adj. *svan-*⁸ 'sounding' and the compound tuvi-svān- 'roaring aloud'; from san- 'gain', the compound go-śān- 'winning cows'. From these six nouns very few case-forms occur. But from han- 'strike' no fewer than 35 compounds are made in the RV., and all the singular cases as well as several of the du. and pl. cases are formed. All the stems formed from these six roots⁹ are m. except tān-, which is f.¹⁰, and only a single n. case-form occurs from a compound of han- (dasyu-ghnā). The distinction between strong and weak forms is made in -han- only. Here in the weak cases a as

³ Fifteen times accented sridhās, once (IX. 71⁸) sridhās.

⁴ In VIII. 454⁹, IX. 105⁶ pari-bādhas should perhaps be read instead of pāri bādhas.

⁵ If from nāh-, according to BR. (cp. akṣā-nāhas (A. p. f.); according to WEBER, IS. 13, 109, from nāp-. It is probably from nāp- = nāpāt. See above 321, note on nādh-.

⁶ In the V. yudhām pāte.

⁷ In the V. vīrudhām pāte.

⁸ The accent of the monosyllabic stems is irregular in remaining on the radical syllable except tanā (beside tānā) and vanām: cp. LANMAN 479⁴ and above 94, 1 a.

⁹ Other roots in -n used as nominal stems have gone over to the a- or ā-declension; thus jan- becomes ja- or jā-.

¹⁰ -han- forms a separate fem. stem in -ī from its weak form: -ghn-ī.

representing the sonant nasal appears for an before consonants, while before vowels the root, by syncope of its vowel, assumes the form of -ghn-. The N. sing. n. of -han is -ha-m, a transition to the a-declension¹ (for -ha, which does not occur).

Inflection.

324. All forms are represented in this declension except Ab. sing., the weak cases of the du., and the D. Ab. pl. The forms made from -han are: Sing. N. *-hā*², A. -hānam, I. -ghnā, D. -ghnā, G. -ghnāis, L. -ghnā, V. -han. — Du. N. A. -hānā, -hānau (VS. TS.), V. -hanā. — Pl. N. -hānas, A. -ghnās, I. -hābhīs. The G. would be -ghnām and the L. -hāsu according to the analogy of other stems in this declension. The forms of radical n-stems which occur are the following:

Sing. N. m. aghaśansa-hā 'slaying the wicked', adṛṣa-hā 'slaying unseen (vermin)', abhimāti-hā 'destroying adversaries', amitra-hā 'killing enemies', amṛta-hā 'destroying pains', arusa-hā 'striking the dark (cloud)', ā-vṛta-hā 'not slaying men', asūti-hā 'averting curses', asura-hā 'demon-slaying', ahi-hā 'killing the serpent', kṛṣi-hā 'subduing nations', go-hā 'killing cattle', dasyu-hā 'destroying the Dasyus', durṇāma-hā (AV.) ¹ The forms made from -ghna-, viz. -ghnās, -ghnām, -ghnāya, -ghnāsya, -ghne, are probably to be explained as transition forms starting from the weak stem -ghn-.

² Formed like the N. of derivative -an stems (327).

³ That is, puras, A. pl. of pūr-, the 'case termination being retained.

⁴ The normal forms would be vṛtra-hā* and satrā-hā*.

⁵ See above 47, A b 2 (p. 39).

⁷ Against the rule of accentuation in monosyllabic stems (94).

⁸ This form may, however, be the 3. sing. passive aor. See below 501, note on sāti.

⁹ With loss of the loc. ending as in the -an declension (325).

¹⁰ -ghānas for -hānas, see above 80, 81.

Derivative stems in -an, -man, -van.

325. This declension embraces a large number of words, the stems in -van being by far the commonest, those in -an the least frequent. It is almost limited to masculines and neuters; but some forms of adjective stems serve as feminines, and there is one specifically f. stem, yīś-an 'woman'¹.

The distinction of strong and weak forms is regularly made. In the strong cases the a of the suffix is usually lengthened, e. g. ādhrān-am; but in half a dozen -an and -man stems it remains unchanged; e. g. arya-mān-am. In the weak cases the a is often syncopated before vowel endings, though never when -man and -van are preceded by a consonant², e. g. I. sing. *grā-vā-ā*³ from grā-van, 'pressing stone'⁴, while before consonant endings the final n disappears⁵, e. g. rīja-bhis. In the RV. the syncopation never takes place in the N. A. du. n., nor with one exception (sata-dīn-i) in the L. sing.

As in all other stems ending in -n, the nasal is dropped in the N. sing.; e. g. m. dhvā, n. karma. But there are two peculiarities of inflexion which, being common to these three groups, do not appear elsewhere in the consonant declension. Both the L. sing. and the N. A. pl. n. are formed in two ways. The ending of the L. sing. is in the RV. dropped more often than not, e. g. mūrdhān-i and mūrdhān, the choice often depending on the metre⁶. The N. A. pl. n. is formed with -āni from 18 stems and with -a from 19 stems⁷ in the RV.; seven of the latter appear with -ā in the Saphitā text, but with -a like the rest in the Pada text. The evidence of the Avesta indicates that there were in the Indo-Iranian period two forms, nāmān and nāmāni, the former losing its -n as usual when final after a long vowel. On this ground the -ā form of the Saphitā, though the less frequent, would appear to be the older⁸.

There are here many supplementary stems and numerous transitions to the a-declension.

I. Stems in -an.

326. These stems, which are both m. and n., are not numerous. They include some which at first sight have the appearance of belonging to one of the other two groups: *yū-v-an*⁹ 'youth', śv-ān 'dog', *ṛjīśv-an*¹⁰ N. of a man, *mātariśv-an*¹⁰ N. of a demi-god, *vi-bhū-an*¹¹ 'far-reaching'; *pāri-jm-an*¹² 'going round'. The n. śrīśv-ān is an extended stem from śīras 'head' = śīr(a)s-ān.

a. Besides the N. pl. yōṣaṇ-as 'women', six or seven forms of this declension appear to be feminine as agreeing with f. substantives: vīśā 'raining' (kāsā, vāk), vīśanam (tvācam), vīśanā (dyāvā-ṛthivā), pāri-jmānas 'going round' (vidyūtas), rapśād-ūdhabhis 'having distended udders' (dhenūbhis)¹³, vāja-karmabhis (SV. TS.) and vāja-bharmabhis (VIII. 1930) 'bringing rewards' (ūtibhis).

² This exception does not apply when -an is preceded by two consonants, e. g. sakth-nā.

³ But also G. sing. vīśaṇ-as (AV.). The syncopation nearly always takes place in -an stems and in nearly half of the -man and -van stems.

⁴ When the accent is on the suffix it is thrown on the ending in these syncopated forms, e. g. mahnā from mah-ān.

⁵ That is, a here represents an original sonant nasal, see p. 17, note 2.

⁶ 48 locatives (occurring 127 times) have the i, 45 (occurring 203 times) drop it. See LANMAN 535.

⁷ But those in -āni occur nearly twice as often.

⁸ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 483 and LANMAN 538.

⁹ Cp. the comparative yav-īyān and the Avestan yvan.

¹⁰ -śvan in both these compounds is probably derived from śū 'grow'.

¹¹ From bhū 'be'.

¹² From gam 'go'.

¹³ The f. of -an stems at the end of compounds is formed with -ī in āchidra-ūdhn-ī 'having a faultless udder', sam-rājñī-ī.

b. In the strong forms the stems pūhu-kṣān- 'chief of the Rbhus', pūṣān-, and the f. yūṣān-, retain the short a, while ukṣān- 'ox' and vṣān- 'bull' fluctuate between ā and i. The words śān- and yūṣān- form their weak stems before vowels with Samprasāraṇa, śān-, yūn-; the latter is once used in the N. du. m. form yūnā instead of yūṣānā. In the weak cases syncope always takes place¹ except in the forms ukṣānas and vṣānas.

c. A number of -an stems have supplementary forms from other stems: akṣān- from akṣi-; asthān- from asthi-; āhan- from āhar- and āhar-; āsān- from āyā-, ās-, and āśi-; udān- from ud- and udā-hi-; ūdhan- from ūdhar- and ūdhar-; dadhān- from dādhi-; doṣān- from dōs-; yakān- from yakṣi-; yūṣān- from yūṣānā and yūṣi-; bāhan- from bāhṣi-; sakthān- from sakthi-. As no stem in -an has been found in the N. A. sing. n., such forms appear to have been avoided and to have been purposely replaced by forms from supplementary stems. These forms are the N. A. n. akṣi, asthi (AV.), āhar, āyām, udakām, ūdhar, yakṣi (AV.), bāhṣi, sakthi; also yūvat instead of yūva*, as well as śiras and śrīṣā-m (AV.) instead of śrīṣā*.

d. There are here several transitions to the a-declension. The A. sing. pūṣān-am is the starting point for the N. pūṣān-as and the G. *pūṣānā-ya-*². The N. A. pl. n. is the starting point in other instances: the two pl. forms śrīṣā and śrīṣāpi give rise to the L. sing. śrīṣā (AV.) beside śrīṣāpi, as well as to the du. N. A. śrīṣā and the N. A. sing. śrīṣā-m (AV.); similarly the two plurals dhā and dhāni led to the G. pl. dhānām beside dhānām; and pūṣāpi, the pl. of yūṣān-, which has the appearance of a pl. of a stem yūṣā, led to the formation of an I. sing. yūṣēna (TS.) beside the regular yūṣā VSA. Again, the weak forms ān-as, ahn-as etc., gave rise to the transition stems dāna- and āhna-, from which are formed the I. pl. dānais and the L. sing. pūṣāhni.

Transition a-stems often take the place of -an stems at the end of compounds. Thus -akṣā- appears in several compounds for -akṣān-, and -vṣā- (AV.) for -vṣān-; an-asthān- once forms the N. sing. m. an-asthā-s (VIII. 134); beside the N. sing. m. brhād-ukṣā appears the D. brhād-ukṣāya (VS.); beside rājānam is found the A. m. adhi-rājā-m (X. 128³) 'over-lord'; and beside saṭtābhis 'seven', the compound *tri-saṭtābhis*⁴.

Inflexion.

327. The normal forms, if made from rājan- 'king' in the m., and from āhan- 'day' in the n., would be as follows:

1. m. Sing. N. rājā. A. rājānam. I. rājānā. D. rājñe. Ab. rājnas. G. rājñas. L. rājani and rājān. V. rājān.

Du. N. A. rājānā and rājānau. I. rājabhyām. D. rājabhyām. G. rājños.

Pl. N. V. rājānas. A. rājñas. I. rājabhis. D. rājabhyas. Ab. rājabhyas (AV.). G. rājñām. L. rājasu.

2. n. Sing. N. A. —⁵. I. āhnā. D. āhne. Ab. G. āhnas. L. āhani and āhan. — Du. N. A. āhanī. G. āhnos (AV.). — Pl. N. A. āhāni. I. āhabhis. D. Ab. āhabhyas. G. āhnām. L. āhasu.

The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. an-asthā 'boneless', dyah-śrīṣā 'iron-headed', a-śrīṣā 'headless', ukṣā 'bull', ṣi-śvā N. of a man, tāksā 'carpenter', tāpur-mūrdhā 'burning-headed', *try-udhā*⁶ 'three-uddered', *dvi-bārha-jmā*⁷ 'having a double course', pāri-jmā 'surrounding', pūṣā 'Pūṣan', plihā (VS.) 'spleen', brhād-ukṣā 'having great oxen', majjā (VS. AV.) 'marrow', mātari-śvā 'Mātariśvan', mūrdhā 'head', yūvā 'youth', rājā 'king', vi-bhva 'far-reaching', vi-rājā (TS. v. 7. 4⁴) 'sovereign', vṣā 'bull', śvā 'dog', sahasra-śrīṣā 'thousand-headed'.

'queen', soma-rājñi- 'having Soma as king', hāt-vṣṇi- 'whose lord has been slain', rūru-śrīṣṇi- 'deer-headed', saṭā-śrīṣṇi- 'seven-headed', eka-mūrdhni- (AV.) 'having the head turned in one direction', sindhu-rājñi- (AV.) 'having Sindhu as queen'.

¹ The restoration of the a seems to be metrically required in a few instances: see LANMAN 525.

² The N. sing. n. of the adj. vṣān- is avoided in several ways: see LANMAN 530 (bottom).

³ With shifted accent.

⁴ On the other hand there are two transitions from the a-declension to the an-declension in nī-kāmabhis beside nī-kāmāis and naktā-bhis for nāktam, but these forms are due to somewhat artificial conditions; see below, I. pl. p. 206, notes 3 and 4.

⁵ Only supplementary forms occur: see LANMAN 530 (bottom).

⁶ The metre seems to require try-ūdhā (III, 56³).

⁷ Here bārha- = bārhas-.

² There is also the transfer form adhi-rājā-m (X. 128⁹).

³ Perhaps from kṣā = kṣi 'possess'.

⁴ In the RV. vṣṣānam occurs 53 times, vṣṣānam only twice.

⁵ This form (occurring thrice) may possibly be shortened for āsmānū (which occurs twice) from āsmān 'stone'.

⁶ For śū-an-ā*; hence no shift of accent as in monosyllabic stems.

⁷ Also uśān-e (VI. 20¹¹) according to BENFEY, Orient und Occident 2, 242.

⁸ There is also the transition form bṛhād-ukṣāya (VS. viii. 8).

⁹ BENFEY, Gött. Abh. 19, 261, regards vibhānā (X. 765) as = Ab. vibhānas.

¹⁰ Also the supplementary forms āsyāt, ās ās.

¹¹ Also the supplementary form udakht.

¹² For vṣṣā-nāma (IX. 97⁵⁴) GRASSMANN would read vṣṣāno nā; cp. WACKERNAGEL 21, 68 a, note (p. 160).

¹³ This form (occurring once) may be shortened for āsmānas (occurring four times).

¹⁴ With supplementary stem āsr-j.

¹⁵ The G. pūṣāndasya, occurring once, seems to be a transfer form starting from the A. pūṣānam (326 d).

¹⁶ There are also the transition forms śiṣṣe, pūṣiṣṣe: see LANMAN 536.

¹⁷ The compound nemam-ṣ 'following guidance' probably contains a loc.

¹⁸ Following the analogy of some stems in -van.

2. Stems in -man.

328. These stems are about equally divided between the masculine and the neuter gender, the former being agent nouns, the latter verbal abstracts. These stems seem to have been used normally for the f. as well as the m.; for though no simple stem in -man occurs as a f., about a dozen of them are used as f. at the end of compounds, while no certain example appears in the RV. of a f. being formed by adding -ī to -man⁷. A peculiarity of the inflexion of the stems in -man, as compared with those in -an and -van, is that in the syncopated forms of the I. sing. several words drop the m, while two drop the n of the suffix; e. g. *mahinā*⁸ for mahimnā, and raśmā for raśmnā.

a. The f. forms which occur at the end of compounds are: Sing. N. purā-sarmā (VS. x. 9) 'giving wide shelter' (āditi-), sā-lakṣmā (x. 102) 'similar'; A. dyutād-yāmānam (v. 30¹) 'having a shining course' (uṣṣām); su-tārmāpam (VIII. 42²) 'easily conveying across' (nūvam), su-trātmāpam (x. 63¹⁰) 'protecting well' (prthivīm), su-sārmāpam (x. 63¹⁰) 'granting secure refuge' (āditi); V. brūja-dharman (VIII. 18⁴) 'yielding security' (adite), prthu-yāman (vi. 64⁴) 'having a broad path' (duhitā); Du. N. *su-jānmani*⁹ (I. 160¹) 'producing fair things' (dhīśāp); Pl. A. śuci-janmanas (vi. 39³) 'of radiant birth' (uṣṣās); I. vāja-dharmābhis (VIII. 19³⁰) 'winning rewards' (ūtibhis), su-kārmābhis (IX. 70⁴) 'skilful' (fingers); G. śukrā-sadmanām (vi. 47⁵) 'having a bright dwelling-place' (uṣṣām)¹⁰. From nāman 'name' the AV. forms with -ī the f. stem -nāmnī- at the end of five compounds: dur-nāmnī 'ill-named', pāñca-nāmnī 'having five names', mahā-nāmnī 'great-named', vīśvā-nāmnī 'having all names', sahasra-nāmnī 'thousand-named'. The f. dur-adman-ī (VS. II. 20) 'noxious food' is perhaps similarly formed¹¹.

² Both these might be formed from the transition a-stems āha, śiṛṣā. This is perhaps the reason why these are the only two plurals of this declension which retain the ā in the Pada text; āha appears in I. 92³.

³ The form nī-kāmābhis 'eager' for nī-kāmaḥ is due to the parallelism of vayāvābhis in x. 92⁹.

⁴ There is also a transition form āśnais 'stones', beside the stem āśan.

⁵ The unique form naktābhis (as if from a stem naktān) is doubtless used for metrical reasons instead of nāktam in VII. 104¹⁸.

⁶ There is also the transition form dhānām.

⁷ The AV. has five stems thus formed at the end of compounds.

⁸ Cp. BLOOMFIELD, BB. 23, 105 ff., AJPh. 16, 409—434; BARTHOLOMAE IF. 8, Anzeiger 17.

⁹ With the ending of the neuter; see LANMAN 433 (top).

¹⁰ Possibly also su-śāmā (II. 32⁷) 'bearing well'; but it is derived from sū-ma* according to BR. and GRASSMANN.

¹¹ The f. brāhmī (IX. 335) formed from brāhman is quite exceptional, being due to a play on words (see LANMAN 528). The form tmānyā = tmānā in sense, occurring twice in the RV., may be an I. sing. f. of tmān-ī: cp. GRASSMANN and BR.

b. In the strong forms aryamān- 'Aryaman', tmān- 'self', and jēman- 'victorious' retain the short vowel of the suffix. In the weak forms, even when the suffix is preceded by a vowel, about a dozen forms do not syncope the a: I. omānā, pravād-yāmanā, bhūmānā, bhūmanā, syūmanā, hemānī; D. trāmaṇe, dāmaṇe; Ab. G. bhūmanas; G. mahimānas, dāmanas, yāmanas, vyōmanas. The forms which, besides syncope, drop the m or the n of the suffix are: prathinā, preṇā, bhūnā, mahinā, varinā; drāghimā, raśmā.

c. Beside the -man stems there are several transfer stems in -ma, which are, however, of rare or late occurrence: darmā- 'destroyer' beside darmān-; dhārma- (AV. etc.) 'law' beside dhārman-; ēma- (VS.) 'course' beside ēman-; kōma- (VS. AV.) 'offering' beside kōman- (RV.); ājma- 'course' beside ājman-; yāma- 'course' beside yāman-; prīyā-dhāma- (I. 140¹) 'fond of home' beside prīyā-dhāman- (AV.); and occasional forms of -karma- at the end of compounds beside the regular -karman-: vīrā-karma-m (X. 61⁵) 'doing manly deeds'; viśvā-karameṇa (X. 1644) 'all-creating' beside viśvā-karmanā, etc.

Inflexion.

329. The normal forms actually occurring would, if made from āsman- 'stone' in the m. and from kārman- 'act' in the n., be as follows:

Sing. m. N. āsmā. A. *āsmānam*². I. *āsmānā*³. D. *āsmāne*⁴. Ab. *āsmānas*⁵. G. *āsmānas*⁵. L. āsmāni and āsmān. V. āsmān. — Du. N. A. V. *āsmānā*⁶. L. āsmānos. — Pl. N. V. āsmānas. A. āsmānas. I. āsmābhis. D. āsmābhyas. G. āsmānām. L. āsmāsu (AV.).

3. Stems in -van.

330. The -van stems are by far the most numerous of the three groups. They are chiefly verbal adjectives and are almost exclusively declined in the masculine. Hardly a dozen of them make neuter forms, and only five or six forms are used as feminines.

a. The few feminine forms are cases of adjectives agreeing with f. substantives. They are: sing. N. sa-yūgvā (X. 130¹) 'companion' (gāyatrī), an-arcā (II. 40²) 'irresistible' (aditi); A. an-arvānam (X. 92⁴) 'irresistible' (aditim); du. N. saṃ-sthāvānā (VIII. 37⁴) 'standing together' (vr̥dasi); pl. I. *indhan-vābhis*⁶ (II. 34⁵) 'flaming' (dhenūbhis); G. sahasra-dāvnām (I. 17⁵) 'giving a thousand gifts' (sumatīnām). The f. of these stems is otherwise formed with -ī, which is however never added to -van, but regularly to a collateral suffix -vārā⁷. Twenty-five such stems in -vārī are found in the RV. and several additional ones in the later Samhitās. It is perhaps most convenient to enumerate them here: *agrītvārī*⁸ (AV.) 'going in front', abhi-kṛtvārī 'bewitching' (AV.), abhi-bhūtvārī 'superior', *abhitvārī*⁹ (TS. VS.) 'attacking', utāna-śvārī (AV.) 'lying extended', pl̥tvārī 'regular', eva-yāvārī 'going quickly', kṛtvārī (AV.) 'bewitcher', talpa-śvārī 'lying on a couch', niṣ-gidhvārī 'bestowing', pītvārī 'fat', pūva-jāvārī 'born before', pra-śvārī 'furnished with flowers', bahu-śvārī 'bearing many children', bhūri-dāvārī 'munificent', *mātari-bhvārī*¹⁰ 'being with her mother', *mātari-śvārī*¹¹ (AV.) 'mother-growing', yūjvārī 'worshipping', vakvārī 'rolling', vahya-śvārī (AV.) 'reclining on a couch', vi-bhāvārī 'brilliant', vi-mṛgvārī (AV.) 'cleansing', śaktvārī ('powerful') a kind of metre, *śārvarī*¹² 'star-spangled' night, śruṣṭivārī 'obedient', sveta-yāvārī 'white-flowing', *saṃ-śīśvārī*¹³ 'having a calf in common', sa-jitvārī 'victorious', sa-yāvārī 'accompanying', sumnāvārī 'gracious', *sūnṛtāvārī*¹⁴ 'glorious', śītvārī 'streaming', svadhāvārī 'constant'.

³ This lengthening is found in neither -van stems nor -an stems, except āhā and śīrṣā, which may be formed from transfer stems and in which the Pada as well as the Samhitā text has the long vowel.

⁴ vāja-karmābhis is a v.l. of vāja-bharmābhis, and both adjectives as agreeing with utibhis have the value of feminines.

⁵ The G. chando-nāmnām (VS. IV. 24) 'named metre' seems to be a transfer to the a-declension.

⁶ Formed from indhana 'fuel', with loss of the final vowel.

⁷ The f. atharvī, formed from atharvan 'fire-priest', is quite exceptional.

⁸ That is, agra-i-tvārī.

⁹ That is, abhi-i-tvārī.

¹⁰ From what only seems to be a -van stem which is really = bhū-an.

¹¹ This seems to be a corruption in AV. v. 2⁹ of mātari-bhvārī in the corresponding passage of the RV.

¹² The f. of śarvārā 'variegated' occurring in api-śarvārā n. 'early morning'; a stem śār-van does not occur.

¹³ The f. of what only seems to be a stem in -van but is really = śīsu-an.

¹⁴ Also sūnṛtāvārī.

b. In the strong cases there is one instance in which the a remains short: *an-arvānam*¹ (X. 92¹⁴), and two others in which the weakest stem is used: A. sing. maghānam (VS. XXVIII. 9) instead of maghāvānam, N. pl. maghānas (VI. 44¹²) instead of maghāvānas. In the weak cases when the suffix is preceded by a vowel, the a is always syncopated in the Samhitā text except in the forms dāvāne, vasuvāne (VS.), and rāvāni, but it may have to be restored in one or two instances³.

c. The three words ṣkvan- 'singing', maghā-van- 'bountiful', sahā-van- 'powerful' make a few forms from supplementary stems in -vant: I. sing. ṣkvatā; pl. I. maghā-vadbhis, D. maghāvadbhyas, L. maghāvatsu; N. sing. sahāvān and sahāvān. Beside dadhi-krāvān, N. of a mythical horse, also occurs the stem dadhi-krā-.

d. Eight or nine words in -van show transitions to the a-declension by extending the stem with -a or, more commonly, by dropping the n. Thus satvānā-m and satvānāis occur beside the numerous regular forms from sātvan- 'brave'. The N. sing. m. anarvān-a-s (V. 51¹¹, VIII. 31¹²) may have started from the A. anarvān-am (X. 92¹⁴), while the n. anarvā-m (I. 164²) may have been due to the f. (aditi) anarvā which appears like the f. of the a-declension. Other transitional forms are ṣkvā-s beside ṣkvan-; ṣkhva-m 'dexterous' beside ṣbhvan-; takvā-s 'swift' beside tākvan-; vākvās, N. pl., 'rolling' beside vākvan-; vibhāvā-m 'brilliant' beside vibhāvan-; śikvā-s (AV.) 'skilful' beside śikvan-.

Inflexion.

331. The normal forms occurring, if made from grāvān- 'pressing stone' in the m. and from dhānvān- 'bow' in the n., would be:

Sing. m. N. grāvā. A. grāvānam. I. grāvānā. D. grāvāne. Ab. grāvānas. G. grāvānas. L. grāvāni and grāvān. V. grāvān. — Du. N. A. V. grāvānā and grāvānau. I. grāvābhyām (AV.). G. grāvānos. — Pl. N. V. grāvānas. A. grāvānas. I. grāvābhis. D. grāvābhyas. G. grāvānām. L. grāvāsu.

Sing. n. N. A. dhānvā and dhānvā. I. dhānvānā. D. dhānvāne. Ab. G. dhānvānas. L. dhānvāni and dhānvān. — Pl. N. A. dhānvāni, dhānvā, dhānvā (AV.). I. dhānvābhis. D. dhānvābhyas (VS.). Ab. dhānvābhyas (AV.). G. dhānvānam (AV.). L. dhānvāsu.

Forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. agra-yāvā 'going in front', ātharvā 'fire-priest', adma-sādāvā 'companion at a meal', ādhvā 'road', *an-arvā*⁴ 'irresistible', abhi-yūgvā (VS. XVII. 86) 'attacking', abhiṣasti-pāvā 'protecting from curses', abhi-satvā 'surrounded by heroes', abhyardha-yājvā 'receiving sacrifices apart', amatvā 'suffering want', arātvā 'hostile', ā-rāvā 'not giving', 'hostile', ārvā 'steed', dvaitata-dhanvā (VS. VI. 30) 'giving', vākvā 'rolling', vasu-dāvā 'giving goods', ¹ This seems to be a metrical shortening; according to GRASSMANN it is an A. of a transfer stem an-arvāna-.

² The form kṣtvānas in AV. XIX. 35⁵ as N. pl. m. is a conjecture; cp. p. 213, note 2.

Stems in -in, -min, -vin.

332. The suffixes -in, -min, -vin, which have the sense of 'possessing', are used to form secondary adjectives. The stems in -in are very common, those in -vin are fairly frequent, numbering nearly twenty, but there is only one in -min: ṛg-min 'praising'. They are declined in the m. and n. only⁹; but the neuter forms are very rare, amounting to fewer than a dozen altogether. The inflexion presents hardly any irregularities. The vowel of the suffix remains accented throughout¹⁰, and is not liable either to syncope or to lengthening in the G. pl. It is lengthened in the N. sing. m. only¹¹. As in all derivative stems ending in -n, the nasal disappears in the N. sing. m. n. and before terminations beginning with consonants.

a. There are a few transition forms to the a-declension starting from the A. sing. m. in -in-am understood as -ina-m. Such are paramēsth-ina-m (AV. XIX. 94) 'most exalted', N. sing. n.; the V. māhina and the G. māhina-sya from māh-in 'mighty', and

² The form kṛtvāno in AV. XIX. 355 is a conjecture for the kṛtvāno of the Mss.

³ In Pada as well as Samhitā.

⁴ Also the supplementary form maghāvadbhis.

⁵ Also the supplementary form maghāvadbhyas.

⁶ The form sahasra-dāvnām is read as a f. in I. 17⁵.

⁷ Accented grāvāsu in the edition.

⁸ There is also the transfer form maghāvātsu.

⁹ They form a special f. stem by adding -ī; e. g. from ātv-in 'possessing horses' ātvīn-ī.

¹⁰ Except īvin, śākin, sāvin, and the compounds kāru-lātin, māhā-vajūrin, indramedin, from each of which a single form occurs; also the compounds formed with the negative a; e. g. ā-nāmin.

¹¹ It would doubtless be lengthened in the N. A. n. pl. also if that form occurred.

the n. pl. vaninā-ni (x. 66⁹) from van-in- m. 'forest-tree'. The isolated form mandi-m (1. 9²) is a transition to the i-declension, starting probably from the I. sing. mandin-ā 'exhilarating' understood as mandi-nā.

Inflexion.

333. All the case-forms are represented in the m., but in the n. the three singular case-forms, N. A., I., and G. only. As only eight or nine n. forms occur, they may most conveniently be enumerated separately:

Sing. n. N. ā-nāmi 'unbending', ubhayā-hastī 'filling both hands', tsārī (AV.) 'hidden', patatī 'winged', vāji 'vigorous' (Kh. iv. 6³), sakalyeṣi (AV.) 'seeking shavings'². I. kīrīṇā 'praising', *su-gandhīnā*³ 'fragrant'. G. pra-hoṣīnas 'offering oblations'⁴.

The m. forms actually occurring, if made from hast-in- 'having hands', would be as follows:

Sing. N. hastī. A. hastinam. I. hastīnā. D. hastine. Ab. hastīnas. G. hastīnas. L. hastini. V. hastin-. — Du. N. A. hastīnā and hastīnau. I. D. hastībhyām. G. XVII. 85) 'performing the domestic sacrifices', candri (VS. XX. 37) 'golden', tsārī 'hidden', dyumnī 'majestic', niṣ-sapī 'lustful', pakthī 'cooking the oblation', patatī (TS. I. 7. 7⁷) 'winged', parame-ṣthī (VS. VIII. 54) 'most exalted', pari-panthī 'waylayer', pr̥stī-āmayī 'suffering from a pain in the side', pra-ghāsi (VS. XVII. 85) 'voracious', pra-bhāṅgi 'destroying', pra-repani 'causing to tremble', bāhu-sardhī 'relying on his arms', brahma-cārī 'practising devotion', brahma-varcasī (VS. XXII. 22) 'eminent in sacred knowledge', bhadra-vādī 'uttering auspicious cries', manṣī 'thoughtful', manthī (VS. VII. 18) 'stirred Soma juice', mandī 'exhilarating', marāyī 'destructive' (?), mahā-hastī 'having large hands', māyī 'crafty', medī 'ally', rathī 'possessing a car', rambhī 'carrying a crutch', rukmi 'adorned with gold', vajrī 'armed with a bolt', varmī 'mailed', vaṣī 'having power', vāji 'vigorous', vi-rapṣī 'copious', sata-svī 'having a hundred possessions', *śakī*⁷ 'strong', śiprī 'full-cheeked', śuṣmī 'roaring', śloki 'sounding', śvaḡhni 'gambler', ṣoḍaṣī (VS. TS.) 'having sixteen parts', *sdr̥tī*⁸ 'hastening', sahasrī 'thousandfold', sāci 'companion', somī 'offering Soma', svabdi 'bellowing', hastī 'having hands'. — 2. stem in -min-: rgmī 'praising'. — 3. stems in -vin-: ā-dvayāvī 'free from duplicity', *ā-yudhvī*⁸ 'not fighting', aṣtrāvī 'obeying the goad', tarasvī (VS. XIX. 88) 'bold'.

A. 1. atrinam 'devourer', adhi-kalpinam (VS. XXX. 18) 'gamble-manager', ¹ Instead of vanin-as, probably due to the metre.

² The Pada text reads sakalya-eṣi; but the Paippalāda recension has the better reading sakalyeṣu 'among the shavings': see WHITNEY's note on AV. I. 25².

³ But this form might be from su-gandhī.

⁴ The isolated form krudhmī (VII. 56⁸) agreeing with mānāmsi is a N. pl. n. of a stem krudh-mi-, rather than of krudh-min- 'angry'.

⁵ With abnormal accent.

⁶ Accented like a Bahuvrīhi.

⁸ BÖHTLINGK (pw.) regards this as a gerund: ā-yud-dhvī 'without fighting'.

abhi-praśṇinam (VS. xxx. 10) 'inquisitive', abhi-mātinam 'insidious', arkinam 'praising', ava-krakṣinam 'rushing down', ā-vājinam 'a bad horse', aśvinam, ādārinam 'breaking open', āyīnam (TS. II. 4. 7¹) 'hurrying up', iṣṇinam 'speeding', ukthā-saṃsinam 'uttering verses', ukthīnam 'praising', udrīnam, *rjṣinam*¹, kapardīnam, karambhīnam 'possessing gruel', kalpīnam (VS. xxx. 18) 'designing', kalmalikīnam 'flaming', kāmīnam, kārīnam 'singing', kulāyīnam, kūcid-arthīnam 'striving to get anywhere', catīnam 'lurking', jana-vādīnam (VS. xxx. 17) 'prattler', tri-śṭhīnam (VS. xxx. 14) 'having a threefold footing', dyumnīnam, dhanīnam 'wealthy', *nī-yayīnam*² 'passing over', pakṣīnam 'winged', patatrīnam (VS. xix. 10), pari-panthīnam, pīṭha-sarpīnam (VS. xxx. 21) 'cripple', putrīnam 'possessing sons', purīṣīnam 'possessing land', pra-vādīnam (VS. xxx. 13) 'speaking pleasantly', praśṇīnam (VS. xxx. 10) 'questioner', bahu-vādīnam (VS. xxx. 19) 'talkative', manṣīnam, manthīnam, *mandīnam*³, manyu-sāvīnam 'pressing Soma with zeal', māyīnam, medīnam (TS. IV. 7. 104), rathīnam, vaiṣṇa-nartīnam (VS. xxx. 21) 'pole-dancer', vajrīnam, vanīnam 'bountiful', vanīnam 'forest tree', vayāṅkīnam 'ramifying', varcinam N. of a demon, vājinam, vi-rapṣīnam, vi-śṭhīnam (VS. xxiii. 29) 'wetting', śata-gvīnam 'hundredfold', śatīnam 'hundredfold', śākīnam, śuṣmīnam, śrṅgīnam 'horned', śvanīnam (VS. xxx. 7) 'keeping dogs', śahasra-poṣīnam 'thriving a thousandfold', śahasrīnam. — 3. ā-dvayāvinam, ubhayāvinam 'partaking of both', tarasvinam, namasvinam 'reverential', māyāvinam 'employing deceit', medhāvinam (VS. xxxii. 14) 'possessed of wisdom', rakṣasvinam 'demoniacal'.

I. 1. arcinā 'shining', aśvinā, kimīdinā 'evil spirit', kīrinā 'praising'⁴, balinā (TS. III. 3. 8²) 'strong', mandinā, *mahā-vaṭūrinā*⁵ 'very wide', vaṭūrinā 'wide', vājīnā. — 3. rakṣasvinā.

D. 1. abhyā-varīne, a-mitrīne 'hostile', ava-bhedīne (VS. xvi. 34) 'splitting', ā-tatāyīne (VS. xvi. 18) 'having one's bow drawn', ā-yudhīne (VS. xvi. 36) 'warrior', upa-vītīne (VS. xvi. 17) 'wearing the sacred cord', uṣṇīṣīne (VS. xvi. 22) 'wearing a turban', kapardīne, kavacīne (VS. xvi. 35) 'mailed', kārīne, kimīdinē, tantrāyīne (VS. xxxviii. 12) 'drawing out rays', nī-vyādhīne (VS. xvi. 20) 'piercing', nī-śaṅgīne (VS. xvi. 20) 'sword-bearer', pra-sakṣīne 'victorious', bilminē (VS. xvi. 35) 'having a helmet', bhāmīne 'angry', manṣīne, mantrīne (VS. xvi. 19) 'wise', mandīne, mahīne 'mighty', rathīne, vajrīne, varāthīne (VS. xvi. 35) 'wearing armour', varmīne (VS.), vi-namṣīne (VS. ix. 20) 'vanishing', vi-rapṣīne, *vy-aśnuv-īne*⁶ (VS. xii. 32) a genius of food, vyādhīne (VS. xvi. 18) 'piercer', śākīne, śīprīne, śuṣmīne, śoḍaśīne (VS. viii. 33), sv-āyudhīne (VS. xvi. 36) 'having good weapons'. — 3. rakṣasvinē.

² As this compound occurs only once beside the simple adj. yayī, which occurs several times, the former is perhaps a transfer from the i-declension.

³ mandī-m (I. 92) is probably a transition form; but BR. regard it as a contraction in pronunciation of mandīnam.

⁴ GRASSMANN in I. 100⁹ proposes to read kīrinē.

⁵ Accented like Bahuvrīhi; but cp. p. 154⁵.

⁶ Formed from the present stem of vaś: vi-aś-nuv-in.

⁷ From rīta- for rītas- 'seed'.

4. Labial Stems.

a. Stems in (radical) -p.

334. These stems are inflected alike in the masculine and feminine, there being no neuters. All the monosyllables are feminine substantives.

* According to LANMAN 544 the -ā forms occur 369 times, the -au forms 32 times.

They are: āp 'water', kīp 'beauty', kṣāp 'night', kṣīp 'finger', rīp 'deceit', rīp 'earth', *vīp*¹ 'rod'. Feminine are also the compounds ātāp 'heating', pāti-rīp 'deceiving a husband', vi-śāp 'summit', ṛta-sāp 'performing worship'. All other compound stems are masculine. They are: agni-tāp 'enjoying the warmth of fire', *abhī-lāpa-lāp*² (AV.) 'excessively whimpering', *asu-tīp*³ 'delighting in lives', keta-sāp 'obeying the will (of another)', pari-rāp 'crying around', *paśu-tīp*³ 'delighting in herds', *pra-sīp*⁴ 'slumbering', ṛity-āp 'having streaming (ṛiti-) water'.

a. The distinction of strong and weak forms appears in āp and its compound ṛity-āp, as well as in the two compounds of sar 'serve', ṛta-sāp and keta-sāp. The strong form āpas is used a few times in the A. pl., but the long vowel in pari-rāpas as A. pl. is due to the metre; on the other hand, the weak form apās appears twice in the AV. as N. pl.

b. The A. pl. apās is nearly always accented on the ending as a weak case; kṣapās similarly appears two or three times, and vīpās once.

c. No N. sing. m. or f. occurs, but a n. transition form once appears in this case: viśāpa-m (IX. 113¹⁰), a form which doubtless started from the A. sing. f. viśāp-am. The n. pl. of the same transition stem occurs once as viśāpāḥ (VIII. 80⁵). Two other transition forms are kṣapābhis and kṣīpābhis.

Inflexion.

335. The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. A. m. paśu-tīpam. — f. vi-śāpam: — I. m. vīpā 'priest'. — f. apā, kṛpā, kṣapā, vīpā. — Ab. f. apās; ātāpas, vi-śāpas. — G. m. *vīpas*⁵. — f. apās, kṣapās, vīpās, rupās. — L. f. vi-śāpi.

Du. N. m. ṛity-āpāḥ; *asu-tīpau*⁶.

Pl. N. m. ṛta-sāpas, keta-sāpas, V. ṛiti-āpas; vīpas; agni-tāpas, abhī-lāpa-lāpas (AV.), asu-tīpas, pra-sīpas. — f. āpas, V. āpas, ṛta-sāpas; kṣīpas, vīpas, rīpas; pāti-rīpas. The A. form apās occurs twice in the AV. for the N. f.

A. m. asu-tīpas, *pari-rāpas*⁸. — f. apās and *āpas*⁹, kṣapās and *kṣāpas*¹⁰, vīpās and *vīpas*¹¹, rīpas.

I. f. *adbhis*¹². — D. f. *adbhyās*¹² (VS. VI. 9). — Ab. f. *adbhyās*¹². — G. m. vīpām. — f. *apām*¹³, kṣapām, vīpām. — L. f. *apsū*¹⁴.

b. Stems in (radical) -bh.

336. Both masculines and feminines occur in this declension, but there are no neuters. The stems comprise five monosyllables formed from roots, together with compounds of three of the latter (grabh-, śubh-, stubbh-), and kakūbbh-. The stems are: kṣūbbh- f. 'push', gṛbbh- f. 'seizing', nābbh- f. 'destroyer', śūbbh- f. 'splendour', stībbh- adj. 'praising', f. 'praise'; jīva-gṛbbh- m. 'capturing alive', 'bailiff', sute-gṛbbh- 'taking hold of the Soma', syūma-gṛbbh- 'seizing the

¹ vīp- as an adjective is used as a m. also.

² An irregular intensive formation.

³ Cp. KLUGE, KZ. 25, 311f.

⁴ From svap- 'sleep'.

⁵ With irregular accent.

⁶ Cp. LANMAN 482 (middle).

⁷ There is also the transition form in the n. vi-śāpā.

⁸ Metrical for pari-rāpas, which is the reading of the Pada text in II. 233¹⁴; see RPr. IX. 26.

⁹ apās is the regular form occurring 152 times in the RV. and 26 times in the AV. The strong form āpas is used half a dozen times in books I and X of the RV., and 16 times in the AV.; it also occurs in Kh. III. 9.

¹⁰ kṣāpas 6 or 8 times in RV., kṣapās 2 or 3 times.

¹¹ vīpas thrice, vīpās once in RV.

¹² By dissimilation for ab-bhis*, ab-bhyās*; cp. JOHANSSON, IF. 4, 134—146. See LANMAN 483. There are also the two transfer forms kṣapābhis and kṣīpābhis, each occurring once.

¹³ On the metrical value of apām see LANMAN 484 (top).

¹⁴ BR. regard apāsu in VIII. 4¹⁴ as = apsū with inserted -a-. See LANMAN 484.

reins'; rathe-slibh- 'flying along in a car'; anu-slibh- f. 'after-praise', a metre, ṛta-slibh- 'praising duly', tri-slibh- 'triple praise', a metre, pari-slibh- 'exulting on every side', saṃ-slibh- (VS.) 'shout of joy', a metre, gharma-slibh- 'shouting in the heat', chandaḥ-slibh- 'praising in hymns', ṛṣa-slibh- 'calling aloud', su-slibh- 'uttering a shrill cry'; kaklibh- f. 'peak', tri-kaklibh- 'three-pointed'.

a. The distinction of strong and weak forms does not appear except in the N. and A. pl. of nābh-. The inflexion of these stems is incompletely represented, there being no dual forms, and no plural forms the endings of which begin with a consonant.

Inflection.

337. The forms occurring are:

Sing. N. m. stlib-; tri-kaklib-. — f. anu-stlib- (VS. AV.), anu-slib- (TS. v. 2. 11¹), tri-stlib-; kaklib- (VS. AV.).

A. m. rathe-slibham, suteglibham. — f. glibham, slibham; ṛta-slibham, anu-slibham, tri-slibham; kaklibham.

I. m. stlibhā; su-slibhā. — f. ksubhā, grbhā, subhā; anu-slibhā, tri-slibhā (VS. xvii. 34; TS. ii. 2. 4³); kaklibhā (VS. xxviii. 44).

L. f. tri-slibhi (VS. xxxviii. 18); kaklibhi (TS. iii. 3. 9²; VS. xv. 4).

Pl. N. m. chandaḥ-slibhas, ṛṣa-slibhas, pari-slibhas, su-slibhas. — f. *nābhas*², slibhas, slibhas.

A. f. nābhas, slibhas; tri-slibhas, pari-slibhas; kaklibhas.

G. f. kaklibhām.

c. Stems in -m.

338. There are only about half a dozen stems in -m which among them muster a few more than a dozen forms. All are monosyllables except a compound of nam- 'bend'. Neuters are sām- 'happiness' and perhaps dām- 'house'. A possible m. is him- 'cold'; and there are four feminines: kām-, gām-, and jām-, all meaning 'earth', and saṃ-nām- (AV.) 'favour'. Strong and weak forms are distinguished in kām-, which lengthens the vowel in the strong cases, and syncopates it in one of the two weak cases occurring; gām- and jām- are found in weak cases only, where they syncopate the vowel. The forms occurring are the following:

Sing. N. A. n. sām. — I. f. kāmā, jāmā; m. *him-ā*³. — Ab. f. kāmās, gmās, jāmās. — G. f. gmās, *jāmās*⁴; n. *dām*⁵. — L. f. *kāmā*⁶. — Du. N. f. kāmā, dyāvā-kāmā 'heaven and earth'. — Pl. N. f. kāmās; saṃ-nāmas (AV.). — G. n. dāmām.

¹ The form dābhas in v. 19⁴ is regarded by BR. and GRASSMANN as N. sing. m. 'destroyer'. LANMAN 485 thinks it may be a G. sing. f. with wrong accent.

² Strong form.

³ This is the only form, occurring twice, from a possible stem him-, beside himēna, from himā. It might, however, be an I. from the latter stem. Cp. 372.

⁴ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 580.

⁵ For dām-s* (like ā-gan* for ā-gam-s*) occurring only in the expressions pātiṛ dām and pāti dām and equivalent to dām-pātiḥ and dām-pāti at the end of a triṣubh line. Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 453.

5. Stems in Sibilants.

1. a. Stems in radical s and ṣ.

339. In radical stems ending in s and ṣ, the sibilants are identical in origin, both being alike etymologically based on the dental s, which remains after ā, but is cerebralized after other vowels and after k. In the RV. there are of radical s-stems some 40 derived from about 15 roots; of radical ṣ-stems, some 50 derived from about 15 roots; in both groups taken together there are nearly 20 monosyllabic stems, the rest being compounds. Masculine and feminine stems are about equally numerous; but there are altogether only 7 or 8 neuters.

a. The distinction between strong and weak forms appears in three words: pīmāns and pums- 'male'; nās- and nas- 'nose'; uktha-śās- and uktha-śas- 'uttering verses'. The A. pl. has the accentuation of weak stems in the masculines jñās-ās, pūṣ-ās, mās-ās and in the feminines iṣ-ās, uṣ-ās, dviṣ-ās.

b. The stem ās- 'face' is supplemented in its inflexion by the an- stem ās-an; the stem iṣ- is supplemented before consonant endings by iṣ-ī-; and dīs- 'fore-arm' is supplemented by doṣ-an- in the dual form doṣānī (AV. IX. 77).

c. Transitions to the a- or ā-declension appear in forms made from ās- 'face', iṣ- 'refreshment', kās- 'cough', nās- 'nose', mās- 'month', āśās- 'hope', nī-miṣ- 'winking'. 1. From ās-, beside and probably through the influence of the I. sing. ās-ā, is formed the adv. āsaya 'before the face of' (as from a stem āsā-, and with adverbial shift of accent instead of āsāyā*). — 2. Forms like G. iṣ-ās gave rise to iṣ-ā-m; and the supplementary stem iṣā- probably started from the I. sing. iṣ-ā, which itself was probably due to iṣ- the form assumed by iṣ- before bh- endings; the stem iṣ- further shows a transition to the i- declension in the D. iṣāye. — 3. From kās- 'cough' there is the transition V. kāse (AV.). — 4. The strong dual form nās-ā furnished a transition to an ā-stem, from which is formed the dual nāse (AV.). — 5. As pād-am gave rise to a new N. pādā-s, so from mās-am arose the new stem māsa-, from which are formed the N. sing. māsa-s and the A. pl. māsān. — 6. In the RV. the stem āśās- alone is used; but in the AV. appears the A. āśām (perhaps a contraction for āśāsam) which, understood as āśā-m, was probably the starting point of the āśā-, the only stem in the later language. — 7. From nī-miṣ- 'winking' there appear, beside the regular compound forms A. ā-nimiṣ-am, I. ā-nimiṣ-ā f. 'non-winking', the transition forms N. a-nimiṣā-s, A. a-nimiṣā-m, I. a-nimiṣeṇa, N. pl. a-nimiṣās, adj. 'unwinking', with the regular Bahuvrihi accent (90 B c).

Inflexion.

340. In the N. sing. the sibilant is of course dropped if preceded by a consonant, as an-āk 'eyeless', pīmān 'man'. Otherwise s remains, while ṣ becomes *ṣ*². Before bh- endings, s becomes d in two forms which occur (mād-bhīs, mād-bhyās)³ and r in the only other one (dor-bhyām); while ṣ becomes ḍ in the only example occurring (vi-prīḍ-bhīs).

The forms actually occurring, if made from mās-⁴ m. 'month' as an s-stem, and from dviṣ- f. 'hatred' as a ṣ-stem, would be as follows:

Sing. N.⁵ mās; dviṣ. A. māsam; dviṣam. I. māśā; dviṣā. D. māse; dviṣe. Ab. māsās; dviṣās. G. māsās; dviṣās. L. māsi; dviṣi. — Du. N. A. māsā; dviṣā. G. māsās. L. māsās (AV. TS.). — Pl. N. māsas; dviṣas. A. māsās; dviṣas and dviṣās. I. mādbhīs; dviḍbhīs. D. mādbhyās (AV.). Ab. mādbhyās (AV.). G. māsām; dviṣām. L. māssī (AV.).

The forms actually occurring are:

¹ As kṣap- and kṣip- by kṣapā- and kṣipā- respectively.

² It becomes k only in the n. form dadhīk 'boldly', used as an adv. from dadhīṣ-, if the word is derived from dhyṣ- 'be bold'; but the word is perhaps more probably derived from dṛk- 'be firm', see BR. s. v. dadhīk, and cp. BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 12, Anzeiger p. 28.

³ Cp. J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 26, 340.

⁵ The only V. occurring is pumas.

i. b. Stems in derivative -s.

a. Stems in -is and -us.

341. The stems formed with the suffixes -is and -us may best be treated together, as their inflexion is identical. The -is stems, numbering about a dozen, consist primarily of neuters only¹⁰; these when they are final members of compounds are secondarily inflected as masculines also, but only in a single form (N. sing. svā-śocis 'self-radiant') as feminine. The -us stems, numbering sixteen (exclusive of compounds) in the RV., include primary masculines (two also as f.) as well as neuters; three of the latter as final members of compounds are also inflected as feminine. Eleven of the -us stems are neuter substantives, all but one accented on the radical syllable; four of these are also used as m. adjectives¹¹ accented in the same way (ārus, cākṣus-, tāpus-, vāpus-). Three of those -us stems which are exclusively m. are adjectives accented on the suffix, while two are substantives accented on the root (nāh-us-, mān-us-)¹².

a. The N. A. pl. n. are distinguished as strong forms by lengthening and nasalizing the vowel of the suffix (as in the -as stems), e. g. jyāṭīmī and cākṣūmī.

b. Among these stems appear a number of transitions to, and a few from, other declensions. 1. The N. sing. n., as in śoc-is and cākṣ-us, having in some passages the appearance of a N. sing. m. śoci-s and cākṣu-s, led to formations according to the i- and u-declension. Such are N. pl. śocāyas (AV.) 'flames', V. sing. pāvaka-śoce 'shining brightly', bhadrā-śoce 'shining beautifully', śukra-śoce 'shining brilliantly'; N. pl. arcāyas 'beams', I. pl. arci-bhis. The form of krav-is 'raw flesh' in the compound ā-kravi-hasta 'not having bloody hands' is probably due to the same cause. From cākṣ-us 'eye' is once formed the Ab. cākṣo-s and the V. sahasra-cakṣo (AV.) 'thousand-eyed'. From tāp-us 'hot' is once

³ There is also the transition form māsām.

⁴ īśas occurs 63 times, iśās 7 times in the RV.

⁵ dvīśas occurs 39 times, dvīśās 4 times in the RV.

⁶ The meaning of this word is perhaps 'libations in ladles'.

⁷ There is also the transition form i-śābhis as an I. pl. of īś-.

⁸ This word, occurring in this form only, might be a f.

⁹ māssu- occurs Pañc. Br. IV. 4. 1 and māsū (like pūṃsū for pūṃs-sū) TS. VII. 5. 22. The f. transition form iśāsū occurs as the L. pl. of īś-.

¹⁰ There seems no reason why ām-is occurring in L. s. only, should exceptionally be regarded as m. (BR., LANMAN, GRASSMANN).

¹¹ One of these, tāpus 'hot', has a single f. form, A. du. tāpuṣā.

formed the G. tāp-s; from van-ús 'desiring', as if vanti-s in N., the A. sing. vanti-m and pl. vanti; from āy-us 'life' occurs not only the I. sing. āy-u-i, but several compound forms, V. dirghāyo 'long-lived', adadhāyo (VS.) 'having unimpaired vigour', A. pradhāy-u-m 'full of vigour', n. vīdhāy 'all-quickening', A. m. vīdhāy-u-m, D. vīdhāy-u, G. vīdhāy-u-s. — 2. There are also some transition forms from three masculines in -u-, by extension of the stem, to the a-declension: from nāh-us 'neighbour', starting perhaps from the G. nāh-us taken as a N. sing. nāh-us, are made the G. nāh-u-sya and the I. nāh-u; from mān-us 'man', starting from the N. pl. mān-us taken as a N. sing. mān-us, come the D. mān-u-sya and the G. mān-u-sya; from vāp-us 'beauty', once D. vāp-u-sya beside the frequent vāp-u. — 3. On the other hand, there are a few transitions from the declension of i- and u- stems to that of stems in -is and -us. Beside su-rabhi- 'fragrant', the superlative form *su-rabhi-jamam*² occurs once; and beside numerous compounds formed with īri- appear the stems īri-jamant- 'powerful' and īri-jama- 'strongest'. Beside the G. dāh-s and dāh-s 'burning', there appears once the form *dakṣi-s*³, which is doubtless due to the false analogy of forms like īstākṣas. Though mān-us 'man' may be an independent formation beside mān-u, the probability is rather in favour of regarding it as secondary (starting from a N. mān-u), because mān-u shows eight case-forms, but mān-us only three. The stem ā-grāy-u, occurring only once beside the less rare ā-grāy-u, probably represents a transition from the latter stem.

Inflection.

342. The final s becomes ṣ before vowel endings, and r before -bh. The inflexion of the n. is the same as that of the m. except in the A. sing., N. A. du. and pl. The only f. forms occurring are in the N. or A. They are the following: N. sing. śat-śocis 'self-radiant'; cākṣus 'seeing', ā-ghora-cākṣus 'not having an evil eye', hradē-cākṣus 'reflected in a lake'; citrāyus 'possessed of wonderful vitality'; A. du. tāpuṣā 'hot'; A. pl. gṛ-vapūṣas 'having the form of cows'.

The actual forms occurring, if made from śocis- 'glow' in the n., and from -śocis- in the m. (when it differs from the n.), and from cākṣus- 'eye' as n. and 'seeing' as m., would be as follows:

1. Sing. N. śocis. A. śocis; m. -śociṣam. I. śociṣā. D. śociṣe. Ab. śociṣas. G. śociṣas. L. śociṣi. V. śocis. — Pl. N. A. śociṣi; m. -śociṣas. I. śociṣbhis. D. m. -śociṣbhyas. G. śociṣam. L. śociṣsu.

2. Sing. N. cākṣus. A. cākṣus; m. cākṣuṣam. I. cākṣuṣā. D. cākṣuṣe. Ab. G. cākṣuṣas. L. cākṣuṣi. — Du. N. A. cākṣuṣi; m. cākṣuṣā. D. cākṣurbhyām (VS.). — Pl. N. A. cākṣuṣi; m. cākṣuṣas. I. cākṣurbhis. D. cākṣurbhyas (VS.). G. cākṣuṣam.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

Sing. N. m. 1. ā-havis 'not offering oblations', kṛṣṇā-vyathis 'whose path is black'; citrā-jyotis (VS. xvii. 80) 'shining brilliantly', śukrā-jyotis (VS. xii. 15) 'brightly shining', satyā-jyotis (VS. xvii. 80) 'truly brilliant', su-jyotis (VS. xxxvii. 21) 'shining well'; citrā-śocis 'shining brilliantly', durōka-śocis 'glowing unpleasantly', śukrā-śocis 'bright-rayed'; jīvā-barhis (AV.) ¹ There is probably insufficient reason to assume a primary independently formed stem -āy-u- beside āy-us; cp. LANMAN 569 (bottom).

² Retaining the s of the N. like indras-vant-.

³ īri-is as an independent formation would be irregular, since the radical vowel otherwise shows Guna before the suffix -is (134).

⁴ Desiderative adj. from dah- 'burn'.

⁵ The Pada text has dhakṣiṣas.

⁶ Cp. LANMAN 570 (bottom).

β. Stems in -as.

343. Primarily this declension consists almost entirely of neuters, which are accented on the root, as mān-as 'mind'; but these as final members of adjective compounds may be inflected in all three genders, as N. m. f. su-mānās, n. su-mānas 'well-disposed'. There are besides a few primary masculines, which are accented on the suffix, being either substantives, as rakṣ-ās 'demon', or adjectives, some of which occur in the f. also (as well as n.), as ap-ās 'active'; and one feminine, us-ās 'dawn'⁴.

a. Strong cases are regularly distinguished only in the N. A. pl. n., where the vowel of the suffix is lengthened and nasalized⁵ (as in the -is and -us stems), as āṃhīṃsi 'troubles'. Otherwise the stem uśās- shows in the A. sing., N. A. du., N. V. pl., strong forms with lengthened vowel in the suffix, which occur beside the unlengthened forms⁶, the latter being nearly three times as frequent in the RV. The long vowel is here required by the metre in 20 out of 28 occurrences, and is favoured by the metre in the rest⁷; so that the lengthening may be due to metrical exigencies. The strong form *uśāśas*⁸ occurs once (X. 39¹) for the weak uśāsas as the G. sing. or A. pl. There is further the single strong form N. du. m. *totāśā*⁹ 'bestowing abundantly'¹⁰.

b. Supplementary stems ending in -as beside -an are śbhvas- 'skilful' (as well as śbhva-) beside śbhvan-, and śikvas- 'strong' (as well as śikva-) beside śikvan-.

c. There is here a large number of transition forms both to and from the ā-declension. Many pairs of stems in -a and -as are common in both forms and seem therefore to be of independent derivation. But there are also a good many such doublets of which the one is the normal stem, while the other has come into being through mistaken analogy or metrical exigency. 1. In the transitions to the a-declension several may be explained as starting from the misleading analogy of contracted forms. To this group belong the following: from āṅgiras-, a name of Agni, I. sing. āṅgire beside N. pl. āṅgīrās; from ān-āgas- 'sinless', A. pl. ān-āgān beside A. sing. ān-āgām and N. pl. ān-āgās; from ap-sarāś- 'water-nymph', apsarābhīyas (AV.), apsarāsu (AV.), apsarā-patās (AV.) beside apsarān (AV.); from uśās- 'dawn', N. du. uśā (VS.), uśābhīyām (VS.), beside A. sing. uśām and pl. uśās; from jarāś- m. 'old age', f. sing. N. jarā (AV. VS.), D. jarāyai (AV.), beside

² Also the transition form vanūn.

³ Also the transition form arī-bhis.

⁴ The derivation of a few stems ending in -as is obscure; as upās- 'lap' (only I. sing.), and viśāśas- 'destroying enemies'.

⁵ On the origin of this form as a combination of -ān-i and -ās-i see JOHANSSON, BB. 18, 3 and cp. GGA. 1890, p. 762.

⁶ The lengthened vowel never occurs in the Pada text in these forms (excepting of course the N. uśās).

⁷ See ARNOLD, Vedic Metre, p. 130, 11 (a); cp. LANMAN 546.

⁸ The Pada text has uśāśah.

⁹ Here the long vowel appears in the Pada text also. This is the only form made from the stem totāś- (from tuś- 'drip').

¹⁰ The form sa-psarāśas 'enjoying in common(?)', occurring once, must be the pl. of sa-psarāś- (BR., GRASSMANN), not of sa-psarāś-* (LANMAN 546, GELDNER, VS. 3, 197), because -as is never accented in Bahuvrīhi compounds; see WACKERNAGEL 2¹, p. 301 d, note. su-medhās- 'very wise' is not a Bahuvrīhi.

A. jarām†; from sa-jāṣas 'united', N. du. sa-jāṣau beside pl. sa-jāṣās. There is a further group of transitions to the a-declension starting not from contracted forms, but from the N. sing. n. understood as m. 2. From āvas 'favour' is thus formed I. devana; from krāndas 'battle-cry', D. krāndāya 3 (AV.), and the compound śūci-krānda-m 'crying aloud'; from sārdhas n. 'troop' the m. forms sārdha-m, sārdhena, sārdhāya, sārdha-sya, sārdhān 4; from hēḥas n., once (I. 94¹²) hēḥas N. m., hence A. hēḥa-m (AV.), L. hēḥo; also the compound forms N. f. du. a-dveṣe 'not ill-disposed', beside dveṣas 'hate'; dur-śka-m (VII. 43) 'unwanted' beside śkas 'abode'; vi-dradhē (IV. 32²³) 'unclothed' (?) beside drādhāsī (TS.) 'garments'; prthu-jrāya-m (IV. 44¹) 'far-extending' beside jrāyas 'expanse'; puru-pēśisu 'multiform' beside pēśas 'form' 5.

2. The second class, comprising transitions to the -as declension, consists of the two groups of transfers from the radical -ā stems and the derivative -a stems. The former group embraces forms of compounds made from kṣā 'abode', pra-jā 'offspring', -dā 'giving', -dhā 'bestowing', besides mā-s 'moon', starting from the N. in -ā which is identical in form with that of stems in -as. The forms of this type are the following: N. pl. divā-kṣas-as beside N. sing. divā-kṣā-s 'having an abode in heaven'; A. sing. d-prajas-am (AV. VS.) 'childless', A. pl. f. ida-prajas-as (TS. MS.), A. sing. su-prajās-am (AV.), N. pl. m. su-prajās-as (AV. TS.) 'having a good son' beside N. sing. m. su-prajā-s; V. draviṇo-das 6 beside N. sing. draviṇo-dā-s, A. draviṇo-dā-m 'wealth-giving'; varco-dās-au (VS.) 'granting vigour'; reto-dhās-as (VS.) 'impregnating' beside N. sing. m. reto-dhā-s; A. vayo-dhās-am (VS.), I. vayo-dhās-ā (VS.), vayo-dhās-e (VS.), V. vayo-dhas, N. pl. vayo-dhās-as (AV.) beside N. sing. vayo-dhā-s 'bestowing vigour'; D. sing. varco-dhās-e (AV.) beside N. sing. varco-dhā-s (AV.) and A. sing. f. varco-dhā-m (VS.); of candrā-mās 7 'moon' all the forms occurring, except the N. sing., which is their starting-point, are transfer forms: A. candrā-masam (VS. XIII. 59¹), I. candrā-masā (AV.), D. candrā-mase (VS.), G. candrā-masas, L. candrā-masi (AV.), V. candramas (AV.), N. du. candrā-masā, stīryā-candra-māsā and stīryā-candra-māsau.

3. There are further several sporadic transition forms from -as stems occurring beside the ordinary corresponding -a stem. These may sometimes have started from an ambiguous N. sing., but they seem usually to be due to metrical exigencies. Such forms are the following: dākṣas-e, dākṣas-as, pūtā-dākṣas-ā and pūtā-dākṣas-as beside very frequent forms of dākṣa 'skill'; doṣās-as 8 (AV.) once beside forms of doṣā 'evening' (viśvāyān)-poṣas-am beside the common pōṣa; N. sing. sā-bharās, A. viśvā-bharas-am beside the frequent bhāra 'supporting'; veśās-as 9 (AV.) beside veśā 'neighbour'; śēpas as A. sing. in AV. (XIV. 23³) for the śēpam of the RV., from śēpa m. 'tail', N. sing. śēpa-s; N. sing. m. su-śēvās occurs in the AV. as a variant for su-śēva-s 'very dear' of the RV.; sahāsra-śokās occurs once as N. sing. m. beside the common śoka 'flame'; A. sing. tuvī-svanās-am and N. pl. tuvī-svanās-as, beside svand 'sound'; A. pl. f. gharmā-svaras-as beside svarā 'roaring'; also the D. dhruvās-e (VII. 70¹) for dhruvāya to which it is preferred owing to the metre and the influence of infinitives in -āse, and similarly vrthās-e (v. 64⁵) parallel to vrthāya (VIII. 83⁶).

4. There are besides a few quite abnormal transition forms. The occurrence of the very frequent N. pl. m. of vi 'bird' with a singular verb (I. 141⁸) and once as an A. pl. (I. 104¹) may have produced the impression of a n. collective vāyas and thus led to the n. pl. vāyāmsi (AV.), helped perhaps by the existence of the very frequent n. stem vāyas 'food'. The isolated form N. sing. m. sv-āñcās is probably lengthened for sv-āñc-as (like su-śēvās for su-śēvas) which started from the A. sing. m. sv-āñc-am. The G. du. rōdas-os occurs once (IX. 22³), evidently on account of the metre instead of the ordinary rōdasī-os 10.

² In VI. 66⁶ rikas might be taken as N. sing. m. (as GRASSMANN takes it) beside rokās, m.

³ Cp. also the D. carāyai (VII. 77¹) beside carāse (I. 92¹, v. 47⁴), and tārāya (II. 131²) beside tārāse (III. 18³).

⁴ Cp. LANMAN 353 and 554, 8.

⁵ There is also an -as stem extended with -a in the D. ā-jarasāya (X. 85⁴) 'till old age', based on the adv. compound ā-jaras-ām (B.)

⁶ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 398.

Indo-aryische Philologie. I. 4.

⁷ From mās (A. mās-am, etc.), where the s belongs to the stem. It is formed probably with -as from mā 'measure' (mā-as), being thus in origin a contracted -as stem, in which, however, the N. mās giving rise to the transition forms was understood as the lengthened form of mas*.

⁸ In uśāso doṣās-as c1 (AV. XVI. 4⁹) obviously due to parallelism with uśāsas.

⁹ Clearly owing to the metre instead of veśāsas.

¹⁰ Similarly akṣ-ās occurs in AV. v. 111¹⁰ (but contrary to the metre) for akṣ-ōs. On the transition forms of the -as declension cp. LANMAN 546—558.

Inflexion.

344. The N. sing. m. f. lengthens the vowel of the suffix; e. g. m. *āṅgīrās*¹, f. uśās. In about a dozen compounds the long vowel appears (owing to the influence of the m.) in the n. also; e. g. ārpa-mradīs 'soft as wool'. Before endings with initial bh the suffix -as becomes *-o*². The forms actually occurring, if made from āpas- n. 'work' and apās- m. f. 'active', would be as follows:

Sing. N. āpas; apās. A. āpas; apāsam. I. āpasā; apāsī. D. āpase; apāse. Ab. āpasas; apāsas. G. āpasas; apāsas. L. āpasī; apāsī. V. āpas; āpas. — Du. N. A. V. āpasī; apāsī and *apāsau*³. D. apābhyām (VS.). G. āpasos (VS.). — Pl. N. āpāmsi; apāsas. A. āpāmsi; apāsas. I. āpobhis; apābhis. D. āpobhyas; apābhyas. Ab. āpobhyas. G. āpasām; apāsām. L. āpassu; *apāssu*⁴.

The forms actually occurring are as follows:

Sing. N. m. *āṅgīrās*⁵ an epithet of Agni, dāmāntās 'domestic', nodhās name of a seer, yaśās 'glorious', raksās 'demon', vedhās 'ordainer'; compounds: a-ctās 'senseless', aty-āpās (VS. xvii. 80) 'beyond distress', adri-barhās 'fast as a rock', ā-āpās 'free from duplicity', *an-āgās*⁶ 'sinless', an-ādās 'udderless', āmāna-varcās 'having full splendour', an-enās 'guiltless', ā-pracetās 'foolish', abhibhūty-ijās 'having superior power', āmitanijās 'almighty', a-rapās 'unhurt', āpāyāta-hehās 'whose anger is appeased', āsamāty-ōjās 'of unequalled strength', ā-handās 'exuberant', uru-cākṣās 'far-seeing', uru-tyācās 'widely extending', ṛṣi-manās 'of far-seeing mind', ṛṣādijās 'having sublime (ṛṣā-) power', kārī-dhāyās 'favouring the singer', kṛtī-vāsās (VS. iii. 61) 'wearing a skin', kṛta-vedās 'knowing the intention', khādo-arpās 'having a devouring flood', gabhrīd-vepās 'deeply moved', gūrtī-manās 'having a grateful mind', gūrtī-śravās 'the praise of whom is welcome', gā-nyeghās 'streaming among milk', ghṛtā-prayās 'relishing ghee', jātī-vedīs 'knowing created beings', tād-apās 'accustomed to that work', tād-okās 'rejoicing in that', tād-ōjās 'endowed with such strength', tarād-dveṣās 'overcoming foes', tigmā-tejās (VS. i. 24) 'keen-edged', tri-vayās 'having threefold food', dubhrī-ctās 'little-minded', dasmā-varcās 'of wonderful appearance', dīrghā-tamās N. of a seer, dīrghāpsās 'having a long fore-part', dur-āsās 'hard to excite', devā-psarās 'serving the gods as a feast', devā-śravās 'having divine renown', dvi-bārḥās 'doubly strong', nā-vedās 'cognisant', nr-cākṣās 'watching men', nr-mānās 'mindful of men', ny-ōkās 'domestic', pāvaka-varcās 'brightly resplendent', purā-rāvās (VS. v. 2) N., prthu-jrīyās 'widely extended', prthu-pājās 'far-shining', prā-ctās 'attentive', prā-vayās 'vigorous', bāhv-ōjās 'strong in the arm', brhāc-chravās 'loud-sounding', brhād-ravās (VS. v. 22) 'loud-sounding', brhād-vayās (TS. i. 5. 10²) 'grown strong', bodhīn-manās 'watchful-minded', bhūri-retās (VS. xx. 44) 'abounding in seed', bhūry-ōjās 'having great power', mādhū-vacās 'sweet-voiced', māno-javās 'swift as thought', mahā-yaśās (Kh. iv. 8³) 'very glorious', mitrā-mahās 'rich in friends', raghū-pātma-jamhās 'having a light-falling foot', ¹ The stems svā-tavas- and sv-āvas- form the irregular N. svā-tavān and sv-āvān, VS. sv-āvān.

² Except in f. uśādbhis and m. svā-tavādbhyas (VS.); cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 713 (bottom).

³ The ending -au is here very rare and occurs chiefly in the later Samhitās.

⁴ Represented in f. by āpasāssu (Kh.) and m. apāsu if for apāssu.

⁶ The form an-āpās (AV. vii. 90³), meaning perhaps 'not producing conception', may belong to this declension. See WHITNEY's note. LANMAN 443, places it under radical -ā stems.

rāthaujās (VS. xv. 15) 'having the strength of a chariot', viśādās 'destroying enemies', viśu-śravās 'famous for wealth', vāta-ramhās 'fleet as wind', vi-cetās 'clearly seen', vi-manās 'very wise', viśvā-cakṣās 'all-seeing', viśvā-dhātās 'all-sustaining', *viśvā-bharās*¹ (VS. xi. 32) 'all-supporting', viśvā-bhojās 'all-nourishing', viśvā-manās 'perceiving everything', viśvā-vedās 'omniscient', viśvā-uyacās (VS. xiii. 56) 'embracing all things', viśvāujās 'all-powerful', vi-hāyās 'mighty', vīlu-dvṛṣās 'hating strongly', vīli-harās 'holding fast', vṛddhā-mahās 'of great might', vṛddhā-vayās 'of great power', vṛddhā-śravās 'possessed of great swiftness', satā-tejās (VS. i. 24) 'having a hundredfold vital power', satā-payās (TS. γ. Stems in -yāms.

345. The primary suffix -yāms (137)⁵ is used to form comparative stems. It is added either directly or with connecting -r- to the root, which is always accented. There are seven duplicate stems formed in both ways: tāv-yāms- and tāv-ryāms- 'stronger'; nāv-yāms- and nāv-ryāms- 'new'; pāv-yāms- and pāv-ryāms- 'more wonderful'; bhāv-yāms- and bhāv-ryāms- 'more'; rābh-yāms- and rābh-ryāms- (VS.) 'more violent'; vāsyāms- and vāsy-ryāms- 'better'; sāh-yāms- and sāh-ryāms- 'mightier'. Strong and weak forms are regularly distinguished. In the latter the suffix is reduced by loss of the nasal and shortening of the vowel to -yas. These stems are declined in the m. and n. only, as they form their f. by adding -r- to the weak stem; e. g. prāyas-r- 'dearer'. No forms of the dual occur, and in the plural only the N. A. G. are found.

Inflection.

346. The V. sing. m. ends in *-as*⁶. The forms actually occurring, if made from kānt-yāms- 'younger', would be as follows:

8. Stems in -vāms.

347. The suffix -vāms⁶ is used to form the stem of the perfect participle active. Strong and weak stem⁷ are regularly distinguished; but the latter assumes two different forms according as it is followed by a vowel or a consonant. The suffix is reduced before vowels, by loss of the nasal and Samprasāraṇa, to -us which becomes -us; before a consonant (i. e. bh), it is reduced, by loss of the nasal and shortening of the vowel, to -vas, which becomes -vat⁸. The latter form of the stem occurs only three times in the RV. There are thus three stems employed in the inflexion of these participles: -vāms, -vat, -us. The weakest form of the stem (-us) appears instead of the strong twice in the A. sing. m. and once in the N. pl. m. The accent rests on the suffix in all its forms except in compounds formed with the negative a- or with su- 'well' and du- 'ill', where it shifts to these particles. This declension is restricted to the m. and n., as the f. is formed by adding -ṛ to the weakest stem, as jagmūṣ-ṛ 'having gone'. There are altogether (including compounds) about 75 stems in -vāms in the RV.

2. Radical Stems in -ś.

349. This declension comprises only radical stems, both monosyllabic and compound, formed from some dozen roots, numbering altogether about sixty. Some forty of these occur in the m., nearly thirty in the f. and half a dozen in the n. Nine monosyllabic stems are f., viz. dāś- 'worship', dāś- 'direction', dṣ- 'look', nāś- 'night', pāś- 'sight', pīś- 'ornament', *prāś-*⁹ 'dispute', vīś- 'settlement', vriś- 'finger'; but only two m., viz. īś- 'lord' and spāś- 'spy'; all the rest are compounds, about 20 of which are formed from drś-. The inflexion is the same in all genders: the only n. forms which would differ from the m. and f. (N. A. du. and pl.) do not occur.

a. The only trace of the distinction of strong and weak forms appears in the nasalization of the stem in the N. sing. m. of some half dozen compounds of -drś- 'look'¹⁰.

b. As the ś represents an old palatal (40), it normally becomes the cerebral ḍ before terminations beginning with bh, as vid-bhis; but in dāś- and -drś- it becomes a guttural, owing doubtless to the influence of the k in the N. sing. and L. pl. It regularly becomes k before the -su of the L. pl., where it is phonetic (43 b 2); it usually also becomes k in the N. sing. (which originally ended in -ś). But in four stems it is represented by the cerebral ḍ, e. g. vīś-, owing to the influence of forms in which the cerebral is phonetic. In puro-ḍāś 'sacrificial cake', the palatal is displaced by the -ś of the N.¹¹

³ AV. VII. 97¹ for cikīṭvas of the corresponding verse of the RV. (III. 29¹⁶), as if from a -vant stem.

⁴ From uc- 'be wont'.

⁵ Without reduplication.

⁶ From vic- 'leave'.

⁷ See LANMAN 513³.

⁸ In AV. VI. 79³ for the reading of the edition bhaktīvāmsas śyāma the Paipp. has bhaktīmahī.

⁹ From praś- 'question'. LANMAN would correct the reading of AV. II. 27⁷ to prāśi, explaining the word as a compound (pra-āś-), where the accent prāśi would be regular.

¹⁰ That is, -drñ, which in its three occurrences in the RV. appears before vowels and doubles the n: -drññ.

¹¹ It cannot, however, have been directly ousted by the N. -ś (the former existence of which in consonant stems must have been long forgotten), but was doubtless due to the influence of ā- stems, such as dravīṇo-dāś-.

c. There are two transition forms to the a-declension from puro-dās-: purodāśena (VS. XIX. 85) and purodāśi-vatsā (AV. XII. 4³⁵) 'having a sacrificial cake as a calf'. The D. infinitive apśāye is a transition to the i-declension, for apś-i.

Inflexion.

350. The normal forms actually occurring, if made from viś- f. 'settlement', would be as follows:

Sing. N. V. viś. A. viśam. I. viśā. D. viśē. Ab. viśās. G. viśās. L. viśi. — Du. N. A. viśā and viśau. — Pl. N. viśas. A. viśas. I. viśbhīs. D. Ab. viśbhys. G. viśām. L. vikṣū.

Forms which actually occur are the following:

Sing. N. m. 1. with nasalized stem: *ki-dñ*³ 'of what kind?', *sa-dñ*³ 'resembling'; in VS. XVII. 81: anyā-dñ 'of another kind', i-dñ 'such', prāti-sadñ 'similar'. — 2. ending in -k: i-dñk (AV.), eti-dñk 'such', tā-dñk 'such', divi-spñk 'touching heaven', *ni-spñk*⁵ 'caressing', yā-dñk 'of what kind', raṇvā-saṇḍrk 'appearing beautiful', svar-dñk 'seeing light', hiraṇya-saṇḍrk 'resembling gold', hr̥di-spñk 'touching the heart'. — 3. ending in -t: spāt; vi-spāt 'spy'. — 4. ending in -s: puro-dās 'sacrificial cake' (occurs twice).

f. 2. ending in -k: dñk (VS. AV.), nāk; an-apa-spñk (AV.) 'not refusing', upa-dñk 'aspect', raṇvā-saṇḍrk, saṇ-dñk 'appearance', su-dñśika-saṇḍrk 'having a beautiful appearance'. — 3. ending in -t: viś; vi-pāt ('fetterless') N. of a river.

N. A. n. *eti-dñk*⁵, su-saṇḍrk 'handsome'; tā-dñk may be a neuter in v. 44⁶.

² ki-dñ i- (X. 108³).

³ sadñ always before a- in RV. In TS. II. 2. 8⁵ (B) the final k is preserved before s: sadñk samāndis.

⁴ Also sadñ: all four before ca. Cp. LANMAN 456¹ and 463¹.

⁶ The form manīnāk (X. 61⁶), perhaps the same as manāk 'a little', is explained by GRASSMANN as manā-nās 'dispelling wrath'.

⁷ For dūrā-ādīsam.

⁸ In the Īśa Upaniṣad (VS. XL. 1) also occurs īśā.

⁹ Cp. LANMAN 490 (bottom).

¹⁰ There is also the transition form apśāye.

¹¹ Cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. II. 27¹. The accent should be prāti-prāśas.

dīśas, yakṣa-dīśas 'having the appearance of a Yakṣa', su-dīśas, sva-dīśas; tveṣṣa-saṃdīśas, su-saṃdīśas; viśva-pīśas, su-pīśas 'well adorned'; śi-saṃdīśas 'handsome'. — f. dīśas, viśas; ā-dīśas, ud-dīśas (VS. I. m. su-saṃdīgḥhis. — f. *paṇḥhis*¹ (IV. 2¹²) 'with looks', viḥhis. — D. f. digbhyās (VS. VI. 19). — Ab. f. digbhyās, viḥbhyās. — G. f. dīśam, viśam; ā-dīśam. — L. f. dīkṣ (AV. VS.), vīkṣ.

6. Radical stems in -h.

351. This declension comprises some 80 stems formed from about a dozen roots. All three genders appear in its inflexion; but the neuter is rare, being found in only two stems and never in the plural. Of monosyllabic stems six or seven are f., one m., and one n. All the remaining stems are compounds, about three-fourths of which are formed from the three roots druh-, vah- and sah- (over 30 from the last). The origin of the two stems uṣṇih- (AV.) a metre, and *sarāh-*² 'bee' is obscure.

a. The distinction of strong and weak appears in compounds of vah- and *sah-*³, the vowel being lengthened in the N. A. sing. and N. pl. m.; also in the N. A. du. m. forms indra-vāhā, indra-vāhan, anaḍ-vāhan; and in the f. sing. N. dakṣiṇā-vāḍ and A. harya-vāham. The strong stem -vāh- twice appears in weak cases, while it is metrically shortened 18 times in strong cases⁴. The word anaḍ-vāh- 'ox' (lit. 'cart-drawer') distinguishes three stems, the strong one being anaḍ-vāh-, and the weak anaḍ-ūh- before vowels and *anaḍ-ūt-*⁵ before consonants.

b. As h represents both the old guttural aspirate gh and the old palatal jh, it should phonetically become g and d respectively before bh. But the cerebral appears for both in the only two case-forms that occur with a -bh ending: sarāḍbhyas from sarāh-, and anaḍ-ladḥhyas (AV.) from anaḍ-vāh-, where the dental d takes the place of the cerebral by dissimilation. Before the -su of the L. pl., h would be phonetic; but here again, in the only form occurring, the cerebral appears: *anaḍḥsu*⁶. On the other hand the phonetic h appears in the N. sing. in the six forms -ahak, -āhūk, *-āhrūk*⁷, -rūk, -spṛh, uṣṇih (AV.)⁸; while the unphonetic h appears in the two forms -vāḍ and *-sāḍ*⁹. The word anaḍ-vāh- forms, instead of anaḍ-vāḍ*, the anomalous anaḍvān as if from a stem in -vant.

c. The stem mahā- is perhaps a transfer to the a-declension from the far more frequent but defective māh- 'great'. Several cases are formed from it: sing. N. mahā-s, G. mahāśya, L. mahé; pl. N. mahā and mahāni, n., G. mahānām. The D. sing. mahāye, used as an infinitive, is a transfer to the i-declension from māh-.

Inflection.

352. The forms actually occurring, if made from sāh- 'victorious', would be as follows:

¹ BLOOMFIELD is of opinion that here, as well as in the 5 other passages in which this form occurs in the RV., it means 'with feet'; Johns Hopkins University Circular, 1906, p. 15—19.

² That the h here represents an original guttural is shown by the N. pl. sarāghas (SB.) and the derivatives sarāghā- and sāragha- (TB.).

³ The Pada text has always vāh- on the one hand, but sāh- on the other.

⁴ Cp. LANMAN 498 (middle).

⁶ The dental again by dissimilation for the cerebral ḍ.

⁷ Occurring respectively in uśā-dhak 'burning with eagerness', in three compounds of duh- 'milk', and in five compounds of druh- 'injure'. These three forms, together with uṣar-bhūt, are the only examples of the restoration of initial aspiration in the declension of the RV.

⁸ The derivation of this word (AV. VS.), is uncertain; it occurs in the RV. only in the extended form of uṣṇihā-.

⁹ When the final h becomes ḥ, the initial s is cerebralized.

Sing. N. śāt. V. m. f. śāt. A. m. f. sāham. I. sahā. D. sahā. Ab. sahā.
G. sahā. L. sahā. — Du. N. A. V. m. f. sāhā and sāhau. N. A. n. sahā. — Pl. N. V. m. f. sāhas. A. m. sāhas and sahā, f. sāhas. D. m. f. śaḍ-bhyās.
G. m. sahām. L. m. *śatsū*¹.

The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. i. with -k: uśā-dhāk 'burning with eagerness'; go-dhūk 'milkman', *prati-dhūk*² (AV. TS.) 'fresh milk'; akṣṇayā-dhūk 'injuring wrongly', a-dhūk 'free from malice', antaka-dhūk 'demon of death', abhi-dhūk 'inimical', asma-dhūk 'inimical to us'.

2. with -t: śāt; abhi-śāt 'overpowering', ṛṣi-śāt 'overcoming the seer', janā-śāt 'overcoming men', turā-śāt 'overpowering quickly', nis-śāt 'overpowering', *nī-śāt*³ (AV.) 'overcoming', purā-śāt 'victorious from of old', prtanā-śāt 'conquering hostile armies', prāsu-śāt 'finishing swiftly', *bhuri-śāt*⁴ 'bearing much', rayi-śāt 'ruling over wealth', vane-śāt 'prevailing in woods', *virā-śāt*⁵ 'ruling men', *viśvā-śāt*⁶ (AV.) 'all-conquering', vṛthā-śāt 'conquering easily', *śatrū-śāt*⁷ (AV.) 'overcoming foes', śatrā-śāt 'always conquering'; turya-vāt (TS. IV. 3. 3²) 'four-year-old ox', *ditya-vāt*⁸ (VS. XIV. 10; TS. IV. 7. 10¹) 'two-year-old ox', paśtha-vāt (VS. XIV. 9) 'four-year-old ox'⁹, madhyama-vāt 'driving at middling speed', haviṛ-vāt 'conveying the oblation', havya-vāt 'conveying the offering'. — Irregular form: anaḍ-vān (AV. TS. VS.) 'ox'¹⁰.

f. i. uśnik (VS. AV.) a metre, *gārtā-rūk*¹¹ 'ascending the car-seat', sabar-dhūk 'yielding nectar'. — 2. dakṣiṇā-vāt 'borne to the right'¹². — n. i. puru-spīk 'much desired'.

A. m. i. Strong forms with -vāham and -sāham (after ā) or -śāham (after ī or ṛ): anaḍ-vāham, turya-vāham (VS. XXVIII. 28), ditya-vāham (VS. XXVIII. 25), paśtha-vāham (VS. XXVIII. 29), virā-vāham 'conveying men', svasti-vāham 'bringing welfare', havya-vāham (also f.); pra-sāham 'victorious', *yajñā-sāham*¹³ 'mighty in sacrifice', viśvā-sāham, śatrā-sāham; abhimāti-sāham 'conquering adversaries', ṛṣi-sāham 'subduing assailants', nī-sāham 'overcoming men', *prtanā-sāham*¹⁴. — With metrical shortening of -sāh- or -śāh-: ṛṣi-sāham, *prtanā-sāham*¹⁴; *carṣaṇi-sāham*¹⁵ 'ruling over men', prā-sāham, vibhva-sāham 'overcoming the rich', śadā-sāham 'always holding out'. — 2. a-driham, puru-spīham. — f. gīham 'hiding-place', drīham 'fiend', mīham 'mist'; uśīham (VS. XXVIII. 25); parī-pāham 'enclosure'.

I. m. dhanvā-sāhā 'skilled in archery', puru-spīhā, viṣu-drūhā 'injuring in various parts'. — f. *guhā*¹⁶, druhā, mahā 'great'; uśīhā (VS. XXI. 13); *prā-sāhā*¹⁷ 'might', vi-srūhā 'plant'. — n. mahā.

D. m. *druhet*¹⁸, mahē; a-drūhe, abhi-drūhe, *abhimāti-śāhe*¹⁹ (TS. v. 2. 7³), *carṣaṇi-śāhe*¹⁵, *śatrā-śāhe*²⁰. — f. mahē; uśīhe (VS. XXIV. 12); *go-dūhe*²¹. — n. mahē.

¹ To be inferred from anaḍūdbhyas and anaḍūtsu.

² There is no evidence to show the gender of this word.

³ For nī-śāt.

⁴ For bhuri-śāt.

⁵ For virā-śāt.

⁶ For viśvā-śāt.

⁷ For śatrū-śāt.

⁸ Here ditya- seems to be = dvītiya-.

⁹ Probably from paśtha = prāśtha 'back'. The TS. (IV. 3. 3² etc.) has paśtha-vāt with dental t for cerebral ṣ.

¹⁰ There is also the transfer form mahā-s, supplying the place of a N. of māh-.

¹¹ For gārtā-rūk.

¹² The N. of sarāh- 'bee', occurs as sarāḍ in TS. v. 3. 12² (B) and in SB. XIII. 3. 1⁴.

¹³ For yajña-sāham.

¹⁴ With unphonetic cerebral after ū owing to the influence of the N. prtanā-śāt.

¹⁵ The s is here not cerebralized after ī.

¹⁶ guhā which occurs 53 times (beside guhā, once) is used adverbially, 'in secret', with retracted accent.

¹⁷ From prā-sāh, beside pra-sāh-.

¹⁸ This form is perhaps f.

¹⁹ Strong form for weak.

²⁰ Strong form for weak (II. 21²), but the Pada text has śatrā-śāhe.

²¹ There is also a transfer to the i-declension: mahāye (as an infinitive).

7. Stems in semivowels: r, y, v.

353. This group forms a transition from the consonant to the vowel declension inasmuch as the stem often assumes a vocalic form before endings with initial consonant, and in some cases takes endings which otherwise appear in the vowel declension only. The -r stems are nearest the consonant declension as their radical division conforms almost without exception to that type; their derivative division, however, has several points in common with the inflexion of vowel stems.

1. Stems ending in -r.

354. A. Radical stems. Here the stems ending in radical r must be distinguished from those in which the r belongs to a suffix. The radical stems numbering over 50 are formed from some sixteen roots, the vowel of which is nearly always i or u. Only three of these stems contain a and only two ā. Nearly a dozen are monosyllabic, but the rest (numbering over 40) are compounds, almost a dozen of which are formed with -tur.

¹ ámhas (vi. 3^t) is probably not an Ab. of ámh- 'distress' (which does not occur elsewhere), but by haplology for ámhas-as, which is very frequent.

² There is also the transition form mahásya.

³ The Pada text has -śáhas.

⁴ There is also the transition form mahé (m. n.).

⁵ See WHITNEY's note on AV. vii. 73⁶.

⁶ With irregular accent.

⁷ There are no neuters except the transition forms mahā and mahāni.

⁸ With irregular accent as if weak forms. Cp. above 94, note ⁶ and LANMAN 501 (middle).

⁹ The derivation of this word is uncertain: it is explained by Mahidhara as = nihantṛ-. WHITNEY (AV. ii. 6⁵) would emend to nidas.

¹⁰ There is also the transition form mahānām.

The inflexion is the same in all genders except the N. A. neuter. A peculiarity is the lengthening of the radical i and u when a consonant ending follows or originally followed¹.

a. The distinction of strong and weak appears in dvār-f. 'door', which is reduced to dūr- in weak cases; in tār- and stār- 'star', from which are made tāras and stībhis; and in the n. svār 'light' two weak cases, the D. and G. sing., are formed from the contracted stem sūr-.

b. There are here a few transitions to the a-declension: śatā-dvārya and śatā-dureṣu 'having a hundred doors', which started from weak cases like dīras; su-dhīra-s, N. sing. m. 'well-yoked', due to the A. su-dhīr-am; perhaps also the A. sing. f. ān-apa-sphūrā-m 'not pushing away', which occurs beside the N. pl. *ān-apa-sphūr-as*². On the other hand the N. pl. m. vandhūr-as 'car-seats' seems to be a transition from the a-declension, as vandhūra- is probably the older stem.

c. The form yan-tūr-am 'guide', which occurs twice for yan-tār-am has been formed as if from -tūr owing to the parallelism with ap-tīram which once appears beside it³.

¹ That is, the -s of the N. sing. m. and f. This rule also applies in vār (I. 132³) if GRASSMANN is right in explaining this form as a N. sing. m. meaning 'protector', from vār- (vy- 'cover'); but BK., s. v. vār-, regard this form as a corruption.

² In the later language dvār- f. and pūr- f. went over to the a-declension as dvāra- n. and pūra- n., while vār- n. went over to the i-declension as vārī-.

³ See LANMAN 486 (bottom).

⁴ If this form is not a corruption.

⁵ There is also the transition form su-dhūra-s.

⁶ From śr- 'mix'.

Indo-arische Philologie. I. 4.

⁷ This is the only declensional form of this word occurring in the AV.

⁸ Neuter compounds ending in -r are avoided; thus the AV. has the transition form nūva-dvāra-m, N. n.

⁹ For ap(a)-s-tūram 'getting over work'.

¹⁰ There is also the anomalous form yantūram for yantāram.

¹¹ Probably a transfer from the a-declension.

¹² With the accentuation of a dissyllabic stem (śūr). In VIII. 61¹⁷ for sūra ā the Pāda text has śūre ā, but it is probably the G. śūras. In I. 66¹⁰, 69¹⁰ the uninflected form śūr seems to be used in a G. sense.

356. B. Derivative stems. — Derivative stems ending in r consist of two groups, the one formed with the suffix -ar, the other with -tar. The former is a small group containing only eight stems, the latter is a very large one with more than 150 stems. Both groups agree in regularly distinguishing strong and weak cases. The strong stem ends in -ar or -ār, which in the weak forms is reduced to r before vowels and r̥ before consonants. Both groups further agree in dropping the final of the stem in the N. sing. m. f., which case always ends in *-ā*¹⁰. They resemble the vowel declension in adding the ending -n in the A. pl. m., and -s in the A. pl. f. and in inserting n before the -ām of the G. pl. They have the peculiar, ending -ur in the G. sing.¹¹.

a. Stems in -ar.

357. There are only five simple m. and f. stems in -ar, viz. uṣ-ār f. 'dawn', dev-ār m. 'husband's brother', nānānd-ār f. 'husband's sister', *nār*¹² m. 'man', *svāsar*¹³ f. 'sister'; and the two compounds svār-ṇar m. 'lord of heaven' and saptā-svasar 'having seven sisters'. Of these, uṣār shows only case-forms according to the consonant declension, while nār and svāsar have some according to the vowel declension also. Of nānāndar only the G. and L. sing. and of devār only the A. sing. and the N. and L. pl. occur. Nearly all case-forms are represented by these five stems taken together. There are also the three neuters āh-ar 'day', ūdh-ar 'udder', and vādḥ-ar 'weapon', which occur in the N. A. sing. only. The first two supplement the -an stems āh-an and ūdh-an in those cases.

² Strong form of tār = stār 'star'. The gender is uncertain.

³ Once the weak form dīras.

⁴ The strong form dvāras is once used. The accentuation of a weak case, dūrās, occurs once.

⁵ Occurring only in x. 26³; it is a n. sing. according to BR.

⁶ The meaning and derivation of these two words is uncertain; see WHITNEY's note on AV. XVIII. 2³⁸.

⁷ From pūr 'stronghold' and pūr 'abundance'.

⁸ Weak form, accented like a dissyllabic stem. In Kh. I. 11⁶ normally accented, but spelt with ri as sribhis.

⁹ With L. pl. ending kept in the first member.

¹⁰ In this they resemble the N. m. of nouns of the -an declension.

¹¹ Except nār-as and uṣr-ās.

¹² This word is probably derived with the suffix -ar; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 359.

¹³ Here -sar is probably a root; cp. BRUGMANN, op. cit., 2, p. 8, footnote.

b. Stems in -tar.

359. This group includes two subdivisions, the one forming its strong stem in -tar, the other in -tār. The former consists of a small class of five names of relationship: three masculines, pī-tār 'father', bhrā-tar 'brother', *nāp-tar*⁸ 'grandson', and two feminines, duhi-tār 'daughter', and mā-tār 'mother'; and the m. and f. compounds formed from them. The second class consists of more than 150 stems (including compounds), which are either agent nouns accented chiefly on the suffix, or participles accented chiefly on the root. These are never used in the f., which is formed with -ī from the weak stem of the m., e. g. jānitṛ-ī 'mother' (377).

a. This declension is almost restricted to the m. and f. gender. The only n. stems are dhār-tār 'prop', dhmā-tār 'smithy', sthā-tār 'stationary', vi-dhār-tār 'meting out'; and from these only about half a dozen forms occur. The only oblique cases met with are the G. sthātūr and the L. dhmātāri (Pada-tāri). The N. A. Sing. which might be expected to appear as -tār, seems to have attained to no fixity of form, as it was of extremely rare occurrence. It seems to be represented by the following variations: sthātār (VI. 49^b), sthātṛn (I. 72^b), sthātūr (I. 58⁵, 68¹, 70²), dhātāri (IX. 86^{4,2}; II. 23¹⁷), vi-dhātāri (VIII. 59²; IX. 47⁴)⁹.

Inflexion.

360. The inflexion is exactly the same in the m. and f. except that the A. pl. m. ends in -tṛn, but the f. in -tṛs.

The forms actually occurring, if made from mātūr f. 'mother', as representing a name of relationship, and from janitār m. 'begetter', as representing an agent noun, would be as follows:

Sing. N. mātā; janitā. A. mātāram; janitāram. I. mātārā; janitārā. D. mātrē; janitrē. Ab. mātūr; janitūr. G. mātūr; janitūr. L. mātāri; janitāri. V. mātār; janitār.

Du. N. A. mātārā and mātārau; janitārā and janitārau. I. janitṛbhyām (VS.). D. janitṛbhyām. G. mātrōs; janitrōs. L. mātrōs; janitrōs.

² The metre requires usāri. As to the sr cp. 57, I a.

³ The ending -ām is a transfer from the ī declension. The metre requires usārām in which -ām is added direct to the stem.

⁴ The metre requires nānāndri (x. 85⁴⁶).

⁵ On nīn as a metrically shortened form for other cases see PISCHEL, VS. I, p. 42f.

⁶ The only two forms in the derivative -(ī)ar declension in which -ām is added direct to the stem.

⁷ Often to be read as nīṇām; see LANMAN 43.

⁹ See LANMAN 422 f.

² GRASSMANN takes this form (V. 41¹⁰; VI. 12⁴) as a N. f. of etār- 'one who approaches or asks'.

³ The Pada text has i in all these forms. Cp. NEISSER BB. 20, 44.

⁴ In the RV. the ending -ā occurs 176 times, -au only 10 times: LANMAN 427 (mid.).

⁵ A Dvandva compound in which both members are inflected.

⁶ The shortening is probably metrical.

⁷ This is the interpretation of the commentator; but the derivation of the word is obscure.

⁸ No form in -bhyām with the Ab. sense occurs.

⁹ These G. L. forms as well as svāstras must be pronounced trisyllabically in the RV. except mātṛs in VII. 3⁹. See LANMAN 428.

¹⁰ With long grade vowel.

¹¹ The form vasu-dhātāras (AV. V. 27⁶) may be N. pl. with shortened vowel, but WHITNEY regards it as a comparative N. sing. 'greater bestower of wealth'. See his note on AV. V. 27⁶.

A. 1. m. *pitṛñ*¹; ddkṣa-pitṛñ, piśni-mātṛñ. — f. *mātṛs*². — 2. m. istṛñ, a-suātṛñ, kartṛñ (AV.; Kh. iv. 5³⁰), goptṛñ (AV.), jaritṛñ, trātṛñ, dātṛñ, pātṛñ (AV.) 'drinkers', pra-voḍhṛñ 'carrying off', stotṛñ, sthatṛñ, hūtṛñ.

I. 1. m. nīptṛbhis, pitṛbhis, bhrātṛbhis; saptā-mātṛbhis. — f. mātṛbhis. — 2. m. istṛbhis, kartṛbhis, dhatṛbhis, partṛbhis 'with aids', setṛbhis 'bindings', soṭṛbhis and sōṭṛbhis, hetṛbhis, hōṭṛbhis.

Ab. 1. m. pitṛbhyas. — f. mātṛbhyas.

G. m. 1. *pitṛñām*³. — 2. unnatṛñām (VS. VI. 2) kind of Soma priests, jaritṛñām, *dātṛñām*⁴ (AV.), dhatṛñām, stotṛñām, hūtṛñām. — With ṛ: 1. pitṛñām (TS. I. 3. 6¹ etc.); 2. dhatṛñām (TS. IV. 7. 14³), netṛñām (TS. I. 3. 6¹)⁵.

L. 1. m. pitṛṣu (AV.). — f. mātṛṣu. — 2. m. hōṭṛṣu.

2. Stems in y and v.

361. These stems, of which there are only five, form a transition to the vowel declension because, while taking the normal endings like the ordinary consonant declension, they add -s in the N. sing. m. f. and show a vowel before the endings with initial consonant. There are no neuter forms⁶.

a. Stem in -āy (-ai).

362. This type is represented by only one word, usually stated in the form of rāi-, which never appears in any case. This word, which is both m. and (rarely) f., means 'wealth', being in origin doubtless connected with the root rā- 'give'. The stem appears as rāy- before vowels and rā- before consonants. The forms occurring are: Sing. A. rām. I. rāyā. D. rāyé. Ab. rāyās. G. *rāyās*⁷. — Pl. N. rāyas. A. *rāyās*⁸. G. rāyām.

a. The inflexion of rāy- is supplemented by rayi-, m. f., from which occur the additional cases sing. N. rayis, A. rayim, I. rayyā and rayinā; pl. I. rayibhis. G. rayinām.

b. There are three forms which seem to be irregular compounds of rāy-: sing. G. ṛdhād-rayas ('increasing wealth') N. of a man, D. bṛhād-raye 'having much wealth', and du. N. śatā-rā 'having a hundred goods'. In the first two forms the vowel of the stem has probably been shortened metrically⁹; in the third form, the stem as it appears before consonants has been used.

b. Stems in -av (-o) and -āv (-au).

363. There are two stems in -av, viz. gāv- m. 'bull', f. 'cow', and dāv- m. f. 'heaven', 'day'. Both distinguish strong forms, in which the vowel is lengthened; both take -s in the N. sing. before which the end of the stem assumes the form of -au. Both show various irregularities in their inflexion.

¹ On the Sandhi of these accusatives see LANMAN 429.

² Once with m. ending mātṛñ (x. 35²).

³ With n before the ending -ām as in the vowel declension, and accent shifted to the ending as in the i- and u- declension when those vowels are accented.

⁴ See WHITNEY's note on AV. v. 24³.

⁵ Also udgātṛñām (TS. III. 2. 9⁵) and dhātṛñām (TS. II. 6. 6²). See BENFEY, Vedica, p. 1—38; IS. 13, 101; LANMAN 430.

⁶ Except the isolated dāvavī occurring once as V. du. of dāv- 'heaven'.

⁷ The G. a few times has the irregular accent rāyas.

⁸ Accented thus 22 times as a weak case in the RV., and four times rāyas as a strong case (also VS. II. 24). The SV. I. 4. 1. 4¹ has the A. pl. rās in the variant adhād rāḥ for adhātā of RV. VIII. 96¹³.

⁹ According to BR. and GRASSMANN, they are formed from the stems bṛhād-ri- and ṛdhād-rē-. Cp. LANMAN 431.

The inflexion of gáv-, which is almost complete (the only forms not represented being the weak cases of the dual) is as follows:

Sing. N. gáus. A. gám. I. gávā. D. gáve. Ab. gós. G. gós. L. gávi. — Du. N. A. gāvā and gāvau. — Pl. N. gāvas. A. gós. I. góbhis. D. góbhyas. G. gāvām and gānām. L. gāsu. V. gāvas.

a. Three of these forms, gám, gás, gós must, in the RV., be read as dissyllables in a few instances, though this is doubtful in the case of *gás*¹.

b. The normal G. pl. gāvām, which is by far the commoner, occurring 55 times in the RV., is found only 3 times at the end of a Pada (which in two of these instances ends iambically); the irregular G. *gānām*², occurring 20 times in the RV., is found at the end of a Pada only. The use of the latter form thus seems to have arisen from metrical exigencies.

c. It is to be noted that from the point of view of accentuation the stem is not treated as a monosyllable, since the Udātta never shifts to the ending in weak cases.

d. There are three compounds formed from this stem: *á-gos*³ G. sing. m. 'having no cows'; *ṛṣṇi-gāvas*⁴ N. pl. m. 'having dappled cows'; ṛisad-gavi L. sing. f. 'having bright cows'.

364. The strong form of dyáv- (in which the y has often to be read as i) is dyáv-, which appears as dyáu- before the -s of the N., and with loss of the final u, in the A. sing. *dyām*⁵. The normal stem dyáv- appears in weak cases only, in the contracted Ab. G. *dyós*⁶ and the L. dyávi; it is otherwise entirely displaced by the Samprasāraṇa form div- (from which the accent shifts to the ending in weak cases) before vowels and dyi- before consonants.

The weak grade stem div- has not only entirely ousted dyáv- from the I. D. sing., and largely from the Ab. G. L. sing., but has even encroached on the strong forms: divam occurring (21 times) beside dyām (79 times), and divas (once) beside dyāvas (22 times) in the N. pl. Similarly *dyi-*⁷ has displaced dyáv- in the weak plural forms: A. dyām (for dyāvas*) and I. dyībhis (for dyóbhis*).

The inflexion of dyáv- is less complete than that of gáv-, the D. Ab. G. L. pl. being wanting as well as all the weak cases of the dual. The forms occurring are the following:

Sing. N. dyáus. A. dyām; divam. I. divā. D. divé. Ab. dyós; *divós*⁸. G. dyós; *divós*⁹. L. dyávi; *divi*¹⁰. V. dyáus and *dyāus*¹¹. — Du. N. A. V. *dyāvā*¹²; *dyavi*¹³. — Pl. N. V. dyāvas; *divas*¹⁴ (once). A. m. dyām; f. *divas*¹⁵ (twice). I. m. *dyībhis*¹⁶.

a. The A. dyām seems to require dissyllabic pronunciation in a few instances. The form dyáus occurs once (I. 718) as an Ab. instead of dyós. The form divam doubtless made its way into the A. sing. owing to the influence of the very frequent weak cases divós etc., which taken together occur more than 350 times in the RV.

¹ See LANMAN 431 (bottom). The form gāvas is actually used for the A. in Kh. II. 6¹⁵.

² Formed on the analogy of the vowel declension.

³ This might be formed from the reduced stem á-gu-.

⁴ There is also from the reduced stem -gu- the A. sing. m. ṛṣṇi-gum, as the N. of a man.

⁵ For dyā[u]m* like gām for gā[u]m*.

⁶ Like gós for gāvas*.

⁷ Based on dyi-.

⁸ In the RV. dyós occurs only twice as Ab., divós 50 times.

⁹ In the RV. dyós occurs 4 times as G., divós 180 times.

¹⁰ dyávi occurs 12 times, divi 118 times in the RV.

¹¹ dyāus, that is, dīaus occurs only once and is to be read as a dissyllable.

¹² In the G. du. of the Dvandva divás-ṛṣṭhiyós, the G. sing. takes the place of the G. du., which would be divós.

¹³ The neuter form used once for the m.

¹⁴ Also twice in AV.

¹⁵ Also 3 or 4 times in AV.

¹⁶ dyām and dyībhis occur only in the RV. or in verses borrowed from the RV.

b. Starting from div-ās etc. a transition stem divā- according to the ā-declension came into being. From this occur the forms divā-m 'heaven' and divē-dive 'every day', and in compounds tri-divā-m (AV.) 'third heaven', tri-divē, su-divā-m (AV.) 'bright day'.

c. It is to be noted that the accentuation of forms from div- follows the rule of monosyllables, while that of forms from dyāv- and dyā-, as may be inferred from dyāvī and dyābhis, does not, being the same as that of gāv-.

d. The following case-forms of compounds of dyāv- occur: sing. N. *pra-dyāv*s (AV.) 'highest heaven', I. pra-divā, Ab. pra-dīvas, L. pra-dīvi; dīhar-dīvi 'day by day'; du. N. A. pr̥thivē-dyāvā 'earth and heaven', dyāvā-kṣāmā, dyāvā-pr̥thivī, dyāvā-bhūmī 'heaven and earth', vr̥ṣṭi-dyāvā 'having a raining sky'; pl. N. vr̥ṣṭi-dyāvas, su-dīvas.

365. There are two stems in -ā, viz. nāv- (nāu-) f. 'ship', and glāv- (glāu-) m. or f. 'lump'. The inflexion is very incomplete, as no dual and only two plural forms are found; but as far as can be judged from the forms occurring it is quite regular, the accentuation being that of monosyllabic stems. The forms of nāv- are:

Sing. N. nūvas. A. nāvam, su-nāvam 'good ship' (VS. XXI. 7). I. *nāvā*¹. G. nāvās. L. nāvi. — Pl. N. nāvās. I. naubhis.

From glāv- occur only the two forms N. sing. glāus (AV.) and I. pl. glaubhis (VS. XXV. 8)².

B. Vowel stems.

366. The vowel declension comprises stems ending in a, i, u, both long and short. These differ considerably in their inflexion according as they are radical or derivative. The radical stems, which virtually all end in the long vowels ā, ī, *ū*³, are allied to the consonant declension in taking the normal endings; but they add -s in the N. sing. m. f. The derivative stems, which end in both long and short vowels, modify the normal endings considerably; though they for the most part add -s in the N. sing. m. f., those in -ā and -ī regularly drop it.

i. a. Stems in radical -ā.

367. Radical ā-stems are frequent in the RV., but become less common in the later Samhitās where they often shorten the final vowel to ā and are then inflected like derivative a-stems. The great majority of the forms occurring are nominatives or accusatives, other cases being rare and some not occurring at all. In the RV. the N. sing. forms with ā occur ten times oftener than those with the shortened vowel ā, and five times oftener than the forms with ā in the AV. On the other hand, the AV. has only slightly more forms with ā than with ā, and no m. forms at all from ā-stems in the oblique cases⁴. This tendency to give up the ā forms in the later Samhitās may be illustrated by the fact that the forms of the RV. N. sing. carṣaṇi-prā-s 'blessing men', nāma-dhāt-s 'name-giver', prathama-jā-s 'first-born', V. soma-pā-s 'soma-drinker', are replaced in the AV. by carṣaṇi-prā-s, nāma-dhāt-s, *prathama-jā-s*⁵, V. soma-pa respectively.

This declension includes stems formed from about thirty roots. Of these, four appear as monosyllables in the m.: jā- 'child', trā- 'protector', dā- 'giver', sthā- 'standing'; and seven in the f.: *kṣā-*⁶ 'abode', -khā- 'well', *gnā-*⁷ 'divine

¹ There is also the transition form according to the ā-declension I. sing. nāvāyā, the accentuation of which indicates that it started from nāvā.

² The N. pl. glāvas also occurs in the AB.

³ These, however, by being shortened often appear secondarily as ā, ī, ū, when they are inflected like derivative stems. Radical i ū and r stems have joined the consonant declension by almost always adding the root determinative -ā.

⁴ See LANMAN 435¹.

⁵ The form prathama-jā-s, however, also occurs in the AV.

⁶ From kṣā- = kṣi- 'dwell', 'rule'.

⁷ Perhaps formed with suffixal ā from a root gan-* and sometimes to be pronounced as a dissyllable (ganā-), but inflected as if a radical stem.

woman', jā- 'child', jyā- 'bowstring', mā- 'measure', *vrā-*¹ 'troop'; the rest appear only at the end of compounds: *-krā-*² 'doing', *-krā-*³ 'scattering', -ksā- 'ruling', -khā- 'digging', -khyā- 'seeing', -gā- 'going', -gā- 'singing', -jā- 'born', -jñā- 'knowing', -jyā- 'power', -tā- 'stretching', -dā- 'giving', -drā- 'sleeping', -dhā- 'putting', -dhā- 'sucking', -pā- 'guarding', -pā- 'drinking', -prā- 'filling'⁴, -bhā- 'appearing', -mā- 'measuring', -yā- 'going', -vā- 'blowing', -sā- 'winning'⁵, -sthā- 'standing', -snā- 'bathing', -hā- 'starting'.

These stems are inflected in the m. and f. only. There are no distinctively n. forms⁶, as the stem shortens the radical vowel to ā in that gender and is consequently inflected according to the derivative a-declension.

a. Three anomalously formed m. derivative stems in -ā follow the analogy of the radical a-stems. 1. From the adverb tā-thā 'thus' is formed the N. sing. ā-tathā-s 'not saying "yes"'. 2. usānā-, N. of a seer, forms its A. usānām and D. *usāne*⁷; the N. sing. being irregularly formed without -s, has the appearance of a N. sing. f. from a derivative a stem⁸. 3. The strong stem of pathi- 'path' is in the RV. pānthā- only: N. sing. pānthā-s (+ AV.), A. pānthā-m (+ AV.), N. pl. pānthās. The AV. also uses the stem pānthān-, from which it forms N. sing. pānthā (once), A. pānthānam (once), and N. pl. pānthānas. Though the stem pānthān- never occurs in the RV., the evidence of the Avesta points to its having been in use beside pānthā- in the Indo-Iranian period⁹. The A. *pānthām*¹⁰, as a contraction of pānthānam, may have been the starting point of the N. sing. pānthā-s.

Inflection.

368. The forms occurring in the oblique cases are so rare that some endings, such as those of the L. sing., G. L. du. and G. pl. are not represented at all. The m. always takes -s in the N. sing., but the f. often drops it, doubtless owing to the influence of the f. of derivative a-stems. Excepting the few forms occurring in the D. and G. sing.¹¹, the N. sing. with -s is the only case in which the inflexion of the radical stems can be distinguished in the f.¹² from that of the derivative a-stems in form¹³. The forms actually occurring would, if made from jā- 'offspring', be the following:

Sing. N. m. f. jā-s, f. also jā. A. m. f. jā-m. I. f. j-ā. D. m. f. j-e. G. m. j-ās. V. m. jā-s.

Du. N. A. V. m. jā, jāu. I. *jā-bhyām*¹⁴.

Pl. N. m. f. jās. A. f. jās. I. m. f. jā-bhis. D. f. jā-bhyas. Ab. m. jā-bhyas. L. f. jā-su.

The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. *jā-s*¹⁵ 'child', *dā-s*¹⁶ 'giver', sthā-s 'standing'. — *dadhi-krā-s*¹⁷,

² An extension with -ā of kṛ- 'do'.

³ An extension with -ā of kṣ- 'scatter'.

⁴ The root mā- 'soften' occurs in the modified form of -mnā- in carma-mnā- 'tanner'.

⁵ Four of these roots, khā-, gā-, jā-, sā-, are collateral forms of others ending in a nasal, khan-, gam-, jan-, san-; cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum, p. 92 f., LANMAN 442.

⁶ Five N. sing. m. forms with -s are found in agreement with n. substantives.

⁷ There is also a L. sing. usāne, which is formed as if from an a-stem.

⁸ The starting-point of this may have been usānām as a contracted A. for usānasam.

⁹ See LANMAN 441.

¹⁰ The analogy of pathi- is followed by mathi- 'churning-stick', which once has the A. form mānthā-m.

¹¹ There are otherwise only the f. transition forms L. sing. āpayāyām, N. of a river, and puro-dhāyām (AV.).

¹² The N. sing. with -s is about as common as that without it in the RV., the latter occurring in late hymns; in the AV. the former are less common.

¹³ But on etymological grounds other cases may commonly be distinguished as belonging to either one group or the other; thus A. f. ā-gopām 'having no herdsman' must be regarded as a radical a-form, because the m. is almost without exception go-pā-m, and not as a derivative f. from go-jā-.

¹⁴ Contrary to the rule generally applicable to monosyllable stems, the accent remains on the radical syllable throughout.

¹⁵ LANMAN 443 thinks gā-s in x. 127⁸ is a N. sing. 'singer' (gā- 'sing'), but it is probably the A. pl. of gō- 'cow'.

¹⁶ Also dhā-s in TS. II. 6. 41.

¹⁷ These compounds are arranged according to the alphabetical order of the roots.

N. of a divine horse. — ṛbhu-kṣā-s 'lord of the Ṛbhus'. — bisa-khā-s 'digging up lotus fibres'. — agre-gā-s (VS. ¹ The Ms. reads ādharma-sthā nīnaśat.

² That is, su-upa-sthā-s.

³ While Kh. III. 22² has in the same verse bhūman-śhāh (sic).

⁴ The Pada reads savya-sthāh; see APr. II. 95, and cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. VIII. 8²³.

⁵ N. sing. GRASSMANN and LANMAN, N. pl. ROTH and SĀYANA.

⁶ The derivation is uncertain.

⁷ The above are the only N. sing. f. forms written with -s in the Pada text.

⁸ It may therefore be assumed that the N. was formed with -s.

⁹ Cp. RPr. II. 29. With regard to sua-dhā, the Samhitā text is inconsistent, writing it contracted with a following vowel in svadhāsi

(I. 165⁶) and svadhāmītā (V. 34¹), where it must be pronounced with hiatus.

¹⁰ All these four compounds of mā 'measure' occur in TS. IV. 4. 11³; see TPr. X. 13, IS. 13, 104, note 2.

¹¹ BR. would accentuate apa-gā; cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. I. 34⁵.

¹² Probably go-dhās in X. 28¹¹; cp. LANMAN 445.

¹³ Also maryādā 'limit' if maryā-dā, but the derivation is doubtful.

¹⁴ These forms must be regarded as m. used as n. Cp. the -ās forms of -as stems used as n. (344).

² The D. case-form of nṛ- 'man' being retained in the compound.

³ The I. of the stem patha- = pathi- being retained in the compound.

⁴ barhi- for barhiṣ-: see 62.

⁵ With the N. case-form retained in the compound; see WHITNEY's note on AV. IX. 8⁹.

⁶ The derivation of this word is uncertain.

⁷ Used adverbially = 'at once'.

⁸ Cp. LANMAN 447¹. There are also the transition forms jyāyā, prajāyā.

⁹ Also the transition form prajāyāi.

¹⁰ The infinitive prati-mē is probably a locative.

¹¹ These dative infinitives are formed by combining the full root with the ending -e, while in the ordinary datives the radical ā is dropped before the ending.

¹² See below, the Dative Infinitive, 584.

¹³ The form jās- in jās-pati- (I. 185⁸) 'lord of the family' is probably a f. G. of jā-; and gnās probably G. of gnā- in gnās-pāti- 'husband of a divine woman'. There are also the transition forms jyāyās and prajāyās.

¹⁴ There are also in the f. the transition forms gaṇge, śrad-dhe, tiro-dhe (AV.) 'concealment'.

¹⁵ The Pada text reads draviṇo-dāu.

¹⁶ Some of these duals in -au may be formed from radical stems with shortened -ā; cp. LANMAN 450¹.

¹⁷ There are also the f. transition forms ṛdū-pē 'drinking what is sweet', pūva-jē 'born before', sv-āsa-sthē 'sitting on a good seat'.

I. Only four compounds of -pā in TS. III. 2. 10¹: kratu-pābhyām 'watching one's intentions', cakṣuṣ-pābhyām, vāk-pābhyām 'protecting speech', *śrotra-pābhyām*¹.

I. m. agre-pābhis. — f. gnābhis; ṛtu-pābhis, ratna-dhābhis, prajābhis, śrad-dhābhis, sva-dhābhis.

D. f. pra-jābhyas. — Ab. m. *bhūri-dābhyas*¹⁰.

L. f. ṣāsū, gnāsū, jāsū; *ā-tāsū*¹¹, pra-jāsū, sabhāsū.

r b. Stems in Radical -a.

369. These consist almost entirely of stems in radical ā which has been shortened to ā. With the exception of *khā*¹² 'aperture' they occur at the end of compounds only. They are: -ṣād 'dwelling', khā-, -gā 'going', -gā 'singing', -jā 'born', -jya 'bowstring', -ta 'stretching', *-tra*¹³ 'protecting', -dā 'giving'¹⁴, -dā 'binding', -dhā 'putting', -pā 'guarding', -pā 'drinking', -prā 'filling', -mnā-

¹ In the L. du. there also occur the f. transition forms jaṅghāyos (AV.) and sva-dhāyos.

² Of doubtful meaning.

³ The stem is manthi-pā according to BR.

⁴ From √mlā: 'softening hides'.

⁵ Pṛthivi = pṛthivī.

⁶ With the L. ending retained in the first member of the compound.

⁷ The form pānthās also occurs once. It is doubtful whether the plurals dyu-ṣāsas and priya-sāsas are to be regarded as formed from ā-stems. Such plurals are probably made from a-stems.

⁸ There is also the f. transition form nāva-gvās.

⁹ Cp. LANMAN 451⁴.

¹⁰ In the G. occur the f. transition forms pra-jñānām (AV.) 'fore-knowing', vi-bhānām 'radiant'.

¹¹ Probably from tā = tan 'stretch'.

¹² The nominatives drā-s and vrā-s in AV. XI. 73 (also nyā-s, 74) are of unknown meaning (see WHITNEY's note).

¹³ Cp. GARBE in KZ. 23, 476, 480.

¹⁴ Perhaps also -dra 'running' in kyṣṇa-drā-m (AV.).

'thinking', -mā-¹ 'softening', -sā- 'winning', -sthā- 'standing'; also -grā-² 'swallowing', -gva-³ 'going', -hā-⁴ 'slaying'.

These stems are inflected in the m. and n. only. This is the form assumed in the n. by all radical ā-stems (367).

Inflexion.

370. The inflexion of the radical a-stems is identical with that of the derivative a-stems (371). The forms which occur are the following:

Sing. N. m. dyu-kṣā-s 'dwelling in heaven'. — su-khā-s 'having a good (axle) hole'. — agre-gā-s 'going in front', āsun-gā-s (AV.) 'swift-going', ṛju-gā-s (AV.) 'going straight on', *patam-gā-s*⁵ 'going by flight', vala-gā-s (AV.) 'hidden in a cave', ṣitiṇ-gā-s (AV. XI. 5¹²) 'white-goer', su-gā-s 'easy to traverse'. — *dāsa-gva-s*⁷ 'going in tens', *nāva-gva-s*⁷ 'going in nines'⁸. — a-jā-s 'unborn', adhri-jā-s 'irresistible', eka-jā-s (AV.) 'produced alone', jarāyu-jā-s (AV.) 'viviparous', ni-jā-s (AV.) 'familiar'⁹, prathama-jā-s (AV.) 'first-born', samudra-jā-s (AV.) 'sea-born', stamba-jā-s (AV.) A. m. atithi-gvām ('to whom guests go') N. of a man, an-ānu-dām, arāti-hām (AV.) 'destroying adversity', aśva-pām (VS. xxx. 11) 'groom', ā-sva-gam (AV.) 'homeless', eka-jām, garbha-dhām (VS. TS.) 'impregnator', grha-pām (VS. xxx. 11) 'guardian of a house', go-pām 'herdsman', carma-mnām (VS.) 'tanner', tri-ṣṭhām 'having three seats', dāsa-gvam, dāva-pām (VS. xxx. 19) 'forest-fire guard', dyu-kṣām, patam-gām, prathama-jām (VS. xxxiv. 51), madhu-pām 'honey-drinker', vana-pām (VS. xxx. 19) 'wood-ranger', vala-gām (AV.), viṭa-dhām (VS. xxx. 11) 'possessing wealth', su-khām, su-gām (AV.), hasti-pām (VS. xxx. 11) 'elephant-keeper'.

I. m. rathe-ṣṭhena 'standing on a car'. — n. antāri-kṣeṇa, ṛtā-jyena 'whose bowstring is truth', kāma-prēṇa, su-gēṇa (AV.), su-mnēṇa.

D. m. atithi-gāya, dyu-kṣāya, patam-gāya, *rathe-ṣṭhāya*¹². — n. parāś-pāya (VS.) 'protecting from afar', su-mnāya. — Ab. m. ṛśya-dāt (x. 39⁸) 'pit for antelopes'. — n. *antāri-kṣāt*¹³, dur-gāt, sadhā-sthāt.

² An extension of gr- 'swallow'; cp. krā- and vṛā- among the radical ā-stems.

³ In its original form perhaps -gva-; a reduced form -gu- appears in vanar-gū- 'forest-roaming'.

⁴ A reduced form of han- 'slay'.

⁵ See BARTHOLOMAE, BB. 15, 34 and cp. BB. 18, 12.

⁶ The etymology and meaning are somewhat doubtful; cp. IS. 4, 304.

⁷ These two compounds as well as atithi-gvā- and ṛta-gva-, are with more probability derived from a reduced form of go- 'cow' by BLOOMFIELD, AJPh. 17, 422—27; cp. above p. 153 (mid.).

⁸ The compound puro-gavā-s 'leader' possibly = puro-gvā-s*; but it is probably a governing compound; cp. above, p. 176¹.

⁹ See WHITNEY's note on AV. III. 5².

¹⁰ Also paṇu-gā-s (v. 41¹) if it is N. sing. and not a G. of paṇu-gā.

¹¹ Cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. IX. 7⁴.

¹² svājāya (AV.) is analyzed by the Commentator as sva-jāya 'self-born', but is explained by WHITNEY (AV. VI. 56²) as 'constrictor' (from svaj- 'embrace').

2 a. Derivative stems in -a.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik p. 293—317. — WHITNEY, Grammar 326—334 (p. 112—116). — LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 329—354.

371. This is the most important of the declensions as it embraces more than one-half of all nominal stems. It is also the most irregular inasmuch as its ending diverge from the normal ones more than is elsewhere the case. This is the only declension in which the N. A. n. has an ending in the singular. Here the I. D. Ab. G. sing. are peculiar; and in the plural, the A., the G., one of the forms of the I. and of the N. A. n. do not take the normal endings. The final vowel of the stem is also modified before the endings with initial consonant in the du. and pl. Three of the peculiar case-endings of the sing. (I. Ab. G.) are borrowed from the pronominal declension, while in the pl. two of the case-endings (G. and N. A. n.) are due to the influence of the stems in -n. This is the only declension in which the Ab. sing., as a result of taking the pronominal ending, is distinguished from the G. As elsewhere in the vowel declension, the N. sing. m. here adds the ending -s throughout; but the V. sing. shows the bare stem unmodified. This declension includes pānthāsas, occurring once beside the ordinary pānthās formed from the anomalous derivative ā-stem pānthā, proves nothing regarding radical ā-stems.

¹ svajāsyā in AV. x. 4¹⁰. 15 is according to WHITNEY 'constrictor', not sva-jāsyā 'self-born'; cp. p. 254, note 12.

² Some of the m. duals given under the radical ā-declension ought possibly to be placed here.

³ There is no reason to suppose that any of these are plurals of ā-stems, since the first three appear as ā-stems only and priya-sā does not otherwise occur. The pl.

⁴ This is the reading of the Pada text, the Samhitā having -jā ṛ- (70 a).

⁵ A word of uncertain meaning.

⁶ Two other forms, ātās and ātāsu are formed from the f. stem of this word, ā-tā, which is probably a radical ā-stem.

m. and n. stems only, as the corresponding f. follows the derivative ā-declension. There is here no irregularity in the accent, which remains on the same syllable in every case except the V., where it of course shifts to the first.

Inflexion.

372. The inflexion of the n. differs from that of the m. in the N. sing. and the N. A. du. and pl. only. In the G. L. du. y is inserted between the final -a of the stem and the ending -os. The forms actually occurring, if made from priyā- 'dear', would be the following:

Sing. N. m. priyā-s, n. priyā-m. A. priyā-m. I. priyēṇa and priyā. D. priyāya. Ab. priyāt. G. priyāsya. L. priyē. V. priya.

Du. N. A. m. priyā and priyāu, n. priyē. V. m. priyā and priyau. I. D. Ab. priyābhyām. G. L. priyāyos.

Pl. N. m. priyās and priyāsas, n. priyā and priyāni. A. m. priyān, n. priyā and priyāni. I. priyāis and priyēbhis. D. Ab. priyēbhyas. G. priyānām. L. priyēsu. V. priyās and priyāsas.

Owing to the enormous number of words belonging to this declension, only forms of commonest occurrence will be given below as examples under each case.

Sing. N. m. This case is formed in the RV. by 1845 a-stems and occurs more than 10000 times. The most frequent substantive is īndras N. of a god, found more than 500 times; next in order come somas (220) N. of a plant, devās (203) 'god', mitrās (132) N. of a god, vāruṇas (94) N. of a god.

A. m. After the N. sing. m., the A. sing. m. is the commonest declensional form in the RV., being made from 1357 stems¹ and occurring nearly 7000 times. The nouns most frequently found in this case are īndram (335), sūmam, (212), yajñām (183) 'sacrifice', vājam (123) 'vigour', sūryam (90) 'sun', hāvam (88) 'invocation', vrātram (82) N. of a demon, stōmam (77) 'praise'².

N. A. n. This is the only declension in which these cases take an ending. They here add -m, being thus identical in form with the A. sing. m.³. They are very frequently used, being formed from about 950 stems and occurring, taken together, more than 4000 times. Examples are: ṛtīm (70) 'sacred order', ghṛtīm (47) 'clarified butter', padām (46) 'step', rātnam (44) 'wealth', sakhyaṁ (43) 'friendship', drāvyaṁ (41) 'wealth', satyaṁ (40) 'truth'⁴.

I. m. n. i. The usual form of this case ending in -ena is very frequent, being formed from more than 300 stems nearly equally divided between m. and n. The commonest forms are: m. sūryeṇa (37), īndreṇa (34), vājreṇa (33) 'thunderbolt', yajñeṇa (13). — n. ghṛteṇa (31)⁵.

a. The final vowel appears lengthened in about twenty-five forms: amṛtenā (AV.) 'ambrosia', āśīvenā 'malevolent', ājyenā 'melted butter', ṛtēnā, kāryeṇā 'wisdom', kūlīṣeṇā 'axe', pētveṇā 'ram', taviṣeṇā 'strong', dākṣiṇeṇā 'right', dāivyeṇā 'divine', bākureṇā 'bagpipe', bhadreṇā (AV.) 'excellent', mārtiyeṇā 'mortal', mārutēnā 'consisting of storm-gods', ravāthenā 'roar', vāruṇeṇā, viṭhureṇā 'staggering', vi-ravēnā 'roar', vīryeṇā 'heroic power', vrjāneṇā 'might', vrśabhēṇā 'bull', sahasyeṇā 'mighty', sāyakeṇā 'missile', sūryeṇā, skāmbhanēnā

² On the occasional elision of the -m before iva and subsequent contraction, see LANMAN 331.

³ For this reason there is in some instances not sufficient evidence for determining whether a word is m. or n.; cp. LANMAN 331 (middle).

⁴ On occasional elision of the final -m and subsequent contraction, see LANMAN 331.

⁵ The final vowel is twice nasalized: ghanēnaṁ ēkas (i. 334) and tjanēnaṁ ēkam (i. 110⁵).

'support'¹. These forms regularly occur where the metre at the end of a Pāda favours a long vowel; e. g. skāmbhanenā jānitrī (III. 31¹²), but kāmbhanena skābhiyām (X. 1115); on the other hand, the long vowel appears to be used arbitrarily at the beginning of a Pāda, though the short vowel here is much more frequent. Hence the ā seems to be a survival and not to be due to metrical exigencies.

2. There are also more than a dozen forms made with the nominal ending -ā. In the m. there are no quite certain examples beyond yajñā; possibly also krāṇā 'acting', ghanā 'club', dānā 'gift'², *camasā*³ 'cup'. The n. forms are kavitvā and kavitvanā 'by wisdom', taranitvā 'by energy', mahitvā and mahitvanā 'by greatness', ratna-dhāyā 'by distribution of wealth', rāthiyā 'belonging to a car', vīryā 'with heroism', sakhyā 'with friendship', sarva-rathā 'with the whole line of chariots', su-hitvā 'with good invocation'⁴. — This ending is also preserved in a few instrumental adverbs: anā 'hereby', uccā 'above', paścā 'behind', sānā 'from of old'⁵.

D. m. n. This case, which has the abnormal ending -āya, is of very frequent occurrence, being formed in the RV. from over 300 stems in the m. and from nearly 150 in the n. The commonest forms are: m. īndrāya (188), mādīya (76) 'exhilaration', devāya (26), mārtīyāya (25), mitrīya (23), vāruṇīya (23), yajāmānīya 'sacrificing', śīryāya (11); n. suviṭīya (34) 'welfare', sakhyāya (29), tokāya (21) 'offspring', tānāya (18) 'line of descendants'⁶.

a. The normal form would have been for example yajñāi* = *yajñā-e*⁷. This would in Sandhi have become yajñāy*, which was ultimately extended with -a, owing to the frequent combination with a following a in Sandhi (e. g. yajñāy-a pi for yajñāy api), or with the shortened form of the preposition *ā*⁸.

Ab. m. n. These are the only nominal stems in which the Ab. is formally distinguished from the G. Instead of the normal ending -as, they take the -d which appears in the pronominal declension (e. g. mā-d 'from me'), lengthening the -a of the stem before it⁹. This Ab. in -ād is formed in the RV. from over 200 stems, nearly equally divided between m. and n. Some of the n. forms are used as adverbs. Forms of common occurrence are: m. samudrāt (15) 'sea', upāsthāt (9) 'lap', īndrāt (8); n. *antāri-kṣāt*¹⁰ (15) 'air'; dūrāt (19) 'from a distance', paścāt (26).

G. m. n. These are the only nominal stems in which the G. sing. does not end in *-s*¹¹. Instead of the normal ending -as, they add *-ya*¹² which is ¹ In all these forms the Pāda text has the short final vowel ā; see RPr. VIII. 21 and cp. APr. III. 16. The pronominal forms tēnā, yēnā, svēnā also appear, and always with the short vowel in the Pāda text; on the other hand, enā is always enū in the Pāda, while the unaccented enā, beside ena, has the short vowel in the Pāda. See LANMAN 332 (bottom).

² See LANMAN 334 (middle).

³ Nasalized in camasānī iva (X. 254), Pāda camasānī. On these forms see LANMAN 335.

⁴ This form of the instrumental also appears a few times in the pronoun tvā beside the usual tvāyā; it also occurs in a few compounds, as tvā-datta- and tvā-dāta- 'given by thee'; cp. LANMAN 334 (middle).

⁵ Perhaps also nīcā 'below', cp. nīcās; but it may be the I. of nyāñc-.

fore vowels: tad-vaśāyām epā (II. 14²) and savāyām evā (I. 113¹).

⁷ The normal ending -e is actually used in the pronominal declension, e. g. tāsmāi = tāsmā-e.

⁸ See JOHANSSON, BB. 20, 96 ff. and Bartholomae, Arische Forschungen 2, 69; 3, 63.

⁹ Cp. JOHANSSON, BB. 16, 136 and BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 588.

¹⁰ This is really a radical a- stem; see above, 370.

¹¹ In the G. sing. of stems in -ar and -tar, the final r seems to represent original -s; see above 358, note on svāsur.

¹² The y is never to be read as i; possibly however about five times in the pronominal asyā. The final -a in two or three instances undergoes protraction of a purely metrical character: see LANMAN 338³.

otherwise found in the pronominal declension only. This case is very common, being formed in the RV. from over 500 stems in the m. and 175 in the n., occurring altogether over 3300 times¹. Among the frequent forms² are: m. indrasya (123), sūryasya (93), somasya (88), devāsya (60), yajñāsya (55), sutīsya (53) 'pressed'; n. ṛtāsya (187), bhūvanasya (39) 'world', amītasya (35)³.

L. m. n. This case is formed with the normal ending -i, which combines with the final -a of the stem to -e. It is formed in the RV. from 373 stems in the m., and over 300 in the n., occurring altogether about 2500 times. Among the frequent forms are: m. adhvarē (68) 'sacrifice', sutē (53), upāsthe (49), māde (48), dāme (40) 'house', indre (33), yajñē (28), jāne (26) 'man', grhē (23) 'house'; n. vidāthe (49) 'assembly', āgre (43) 'front', sādane (35) 'seat', padē (33), duroṇē (31) 'abode', mādhye 'middle' (29).

V. m. n. In this case the bare stem (always accented on the first syllable) is employed. It is formed in the RV. from about 260 stems, occurring about 2500 times in the m.; but in the n. there is no undoubted example⁴. The AV. however has four or five n. vocatives. Among the commonest forms are: m. sōma and soma (240), deva (132), śura (94) 'hero', pavamāna (63) 'bright Soma', puru-hūta (29) 'much invoked', varuṇa (45), mitra (35), yaviṣṭha (29) 'youngest', vṛṣabha (27) 'bull', ugra (23) 'mighty', amṛta (12)⁵; n. *antarikṣa*⁶ (AV. VI. 130¹), trāikakuda 'coming from the three-peaked (mountain)' and dēvāñjana (AV. XIX. 44⁶) 'divine ointment', talpa (AV. XII. 24⁹) 'couch', vīṣa (AV. IV. 63) 'poison'⁷.

Du. N. A. V. m. The ending of these cases in the RV. is ordinarily -ā, much less frequently *-au*⁸. The former is taken by over 360 stems occurring about 1150 times, the latter by fewer than 90 stems occurring about 170 times. The ending -ā is therefore more than seven times as common as -au. The rule is that -ā appears before consonants⁹, in pausa at the end of a Pāda¹⁰, or within a Pāda in coalescence with a following vowel; while *-au*¹¹ occurs in the older parts of the RV. only before vowels in the Sandhi form of -āv, within a Pāda. Examples of this rule are tā vām (I. 184¹); ṛt.ṛvṛdhā | (I. 473^b); *dasrāt*¹² (I. 116¹⁰⁰) for dasrā āt; mitrāgnīm (I. 143¹) for mitrā āgnīm; but *tāv*¹³ aparām (I. 184¹). Hiatus, when the metre requires two

² The commonest G. in -sya is the pronominal asyā which (accented or unaccented) occurs nearly 600 times in the RV.

³ The final vowel is once nasalized at the end of a Pāda in ṛtāsyaṁ ekam (VIII. 89⁵); cp. RPr. II. 31.

⁴ Cp. LANMAN 339.

⁵ There are two instances of the final -a being nasalized: ugrām ākas (VII. 254) and puru-ṣtutām ēko (VIII. 153. 11); cp. RPr. XIV. 20. There is a purely metrical lengthening of the final vowel in vṛṣabhā (VIII. 452. 38), sinā (VIII. 41), and hāriyojanā (I. 6116); perhaps also maryā (I. 63); cp. LANMAN 339.

⁶ Properly a radical a-stem.

⁷ By a syntactical peculiarity the N. indrās ca is some ten times coupled with a vocative vāyo, āgre etc. See LANMAN 340 (top).

⁸ In the AV. -au is more than twice as common as in the RV.; it is there sometimes a various reading for -ā of the RV. In the independent Mantra portions of the TS. there are at least seven forms in -ā and fourteen in -au. In the Khilas -ā is nearly three times (32) as common as -au (12).

⁹ -au occurs 23 times before a consonant within a Pāda; mostly in passages showing signs of lateness. Cp. LANMAN 576.

¹⁰ -au occurs 5 times at the end of an odd Pāda before a consonant; and 4 times as -āv at the end of an odd Pāda before a vowel. At the end of an even Pāda -au occurs 4 times.

¹¹ LANMAN 343 enumerates the forms in -au which occur in the RV.

¹² At the end of an odd Pāda -ā is always written in the Samhitā contracted with a following vowel, but must always be read with hiatus.

¹³ This is the normal use of -au, which in 70 per cent of its occurrences is found as -āv before a vowel within a Pāda; in the AV. the percentage is only 26.

syllables, is thus removed¹ by the use of -āu, except when u or ū follows². In the latter case the Saṃhitā text writes *-ā u*³, e. g. ubhā upāṇiśā (x. 83⁷), though the Pada always has -au u.

There are seven or eight passages of the RV. in which -ā is written with hiatus before other vowels (a-ī-o)⁴, but those passages are all obscure or corrupt⁵.

a. About a dozen forms, occurring altogether some 20 times, shorten the dual -ā to a, mostly owing to the metre, but in a few instances against the metre. In the forms asura, āditya, deva, dhṛta-vrata, mitra, varuṇa, indrā-varuṇa, *mitrā-varuṇa*⁶ the Pada text has -ā; but in pāura (v. 74⁴) and vīra (vi. 63¹⁰) the short vowel appears in the Pada also⁷. A similar shortening occurs in the first member of the dual compounds indrā-vāyā (i. 2⁴) and mitrā-rājānā (v. 62³).

N. A. n. This form takes the normal ending -ī, which combines with the final -a of the stem to -e. It is made in the RV. from about 30 nominal stems. The vocative does not occur. Only seven of these n. forms are found more than once, śṛṅge 'two horns' being the commonest (5)⁸.

a. The n. nāktā 'night' is irregular in forming its du. N. as a m. in the compound usāsā-nāktā 'dawn and night', in agreement with which a f. adjective is used, owing doubtless to the predominance of 'Dawn', in the combination. In ii. 39⁴, yugēva nābhyaiva 'like two yokes, like two naves', though analyzed by the Pada as yugā iva and nābhyaiva, must be explained as regular n. forms yugē and nābhyaiva.

I. D. Ab. Before the normal ending *-bhyām*⁹ which forms these cases, the final -a of the stems is lengthened, e. g. nāsatyābhyām. In the RV. this form is made from only about a dozen nominal stems in the m. and three in the n. The cases can of course only be distinguished exegetically.

I. m. kārṇābhyām (AV.) 'ears', dāṃṣṭrābhyām (TS. AV.) 'teeth', dakṣiṇa-saryābhyām (AV.) 'right and left', dāśa-sākṣābhyām 'having ten fingers', *mitrā-varuṇābhyām*¹⁰, yuktābhyām 'yoked', vrihi-yavābhyām (AV.) 'rice and barley', śubhrābhyām 'shining', suryā-candramāsābhyām (AV.)¹¹ 'sun and moon', hastābhyām 'hands', haryatābhyām 'desirable'. — n. ṛk-sāmābhyām 'hymn and chant', śṛṅgābhyām (AV.).

D. m. tveṣābhyām 'violent', nāsatyābhyām 'truthful', nicirābhyām 'attentive'.

Ab. m. dhṃsābhyām 'shoulders', kārṇābhyām. — n. pārśvābhyām (AV.) 'sides', prā-padābhyām 'tips of the feet', māta-snābhyām certain internal organs.

G. L. These cases take the normal ending -os, between which and the stem y is inserted. In the RV. only eight nominal¹² forms occur with the genitive sense, and twelve with the locative sense. One form, dhvasrāyos (ix. 58³), seems to be used as an Ab. There are one or two others which anomalously drop the final -a of the stem, instead of inserting y, before the ending *-os*¹².

¹ In two instances hiatus is removed by nasalization: *upāsthamī*¹ ékā (i. 35⁶) and jānāmī āsamā (vi. 67¹).

² There are 40 instances of this in the RV.; see LANMAN 575.

³ This is also the practice of the Brāhmaṇas; see AUFRECHT, AB. 427; cp. Sarvā-nukramāṇi, ed. MACDONELL, p. x. In the AV. (as in the later language) -āu u is regularly written (except muṣkā upāvadhī, xx. 136²).

⁴ See LANMAN 341⁴.

⁵ Except vii. 70⁴ where devā śadhiṣu (Pada devau) is written, o being treated like u, perhaps owing to its labial character.

⁶ See RPR. iv. 39, 40.

⁷ The shortening of the du. -ā at the end of odd Padas before r, occurring in four passages (ii. 37; vi. 68²; viii. 66¹¹; x. 66¹³) is due to Sandhi; see 70.

⁸ These neuter duals are enumerated by LANMAN 343.

⁹ To be read -bhiām in two or three forms.

¹⁰ In this compound only the second dual takes the proper case-ending.

¹¹ There are also the pronominal forms G. L. m. ayós, ubhāyos, tāyos, yāyos; tāyos also as G. n.

¹² Also the pronominal forms av-ós, en-ós, y-ós. Cp. LANMAN 344.

The forms occurring are:

G. m. īndrā-varuṇayos, īśāṇayos 'ruling', devāyos, mitrāyos, mitrā-vāruṇayos, yamāyos 'twins', vāruṇayos, vaikarṇāyos 'descendants of Vikarṇa'. — n. pṛṣṭy-ās (for pṛṣṭyā-y-os*) 'pressing stones', *purāṇ-y-ās*¹ (for purāṇ-y-os*) 'ancient'.

L. m. āṇṣayos, āṣvayos, upākāyos 'closely connected', kārṇayos (AV.), jāmbhayos (TS. IV. 1. 103) 'jaws', tuvi-jātāyos 'of powerful nature', dāṇṣṭrayos (AV.), nādīyos 'roarers', mitrāyos, muśkāyos 'testicles', vāruṇayos, vāhiṣṭhayos 'drawing best', vī-vratayos 'refractory', sthūrāyos 'strong', hāṣṭayos.

Pl. N. V. m. Here there are two forms. In the more common form the normal ending -as coalesces with the final of the stem to -ās, e. g. devās. The less common form appears to be made by adding the normal ending -as over again², e. g. devās-as. The form in -ās is about twice as frequent in the RV. as that in -āsas³, the former being made from 808 stems, the latter from 403. In the original parts of the AV. -ās is 24 times as frequent as -āsas, the former occurring 1366 times, the latter only 57 times⁴. Both forms frequently occur side by side, the choice of the one or the other being often no doubt determined simply by the metre; e. g. bṛhā vadema vidāthe suvitrāḥ (II. 1¹³) 'abounding in heroes we would speak aloud in the assembly', but suvitrāso vidātham ā vadema (II. 12¹⁵) 'abounding in heroes we would speak to the assembly'.

Examples of the most frequent forms made with the two endings are: 1. devāsas (86), jānāsas (41), somāsas (41), sutāsas (29), ādityāsas (24) 'Ādityas', yajñīyāsas (21) 'holy', amṛtāsas (11). — 2. dāvās and devās (311), somās (42), ādityās (39), sutās (27), jānās (24), amṛtās (22), yajñīyās (10).

N. A. n. s. Here, as in the N. m. there are two forms, a shorter and a longer, the former being the older and original, as well as the more frequent one. The older form is made not by adding the normal ending -i, but by lengthening the final -a of the stem, e. g. havyā 'oblations'⁵. The later form ends in -āni and is doubtless due to transitions from the stems in -an⁷ which form the n. pl. N. A. with both -ā and -āni, e. g. nāmā and nāmāni. The form in -ā is in the RV. made from 394 stems, that in -āni from 280, the proportion of the occurrences of the former being roughly three to every two of the latter. The proportion in the AV. is almost exactly reversed, the form in -ā being there made from 102 stems, that in -āni from 158⁸. The two forms are so common side by side that when two n. plurals occur in the same Pāda, the one generally ends in -āni and the other in -ā⁹; e. g. yā te bhūtmāni āyudhā (IX. 61³⁰) 'thy terrible weapons'. This phenomenon

¹ With y inserted though -a is dropped.

² See BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 661, where several examples are given of endings being repeated in other languages.

³ The form in -āsas seems to be an Indo-Iranian innovation, as there are no certain traces of it in other Indo-European languages; cp. BRUGMANN l. c.

⁵ There is no example of a V. in the RV., and only one, cittāni (II. 2⁴), in the AV. where the Mss. have cittāni.

⁶ This form in -ā is commonly supposed to have started from a N. sing. f. in -ā as a collective; this would account for the agreement of the singular verb with this pl. in Greek; cp. also sārvā tā . . . astu (RV. I. 162⁸); see BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 682.

⁷ The G. āhānām is an example of the transference of another case from an -an stem.

⁸ In the independent Mantra portions of the TS. the forms in -ā seem to outnumber those in -āni in about the same proportion as in the RV.: there are at least 20 forms of the former and 14 of the latter. In the Khilas the two forms are almost equally divided, as 10 examples of -ā and 12 of -āni occur.

⁹ Similarly, the form in -ā appears beside n. pl. forms in -āni, -āni or even -āṃsi, -āṃsi, -āṃsi; e. g. bhūrāni bhadrā (I. 166¹⁰); is clearly due to the influence of metre. The -ā here seems never to be shortened to -i, as is so frequently the case in the N. A. n. pl. of -an stems¹. Nor does it avoid hiatus (like the -ā of the N. A. du. m.), though coalescence with a following vowel sometimes takes place².

Examples of the commonest forms are: 1. havyā (44), bhūvanā (36), duritī (31) 'distresses', sāvanā (30), ukthā (25) 'praises'. — 2. bhūvanāni (57), vratāni (36) 'foes', vratāni (34) 'laws', havyāni (25), kṛtāni (20) 'done'.

A. m. The ending of this case is not the normal -as, but -n, before which the final vowel of the stem is lengthened³, e. g. dāvā-n. The form is frequent, being made from more than 250 stems in the RV. That the ending was originally -ns is shown by the treatment of -ān in Sandhi, where it becomes -āṁ before vowels and the sibilant itself occasionally survives before c- and ṣ-⁴.

I. m. n. In this case there are two forms, the one adding the normal ending -bhis (before which the final vowel of the stem becomes -e), while the other ends in -ais (which does not appear in any other declension). The form in -ais is only slightly commoner in the RV., being made from 221 stems, while that in -bhis is made from 211. In the AV., however, the former is 5 times as frequent as the latter⁵. The two forms⁶ often appear in the same Pāda; e. g. upamēbhir arkāis (I. 33²) 'with highest songs'. The choice is often due to the metre; e. g. yātām āśvebhir āśvinā (VIII. 57) 'come with your steeds, O Āśvins', and ādityāir yātām āśvinā (VIII. 35¹³) 'with the Ādityas come, O Āśvins'.

In the RV. the m. forms are roughly twice as numerous as the n. Examples of the most frequent forms are: 1. arkāis (43), ukthāis (35), yajñāis (34), devāis (31), dāvāis (30), stīmāis (25). — 2. devēbhis (52), stīmebhis (26), vājēbhis (21).

D. m. n. This case is formed with the normal ending -bhyas, before which the final -a of the stem appears as -e. In the RV. it is made from over 40 stems in the m., but from only one in the n. In about half the forms occurring the ending has to be read as a dissyllable -bhias. The forms occurring are: ajārebhias 'unaging', amavattarebhias 'mightier', āranēbhias (Kh. v. 1²) 'foreign', arbhakēbhias 'small', ādityēbhias, āśindēbhias 'aged', āśv-āpas-tarebhias 'working more quickly', āmebhias 'helpers', gārbhebhias 'infants', grhēbhias, jānebhias, jīvēbhias 'living', jñātēbhias (Kh. III. 16¹) 'known', tāvakebhias 'thy', dāśa-kakṣyēbhias 'having ten girths', dāśa-yoktrebhias 'having ten traces', dāśa-yojanebhias 'having ten teams', devēbhias, pajrēbhias 'strong', pārvatebhias 'mountains', pasprdhānebhias 'striving', pitu-kṣtārebhias 'procuring more nourishment', pisūnebhias 'treacherous', putrēbhias 'sons', pūruṣēbhias 'men', pūrvebhias 'former', bādhitebhias 'oppressed', bharatēbhias 'descendants of Bharata', mārtiye- sāvanā puruṣi (III. 36⁸); nṛdhvā śocāṁsi prāsthītā rājāṁsi (III. 44); rabhasā vāpūṁsi (III. 18).

² On some probable mistakes made by the Pada in contracted forms see LANMAN 348.

³ This lengthening is at least Indo-Iranian: BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 672².

⁴ See above 77; and cp. LANMAN 346 on the Sandhi of -ān in general.

⁶ On the origin of the two forms cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 717.

bhyas, mānavēbhyas 'men', mānuṣēbhyas 'men', mānēbhyas 'descendants of Māna', yajātēbhyas 'adorable', yajñīyēbhyas, rāthēbhyas 'chariots', vidhīstarebhyas 'very wise', vīprebhyas 'seers', vy-śvēbhyas 'horseless', śaśamānēbhyas 'toiling', suvidat-riyēbhyas 'bountiful', soma-rabhastarebhyas 'intoxicated with Soma', somyēbhyas 'preparers of Soma', steṇēbhyas 'thieves'. — n. bhīṣvanēbhyas 'beings'.

Ab. m. n. This case is formed like the D. with the normal ending -bhyas from nearly two dozen stems in the RV. about equally divided between the m. and n. In more than half of these forms the ending must be pronounced as a dissyllable. The forms occurring are: m. āntēbhyas 'ends', dsurebhyas 'divine spirits', ugrēbhyas, grhēbhyas, jānēbhyas, jīvēbhyas 'living beings', devēbhyas, pārivatebhyas, makhēbhyas 'vigorous', vīprebhyas, śūrebhyas, śyenēbhyas 'eagles'. — n. anyā-kṛtēbhyas 'done by others', āntreḥbhyas 'entrails', duritēbhyas, nakhēbhyas 'nails', padēbhyas, pārthivēbhyas 'terrestrial spaces', bhīṣvanēbhyas, mṛdhrēbhyas 'contempt', vānēbhyas 'forest trees', harmyēbhyas 'houses'.

G. m. n. Instead of the normal ending -ām these stems almost invariably add the ending -nām, before which the final vowel is lengthened as in the -i, -u and -r stems. This ending (like -āni in the n. pl.) must have been due to the influence of the -n stems¹. The case is thus formed in the RV. from over 100 stems in the m. and over 20 in the n. In nearly half these forms the final syllable may be metrically read as *aam*². Two-thirds of these resolutions are, however, not necessary as they occur at the end of octosyllabic Pādas which may be catalectic; but many undoubted resolutions are required within the Pāda³. Among the forms of most frequent occurrence are m. devānām (148), jānānām (34), yajñīyānām (12), ādityānām (11), adhvarānām (10). — n. dhānānām (13).

a. The organic form e. g. from devā- would have been devām (= devā-ām). Not more than three or four examples of this survive in the RV., and only two of these seem undoubted: yāthyām dśvānām (VIII. 56⁴) 'of horses belonging to the herd' and carāthām in gārbhaś ca sthātām gārbhaś carāthām (I. 70³) 'offspring of things that are stationary, offspring of things that move'⁴. There are further some half dozen forms written with final -ān or -āñ which seem to stand for the G. pl. in -ām: devāñ jānma (I. 71³; VI. 11³) 'the race of the gods' (Pāda devāñ); devāñ jānmanā (X. 64¹⁴) 'with the race of the gods' (Pāda devāñ); viśā ā ca mārtañ (IV. 2³) 'and hither to the dwellings of mortals' (= mārtām); coṣkhyāte viśā indro manuyān (VI. 47¹⁶) 'Indra protects the tribes of men'.

L. m. n. This case adds the normal ending -su before which (as before -bhis and -bhyas) -e takes the place of the final vowel of the stem and cerebralizes the following sibilant. It is formed from some 123 stems in the m. and some 92 in the n.⁵ It is almost invariably⁶ to be read with hiatus, even before u-⁷.

Among the most frequently occurring forms are: m. devēsu (99), vājēsu (41), yajñēsu (35), adhvarēsu (27), mārtyēsu (25), sutēsu (16). — n. vidādheṣu (33), vāneṣu (20), sāvaneṣu (14), bhīṣvaneṣu (12), ukthēsu (10).

² LANMAN (352, bottom) enumerates the forms in which resolution takes place.

³ LANMAN 352d, gives a list of the forms in which resolution is required; cp. ARNOLD, Vedic Metre 143 (p. 92).

⁴ Perhaps also himsānām (X. 142¹) if G. pl. of a participle himsāna-, and śāsām if G. of śāsā- 'ruler' (II. 23¹²). vanām (X. 46⁵) is G. pl. of vān- rather than vāna-. Cp. LANMAN 353.

⁵ The gender is doubtful in some instances.

⁶ The only undoubted exception to this rule in the RV. occurs in a late hymn (X. 121⁸), where devēsu ādhi must be read. Cp. LANMAN 354.

⁷ On the probable origin of the ending -su cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 700.

2 b. Derivative Stems in -ā.

LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 335–365. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 131–137. — Cp. COLLITZ, die herkunft der ā-deklination, BB. 29, p. 81–114.

373. The derivative ā-declension corresponds to the derivative a-declension, for the m. adjectives of which it furnishes the f. stems. It includes more feminines than any other declension. Like the a-declension it has many irregularities of inflexion, every case in the singular, except the A., and two cases in the plural showing some abnormal feature. The N. sing. shares with the derivative i-declension the peculiarity of not adding the ending -s; the I. sing. has an alternative form borrowed from the pronominal declension; the D. Ab. G. L. sing. are formed under the influence of the derivative i-stems; and the V. sing. ends in -e instead of appearing in the form of the bare stem. In the plural the N. has to a limited extent the same alternative form in -āsas as the m. of the a-declension, and the G. is similarly formed with -nām.

As in the a-declension, the accent remains in the same position throughout except the V., where it of course shifts to the first syllable.

Inflexion.

374. The forms actually occurring, if made from priyā- 'dear', would be as follows:

Sing. N. priyā. A. priyām. I. priyā and priyayā. D. priyāyai. Ab. G. priyāyās. L. priyāyām. V. priye.

Du. N. A. priyē. I. Ab. priyābhyām. G. L. priyāyos.

Pl. N. priyās and priyāsas. V. priyās. A. priyās. I. priyābhis. D. Ab. priyābhyas. G. priyānām. L. priyāsu.

Sing. N. This case never adds the normal ending *-s*¹. It is formed in the RV. from 424 stems and occurs more than 1000 times. Examples of the most frequent forms are: yūṣā (24) 'maiden', dāksinā (24) 'good milch cow', lā (17) 'refreshment', jāyā (17) 'wife', su-bhūtā (13) 'beautiful', sāntā (10) 'joyful', citrā (9) 'brilliant'.

a. At the end of odd Pādas the final -ā of this N. is regularly written with Sandhi, but must always be read with hiatus; coalescence with e- and r- is, however, twice avoided by nasalization², while twice³ the -ā is shortened before r.

b. Within a Pāda the -ā is written with Sandhi in 160 instances in the RV., but is pronounced (unlike the -ā of the N. A. du. m.) with hiatus in 23 of these instances; while the nominatives iṣā 'car-pole' and manīṣā 'devotion' are written as well as pronounced with hiatus⁴, the former once, the latter four times.

A. This case, which is formed with the normal ending -m, is in the RV. made from over 200 nominal stems occurring more than 400 times. Examples of the most frequent forms are: manīṣām (21), jāyām (11), āmṛvām (9) 'distress', yūṣām (7), yūṣaṇām (6) 'maiden'.

a. This case is often identical in form with the L. sing. f. of stems in -ī; thus pūrvyām may be the A. of pūrvā- 'previous' or L. of pūrvī- 'much'. In one instance at least elision of the -m, followed by contraction, takes place⁵: śatatanādviveṣīh (VII. 19⁵) for

⁵ iṣā ākṣo (VIII. 52⁹); manīṣā abhi (I. 101⁷);

manīṣā īyam (V. 11⁵; VII. 70⁷); manīṣā asmāt (VII. 34¹); cp. RPr. II. 29. LANMAN 356 suggests that the comparative frequency of this hiatus justifies the restoration of the augment in Pādas short of a syllable; e.g. prā sā [a] vāci (VII. 58⁸).

śatalamām avicēṣṭh. In two or three instances the metre seems to require -ām to be read as *-aam*¹.

I. There are two forms of this case. In the one, the normal ending -ā is added directly to the stem and, by contracting with its final -ā, produces a form identical in appearance with the N., e. g. jihvā (= jihvā-ā) 'tongue'. In the other, y is interposed between the ending -ā and the final -ā of the stem, which is shortened, e. g. jihvā-y-ā. The latter form is due to the influence of the regular pronominal I. sing. f., e. g. *tāyā*². This form is already slightly the more common in the RV.³, being made from 113 stems⁴ as compared with 95 which take the older form with -ā. In the later Samhitās the I. in -ā is very rare in original passages, the AV. using only five such forms independently⁵. Both forms are (unlike the N. pl. m. in -āsas and -ās) comparatively seldom made from the same stem, as jihvā and jihvāyā. Two thirds of the total number of 95 stems which have the older form, end in the suffixes -ā and -yā, as puruṣā-tā 'after the manner of men', hiraṇyayā 'golden'. The choice of the alternative forms is, as elsewhere, often determined by the metre⁶.

Examples of the commonest forms are: 1. doṣā (13) 'evening', barhānā (13) 'might', manīṣā (13), manhānā (11) 'willingness', śravyā (7) 'desire to praise'⁷. — Also āśir-dāyā (TS. III. 2. 8⁴) 'fulfilment of blessing', viśvā-psya (TS. I. 5. 3³; VS. XII. 10) 'omniform'. — 2. dhārāyā (53) 'stream', jihvāyā (24), māyāyā (20) 'craft'.

a. There are some instrumentals sing. f. formed from derivative a-stems, which are used as adverbs with shift of accent to the ending. Such are: a-datrāyā 'without a gift' (a-datra-), ubhāyā 'in both ways' (ubhāya-), ṛtāyā 'in the right way' (ṛtā-), dakṣiṇā 'on the right' (dakṣiṇa-), naktāyā 'by night' (nākta-), madhyā 'in the middle' (mādhyā-), samanā 'together' (sāmana-), svāpnāyā (AV.) 'in dream' (svāpnā-)⁸.

D. This case is anomalously formed by adding -yai to the stem, e. g. *jarā-yai*⁹. It is not of common occurrence, being made from only 14 nominal¹⁰ stems in the RV. The forms occurring are: a-gātāyāyā 'lack of cows', a-vīratāyāyā 'lack of sons', ukhāyāyā (TS. IV. 1. 9³) 'pot', utānāyāyā (TS. IV. 1. 4¹; Kh. V. 16¹) 'supine', ghīṣāyāyā N. of a woman, carāyāyā 'for going', jarāyāyā (AV.) 'old age', vā-yatāyāyā 'presented by thee', duccchināyāyā 'mischievous demon', putrā-kāmāyāyā (Kh. IV. 13¹) 'desiring sons', pūtā-kratāyāyā N. of a woman, manāyāyā 'eagerness', viśpālāyāyā N. of a woman, śivāyāyā 'auspicious', śvetanāyāyā 'dawn', sūnītāyāyā 'joy', sūryāyāyā 'sun-goddess'.

a. Two forms have been preserved in which the D. is made by adding the normal ending -e directly to the stem with the -ā of which it coalesces to -ai: mahyāyā (I. 113⁶) 'greatness', *sv-apatyāyā*¹¹ (I. 54¹¹) 'accompanied with fair offspring'. These are formed like the D. infinitives from radical a-stems such as vi-khyāyā (584).

b. In one passage (VII. 119) the form a-vīratāyāyā 'lack of sons',

² Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 629, 783.

³ The corresponding later form in the Avesta is much commoner than the older: BRUGMANN 2, p. 629.

⁴ This number given by LANMAN 357 includes some pronominal stems. BRUGMANN's statement (2, p. 629) that the form in -ayā is less common than the form in -ā in Vedic, is not applicable even to the RV.

⁵ The forms are dakṣiṇā, devātā, doṣā, sumnayā, vīta-kāmāyā; only the last is peculiar to the AV.

⁶ Euphony also has some influence; thus hiraṇyayayā does not occur.

⁷ LANMAN 358 enumerates the homophonous instrumentals.

⁸ These forms may have been due to the influence of the pronominal adverb a-vā 'in this way' (with adverbial shift of accent, cp. tāyā etc.); see J. SCHMIDT, Pluralbildung 212 ff., and BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 629; otherwise BARTHOLOMAE, BB. 15, 20 f.

⁹ Formed in the Indo-Iranian period, probably under the influence of the derivative stems in -ī originally -yā, i. e. -yai for -yā-e.

¹⁰ Also svāyāyā from the possessive pronoun svā-.

¹¹ BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 600, thinks this form may be shortened for sv-apatyāyāyā.

takes the ending -e direct, but with elision of the stem vowel, as in the radical ā-declension ¹.

Ab. This case is formed anomalously by adding the ending -yās to the stem². It is rare, being made in the RV. from only seven stems, the AV. having three additional examples. The forms occurring are: ardhvāyās (AV.) 'upright', kanīyās 'maiden', jihvāyās, dāksīnyās, dur-āvāyās 'ill-disposed', dur-hlāyās 'mischief'. dāivyāyās 'divine', dhruvāyās (AV.) 'firm', nīlāyās 'dis-grace', vy-adhvāyās (AV.)³ 'lying half-way'.

G. This case is formed in the same way as the Ab., but is much more frequent, being made from 26 stems in the RV. The forms occurring are: aghnyāyās and aghyāyās 'cow (not to be killed)', llāyās, ukhāyās, usrīyāyās 'ruddy cow', ārmyāyās 'night', kanīyās, kāsthāyās 'course', jihvāyās, dāksīnyāyās, darsatīyās 'conspicuous', dīrvāyās 'Dūrvā grass', dhīṣṇāyās 'offering', *dhīsamāyāyās*⁴ 'longing', pājrayās 'vigorous', pāri-takmyāyās 'wandering', māhināyās 'mighty', rasīyās a mythical river, vayīyās 'branch', viśpālāyās, śaśvattamāyās 'most recent', ślphīyās N. of a river, śucīyās 'pure', śabar-dīghīyās 'yielding nectar', *śahūyās*⁵ 'victorious', śūrīyās 'intoxicating liquor', sūryāyās.

L. This case is formed by adding the anomalous ending -yām to the stem, e. g. bhadrā-yām. It is not common, being formed from only 16 or 17 stems in the RV. The forms occurring are: *āpayīyām*⁶ N. of a river, āmāyām 'raw', uttanīyām 'outstretched', usrīyāyām, (ā)-gatīyām 'come', grīvāyām 'neck', jārnīyām 'ancient', nāvāyām 'new', pāri-takmyāyām, bhadrāyām 'beneficent', yamūnīyām N. of a river, varatrāyām 'thong', vāśīyām (Kh. II. 105) 'cow', śimśāpāyām N. of a tree, śrīnīyām 'night', sabhīyām (TS. I. 8. 31) 'assembly', śūrīyām, *su-śmīyām*⁷ N. of a river, hariyūpīyām N. of a locality.

V. This case has the abnormal ending *-e*⁸ and is in the RV. formed from over 50 stems; e. g. aśve. The original form must have been the bare stem with the final vowel shortened; e. g. aśva*, but of this there is no certain survival. The form amba which occurs in the RV. three times (unaccented) may originally have been an exclamation, and it can have this sense alone in one of the three passages of the RV. (x. 97²), where it is used with a plural. In the two other passages it may very well mean 'O mother' (II. 41¹⁶; x. 86⁷). The VS. (XXIII. 18) and the TS. (VII. 4. 19¹) have the V. āmbe as from a stem āmbā 'mother'⁹.

The forms occurring are: *aghnyāsyē*¹⁰ (Kh. IV. 5²⁶ 32) 'cow-faced', aghye, apve N. of a disease, amartye 'immortal', āmbike (TS. VS.) 'mother', ambitamē 'most motherly', aśve 'mare', aśva-sāmrte 'rich in horses', *āditya-varṇē*¹¹ (Kh. II. 66) 'sun-coloured', ārjikiye N. of a river, iḥe goddess of devotion, iṣṭake (TS. IV. 2. 9²) 'brick', ugra-putre 'having mighty sons', uttare 'mightier', uttāna-parṇe 'having extended leaves', uru-vraje 'extending afar', ūrmye, iṣve 'exalted', kadhā-priye 'ever pleased', kāne 'one-eyed', kāma-dughe (TS. IV. 2. 9⁶) 'cow of plenty', kṛtye (Kh. IV. 5²⁵) 'magic', ghōra-rūpe (Kh. IV. 5²⁶) 'of awful form', gaṅge 'Ganges', ghore 'awful', citre, citrā-maghe 'having brilliant gifts', jāye, dūrve (TS. IV. 2. 9²), deva-jūte 'impelled by the gods'

² Like the D. it is due to the influence of the stems in derivative -ī, to the fuller form of which, -yā, the normal ending -as was added.

³ Also the pronominal svāyās 'own'.

⁴ Participle, perhaps desiderative, of dhī- 'think'.

⁵ Perfect participle middle of sah- 'conquer'.

⁶ A transition form from the radical ā-declension, see p. 249, note 11.

⁷ Also the pronominal form svāyām.

⁸ The origin of this ending is uncertain; cp. BRUGMANN 2, 541.

⁹ This is a common stem in post-Vedic Sanskrit.

¹⁰ The ed. has aghyāsyē.

¹¹ The ed. has āditya-varṇe.

*devi-tame*¹ 'most divine', dhiṣane 'goddess of devotion', nadī-tame 'best of rivers', pathye 'path' (as goddess), pastye 'goddess of the house', putra-kāme, puru-priye 'much beloved', pr̥thu-jāghane 'broad-hipped', pr̥thu-ṣṭuke 'having broad braids of hair', priye (TS. VII. 1. 6⁸), brahṃa-saṃṣite 'sharpened by prayer', marud-vrdhe N. of a river, yamune, rāke N. of a goddess, vapuṣṭame (Kh. IV. 7¹) 'most beautiful', vāra-rūpe (Kh. IV. 5²⁶) 'of excellent form', vi-kale 'monstrous', vivasvad-vāte (TS. IV. 4. 12⁴) 'desired by Vivasvat', viśva-rūpe (TS. IV. 2. 5²) 'omniform', viśva-vāre 'possessed of all goods', śaravye 'arrow', śitike 'cool', śluge (Kh. V. 15⁸) N. of a goddess, śubhre 'shining', sa-dānve 'associated with demons', sarame N. of a goddess, sīte 'furrow', su-jāte 'well-born', su-putre 'having good sons', su-bhage, su-lābhike 'easy to win', su-saṃse 'having fair daughters-in-law', sū-nṛte, sūrya-varṇe (Kh. IV. 7¹) 'sun-coloured', sūrye, stōma-trayastrīṃse (TS. IV. 4. 12⁴), hāriklike (Kh. V. 15¹) 'yellowish', hiraṇya-parṇe (Kh. IV. 7¹) 'gold-winged', hlādike 'refreshing'.

Du. N. A. V. These cases are identical in form, having final -e which doubtless contains the same dual ending -ī as N. A. V. du. of the a-declension². They are of frequent occurrence, being made from over 130 stems in the RV. The ending -e is Pragrhya, being distinguished by the Pada text with an appended iti from the e of the V. sing. f.; e. g. V. du. f. śubhre iti, but V. sing. f. śubhre.

Examples of the most frequent forms are: ubhē (66) 'both', *su-māke*³ (8) 'well-established', devā-putre (7) 'having gods as sons', vi-rūpe (7) 'of different forms', śīpre (5) 'cheeks'. The compound sītṛsite 'black and white' occurs in a Khila (p. 171⁵).

I. Ab. These cases, made with the ending -bhyām, are identical in form with the I. D. Ab. m. n. of the a-declension. They are represented by only two forms in the RV.: śīprābhyām (x. 105⁵) which seems to be I.⁴, and nāsikābhyām (x. 163¹) 'nostrils', Ab. No form with a D. sense occurs.

G. L. Both these cases add, with interposing -y-, the normal ending -os to the final -ā of the stem, which is shortened. They are thus identical in form with the G. L. du. m. n. of the a-declension. There are only four nominal forms in the RV. and AV.: in the G. sense jāṅghayos (AV.) 'legs', yamyos 'twins'; and in the L. sense uttānāyos, svadhāyos 'homestead'⁵.

Pl. N. V. The regular form ends in -ās and is very common, being formed from nearly 260 stems in the RV. Examples of the commonest forms are: bhadrās (19), dhārās (16), manṣās (10)⁶.

There is, however, a second form in -āsas which occurs nearly 20 times in the RV. Considering the rarity of this form here, while it is the commoner as N. pl. m. in the a-declension, the probability is that its introduction was due to those very numerous masculines. The forms occurring are: ā-tandrāsas 'indefatigable', a-mītāsas (AV.) 'immortal', dur-mitrāsas 'unfriendly', pasprāhānāsas 'vying'⁷, *pārthivāsas*⁸ 'terrestrial', pāvākāsas 'pure', *bhejānāsas*⁹ 'having obtained', *vanvānāsas*¹⁰ (SV.) 'having obtained', vaśāsas,

² Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 286 (p. 643).

³ Cp. WINDISCH in Festgruss an O. v. BÖHTLINGK 114 f.

⁴ The pronominal form tābhyām (x. 88¹⁵) has a locative meaning.

⁵ There are also the pronominal forms ayós and yáyos. In III. 54² the Pada text reads áyós probably for ayós.

⁶ In two or three passages the Pada text seems to confuse forms in -ās with others in -ā; see LANMAN 362.

⁷ Perfect participle middle of √sprdh-.

⁸ Cp. LANMAN 362.

⁹ Perfect participle middle of bhaji- 'share'.

¹⁰ The variant of the SV. for bhejānāsas of the RV.

vāsrāsas 'roaring', vidānāsas 'being found', vr̥dhāsas 'helping', *ā-susānāsas*² 'stimulating', *sūghanāsas*³ 'swift', sāmmītāsas (AV.) 'corresponding', smāyamānāsas 'smiling', hāvamānāsas 'calling'⁴.

A. This case is formed with the normal ending -as which coalesces with the final of the stem to -ās, e. g. sūnītās. It is very frequent, being made from more than 160 stems in the RV. Examples of the commonest forms are: mṛyās (22), pītanās (13) 'battles', usrās (12) 'dawns', dhātās (11), usrīyās (10)⁵. Two instances occur of forms in -āsas being wrongly used as A. pl. f.: samvidānāsas (x. 30¹⁴) 'united' and aram-gamāsas (AV. XIII. 2¹³) 'ready to help'.

I. This case is always formed by adding the ending -bhis directly to the stem, e. g. sūnītā-bhis. It is made from over 80 stems in the RV. Examples of the most frequent forms are: māyābhis (13), citrābhis (8), dhātābhis (7), hitrābhis (7) 'libations', ilābhis (6). The form drāghishṭhābhis (III. 62¹⁷) 'for longer times'⁶ is used adverbially.

D. Ab. These cases are formed with the same ending -bhyas (sometimes to be read as two syllables) added directly to the stem. In the RV. only 4 datives and 11 ablatives occur from nominal stems⁷. The forms occurring are: D. aghnyābhyas, usrīyābhyas, duccḥinābhyas, devātābhyas (TS. IV. 2. 9⁶) 'deities', vr̥tābhyas 'movements'. — Ab. ādharābhyas 'lower', āsābhyas 'regions', uttarābhyas, uṣṇhābhyas 'nape of the neck', kīkasābhyas 'cartilages of the breast-bone', gūdābhyas 'intestines', grīvābhyas, damśānābhyas 'wondrous powers', dhīśānābhyas 'Soma bowls', vakṣānābhyas 'bellies', śyāryābhyas 'darkness'.

G. This case being made with the abnormal ending -nām is identical in form with the G. pl. m. of the a-declension. It is formed in the RV. from 22 stems. There is no certain example here of forms with the normal ending -ām which is found in a few genitives of the a-declension (372). There are only a couple of instances in which the resolution of the final syllable as -aam seems required by the metre⁸. The G. of kanyā 'girl' always appears in the contracted form of *kanūnām*⁹ (occurring five times) in the RV.¹⁰

The forms actually occurring are: ākṣarānām 'speech', āghnyānām, a-niveśānām 'affording no place of rest', ā-bhayanām 'free from danger', āsma-vrajānām 'whose pen is a rock', āsānām (TS. IV. 4. 12³), urvārānām 'arable fields', usrānām, usrīyānām, kāṣṭhānām, kṛtyānām (Kh. IV. 5³⁰), jihmānām 'transverse', divyānām 'heavenly', dūghānām 'milch kine', devātānām (Kh. II. 4¹), deva-senānām 'hosts of the gods', dhīśānām, nāvānām, naryānām 'navigable rivers', pastyānām 'abodes', manṣānām, rāmyānām 'nights', sāmānām 'years', sūnītānām 'songs of joy', sthyānām 'still waters'.

L. This case is formed by adding the ending -su directly to the stem. The final -u though always combined with a following vowel both at the end of an internal Pāda or within a Pāda, is invariably to be read with hiatus

² Participle middle of √śas.

³ This word (AV.) is of uncertain derivation.

⁴ There are besides two or three doubtful instances which may be m.; see LANMAN 362.

⁵ In several instances -ās is most probably to be read where the Pāda text has -ā, see LANMAN 363. In a few forms the resolution of -ās as -aas or -aās seems necessary; LANMAN l. c.

⁶ Cp. aparībhyas 'for future times'.

⁷ There are also the pronominal forms abhyās and ābhyas, tābhyas, yābhyas.

⁸ dhānānām in VIII. 59¹² and pītanānām in VIII. 59¹. In sūnītānām (I. 3¹⁷) the metre seems to require the shortening of the final of the stem: sūnītānām; LANMAN 364.

⁹ This is a form of some importance as showing how the suffix -ā arose from -yā.

¹⁰ It also occurs once in Kh. I. 5⁷.

in the RV.; e. g. svāsu urvārāsu (x. 50³) for *svāsurvārāsu*¹. This case is formed from over 50 nominal stems in the RV. The forms occurring are: aghāsu 'evil', amfāsu, dvārāsu 'later', ānāsu, ārtaṇāsu 'uncultivated', lāsu, ūparāsu 'neighbouring', urvārāsu, usrīyāsu, ūrmyāsu, kanyāsu, kāṣṭhāsu, kṛṣṇāsu 'black', grīvāsu (TS. IV. 2. 5³), cittī-garbhāsu 'visibly pregnant', citrāsu, *jagmānāsu*² 'having gone', jātāsu 'born', tīgryāsu 'descended from Tugra', dīryāsu 'abodes', devātāsu (TS. I. 6. 4³), dhīṣṇyāsu 'fire-places', dhruvāsu 'unchangeable', nāvāsu, pathyāsu, pādyaṣu 'footsteps', pastyāsu, pāñca-janyāsu 'relating to the five tribes', puru-pāsāsu 'multiform', pārvāsu 'earlier', pītanāsu, pradhanyāsu 'forming the spoil', priyāsu, mādyāsu 'fond of exhilaration', madhyamāsu 'middlemost', manuṣyāsu 'human', mandrāsu (TS. IV. 1. 8²), mārtvyāsu 'mortal', māhīnāsu 'mighty', yajñīyāsu 'devout', (prā)-yātāsu 'presented', yūṣaṇāsu, rāmyāsu, ropanākāsu a kind of bird, vākṣānāsu 'bellies', vṛdhāsu 'great', *vṛdhasānāsu*³ 'growing', śayāsu 'resting-places', śiṣkāsu 'dry', śyāvāsu 'nights', śrutāsu 'famous', sānayaṣu 'old', saptā-sivāsu 'blessing the seven (worlds)', sirāsu 'streams', su-vrjānāsu 'dwelling in fair regions', hāvyaṣu 'to be invoked'.

3. a. Stems in radical -ī.

LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 365—400. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 348—359.

375. This declension consists primarily of fewer than 50 m. and f. nouns derived from 9 roots. Only four of these words appear as monosyllables, the rest being compounds. The analogy of this primary group (A) is closely followed both in inflexion and accentuation by a second group of about 80 polysyllabic stems which, though formed with derivative -ī, are for the sake of clearness best treated as a division (B) of this declension. The normal endings as they appear in the inflexion of consonant stems are taken throughout this declension. The G. pl., however, with the exception of a single form occurring only once (dhiyām), takes the ending -nām; and the N. sing. always adds -s. Accentuation on the final syllable of the stem is characteristic of this declension; and except in monosyllabic stems the acute remains on that syllable throughout⁴. Before vowel endings the -ī is split to -īy in the monosyllabic nouns; e. g. dhiy-am; this is also the case in compounds formed with these nouns, except -dhi when it is accented, e. g. jana-śriyam, nānā-dhiyas, but ā-dhīam; in compounds formed with roots it is split only when two consonants precede; e. g. yajña-priyam, but yajña-nīam; in the secondary group it is split in samudrī- and partly in cakrī-, e. g. samudriyas and cakriyau, but cakrīas. Otherwise the ī is always written as y, but is in the RV. invariably⁵ to be pronounced as a vowel; e. g. nadyām pronounced *nadiām*⁶.

A. The stems belonging to the primary group are: 1. the monosyllabic feminines dhi- 'thought', bhī- 'fear', śrī- 'glory', and the m. vī- 'receiver' (which occurs only once in the N. sing.). — 2. Compounds (mostly Bahuvrīhis) formed with the first three: ā-dhī- f. 'care', itthā-dhī- 'right devout', dirghādhi-

² Perfect participle middle of gam- 'go'.

³ Participle middle from vṛdh- 'grow'.

⁴ There are one or two exceptions to this rule in compound words in the A group, and a few others, in the AV., in the B group.

⁵ There are only two exceptions in the RV.: A. sing. staryām (VII. 68⁸) in a late verse (cp. LANMAN 379¹) and N. pl. nadyās (VII. 50⁴). The AV. has six such forms: āvataryās, nadyās, naptyās, nādyās, pīppalyās, vrkṣa-sarpyās.

⁶ The resolved forms are therefore always given below, spelt with i in this declension. This will not lead to any confusion with the written forms of the Samhitā text in which the ī of the stem always appears as īy or y.

'having a far-reaching mind' (ā-dhī-), dur-ā-dhī- 'malevolent', *dūrī-ādhī-*¹ 'longing for the distance', sv-ādhī- 'attentive', *dū-dhī-*² 'malevolent', nānā-dhī- 'of various intent', viśvāto-dhī- 'all-attending', su-dhī- 'devout'; avadya-bhī- f. 'fear of blame'; agni-śrī- 'fire-bright', adhvara-śrī- 'adorning the sacrifice', kṣatra-śrī- 'blessing dominion', ghṛta-śrī- 'glittering with ghee', jana-śrī- 'blessing men', darsata-śrī- 'of beauteous splendour', mārya-śrī- 'adorned like a wooer', yajña-śrī- 'beautifying the sacrifice', su-śrī- 'glorious', hari-śrī- 'of golden glory'. — 3. Compounds³ formed with the roots krī- 'buy', nī- 'lead', prī- 'love', mī- 'diminish', vī- 'move' and 'cover', śī- 'lie', śrī- 'mix': pra-krī- (AV.) 'purchasable', sadyak-krī- (AV.) 'bought on the same day'; agre-nī- (VS.) 'leading', ṛta-nī- 'leading the rite', grāma-nī- 'leading the community', pada-nī- (AV.) 'following the steps of another', pra-nī- f. 'furtherance', *pra-nenī-*⁴ 'powerfully furthering', mana-nī- 'spirit-leading', yajñi-nī- 'leading the sacrifice', vaśa-nī- m. 'commander', vratā-nī- 'carrying out the ordinance', sadha-nī- 'accompanying', senī-nī- m. 'leader of an army', skambha-nī- (VS.) 'furnishing a prop'; abhi-prī- 'gladdening', kadha-prī- 'gladdening whom?', pari-prī- 'dear', brahma-prī- 'prayer-loving', yajña-prī- 'sacrifice-loving'; manyu-mī- 'rage-obstructing', vāta-pra-mī- 'surpassing the wind'; takva-vī- m. 'swiftly darting' bird, deva-vī- and devā-vī- 'god-refreshing', pada-vī- m. 'leader', parṇa-vī- 'moving with wings', *pratt-vī-*⁵ 'gladly accepting', hiranya-vī- 'gold-bringing'; pra-vī- (VS.) 'wound round'; jihma-śī- 'lying prostrate', *patsu-tas-śī-*⁶ 'lying at the feet', madhyama-śī- 'lying in the midst', syona-śī- 'lying on a soft couch'; *abhi-śrī-*⁷ 'admixture', *gaṇa-śrī-*⁷ 'mixing in troops'.

B. This secondary group comprises upwards of 80 polysyllabic stems, accented on the final vowel, which are all substantives except about half a dozen. It includes fewer than a dozen masculines. Of the remainder, which are feminine, more than half are names of female beings; about 30 are the f. form of m. stems that are not accented on the final vowel, as puruṣ- 'woman' beside pūruṣa- 'man'. There are also some f. adjectives corresponding to m. in -ya, as svarī- beside svaryā- 'resounding'. This derivative group closely follows the analogy of the third division of the radical group (compounds ending in roots with final accented -ī); it joined the radical declension doubtless owing to the accentuation of the final vowel.

The m. stems are: ahī- 'serpent', upāvī- (VS.)⁸ 'encouraging', *dakṣī-*⁹ 'flaming'; *prāvī-*⁸ 'attentive', dus-prāvī- 'unfriendly', su-prāvī- 'very attentive'; *yayī-*¹⁰ 'going'; rathī- 'charioteer', ā-rathī- 'not a charioteer'; sahasra-starī- 'having a thousand barren cows', hiranya-vāśī- 'wielding a golden axe'.

The f. stems are: atharī- 'flame', atharvī- 'priestess' (m. dīharvan-), ā-durmagalī- 'not unlucky', aparī- pl. 'future days' (m. āpara-), apasī- (VS.) 'industrious' (m. apāsya-), ambī- 'mother', arāyī- 'demoness' (m. drāya-), aruṇī- 'dawn', aśvatarī- (AV.) 'she-mule', aṣṭa-karṇī- 'cow with notched ear', ā-pathī- 'impediment', enī- 'doe' (m. ēta-), onī- 'breast', kalyānī- 'fair woman' (m. kalyāṇa-), kavaṣī- 'creaking' (m. kavāṣa-), kilāśī- 'spotted deer' (m. kilāśa-), kumārī- (AV.) 'girl', kudī- (AV.) 'fetter', kṛṣṇī- 'night', kṣonī- 'flood', khārī- 'measure', gandharvī- 'female Gandharva', gaurī- 'buffalo cow', cakrī- 'wheel', tandri-

a. There are further a few f. adjectives in -ī from m. stems in -ya: āpī- 'watery' (m. āpya-), śamudrī-⁵ 'belonging to the sea' (m. śamudrīya-), svarī- 'resounding' (m. svaryā-).

a. There are a few transition forms from the i-stems: *karkarīyās*⁶ (AV.) from karkarī- 'lute' (karkarī-); N. sing. arīṣī (VS. VI. 36) from arī- 'faithful' beside the usual arī-; and the stems yayī-, sakthī-, sṛñī- also occur beside yayī-, sakthi-, sṛñī- respectively. The only certain transition from the derivative ī declension to the radical ī declension is represented by strī- 'woman', originally a dissyllable⁸, from which occur the forms A. sing. strīyam, N. A. pl. strīyas, I. strībhis. Other transition forms are probably prśanias G. sing. N. pl., yahvīas A. pl., *suparṇias*⁹ N. A. pl.

Inflexion.

376. The forms actually occurring if made from dhi- 'thought', yajña-srī- m. f. 'adorning the sacrifice', senā-nī- m. 'leader of an army', rathī- m. f. 'charioteer' respectively, would be the following:

A. 1. sing. N. dhis. A. dhiyam. I. dhiyā. D. dhiyē. G. dhiyās. — Pl. N. dhiyas. A. dhiyas. I. dhibhis. G. *dhinām*¹⁰. L. dhiṣu.

2. sing. N. yajña-srīs. A. yajña-srīyam. I. yajña-srīyā. D. yajña-srīye. G. yajña-srīyas. — Du. N. A. yajña-srīyā and yajña-srīyau (AV.). — Pl. N. yajña-srīyas. A. yajña-srīyas. I. yajña-srībhis.

3. sing. N. senā-nīs. A. senā-nīam. D. senā-nīe. G. senā-nīas. — Du. N. A. senā-nīā. G. senā-nīos. — Pl. N. senā-nīas. A. senā-nīas. D. senā-nībhyas. G. senā-nīnām.

B. Sing. N. rathīs. A. rathīam. I. rathīā. D. rathīe. G. rathīas. V. rathī. — Du. N. A. rathīā. I. f. rathībhyām. G. f. rathīos. L. rathīos. — Pl. N. rathīas. A. rathīas. I. rathībhis. D. f. rathībhyas. G. rathīnām. L. f. rathīṣu.

¹ In these words the accent is shifted to a vowel ending in weak cases.

² The final vowel in this word is perhaps radical in origin (from yā- 'go').

³ The V. pl. su-hastīs (IX. 46⁴), presupposes a stem su-hastī, but as the form is a m., the reading ought perhaps to be emended to su-hastīās with BR.

⁴ hastinī- (IX. 3¹⁷) means 'having a hand'.

⁵ GRASSMANN regards this as a f. of an adjective śamudrā.

⁶ See WHITNEY on AV. IV. 37⁵.

⁷ See LANMAN 371³.

⁸ In I. 122⁷ starīs seems to be the equivalent of strī. See pw. s. v.

⁹ Cp. LANMAN 372².

¹⁰ The form dhinām occurs 7 times in the RV., dhiyām only once.

The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. A. 1. m. vīs. — f. dhīs, bhīs, śrīs. — 2. m. itthādhīs, kṣatra-śrīs, ghṛta-śrīs, darśata-śrīs, dūrā-ādhis, mārya-śrīs, viśvato-dhīs, sv-ādhis. — f. abhi-śrīs. — 3. m. agre-nīs (VS. vi. 2), grāma-nīs, takva-vīs, deva-vīs and devā-vīs, patsu-tas-śīs, pada-nīs (AV.), pada-vīs, pari-vīs (VS. vi. 6), parṇa-vīs, pra-kṛīs (AV.), pra-ṇenis, madhyama-śīs, manyu-mīs, yajña-nīs, yajña-prīs (VS. xxvii. 31), vaśa-nīs, sadyah-kṛīs, senā-nīs, skambha-nīs (VS. i. 19), syona-śīs. — f. pra-kṛīs (AV.), vṛata-nīs. — B. m. ā-rathīs¹, prāvīs, su-prāvīs, rathīs² sahāsra-startīs, hiraṇya-vāṣīs. — f. ā-dur-māṅgalīs, aruṇīs, kalyāṇīs, kṣṇīs, kṣoṇīs³, gandharvīs, gaurīs, jātrīs⁴, tandṛīs (AV.), dūtīs, napṭīs, nādīs, mahiṣīs⁵ (TS. i. 2. 12²), yamīs, yātudhānīs (AV.), rathīs, lakṣmīs, lalāmīs, viśva-rūpīs (TS. i. 5. 6³), vrkīs, śakaṭīs, śabalīs (TS. iv. 3. 11⁵), sasarparīs, siṃhīs (TS. i. 2. 12²), su-māṅgalīs⁶, starīs⁷.

L. f. gaurī (ix. 12³) and sarasī (vii. 103²) may be locatives containing the normal ending -ī.

¹ There is also the transition form arīs (VS. vi. 36).

² On rathīva occurring once or twice for rathīr iva, cp. LANMAN 375 (bottom).

³ The N. sing. once (i. 180⁹) appears without the -s as kṣoṇī. This word has other forms also according to the derivative -ī-declension; cp. LANMAN 372 (bottom).

⁴ The reading of the Mss. in AV. xx. 48² is jātrīs; the edition has jānis.

⁵ This is a transition from the derivative -ī-declension for the māhiṣī of the RV.

⁶ The AV. has su-māṅgalī three times; cp. LANMAN 377 (top).

⁷ There are also the transition forms ārītīs (vi. 43), sakvārīs (TS. iv. 4. 4¹), devīs (AV. vi. 59²); varīantīs (i. 140⁹) is a purely metrical lengthening; cp. LANMAN 377².

⁸ This form is also once (Val. ii. 10) used in agreement with a neuter substantive (gotrām).

⁹ In agreement with tvācam (ix. 74⁵).

¹⁰ This form is once (vii. 68³) pronounced staryām, being one of the two only examples in the RV. of the ī in this declension being pronounced as y before a vowel.

¹¹ Accented as if -bhiyā were used independently; the form occurs in a late hymn (x. 107³).

¹² Irregular accentuation of the ending.

¹³ Otherwise it may be an I. of the derivative -ī-declension.

¹⁴ Cp. LANMAN 382³.

¹⁵ There is no example of an ablative.

¹⁶ This seems to be the only actual n. form of this declension in the RV.

¹⁷ The form ahi-ghnyās (AV.) is a transition form with shift of accent from the derivative -ī-declension.

¹⁸ The form aruṇīs (i. 121³) may be contracted for arūnīās.

3. b. Stems in derivative -ī.

LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 365–400. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 362–366.

377. 1. This declension embraces a very considerable number of stems which are formed by means of the suffix -ī (originally -yī) and, except seven masculines, are restricted to the f. gender. It largely supplies the f. form of words requiring inflexion in more than one gender. Feminine stems are thus made from nouns in -a, e. g. devī (m. devā); from adjectives in -u; e. g. prthu-ī (m. prthū); from present participles in -ant; e. g. māḍ ant-ī.

² Treated as a compound in the Pada (VII. 74¹⁵) though mahe is V.

³ The AV. shows no example of -īā. It has three transition forms āṇḍīau, phālgūnyau, akṣyāu.

⁴ Cp. APr. III. 61.

⁵ Also the transition form śrīyas.

⁶ This would be vyā-dhiyas in the RV. where in compounds ending in -dhi- the ī if unaccented is split.

⁷ See above, 375 B a a, note 3.

⁸ Also the transition form to the derivative ī-declension deva-śrī (TS. IV. 6. 3² = VS. xvii. 56) 'worshipping the gods'.

⁹ Also the transition form śrīyas; on yakvīas and suparīyas see 375 a a.

¹⁰ Also the transition form śrībhis (accented as a monosyllabic stem).

¹¹ Metrical shortening; see LANMAN 372³.

¹² There is no example of an Ab. m. or f.

¹³ The accent of the G. ataśīnām 'beggars' would seem to require a stem ataśī- and not ataśī-.

¹⁴ There is also the transition form śrīṣū accented as a monosyllable.

(m. mā́dant-), -ānt, e. g. adat-ī (m. adā́nt-), or -at, e. g. pīprat-ī (m. pīprat-); from perfect participles in -vā́ms, e. g. jagmīṣ-ī (m. jaganvā́ms-); from comparatives in -yā́ms, e. g. ndvīyas-ī (m. ndvīyā́ms-); from words in -tar (-tī), e. g. avitr-ī (m. avitār-); from adjectives in -mant, e. g. dhenu-māt-ī (m. dhenu-mānt-), and -vant, e. g. āma-vat-ī (m. āma-vānt-); from nouns in -an, e. g. saṃ-rājñ-ī (m. rājān-), -van, e. g. rtā-var-ī (m. rtā-vān-); from adjectives¹ in -in, e. g. arkh-ī (m. arkin-); from compounds ending in -ānc, e. g. arvāc-ī (m. arvā́nc-), in -dīs, e. g. su-dīs-ī, in -pad, e. g. a-pād-ī, and in -han, e. g. ā-pati-ghn-ī.

2. There is besides a large group of miscellaneous f. stems of an independent character, having no corresponding m.², e. g. sāc-ī 'might'.

3. The seven m. stems³, of which five are proper names, are: Tīraścī-, Ndmī-, Pfthī-, Mātātī-, Sōbharī-; rāstrī- 'ruler', sirī- 'weaver'.

a. The stems of this declension (in contrast with those of the B group of the radical -ī declension) do not normally accent the suffix. The exceptions to this rule are of a definite character.

i. When in the first f. group there is a corresponding m. accented on a final syllable which is liable to be reduced in such a way as to be incapable of bearing the accent, the acute is thrown forward on the -ī; e. g. m. urū-, f. urū-ī; m. netr-, f. netr-ī; m. ad-ānt-, f. ad-at-ī; m. praty-ānc-, f. pratic-ī; m. -han-, f. -ghn-ī. When the m. ends in -ā, the accent also in several stems remains on the corresponding -ī; thus m. devā-, f. dev-ī; pāpā- 'evil', f. *pāp-ī*⁴; m. puro-gavā- 'leader', f. puro-gav-ī; m. rāmd- 'night', f. rām-ī; m. vamrā- 'ant', f. vamr-ī. More usually, however, the accent of such feminines is thrown back on the first syllable⁵; thus m. āyasā- 'made of iron', f. āyas-ī; m. aruṣā- 'red', f. aruṣ-ī; m. gāndharvā- 'belonging to the Gandharvas', f. gāndharv-ī; m. taviṣā- 'strong', f. taviṣ-ī 'strength'; m. paruṣā- 'reed', f. paruṣ-ī 'reedy', N. of a river; m. pālītā- 'grey', f. pālīkn-ī; m. *mahiṣā-*⁶ 'buffalo', f. māhiṣ-ī; m. rohītā- 'ruddy', f. rōhiṇī- 'ruddy cow', m. saṃ-gayā- 'procuring prosperity for the household', f. saṃ-gay-ī; m. śyāvā- 'brown', f. śyāv-ī; m. śyētā- 'white', f. śyēnī- 'white cow'.

2. Again, the miscellaneous group of feminines hardly ever accents the final -ī of the stem except when it is a proper name, a shift of accent having here probably taken place to indicate a change of meaning; thus aranyāntī- 'Forest-goddess', *arundhatī-*⁷ (AV.) N. of a plant and a star, indrāntī- 'Indra's wife', rodasī- N. of the Aśvins' wife, vadhri-matī- N. of a mythical female, varuṇāntī- 'Varuṇa's wife', śivasī- N. of Indra's mother, śivāntī- N. of a goddess; and the river names añjasī-, *asiknī-*⁸ (but āsiknī- 'black' and 'night'), go-matī- (but gō-matī- 'rich in cows'), śutudrī-.

Inflexion.

378. The inflexion of the derivative -ī stems stands in marked contrast with that of the radical -ī stems in three respects: (1) no -s is added in the N. sing. masculine or feminine; (2) the endings diverge considerably from the normal ones, the Sing. A. taking -m, the D. -ai, the Ab. G. -ās, the L. -ām, the du. N. A. -ī, the pl. N. A. -s; (3) stems accented on the final vowel shift the acute to the ending in the weak cases of the sing., in the G. L. du., and the G. pl.

¹ Adjectives ending in -a do not form their f. in -ī unless they are accented on the final syllable, when the accent almost always shifts to the first syllable; e. g. aruṣ- from aruṣā-; but pāpā- has pāp-ī beside pāpā-.

² A list of these is given by GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch 1722—23.

³ Cp. ZUBATÝ, zu den altindischen männlichen -ī-stämmen, Sitzungsberichte d. Böhm. Ges. d. Wiss. 1897, XIX (treats also of the radical -ī-stems used in the masc.).

⁴ Beside pāpā-. The great majority of Indo-arische Philologie. I. 4.

adjectives and all participles ending in -a form their f. with -ā.

⁵ This is the converse of the accentuation in the B group of the radical -ī declension, where the m. in unaccented -a throws the acute on the final -ī of the f.

⁶ Similarly varūtī- 'protector', f. vārūt-ī.

⁷ Originally a present participle ā-rundhat-ī* 'not hindering'.

⁸ āsiknī- also occurs once as the N. of the river.

The forms actually occurring, if made from devī- 'goddess', would be as follows:

Sing. N. devī. A. devīm. I. devyā. D. devydī. Ab. devyās. G. devyās. L. devyām. V. dēvi.

Du. N. A. devī, V. dēvi. D. Ab. devībhyām. G. L. devyās.

Pl. N. devīs. A. devīs. I. devībhis. D. devībhyas. Ab. devībhyas. G. devinām. L. devīṣu. V. dēvīs.

Forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. The m. forms are: nāmī, pṛthī, mātali, rāṣṭrī, sūbhari. The f. forms are very common, being made from nearly 300 stems in the RV. Among the most frequent are: pṛthivī 'earth' (57), devī (48), sārasvatī (43) N. of a goddess, mahī 'great' (35), ucchāntī 'shining' (16), yatī 'going' (14), jānitrī 'mother' (10), brhatī 'great' (10), ghṛtācī 'filled with ghee' (9), maghāntī 'bountiful' (9), *strī*¹ 'woman' (3)².

A. m. nāmīm. — The f. is formed from over 100 stems in the RV. Among the commonest forms are: pṛthivīm (62), *mahīm*³ (35), devīm (18), tāviṣṭīm (13), urvīm (9) 'wide', *pīpyūṣīm*⁴ (9) 'swelling'⁵.

I. This case is formed with the normal ending -ā. The only m. form is nāmyā. But there are about 40 f. forms in the RV. In more than two-thirds of these the suffix is pronounced as a vowel⁶ -iā (in oxytones -iā), in the rest as a semivowel -yā (in oxytones -yiā). The stem sāmy- 'labour' has, beside sāmyā, the contracted form sāmī, which also appears in the compound su-sāmī 'with great care'. At the end of a Pāda and before vowels⁷ this I. sāmī is shortened to *sāmi*⁸. The forms occurring are: 1. ānyā 'subtile', asvādhidhānyā (AV.) 'halter', āsvāvatyā 'furnished with horses', *āsiknyā*⁹ (AV.), kundṛnācyā 'house lizard', kumbhyā (TS. III. 2. 8¹) 'jar', gātā-mātyā 'spacious', gāyatrīyā (TS. II. 2. 4⁸) a metre, ghṛtācyā, citāntīyā 'observing', citāyantiyā 'appearing', jāgatyā (TS. II. 2. 1. 4⁸), a metre, imānyā 'by oneself', dāvidyutatyā 'glittering', devācyā 'directed towards the gods', dāivyā (AV.) 'divine', nāvyasyā 'new', pātnyā 'wife', mādhu-matyā 'accompanied by sweetness', rōhinyā, vāsyā 'good', vājavyatyā 'rich in treasure', vāsyā (AV.) 'knife', viśvā-bheṣajyā (AV.) 'all-healing', viśvācyā 'universal', vīśvyā 'everywhere' (adv.), sācyā 'might', sāmyā, sarmayāntīyā 'protecting', śīmyā 'work', satrācyā 'attentive', saṁīcyā (Kh. III. 10⁵) a goddess, sārasvatyā (AV.), sōma-vatyā 'accompanied with Soma', stūbhantīyā 'praising', hāriṇyā 'yellow', *hīranyāyā*¹⁰ 'golden'. — Oxytones with shift of accent: annādyā (AV.) 'proper food', āsiknyā, devyā, purānyā 'ancient', pṛthivīyā, mahyā, saṁānyā 'similar', *sādhāranyā*¹¹ 'common', sūcyā 'needle', sautrāmānyā (AV.) a kind of Indra sacrifice. The TS. and VS. also have urvyā as an adverb 'afar', which in the RV. appears only in the modified form urvyā.

D. The ending looks like -ai, e. g. devy-dī; but it is doubtless in origin the normal ending -e fused with the suffix -yā, i. e. -yai = -yā-e¹². Only 13 forms (all f.) occur in the RV. These are, besides a few others from the later

² In the AV. there are also the transition forms ā-dūrmāṅgalī, su-māṅgalī, naḍī. In RV. 1. 180⁵ ṣṣonī has perhaps dropped its -s owing to the following -s.

³ Perhaps to be read uncontracted as mahīm in X. 50⁵; vāṇīm (II. 11⁸) is also to be read as vāṇiam.

⁴ Perfect participle of pī- 'swell'.

⁵ There is also the transition form naḍīm (AV.).

⁶ The vocalic pronunciation seems to be the commoner in the AV. also; cp. LANMAN 381.

⁷ This also occurs in the compound urvi-ūtiḥ (VI. 24²), if urvi- = the adv. instr. urvyā.

⁸ The compound su-sāmi also occurs once in the TS. VS. as well as the RV.

⁹ Probably an error for āsiknyās; see WHITNEY on AV. v. 13⁸.

¹⁰ For hīranyāyā.

¹¹ Cp. LANMAN 368 (top).

¹² An indication of this origin is perhaps to be found in the fact that of the 13 stems in the RV. taking this dative only one, -patnyai, has the vocalic pronunciation -iai

Samhitās: 1. arvācyai (VS. XXII. 24) 'hitherward', dvācyai (VS. XXII. 24) 'downward', ā-eyatyai 'not desiring', hyatyai 'so great', ūdīcyai (VS. XXII. 24) 'northern', jāgatyai (VS. XXIV. 12), jāryāi (TS. III. 2. 2²) 'mistress', jāryantyai 'aging', jyāyasyai 'elder', dhenumātyai 'yielding milk', parjanya-patnyai 'having Parjanya for a husband', paśumātyai 'consisting of cattle', praticyai (VS. XXII. 24) 'western', prācyai (VS. XXII. 24) 'eastern', yaśo-bhagīnyai (VS. II. 20) 'rich in glory', rātryai (VS. XXIV. 25) 'night', vājavatyai, viś-pātnyai, *sahā-patnyai*¹ (AV.) 'united with the husband'. — 2. Oxytones: indrāyāi (VS. XXXVIII. 3), urvyāi (VS. XXII. 27), *kalyānyāi*² (AV.) 'good', gāyatrīyāi (VS. XIII. 54), devyāi, prthivīyāi, brhatyāi, mahyāi, rājāsandīyāi (VS. XIX. 16) 'Soma stand', sintvālyāi, *striyāi*³ (AV.), *hiranya-keṣyāi*⁴ (AV.) 'gold-haired'.

Ab. The ending looks like -ās, e. g. prthivy-ās; but it is doubtless the normal ending -as fused with the suffix -yā, i. e. -yās = -yā-as⁵. Only five forms occur in the RV., besides a few others in the later Samhitās: avadyāvatyās (AV.) 'disgraceful', urvāśyās N. of a nymph, jāgatyās (VS. XIII. 56), *jīvantyās*⁶ 'living', dur-admanyās (VS. II. 20) 'bad food', pātantyās 'flying', prthivyās, brhatyās (AV.), *mahyās*⁶.

G. The ending is the same as in the Ab. and of similar origin. m. *tiraścyās*⁷, pṛthyās, sābharyās. — f. The forms occurring in the RV.⁸ are: 1. *amṣu-mātyās*⁹ N. of a river, amhu-bhūdyās (VS. XXIII. 28) 'having a narrow slit', uśindrānyās N. of a people, ūrjāyantyās 'vigorous', śadhyās (VS. I. 25) 'plant', tāvīśyās, dānumatyās 'rich in drops', māṃs-pācanyās 'flesh-cooking', rātryās, vivāśvatyās 'shining', sāmyās, śśucatyās 'shining', śīḡyantyās 'about to bear'. — 2. urvyās 'earth', devyās, prthivyās, mahatyās 'great', yatyās, yātyās 'going', vadhṛimatyās N. of a woman, *striyās*¹⁰.

L. This case seems to be formed with the ending -ām, e. g. devy-ām; but it may be due to the fusion of a particle *-am¹¹ with the suffix -yā. It is formed from 15 stems in the RV., where the pronunciation -iām is considerably less than half as common¹² as -yām. Forms occurring are: 1. āsiknyām, ucchāntyām, ūdīcyām (TS. II. 4. 14¹), jāgatyām (VS. XXXVIII. 18), jahnūcyām 'race of Jahnū', dr̥śādvatyām N. of a river, nāryām (Kh. IV. 13³) 'woman', pāruṣnyām N. of a river, prācyām (TS. II. 4. 14¹), yatyādvatyām 'rich in streams', rātryām, varaṇādvatyām (AV.) N. of a river, vasānyām 'treasury', śūcyām, sārasvatyām N. of a river, soma-kṛīyanyām (VS. VIII. 54) 'serving as the price of Soma'. — 2. aranyānyām, āśtryām 'fire-place', āsandīnyām (AV.) 'stool', gavīnyām (Kh. IV. 13³) 'groin', gāyatrīyām (VS. AV.), catvāriṃśdyām 'fortieth', jyēṣṭhaghnyām (AV.) N. of an asterism, devyām, narācyām (AV.) N. of a river, prthivyām, striyām (AV.)¹³.

(and here the i is preceded by two consonants).

² This is an emendation for the reading kalyānyāi of the edition; cp. LANMAN 383².

³ With split i as in the radical i-stems.

⁴ There are also the transition forms bhīdyāi, śrīdyāi (VS. XIX. 94), hriyāi (VS. XIV. 35) from the radical i-declension, and from the i-declension devā-bhūtyai, turyāi, nīrtyai, puṣtyāi, bhujyāi, bhṛtyāi, śrūtyai.

⁵ -yās is read -iās 4 times out of 25 in the RV.: prthivīās 3 times and jīvantīās once, always for metrical reasons, cp. LANMAN 384 (top).

⁶ There are also the transition forms from the i-declension, nābhyās, bhūmyās, hetyās; and from the AV. ā-bhūtyās, ā-rātyās, ā-śastyās, ābhūtyās, kṛtyās, deva-hetyās, rātryās, śiṣṭaktyās; probably also yānyās (VI. 121⁴), Pada yānyā.

⁷ Pronounced tiraściās. But cp. ROTH, ZDMG. 48, 115 (bottom).

⁸ This case is formed from more stems in the AV. than in the RV.; cp. LANMAN 355.

⁹ In about 15 per cent of the following genitives the ending is pronounced -iās.

¹⁰ There are also half a dozen transition forms from the i-declension in the RV.: anumatyās, ārātyās, nīrtyās, pṛṣṇyās, bhūmyās (once with crasis in bhūmyopāri x. 753), yuvatyās; there are many others in the AV.; as jāmyās (also Kh. v. 519); see LANMAN 385².

¹¹ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 265 (p. 619).

¹² It is much less common than this is in the AV.

¹³ There are also two transition forms

V. This case is formed, by shortening the final, from 38 stems (all f.) in the RV. Examples are: devi (23), sarasvati (16), pr̥thivī (11), maghoni (9), vibhāvāri 'radiant' (8), mahi (6). From the TS.: āmbālī (VII. 4. 19¹) 'mother', kāmpīla-vāsini (VII. 4. 19¹; VS.) 'living in Kāmpīla', darvī (I. 8. 4¹) 'ladle', patnī (IV. 4. 12⁴), māndūkī (IV. 6. 1²; VS.) 'frog', deva-yajani (VS.) 'whereon gods are adored'.

Du. N. A. V. This form in the RV. ends in -ī exclusively, being made probably with the ending -ī (like the f. du. of the derivative -ā stems), which coalesces with the -ī of the stem¹. There is only one m. form, the V. mādhvī 'fond of sweetness', an epithet of the Aśvins. The f. is very frequent, being made from 76 stems in the RV. and from over 20 in the VS. The commonest forms in the RV. are: rodasī (87) 'the two worlds', dyaṁvā-pr̥thivī (65) 'heaven and earth', mahi (27), urvī (20), pr̥thivī (20), devī (13), samīci (11) 'united', br̥hatī (10), yahvī (6) 'active', akṣī (6) 'eyes', pr̥thivī (5). From the TS.: N. chāndasvatī 'desiring' and sūrya-patnī (IV. 3. 11¹) 'having the sun as husband', V. ūrvī, rodasī, patnī (IV. 7. 15⁶).

a. The -ī is twice metrically shortened in pr̥thivī (II. 31⁵; III. 54⁴) and in mahi (IV. 56⁹; X. 93¹).

b. In the AV. three stems of this declension form transition duals² according to the radical ī-declension: akṣyān, āṇḍyān, *phālganyau*³; in other texts: gavīnyān (TS. III. 3. 10⁴) 'the groins', pānyau (VS. XXXI. 22), rēbhānyau and su-pānyau (Kh. I. 37).

I. akṣibhyām (AV.), kumbhībhyām (VS. XIX. 27), jōṣṛibhyām (VS. XXI. 51) 'cherishing', mādhucibhyām (VS.) 'sweetness-loving', mādhvibhyām (VS.).

D. rodasibhyām. — Ab. akṣibhyām, dyaṁvāpr̥thivībhyām (VS. XXXVII. 18).

G. *akṣyós*⁴ (AV.; TS. III. 2. 5³), ārtniyós (TS. IV. 5. 2³) 'ends of the bow', ārtnyós (VS. XVI. 9), *dīvas-pr̥thivyós*⁵, *ninyós*⁶ 'secret', pari-nītantyós (AV.) 'dancing round', *rodasyós*⁷. — L. akṣyós (AV.), arānyós, ārjunyós, dyaṁvāpr̥thivyós (VS. XX. 10), pātantyós, rodasyós, samīcyós.

Pl. N. V. The ending seems to be simply -s, but it is doubtless the normal ending -as, which originally coalesced with the suffix -yā to -yas, the latter then contracting to -īs. In the m. the only example is siris. But the f. is very frequent, being formed from 166 stems in the RV., and occurring in the independent parts of the TS. at least 25 and of the VS. at least 40 times. The commonest forms are: devīs (43), pūrvīs (36) 'many', ōsadhīs (27), vānīs (12) 'songs', pātīs (11), māhīs (11), bhātīs (8) 'shining', yahvīs (7), devayāntīs (6) 'serving the gods', *vāsuvīs*⁸ (6). In the Khilas occur the 7 forms a-lakṣmīs (II. 6⁶), ānīs (IV. 8⁵), devīs (III. 10²), pāvamānīs (III. 10¹) N. of certain hymns, bahvīs (II. 8⁴ etc.) 'many', svastyāyanīs (III. 10¹), hiraṇyāyīs (V. 15¹²).

a. Transitions from this to the radical ī-declension are almost unknown to the RV.: striyas is the only certain example, and pr̥sanyās and supanyās are probably such; the tendency to use such transition forms is only incipient even in the AV. 9, where *urvyās*¹⁰ (once) and rudatyās (once) occur¹¹. In the Khilas also, occur the three forms ghṛtācyas from the radical ī-declension: śriyām (AV.) and dūtyām; five from the ī-declension: pūramdhyām, bhūmyām, bhṛtyām, yuvat-yām, sāmgatyām; besides at least 10 additional ones from the AV.: ōpyām, ākūtyām, cittiyām, devā-hūtyām, nābhyām (+ VS. XXIV. 1), pr̥śīyām, bhūtyām, yōnyām (+ VS.), vēdyām, sāmītyām.

² There are also the transition forms from the radical ī-declension hṣonī and once nadī.

³ This form in -yau becomes universal in the post-Vedic language.

⁴ The Mss. in AV. v. 4¹⁰ read akṣós; see WHITNEY's note.

⁵ With the first member of the Dvandva inflected in the sing. G.

⁶ Either the G. of nīpī- (m. ninyā-) or shortened for ninyāyos.

⁷ Once (VI. 24³) used in the sense of an Ab.

⁸ eka-patnīs (AV. x. 8³⁹) 'having one husband' is N. pl. f., not N. sing. m.

⁹ There seem to be no such transitions in the TS.; but there are at least 3 to the ī-declension: ōsadhayas (IV. I. 4⁴), revātayas (IV. 2. 11²), pātnayas (V. 2. 11²).

¹⁰ Beside urvīs which occurs 9 times.

¹¹ And yet this form is the only one in the post-Vedic language.

(II. 8¹), bahvīyās (III. 112), pāvamānyās (III. 10³). The VS. has about 10 such forms: devyās (XXXVII. 4) beside devīs, pāṇyās (XXIII. 36) beside pāṇīs (VI. 34), phālavatyās (XXII. 22), bakeyās (XIX. 44) beside bakeis, mahānāmyās (XXIII. 35), maivāvariṇyās (XXIV. 2), maityās (XXIV. 8), vatsataryās (XXIV. 5), V. camryās (XXXVII. 4), vaiśvadevyās (XXIV. 5), sārasvatyās (XXIV. 4).

b. There are no transitions from the radical ī-declension to this one in the RV., and in the AV. only nadīs (beside nadyās) and lakṣmīs (beside lakṣmīyās). But the transitions from the i-declension are numerous: angūlīs (AV.), avānīs, ājānīs, ñīlīs, ṛṣṭīs (AV.), dhamānīs (AV.), nāktīs, nābhīs (AV.), nirṛītīs, niṣkṛītīs, pārṣpītīs (AV.), pitrāmādhīs, prṛṣītīs (AV.), bhūmītīs, vīśvā-kṛṣītīs, *śrēṇīs*¹, śāyonīs.

A. This case is identical in form with the N., and its origin is doubtless similar. It is very frequent, being made from more than 100 stems in the RV. The commonest forms are: pūrvīs (40), śadadhīs (24), mahīs (18), brhatīs (12), dāsīs (9) 'demonesses', pāṇīs (7), pṛṣṭīs (7)² 'dappled mares'.

I. This case is fairly frequent, being made from 32 stems in the RV. The commonest forms are: śācībhis (36), tāviṣṭībhis (13), śāmībhis (8), śadadhībhis (6), *pṛṣṭatībhis*³ (5). The TS. has also śīmībhis (V. 2.12⁴), sūcībhis (V. 2.11^{1,2}); the VS. aruṇībhis (XII. 74), jāgatībhis (I. 21), sthātībhis (XIX. 27) 'cooking-pots'.

D. This case is rare, being formed from only three stems in the RV. and a few others in the later Samhitās: avyādhīnībhyas (VS. XVI. 24) 'assailing bands', śadadhībhyas, keśhīnībhyas (AV.) 'hairy', gandharvā-painībhyas (VS. AV.) 'having Gandharvas for spouses', ghoṣhīnībhyas (AV.) 'noisy', *tāviṣṭībhyas*⁴, tīṣṭhantībhyas (VS. XXII. 25) 'standing', trīṇhatībhyas (VS. XVI. 24) 'piercing', mānuṣībhyas (TS. IV. 1. 43; VS. XI. 45) 'human', vṛṣanyātībhyas 'desiring a male', *śaśvatībhyas*⁵ (AV.) 'everlasting', śrīvātībhyas (VS. XXII. 25) 'flowing', hrādīnībhyas (VS. XXII. 26) 'hail'.

Ab. Only three forms of this case occur in the RV.: śadadhībhyas, padvātībhyas 'possessed of feet', brhatībhyas.

G. This case, which as is usual in the vowel declension takes the ending -nām, is found in only one m. form, sābharīnām; but it is fairly common in the f., being formed from 34 stems in the RV. The oxytones which number only six⁶, throw the accent (as in the i-declension) on the ending: bahvīnām, bhañjatinām 'breaking', bhātīnām, bhuñjatinām 'gladdening', *mahīnām*⁷, yatinām. This rule does not, however, hold in the SV. and VS., which have mahīnām (VS. I. 70; IV. 3); nor in the AV. where the forms nārāsaṃstīnām 'eulogies' and rāthajitīnām 'chariot-conquering' occur. Of the remaining 28 genitives in the RV.⁸ the commonest are: śāśvatīnām (10), *śadadhīnām*⁹ (9), mānuṣīnām (8), śācīnām (4), *tyāṣṭīnām*¹⁰ (3) 'having departed'. From the VS.: avyādhīnīnām (XVI. 21).

L. This case is fairly common, being formed from 30 stems (all f.) in the RV. The most frequent forms are: śadadhīsu (20), mānuṣīsu (8), nāhusīsu 'neighbouring', jāgatīsu (2) 'females', tāviṣṭīsu (2), yahvīsu (2), *rōhīṇīsu*¹¹ (2). The rest occur only once each¹². From Khila III. 15¹⁷: śuddha-dantīsu 'white-toothed'.

¹ This form should perhaps be read as śrēṇayās in V. 597.

² Also the transitions from the radical ī-declension aruṇīs and yātudhānīs (AV.).

³ The stems forming this case in the RV. are enumerated by LANMAN 396.

⁴ nārī 'woman', by shortening its final vowel, forms its D. according to the i-declension: nārībhyas.

⁵ Irregularly accented on the final of the stem, otherwise, śāśvatī.

⁶ Or 7 including strī: strīnām.

⁷ On the exceptions mahīnām (X. 134¹), yatinām (I. 158⁶), devayatinām (I. 36¹), see LANMAN 398 (bottom).

⁸ The G. nāryasīnām is once used in agreement with the m. maritām.

⁹ kantīnām, with contracted -yā, is the only G. pl. of kanyā- in the RV., kanyānām occurs once in the AV.; see LANMAN 399 (top).

¹⁰ Perfect participle of i- 'go'.

¹² LANMAN enumerates the stems, 399 (bottom).

4. a. Radical stems in -i.

379. No nominal i-stems are derived from roots originally ending in -i, as these (some six or seven) have all joined the consonant declension by adding a determinative *-i*¹. There are, however, about a dozen stems in which i is probably radical in a secondary sense, as representing a reduced form of roots ending in *-ā*². These are with one or two exceptions m. compounds formed with -dhi = dhā 'put': api-dhi 'covering', ā-dhi 'pledge', utsa-dhi 'receptacle of a spring', uda-dhi 'receptacle of water', upa-dhi 'part of the wheel between nave and felly', garbha-dhi 'nest', ni-dhi 'treasury', pari-dhi 'fence', prati-dhi 'cross-piece of car-pole', pra-dhi 'felly', śeva-dhi 'treasure', sā-dhi 'abode'; perhaps also śa-dhi f. as a shortened form of śa-dhi 'plant'. Besides these there is prati-śhi f. 'resistance', from sthā 'stand', and probably the reduplicated stem yayī 'speeding', in which the -i is secondarily reduced through the older form yayī from the -ā of the root yā 'go'. These few stems have nothing distinctive in their inflexion, which follows that of the derivative i-stems in every particular.

The forms which occur from these words are the following:

Sing. N. ā-dhi-s, śa-dhi-s, nidhi-s, pari-dhi-s, prati-śhi-s, yayī-s, sā-dhi-s. — A. utsa-dhi-m, uda-dhi-m, śa-dhi-m, garbha-dhi-m, ni-dhi-m, pari-dhi-m, pra-dhi-m, yayī-m, śeva-dhi-m. — I. yayīnā. — Ab. uda-dhēs. — Du. N. upa-dhi, pra-dhi. — Pl. N. śa-dhāyas, ni-dhāyas, pari-dhāyas, prati-dhāyas, pra-dhāyas. — A. api dhīn, uda-dhīn, ni-dhīn, pari-dhīn, pra-dhīn. — I. ni-dhībhis. — G. ni-dhīnām. — L. ni-dhīṣu.

4. b. Derivative stems in -i.

LANMAN, Noun Inflection 365—400. — WHITNEY, Grammar 335—340, 343. — Cp. REICHEL, Die abgeleiteten i- und u-stämme, BB. 25, 238—252.

380. This declension embraces a large number of m. and f. stems. There are comparatively few neuter stems; and, except the N. A. sing. and pl., neuter forms are rare, not occurring at all in several cases. The regular inflexion is practically the same in all genders, except that the N. A. sing. and pl. n. differ from the m. and f., and the A. pl. m. and f. differ from each other. There are several peculiarities here as regards the formation of the stem, the endings, and accentuation. The final vowel of the stems shows Guṇa in three of the weak cases of the singular (D. Ab. G.) as well as in the V. sing. and the N. pl. m. f., while it is abnormally strengthened in the L. sing. The normal ending -as of the Ab. G. sing. is reduced to -s, while that of the L. sing. is lost. Oxytone stems, when the vowel is changed to y, throw the accent on a following vowel not as Svarita but as Udātta; and even on the -nām of the G. pl., though the stem vowel in that case does not lose its syllabic value.

a. The only word which distinguishes strong forms is sākhi 'friend', which takes Vrddhi in its strong stem sākhīy-. These strong forms are frequent: Sing. N. *sākhā*³, A. sākhāyam. Du. N. A. *sākhāyā*⁴ and sākhāyau. Pl. N. sākhāyas. This word has two further irregularities, the simple stem sākhi adding -e in the D. sākhy-e, and the abnormal ending -ur in the Ab. G. sākhy-ur. The other forms occurring are regular: Sing. I. sākhyā, V. sākhe. Pl. A. sākhīn, I. sākhībhis, D. Ab. sākhībhyas, G. sākhīnām. Eight compounds in the RV.⁵ are inflected in the same way (also sōma-sākhā, VS. iv. 20); but of four others, which have joined the a-declension, there occur the forms A. drāvayāt-sakha-m (x. 39¹⁰), N. yāvayāt-sākhā-s (x. 26⁵), A. patayāt-sakha-m and mandayāt-sakha-m (I. 4⁷).

² Cp. LINDNER 56 and LANMAN 453.

³ See J. Schmidt, KZ. 29, 526, note 1.

⁴ sākhāyā occurs 6 times (also VS. xxviii. 7), sākhāyau only once.

⁵ See LANMAN 400³.

b. 1. The stem pāti-, when it means 'husband' and is uncompounded, shows irregular inflexion in the Sing. D. and G. (like sākhī-) and the L.: D. pātye, G. *pātyur*¹, L. pātyau. When it means 'lord'² or is compounded, it is regular: D. pātaye, bṛhaspātaye, G. pātes, prajā-pātes (TS.), L. gō-pātau. — 2. The stem jāni- 'wife' also takes the abnormal ending -ur in the G. sing.: *jānyur*¹. This stem has the further irregularity of forming its N. sing. jāni according to the derivative ī- declension. — 3. The stem arī- 'devout' is irregular in forming several cases like the radical ī- stems (except in accentuation): Sing. A. arīam (beside arim), G. *arīas*³. Pl. N. A. m. f. arīas. The VS. has also the N. sing. arīs beside the arīs of the RV.

c. Twenty-seven stems in the RV. show forms according to the derivative i- declension in the D. Ab. G. L. sing. f. 4, perhaps from a desire to add a distinctively f. ending in a declension which does not distinguish genders in these cases. There is a steady increase of such forms in the later Samhitās; thus while the RV. has only 7 datives in -ai from i- stems, the VS. has about 40.

d. In the RV. 4 or 5 stems show the influence of the n- declension in the incipient use of the ending -nī in the N. A. n. du., and (ī-)nī in N. A. n. pl.; and in the I. sing., stems taking the ending -nā are already 5 times as numerous as those adding the normal -ā.

Inflexion.

381. The N. sing. m. f. always takes *-s*⁵, the A. simply -m. The D. Ab. G. V. gunate the suffix, to which the Ab. G. add only -s instead of -as. The L. sing. has an altogether abnormal form ending in -ā or -au. The N. pl. m. f. gunates the -i, to which the normal ending -as is added. The A. pl. in the m. adds -n, in the f. -s, before which the vowels is lengthened. The G. pl. always takes -nām, lengthening the preceding vowel. The frequent adjective śuci- 'bright' may be used to illustrate the forms actually occurring in the three genders:

Sing. N. m. f. śucis, n. śuci. A. m. f. śucim, n. śuci. I. m. śucyā, śucinā, f. śucyā, śucī, śuci. D. m. f. n. śucaye. Ab. m. f. śuces. G. m. f. n. śuces. L. m. f. n. śucā, śucau. V. m. f. śuce.

Du. N. A. V. m. f. n. śucī. I. m. f. n. śucibhyām. D. m. śucibhyām. Ab. m. f. śucibhyām. G. m. f. śucyos. L. m. f. n. śucyos.

Pl. N. m. f. śucayas. N. A. n. śucī, śuci, śucīni. A. m. śucīn, f. śucīs. I. m. f. śucibhīs. D. m. f. śucibhyas. Ab. m. f. n. śucibhyas. G. m. f. śucīnām. L. m. f. n. śuciṣu.

Forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. This form is very frequent, being made from nearly 250 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: agnīs (389) 'fire', karīs (90) 'sage', hāris (58) 'tawny', bṛhas-pātīs (52) 'Lord of Prayer', śucīs (38) 'bright', fṛṣīs (32) 'seer', brāhmaṇas-pātīs (23) 'Lord of Prayer', atīthīs (20) 'guest'⁶.

a. The stem vi- 'bird', besides the regular N. vi-s, which occurs 6 times, has the anomalously gunated form *vi-s*⁷, which occurs 5 times in the RV.

b. The pronominal forms nā-ki-s (50) and mā-ki-s (13) 'no one' are old nominatives which have become indeclinable.

N. f. This form is frequent, being made from 136 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: ddītīs (78) 'freedom', su-matīs (22) 'benevolence', rātīs (22) 'gift', nābhīs (19) 'navel', matīs (18) 'thought', yuvatīs (18) 'maiden', bhūmīs (12) 'earth', prā-matīs (11) 'providence'⁸.

¹ This ending is probably due to the analogy of the words of relationship, pītur etc.; cp. KZ. 25, 289 and 242 f.

² The VS., however, has pātye viśvasya bhūmanas 'lord of the whole world'.

³ Cp. BB. 25, 242; OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 54, 49-78.

⁴ Cp. REICHEL, BB. 25, 234-238, and J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 27, 382.

⁵ Except the irregular m. sākhā and the f. jāni (jānis in AV. xx.48² is an emendation).

⁶ There is also the transition form from the radical ī- declension vēga-śrī-s 'beautifully adorned' (TS.).

⁷ Cp. REICHEL, BB. 25, 250.

⁸ Also the transition forms from the ī- declension aranyānis, śadhis, napīs (AV.), rātīs (AV., VS. xxxvii. 21).

N. A. n. This form has no ending¹. It is made from 37 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: māhi (84) 'great', bhūri (47) 'much', sv-asti (35) 'welfare', hārdi (9) 'heart'². From other Samhitās: an-abhiṣasti (VS.v.5) 'blameless', a-meni (VS.xxxviii.14) 'not casting', āsthi (AV., VS.) 'bone', a-sthūri (VS.ii.27) 'not single-horsed', ātma-sāni (VS.xix.48) 'life-winning', ika-nemi (AV.) 'having ope felly', krivi (VS.x.20) 'active' (?), kṣatra-vāni (VS.i.17) 'devoted to warriors', gāyatrī-vartani (TS.iii.1.10¹; VS.xi.8) 'moving in Gāyatrī measures', dādhi (AV., VS., Kh.iii.16²) 'sour milk', paśu-sāni (VS.xix.48) 'cattle-winning', pīśni (AV.) 'dappled', brahma-vāni (VS.i.17) 'devoted to Brahmans', loka-sāni (VS.xix.48) 'causing space', vādhi (AV.) 'emasculated', *vāri*³ (VS.xxi.61) 'choiceworthy', saṁjāta-vāni (VS.i.17) 'conciliating relations'.

A. m. This form is very frequent, being made from 205 stems in the RV. and occurring more than 1200 times. The commonest examples are: agnim (269), rayim (180) 'wealth', yōnim (61) 'receptacle', pātim (49) 'lord' or 'husband', āhim (40) 'serpent', ādrim (30) 'rock', kavim (28), ātithim (25), bṛhaspātim (25), hārim (24), ūrmim (23) 'wave', pūraṇdhim (8) 'bountiful', yayim (2) '(speeding) cloud', *arim*⁴ (2) 'devout'⁵.

f. This is a frequent form, being made from 156 stems in the RV. and occurring more than 600 times. It is thus about half as common as the m. The examples occurring oftenest are: su-matim (41), su-ṣṭutim (35) 'excellent praise', vṛṣṭim (26) 'rain', matim (22), rātim (20), bhūmim (19), pūraṇdhim (5), rayim (4)⁶.

I. m. This case is formed in two ways. 1. Five stems in the RV. add the normal ending -ā, before which the -i is generally pronounced as y, but half a dozen times as a vowel: pātyā 'husband', sākhyā, *ūrmyā*⁷, pavyā 'felly', *rayyā*⁸. — 2. Owing to the influence of the n-declension 25 stems in the RV. add -nā instead of the normal -ā: agninā, ānghrinā (VS.ii.8) 'foot', ādrinā, asīnā 'sword', āhinā, ūrmīnā, kavīnā, kāśīnā 'fist', kiki-dvīnā 'blue jay', jamādagnīnā N. of a seer, devāpīnā N. of a man, dhasīnā 'draught', paṇīnā 'niggard', pātinā 'lord', pāprīnā 'delivering', paridhīnā (VS.xviii.63; TS.v.7.7²) 'fence', pāṇīnā (VS.i.16) 'hand', pīśnīnā (Kh.iii.15⁷), bṛhas-pātinā, maṇīnā 'gem', yayīnā, rayīnā, raśmīnā 'rein', vādhrīnā, vavīrīnā 'vesture', vastīnā (VS.xxv.7) 'bladder', vṛṣa-nābhīnā 'having strong naves', vṛṣṇīnā 'strong', śūcinā, sāsīnā 'bountiful'.

f. This case is formed in two ways. 1. About 30 stems in the RV. add the normal ending -ā, before which the -i is pronounced as a vowel in about three-fourths of the occurrences of this form, and as y in the rest⁹. The forms occurring are (a) oxytones: aśītyā 'eighty', ūtyā 'aid', *kīrtyā*¹⁰ (AV.) 'fame', paṇiktyā (VS.xxiii.33) a metre, pītyā 'draught', puṣtyā (AV. TS.) 'prosperity', matyā, mithatyā 'emulation', vasatyā 'abode', vṛṣtyā, sanyā (VS.v.7; TS.iv.2.1²) 'gain', su-kīrtyā 'praise', su-matyā, su-ṣṭutyā, svastyā (VS.

¹ The only i-stem taking -m is the pronominal ki-m, probably owing to the false analogy of kā-m.

² LANMAN 377 enumerates the forms.

³ The Pada text reads vāri. According to BR. vāry ā here stands for vāryam ā.

⁴ Also aryām formed like a radical ī-stem (though differently accented).

⁵ There are also the transitions from the ī-declension pīthim and sābharim.

⁶ Also the transfers from the ī-declension aranyānim, onim, śasdhim, rātrim (AV.), snīhidim (SV.).

⁷ Pronounced ūrmiā, sometimes also pātiā, sākhiā.

⁸ ghṛnūva (ii.33⁶) possibly stands for ghṛnū-iva (Pada -i-iva), ghṛnū then possibly being a contracted i for ghṛnyā; cp. LANMAN 379 (middle).

⁹ On the other hand -yā is pronounced 5 times as often as -iā in the AV.; see LANMAN 380.

¹⁰ All the Mss. but one read kīrtyā or kīrtyā; see WHITNEY's note on x.62⁷.

VIII. 15; TS. I. 4. 44¹); (b) otherwise accented: abhī-śastyā (AV.) 'curse', āratyā (AV.) 'malignity', āvartyā 'distress', asānyā 'thunderbolt', ākūtyā 'purpose', ābhūtyā 'ability', īstyā 'sacrifice', jāpīyā 'whispering', tīpīyā (AV.) 'satisfaction', tvīsyā 'brilliance', devā-hūtyā 'invocation of the gods', dhrājyā 'impulse'; nābhīyā (VS. xxv. 9), pārṣṇīyā 'heel', pūramdhīyā, pūstyā (TS. III. 1. 5¹), prā-matyā, bhūtyā (AV.) 'growth', bhūmyā, rāṇhyā 'speed', rījyā 'direction', rūcyā (AV.) 'lustre', vīcyā 'seduction', śākyā (VS. XI. 2; TS. IV. 1. 5³) 'power', sū-bhūtyā (AV.) 'welfare', sīnyā 'sickle', svādhyā (AV.) 'knife', hārṣyā 'excitement'.

2. A contracted form in *-ī*¹ is made by 35 stems in the RV. and occurs more than twice as often as the uncontracted -yā. The forms occurring are: ā-cittī 'thoughtlessness', ā-prabhūti 'little effort', a-nyathī 'sure-footedness', āhūti 'oblation', ūtī, ṛju-nīti 'right guidance', cittī 'understanding', jīṣṭī 'favour', dīdhīti 'devotion', du-ṣṭutī and dī-ṣṭutī 'faulty hymn', *dhitī*² 'thought', nī-sītī 'kindling', pāri-viṣṭī 'attendance', pūrā-jitī 'previous acquisition', prā-nīti 'guidance', prā-bhūti 'violence', prā-yati 'offering', prā-yuti 'absence', matī, variantī 'felly', viṣṭī 'effort', vīti 'enjoyment', vṛṣṭī, śaktī and śāktī, *śruṣṭī*³ 'willingness', sā-hūti 'joint invocation', su-dīti 'bright radiance', sū-nīti 'good guidance', su-matī, sū-mīti 'being well fixed', su-śastī (Kh. II. 10²) 'good recitation', su-ṣṭutī, hāsta-cyuti 'quick motion of the hand'. Also su-pāptanī (I. 1825)⁴ 'with swift flight' (in Pada with -ī); perhaps also the two forms hetī (VI. 1810) 'missile' and iṣṭī (I. 1804) 'desire', which occurring before r- are given by the Pada as *hetīh*⁵ and iṣṭih.

a. This form is further shortened to -ī in about a dozen words⁶ in the RV., occurring altogether some 25 times: iṣāni 'setting in motion', ūpa-śruti 'giving ear to', upābhṛti 'bringing near', tri-viṣṭī 'thrice' (= adv.), nī-tikṭi 'haste', prā-yukti 'impulse', vaśat-kṛti 'exclamation vaśat', sadhā-stuti 'joint praise', su-vṛtti 'excellent praise', su-śastī 'good praise', su-aṣṭī, haviṣ-kṛti 'preparation of the oblation'. Perhaps also ā-smṛti (AV. VII. 106¹) 'through forgetfulness'.

b. A few forms follow the analogy of the m. in adding -nā: dhāsīnā 'abode', nābhīnā, prātinā (VS. xv. 6) 'advance'.

n. There is no certain instance of a neuter I.: śucīnā (II. 38⁸) is perhaps an example, but it may be taken as a masculine.

D. m. The stem regularly takes Guṇa before adding the normal ending -e; e. g. īṣay-e. This is a form of frequent occurrence, being made from 44 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: agnāye (48), ātrāye (12) N. of a seer, sanāye (12), ghṛīṣvāye (6) 'gladdening', dābhīṭāye (5) N. of a man⁷. From the VS.: brāhmāye 'holy', bhuvantāye (xvi. 19) 'earth-extender' (?), vṛṣṭī-vānāye (xxxviii. 6) 'rain-winning', sandhāye (xxx. 9) 'agreement'.

a. The only two stems not taking Guṇa are pāti- 'husband' and sākhī-, which make pāṭīye and *sākhīye*⁸. When compounded pāti- 'lord' forms its D. regularly as -pāṭaye; e. g. *bṛhas-pāṭaye*⁹, prajā-pāṭaye (VS. XI. 66) 'Lord of Creatures', aṃhasas-pāṭaye

¹ This form is, except in two instances, written with y before ī, but is to be read with hiatus; it coalesces in the written text with i or ī, but is not always to be so pronounced.

² This is the only contracted form occurring in the independent parts of the AV.

³ The form sadhṛī (II. 13²) is probably an adverb 'to the same goal' from sādhri- (LINDNER p. 112), or it might be an inst. f. of sadhri- (LANMAN 380³).

⁴ See RPR. VII. 15.

⁵ Cp. LANMAN 380⁴.

⁶ These occur eight times at the end of a line or stanza, four times at the end of an internal Pada before vowels, two or three times within a Pada before vowels.

⁷ The stems which form this dative are enumerated by LANMAN 382.

⁸ These words are never pronounced as pāṭīe and sākhīe.

⁹ This is the only compound in the RV. formed with the D. of pāti-.

(VS. vii. 30) 'Lord of distress', bhūvana-pātaye (VS. ii. 2) 'Lord of the world', bhūva-pātaye (VS. ii. 6) 'Lord of the atmosphere', vācās-pātaye (VS. vii. 1) 'Lord of speech', samvatsā-pātaye (VS. ii. 20) 'Lord of rest'; also in the expressions kṣetrasya pātaye (AV.) 'Lord of the Field' and (bhītāsyā) pātaye (AV.) 'Lord of the world', which are virtually compounds¹; similarly disām pātaye (VS. xvi. 17)²; but pātaye vīśvasya bhūmanas (VS. xvii. 78) 'Lord of all the earth'.

f. This form is made like the m.; e.g. iṣṭāy-e. It is very frequent, being formed from 50 stems and occurring over 500 times in the RV. The commonest examples are: ūtāye (88), pītāye (67), sōma-pītāye (49) 'draught of Soma', vāja-sātāye (34) 'winning of booty', sātāye (34) 'acquisition', vītāye (31), devā-vītāye (22) 'feast for the gods', iṣṭāye (20) 'impulse'⁴.

a. The form ūtī is frequently used as a dative, similarly ān-ūtī 'no help' once and ūtī twice. svasti occasionally has this value at the end of a Pāda and when it alternates with svastāye in v. 51¹², 13, but it may be intended for an adverb⁵.

b. In the KV. seven stems in -i (all but 2 of which occur in Maṇḍala x), follow the analogy of derivative -i stems and take the ending -ai: turyāi 'victory', devā-hūtyai 'invocation of the gods', nīrtiyai 'dissolution', puṣṭyāi, bhūjyāi 'favour', bhīrtiyai 'support', śrūtyai 'blessing'. The AV. forms such datives from at least 11 stems; the TS. has ā-samartiyai (iii. 3. 82) 'non-injury', dūr-iṣṭiyai (iii. 2. 83) 'failure in sacrifice', sāhītyai (iv. 1. 11); the VS. has nearly 40: ā-kṣītyai (vi. 28) 'imperishableness', ādītyai (i. 30) 'Aditi', ānu-matyai (xxiv. 32) 'assent', ā-bhūtyai (xi. 64) 'not bursting', abhi-sastyai (ii. 5), ā-bhūtyai (xxx. 17) 'wretchedness', ā-rāddhyai (xxx. 9) 'mischance', ā-rīṣṭyāi (ii. 3) 'safety', āva-ryai (xxx. 12) 'distress', ā-hantiyai (xvi. 18) 'non-killing', ākūtyai (iv. 7), āryai (xxx. 9. 17) 'trouble', ūtkrāntiyai (xv. 9) 'upstriding', ētyai (xxvii. 45) 'arrival', kṛṣṭyāi (ix. 22) 'tillage', dūr-iṣṭyāi (ii. 20), dhrājyāi (vi. 18), nābhīyāi (xxxix. 2), niṣkṛtyai (xxx. 9) 'atonement', pañktyāi (xiii. 58), prāti-śhītyai (xv. 10) 'firm footing', *prā-sītyai*⁶ (ii. 20) 'attack', prāyas-cītyai (xxxix. 12) 'expiation', prītyai (xxvii. 45), bhūtyai (xii. 65), bhūmya (xxiv. 26), matyāi (xxiv. 39), mahyāi (xxii. 20), rayyāi (ix. 22), vīviktyai (xxx. 13) 'separation', vīṣṭyāi (xviii. 28), vēdyai (xix. 16) 'altar', vṛṣṭyāi (xxii. 34) 'dawn', vṛṣāddhyai (xxx. 17) 'failure', śāntiyai (iii. 43) 'quiet', su-kṣītyāi (xxxvii. 10) 'secure dwelling', hetyāi (xvi. 18) 'missile'.

n. The only form which seems to occur is sūcaye.

Ab. m. The stem takes Guṇa, to which -s only, instead of -as, is added; e. g. ādres. It is not common, being formed from only 8 or 9 stems in the RV.: agnēs (TS. iv. 2. 10⁴; Kh. iv. 6⁵), āhes, udadhēs 'water-receptacle', girēs 'mountain', ghṛṇēs 'heat', tiraści-rājes (AV.) 'striped across', parṇa-dhēs (AV.) 'feather-holder', prajāpates (TS. iv. 1. 11⁴), plāsēs (AV.) 'intestine', yōnes, vṛṣā-kapes 'man-ape', *śatā-m-ūtes*⁷ 'granting a hundred aids', sām-ṛtes 'conflict'.

f. This form is made in the same way as in the m. from 11 stems in the RV.: ādītes, āpītes 'entering (iti-) into (api)', abhi-sastes, abhi-hrutes 'injury', āmātes 'indigence', ārātes, āhutes (AV.), dhasēs 'abode', dhurtēs 'injury', *nītes*⁸ (AV.), pāri-sūtes 'oppression', bhūmes (AV.), vasatēs, srutēs 'course'.

a. The RV. has three forms according to the derivative -i declension: nābhīyās (x. 90¹⁴), bhūmyās (i. 80⁴), hetyās (x. 87¹⁹). Besides these the AV. has: ā-bhūtyās, ā-rātyās, ā-sastyās 'imprecation', āhūtyās, kṛṣṭyās, deva-hetyās 'divine weapon', śīrṣaktyās 'headache'; probably also yōnyās in yōnyeva (vi. 121⁴) for yōnyā iva.

G. m. The regular form of this case is identical with that of the Ab., but is much more frequent, being made from 42 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: agnēs (55), vēs (14), ādres (10), pañēs (8), bṛhas-pātes (6), sūrēs (5) 'patron', ātres (4), kavēs (4), dhasēs (4) 'draught', bhūres (4); pātes 'lord'

² And a number of other epithets in VS. xvi. 17—23.

³ pātaye otherwise means 'husband'.

⁴ LANMAN 382 enumerates the stems which take this dative.

⁵ Cp. LANMAN 383 (top).

⁶ Used in the sense of the ablative with pāhi 'protect from'.

⁷ Cp. RICHTER, IF. 9, 5.

⁸ This form nītes is probably an error for ātes 'skin'; see WHITNEY's note on AV. vi. 18³.

occurs once. Elsewhere are found: jamāḍ-agnes (VS. III. 62; Kh. v. 3⁶), prajāpates (TS. III. 1. 4⁷; Kh. III. 15¹³), *yayās*¹ (Kh. I. 10²).

a. The two stems ari- and āvi- 'sheep' do not take Guṇa, and add the normal ending -as: *aryās*² which occurs nearly 40 times, and āvyas which occurs nearly 20 times. The stem pāti-, when meaning 'husband', and sākhī- do not take Guṇa either, but add the anomalous ending -ur: pātyur, *sākhīyur*³.

f. This case, identical in form with the m., is made from 11 stems in the RV.: ādites, abhi-śastes, āmastes, iśtēs, kṛśtēs 'tillage', devā-vītes, nīrītes, pūśtēs, pīśnes, vṛśtēs, vratātes 'creeper'. This form is also made by at least 8 stems in the AV.

a. Six stems in the RV. form genitives according to the derivative -i declension, occurring 17 times altogether: ānu-matyās, ārātyās, nīrītyās, pīśnyās, bhūmyās, yuvatyās. In the AV. such forms are made from at least 16 stems and occur over 50 times: jūmyās 'akin' etc. One of these, ādityās, occurs also in the TS. (I. 6. 5¹) and VS. (I. 11).

n. The only example is bhūres, which occurs 16 times.

L. This case in all genders ends very anomalously in -ā or -au. The latter ending occurs more than twice as often as the former in the RV. (272 times to 126), while in the N. A. dual -ā is nearly 7 times as frequent as -au (1145 times to 171)⁴. The general conditions under which the parallel L. forms -ā and -au occur⁵ are the same as apply to the dual -ā and -au: -ā appears before consonants, -au (as -āv) before vowels, e. g. vīr yonā vasatīv iva (IX. 62¹⁵) 'a bird in the receptacle as in a nest'. But while the dual -ā is the regular form at the end of a Pāda, the L. -au is almost exclusively found in that position⁶. As in the dual N. A. and the perfect sing. 1 and 3, the -ā-form is doubtless the earlier. It is most probably derived from a locative form with Guṇa (like the D. Ab. G. V. sing.), e. g. agnāy-i*, which dropped the ending (like some other locatives), agnīy* then losing its *y*⁷ before consonants and lengthening its -a: agnā. The later form agnāu must have been due to the influence of the -u-stems, the inflexion of which is closely parallel to that of the -i-stems, through the Sandhi form -ā which is common to both⁸.

m. 1. The -ā form is made from 7 stems and occurs 40 times in the RV.: agnā, ājā 'contest', ūrmā, kuṣṣā 'belly', ghṛṇā, yonā, *su-rabhā*⁹ 'fragrant'. The AV. TS. VS. have no -ā form in independent passages, but Kh. III. 15¹⁹ has agnā.

2. The form in -au is taken by 27 stems in the RV.: agnāu, ādrau, *aratāu*¹⁰ 'manager', aratnāu 'elbow', ājāu, āṇāu 'pin of the axle', ūrmāu, gābhastāu 'hand', girdāu, gō-patāu 'lord', *jirdāu*¹¹ 'stream', trkṣāu N. of a prince, dhvasānāu 'sprinkler', nānuccāu N. of a demon, nīpātīthāu N. of a man, paṇḍāu, pṛt-sutāu 'hostile attack', mēdhyātīthāu N. of a seer, yajñā-patāu 'lord of sacrifice', yonāu, rāthavītāu N. of a man, *vānāspātāu*¹² 'lord of ⁵ See LANMAN 385 ff.; and cp. for the dual 340 ff. and 574—576.

⁶ The L. -ā appears only 5 times at the end of a Pāda, and then only in the two forms devātātā and sarvatātā.

⁷ Cp. the N. sākhā for sākhāy*. The old L. may be explained in feminines like agnāy-i 'she who is beside Agni'; cp. IF. 12, 3.

⁸ Cp. MERINGER, BB. 16, 224.

⁹ LANMAN 388², suggests the possibility of restoring ājāy in I. 112¹⁰ and yonāy in x. 46⁶. The n. L. a-pratā is used adverbially = 'without recompense' (VIII. 32¹⁶); cp. BAR-THOLOMAE, IF. 9, 255 f.

¹⁰ BR. would read aratnāu.

¹¹ jīrī may be f. as there is nothing to show the gender of the word.

¹² The form vānāspātāu occurs in Kh. II. 10³ also.

the forest', śalmalāu 'silk-cotton tree', sānitau 'attainment', sāmpvarāṇau 'descendant of Sampvarāṇa', syāma-raśmau N. of a man, svāddhitau. The AV. also forms the L. in -au from at least 16 stems; among them appears the uncompounded pātau (AV. III. 18³) 'husband'¹ as a variant for jāne in the corresponding passage of the RV. (x. 145⁴). The TS. has dhanu (v. 6. 1² = AV. III. 13¹).

f. 1. The form in -ā is made from 21 stems in the RV.: avānā 'river-bed', ājā, ūdītā 'sunrise', kṣētra-sātā 'acquisition of land', gō-sātā 'winning of cows', tokā-sātā 'attainment of offspring', devā-tātā 'worship of the gods', dyumnd-sātā 'obtainment of strength', nābhā, nī-sātā 'capture of men', nemā-dhātā 'conflict', pūtā, prā-bhātā 'offering', madhā-sātā 'receiving the oblation', yāma-hūtā 'invocation by prayer', śāra-sātā 'battle', sām-rtā, sarvā-tātā 'perfect prosperity', *sātī*², srutā, svār-sātā 'attainment of heaven'. The AV. has nābhā (VII. 62¹); and the SV. reads śāntātā 'beneficent', as a variant for śāntātī of RV. VIII. 187. The TS. and VS. have no independent L. f. in -ā.

2. The form in -au is more than twice as frequent, being made from 49 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are sātāu (17), vāja-sātāu (16), vyūṣṭau (16) 'flush of dawn', abhiṣṭau (10) 'help', sū-matāu (14), gāviṣṭau (7) 'fight', iṣṭāu (6), rātāu (5), *pūrvā-hūtāu*³ (5) 'first invocation'. The AV. makes this form from 7 stems in independent passages. The TS. has ūdītāu (I. 8. 12³), pūrvā-citāu (IV. 2. 10²) 'first thought'; the VS. ratha-nābhāu (XXXIV. 5) 'chariot nave', rātāu (XXIII. 4) 'night'; and Kh. I. 11⁴ śāra-sātāu.

a. There are 5 locatives f. formed according to the derivative ī-declension with the ending -ām: pūramdhyām, bhūmyām, bhṛtyām, yuvatyām, sām-gatyām 'assembly'. The AV. has 9 more: ācyām, ākūtyām, citryām, devā-hūtyām, pratyām 'rib', bhūtyām, yānyām, vēdyām (+ VS. XXVIII. 12), sāmītyām 'assembly'. The VS. has sanyām (VIII. 54).

b. The locative *vēdī*⁴ occurring twice (VI. 110; II. 3⁴) is the only one formed from an i-stem with the normal ending -ī (= vēdī-ī). The form prānī may also possibly be a L. in III. 51⁷.

L. n. The only form in -ā is a-pratā (VIII. 32¹⁶) 'without recompense' (used adverbially), and the only one in -au is saptā-raśmau (AV. IX. 5¹⁵) 'seven-rayed'.

V. This case regularly gunates the final vowel in the m. and f. It is very frequent in the m., being formed from 72 stems and occurring over 1100 times in the RV. In the f. it is not common, being formed from only 11 stems and occurring only 27 times in the RV.

m. The commonest examples are: *agne*⁵ (799), pate (35), *bṛhas-pate*⁶ (32), kave (26), brahmanas-pate (17), vanas-pate (14), āghṛṇe (13) 'glowing', sat-pate (13) 'lord of the seat', sakhe (11)⁷. In Kh. I. 5⁷ the anomalously formed compound *bhuvanas-pate*⁸ 'lord of the world' occurs; in the VS. aṅghāre (IV. 27) a guardian of Soma, dṛṣṭe (XXXVI. 18) 'bag', drāpe (XVI. 47) 'causing to run', bāmbhāre (IV. 27) a guardian deity of Soma, bhuvās-pate (IV. 34) 'lord of the earth', Sāteṣudhe (XVI. 13) 'hundred-quivered', sapte (XXIX. 2) 'steed'.

a. The V. sobhāre is a transfer from the ī-declension; and the compounds pāṇaka-śoce, bhadrā-śoce, śukra-śoce are transfers from the -is declension, doubtless meant to avoid the unusual form -śocis in the V.

¹ The RV. has only the form pātyau 'husband'.

² For this form in VI. 46² the SV. and VS. have the variant sātāu.

³ This form occurs also in AV. V. 11.

⁴ Cp. RPr. I. 28; II. 35.

⁵ Written with Pluti VS. VIII. 10: agnāsi.

⁶ Once (IX. 80¹) with double accent bṛhas-pāte.

⁷ In mahe-male 'O great-souled' (Indra), the first member is anomalously gunated as well as the second; cp. mahe-nadī 'O great stream'.

⁸ Formed like vanas-pate.

f. The forms occurring in the RV. are: adite, anumate, asu-nīte 'spirit-world', iṣṭe, *upa-māte*¹ 'granting (of wealth)', ṛjīte 'radiant', bhūme, mate, yuvate, *satyatāte*¹ 'truth', sv-aṅgure 'fair-fingered'. The AV. has *darve*² 'spoon'; the VS. svadhīte.

a. There is also the transfer oṣadhe from the ī-declension.

Du. N. A. V. This form ends in -ṛṣ and can be used in all genders alike. The m. is very frequent, being made from 72 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: indrāgnī (78) 'Indra and Agni', hārī (78), pātī (33), subhūś-pātī (21) 'lords of light'. Elsewhere also occur: sa-tāti (TS.iii.2.2²) 'continuous'; bhūri-raśmī (Kh.iv.22³) 'many-rayed'; viśva-vāparī (Kh.ii.22³) 'extending (?) everywhere'. The final vowel is shortened in sakṣāni (x.32¹) 'united'.

f. The forms occurring in the RV. are: itā-ntī 'extending from hence', atī, ījīti, jāmī, dārvi, dyaḥva-bhūmī 'heaven and earth', dhārayāt-kavī 'protecting the wise', pūramdhī, bhuji 'patrons', yuvati, vāsu-dhiti 'treasuries', śhēt, sā-yoni 'of the same origin', su-prātūrī 'very victorious', srutī.

n. The only two regular forms are *śīci*⁴ and tigmā-heti (AV.) 'having a keen thrust'; also māhi (with shortened final)⁵. There are besides one or two secondary forms with -nī made under the influence of the n-declension: akṣīnī (AV.) 'eyes' and perhaps hārīnī (ix.707) from *hārī*⁶.

I. m. indrāgnibhyām, dāmpatibhyām (AV.) 'husband and wife', hāribhyām. — f. vartanibhyām, śrōṇibhyām (VS.xxv.6) 'hips'. — n. sākthibhyām 'thighs'.

D. m. indrāgnibhyām, indrā-bhāspātibhyām (VS.vii.23) 'Indra and Bṛhaspati', *hāribhyām*⁷.

Ab. m. kuṣṭhibhyām (AV. VS.) pāṇibhyām (AV.). — f. pārśnibhyām, śrōṇibhyām. — G. m. indrāgnyōs, hāryōs. — f. yuvatyōs.

L. m. kuṣtyōs, *gābhastyōs*⁸, hāryōs. — f. jāmyōs, gavinyōs (AV.) 'groins', pārśnyōs (AV.). — n. *sākthyo*s (VS.xxiv.1).

Pl. N. V. This form gunates the final vowel of the stem, adding the normal ending -as in the m. and f.; e. g. agnāy-as, ūtāy-as. It is of very frequent occurrence, but is nearly twice as common in the m. as the f.

m. This form is made from 109 stems in the RV. and occurs 523 times. The commonest examples are: kavāyas (45), vāyas (38), sūrāyas (36), hārāyas (31), agnāyas (27), ādrāyas (26), īśāyas (26), śhāyas (18), pātāyas (16), raśmāyas (16), vāhnāyas (15) 'conveyers'. In the VS. also occur: ajāvāyas 'goats and sheep' (iii.43), vīśa-pāṇāyas (xxix.44) 'strong-hoofed', vrihāyas (xviii.12) 'rice-plants'.

a. The stem arī-, being the only i-stem that does not take Guṇa, forms its N. pl. like the B group of the radical ī-stems (except the accent): ary-ās, which occurs 16 times in the RV.

b. The form ā-hrayas 'shameless' is a transfer from the radical ī-declension, and śbharāyas 'descendants of Sobhari' from the derivative ī-declension.

f. This form is made from 66 stems and occurs 290 times in the RV. The commonest examples are: ūtāyas (42), dhītāyas (21), matīyas (20), ārātāyas (18), rātāyas (18), kṛtāyas (17), ṣītāyas (13) 'races', jānāyas (12), vṛtāyas (12).

a. The stem arī- has the same anomalous form as in the m.: ary-ās, which occurs 4 times in the RV.

² The VS. (ii.49) has darvi from dārvi — dārvi. The VS. (viii.43) also has vi-sruti which seems to be an irregular V. for vi-srute; cp. pw. s. v.

³ The derivative -i, -u and -ī stems are the only ones which do not take -ā or -au in the dual.

⁴ Occurring in x.85¹² and possibly iv.56⁵.

⁵ Occurring x.97³⁴ and perhaps also iv.56³.

⁶ BR. and GRASSMANN place this form under hārīta.

⁷ No n. forms occur in the D. Ab. dual.

⁸ This word may be f. also.

b. About 10 i-stems in the RV. have also N. pl. forms according to the derivative i-declension: *avānīs*¹ 'streams', ājānīs 'births', *ūtīs*¹, nāktīs 'nights', nīrītīs, nīkītīs, pūramdhīs, *bhūmīs*¹, *viśvā-kṛtīs*¹ 'dwelling among all men', sā-yonīs. The AV. also has: aṅgūtīs, ṛṣītīs 'spears', dhamānīs 'tubes', nābhīs, pārṣūtīs, pṛṣītīs.

c. The stems yayī- 'speeding', śubhri- 'shining', karkari- 'lute' form their N. pl. according to the radical i-declension: yayīyas, śubhriyas (AV.), karkariyas (AV.).

d. Some i-stems have transfer forms according to the i-declension: ambāyas, aruṇāyas, kṣaṇāyas; śādhāyas, sākhāyas (TS. v. 4. 12²; VS. xviii. 22). The TS. has also: garbhānyayas (II. 1. 26), pātānyas (v. 2. 11² etc.), recātāyas (v. 2. 11¹), vārūtrāyas (IV. 1. 6²).

N. A. n. i. The normal form, in which the ending -i coalesces with the final of the stem to -ī, is made from 4 stems in the RV.: *a-pratī*² 'irresistible', kṛdāhmī 'irascible', trī 'three', śīcī. The final vowel of this form is further shortened in six stems: apratī, a-sthūri 'not single-horsed', jāmī, bhūri, *sāmi*³ 'work', surabhī. The AV. has also māhi (besides apratī and bhūri). The forms in -ī and -i (which are of about equal frequency) taken together occur about 50 times in the RV.

2. There is a secondary form (following the analogy of the n-stems) in -īni, which is taken by 4 stems having the primary form also: apratīni, bhūriṇi, śīcīni, surabhīṇi. These forms occur about 14 times. The AV. has also ākṣīni and āsthīni; the latter form occurs in the TS. as well (v. 7. 2¹); the VS. has śīgīni (xxxix. 8) 'entrails'.

A. m. The ending -n here (as in the -a and -u declension) represents original -ns, which in one half (42) of the total occurrences (84) of these forms in -in in the RV. is preserved as -ns or (before vowels) -nr. This A. is made from 31 stems in the RV⁴. The commonest examples are sūrīn (14), vānas-pātīn (11), paṇīn (9), raśmīn (6), sākhīn (5), gīrīn (4)⁵. The TS. also has ādhi-pātīn (i. 6. 6⁴) 'lords', āhīn (iv. 5. 1²; VS. xvi. 5); the VS. has tittīrīn (xxiv. 20) 'partridges', *lājīn*⁶ (xxiii. 8) 'parched grain', *śācīn*⁶ (xxiii. 8) 'groats'.

a. The stem arī- is the only one which does not take -n, but adds the normal ending -as instead, the A. arīyas (which occurs 7 times in the RV.) being thus identical with the N. pl. The stem vi- in its only occurrence (I. 104¹) in the A. pl. uses the N. pl. form vāyas.

f. This form, which is made by adding simple -s (instead of -as), e. g. bhūmīs, occurs from 42 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are ārātīs (16), kṛtīs (16), kṣītīs (8), carṣaṇīs (7) 'people', pūramdhīs (7), avānīs (6), āsastīs (5)⁷. The TS. has abhiṣtīs (v. 4. 14²), āmātīs (III. 1. 4²), yōnīs (I. 5. 3³), vyūṣtīs (IV. 3. 11⁴); and śācīs occurs in a Khila (p. 171, 6)⁸.

a. As in the m., the stem arī- has arīyas (occurring 4 times). Two N. forms, citrātāyas (x. 140³) 'granting wonderful gifts' and śīcāyas (AV. v. 1³), appear to be used for the A.

I. m.⁹ This form is made with the regular ending -bhis from 40 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are ādribhis (43), raśmibhis (36), pathibhis (28) 'paths', hāribhis (23), sākhībhis (15), sūribhis (14), agnībhis (10), añjībhis (10) 'ornaments', ṛṣībhis (10), *vibhis*¹⁰ (9). — From the VS.: plāṣībhis (xxv. 8).

² The Pada text has apratī.

⁴ LANMAN 395 enumerates the stems which take this accusative.

⁵ On the Sandhi of the final -n in this form see LANMAN 394 f.

⁶ Written with pluti in the text as lājīn, śācīn.

⁷ The stems which take this form in the RV. are enumerated by LANMAN 3953.

⁸ See SCHEFFELOWITZ' note, p. 171 (bottom).

⁹ No n. form occurs.

¹⁰ Not accented as a monosyllabic stem.

f. This form is made in the same way as the m. from 48 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: utibhis (100), svastibhis (82), matibhis (37), dhātibhis (27), su-vṛtibhis (18).

a. The form ūtī is used 9 times as an I. pl. in the RV., as is shown both by the sense and by the forms agreeing with it; e. g. tvābhir ūtī (II. 202) 'with thine aids'.

b. A transfer from the i-declension is aranibhis 'tinder-sticks'.

D. m. This form is made with -bhyas from 9 stems in the RV.: āśva-patibhyas (VS. XVI. 24) 'masters of horses', *śśibhyas*¹, gaṇā-patibhyas (VS. XVI. 25) 'lords of troops', dāśāvanibhyas 'having ten courses', pātibhyas, yātibhyas N. of a race, raśmibhyas (VS. XXII. 28), *vi-bhyas*², vṛtā-patibhyas (VS. XVI. 25) 'lords of companies', śucibhyas, svā-patibhyas (VS. XIV. 28) 'masters of dogs', sākhībhyas, sanībhyas, sandhibhyas (VS. XXIV. 25), sūribhyas.

f. ksitibhyas, carṣanibhyas, deva-jāmibhyas (VS. XXIV. 24) 'sisters of the gods'. There is also the transfer from the i-declension nūribhyas 'women'.

Ab. m. This case, identical in form with the D., is made from 12 stems in the RV.: agnibhyas, dtribhyas, kavāribhyas 'niggardly', giribhyas, pañibhyas, pavibhyas, plāśibhyas, yōnibhyas (VS. XIII. 34), vānas-pātibhyas, *vibhyas*², sākhībhyas, sanībhyas, sthibhyas 'bushels'. — f. amhatibhyas 'distresses', āngilībhyas (AV.), ksitibhyas, carṣanibhyas, jānibhyas, dhamānibhyas (AV.) 'blasts'. — n. *asthibhyas*³ (AV. II. 33⁶).

G. m. This form is made from 28 stems in the RV.: (a) oxytones are agninām, kavinām, girtinām, carṣantinām, deva-jāminām (AV.), nidhinām 'treasures', pañinām, pathinām, maninām (AV.), *mathinām*⁴, rayinām, *vāpninām*⁵ (AV.), vīnām, *saninām*⁶; (b) otherwise accented: dirinām, dotinām, dhīnām, ṛṣinām, gandhārinām N. of a people, carāṇinām 'active', tuvīśāṇinām 'loud-roaring', dhīvinām 'roaring', mahi-svāpninām 'very noisy', mūvinām 'seers', vānas-pātinām, vi-mahinām 'very great', vyātinām 'steeds', śūcinām, sākhinām, hārinām, *hāvīr-māthinām*⁷ 'disturbing sacrifices'. Also grhā-pātinām (VS. IX. 39) 'householders', dhārma-pātinām (VS. IX. 39) 'guardians of law'.

f. This form is made from 18 stems in the RV.⁸: (a) oxytones: kavinām, krṣtinām, ksitinām, carṣantinām, jāminām, dur-matinām 'hatred', dhautinām 'wells', puṣtinām, matinām, rayinām, su-ksitinām, su-matinām, su-ṣutinām; (b) otherwise accented: *arātinām*⁹ (Kh. I. 5⁵), ūpa-stutinām 'invocations', jāninām, nīrtinām, mārtinām 'particles of light', śūcinām.

L. m. This form is made with the ending -su, which becomes -su, from 16 stems in the RV.: ā-kaviṣu 'not wise', agniṣu, ājīṣu, ā-samātīṣu 'incomparable', ājīṣu, āpīṣu 'kinsmen', ṛṣīṣu, khādīṣu 'rings', gīrīṣu, nidhīṣu, pathīṣu, pavīṣu, yōnīṣu, raśmīṣu, śubhīṣu, sūrīṣu.

f. This form is made from 21 stems, all but three of which (a-vyathī-, jāmī-, śubhī-) end in -ti: abhi-mātīṣu 'plots', a-vyathīṣu, iṣṭīṣu, ūtiṣu, ṛṣīṣu, krṣṭīṣu, ksitīṣu, gāv-iṣṭīṣu, jāmīṣu, dīv-iṣṭīṣu 'devotions', devā-hūtīṣu, pāriṣṭīṣu 'distresses', puṣṭīṣu, prā-nūtīṣu, prā-tūrtīṣu 'speedy motions', prā-yuktīṣu, prā-śastīṣu (TS. I. 7. 7¹; VS. IX. 6) 'praises', yāma-hūtīṣu, rātīṣu, vyūṣṭīṣu, śubhīṣu, sātīṣu. The form *nārīṣu*¹⁰ is a transfer from the i-declension.

n. The only example that occurs is bhūkīṣu.

² Not accented as a monosyllabic stem.

³ With wrong accent for āsthibhyas; cp. asthābhyas (VS. XXIII. 44).

⁴ Vā. 5⁸; BR. and GRASSMANN would read matinām, which is actually the reading of the Kashmir Ms.: SCHEFFELOWITZ, Die Apokryphen des R̥gveda 40.

⁵ See WHITNEY's note on AV. XIX. 24⁶.

⁶ Also the numeral trīṇām.

⁷ In about a dozen out of 128 occurrences resolution of -ām to -aam seems necessary.

⁸ Resolution of -ām to -aam seems to be necessary in 4 out of 98 occurrences.

⁹ Wrong accent for ārātinām.

¹⁰ On the other hand svāhā-krīṣu is a transfer from this to the i-declension.

5. a. Radical ū-stems.

LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 400—419. — WHITNEY, Grammar 348—352.

382. This declension comprises strictly speaking only m. and f. stems; for the few distinctively n. forms which occur are made only from stems in which the ū is shortened and which therefore in form belong to the ū-declension. The normal endings, as they appear in the inflexion of consonant stems, are taken throughout. The G. pl., however, adds the ending -nām to compound stems¹; and the N. sing. always has -s.

This declension contains seven monosyllabic stems, one of which is m., five f., and one m. and f.; two reduplicated f. substantives and one adjective; and about 60 compounds, almost exclusively adjectives, made with the roots jū- 'speed', dyū- (dṛyū-) 'play', pū- 'purify', bhū- 'be', sū- 'swell', sū- 'bring forth', hū- 'call', and with the modified forms krū-, gū- 'go', drū- 'run', snū- 'drip', which may be treated as roots. The stems occurring are: 1. monosyllables: m. jū- 'speeding', 'steed', sū- 'begetter'; f. dū- 'gift', bhū- 'earth', bhrū- 'brow', sū- 'mother', syū- 'thread' (VS.), srū- 'stream'. 2. reduplicated stems: juhū- 'tongue', juhū- 'sacrificial spoon', jōgū- 'singing aloud'. 3. compounds (in the alphabetical order of the roots): apt-jū- 'impelling', kaśo-jū- 'hastening to the water (?)', N. of a man, dhṛ-jū- 'inspiring the mind', nabho-jū- 'cloud-impelling', mano-jū- 'swift as thought', yātu-jū- 'incited by 'demons', vayo-jū- 'stimulating strength', vasū-jū- 'procuring goods', viśva-jū- 'all-impelling', sadyo-jū- 'quickly speeding', senā-jū- 'swift as an arrow'. — eka-dyū- m. N. of a seer, kama-dyū- f. N. of a woman. — agre-pū-² 'drinking first', uda-pū- 'purified by water', keta-pū- (VS. TS.) 'purifying the will', ghṛta-pū- 'clarifying ghee', madhu-pū- 'purifying itself by sweetness', vāta-pū- 'purified by the wind', viśvā-pū- m. N. of a man, su-pū- 'clarifying well', sva-pū- 'broom'. — ān-ābhū- 'disobedient', abhi-bhū- 'superior', ā-bhū- 'present', pari-bhū- 'surrounding', punar-bhū- 'being renewed', puro-bhū- 'being in front', pra-bhū- 'excelling', mayo-bhū- 'causing pleasure', vi-bhū- 'far-extending', viśvā-bhū- 'being everywhere', viśvā-sambhū- 'beneficial to all', śam-bhū- 'beneficent', sacā-bhū- 'associate', su-bhū- 'good', svayam-bhū- 'self-existing', sv-ābhū- 'helping well'. — surā-sū- 'exultant with liquor'. — a-sū- 'not bringing forth', a-sūsū- (AV.) 'barren', nava-sū- 'having recently calved', pūrva-sū- 'bringing forth first', prā-sū- 'bringing forth', yama-sū- 'bringing forth twins', raha-sū- 'bringing forth secretly', rāja-sū- 'king-creating', viśva-sū- 'all-generating', vīra-sū- 'hero-bearing', sakṛt-sū- 'bringing forth once', su-sū- 'bringing forth easily'. — ā-hū- 'invoking', v-hū-³ 'crying aloud', varṣā-hū- (VS.) f., sumna-hū- (TS.) 'invoking favour', su-hū- (VS.) 'invoking well'. — mitra-krū- f. a kind of demon. — agre-gū-⁴ 'moving forwards'. — raghu-drū- 'running swiftly'⁵. — ghṛta-snū- 'dripping ghee'⁶.

a. Vocalic pronunciation. Before vowels the ū has regularly a vocalic value in pronunciation. In monosyllabic stems it is always written as -uv; generally also in compounds even when preceded by a single consonant. In the minority of compounds (some 9 stems in the RV.) it is written as v, but pronounced as a vowel. In the latter instances it is always given as u below; e. g. vibhū as vibhūā.

b. Accentuation. Except in the monosyllabic stems, which follow the general rule, the accent remains throughout on the same syllable, which is almost always the radical one.

¹ The monosyllabic and the reduplicated stems, on the other hand, added -ām, as far as can be inferred from dhruvām and jōguvām, the only examples which occur.

² pū- here = pā- 'drink'.

³ Perhaps an onomatopoeic word.

⁴ -gū- here = gā- 'go'.

⁵ Cp. LANMAN 402.

⁶ About a dozen of the above compounds (all but 3 or 4 of them being formed with bhū-) also shorten the final of the stem, which is then inflected like an ū-stem.

Inflexion.

383. The inflexion is identical in the m. and f. Several of the cases do not occur at all in the m., viz. Ab. L. V. sing., I. D. Ab. G. L. du., D. Ab. pl. In the monosyllabic stems several cases are wanting in both genders, viz. A. D. V. sing., and all the cases of the pl. except the N. A. G. The forms actually occurring, if made from bhū- f. 'earth' and the adjectives ā-bhū- 'present' and vi-bhū- 'far-reaching', would be as follows:

5. b. Derivative ū- stems.

LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 400—419. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 355—359, 362—364.

384. This declension is almost entirely restricted to f.³ stems, which (like the derivative or B group of the radical ī- declension) accent the final vowel and in inflexion are practically identical with the radical stems. The f. stems which it comprises may be divided into two groups. The first contains about 18 oxytone f. substantives corresponding in several instances to m. or n. stems in -u accented on the first syllable: a-grū- (m. ā-gru-) 'maid', kadrū- (m. kādrū- 'brown') 'Soma vessel', kuhū- (AV.) 'new moon', guggulū- (n. gūggulu-) (AV.) N. of an Apsaras, gūṅgū- N. of a goddess, camū- 'bowl', jatū- (n. javu-) (AV. VS.) 'bat', tanū- 'body', dhanū- (dhānu-) 'sandbank' (AV.), nabhanū- 'well', nytū- 'dancer', prākū- (m. pṛāku-) 'serpent' (AV.), prajanū- (AV.) 'organ of generation', vadhū- 'bride', śvaśrū- (m. śvaśura-) 'mother-in-law', saranyū- N. of a goddess; also *kyāmbū-*⁴ (n. kiyāmbu-) an aquatic plant (AV.). The second group comprises oxytone f. adjectives corresponding to m. oxytones: amhoyū- 'troublesome', aghryū- 'malicious', apasyū- 'active', abhi-dipsū- 'wishing to deceive', avasyū- 'desiring favour', asita-jñū- (AV.) 'black-kneed', ayū- 'active', udanyū- 'seeking water', caranyū- 'movable', carishū- 'moving', jighatsū- 'hungry', tanū- 'thin', didhishū- 'wishing to gain', dur-haṇyū- 'meditating harm', duvasyū- 'worshipping', devayū- (VS.) 'devoted to the gods', dravītū- 'speeding', patayālū- 'flying', panasyū- 'glorious', pārayishū- 'victorious', pṛtanayū- 'hostile', prśanayū- 'tender', phalgū- 'reddish', babhrū- 'reddish brown', bibhatsū- 'loathing', makhasyū- 'cheerful', *madhū-*⁵ 'sweet', mandrayū- 'gladdening', mahīyū- 'joyous', mumukṣū- 'wishing to free', vacasyū- 'eloquent', vi-panyū- 'admiring', śundhyū- 'radiant', sanayū- 'wishing for gain', sādayitū- 'yielding sweetness'; also su-drū- 'having good wood' (dru-)⁶.

a. Vocalic pronunciation. Before vowels the ū has almost invariably a vocalic value in pronunciation. It is written as uv in the substantives agrū- and kadrū-, and in adjectives when the ū is preceded by y, also in *bibhatsū-*⁷. Otherwise though always written as u it is (except four or five times at the most in the RV.)⁸, here also to be pronounced as a vowel. Hence the forms written in the Saṃhitā with simple v are given below with ū.

b. Accentuation. The derivative ū-stems not only accent the final syllable⁹ but ¹ VS. xxiv. 25 has the form śīl-pūś a kind of bird.

² In the V. viśeṣām bhuvām pate.

³ There are only five m. forms: N. prāsūś 'guest', āpta-tanūś 'whose body is not cooked', sārva-tanūś (AV.) 'whose body is entire'; A. kṛka-dāśūām a kind of demon; I. pl. makhūbhis 'swift'.

⁴ This is the only f. stem in this declension not accented on the final vowel; but TA. vi. 4¹ has the normally accented kyāmbū-.

⁵ The corresponding m. in this instance is not oxytone, mādhū-.

⁶ Also as a substantive f. 'good beam'. BR. and pw. however regard su-drūām as A. of a m. substantive su-drū- 'starkes Holz'.

⁷ This is the regular practice in the TS. even when a single consonant precedes the ū, e. g. tanūv-am; cp. IS. 13, 105 f.

⁸ tanvās 3 times, camvās once, tanvām perhaps once; cp. LANMAN 408 (top).

⁹ Except the f. kyāmbū- (AV.) and the two m. Bahuvrhis āpta-tanū- and sārva-tanū-.

retain the accent on that syllable throughout their inflexion. In this respect they agree with the B group of the radical ī-declension and differ from the ordinary derivative ī-declension.

c. Transition forms. There is an incipient tendency here to be affected by the analogy of the derivative ī-stems. The only certain example in the RV. is the L. śvaśrūm (X. 85⁴⁶) for śvaśrūi*; the L. dravīnuā is perhaps another instance¹. But the AV. has at least 10 such forms: A. kuhīm, tanīm, vadhīm; D. agrīvai, vadhvāi, śvaśrūdī; Ab. punar-bhūvās; G. *urvārūds*² 'gourd', prḍākūds, śvaśrūds; L. tanūām. The VS. has A. pum̐ścalīm, D. tanvāi, G. tanvāds.

Inflection.

385. In the L. sing. the -i may be dropped in the RV. In the later Samhitās -m sometimes appears in the A. for -am, and -ai, -ās, -ām are occasionally taken as the endings of the D. G. L. respectively. The ending -ām appears once in the RV. also. The forms actually occurring, if made from tanū-f. 'body', would be as follows:

Sing. N. tanūs. A. tanūām. I. tanūā. D. tanīe. Ab. tanīas. G. tanīas. L. tanīi and tanū. V. tanu.

Du. N. A. tanūā. D. tanūbhyām. L. tanīos.

Pl. N. tanīas. A. tanīas. I. tanūbhis. D. tanūbhyas. G. tanūnām. L. tanūṣu.

The forms actually occurring are:

Sing. N. m. prāśīs, ā-tapta-tanūs, sārva-tanūs (AV.). — f. asita-jñūs (AV.), kuhūs (TS. AV.), *kyāmbūs*³ (AV.), guggulūs (AV.), guṅgūs, jatūs (VS.), tanūs, dhanūs (AV.), nṛtūs, patayālūs (AV.), prḍākūs (AV.), phalgūs (VS. L. f. canīi, *tanīi*¹². — Without ending: *canū*¹³, *tanū*¹⁴. — With ending -ām: śvaśrūām; *tanvām*¹⁵ (AV.), *tanūvām*¹⁶ (TS. I. 7. 12²).

V. f. bābhru, vādhu.

¹ Because the accent is shifted to the ending as in the derivative ī-declension; cp. LANMAN 404.

² See LANMAN 411¹.

³ The TA. has the normal accentuation kyāmbū; the corresponding stem in the RV. is kiyāmbu- n.

⁴ That the word is m. is probable because sārvam seems to agree with it (I. 297). The A. m. ābhūvām 'fearless' is a transfer from the u-declension.

⁵ The AV. has tanvām once, tanūām 16 times. The TS. regularly has tanūvām (I. 8. 10², etc.).

⁶ The Mss. all read prḍākūām; see WHITNEY's note on AV. x. 4¹⁷.

⁷ As an adj. in VII. 32²⁰, 'made of good wood'; as a subst. in x. 28⁸ 'good beam'.

⁸ The AV. has tanūā 4 times, tanvā 5 times. The TS. has tanūvā (I. 1. 10² etc.) In RV. x. 24¹ canū is once perhaps a contracted I; see LANMAN 409 (top).

⁹ The AV. has tanīe 6 times, tanvē 7 times. The TS. has tanīe.

¹⁰ The AV. has vadhvāi and vadhūāi once each.

¹¹ The AV. has tanīas 10 times, tanvās 4 times. The TS. has tanīvas.

¹² Three or four times tanūi, metrically lengthened (the Pada has ī); cp. LANMAN 411 (bottom). The TS. (IV. 3. 13¹) has tanīvī.

¹³ canū occurs 6 times, canūi once.

¹⁴ tanū occurs once, tanūi 3 times.

¹⁵ This should doubtless be read tanvām; see LANMAN 412.

¹⁶ This form in TS. IV. 2. 6³ is a variant for the G. sing. tanvās of RV. x. 97¹⁰.

6. a. Radical u- stems.

386. There are not many u- stems derived from roots originally ending in -u, as several of these (about nine) have joined the consonant declension by adding the determinative *-t*¹¹. Some eight stems are, however, formed from roots in -u, all of them but one (dyū-) being compounds. These are: dyū- 'day', abhi-dyū- 'heavenly'; *mitā-dru-*¹² 'firm-legged', raghu-drū- 'running swiftly'; *ā-prā-yu-*¹³ 'assiduous'; *ādhrī-gu-*¹⁴ 'irresistible', vanar-gū- 'forest-roaming'; su-ṣṭh- 'highly praised'¹⁵. There are besides some 12 stems in which u is radical in a secondary sense as representing the shortened form of the vowel of three roots ending in *-ū*¹⁶. These are: dht-jū- 'inspiring the mind', from jū- 'impel'; su-pū- 'clarifying well', from pū- 'purify'; and compounds of bhū- 'be': ā-pra-bhu- 'powerless', abhi-bhū- 'superior', ā-bhū- 'empty', ud-bhū- 'persevering', pari-bhū- 'surrounding', puru-bhū- 'appearing in many places', pra-bhū- 'powerful', mayo-bhū- 'delighting', vi-bhū- 'far-extending', śam-bhū- 'beneficent', su-bhū- 'good'.

387. The inflexion of these words is identical with that of derivative u- stems. Forms which occur are the following:

Sing. N. m. *ādhrī-gus, ā-pra-bhus, pra-bhūs, mayo-bhūs, mitā-drus, vanar-gūs, vi-bhūs, śam-bhūs*¹⁷. — n. ā-pra-bhu, ā-prāyu, ā-bhū, ud-bhū (AV.), pra-bhū, mayo-bhū, raghu-drū, vi-bhū, śam-bhū, su-bhū.

A. m. ādhrī-gum, abhi-dyum, abhi-bhūm (AV.), *ā-bhūm, pra-bhūm, vi-bhūm*¹⁸.

I. m. mayo-bhūnā. — n. su-pūnā (AV.).

¹ There are also two m. transfers from the u- declension, madhūnyavā and paśvā; cp. LANMAN 403 and 413 (mid).

² This is really a transition form from the derivative u- declension.

³ camilos occurs 14 times, camvōs possibly once (IX. 96²¹).

⁴ Once tanvās; see LANMAN 408 (top). The TS. has tanīvas.

⁵ On ratha-yīs (X. 70⁵) standing possibly for -yīs = -yū-as, see LANMAN 415².

⁶ RV. 20 times, AV. 3 times tanīvas; RV. twice, AV. once tanvās. The TS. has tanīvas. On WEBER's conjecture (IS. 13, 58) vīvās as A. pl. of vīśū-* see LANMAN 416³.

⁷ The MSS. of the AV. once read badhvās (= vadhūvas).

⁸ On ratha-yīs (VII. 2⁵) for -yīs = -yū-as, see LANMAN 416³. The VS. (XXI. 25) has jatūs.

⁹ This is only a metrical lengthening of the stem vowel (Pada ā).

¹⁰ Cp. LANMAN 418³.

¹¹ See above, stems in derivative -t (307).

¹² From dru- 'run'. On sādru- see WHITNEY's note on AV. XV. 7¹.

¹³ From yu- 'separate', 'keep away'.

¹⁴ 'going unrestrained', from gu- 'go' = gū-.

¹⁵ The words sabar-dhū- 'yielding nectar', and ā-smṛta-dhru- 'not caring for enemies', seem to be compounded with -dih (-dihuk) and -druh (-dhruk: see pw.).

¹⁶ They are therefore transfers from the radical u- declension, all the N. A. neuters of which are thus formed.

6. b. Derivative u- stems.

LANMAN, Noun-Inflection 400—419. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 335—346.

388. This declension embraces a large number of nouns of all genders. The masculine stems greatly preponderate, being about four times as numerous as the feminine and neuter stems taken together; while the neuters considerably outnumber the feminines. Thus the N. and A. sing. are formed by about 430 stems in the m., by 68 in the n., and by 46 in the f. in the RV. The normal inflexion which is practically the same in all genders, except the N. A. sing. du. pl. n., is closely parallel to that of the i-stems (380). The stem takes Gūṇa in the same cases; but while in the i-declension only one word (ari) ever uses the unmodified stem, 8 or 9 words may do so here. The endings, too, are closely analogous; but while in the i-declension the ending of the L. sing. is always dropped, it is here retained in several words; and while the n-declension has affected only the I. sing. of the i-declension, it has here affected all the other cases of the singular which take vowel endings. Finally, the accentuation is exactly parallel to that of the i-stems.

a. Adjectives in -u often use this stem for the feminine also; e. g. cāru- 'dear'; otherwise they form the f. in -ū, as tanū-m., tanū-f. 'thin'; or in -ī, as urū-m., urū-f. 'broad', prthū-m., prthū-f. 'broad', bahū-m., bahū-f. 'much', mṛdū- (AV.) m., mṛdū-f. (VS.) f. 'soft'.

b. The 8 stems which are analogous to ari in having forms that attach the normal endings to the unaltered stem are: paśū-, pitū-, kṣū-, krāu-, mādhū-, vāsu-, śīsu-, sahāsra-bāhu-.

c. Oxytone stems when the final vowel is changed to u, throw the accent on a following vowel not as Svarita but as Udātta; they also shift it to the -nām of the G. pl. even though the stem vowel does not in that case lose its syllabic value; e. g. paśū-nām.

d. Transition forms. 1. There are in the RV. only three forms which follow the analogy of the derivative i-declension: D. īṣv-ai, G. īṣv-ās, su-vāste-ās, all in late passages, the AV. also has *rājṣv-ām*⁶. — 2. Transitions to the ū-declension appear in the A. ā-bhūvam, from ā-bhūu-, and in several words formed with the suffix -yu which make their N. pl. or du. as -yūvas, -yūvā. — 3. Besides some 46 I. forms m. and n. sing., there are several transitions to the n-declension in the remaining cases of the sing., all neuter forms (except the m. G. cāruṇas): D. mādhūne; Ab. mādhūnas, sānuṇas; G. cāruṇas, dānuṇas, drūṇas, mādhūnas, vāsuṇas; L. āyuni, sānuṇi; also a few other forms from the later Samhitās.

Inflexion.

389. The N. sing. m. f. always takes -s, the A. simply -m. The D. Ab. G. sing. sometimes attach the normal endings to the unmodified stem; but

¹ In the f. V. prthū-ślo 'broad-tufted', the u of the stem stu- = stukū- 'tuft' may be radical,

² ā-smṛta-dhū = āsmṛta-dhūhā.

³ For ādhri-gāvas owing to the false analogy of gāvas 'cows'.

⁴ There are also the forms according to the radical ū-declension ā-prāyūvas, raghū-drūvas.

⁵ See LANMAN 414².

⁶ The Mss. in AV. vi. 121² read rājṣvām. the only form of this word which occurs in the RV. is the N. sing. rājṣv.

they generally gunate the stem, which then adds only -s instead of -as in the Ab. G. The L. sing. sometimes gunates the stem and adds -i, but generally takes Vṛddhi without an ending. The V. always gunates the stem. The N. pl. m. f. nearly always gunates the -u, to which the normal ending -as is added. The A. pl. in the m. adds -n, in the f. -s, before which the vowel is lengthened. The G. pl. always takes -nām, lengthening the preceding vowel. The N. A. V. du. m. f. have no ending, simply lengthening the final vowel. The adjective mādhū 'sweet' may be used to illustrate the forms actually occurring:

Sing. N. m. f. mādhus, n. mādhu. A. m. f. mādhum, n. mādhu. I. m. f. n. mādhvā, m. n. mādhunā. D. m. f. n. mādhave, m. mādhve. Ab. m. f. n. mādhos, m. n. mādhvas, n. mādhunas. The forms actually occurring are the following:

Sing. N. m. This form is very frequent, being made from 250 stems in the RV. and occurring nearly 900 times. The commonest examples are: indus (64) 'drop', viṣṇus (34) 'Viṣṇu', su-krātus (32) 'skilful', vāsus (25) 'good', ketūs (23) 'brightness', rbhūs (21) 'deft', vāyūs (20) 'wind', viśvāyus (18) 'kind to all men', sūnūs (18) 'son', sindhūs (17) 'river', cārus (16) 'dear', asmayūs (16) 'desiring us', devayūs (15) 'devoted to the gods', mānus (15) 'man'. — iṣus 'arrow', otherwise f., is once (VIII. 66) m.

a. The form yūs 'moving' is perhaps a corruption in VIII. 18¹³, where BLOOMFIELD (JAOS. 1906, p. 72) would read, for ririṣiṣṭa yūr, ririṣiṣṭāyūr = ririṣiṣṭa āyūr.

b. In VII. 86³ diḍḡkṣūpo perhaps stands for diḍḡkṣu + ūpo; but the Pada reads diḍḡkṣu, and desiderative adjectives otherwise accent the final syllable; cp. LANMAN 405 (bottom).

f. This form is made from 31 stems and occurs 73 times in the RV. The commonest examples are dhenūs (22) 'cow', sindhūs (11), sārus (4) 'arrow', vasūyūs (3) 'desiring goods', iṣus (2), gātūs (2) 'course', cārus (2), jivātus (2) 'life'¹.

N. A. n. This form, which has no ending, is made from 68 stems and occurs over 400 times in the RV. The commonest examples are mādhū (77) ('sweetness'), vāsu (77) 'wealth', urū (51) 'wide', cāru (27), sānu (18) 'summit', prthū (15) 'broad', tri-dhātū (13) 'threefold', purū (13) 'much'. The RV. once has pāsu and the VS. (xxiii. 30) paśū 'animal'. In other Saṃhitās occur tālu (VS.) 'palate', trāpu (AV. VS.) 'tin'.

a. The final -u is metrically lengthened in purū (12 times), mithū (twice) 'wrongly', and urū (once)².

b. The metre seems to require the forms āyu (III. 49²), jarāmṛtyu (AV. XIX. 30¹), jiṣṇū (AV. III. 19¹), pārayiṣṇū (AV. VIII. 22⁸), bahū (AV. XX. 135¹²), instead of the corresponding forms with -s, āyus etc., of the Saṃhitā text.

A. m. This form is made from 179 stems and occurs over 700 times in the RV. The commonest examples are: krātum (55) 'ability', ketim (34), gātum (33) 'course' and 'song', indum (27), sīsum (26) 'child', sindhūm (22), āślim (20) 'swift', urūm (18), manyīm (18) 'wrath', vāyīm (18), amśīm (17) 'shoot', sūnīm (17), dāsūm (15) 'fiend', paśīm (15), bhānīm (15) 'lustre', hujyīm (15) N. of a man, sātrum (15) 'enemy'.

f. This form is made from 15 stems and occurs 50 times in the RV.: ā-dhenum 'yielding no milk', aruṇā-psum 'of ruddy appearance', īsum, krīnum N. of a river, cārum, jāsum 'resting-place', jigatnūm 'speeding', jīrādānum 'sprinkling abundantly', jīvātum, dhānum 'sandbank', dhenūm, bhujyīm 'viper', vasāyīm, sātrum, śindhum.

I. m. This case is formed in two ways. 1. Four stems in the RV. add the normal ending -ā, before which the -u is almost invariably pronounced as v: paraśv-ā 'axe', paśv-ā; *krātū-ā*¹, śīśv-ā. — 2. Owing to the influence of the n-declension 30 stems in the RV. add -nā instead of the normal -ā: amśīnā, aktīnā 'light', an-āśīnā 'not swift', a-bandhīnā 'kinless', indunā, īṣunā (Kh. iv. 7³)², urūnā, ṛjūnā 'straight', ṛtīnā 'fixed time', ketīnā, *krātunā*³, ceṭīnā 'heed', jīṣṇīnā 'victorious', tri-dhātunā, dhūmā-keṭunā 'smoke-bannered', dhṛṣṇīnā 'bold', paśīnā, bhānīnā, mānūnā, manyīnā, ripīnā 'deceiver', vagnīnā 'roar', vahatīnā 'bridal procession', vāyīnā, vi-bhīndīnā 'splitting', viṣṇunā, vīśa-psunā 'of strong appearance', sādhīnā 'straight', su-ceṭīnā 'benevolence', śētunā (TS. iii. 2. 2¹) 'bridge', stanayīnā 'thunder', *snīnā*⁵ 'summit'.

f. This form is made from 7 stems in the RV. by adding the normal ending -ā, before which the u is pronounced as a vowel in five stems: cikītvā (AV.), paṇvā 'praise'; ā-dhenvā, īṣvā (AV.; Kh. iv. 5 3¹), mādhvā, mehatvā N. of a river, rājīvā (AV.) 'rope', sārvā, su-sārtvā N. of a river, hānvā 'jaw'.

a. Six oxytone stems and also mīthu- form instrumentals with interposed -y-; they are used adverbially with shift of accent to the ending: anu-ṣhuyā 'immediately', amuyā 'thus', āsuyā 'quickly', dhṛṣṇuyā 'boldly', raṣhuyā 'swiftly', sādhuyā 'rightly'; mīthuyā 'falsely'.

n. This case is made in two ways. 1. The normal ending -ā is added directly to the stem. Of this formation there is only one example: *mādhvā*⁴ 'honey'. — 2. Owing to the influence of the n-declension 15 stems in the RV. add -nā: urūnā, krdhīnā 'defective', ghṛtī-snunā 'dripping with ghee', jarāyūnā 'after-birth', tītaūnā 'sieve', trṣṇīnā 'greedy', tri-dhātunā, dānūnā 'fluid', *drīnā*⁵ 'wood', dhṛṣṇīnā, purūrīnā 'far and wide', pṛthīnā, mādhunā, vāsunā, sānūnā, svādīnā 'sweet'.

D. m. This case is formed in two ways. 1. The ending -e is added to the unmodified stem in three words in the RV.: *krātve*⁶, śīśve, *śahāsra-bāhve*⁷ 'having a thousand arms'. — 2. The ending e is added to the gunated final vowel in over 60 stems in the RV. The commonest examples are: mānave (36), vāyāve (23), viṣṇave (13), manyāve (12), āyāve (10) 'living', sāndve (10), dāsyaue (9), ripāve (7), mṛtyāve (6) 'death', pūrāve (5)⁸ 'man'.

f. This case is the same way as the second form of the m. from only three stems in the RV.: jīvātave, dhenāve, sārave.

n. This case is formed in three ways. 1. The ending -e is added to the

² For the īṣvā of AV. v. 54.

³ The form krātunā occurs 12 times, krātūā 59 times, in the RV.

⁴ This form also occurs in VS. xx. 56 etc., TS. iv. 1. 8² (twice) and Kh. v. 6⁴.

⁵ The words snū- and drī- are not accentuated as monosyllabic stems because they are the reduced form of the dissyllables sānu- and dāru-.

⁶ krātve also occurs VS. xiv. 8; xxxviii. 28.

⁷ Pronounced -bāhuv.

⁸ LANMAN 409 enumerates the stems which take this dative.

unmodified stem in one word: *pāśv-e*¹. — 2. The ending -e is added to the gunated stem in two words: urāve, viśvāyave.

3. Owing to the influence of the n-declension -ne is added to the stem in one word in the RV.: mādhune. The AV. also has kaśīpune 'mat'.

Ab. m. This case is formed in two ways. 1. The normal ending -as is added to the unmodified stem in one word only: pitv-ās 'draught'. — 2. The ending -s is added to the gunated stem in 20 words in the RV.: amhós 'distress', adhvaryós 'officiating priest', rthós, kṛśānos N. of a divine archer, kṣipānós 'archer', gāntós 'course', tanayitnós 'thundering', tanyatós 'thunder', devayós, ninitśós 'wishing to blame', pūrós, babhrós (Kh. v. 15¹¹) 'brown', manyós, mṛtyós, ririkśós 'wishing to injure', vaniṣṭhós 'intestine', vāyós, viṣṇós, śátros, sindhós, snós.

f. This case is made in the same way as the second form of the m. The only two examples are: dhános and vástos 'dawn'. There is also one transition form due to the influence of the ṛ-declension: īṣṛ-ās.

n. This case is made in three ways. 1. The ending -as is added to the unmodified stem in one word only: mādhvas. — 2. The ending -s is added to the gunated stem: urós, *drís*², mādhós (Kh. IV. 12⁴; TS. IV. 4. 12¹), sānos, svādós. — 3. Under the influence of the n-declension -nas is added to the stem: mādhunas, sānunas.

G. m. This case is made in two ways. 1. The ending -as is added to the unmodified stem in six words: pāśvās, pitvās, krátvas, mādhvas, vāsvas, *śísvas*³. — 2. The prevailing form is made by adding -s to the gunated stem, and appears in 70 words. The commonest examples are⁴: āyós (22), viṣṇós (14), sindhós (13), aktós (11), vāyós (10), dāsyos (8), mānos (8), śátros (5), kārós (4) 'singer'.

a. There is a single transition form according to the n-declension cāruṇas, which occurs only once (VIII. 5¹⁴).

f. This case is formed in one way only, like the second form of the m., from 5 stems: aktós, dhenós, vástos, sardýos N. of a river, sindhós.

n. This case is made like the Ab. n. 1. *mādhvas*⁵, vāsvas. — 2. The commonest form, made from 8 stems in the RV.: urós, kṣós 'food', gūggulos (AV.) 'bellium', cāros, mādhós (+AV.), vāsós (+AV.), vástos (+AV.) 'dwelling', sādhós, svādós. — 3. cāruṇas, dānunas, *drūnas*⁶, *mādhunas*⁷, *vāsunas*⁸.

L. m. This case is formed in two ways. 1. The normal ending -i is added to the gunated final vowel in 7 stems: dnavi 'non-Aryan man', trasādasyavi N. of a king, dāsyavi, druhyāvi N. of a man, pāvitravi N. of a man, viṣṇavi, sūndvi. — 2. More usually the ending is dropped, leaving the final stem vowel with Vṛddhi instead of Guna. This form of the L. is taken by 19 stems in the RV.: aktáu 'at night', āyáu, uráu, krátáu, cardu 'pot', druhyáu, pārśau N. of a man, pāśtau,

² The form drós also occurs in Kh. IV. 5¹¹.

³ Possibly 4 other words written with -os, should be pronounced with -nas: dhṛṣṇúas (X. 22³), ripúas (IV. 3¹³), pīpṛnas (VI. 22⁷), viṣṇúas (VIII. 31¹⁰).

⁴ LANMAN 410 gives a list of the stems taking this form of the genitive.

⁵ Pronounced mādhvas twice out of 67 occurrences.

⁶ There is no certain evidence as to the gender of drú- 'wood', but, as it is a reduced form of dāru- which is n., it may be assumed to be n. There is also the form drós.

⁷ mādhvas occurs 67 times, mādhós 13 times, mādhunas 9 times in the RV. The VS. has all three forms in independent passages.

⁸ vāsvas occurs 38 times, vāsós 8 times, vāsunas 11 times in the RV.

phṣṭi-gau N. of a man, pūtā-kratau N. of a man, pūrāu, mīnau and *manāu*¹, yīdau N. of a man, śrīṣṭi-gau N. of a man, sindhau, sītau 'bond', *svārau*² 'sacrificial post'.

f. This case is made in one way only, like the second form of the m. The only example in the RV. is sindhau; the AV. has *śārau*³ and sītau 'birth'.

n. This case is formed in three ways. 1. With the ending -i added to the gunated stem only in sānavi, which occurs 9 times. When the adjective ārya- or āryāya- 'made of sheep's wool' immediately follows, the L. of this word appears as sāno. The Pada here always has sīnau, but as the metre requires a short syllable it seems likely that the ending has been dropped to avoid a disagreeable sequence of syllables in sānavy ārye, but without leaving the lengthened form of the stem (sānāv) because of the metre. A parallel form appears to be vāsto in the formula vāsta usrās 'at break of dawn', which occurs 5 times in the RV.⁴ — 2. As in the m., the usual form is that in -au formed from 8 stems: a-rajjāu 'not consisting of ropes', urāu, ghṛṣāu 'lively', prthāu, mādhau, vāsau, vīlāu 'stronghold', sānau. — 3. According to the n- declension: āyuni, dāruṇi (AV.), drūṇi (Kh. I. 5¹⁰), *sānuni*⁵.

V. m. This case, which gunates the final vowel, is formed from 58 stems. The commonest examples are: indo (144), vaso (62), śata-krato (47) 'having a hundred powers', vāyo (43), sāno (36), su-krato (22)⁶.

f. This case which has the same form as the m., is made from 6 stems: adri-sāno 'dwelling on mountain tops', dur-hano 'ugly-jawed', prthu-ṣto 'having a broad tuft of hair', sindho, su-bāho 'having strong arms', sva-bhāno 'self-luminous'.

n. The V. n. seems to have been identical in form with the N. judging by the only example which occurs: *gūggulū*⁷ (AV. XIX. 38²).

Du. N. A. V. m. This form, which is made by lengthening the final vowel, occurs from 69 stems. The commonest examples are: indra-vāyū (22) 'Indra and Vāyu', vājīnī-vasū (21) 'rich in swift mares', bāhū (20) 'arms', vīṣṇa-vasū (18) 'possessing great wealth', indrā-vīṣṇū (13) 'Indra and Viṣṇu'. The TS. has also agnā-vīṣṇū (I. 8. 22¹) 'O Agni and Viṣṇu'. There are besides two forms in which the final vowel is shortened⁸: jigatnū (VII. 65¹) 'speeding' and su-hāntu (VII. 194)⁹ 'easy to slay'.

f. This form is made in the same way as the m. but is much rarer, occurring from 5 stems only: jigatnū, dhenū, sā-bandhū 'akin', samānā-bandhū 'having the same kin', hānū.

n. This form adds the regular ending -ī. The only example in the RV. is urv-ī. The VS. has according to the n- declension jānu-n-ī (XX. 8) 'knees'.

I. m. anīśubhyām (VS. VII. 1), an-āmayitnūbhyām 'curative', nr-bāhūbhyām 'man's arms', bāhūbhyām. — f. hānubhyām (VS. XI. 78)¹⁰.

D. m. indra-vāyūbhyām (VS. VII. 8), indrā-vīṣṇubhyām (VS. VII. 23), bāhūbhyām.

² A possible m. L. with n would be rājūni, an emendation for rajani of the Mss. (AV. XX. 133). For the reading of AV. XX. 131¹² vanīṣṭhau the Mss. have vanīṣṭhā which, if correct, would be a unique example of -ā in the L. of the n- declension.

³ Emendation for śārau of the Mss.; see WHITNEY's note on AV. V. 25¹.

⁴ See KÆGI, Festgruss an Böhtlingk 48 f.

⁵ sānavi occurs 9 times, sāno (ārye) 8 times, sīnau 10 times, sānuni once.

⁶ The V. vibhāvāso in Kh. I. 8² is wrongly accented.

⁷ The Mss. read gūggulū or guggulū. See WHITNEY's note on the passage.

⁸ In both Sāpithā and Pada text.

⁹ The RV. three times has the curious A. m. du. bāhāvā = bāhū apparently from a stem bāhāvā.

¹⁰ hānūbhyām, a transition to the n- stems, in TS. IV. 1. 10²; VII. 3. 16¹.

Ab. m. ūrūbhyām 'thighs', bāhūbhyām. — n. jānubhyām (AV.).

G. m. ūrūś¹, bāhūś¹. — n. according to the n-declension: jānumos (AV.).

L. m. ūrūś (AV.), bāhūś¹. — f. hānuś¹.

Pl. N. V. m. This case is formed in two ways. 1. The ending -as is added to the unmodified stem. Of this formation the only example is mādhr-as (occurring 4 times). — 2. The ending -as is added to the gunated stem, e. g. aktār-as. This form is very frequent, being made from 161 stems and occurring over 700 times in the RV. The commonest examples are: indavas (67), rōhāvas (57), vāsavas (46), sudānavas (42) 'bounteous', sindhavas (34), āsāvas (30), adhvaryāvas (27), āyāvas (27), kārīvas (18), mitā-jñavas (2) 'firm-kneed'.

f. This case is formed in the same two ways as the m. 1. Of this formation there are only two examples: mādhr-as, śata-kratī-as. — 2. The regular form is made from 15 stems in the RV.: an-āśrāvas 'tearless', ā-bhīravas 'fearless', a-reṇūvas 'dustless', īśavas, tri-dhātavas, dhenūvas, pārśavas, vasūyūvas, śāravas, sanīśyūvas 'desirous', sā-manyavas and sa-manyūvas 'unanimous', sindhavas, su-ketūvas, svī-śetavas 'forming one's own bridge', hānavas.

N. A. n. This form is made in two ways. 1. Twelve stems take no ending, four of them also lengthening the final vowel sometimes. These forms occur 76 times altogether in the RV., 48 times with short, 28 times with long vowel. The words occurring are: urū², rjū², cāru², tri-dhātu², purū², bahū², mādhu², vāsu², vīh², sānu², su-dhātu 'manifold', su-hāntu²; urū³, purū³, vāsū³, vīh³. The Pada text always has the short vowel. — 2. The more usual form follows the n-declension, adding -ni, before which the final vowel is lengthened. It is made by 14 stems⁵ and occurs 127 times altogether in the RV.: aghāyūni (Kh. iv. 5³) 'malicious', anūni (AV.) 'minute', alābūni (AV.)⁶ 'gourds', āsrūni (AV.) 'tears', karkāndhūni (VS. xix. 23) 'jujube berries', cārūni, tri-dhātūni, dānūni 'fluid', dārūni, devayūni, purūni, prthūni, bahūni, mādhnūni, yuvayūni 'longing for you both', vāsūni, vāstūni, śmāsrūni, sānūni.

A. m. This case is made in two ways. 1. The normal ending -as is added to the unmodified stem. The only two examples of this formation are paśv-as and kṛt-as 'times'. — 2. The usual form is made from 43 stems with the ending -n, before which the vowel is lengthened. The original ending -ns still survives as -nr 45 times before vowels and once as -nś before *ca*⁸. The commonest examples are sātrūn (43), dāsyūn (27), sindhūn (23), aktūn (9), ṛtūn (8), paśūn (5)⁹. From the VS.: ākhnūn (xxiv. 26) 'moles', nyākhūn (xxiv. 27) 'antelopes', madgūn (xxiv. 22) 'diver-birds', malīmūn (xi. 78; TS.) 'robbers', rūrūn (xxiv. 27) 'antelopes'. From the Khilas: īstūn (iii. 16⁸).

f. This like the m. is formed in two ways. 1. The only example is mādhr-as, which occurs twice. — 2. The ending -s is added, before which the vowel is lengthened. The only two examples in the RV. (occurring 5

¹ To be pronounced ūrūś, bāhūś, hānuś in the RV.

² purū seems to be the only form of this kind in the AV., where it occurs once (xix. 49⁴).

³ purū occurs 24 times, purū 12 times (all but once at the end of a Pada).

⁴ vāsū occurs twice, vāsu 19 times (12 times at the end of a Pada).

⁵ Half of these also take the form without n in the RV.

⁶ The Mss. in AV. xx. 134¹ read alābūni.

⁷ The A. of a noun kṛtu- 'making', used adverbially: bhūri kṛtvas (iii. 18⁴) 'many times', śāśvat kṛtvas (iii. 54¹) 'innumerable times', dāśu kṛtvas (AV. xi. 2⁹) 'ten times'.

times) are: iṣṣ and dhenús. The Khila after RV. x. 9 has the form vārenya-kratús 'intelligent', but the text of Kh. III. 13¹ reads *vārenya-kratús*¹.

I. m. This form is frequent, being made from 50 stems and occurring over 200 times. The commonest examples² are: vásubhis (24), aktúbhis (17), ṛtúbhis (15), ásúbhis (12), páyúbhis (12) 'protectors', indubhis (11), bhānúbhis (7), ṛbhúbhis (6), sindhúbhis (5), *snúbhis*³ (5).

f. This case, formed in the same way as the m., is rare, only 3 examples occurring in the RV.: eka-dhenubhis 'excellent cows', tri-dhātubhis, dhenúbhis.

n. a-renúbhis 'dustless', ásrubhis (VS. xxv. 9), karkāndhubhis (VS. xxi. 32), jaráyubhis (AV.), bahúbhis, mádhubhis (Kh. I. 11⁷), vásubhis, smásrubhis (VS. xxv. 1; SV.) 'beards', su-mántubhis 'benevolent'.

D. m. a-sátrúbhis 'foeless', ṛtúbhis (VS. xxii. 28), ṛbhúbhis, guṅgúbhis 'descendants of Guṅgu', ṛtsúbhis 'the Ṛtsus' (a tribe), dásabhisubhis, 'having ten reins', dásyubhis, paśúbhis, púrúbhis, bahúbhis, mṛgayúbhis (VS. xvi. 27) 'hunters', vásubhis, sindhúbhis.

f. There is no example in the RV. The AV. has two: iśubhis, dhenúbhis. — n. sánubhis (VS. xxx. 6).

Ab. m. aktúbhis, jatrubhis 'cartilages of the breast bone', jighatsúbhis (AV.) 'seeking to devour', dásyubhis, bahúbhis, bhṛgubhis 'Bhṛgus', mṛtyúbhis (AV.), sá-bandhubhis (AV.). — f. dhánubhis, sindhúbhis.

G. m. This case is formed from 23 stems in the RV., 12 being oxytones and 11 otherwise accented: 1. ṛtūnām, ṛbhūnām, ṛsūnām 'flames', carūnām, devayūnām, paśūnām (AV. VS. TS.), pītūnām, purūnām, prāsūnām 'very swift', babhrūnām, bahūnām, yātūnām 'spectres', ripūnām, stāyūnām (VS.) 'thieves'. — 2. abhi-krātūnām 'insolent', abhiśūnām 'reins', ahy-ārsūnām 'gliding like a snake', krātūnām, ṛtsūnām, dāsūnām (AV.), piyārānām (AV.) 'mischievous', bhṛgūnām, mānūnām, vāsūnām, sātrūnām, sá-bandhūnām (AV.), sindhūnām, svārūnām 'sacrificial posts'. — f. dhenūnām; sindhūnām. — n. mādhūnām, yāsūnām 'embraces', vāsūnām.

II. Pronouns.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 773–780 (p. 333–340). — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 490–526 (p. 185–199). — FISCHER, ZDMG. 35, 714–716. — DELBRÜCK, Syntaktische Forschungen 5, 204–221; cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 494–525, and Die Demonstrativa der indogermanischen Sprachen, Leipzig 1904.

390. The pronouns occupy a special position in declension, as being derived from a limited class of roots with a demonstrative sense, and as exhibiting several marked peculiarities of inflexion. These peculiarities are in some degree extended to a certain number of adjectives.

1. Personal Pronouns.

391. These are the most peculiar of all, as being for each person derived from several roots or combinations of roots, as being specially anomalous in inflexion, as not distinguishing gender and, to some extent, ¹ The m. A. sindhūn occurs once (x. 35²) in the sense of a f.

² LANMAN 416 (bottom) enumerates the stems taking this case.

³ Accentuated like a dissyllable as elsewhere.

⁴ āyūsu (I. 58³) is perhaps a transfer form for āyūsu; cp. LANMAN 419¹.

⁵ With dissyllabic accent as usual.

not even number. Some resemble neuters in form; a few have no apparent case-ending; in two of them the acc. pl. masc. does duty as fem. also.

The forms of the first and second person¹ which occur are:

1. Sing. N. *ahám*². A. mām, mā. I. māyā. D. māhyam, māhya, *me*³. Ab. *mād*⁴. G. māma, me. L. *māyi*⁵.

Du. N. vām (RV¹).⁶ A. nau. D.⁷ nau. Ab. āvād (TS.). G.⁸ nau.

Pl. N. vayām. A. *asmān*⁹, *nas*³. I. asmābhis. D. asmābhyam, asmē (RV.), nas. Ab. asmād. G. *asmākam*¹⁰, *asmāka*¹¹ (RV¹.), nas. L. asmē, *asmāsu*¹².

2. Sing. N. *tvām*¹³. A. tvām, tvā. I. tvayā, tvā (RV.). D. tūbhyam, tūbhya, *te*¹⁴. Ab. tvād. G. tāva, te. L. *tvē*¹⁵ (RV. VS.), tvāyi (AV. VS. TS.).

Du. N. yuvām. A. yuvām, vām. I. yuvābhyām, yuvābhyām. D. vām. Ab. yuvād (RV¹.). G. yuvās (RV. and Kh. I. 12¹), yuvāyos (TS. III. 5. 4¹), vām.

Pl. *yūyām*¹⁶. A. *yusmān*¹⁷, f. yusmās (VS².), *vas*¹⁸. D. yusmābhyam, vas. Ab. yusmād. G. *yusmākam*¹⁰, yusmāka (RV².), vas. L. yusmē.

a. The usual stems representing these personal pronouns in derivation or as first member of a compound are ma-, asma-; tvā-, yuvā-, yusma-; e. g. mā-vant 'like me', asma-drūh 'hating us', tvā-vant 'like thee', tvā-yata 'presented by thee'; yuvā-yi 'desiring you two', yuvā-āhita 'established by you two', yuvā-datta 'given by you two'; yusmā-yant 'desiring you', yusmā-ūta 'supported by you'; yusmā-datta 'given by you'¹⁹.

b. The forms mad-, asmad-, tvad- occur a few times as first member of compounds; thus māt-kṛta 'done by me', māt-sakhī 'my companion', mat-tās (AV.) 'from me'; asmāt-sakhī 'having us as companions', asmād-rāta (VS.) 'given by us'; tvāt-pitṛ (TS.) 'having thee as father'; tvād-yoni (AV.) 'derived from thee', tvād-uvācana (TS.) 'having thee as umpire'.

c. aham-, mām-, mama-; asmē-; tvām- are also sometimes found as first member of compounds; thus aham-uttarā (AV.) 'struggle for precedence', aham-fūrva 'eager to be first', aham-yi 'proud'; mām-pāśyā (AV.) 'looking at me'; mama-satyā 'dispute as to ownership'; asmē-hiti 'errand for us'; tvām-kāma 'desiring thee', tvām-āhuti (TS.) 'offering to thee'.

2. Demonstrative Pronouns.

392. Ti- 'that', which also serves as the personal pronoun of the third person, 'he', 'she', 'it', is typical, in its inflexion, of the adjectival pronoun. It has the special peculiarity of using the stem sa- for the nom. masc. and fem. sing. and, in the RV., for the loc. sing. masc. and neut. The general peculiarities of the adjectival pronominal declension, as distinct from

² On the formation of ahām cp. J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 36, 405 ff. — All the nominatives of the personal pronouns are formed with -am as also the N. sing. of the demonstrative ayām and the reflexive vayām.

³ The unaccented forms of the personal pronoun (85) may be accompanied by demonstrative words in agreement with them; e. g. te jāyatah 'of thee when conquering'; vo vṛtābhyah 'for you that were confined'; nas tribhūdā 'to us three'.

⁴ mād is two or three times unaccented in the AV.

⁵ Cp. BARTHOLOMAE, ZDMG. 50, 725.

⁶ This seems to be the only nom. form (vi. 55¹) occurring in the Samhitās. The nom. in the ŚB. is āvām, in the AB. āvām; the acc. in the ŚB. is āvām, in the AB. vām; must be an abbreviation of āvām.

⁷ The AB. has āvābhyām.

⁸ The ŚB. has āvāyos.

⁹ asmān and yusmān are new formatives according to the nominal declension; cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 519, 2, note.

¹⁰ asmākam and yusmākam are properly acc. n. of the possessives asmāka-, yusmāka-; cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 524, 4.

¹¹ Occurs only in I. 173¹⁰.

¹² asmāsu is a new formation according to the inst. asmā-bh s.

¹³ tvām must often be read as tīam.

¹⁴ te, originally only loc., is used as dat. and gen.; similarly me; the loc. asmē is also used as dat.

¹⁵ Cp. BARTHOLOMAE, loc. cit.

¹⁶ Originally yūś-ām* where y was substituted for the sibilant owing to the influence of vayām; cp. BARTHOLOMAE, op. cit. 726, note; BRUGMANN, KG. 513 and note 3, 518.

¹⁷ yusmān is a new formation according to the nominal declension (like asmān).

¹⁸ The inst. was originally in all probability yusmā (like tvā), which later became yusmābhis (like asmābhis).

¹⁹ This compound may preserve the old inst.

the nominal a-declension, are that 1. in the singular they take -ā instead of -m in the nom. and acc. neut.; the element -sma- in the dat., abl., loc. masc. and neut.; the element -sya- in the dat., abl., gen., loc. fem.; the suffix -in in the loc. masc. and neut.¹; 2. in the plural they take -e for -ās in the nom. masc.; s for n in the gen. before -ām.

1. The inflexion of tā- accordingly is as follows:

Sing. N. m. *sā-s*², f. sā, n. tā-ā. A. m. tā-m, f. tā-m, n. tā-ā. I. m. *tāñā*³, f. tāyā. D. m. n. tā-smāi, f. tī-syai. Ab. m. n. tā-smīt, f. tā-syās. G. m. n. tā-sya, f. tā-syās. L. *tā-smin*⁴, sā-smin (RV.), f. tā-syām.

Du. N. A. m. tā, tāu, f. tē, n. tē. I. m. f. *tā-bhyām*⁵. Ab. m. tā-bhyām. G. m. n. tāyos. L. m. tāyos.

Pl. N. m. tē, f. tās, n. tā, tāni. A. m. tān, f. tās, n. tā, tāni. I. m. n. tē-bhis, tāis (AV.; Kh. II. 10⁴), f. tā-bhis. D. m. n. tē-bhyas, f. tā-bhyas. G. m. tē-ṣām, f. tā-ṣām. L. m. tē-su, f. tā-su.

a. The stem tā- is frequently used in derivation, especially that of adverbs; e. g. tā-thā 'thus', tā-vant- 'so great', tā-ti (AV.) 'so many', and in the compound tā-dṛś- 'such'.

b. The neuter form tād is often used as the first member of a compound; thus tād-anna- 'having that food'; tād-āpas 'accustomed to that work'; tād-id-artha- 'having just that as an object'; tād-okas- 'delighting in that'; tād-ojas- 'possessing such power'; tād-vasā- 'having a desire for that'; tād-vid- (AV.) 'knowing that'.

2. Two other demonstrative pronouns are formed from tā-. a. One of them, etā-, formed by prefixing the pronominal element *e*⁶, means 'this here'. It is inflected exactly like tā- and is of common occurrence. The forms which occur are:

m. Sing. m. N. eśās or *eśā*². A. etām. I. etēna. D. etāsmāi (TS.). Ab. etāsmāt (AV.). G. etāsya (AV.). — Du. N. etā, etāu. — Pl. N. etē. A. etān. I. etēbhis, etāis (AV.). D. etēbhyas.

f. Sing. N. eśā. A. etām. I. etāyā. L. etāsyām. — Du. N. etē. — Pl. N. etās. A. etās. I. etābhis (AV.). L. etāsu (AV.).

n. Sing. N. etād. — Pl. N. etē (+ VS.), etāni.

a. The stem used in derivation and composition is eta-; thus etā-vant- 'so great'; etā-dṛś- 'such'.

b. The other secondary demonstrative, tyā-, is derived from tā- with the suffix *-ya*⁷ and means 'that'. It is common in the RV., but rare in the later Samhitās⁸. It is used adjectivally, being nearly always accompanied by its substantive. It is never found at the beginning of a sentence except when followed by u, cid, nū, or *sū*⁹.

The forms occurring are:

m. Sing. N. *syā*¹⁰ (+ VS.). A. tyām. G. tyāsya. — Du. N. tyā. — Pl. N. tyē. A. tyān. I. tyēbhis.

f. Sing. N. syā. A. tyām. I. tyā (for tyāyā). G. tyāsya. — Du. N. tyē. — Pl. N. tyās. A. tyās.

n. Sing. N. tyād (+ TS.). — Pl. tyā, tyāni.

393. The demonstrative which appears as ayām in the nom. sing. masc. and means 'this here', employs the pronominal roots a- and (in various modifications) i- in its inflexion, the latter being used in nearly all the

² On the Sandhi of sā- and eśā- see 78.

³ The Pada text always reads tēna.

⁴ sāsmīn occurs nearly half as often as tāsmīn in the RV.

⁵ In IX. 66² this form (f.) seems to have a loc. sense; see LANMAN 343⁴.

⁶ According to BRUGMANN, KG. 495, 6, note 3, originally loc. sing. of a-.

⁷ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 401 and 495, 2.

⁸ It occurs two or three times also in B.

⁹ Cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. tyā.

¹⁰ syā- and tyā- are often to be read with Vyūha.

nom. and acc. forms, the former in the other cases. The acc. sing. masc. and fem. starts from i-m', the acc. of i, and is followed by the nom. acc. du. and pl., all these forms having the appearance of being made from a stem ima-. The nom. sing. fem. is formed from *i-*², and the nom. acc. sing. neut. from i-d (the N. A. n. of i), both with the suffix -am added. The nom. sing. masc. is formed from a- with the suffix -am and interposing -y-. The remaining cases formed from *a-*³ are inflected throughout like tá-.

The inflexion of this pronoun is accordingly as follows:

Sing. N. m. a-y-ám, f. i-y-ám, n. i-d-ám. A. m. im-ám, f. im-ám, n. i-d-ám. I. m. *e-nā*³, f. *ayā*⁴. D. m. *a-smāi*⁵, f. a-syāi. Ab. m. *a-smāt*⁶, f. a-syās. G. m. *a-syā*⁷, f. a-syās. L. m. a-smīn, f. a-syām.

Du. N. A. m. imā, imāu, f. imē, n. imē. D. m. ā-bhyām (RV.¹). Ab. m. ā-bhyām. G. m. a-y-ās (RV.)⁸. L. m. *a-y-ās*⁹ (RV.).

Pl. N. m. imē, f. imās, n. imā, imāni. A. m. imān, f. imās, n. imā, imāni. I. m. e-bhīs, f. *ā-bhīs*¹⁰. D. m. e-bhyās, f. ā-bhyās. G. m. e-śām, f. ā-śām. L. m. e-śū, f. ā-śū.

394. The corresponding demonstrative employed to express remoteness, 'that there', 'yon', appears in the nom. sing. masc. fem. as asáu. The pronominal root employed throughout its inflexion is a-, but always in an extended form only. The fundamental stem used in every case, excepting the nom. sing., is a-m, acc. masc. of a-; this is extended by the addition of the particle u to am-, which has become the stem in the oblique cases of the sing. (with long u in the acc. fem.); in the plur. amī- is the fem. and amī- the masc. stem (except the acc.). The nom. sing. forms are quite peculiar. In the masc. and fem. the pronominal root a- seems to be compounded with sa- extended by the particle u: a-sā-u and *a-sā-u*¹¹; while the neut. has the pronominal -d extended with the suffix -as: a-d-ās. Only one dual form has been noted, and several plural case forms are wanting. The forms found in the Saphitās are the following:

m. Sing. N. asáu. A. amīm. I. amīnā (VS.). D. amī-śmai. Ab. amī-smāt (AV. TS.). G. *amī-sya*¹². L. amī-śmīn (AV.). — Pl. N. *amī*¹³. A. amūn (AV.). D. amībhyas (AV.). G. amī-śām.

f. Sing. N. asāu. A. amīm. I. *amīyā*¹⁴. D. amī-syai (VS.). G. amī-syās (AV.). — Du. N. amī (AV.). — Pl. N. amīs. A. amīs.

n. Sing. N. adās. — Pl. N. amī (AV.).

395. A defective unaccented pronoun of the third person meaning 'he', 'she', and in the AV. 'it', is *e-na*¹⁵. It occurs almost exclusively in the

² From i- is also formed the acc. i-m and the neut. i-d, both used as particles.

³ The Pada text always reads enā (the unaccented ena occurs twice). This and all other oblique cases formed from a-, when used as nouns may lose their accent; see 85 § 3; cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. idām. On ayām see BRUGMANN, KG. 498, 3.

⁵ asmāi and asya are accented on the first syllable, the former four or five times, the latter about ten times, when specially emphatic at the beginning of a Pada in the RV.

⁶ The abl. according to the nominal declension, āt, is used as a conjunction.

⁷ The form imāsyā also occurs once.

⁸ To be read as āyās.

⁹ Seems to be wrongly read as āyās in the Pada text; cp. LANMAN 344³.

¹⁰ ābhīs occurs ten times in the RV.; it is thrice accented ābhīs and thrice unaccented: cp. note 5.

¹¹ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 495, 6; 498, 4.

¹² This is the only instance of -ya being added to any but an a- stem.

¹³ This form is Praghya (70). On its origin cp. IF. 18, 64, note.

¹⁴ Used adverbially, with shifted accent.

¹⁵ The same e- (loc. of a-) as in i-ka- 'one', e-rā 'thus'; cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 495, 6.

acc. (the great majority of occurrences being masc. sing.). Otherwise it is found only twice in the inst. sing. and three or four times in the gen. dual. The forms occurring are: m. Sing. A. enam. I. enena (AV.). — Du. A. enau (AV.). G. enos (RV.), enayos (AV.). — Pl. A. enān.

f. Sing. A. *enīm*¹. Du. A. ene. Pl. A. entis. — n. N. enad (AV.; Kh. iv. 65).

396. Another demonstrative found nearly twenty times in the RV., but otherwise occurring only once in the AV., is the unaccented pronoun tva-² meaning 'one', 'many a one', generally repeated, in the sense of 'one — another'. The forms occurring are: m. Sing. N. tvas. A. tvam. I. tvena. D. tvasmai. Pl. N. *tve*³. — f. Sing. N. tvā. D. tvasyai. — n. Sing. N. tvad.

a. The pronoun avā-⁴ 'this' is found two or three times in the RV., and only in the gen. du. form. avās in combination with vām, meaning 'of you two being such' (used like sa, e. g. sā tvām 'thou as such').

b. The pronoun āma-⁵ 'this' occurs only once in the AV.: āmo 'hām asmi (xiv. 27¹), 'this am I'.

3. Interrogative Pronoun.

397. The interrogative kā-, 'who?', 'which?', 'what?' used both as substantive and adjective, is quite regular in its declension, excepting the alternative neuter form *kī-m*⁶, which instead of the pronominal -d has the nominal -m (never elsewhere attached to a stem in -i). The forms occurring are:

m. Sing. N. kīs. A. kām. I. kēna. D. kāsmāi. Ab. kāsmāt (AV.). G. kāsya. L. kāsmīn. — Du. kāu. — Pl. N. kē. I. kēbhis. L. kēsu (VS.).

f. Sing. N. kā. A. kām. I. kāyā. G. kāsyās (AV. VS.). — Pl. N. kās. A. kās. L. kāsu.

n. Sing. N. A. *kā-d*⁷ (RV.) and kī-m. — Pl. N. A. kā and kāni.

a. In forming derivatives, which are numerous, the stem of the interrogative employed is not only kā-, but also kī- and ku-; e. g. kā-ti 'how many?'; kī-yant 'how great?'; kū-ha 'where?'. The neuter form kīm is twice used in this way: kīm-yū 'desiring what?'; kīm-māya 'consisting of what?'.

b. In the formation of compounds kad occurs twice as first member: in kat-payā 'greatly swelling', and kād-ārtha 'having what purpose?'. kīm is similarly used a few times in the later Saṃhitās; thus kīm-silā (VS. TS.) 'being in stony ground', kīm-karā (AV.) 'servant'.

4. Relative Pronoun.

398. The relative pronoun ya-'who', 'which', 'what' is perfectly regular in its declension. The forms occurring are:

m. Sing. N. *yās*⁸. — A. yām. I. *yēnā*⁹ and yēna. D. yāsmāi. Ab. *yāsmāt*¹⁰. G. yāsya. L. yāsmīn. — Du. N. A. yā, yāu. D. yābhyām. G. yāyos. L. yāyos and *yōs*¹¹ (RV.). — Pl. N. yē. A. yān. I. yēbhis, yāis (AV.; Kh. i. 9²). D. yēbhyas. G. yēṣām. L. yēṣu.

¹ This form occurs once (VIII, 6¹⁹) at the beginning of a sentence and is then accented as enām.

² The unaccented adverb tvadānīm (MS. iv. 2²) 'sometimes', is derived from this pronoun.

³ See WHITNEY's note on AV. VIII, 9⁹ in his translation.

⁴ This pronoun also occurs in the Avesta; cp. BRUGMANN 495, 10.

⁵ From this pronoun are derived the inst. and abl. adverbs (with shifted accent) amā 'at home' and a nāt 'from near at hand'.

⁶ The nom. masc. is preserved as a petrified form in nā-kis and mā-kis 'no one', 'nothing', 'never'.

⁷ The relative frequency of kād to kīm in the RV. is as 2 to 3.

⁸ yās is the commonest declensional form in the RV., occurring more than 1000 times.

⁹ yēnā is twice as common in the RV. as yēna; the Pada text, however, always reads yēna (cp. LANMAN 332).

¹⁰ The ablative according to the nominal declension, yāt, is used as a conjunction.

¹¹ yōs for yāyos, like yuvōs for yuvāyos; cp. BB. 23, 183; ZDMG. 50, 589.

f. Sing. N. yá. A. yám. I. yáyā. G. yásyās. L. yásyām. — Du. N. yé (TS. AV.). G. yáyos. L. yáyos. — Pl. N. yás. A. yás. I. yábhis. D. yábhyas. G. yásīm. L. yásu.

n. Sing. N. A. yád. — Du. yé. — Pl. yá, yáni.

a. The stem of yá- is used in the formation of many derivatives; e. g. yá-thā 'as'; it also appears as first member of a compound in yā-āṣ- 'which like'. The neuter form yad is once used similarly in the RV.: yāt-kāma- 'desiring what'.

b. The relative receives the indefinite meaning of 'whoever'¹ by the addition of kās ca, kās cid, or cid alone; e. g. yád eva vayám cakrma kās cid āgah (II. 27¹¹) 'whatever sin we have committed against you'; yāt kīm ca duritām māyi (I. 23¹²) 'whatever sin (there is) in me'; yé cid dhī tvām p̄sayaḥ p̄rva ūtaye juhūrē (I. 48¹⁴) 'whatever early seers have called on thee for aid'.

5. Indefinite Pronouns.

399. a. In the RV. there are found the two simple indefinite pronouns sama (unaccented) 'any', 'every' and simá- 'every', 'all'. The six forms of the former which occur are: m. Sing. A. samam. D. samasmai. Ab. samasmāt. G. samasya. L. samasmin. — Pl. N. same. From simá- are met with the five forms: Sing. V. síma. N. simás. D. simásmai (neut.). Ab. simásmāt. — Pl. simá.

b. Compound indefinite pronouns are formed by combining the particles ca, caná, or cid with the interrogative; thus kás ca 'any', 'any one'; kás caná 'any one soever', 'every'; kás cid 'any', 'some'; 'any one', 'some one'.

6. Reflexive Pronouns.

400. 1. The reflexive adjective is svá- 'own', which refers to the first and second as well as the third person of all numbers; e. g. yád, indrāgni, mādathah své duroṇē (I. 108⁷) 'when, O Indra and Agni, ye rejoice in your own abode'.

2. The substantive reflexive is sva-y-ám 'self', which is derived from svá- with the suffix -am and interposing y (as a-y-ám from a-). It is properly used as a nom. referring to all three persons; e. g. svayám yajasva divi, deva, devān (x. 7⁶) 'do thou thyself, O god, worship the gods in heaven'. Sometimes, however, the nominative nature of the pronoun is forgotten and svayám is used agreeing in sense with another case; e. g. vatsám . . svayám gātīm . . icchāmānam (IV. 18¹⁰) 'the calf himself seeking a way'.

3. Other cases than the nom. are regularly expressed in the RV. by tanú- 'body'; e. g. svayám gātīm tanvā icchāmānam (IV. 18¹⁰) 'himself seeking a way for himself (tanvè)'; yajasva tanvām (x. 7⁶) 'worship thyself'; mā hāsmahi prajāyā, mā tanúbhih (x. 128⁵) 'may we suffer no harm with (regard to our) offspring or ourselves'. The reflexive adjective and a possessive gen. may be added; e. g. agne, yajasva tanvām tva svām (VI. 11²) 'Agni, worship thine own self'².

4. There are one or two instances in the RV. of the incipient use of ātman- 'soul' in a reflexive sense; thus balaṃ dādāna ātmāni (IX. 113¹) 'putting strength into himself'; yāksmaṇ sárvasmād ātmānas . . vi vṛhāmi (x. 163⁶) 'I expel the disease from (thy) whole self'. The acc. ātmānam, though not met with in the RV. as a reflexive, is frequently found so used in the later Samhitās³; also in Kh. III. 10³.

a. In the formation of compounds sva- several times appears in the substantive as well as the adjective sense as first member; e. g. svá-yukta- 'self-yoked'; sva-yūgvan- 'own companion'. svayám is also thus used in a few compounds; thus svayam-jā- 'self-born'; svayam-bhū- 'self-existent'.

² Cp. DELBRÜCK op. cit. 135, and GRASSMANN, s. v. svá- and tanú-.

³ See DELBRÜCK op. cit. 155.

7. Possessive Pronouns.

401. Possessive pronouns are of rare occurrence because the genitive of the personal pronoun is generally used to express the sense which they convey.

a. The possessives of the first person are māmaka- (RV.) 'my', māmakā- 'my', (both formed from the genitive of the personal pronoun māma)¹, and asmāka- 'our'. The commonest form of the latter is the N. A. neut. asmākam, which is used as the gen. plur. of the personal pronoun². The other forms occurring are asmākena, asmākāśas, and asmākebhis. The VS. also has the form asmākās (IV. 24) 'our' from a secondary derivative³.

b. The possessives of the second person are tāvakā- (RV.) 'thy', (from tāva), met with only in the form tāvakēbhyas; *tvā-*⁴ (RV.) 'thy', found only in the inst. pl. tvābhis (II. 20²); and yusmāka- 'your', the N. A. neut. of which is used as the gen. pl. of the personal pronoun of the second person; it otherwise occurs only in the RV. in the two forms yusmākena and yusmākābhis.

c. Besides being used reflexively, svā- is fairly often employed as a simple possessive, generally as that of the third person, 'his', 'her', 'their', but also of the second, 'thy', 'your', and of the first, 'my', 'our'. It is, however, inflected like an ordinary adjective, having only two isolated forms according to the pronominal declension⁵. The forms which occur are:

m. sing. N. svās. A. svām. I. svēna and *svēnā*⁶. D. svāya. Ab. svāt. G. svāsya. L. svē and svāsmīn (RV.). — Pl. N. svās (AV.). A. svān (AV.). I. svēbhis and svātis. D. svēbhyas (Kh. v. 1²). G. svānām (AV.; Kh. II. 10⁴). L. svēsu.

f. sing. N. svā. A. svām. I. svāyā. D. svāyai. Ab. svāyās. G. svāsyās (RV.). L. svāyām. — Pl. N. svās. A. svās. I. svābhis. L. svāsu.

n. sing. N. A. svām. — Pl. A. svā.

8. Pronominal derivatives and compounds.

402. A certain number of derivatives are formed from the roots or stems of simple pronouns by means of suffixes which modify the pronominal sense. There are also a few pronominal compounds.

a. With the suffix -ka, conveying a diminutive or contemptuous meaning, derivatives are formed from the pronouns tū-, yā-, sā-, and asū-; thus ta-kā- (RV.) 'that little', of which the forms A. sing. m. takā-m and n. takā-d occur; yā-ka- 'who', 'which', the only forms met with being N. m. yakās, f. yakā (VS. XXIII. 22, 23), and N. pl. m. yakē (RV.); sā-kā- (RV. AV.) 'that little', of which only N. sing. f. sakā occurs; N. sing. f. asakāu 'that little' (VS. XXIII. 22, 23).

b. With the comparative suffix -tara derivatives are formed from i-, kā-, and yā-; and with the superlative suffix -tama, from the latter two; thus i-tara- 'other'; kā-tarā- 'which of two?'; yā-tarā- 'who or which of two?'; kā-tamā- 'who or which of many?'; yā-tamā- 'who or which of many'.

c. With -ti derivatives with a numerical sense are formed from kā-, tā-, and yā-; thus kā-ti 'how many?'; tā-ti (AV.) 'so many'; yā-ti 'as many'. No inflected forms of these words occur.

² Op. cit. 524, 4.

³ Formed like māmaka- beside māma-.

⁴ Used as a possessive probably under the influence of svā-; cp. BRUGMANN, op. cit. 524, 2.

Indo-arian Philologie. I. 4.

⁵ That is, svāsyās and svāsmīn.

⁶ The Pada text always reads svāna.

d. With -yant, expressing the quantitative meaning of 'much', derivatives are formed from i- and kī-: i-yant 'so much' (n. N. sing. iyat, pl. iyānti; f. D. sing. iyatyai); kī-yant 'how much?' (sing. N. n. adv. kīyat, D. m. kīyate, L. kīyāti for kīyati; N. f. kīyati).

e. With -vant are formed derivatives from personal pronouns with the sense of 'like', 'attached to', and from others in the quantitative sense of 'great'; thus tvā-vant 'like thee', mā-vant 'like me'; yuvā-vant (RV.) 'devoted to you two' (only D. yuvāvate); yusmā-vant (RV.) 'belonging to you' (only L. pl. yusmāvatsu); etā-vant and tā-vant 'so great'; yā-vant 'as great'; i-vant 'so great' (sing. N. n. ivat, D. m. n. ivate, G. ivatas; pl. A. m. ivatas); kī-vant 'how far?' (G. kīvatas).

f. With -dīś, -dīśa, -dīkṣa are formed the following pronominal compounds: i-dīkṣa (VS.) and i-dīś (VS. TS.) 'such'; etā-dīkṣa (VS.) and etā-dīś 'such' (N. sing. n. etādīk); kī-dīś 'what like?' (N. sing. m. kīdīśi); tā-dīś 'such' (N. sing. m. tādīk); yā-dīś 'what like' (sing. m. N. yādīk, L. yādīśmin).

g. Pronominal Adjectives.

403. Certain adjectives derived from pronominal roots or allied to pronouns in sense conform in varying degrees to the pronominal declension.

1. The adjectives which strictly adhere to the pronominal type of inflexion are anyī- 'other', and (as far as can be judged by the few forms occurring and by the usage of the later language) the derivatives formed with -tara and -tama from kī- and yā-. The specifically pronominal cases of the latter which have been met with are: sing. N. n. katarād (AV.), yatarād; katamād, yatamād (AV.); D. m. katamāsmāi (VS.); G. f. katamāsyās (AV.); L. f. yatamāsyām (AV.); Pl. N. m. katamē (AV.), yatamē (AV.). No such form of itara- has been found. The forms of anyī- which occur are:

m. sing. N. anyās. A. anyām. I. anyēna. D. anyāsmāi (AV.). G. anyāsya. L. anyāsmīn. — Pl. N. anyē. A. anyān. I. anyēbhis and anyāis. D. anyēbhyas (AV.). G. anyēṣām. L. anyēsu.

f. sing. N. anyā. A. anyām. I. anyāyā. D. anyāsyai. G. anyāsyās. L. anyāsyām. — Du. N. anyē. — Pl. N. anyās. A. anyās. I. anyābhis. G. anyāṣām. L. anyāsu.

n. sing. N. anyād. — Du. I. anyābhyām (AV.). — Pl. N. anyā.

2. The three adjectives eka- 'one', viśva- 'all', sārva- 'whole' are partially pronominal, following this declension except in the nom. acc. sing. neut., which takes the nominal -m. Thus sing. G. f. ekasyās, L. m. *ekasmin*¹, pl. N. m. ēke, but sing. N. n. ekam; sing. D. *viśvasmāi*², Ab. *viśvasmāt*², L. *viśvasmin*², pl. N. m. viśve, G. m. viśveṣām, f. viśvāsām, but sing. N. n. viśvam; sing. D. m. sārvasmāi (AV.), f. sārvasyai (AV.; AA. III. 2⁵), Ab. m. sārvasmāt, pl. N. m. sārve, G. sārveṣām (AV.), f. sārvasām (AV.), but sing. N. n. sārvam.

3. More than a dozen other adjectives which have pronominal affinities in form or sense occasionally show pronominal case-forms (but never -d in the N. A. sing. n.).

a. A few adjectives formed with the comparative and superlative suffixes -ra and -ma have such endings; thus āpara- 'lower' has āpare in the N. pl. m. beside āparāsas; ūtara- 'higher', 'later', forms the L. sing. f. ūtaraśyām

¹ The AV. once has ēke as a loc. sing.; see WHITNEY's note on AV. XIX. 56² in his translation.

² The RV. has the nominal forms D. viśvāya, Ab. viśvāt, L. viśve, once each; viśvāt (n.) also occurs Kh. II. 6¹⁸.

(AV.), N. pl. m. uttare; Ab. L. sing. uttarasmāt and uttarasmin beside uttarāt and uttare; ūpara- 'lower' has ūpare beside ūparās and ūparāsas in the N. pl. m.; avamā- 'lowest' has L. sing. f. avamāsyām; upamā- 'highest' has sing. L. f. upamāsyām; paramā- 'farthest' has sing. f. G. paramāsyās and L. paramāsyām (+VS.); madhyamā- 'middlemost' has sing. L. f. madhyamāsyām.

b. A few other adjectives with a comparative or pronominal sense have occasional pronominal endings. Thus pāra- 'ulterior' has sing. D. m. pārasmai (AV.), Ab. m. pārasmāt (+AV. VS.), G. f. pārasyaś, G. pl. m. pāreṣām; L. sing. m. pārasmin beside pāre; and N. pl. m. pāre beside pārasas. pūrva- 'prior' has sing. m. D. pūrvasmai, Ab. pūrvasmāt, G. pl. m. pūrveṣām, f. pūrvasām; and the N. pl. m. pūrve is very common beside the very rare pūrvāsas. nēma- 'other'¹ has m. L. sing. nēmasmin, N. pl. nēme, but N. sing. n. nēmam and G. pl. m. nemānām (unaccented). svā- 'own', otherwise following the nominal declension, has once sing. G. f. svāsyās and once L. n. svāsmīn. samānā- 'similar', 'common', has once Ab. sing. n. samānāsmāt beside samānāt.

c. A few adjectives which are numerical in form or meaning have occasional pronominal forms; thus prathamā- 'first', has G. sing. f. prathamāsyās (AV.); trītiya- 'third' has L. sing. f. *trītiyasyām*² (AV.); ūbhaya- 'of both kinds' has m. pl. G. ūbhayeṣām, and N. ūbhaye beside ūbhayāsas and *ūbhayās*³; kēvala- 'exclusive' has once N. pl. m. kēvale.

III. Numerals.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 764—771. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 475—488. — Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 441—451.

404. The series of the numerals is based on the decimal system of reckoning. The names of the first ten cardinals, which are of an adjectival character, form the foundation of the rest either by compounding or derivation; the ordinals and numerical adverbs being further derived from the corresponding cardinals.

A. Cardinals.

405. The names of the first ten cardinals are: eka- 'one'; dvā- 'two'; tri- 'three'; catv- 'four'; pāñca 'five'; ṣaṣ- 'six'; saptā 'seven'; aṣṭā 'eight'; nāva 'nine'; dāśa 'ten'.

a. The numbers intermediate between 'ten' and 'twenty' are Dvandva compounds formed by prefixing the accented unit to dāśa 'ten': *eka-dāśa*⁴ ('one and ten') 'eleven'; *dvā-dāśa*⁵ 'twelve'; *trāya-dāśa*⁶ (AV. VS. TS.) 'thirteen'; *cātūr-dāśa*⁷ 'fourteen'; pāñca-dāśa 'fifteen'; *ṣoḍaśa*⁸ (VS. TS.) 'sixteen'; saptā-dāśa (TS.) 'seventeen'; aṣṭā-dāśa (TS.) 'eighteen'; nāva-dāśa (VS.) 'nineteen'.

b. The remaining cardinals are substantives. The names of the decades from 'twenty' to 'ninety' are either old Dvandva compounds or derivatives formed with the suffix -ti. They are vim-śatī- 'twenty'; triṃ-śat 'thirty';

¹ Cp. NEISSER, BB. 30, 303.

² The pronominal endings are recognized as alternative in the later language as regards devītiya- and trītiya-; the Bṛhaddevatā (VIII. 95) has prathamasyām as well as devītiyasyām.

³ ūbhā- 'both' is declined in the dual only: N. A. m. ūbhā and ūbhāu, f. ūbhā, I. ūbhābhyām (once in RV.), G. ūbhāyoś (twice in RV.).

⁴ With ekā- for eka- under the influence of dvā-dāśa.

⁵ Here the N. m. du. form dvā is retained instead of the stem form deva-.

⁶ In this and other numeral compounds the N. m. plural form remains in every case; e. g. tān ... trāyas-trimśatam ā vaha (I. 452) 'bring those thirty-three'.

⁷ As first member of a compound cātūr- is regularly accented cātūr-.

⁸ For ṣaṣ-dāśa, see above 43, b, 3; 56, b.

catvāriṃśāt 'forty'; pañcāśāt 'fifty'; ṣaṣ-ṭi- 'sixty'; sapta-ti- 'seventy'; aṣṭi-ti- 'eighty'; nava-ti- 'ninety'. The last four are abstract fem. nouns derived from the simple cardinal (except aṣṭi-ti-)¹ and meaning originally 'hexad etc. (of tens)'. The others are fem. compounds, the first member of which is 'two', 'three', 'four', or 'five', and the second a remnant of the IE. word for 'ten'; thus triṃśāt meant 'three tens'. vimśati- was probably in origin an old dual of this formation which ended in -ṛ but was transformed by the influence of ṣaṣṭi- etc. to a singular fem. in *-ti*².

c. The numbers intermediate between these decades are Dvandva compounds formed by prefixing the accented unit to the decade; thus aṣṭi-vimśati- (VS.) 'twenty-eight'; eka-triṃśat (VS.) 'thirty-one'; trītyas-triṃśat 'thirty-three'; nāva-catvāriṃśat (TS.) 'forty-nine'; nāva-ṣaṣṭi- (TS.) 'sixty-nine'; nāva-ṣṭi- (TS.) 'eighty-nine'; pañca-navati- (TS.) 'ninety-five'; ṣaṇḥ-navati- (TS.) 'ninety-six'; aṣṭi-navati- (TS.) 'ninety-eight'.

α. In the TS., the number preceding a decade is also expressed by ekān nā 'by one not' = 'minus one'; thus ekān nā vimśati- 'twenty less one' = 'nineteen'; ekān nā catvāriṃśat 'thirty-nine'; ekān nā ṣaṣṭi- 'fifty-nine'; ekān nā ṣṭi- 'seventy-nine'; ekān nā satām 'a hundred less one', 'ninety-nine'³.

β. Intermediate numbers may also be expressed by adding together unit and decade with or without ca; e. g. nāva ca navatiṃ ca 'ninety and nine'; navatiṃ nāva 'ninety-nine'.

d. The numbers expressing 'a hundred' and its multiples are satā- '100'; sahasra- '1000'; a-yūta- (AV. TS.) '10000'; ni-yūta- (TS.; Kh. IV. 12⁸) '100000'; pra-yūta- (VS. TS.) '1000000'; ārbuda- (TS.; Kh. IV. 12⁸) '10000000'; nyārbuda- (AV. VS. TS.) '100000000'⁴.

α. Intermediate numbers are compounded in the same way with satā- as with the preceding decades; e. g. eka-satām 'a hundred and one'; catur-satām 'a hundred and four'; triṃśac-chatām 'a hundred and thirty'.

β. Multiples may be expressed in two ways. Either the larger number is put in the dual or plural multiplied by the smaller one used adjectivally; e. g. dvē satē (VII. 18²²) 'two hundred'; ṣaṣṭiṃ sahasrā (VI. 26⁶) 'sixty thousand'; trīṇi satā trī sahasrāṇi triṃśac ca nāva ca (III. 99) 'three thousand three hundred and thirty-nine'. Or the multiplier may be prefixed to the larger number, forming with it a possessive compound accented on the final syllable; e. g. trītyastrīṃśat trīsatāḥ ṣaṣsahasrāḥ (AV.) 'six thousand three hundred and thirty-three'. Numbers below a hundred are sometimes used multiplicatively in these two ways; e. g. navatiṃ nāva (I. 84²³) 'nine nineties' = 'eight hundred and ten'; *tri-ṣaṭā-*⁵ 'thrice seven'; tri-ṇavā- (VS.) 'having thrice nine'.

Inflection.

406. With regard to their inflexion, which in many respects is peculiar, the cardinals may be divided into three groups.

a. The first group comprises the first four numerals. These are the only cardinals which, like other adjectives, distinguish the genders. They also distinguish the numbers as far as the sense admits: eka- 'one', while inflected chiefly in the singular, forms a plural also in the sense of 'some'; dvā- 'two' is of course inflected in the dual only; and tri- 'three' and catur- 'four' in the plural only.

i. ēka- is declined like the second group of pronominal adjectives⁶. The only form of the abl. sing.³ met with follows the nominal declension,

² Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 443, I.

³ In the TS. (B.) are also met with ekasmān nā pañcāśat and ekasyai nā pañcāśāt (VII. 4. 7³) 'forty-nine': WHITNEY 477, b.

⁴ In TS. VII. 2²⁰ these numerals, followed by samudrā-, mādhyā-, ānta-, parārdhā-, occur in succession: we may infer from the first few that each successive number is equal to ten times the preceding one; cp. WHITNEY 475, c. The contents of TS. VII. 2, 11—20 are almost entirely numerals.

⁵ Inflected according to the a- declension: inst. trīṣaṭāḥ.

viz. ekāt, used in the compound numerals ekān nā trīṃśāt 'twenty-nine' etc. occurring in the TS. A single dual case, from eka- in the sense of 'a certain', appears in ēke yuvatī (AV. x. 7⁴²) 'a certain pair of maidens'. The forms to be found in the Saphitās are: m. sing. N. ēkas. A. ēkam. I. ēkena. G. ēkasya. L. ēkasmin; pl. N. ēke. D. ēkebhyas. — f. N. ēkā. A. ēkām. I. ēkayā. G. ēkasyās; du. N. ēke (AV.); pl. N. ēkās (AV.). — n. N. sing. ēkam; pl. ēkā.

2. dvā- 'two', declined in the dual only, is quite regular. The forms occurring are: m. N. dvā, dvāu. I. dvābhyām. G. dvāyos. L. dvāyos. — f. N. dvē. I. dvābhyām. — n. N. dvē. L. dvāyos.

a. The dual form dvā is retained in the first member of the numeral compound dvā-daśa 'twelve'. Otherwise dvi- is used as the stem of dva- in derivation, e.g. dvi-dhā 'twofold'; and as the first member of compounds, e.g. dvi-pād- 'biped'.

3. The cardinal trī- 'three' is, in the masc. and neut., inflected like a regular i- stem. The fem. stem is tisṛ-: the gen. pl. is once (v. 69²) written tisṛṇām (though the r is actually long metrically)¹. The forms occurring are: m. N. trāyas. A. trīn. I. tribhīs. D. tribhyās. G. trīṇām. L. trīṣh. — f. N. tisṛās. A. tisṛās. I. tisṛbhis. D. tisṛbhyas. G. *tisṛṇām*². L. tisṛsu. — n. N. A. trī, trīṇi.

a. The stem used in derivation and compounding is regularly tri-, e.g. trī-dhā 'in three ways'; tri-pād- 'three-footed'. But tr- appears in tr-tā (AV.) 'third', as a N., and in the secondary ordinal tr-tīya- 'third'; and in numeral compounds trim appears in trīṃśāt 'thirty', and trāyas in trāyo-daśa 'thirteen', and trāyas-trīṃśāt 'thirty-three'.

4. catūr- 'four' has the stem catvār- in the strong forms of the masc. and neut. In the gen. it has the peculiarity of taking n before the ending ām, though the stem ends in a consonant³. The fem. stem is cātasy-, which is inflected like tisṛ- and shifts its accent like pāñca. The forms occurring are: m. N. catvāras. A. cātīras. I. cātīrbhis. D. cātīrbhyas (AV.). G. *caturṇām*⁴. — f. N. cātāsrās. A. cātāsrās. I. *cātāṣbhis*⁵. — n. N. A. catvāri.

a. The stem used in derivation and compounding is regularly catūr-; e.g. catur-dhā 'in four ways'; cātūr-daśa 'fourteen'; *cātus-pād-*⁶ 'four-footed'. But it is once catvārim- (from the n. pl.) in the numeral compound catvārimśāt 'forty'.

b. The second group, comprising the cardinals from 'five' to 'nineteen', though used adjectivally, does not distinguish gender, and takes no ending in the nom. and acc. These numerals also share the same peculiarities of accentuation⁷.

5. N. A. pāñca 'five'. I. pāñcābhis. D. pāñcābhyas. L. pāñcāsu.

6. ṣaṣ- 'six': N. A. ṣaṭ. I. ṣaḍbhis. D. *ṣaḍbhyās*⁸.

7. N. A. saptā 'seven'. I. saptābhis. D. Ab. saptābhyas. G. saptāṇām.

8. That the cardinal for 'eight' was an old dual⁹ is indicated by its forms in the N. A. aṣṭā, aṣṭāu and in the only other cases occurring, I. aṣṭābhis, D. aṣṭābhyās (TS.). According to the analysis of the Pada text in a late passage of the RV. (x. 27¹⁵), aṣṭātarāṭtāt contains the N. aṣṭā, doubtless because it is preceded by saptā and followed by nīva and dāśa.

a. The stem used in compounding has mostly the dual form aṣṭā; thus aṣṭā-pād- 'eight-footed', aṣṭā-vandhura- 'eight-seated'¹⁰; aṣṭā-daśa- (TS.) 'eighteen', aṣṭā-vīmśā- (AV.)

² On the accentuation, see 94, 2 a.

³ It shares this peculiarity with san-ṇām, the gen. plur. of śaṣ-, which however does not seem to occur in any of the Saphitās.

⁴ With accent on the final syllable like the genitives of pāñca etc.

⁵ G. cātasyṇām and L. cātasyṣu occur in B.

⁶ On the Sandhi, see above 78.

⁷ That is, of accenting -ā before the terminations -bhis, -bhyas, -su, and the final syllable in the gen. See above, 93.

⁸ Cp. note 3.

⁹ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 441, 8.

¹⁰ These are the only two occurrences in the RV., for in aṣṭa-karṇā- (x. 62⁷) the first member is doubtless a past participle.

'twenty-eightfold', aṣṭā-cakra- (AV.) 'eight-wheeled', aṣṭā-pakṣa- (AV.) 'eight-sided', aṣṭā-yoga- (AV.) 'yoke of eight'. The form aṣṭa- begins to appear in the AV. in the derivative aṣṭa-dhā 'in eight ways'; and in the compounds aṣṭa-kṛtvā 'eight times', aṣṭa-yoni- 'having eight wombs', aṣṭa-vṛṣā- 'eight times chief'.

9. N. A. nava 'nine'. I. navābhis. D. navābhyas (TS.). G. navānām.
10. N. A. dāsa 'ten'. I. daśābhis. D. daśābhyas (TS.). G. daśānām. L. daśāsu.
11. N. A. ekādaśa 'eleven'. D. ekādaśābhyas (TS.).
12. N. A. dvādaśa 'twelve'. D. dvādaśābhyas (TS.).
13. N. A. trāyodaśa 'thirteen'. I. trayodaśābhis (TS.). D. trayodaśābhyas (TS.).
14. N. A. cāturdāśa 'fourteen'. D. caturdaśābhyas (TS.).
15. N. A. pāñcadaśa 'fifteen'. D. pāñcadaśābhyas (TS.).
16. N. A. ṣoḍaśa (VS.) 'sixteen'. D. ṣoḍaśābhyas (TS.).
17. 18. The N. of the cardinals for 'seventeen' and 'eighteen' does not seem to occur in Mantras. D. saptadaśābhyas (TS.); aṣṭadaśābhyas (TS.).
19. N. A. nāvadaśa (VS.) 'nineteen'. I. navadaśābhis (VS.). D. ekān nā vimśatyāi (TS.).

c. The third group of cardinals, comprising the numbers from 'twenty' onwards, are substantives inflected regularly according to the declension of the stem final; e. g. N. vimśatī-s 'twenty', A. vimśatī-m, I. vimśaty-ā; N. triṃśatī 'thirty', A. triṃśatī am, I. triṃśatī-ā, L. triṃśatī-i. The decades 'twenty' to 'ninety' and their compounds are fem. and nearly always inflected in the sing.; but if the sense requires it they may be used in the plural; e. g. nāva navatīhī 'nine nineties'; navānām navatīnām (I. 191¹³) 'of nine nineties'.

a. śatā- 'a hundred' and sahasra- 'a thousand' are neuters, which may be declined in all numbers; e. g. dvē śatā 'two hundred'; saptā śatāni 'seven hundred'.

Syntactical employment of the Cardinals.

407. a. The numerals from 'one' to 'nineteen' are used adjectivally; e. g. trīyo virāh (III. 56⁸) 'three heroes'; saptābhih putrāh (X. 72⁹) 'with seven sons'; jāneṣu pañcasu (III. 37⁹) 'among the five races'. The bare stem (in the numerals of the second group) is, however, sometimes used in the oblique cases; e. g. saptā hōtrābhih (III. 104⁴) 'with seven priests'; ādhi pāñca kṛṣṣu (II. 210¹⁰) 'over the five tribes'.

a. Exceptionally these numerals are, however, to be met with governing a genitive; e. g. dāśa kalāśānām (IV. 321⁹) 'ten jars'.

b. The third group of numerals (from 'twenty' upwards), as singular substantives, is treated in two ways.

i. They may govern a genitive; e. g. pañcāśtām āśvānām (V. 18⁵) 'fifty horses'; ṣaṣṭīm āśvānām (VIII. 46²⁹) 'sixty horses'; śatām gōnām (I. 126²) 'a hundred kine'. So also when śatā- and sahasra- are in the du. or pl.; e. g. gāvām śatāni (VII. 103¹⁰) 'hundreds of kine'; sahasrāṇi gāvām (VIII. 51²) 'thousands of kine'.

2. They may, remaining singular, agree in case with the following plural, being then used adjectivally (not appositionally, because they always precede the substantive in this use); e. g. triṃśād devāh (III. 9⁹) 'thirty gods'; triṃśatām yājñāni (I. 123⁸) 'thirty leagues'; triṃśatā hāribhih (II. 18⁵) 'with thirty bays'; śatena hāribhih (II. 18⁶) 'with a hundred bays'; śatām pūrah (IV. 27¹) 'a hundred forts'; sahasraṇi hārayah (IV. 46³) 'a thousand bays'. The following word, agreeing with sahasra-, may be in the singular as a collective; thus śūnaś cic chēpaṇi niditām sahasrād yūpād amuñcah (V. 27) 'Śunahśepa, who was bound, thou didst release from a thousand posts'.

a. śatā- and sahasra- have, in their adjectival use, the peculiarity of sometimes either being put in the plural themselves or retaining the N. A. neuter sing. form (like pāñca) when in agreement with an inst. pl.; e. g. śatā pūrah (I. 53⁸) 'a hundred forts'; sahasrāṇy adhirathāni (x. 98⁹) 'a thousand wagonloads'; śatām pūrbbhīḥ (vi. 48⁸) 'with a hundred forts'; sahasram śībhiḥ (i. 189⁸) 'with a thousand seers'.

β. The numeral pronouns kāti 'how many?', tāti 'so many', yāti 'as many', remain uninflected in agreement with nominatives and accusatives plural, which are the only cases found occurring with them in the *Saṃhitās*¹.

B. Ordinals.

408. The ordinals, being all adjectives ending in -a, are declined throughout in the masc. and neut. according to the nominal a-declension. The feminine is formed with *-ī*², except in the first four, which take -ā, viz. *prathamā*³, dvitīyā, *trītiyā*³, turiyā (TS.). The ordinals may best be divided into four groups according to the formation of their stems.

1. The ordinals from 'first' to 'tenth' are formed with various suffixes, viz. (-t)-īya, -īha, -thamā, -mā, the first four in a somewhat irregular manner.

a. pra-thamā 'first' was doubtless formed from pra- with the superlative suffix *-tama*⁴, meaning 'foremost', the initial of the suffix being probably changed under the influence of other ordinals formed with -tha (śaṣṭhā, etc.).

b. The next three ordinals are formed with the suffix -īya: dvit-īya 'second', trī-t-īya 'third', secondarily through dvi-tā 'second', and trī-tā 'third', both used as names; tur-īya 'fourth' for ktur-īya* (beside catur-thā). The latter when used in the fractional sense is accented tūrīya (AV.) 'quarter'⁵.

c. The ordinal for 'sixth', besides the alternative forms for 'fourth' and 'seventh', is formed with -tha: ṣaṣ-thā (AV. VS.), catur-thā (AV. VS.), saptā-tha (RV.).

d. The ordinals for 'fifth' and 'seventh' to 'tenth' are formed with -ma: pañca-mā (AV. VS.), sapta-mā (VS.) beside saptā-tha, aṣṭa-mā, nava-mā, daśa-mā.

2. The stems of the ordinals for 'seventh' to 'nineteenth' are the same as those of the cardinals, except that they are accented on the final syllable. In inflexion they differ from the cardinals in following the ordinary nominal a-declension; thus from ekādaśī 'eleventh' are formed: sing. m. A. ekādaśām; pl. N. ekādaśāḥ, A. ekādaśān, I. ekādaśīs.

3. The ordinals for 'twentieth' to 'ninetieth' (including their compounds) seem, judged by some three examples met with in the Saṃhitās (and some four others in B.), to have been abbreviated forms of the cardinals, ending in -ā: eka-viṃśā 'twenty-first' (B.) 'consisting of twenty-one' (VS.), catvāriṃśā (RV.) 'fortieth', aṣṭa-catvāriṃśā (VS.) 'forty-eighth'; catus-triṃśā (B.) 'thirty-fourth', dvā-pañcāśā (B.) 'fifty-second', eka-ṣaṣṭā (B.) 'sixty-first'.

4. The ordinals for 'hundredth' and 'thousandth' are formed with the superlative suffix -tama: śata-tamā; but sahasra-tamā has been noted in B. passages only (TS. SB.).

C. Numeral Derivatives.

409. A number of derivatives, chiefly adverbs, are formed from the cardinals.

a. There are a few multiplicative adjectives derived with the suffixes -a, -ya, -taya, -vaya; thus tray-ā 'threefold' (from trī-); dva-yā 'twofold'; daśa-taya 'tenfold'; catur-vaya 'fourfold'.

b. Multiplicative adverbs are formed in three different ways. 'Once'

² Inflected like stems in derivative -ī: 377.

³ Both prathamā and trītiyā have one form each according to the pronominal declension in the AV. (403, 3, c).

⁴ Cp. the adverbial acc. pra-tamām (B.) 'specially'. See BRUGMANN, KG. 447, 1.

⁵ Similarly in B. passages caturtha 'quarter', tītiya 'third'.

is expressed by sa-kṛt, which originally seems to have meant 'one making'. The next three are formed with the suffix -s: dvī-s 'twice'; tri-s 'thrice', catvīs (AV.) 'four times' (for catīr-s*, cp. Av. catīru-s)¹. Others are expressed by the cardinal and the form kṛtvas 'times' (probably = 'makings', acc. pl. of kṛtu-*), which, except in aṣṭa-kṛtvas (AV.) 'eight times', is a separate word; thus dāśa kṛtvas (AV.) 'ten times', bhūri kṛtvas (RV.) 'many times'².

c. Numeral adverbs of manner are formed with the suffix -dhā; thus dvī-dhā 'in two ways or parts'; similarly tri-dhā and tre-dhā, catv-dhā, pañca-dhā (AV.), *ṣoḍhā*³, sapta-dhā (AV. VS. TS.), aṣṭa-dhā (AV.), nava-dhā (AV.), sahasra-dhā.

VII. THE VERB.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 788—920. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 527—1073. — DELBRÜCK, Das altindische Verbum, Halle 1874. — AVERY, Contributions to the history of verb-inflection in Sanskrit, JAOS. x. (1876), 219—276; 311—324. — JUL. V. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte des Veda. Das Verbalsystem des Atharva-Veda, Berlin 1898.

410. General characteristics. — The verbal system comprises the two groups of forms which include, on the one hand, the finite verb and, on the other, the nominal formations connected with the verb. The former group represents the forms made with personal endings, viz. indicative, subjunctive, injunctive, optative, and imperative. The latter group consists of infinitives (nouns of action) and participles (agent nouns). These differ from ordinary nouns inasmuch as they participate in the characteristics of the verb, governing cases, being connected with particular tenses, being used in different voices, and being liable to tmesis when compounded with prepositions.

A. The finite verb distinguishes the primary conjugation of the root and the secondary conjugation of derivative formations, viz. desiderative, intensive, causative, and denominative. The latter class does not, however, differ in origin from the former; but doubtless because (in contrast with the present stems of the primary conjugation) it preserves the distinctive meaning of the stem, it extends the form of the present stem beyond the present system to the whole conjugation.

The finite verb further distinguishes voice, tense, mood, number, and person.

a. There are two voices, active and middle, which are distinguished throughout the inflexion of the verb (largely also in the participle, though not in the infinitive). The middle forms may be employed in a passive sense, except in the present system where there is a special passive stem inflected with middle terminations. Some verbs are conjugated in both active and middle; e. g. kṛṇī-ti and kṛṇu-té 'makes'; others in one voice only, e. g. ās-ti 'is'; others partly in one and partly in the other; e. g. pres. vṛta-te 'turns', but perf. vavṛta 'has turned'.

b. There are five tenses in ordinary use, viz. the present, the imperfect, the perfect, the aorist, and the future. The terms imperfect, perfect, and aorist are here used in a purely formal sense, that is, as corresponding in formation to the Greek tenses bearing those names. No Vedic tense has an imperfect meaning, while the perfect sense is generally expressed by the aorist.

c. Beside the indicative there are four moods, the subjunctive, the injunctive, the optative, and the imperative, all formed from the stem of the present, the perfect, and the aorist. The imperfect has no moods; and the only modal form occurring in the future is the unique subjunctive karisyās, from kr- 'make'.

³ For ṣaṣ-dhā; cp. above 43, b, 3; 56, b; and p. 307, note 8.

d. The finite verb is, as in other languages, used in three persons in all tenses and moods excepting the imperative, where the first persons are supplied from the subjunctive. As in declension, the three numbers, singular, dual, and plural, are in regular use throughout.

B. The nominal verb-forms comprise:

a. Participles. The tense-stem of the present, future, aorist, and perfect each forms an active and a middle participle; e. g. gácchant-, gáccha-māna- 'going'; karisyánt- 'going to do', yakṣyá-māna- 'going to sacrifice'; kránt-, krāná- 'making'; cakṛvāms-, cakrāná- 'having done'. Besides these, there are passive participles, present, perfect, and future. The present form is made from the passive stem in -ya; e. g. stūyá-māna- 'being praised'. The perfect passive participle, on the other hand, is formed from the root; e. g. kr-tá- 'made'; as is also (with few exceptions) the future passive participle or gerundive; e. g. vāná-ya- 'praiseworthy'.

b. Gerunds. These are stereotyped cases (chiefly instrumentals) of verbal nouns, and have the value of indeclinable active participles with a prevailingly past sense; e. g. gatvī and gatvāya 'having gone'.

c. Infinitives. There are about a dozen differently formed types of infinitives, which are cases of verbal nouns made directly or with a suffix from the root, and hardly ever connected with a tense stem; e. g. idh-am 'to kindle'; gán-tavāi 'to go'.

A. The Finite Verb.

411. All forms of the finite verb¹ may be classed under four groups: (1) the present system, comprising the present tense together with its moods and participles, and its augmented past tense, the imperfect; (2) the perfect system, comprising the perfect tense together with its moods and participles, and its augmented past tense, the pluperfect² (494); (3) the aorist system, comprising the aorist tense together with its moods and participles; (4) the future system, comprising the future tense³ together with its participles, and its augmented past form, the conditional⁴.

Personal Endings.

412. The characteristic feature of the finite verb is the addition of personal endings⁵. These are divided into active and middle; in each of which groups, again, primary and secondary forms are to be distinguished. The primary forms appear throughout the present and future indicative, but in the middle only of the perfect indicative⁶. The secondary forms appear in augmented indicatives, in injunctives (which are identical in form with un-augmented past indicatives), in the imperative (several forms of which are identical with the injunctive)⁷, and in the optative. The subjunctive fluctuates between the primary and the secondary endings, but the latter are about ¹ Over 18000 occurrences of verb-forms have been noted by AVERY (221) in the RV.

² This term is used in a purely formal sense, as this rare tense has not a pluperfect meaning.

³ There is no periphrastic future in the Samhitās.

⁴ There is only a single occurrence of this formation in the Samhitās.

a. Beside the perfect endings containing r, act. du. 2. -athur, 3. -atur, pl. 3. -ur, middle -re, some verbs have endings with initial r in the 3. pl. mid. ind. and opt. of most tenses. These endings are -re and -rate in the pres. ind.; -vire in the perf. ind.; -ran in the opt. pres. and the ind. imperfect, pluperfect, and aorist; -ram in the ind. aor.; -ranta in the pluperfect; -rata in the opt. In the AV. -rām and -ratām appear in the 3. pl. impv. mid.²⁶

b. More than twenty roots have forms in which certain endings are added to the root with the connecting vowel i or less commonly ī. These roots are am- 'breathe', am- 'injure', as- 'be', īḍ- 'praise', ī- 'rule', aud- 'impel', jan- 'beget', tu- 'be strong', dhvan- 'sound', brū- 'speak', vam- 'vomit', vas- 'clothe', vṛṣ- 'rain', śnath- 'pierce', śru- 'hear',

⁴ This ending does not occur in the RV.; cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 24.

⁵ The perf. act. du. has the peculiar endings 2. -athur, 3. -atur.

⁶ -masi occurs 109 times in the RV., being more than 5 times as frequent as -mas (cp. WHITNEY 548; AVERY 226), but in the AV. -mas has become commoner than -masi in the proportion of 4 to 3. On these endings cp. NEISSER, BB. 30, 311—315.

⁷ In the RV. -tha occurs more than 6 times as often as -thana (AVERY 226). The perf. ind. has the peculiar ending -a.

⁸ The an is replaced by a (for the sonant nasal) in reduplicated verbs and a few others treated as such; cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 51 (mid.).

⁹ The impv. act. adds -dhi, -hi, -āna, -tāt or no ending.

¹⁰ The 3. impv. has -tu instead of -t; in the RV. and TS. also -tāt; see 418 b.

¹¹ In the RV. -ta occurs more than 4 times as often as -tana (560 occurrences to 125; AVERY 226).

¹³ In the AV. -sai is the only form of the subjunctive (WHITNEY 561, a).

¹⁴ -tai occurs once in the RV. for -te in the subjunctive; it is the usual form in the AV. In the RV. -e sometimes occurs for -te in the ind. pres.; it is the only ending in the perf. ind.

¹⁵ The subjunctive has -vahi.

¹⁶ In the a-conjugation -cthe and -ete; aithe and -āite appear in the RV. as subjunctives in several forms; -āite occurs once as an indicative; cp. WHITNEY 547, c and 561, a; DELBRÜCK, Verbum 106 and p. 45 (mid.).

¹⁷ -mahai is the usual form in the subjunctive in the RV. and AV.

¹⁸ In the RV. once -dhvai in the subjunctive.

¹⁹ In the impv. -antām and -atām.

²⁰ In the optative (īy)-a.

²¹ In the impv. -sra.

²² In the impv. -tām.

²³ In the a-conjugation -ethām and -etām.

²⁴ Once -dhva in the RV.

²⁵ In the impv. -antām; both this ending and -anta lose their n under the same conditions as -anti. The perf. ind. has -re.

śvas- 'breathe', śidh- 'repel', śtan- 'thunder', *śambh-*¹ 'prop'. There are also a few 3. plurals in -i-re, viz. ṛṇvire, ṇivire, śṛṇvire, sunvire and hinvire, in which the connecting vowel i appears².

The Augment.

413. The augment³ (originally doubtless an independent temporal particle) consists of the syllable a-, which is prefixed to the imperfect, pluperfect, aorist, and conditional, giving to those forms the signification of past time. It invariably bears the acute when the verb is accented, like the preposition immediately preceding a verb in a principal sentence (111). The augment sometimes appears lengthened before n, y, r or v, the only examples being ā-naṭ, from naṣ- 'attain'; ā-yunak (beside a-yunak), ā-yukta (beside a-yukta), and ā-yuksātām, from yuj- 'join'; ā-rīṇak and ā-raik, from ric- 'leave'; ā-var, from vṛ- 'cover'; ā-vṛṇi, from vṛ- 'choose'; ā-vṛṇak, from vṛj- 'turn'; ā-vidhyat (beside a-vidhyat), from vyadh- 'wound'. The only one of these forms written with ā in the Pada text is ā-var (but once also a-var). There is also one passage (II. 17. 9) in which the metre seems to require that yās t! 'vidhat should be read *yās ta āvidhat*⁴.

a. With the initial vowels i, u, r the augment irregularly contracts to the Vrddhi vowels ai, au, ār; e. g. dicchas, 2. sing. imperf. of iṣ- 'wish'; dūnat, 3. sing. imperf. of ud- 'wet'; ārta, 3. sing. aor. of r- 'go'. This appears to be a survival of a prehistoric contraction of ā with i, u, r to āi, āu, ār, which is otherwise almost invariably represented by e, o, *ar*⁵.

b. The augment is very often dropped. This optional loss is to be explained as a survival from the Indo-European period when, being an independent particle, the augment could be dispensed with if the past sense was clear from the context. In the RV. the number of examples in which the augment is wanting (about 2000) is considerably more than half that of forms in which it is prefixed (about 3300), more than one half of these unaugmented forms being aorists. In the AV. the number of forms which lose the augment is less than half that of those which retain it, more than four fifths of these unaugmented forms being aorists. In sense, the forms which drop the augment are either indicative or injunctive. The indicatives have for the most part a past, but often also (generally when compounded with prefixes) a present meaning. In the RV., the indicative and injunctive unaugmented forms are about equal in number⁶; the injunctives being used in nearly one-third of their occurrences with the prohibitive particle mā. In the AV. about nine-tenths of the unaugmented forms are injunctive, some four-fifths of these being construed with mā.

Formation of the Moods.

414. 1. Subjunctive⁷. The subjunctive is a very common mood in the RV. and the AV., occurring three or four times as often as the optative. It is formed from the present, the perfect, and the aorist⁸. The stem is formed by adding a to the indicative stem. When a strong and weak stem are distinguished, the a is attached to the former; while it coalesces to ā with the final of the stem in the a- conjugation. Thus the subjunctive stem of have a historical sense in 488 instances only.

⁷ See especially W. NEISSER, Zur vedischen Verballehre (Inaugural-Dissertat.), Göttingen 1882 = BB. 7 (1883), 211-241.

⁸ Only a single form of the future subjunctive occurs.

the root duh- 'milk' is dōh-a-; of yuj- 'join' yundj-a-; but of bhū- 'be' bhāv-a-. Owing to the analogy of the a- conjugation, other verbs sometimes add ā instead of a, e. g. brav-ā-thā from brū- 'speak'¹. The subjunctive is on the whole inflected like an indicative, but with fluctuations between the primary and the secondary endings, besides some variations in the endings themselves. Thus in the active, (1) the ending of the 1. sing. is -āni, of which the ni is dropped thirteen times in the RV., e. g. dōh-āni, yundj-āni, bhāv-āni; bhāv-ā; (2) the 1. du. and 1. 3. pl. have the secondary endings -va, -ma, -an only; e. g. dōh-āva, dōh-āma, dōh-an; bhāv-āva, bhāv-āma, bhāv-an; (3) the 2. 3. sing. may take the secondary endings as well as the primary; e. g. dōh-a-si or dōh-a-s; bhāv-ā-ti or bhāv-ā-t².

In the middle, (1) the only secondary ending is found in the 3. pl., -anta, which occurs beside and more frequently than -ante; (2) the ending -ai, which is normal in the 1. sing. (being = a + e), has spread from that person to forms in which e would be normal. Thus the 1. du. has -āvahai only; in the 1. pl., -āmahai is the usual form in the RV. and AV. beside the rarer -āmahe; in the 2. sing., -sai always appears for -se in the AV., though it does not occur in the RV.; in the 2. pl., -dhvai occurs once for *-dhve*³ in the RV.; in the 2. 3. du., -aithe and -aite occur several times in the RV., being doubtless intended for subjunctive modifications⁴ of the indicative -ethe and -ete of the a- conjugation; in the 3. sing., -tai occurs once in the RV. for -te, and is the usual form in the AV.

a. The subjunctive endings in combination with the -a of the stem are accordingly the following:

Active			Middle
sing.	du.	pl.	sing.	du.	pl.
1. āni , -ā	-āva	-āma	1. -ai	-āvahai	-āmahai , -āmahe

415. Injunctive. The unaugmented forms of past tenses used modally, are sometimes called improper subjunctives⁸, but they are more suitably termed injunctives, as they appear to have originally expressed an injunction. This is borne out by the fact that since the IE. period the second and third persons imperfect (except the 2. sing. act.) had come to be used as regular imperatives expressing a command⁹. But the unaugmented forms of the imperfect that could be distinguished from the regular imperative (as bhāras, bhārat, bharan) and especially unaugmented aorists¹⁰, are often used in a sense fluctuating between that of the subjunctive (requisition) and of the optative (wish)¹¹. Thus bhāratu 'let him bear', but bhārat 'may he bear', bhūt 'may he be'.

416. Optative. This mood, which is comparatively rare in the Samhitās, is formed from the present, the perfect, and the aorist. The stem is formed with -yā or -ī, which, when strong and weak stem are distinguished,

² The subjunctive in ā is in origin an old injunctive: BRUGMANN, KG. 716 (end).

³ In the form mādayādhvai 'may ye rejoice'.

⁴ kṛnvaitē, however, appears once as an indicative; see DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 45.

⁵ In the aor. subj., -si occurs only once in the RV.

⁶ In the a- conjugation ā appears throughout: -āsi, -ās, etc.

⁷ In the aor. subj., -ti occurs only six times in the RV.

⁸ WHITNEY 563.

⁹ The 3. sing. and pl., e. g. bhārat-u and bhārant-u, are explained as injunctives and the particle u: BRUGMANN, KG. 729, 1.

¹⁰ The aorist injunctives were probably used originally with the prohibitive particle mā only: BRUGMANN, KG. 716, 2 (end).

¹¹ Cp. WHITNEY 575.

are attached to the latter. In the a-conjugation -ī is added (coalescing with a to e) throughout; in other verbs -ī is added in the middle only, and -yā (often to be read as -iā) in the active only¹.

a. Roots ending in ā usually change that vowel to e before -yā: e. g. de-yām (perhaps to be explained as dāiḥām)² 'I would give'. But ā is sometimes retained, as in yā-yām 'I would go'.

b. The endings are the secondary ones. There are, however, some irregularities in the 1. sing. and the 3. pl. 1. The 3. pl. mid. always takes -ran instead of -an. 2. The 3. pl. act. always takes -ur, before which the ā of -yā is dropped, while in the a-conjugation y is interposed between *e*³ and -ur. 3. The 1. sing. mid. has the peculiar ending a with y interposed between it and the modal -ī. 4. The 1. sing. act. of the a-conjugation attaches -am instead of -m (the termination -em being unknown), interposing y between it and the *e*³ of the stem.

a. The endings of the optative in combination with the modal suffix are accordingly the following:

1. Graded conjugation.

Active			Middle
sing.	du.	pl.	sing.	du.	pl.
1. -yā-m	-yā-va	-yā-ma	1. -ī-y-ā	-ī-vāhi	-ī-māhi
2. -yā-s	-yā-tam	-yā-ta	2. -ī-thās	-ī-y-āthām	-ī-dhvām

2. a-conjugation.

1. -e-y-am	-e-va	-e-ma	1. -e-y-a	-e-vahi	-e-mahi
2. -e-s	-e-tam	-e-ta	2. -e-thās	-e-y-āthām	-e-dhvām
3. -e-t	-e-tām	-e-y-ur	3. -e-ta	-e-y-ātām	-e-r-an.

417. Precative. This is a form of the optative which adds an -s after the modal suffix in several persons, and is made almost exclusively from aorist stems. In the RV. there occur a few forms of the precative in three persons (1. 3. sing., 1. pl.) active, and in two persons (2. 3. sing.) middle; thus active: 1. sing. bhū-yā-s-am (aor.) 'may I be'; 3. sing. aś-yās (for aś-yā-s-t*) 'may he attain' (aor.); babhū-yās 'may he be' (perf.); 1. pl. kṛt-yā-s-ma 'may we do' (aor.); middle: 2. sing. maṇ-s-ī-s-thās (aor.) and 3. sing. maṇ-s-ī-s-ṭa (aor.), from man- 'think'.

418. Imperative. This mood has no mood-sign of its own, as all the first persons are subjunctives and the second and third persons are mostly old injunctives. The purely injunctive forms are the 2. 3. du. and 2. pl. active and middle, ending in -tam, -tām, -ta; -āthām, -ātām, -dhvam. The 3. sing. pl. act. in *-tu*⁴ and *-antu*⁵, and the 3. pl. mid. in *-antām*⁵ may be modifications of injunctives. The imperative has, however, distinctive forms of its own in the 2. sing. act.: -dhi, -hi, -āna, -tāt; and in the middle: 2. sing. -sva and 3. sing. -tām or -ām.

a. The 2. sing. act. in the a-conjugation has no ending, employing the bare stem (like the vocative singular of the a-declension); e. g. bhāra 'support'; neṣa 'lead' (aor. of √nī-). In the graded conjugation, when a strong and weak stem are distinguished, the ending is attached to the latter: -dhi is added after both consonants and vowels, -hi (the later form of -dhi) after vowels only; thus ad-dhi 'eat'; śru-dhi and śṛṇu-dhi 'hear'; i-hi 'go', jāgr-hi 'awake', pīpr-hi 'save', śṛṇu-hi 'hear'. In the nā-class, -hi is added only when the root ends in a vowel, but *-āna*¹ when it ends in a consonant; thus pu-nīhi 'purify', but as-āna 'eat'.

b. The ending -tāt occurs some twenty times in the RV. When strong and weak stem are distinguished, it is added to the latter; e. g. vit-tāt 'thou shalt regard', dhat-tāt 'thou shalt place', kṛṇu-tāt 'thou shalt make', punt-tāt 'thou shalt purify', etc.² Its use is almost restricted to the 2. sing. It is, however, once³ found in the RV. and once in the TS. in the sense of the 3. sing., once as 2. du. in the RV., once as 2. pl. in the TS., and once as 1. sing. in AV.⁴ It appears to have the value of a future imperative, expressing an injunction to be carried out at a time subsequent to the present. It may originally have been identical with the abl. tād 'after that', 'then'; kṛṇu-tāt would thus have meant 'do (it) then'⁵.

I. The Present System.

419. This group consists of a present indicative together with a subjunctive, an injunctive, an optative, an imperative, and participles, besides a past augmented tense called the imperfect because formed analogously to the Greek tense. This is the most important system, as its forms are about three times as common as those of the three other systems taken together⁶. Hence roots are generally classified according to the manner in which their stems are formed in the present system. Here two distinct conjugations may be conveniently distinguished.

The first or a- conjugation, all the stems in which end in -a, retains the stem unaltered (like the a- declension) in every tense, mood, and participle, accenting the same syllable throughout the present indicative, its moods and participles, as well as the unaugmented imperfect⁷. The secondary conjugations in -a (desideratives, intensives, causatives, denominatives) as well as the future⁸, follow this conjugation in their inflexion.

The second or graded conjugation is characterized by shift of accent between stem and ending, accompanied by vowel gradation. Minor differences consist in the loss of n in the 3. pl. middle, in the addition of another suffix (-āna instead of -māna) in the middle participle, in the employment of an ending in the 2. sing. impv. act., and in vowel gradation, with shift of accent, in the modal suffix of the optative.

a. The first or a- conjugation.

420. The special characteristics of this conjugation are:

1. The -a of the stem is lengthened before the endings of the 1. du. and pl. which begin with v and m; e. g. jayāmasi 'we conquer'; while the initial a of the endings of the 3. pl. -anti, -ante, -an, -anta, is dropped; e. g. bhāra-nti 'they bear'.

2. The optative sign is throughout -ī, which combines with the -a of the present stem to e; e. g. bhūves.

3. The 2. sing. impv. act. has no ending except the comparatively few instances (about sixteen) in which -tāt is added.

¹ On the origin of this peculiar imperative form cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 839, 5.

² See DELBRÜCK, Verbum 38.

³ Op. cit. 77; WHITNEY 571, b. AVERY, however (225, bottom), states that it occurs 5 times in the RV. as a 3. sing.

⁴ WHITNEY, loc. cit.

⁵ BRUGMANN, KG. 732.

⁶ WHITNEY 600, a.

⁸ Also aorist stems ending in -a.

4. The 2. 3. du. mid. substitute e for the ā of the endings -āthe, -āte; e. g. 2. vahethe 'ye two travel', 3. vardhete 'they two thrive'.

5. The middle participle regularly ends in -māna.

a. Five classes or types may be distinguished in the present stems of the a- conjugation. These are: 1. Stems in which the radical syllable has a strong grade accented vowel¹; e. g. bhāra-ti, from bhṛ- 'bear'. 2. Stems in which the radical syllable has a weak grade vowel, the thematic a being accented²; e. g. rujā-ti, from ruj- 'break'. 3. Stems formed with the suffix -ya, being either (a) ordinary transitive or intransitive verbs³, e. g. ās-ya-ti 'throws'; or (b) passives, e. g. nṛ-yā-te 'is led'. 4. Stems ending in -aya, being either (a) causatives (-āya) or (b) denominatives (-ayā)⁴. 5. Stems formed with the suffix -sa, added to the reduplicated root, being desideratives; e. g. pi-pā-sa- 'desire to drink'. The last two classes, which retain the present stem throughout their inflexion, constitute three of the secondary conjugations which will be treated separately below (541—570).

1. The radically accented a- class (bhāva-).

421. This is by far the commonest type of the a- conjugation, about 300 such present stems occurring in the *Saṃhitās*⁵. The radical vowel takes Guṇa, unless it is medial and long by nature or position; thus from ji- 'conquer': jāy-a-; nṛ- 'lead': nāy-a-; bhṛ- 'be': bhāv-a-; budh- 'awake': bōdh-a-; srp- 'creep': sīrpa-; but jinv- 'quicken': jīnv-a-; krīḍ- 'play': krīḍ-a-. Roots with medial a remain unchanged, e. g. vad- 'speak': vād-a-.

a. There are, however, several irregularities in the formation of the present stem: 1. ūh- 'consider' takes Guṇa: śha- (but ūh- 'remove' remains unchanged: ūha-); guh- 'hide' lengthens its vowel: gīha-; kram- 'stride' lengthens its vowel in the active: krāma- (but krama- in the middle); kṛp- 'lament' retains its vowel unchanged: kīpa-. — 2. The roots daṃs- 'bite' and sañj- 'hang' lose their nasal: dāsa-, saja-. — 3. gam- 'go', yam- 'reach', yu- 'separate' form their stem with the suffix -cha: gāccha-, yāccha-, yūccha-. — 4. Four stems are transfers from the reduplicating class⁶: pība- from pā- 'drink', tiṣṭha- from sthā- 'stand', *śīda-⁷ (for si-sad-a-) from sad- 'sit', *sācā-⁸ (for sā-sac-a-) from sac- 'accompany'; four others⁹ are transfers from the nu- class, being either used beside or having entirely superseded the simpler original stems: i-nv-a- from i- 'send', beside i-nō-ti; ji-nv-a- from ji- 'quicken', beside ji-nō-si; hi-nv-a- from hi- 'impel', beside hi-nō-ti; pinv-a- 'fatten' was doubtless originally pi-nu-* from the root *pi-*¹⁰.

422. Present indicative. The forms of this tense which actually occur, if made from bhāva-, would be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. bhāvā-mi, 2. bhāva-si, 3. bhāva-ti. Du. 1. bhāvā-vas (TS.), 2. bhāva-thas, 3. bhāva-tas. Pl. 1. bhāvā-masi and bhāvā-mas, 2. *bhāvā-tha*¹¹, 3. bhāvā-nti.

Middle. Sing. 1. bhāv-e, 2. bhāva-se, 3. *bhāva-te*¹². Du. 1. bhāvā-vahe, 3. bhāv-ete. Pl. 1. *bhāvā-mahe*¹³, 2. bhāva-dhve, 3. bhāvā-nte.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

² The sixth class of the Indian grammarians.

³ The fourth class of the Indian grammarians.

⁴ The nominal a preceding the -ya is here sometimes dropped or changed to ū or ī. See below 562. Some of these verbs in -aya, having lost their special stem meaning, are treated as a class (the tenth) of primary verbs.

⁵ See WHITNEY 214—216, cp. 744.

⁶ dād-a- occasionally appears for the regular dādā-, from dā- 'give'.

⁷ See ROZWADOWSKI, BB. 21, 147.

⁸ A reminiscence of its reduplicative origin is the loss of the nasal (the sonant becoming a) in the ending of the 3. pl.: sācāti, sācāta.

⁹ ṛ-ya-, beside ṛ-nō-ti from ṛ- 'send', is a similar transfer to the sixth class.

¹⁰ See WHITNEY, Roots, under pinv.

¹¹ vāda-thana is the only example of the ending -thana in the indicative of the a- conjugation.

2. The suffixally accented ā-class (tudā)¹³.

429. Nearly one hundred roots belong to this class. The radical vowel is almost always medial, being regularly i, u or y. If the vowel is final, which is very rare, it is almost invariably short. As the -a is accented, the radical vowel appears in its weak form; e. g. huv-ā- (but according to the radically accented class, hāv-a-) from hū- 'call'.

a. There are, however, some irregularities in the formation of the present stem. 1. Several roots instead of appearing in their weak form, are nasalized: kṛt- 'cut': kṛntā-; ṛp- 'be pleased': ṛmpā-; ṛṣ- 'adorn': ṛṣṇā-; muc- 'release': muñcā-; lip- 'smear': līmpā-; lup- 'break': lūmpā-; vid- 'find': viñdā-; śic- 'sprinkle': śiñcā-. A few other roots occasionally have nasalized forms according to this class: thus tundate, beside the regular tuddti etc., from tud- 'thrust'; āṛmṇhēthe, beside āṛmṇhata, etc., from āṛh- 'make firm'; śumbhānte,

² Transfer from the -nu class.
³ drocān (IV. 55²; V. 31⁵) and vārdhān are given as indicatives by DELBRÜCK 91, followed by AVERY 249. Cp. p. 322, note ¹⁰.

⁴ From ṣhīc- 'spue'. originally ṣhīc-*: cp. V. NEGELEIN 24, note ⁶: the root is there wrongly given as ṣhīc.

⁵ āsthan (AV. XIII. 1⁵) is given by V. NEGELEIN 18, note ¹ as imperfect of as; but see WHITNEY's note on AV. XIII. 1⁵.

⁶ akṛpān being formed with the ending -ran (DELBRÜCK 124) is doubtless an aorist; cp. WHITNEY, Roots under √kṛp. See below, 500.

⁷ śran (IV. 21⁹) according to DELBRÜCK, Verbum 89 (p. 63, middle), followed by AVERY 249, for asara-n*; but avasran is 3. pl. aor.

of vas- 'shine' with ending -ran (not ava-sran: accent!). Cp. WHITNEY, Roots, under vas 'shine'.

⁸ DELBRÜCK 176 and AVERY 247 give akṛpānta as (once) a 3. sing. If this is correct, the form would be a transfer for akṛpānta.

⁹ āmata is given by DELBRÜCK 101 and AVERY 247 as belonging to this class (presumably from the root am-), but it is doubtless 3. sing. mid. aor. of man- 'think'; see WHITNEY, Roots, under √man.

¹⁰ From īk- 'see'.

¹¹ From bhyas- 'fear'.

¹² VII. 18¹⁵: from dhav- 'run' = dhav-.

¹³ Cp. E. LEUMANN, Die Herkunft der 6. Praesensklasse im Indischen (Actes du X. Cong. Oriental. II. 1, 39–44; IF. 5, Anz. 109; KZ. 34, 587 ff.).

beside śumbhate and śōbhate, from śubh- 'shine'; śynthati (TS.), beside the regular śrathnās etc., from śrath- 'loosen'. — 2. Four roots form their stem with the suffix -chā- i- 'wish': i-ccā-; ṛ- 'go': ṛ-ccā-; *prā-*¹ 'ask': pr-ccā-; vas- 'shine': u-ccā-. — 3. Two stems are transfers from the nasal class of the second conjugation: ṛṇā-, beside ṛṇ-, from ṛṇ- 'fill'; mṛṇā-, beside mṛṇ-, from mṛ- 'crush'; ṛñjā- 'stretch' has become the regular stem beside 3. pl. ṛñjate; and 2. pl. umbha-ta (AV.), appears beside ubh-nā-, from ubh- 'confine'. — 4. Beside the normal -nu stem ṛ-nu, the root ṛ- also has the transfer stem ṛṇ-. — 5. While roots ending in i or ū change these vowels into ī or u before -ā (e.g. ksīy-ā-, from ksī- 'dwell', yuv-ā- from yuv- 'join'), the TS. has ksy-ānt- beside RV. ksiyānt- 'dwelling'.

b. The present stems chyā- (AV.) 'cut up', dyā- (AV.) 'divide', śyā- 'sharpen', śyā- 'bind', though regarded by the Indian grammarians as belonging to the -ya class, should most probably be classified here, because the a is accented, i appears beside ā in various forms from these roots, and -yā is here often to be read as -ia, while this is never the case in the -ya class.

430. The inflexion is exactly the same as that of bhāva-. The forms which actually occur are the following:

Present Indicative.

¹ The fem. is regularly formed from the strong stem in -ant-; but the weak stem in -at appears in siñcat-ī, beside siñcānt-ī.

² Anomalous form for āpīṃśan*, from piś- 'crush'.

437. The present stems formed with this suffix fall into two groups. In the first, consisting of about 70 transitive or intransitive verbs, the suffix is unaccented; in the second, consisting of rather more than 80 verbs with a passive meaning, the suffix is accented. In all probability both groups were identical in origin, with the accent on the suffix. This is indicated by the fact that the root though accented in the first group appears in its weak form; and that this group consists largely of intransitive verbs and to some extent of verbs with a passive sense. The latter are manifestly transfers from the -yá or passive group with change of accent. Thus jáyate 'is born' is an altered passive beside the active jánati 'begets'. The accent moreover occasionally fluctuates. Thus the passive mucyáte 'is released' once or twice occurs (in the RV. and AV.) accented on the root; and there is no appreciable difference of meaning between kṣáyate and kṣtyáte 'is destroyed'; jíyate and jíyáte 'is overcome'; pácýate and pacyáte 'is cooked'; míyate and míyáte (AV.) 'is infringed'².

B. The suffixally accented yā- class (passive).

DELBRÜCK, Verbum 184 (p. 166—169). — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 274—275. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 768—774; Roots 230—231. — v. NEGELEIN 38—40.

444. Any root that requires a passive forms its present stem by adding accented -yā (which never needs to be pronounced -ia). The root appears in its weak form, losing a nasal and taking Samprasāraṇa; thus añj- 'anoint': aj-yā 'be anointed'; vac- 'speak': uc-yā 'be spoken'. Final vowels undergo the changes usual before -ya in verbal forms: final i and u being lengthened, ā mostly becoming ī, r̥ being generally changed to ri, and ṛ becoming īṛ. Thus mi- 'fix': mīya-; su- 'press': sūyā-; dā- 'give': dī-yā (but jñā- 'know': jñā-yā-); kṛ- 'make': kri-yā-; śṛ- 'crush': śīrya-.

a. The root tan- 'stretch' forms its passive from tā-: tā-yā. Similarly jan- 'beget' makes its present stem from jā-: jāya-te, which has, however, been transferred to the radically accented ya-class. mri-yā-te 'dies' (ṽmr-)⁴ and dhriyāte (ṽdhṛ-) 'is steadfast', though passives in form, are not so in sense⁵.

445. The inflexion is identical with that of the radically accented ya-class in the middle, differing from it in accent only. No forms of the optative are found in the RV. or AV. The forms actually occurring are the following:

¹ āvātīryatīs (AV. XIX. 9⁸) is a corrupt reading: see WHITNEY's Translation; cp. p. 331, note 7.

³ No example of ūr seems to occur in the Sāmhitās, but pūr-ya- from pṛ- 'fill' is found in the -ya class.

⁴ This root has a transitive sense ('crush') only in its secondary form mṛu-, and in the AV. in the imperative forms mṛūhi and mṛūta.

b. The second or graded conjugation.

449. The chief characteristic of this conjugation is vowel gradation in the base¹ consequent on shift of accent. The base has a strong grade vowel in the singular indicative (present and imperfect) active, throughout the subjunctive, and in the 3. sing. imperative active. Minor peculiarities are: 1. loss of n in the endings of the 3. pl. mid. (-ate, -ata, -atīm); 2. formation of the 2. sing. imperative active with a suffix, generally -dhi; 3. vowel gradation in the modal suffix of the optative (act. -yā; mid. -ī); 4. formation of the middle participle with -āna.

a. The second conjugation comprises five distinct classes falling into two main groups in which α) the vowel of the root (simple or reduplicated) is graded; β) the vowel of the suffix (nearly always containing a nasal) is graded.

a. 1. The root class.

450. The base is formed by the root itself, to which the personal endings are directly attached (in the subjunctive and optative with the intervening modal suffix). The radical vowel is accented and takes Guṇa in the strong forms. More than a hundred roots are comprised in this class².

a. A good many irregularities are met with in this class, with regard to both the base and the endings. 1. √ṛddhi is taken in the strong forms by mṛj- 'wipe' (e. g. mṛj-mi), and before consonants by roots ending in -u, i. e. by kyu- 'whet', nu- 'praise', yu- 'unite' (AV.), stu- 'praise'; e. g. *stū-mi*³, *ā-stu-t*⁴, but ā-stav-am. — 2. The Guṇa vowel, along with the accent, is retained in the root of ś- 'lie' (middle) throughout the weak forms; e. g. sing. 1. śāy-e, 2. śē-ṣe. In the 3. pl. this verb at the same time inserts r before the endings: śē-rate, śē-re (AV.), śē-ratīm, ā-śe-rata, *ā-śe-ran*⁵. — 3. Several roots form a base with the connecting vowel i or *r*⁶ before consonant endings. The roots *an-*⁷ 'breathe', *rud-*⁸ 'weep', vam 'vomit', śvas- 'blow', *svap-*⁹ 'sleep' insert i before all terminations beginning with a consonant, except in 2. 3. impf., where they insert ī: e. g. āni-ti, āni-t; avami-t; śvasi-ti. The roots iḡ- 'praise' and ī- 'rule' add i in some forms of the 2. pers. middle: īḡi-ṣva; īḡi-ṣe (beside īḡ-ṣe), īḡi-dive. The 3. pl. īḡi-re is, owing to its accent¹⁰, probably to be accounted a present rather than a perfect¹¹. Occasional (imperative sing.) forms with connecting i from other roots also occur: jāni-ṣva 'be born', vāsi-ṣva 'clothe', śnathi-hi 'pierce', stani-hi 'thunder'. The root brū- 'speak' regularly inserts ī in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants; e. g. brāvi-mi. The same ī also appears in the form īavi-ti from tu- 'be strong'; in āni-ṣi and in the TS.¹² āni-ti, āni-ṣva, āni-t from am- 'injure'; and in īamī-ṣva (VS.), from īam-

² Several roots of this class show transfers to the a- conjugation: cp. WHITNEY 625 a.

³ The RV. has once 2. sing. sto-si (X. 22⁴), a form which AVERY 275 takes to be a 3. sing. aor. pass. injunctive.

⁴ √ṛddhi on the other hand once appears even in the weak form 3. pl. impf. anāvan. On the √ṛddhi in these verbs, cp. v. NEGELEIN 10 a.

⁵ There are some transfer forms according to the a- conjugation from the stem śāy-a-, including the isolated active form dsayati, which is common. Nearly a dozen roots besides ś- retain the accent on the radical syllable throughout. See 97, 2 a.

⁶ This ī is, however, in reality originally part of a dissyllabic base: cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 212, 2.

⁷ The AV. has also forms according to the a- conjugation: āna-ti, etc.

⁸ The RV. has no such forms from rud- and svap-.

⁹ The AV., however, has the form svap-tu.

¹⁰ See 97, 2 a and 484.

¹¹ The 3. sing. impf. of this verb is in the MS. aiśa (like aduśa), cp. WHITNEY 630.

¹² WHITNEY 634.

'labour'. — 4. A few roots undergo peculiar shortenings in the weak forms: as- 'be' loses its vowel¹ (except where protected by the augment², e. g. s-mās 'we are'; *han-*³ 'slay' in the weak forms loses its n before terminations beginning with consonants (except m, y or v), but syncopates its a before terminations beginning with vowels, when h reverts to the original guttural gh-; e. g. ha-thā, but han-yāma; ghā-dāti, part. ghā-dant-; the root vas- 'be eager', takes Samprasāraṇa; e. g. 1. pl. vā-māsi, part. *vā-mān-*⁴, but 1. sing. vās-mi. The root vas- 'clothe' similarly takes Samprasāraṇa once in the participle uṣ-āpā- (beside the usual vāsāna). — 5. With regard to endings, the root śās- 'order' loses the n in the 3. pl. active (as well as middle) and in the participle, being treated like roots of the reduplicating class (457): 3. pl. impv. śās-atu (TS.), part. *śās-at-*⁵. The root duh- 'milk' is very anomalous in its endings: middle impv. 3. sing. duh-ām, 3. pl. duh-rām and duh-raṭm; ind. 3. pl. mid. duh-rē and duh-rāte beside the regular duh-ātē (with irregular accent)⁷; active imperf. 3. sing. *ā-duh-a-t*⁸ beside ā-dhok, 3. pl. a-duh-ran beside ā-duh-an and *duh-ūr*⁹; and in the 3. opt. the entirely anomalous sing. duh-ī-yāt (RV.) and pl. duh-īyan (RV.) (for duh-yāt and duh-yūr).

Present Indicative.

451. A final or prosodically short medial radical vowel takes Guṇa in the singular; elsewhere it remains unchanged, excepting the changes of final vowels required by internal Sandhi, and the irregular shortenings mentioned above (450, a 4). The ordinary endings are added directly¹⁰ to the root. But the 3. sing. mid. ends in -e nearly as often as in -te; and anomalous endings appear in the 3. persons of the roots īś-, duh-, śās-, *śr-*¹¹.

The forms actually occurring would, if made from i- 'go' and brū- 'speak', be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. ī-mi. 2. ī-ṣi. 3. ī-ti. — Du. 2. ī-thās. 3. ī-tās. — Pl. 1. ī-māsi and ī-mās. 2. ī-thā and ī-thāna. 3. y-ānti.

¹ It is, however, preserved in an altered form in the 2. sing. impv. act.: e-dhi for as-dhi* (62, 4, 6, p. 57). This verb has the further anomalies of losing its s in the 2. sing. pres. a-si, and in inserting i in the 2. 3. sing. impf. ās-i-s, ās-i-t. It has no middle.

² Cp. V. NEGELEIN 83; VAN WIJK, IF. 18, 59.

³ Limited to the active in this conjugation in the RV.

⁴ The only middle form.

⁵ There are also some transfer forms according to the a- conjugation: 3. sing. sāsati.

⁶ Similarly from dās- 'worship' the part. dās-at-.

⁷ In the middle participle the h of the root reverts to the guttural gh: dūgh-āna.

⁸ Transfer to the a- conjugation.

⁹ The MS. has further anomalous endings in the imperf. mid.: 3. sing. a-duh-a and 3. pl. a-duh-ra, probably as parallel to the present duhe and duhre: WHITNEY 635.

Present Imperative.

454. The endings are added directly to the root, which appears in its weak form except in the 3. sing. act., where it is strong and accented⁵. In the 2. sing. act., -dhi is added to a final consonant, -hi to a vowel; -tāt, which occurs only three times, may be added to either a consonant or a vowel. In the mid., -ām 3. sing., -rām and -ratām 3. pl., occasionally appear for -īm and *-atām*⁶.

² vidātha, AV. I. 32¹, seems to be a corruption for vēdatha; cp. WHITNEY's note.

³ For stuṣ-a-i; cp. AVERY 238; DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 181³; NEISSER, BB. 27, 262—280; OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 55, 39.

Present Participle.

455. The active participle is formed by adding *-ānt*³ to the weak root; thus y-ānt from i- 'go'; duh-ānt from duh- 'milk'; s-ānt from as- 'be'. The strong stems of the participles of dās- 'worship' and sās- 'order' lose the n: *dās-at*⁴ and *sās-at*⁵. The middle participle is formed by adding the suffix -ānā to the weak form of the root; thus iy-ānā from √i-; us-ānā from √vas-; ghn-ānā (AV.) from √ghan-. In a few examples, however, the radical vowel takes Guṇa; thus oh-ānā from ūh- 'consider'; yodh-ānā from yudh- 'fight'; śāy-ānā from śi- 'lie'; stav-ānā from stu- 'praise'. The final of √duh- reverts to the original guttural in dūgh-ānā beside the regular dūhāna. The root ās- 'sit' has the anomalous suffix -ina in ās-ina beside the regular ās-ānā. Several of these participles in -āna alternatively accent the radical vowel instead of the final vowel of the suffix; thus vid-āna beside vid-ānā 'finding'.

Active. adānt-, anānt-, usānt-, *kṣiyānt*⁶ 'dwelling', ghnānt- (√ghan-), duhānt-, divśānt-, dhṛṣānt-, pānt- 'protecting', bruvānt-, bhānt-, yānt-, yānt-, rihānt-, rudānt-, *vānt*⁷ (AV.), vyānt- (√vī-), sānt-, sasānt-, stuvānt-, snānt-, svapānt-, with loss of n: dāsāt-, sāsāt-.

Middle. adānā-, āsānā- and āsina-, indhāna-, iyānā- (VS. x. 19; TS. i. 8. 14²), īlāna-, īrāna-, īśāna- and (once) īśānā-, *usānā*⁸-, *uśānā*⁹- (vas- 'wear'), ohāna- and ohānā- (√ūh-), *kṣuvānā*¹⁰-, ghnānā- (AV.), dihānā-, dūghāna- and duhānā- and dūhāna-, dhṛṣānā- (AV.), nijānā-, bruvānā-, mṛjānā-, yuvānā- (yu-

² In AV. (iv. 14²) and TS. (iv. 6. 51) some Mss. read ādhwam. VS. xvii. 65 has adhvam.

³ The feminine is formed with -ī from the weak stem; thus ghnat-ī-, duhat-ī-, yāt-ī-, yāt-ī-, bhāt-ī-, rudat-ī-, sat-ī (AV.), snāt-ī-. But the AV. has yāntī- (beside yātī-) and svapāntī-; see WHITNEY, Index Verborum 374¹.

⁴ The verb dās- may have lost its nasal in the 3. pl. act., but there is no evidence of this, as the only form preserved according to the root class is 3. sing. dāṣṭi.

⁵ As in 3. pl.

⁶ kṣiyāntam TS. iv. 1. 2⁵.

⁷ apa-vān AV. xix. 50⁴ is probably N. sing. of this part; see WHITNEY's note and cp. LANMAN 484².

a. 2. The Reduplicating Class.

457. This class is less than half as frequent as the root class, comprising fewer than 50 verbs. The endings are here added to the reduplicated root, which is treated as in the root class, taking Guṇa in the strong forms. The stem shows the same peculiarity as the desiderative in reduplicating ī (= ar) and ā with i. Here, however, this rule is not invariable. All the roots with r except one reduplicate with i. They are r- 'go': *i-y-ar*⁶; ghr- 'drip': jīghar-; tṛ- 'cross': tītr-; pī- 'fill' and pṛ- 'pass': pīpar-; bhr- 'bear': bībhar-; sr- 'run': sīsar-; prc- 'mix': pīprc-; but vṛt- 'turn': vavart-. While nine roots reduplicate ā with a, thirteen do so with i. The latter are: gā- 'go': jīgā-; ghrā- 'smell': jīghrā-; pā- 'drink': pībā-; mā- 'measure': mīmā-; mā- 'bellow': mīmā-; śā- 'sharpen': śīśā-; sthā- 'stand': tīsthā-; hā- 'go forth': jīhī-; vac- 'speak': vīvac-; vas- 'desire': *vīvas*⁸; vyac- 'extend': vīvyac-; sac- 'accompany': *sīśac*⁹; han- 'strike': jīghna-. Three of these, however, pā-, sthā-, han-, have permanently gone over to the a- conjugation, while a fourth, ghrā-, is beginning to do so. Contrary to analogy the accent is not, in the majority of verbs belonging to this class, on the root in the strong forms, but on the reduplicative syllable. The latter is further accented in the 3. pl. act. and mid., as well as in the 1. du. and pl. mid. Doubtless as a result of this accentuation, the verbs of this class lose the n of the endings in the 3. pl. act. and mid.; e. g. *bībhr-ati*¹⁰ and jīhate.

² The form aitat (AV. XVIII. 340) seems to be a corruption of āit; see WHITNEY's note in his Translation.

³ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 81; REICHELT BB. 27, 89. VS. VIII. 46 has the transfer form āsāt.

⁴ ārudat (AV.) is a transfer to the a- conjugation. In I. 772 vās, 3. sing., seems to be an aor. form = vā-s-i*.

⁵ Unaugmented form IV. 31.

⁶ With -y- interposed between reduplication and root.

⁷ With ī for ā; inflected in the middle only.

⁸ Also vavās.

⁹ Also sāsac.

¹⁰ That is, a replaces the sonant nasal.

a. There are a number of irregularities chiefly in the direction of shortening the root in weak forms. 1. Roots ending in ā drop their vowel before terminations beginning with vowels: e. g. √mā: mim-e, 3. pl. mim-ate. √dā- and √dhā-, the two commonest verbs in this class, drop the ā in all weak forms. — 2. The root vyac- takes Samprasāraṇa; e. g. 3. du. viviktās; analogously hvar- 'be crooked', makes some forms with Samprasāraṇa, when it reduplicates with u; e. g. juhūrthās, 2. sing. mid. injunctive. — 3. The verbs ḥas- 'chew', sac- 'accompany', has- 'laugh', syncopate the radical vowel; thus babhas-at, 3. sing. subj., but bāps-ati, 3. pl. ind.; sāse-ati, 3. pl. ind. pres., sāse-ata, 3. pl. inj.; jāks-at, pres. part. — 4. The ā of śā- 'sharpen', mā- 'measure', mā- 'bellow', rā- 'give', hā- 'go away' (mid.), and (in AV.) hā- 'leave' (act.)², is usually changed to i before consonants; e. g. śi gṃśi, mimīte, *rarīthās*³, jihīte, jahīta (AV.); while the roots dā- 'give' and dhā- 'put' drop their vowel even here⁴; e. g. dād-mahe, dadh-māsi. — 5. The initial of ci- 'observe' reverts to the original guttural throughout; e. g. cikēṣi (AV.). — 6. When the aspiration of dadh-, the weak base of dhā-, is lost before t, th, s, or dhv, it is thrown back on the initial; e. g. dhat-sva. — 7. The roots dī- 'shine', dhī- 'think', pī- 'swell', reduplicate with i; e. g. ādīdet, ādīdhet, āpīpet. — 8. There are a number of transfers from this to other classes. Thus caks- 'see', originally a syncopated reduplicative base (= cakās*-), has become a root inflected according to the root class; jāks- 'eat', also originally a reduplicated base (jaghas-), has become a root from which is formed the past passive participle jag-dhā-, and which in the later language is inflected both in the root class and the a- class. The weak bases dad- and dadh- show an incipient tendency to become roots⁵, from which a number of transfer forms according to the a- conjugation are made, such as 3. sing. mid. dada-te, 3. pl. ind. act. dādhamti, 3. pl. impv. act. dadhānti, 3. sing. mid. dadhā-te, 2. du. dadhete (AV.). The roots pā- 'drink', sthā-, han-, form only transfer stems according to the a- class: piba-, tīṣtha-, jighna-, while ghrā-, mā- 'bellow', rā-, ḥas-, sac- make occasional forms from transfer stems according to the a- class: jighra-, mima-, rāra-, bāpsa-, sāśca-.

¹ This of course does not take place in the transfer verbs according to the a- conjugation.

² In the RV. hā- 'leave', has only forms with ā (never i).

³ But rarāśva (AV.).

⁴ The vowel of hā- 'leave' is also dropped in the 3. pl. opt. act. jahyur (AV.).

⁵ From the former is made the past passive participle dat-tā- 'given'.

⁶ This is the accentuation in MAX MÜLLER'S and AUFRICHT'S editions, both in Samhitā and Padapāṭha.

⁷ Also the transfer form dadhete (AV.).

⁸ By AVERY 237⁴ given as 3. sing. subjunctive middle.

⁹ TS. I. 5. 10⁴, III. 1. 8² has the transfer form dādante.

¹⁰ Pp. dīdayat; see WHITNEY's note on AV. III. 8³.

¹¹ sāsvacā (RV. III. 33¹⁰) is probably sing. 1 perfect subj. (p. 361); but occurring beside the aorist form namsai, it may be an aorist, to which tense WHITNEY, Roots, doubtfully assigns it.

¹² dīdayante (AV. XVIII. 373) is perhaps a subjunctive.

¹³ With the strong base yuyo- for yuyu-.

¹⁴ AVERY 241 gives here several forms which it is better to class as optatives perfect.

¹⁵ With weak base jah-, for jāh-, which here loses its final vowel like dadā- and dadhā-.

¹⁶ The only form in which √rā-reduplicates with i.

Du. 2. jāhītam (AV.), jigātam, dattām, dhattām, piprām, mimītam, yuyūtām and *yuyotām*¹, śiśītām, sisrām. — 3. cikītam (ci- 'note', AV.), dattām, dhattām, piprām, bibhrām, mimītam, śiśītām.

Pl. 2. *īyartā*², jāhīta (AV.), jigāta, *juhūta*³, dattā and *dādātā*⁴, dhattā and *dādhattā*⁵, ninikta (V-nij-), piprktā, piprtā, bibhīta (AV.), bibhrtā (TS. IV. 2. 3²), *yuyōtā*¹, śiśīta, śisaktā; jigātana, *juhūtana*³, *dādātana*⁴, dhātana and *dādhattana*⁵, *pipartana*⁶, bibhītana, mamattāna, *yuyātana*¹, vivaktana. — 3. dadatu (AV.), *dadhātu*⁷.

Middle. Sing. 2. jihīsva, datsva (AV.), dhatsva, mimīsva (AV.), rarāsva (AV.). — 3. *jihītām*⁸.

Du. 2. jihāthām (TS. I. I. 12¹), dīdhīthām (AV.), mīmāthām, rarāthām.

Pl. 2. juhūdhwam (TS. IV. 6. 15), rarūdhwam. — 3. jihātām, dadhātām, sisrātām (Kh. I. 3⁶).

Present Participle.

461. Active. As the suffix -ant drops its n (like the endings of the 3. pl. act.) strong and weak stem are not distinguished. The feminine stem of course lacks n also; e. g. bībhrat-ī. Stems occurring are: cīkyat- (ci- 'note')⁹, jāhat-, jigat-, jihvat-, tītrat- (tī- 'cross'), dādat-, dādhat-, dīdyat-, dīdhyat-, bāpsat-, bībhyat-, bībhrat-, sāścat- ('pursuer') and *sāścat-*¹⁰ ('helping'), *sisrat-*¹¹.

Middle. jihāna-, jihvāna-, dādāna-, dādāhāna-, dīdyāna-, dīdhyāna-, pīpāna- (pā- 'drink', AV.) and *pīpānā-*¹², *pīpyāna-*¹³ (V-pī-), mīmāna-, *rarāna-*¹⁴, śiśāna-.

Imperfect Indicative.

462. All the verbs of this class occurring in the 3. pl. act. take the ending -ur except bhī-, which has the normal -an. The verbs dā-, dhā-, hā- show the irregularity (appearing elsewhere also) of using the strong instead of the weak base in the 2. pl. act.

Active. Sing. 1. adadām, adadhām. — 2. ādadās, *ādadhās*¹⁵, ādādes, āvives (V-viṣ-); bībhes (AV.), vivēs (V-viṣ-), śiśās. — 3. aciket (V-ci-), ājahāt, ajigāt, *ādadāt*¹⁶, ādadhāt, ādīdet, ābibhar, ābibhet, *āvīvyak*¹⁷, āsīśat, vivēs (V-viṣ-).

Du. 2. adattam, adhattam. — 3. āvīviktām, āmimātām (AV.)¹⁸.

Pl. 2. *ādadātā*¹⁹, *ādadhātā*¹⁹ and ādhatta; *ājahātana*¹⁹, ādattana. — 3. ābibhran; ājahur, ājuhavur, adadur, adadhur, āmamadur, āvīvyacur; jahur, dadur, dīdhyur (AV.), vīvyacur.

Middle. Sing. 2. ādhatthās, āmimīthās; dīdīthās (AV.). — 3. ājihīta, adatta, adhatta, *āpiprātā*²⁰, āmimīta; śiśīta. — Pl. 3. ājihata, *djuhvatā*²¹.

² With strong base īyar- for īy-*; cp. v. NEGELEIN 65^{1f}.

³ With strong base for weak.

⁴ Strong base dādā- for dad-.

⁵ Strong base dādīhā- for dadh-.

⁶ Strong base pīpar- for pipr-.

⁷ Also the transfer form dadhān 'u'.

⁸ There is also the 3. sing. transfer form dadātām.

⁹ cīkyat (IV. 38¹), nom. sing. m., is given by v. NEGELEIN 77² as cīkyat and explained as a pluperfect form.

¹⁰ When compounded with the negative particle, sāścat- remains unchanged in the fem. if accented a-sāścat-, but has n if accented on the prefix: ā-sāścant-ī.

¹¹ For inflected forms of these stems see 312.

¹² With irregular accent.

¹³ The anomalous transfer form bībhra-māna- takes the place of bībhāna-*.

¹⁴ But perfect rarānā-.

¹⁵ There is no sufficient reason for regarding ādadhās in x. 739, as a 3. sing. (AVERY 248; DELBRÜCK, Verbum 50, 59).

¹⁶ There is also the transfer form dādat. v. NEGELEIN 67² gives dādhat (RV. AV.) which seems a misprint for dādhat.

¹⁷ There is also the unaugmented transfer form vīvyācat.

¹⁸ WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 665, quotes ājahītām from the TS. (mantra?).

¹⁹ With strong base instead of weak.

²⁰ Anomalous form instead of āpiprāta*.

²¹ Also the transfer form adadanta. WHITNEY 658 also mentions the unaugmented 3. pl. jihata.

β. 1. The infixing nasal class.

463. This class, which includes fewer than 30 verbs, is characterized by the accented syllable ná preceding the final consonant of the root in the strong forms. That syllable in the weak forms becomes a simple nasal varying according to the class to which the following consonant belongs.

1. The infix, appearing in forms outside the limits of the present stem, has become part of the root in añj- 'anoint', bhañj- 'break', and hims- 'injure'. — 2. There are a few transfers to the ā-class, in which some of these verbs come to be inflected in the later language¹, and in which several verbs are regularly nasalized in the present stem (429, a, 1). — 3. Instead of the regular -ná, the root trh- 'crush' infixes -né- in the strong forms; thus 3. sing. tr̥ne-dhi. — 4. In the 3. pl. ind. mid. irregular accentuation of the final syllable occurs exceptionally in each of the forms añjāté, indhāté, *bhuñjāté*².

Present Indicative.

464. The forms actually occurring, if made from yuj- 'join', would be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. yunájmi. 2. yunákṣi. 3. yunákti. — Pl. 1. yunájmas. 3. yunájanti.

Middle. Sing. 1. yunájé. 2. yunákse. 3. yunákte. — Du. 2. yunájáthe. 3. yunájáte. — Pl. 2. yunágdhvé. 3. yunájáte.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

Active. Sing. 1. anajmi (AV.), chinadmi (AV.), tr̥nadmi (√tr̥d-), bhinádmi, yunájmi, runadhami (rudh- 'obstruct'). — 2. pr̥nákṣi (√pr̥c-), bhinátsi, yunakṣi, vr̥nákṣi (vr̥j- 'twist'). — 3. anakti, unátti (√ud-), kṛnatti (kṛ- 'spin'), *gr̥natti*³ (AV. x. 743), chinátti (AV.), tr̥natti, pináṣti (√piṣ-), bhanákti (√bhañj-), bhinátti, yundákti (AV.), rinákti (√ric-), runáddhi, vr̥nákṣi, hindáti (√hims-, AV. S. A.).

Pl. 1. añjmas. — 3. añjánti, undánti, piṃṣánti, pr̥ncánti, bhindánti, yunájánti, viñcánti (vic- 'sift'), vr̥ñjánti.

Middle. Sing. 1. añje, rñje (rj- 'direct'), pr̥ñce (AV.), yunájé, vr̥ñjé. — 2. yunákse (AV.). — 3. *anákte*⁴, indhé (= ind-dhé, √idh-), pr̥nákte, *yunákte*⁵, rundhé (= rund-dhé, AV.), vr̥nákte, *himpste*⁶ (AV.). — With ending -e: vr̥ñjé.

Du. 2. añjáthe (Kh. v. 64; VS. xxxiii. 33), yunájáthe. — 3. añjáte (VS. xx. 61), tuñjáte, vr̥ñjáte (AV.).

Pl. 2. angdhvé. — 3. añjáte and añjáte, indháte and indháte, rñjate, tuñjáte, pr̥ncáte, bhuñjáte and bhuñjáte, yunájáte, rundhate (AV.), vr̥ñjate.

Present Subjunctive.

465. The weak base is once used instead of the strong in the form añj-a-tas; and the AV. has once the double modal sign ā in the form tr̥ndh-ān.

Active. Sing. 2. bhinádas. — 3. r̥nádhat, bhinádat, yunájat. — Du. 1. rin̄cāva. — 3. añjatas. — Pl. 3. anájān, yunájān, vr̥ñjān; tr̥ndh-ān (AV.).

Middle. Sing. 3. inádhate, yunájate. — Pl. 1. bhunájāmahai, runadhamahai.

Present Injunctive.

Active. Sing. 2. piṇák (√piṣ-), bhinát. — 3. piṇak, pr̥nák, bhinát, rinak (√ric-).

Middle. Pl. 3. yunájata.

¹ Thus ud- 'wet': unátti is inflected as unda-ti in B. and S.; and yuj- 'join': yundákti as yunja-ti in U. and E., beside the old forms.

² In the RV. añjáte occurs once, añjáte 12 times, indháte 4 times, indháte 15 times, while bhuñjáte and bhuñjáte occur once each.

³ úd gr̥natti 'ties up', is here only a corruption of the corresponding út kṛnatti of RV. x. 130², seemingly a form of grath- 'tie'.

⁴ AV. an̄tē.

⁵ AV. yun̄te.

⁶ With irregular accent.

Present Optative.

Active. Sing. 3. bhindyāt (AV.). — Middle. Sing. 3. prñctā.

Present Imperative.

466. The only ending of the 2. sing. act. is -dhi, no form with -tāt having been met with. As usual, the strong base sometimes appears in the 2. pl. act.: unātta, yunākta; anaktana, pinasana.

Active. β. 2. The nu- class.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 154—157. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 232 ff. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 254—260; Roots 213. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 57—60; 63—64; 94.

469. More than thirty verbs follow this class in the Samhitās. The stem is formed by adding to the root, in the strong forms, the accented syllable -nū, which in the weak forms is reduced to -nu.

¹ For añg-dhi. The final consonant of the root is regularly dropped before the ending -dhi.

² Cp. v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 61³.

³ The AV. has the transfer form umbhata (√ubh-) according to the ā- class.

⁴ AV. XIX. 455: ākṣva emended to ā-āñkṣva; see WHITNEY's note on the passage.

⁵ v. NEGELEIN 63, note 1, thinks this form may be the starting point of the ending -ām in the imperatives 3. sing. vid-ām and dūh-ām.

⁶ AV. also prñcat-.

⁷ √tud- otherwise follows the ā- class.

⁸ √subh- otherwise follows the a- or ā- class.

⁹ From √trd-. The MSS. have ātrñat; see WHITNEY's note on AV. XIX. 32⁴.

¹⁰ For abhanak-s* (√bhañj-): see WHITNEY, Grammar 555, and his note on AV. III. 63⁵. Cp. above 66, c, β 2 (p. 61).

a. Several irregularities occur with regard to root, suffix, and ending. 1. The root sru- 'hear' is dissimilated to śr- before the suffix: śr-nu-, śr-nō-. — 2. The root vr- 'cover' assumes the anomalous form of ār- (with interchange of vowel and semivowel: ār-nu-, beside the regular *vr-nu-*². — 3. Four roots ending in -n, tan- 'stretch', man- 'think', van- 'win', san- 'gain', seem to form their stem with the suffix -n, being assigned by the Indian grammarians to a separate class, the eighth; but this appearance has probably been brought about by the -an of the root having originally been reduced to the nasal sonant: tan-nu- for tan-nu-*³. — 4. In place of the regular and very frequent kr-nu-, there appears in the tenth book of the RV. the anomalous stem kuru-, once in the form kur-mas (X. 51¹), 1. pl. pres. ind., and twice in the form kuru (X. 19², 145²), 2. sing. impv. act. The strong form of this stem, *kar-*⁴, which has the additional anomaly of Guṇa in the root, appears in the AV., where however the forms made from krn-, krnu- are still upwards of six times as common as those from kar-, *kuru-*⁵. The isolated form taru-te 'attains', which occurs once in the RV. (X. 76²), seems to be analogous in formation to *kar-*⁶, but it may be connected with the somewhat frequent nominal stem *taru-*⁶. — 5. The u of the suffix is dropped, in all the few forms which occur in the 1. pl. ind. act. and mid., before terminations beginning with m: kur-mās, krn-māsi (AV.), tan-māsi (TS.), hin-mas (AV.), hin-māsi (AV.); krn-māhe, *man-māhe*⁷. When the -nu is preceded by a consonant, the u becomes ū before vowel endings; e. g. aśnu-anti (but sunu-anti). — 6. In the 3. pl. mid., six verbs of this class take the ending *-re*⁸ with connecting vowel -i-: inv-ire, piv-ire, *finv-ire*⁹, śrnu-irē, sunu-irē, hinu-irē. The connecting vowel -i- is also taken by śru- in the 2. sing. mid. śrnu-i-ṣe (for śrnu-ṣe*) used in a passive sense. — 7. Five stems of this class, i-nu-, p-nu-, ji-nu-, hi-nu-, have come to be used frequently even in the RV. as secondary roots following the a-conjugation. Of these finv-a- occurs almost exclusively in the RV. as well as the AV.; inv-a- alone is met with in the AV.; and finv-a- and hinu-a- are commoner in the RV. than ji-nu- and hi-nu-.

Present Indicative.

470. The forms actually occurring, if made from kr- 'make', would be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. krnōmi. 2. krnōsi. 3. krnōti. — Du. 2. krnuthās. 3. krnuthās. — Pl. 1. krnmāsi and krnmās. 2. krnuthā. 3. krnvanti.

⁷ Thus krn-māhe is not the only example

(DELBRÜCK 174, BRUGMANN, KG. 673) of this phenomenon. There is no example in the Samhitās of the 1. du. in -vas and -vāhe; but krn-vās*, krn-vāhe* must be presupposed to account for the loss of the -u before -mas and -māhe: BRUGMANN, KG. 673.

⁸ Like duh-re in the root class.

⁹ This is the only form (besides the participle finv-ānā- and finv-ant-, finv-at-īm in AV.) in which the stem finu- appears. All others are made from the transfer stem finva-.

² The form arñavat, AV. v. 2⁸ (Vr-), is a corruption of avṛnot in RV.

³ The TS. has once āśnavatai (WHITNEY 701).

⁴ Irregular for kṛñdvāite.

⁵ Omitted by AVERY 238.

⁶ The injunctive form āśnavam, AV. XIX. 55⁶, is a conjecture; see WHITNEY's note on the passage.

⁷ ūrñutê occurs in TS. VI. 1. 3³ and ūrñu- vīta in K. (WHITNEY 713).

⁸ Cp. WHITNEY 704.

β. 3. The nā- class.

DELERÜCK, Verbum p. 151—153. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 232 ff. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 260—263; Roots 214. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 49—57. — Cp. J. SCHMIDT, Festschrift an Roth 179 ff.; BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 7, 50—81; BRUGMANN, IF. 16, 509 ff.

475. Nearly forty verbs belong to this class in the Samhitās. The stem is formed by adding to the root, in the strong forms, the accented syllable -nāḥ, which in the weak forms is reduced to -nī before consonants and -ni before vowels.

a. There are some irregularities with regard to the root, the suffix, and the endings. 1. The root shows a tendency to be reduced in various ways. The roots jī- 'overpower', jū- 'hasten', pū- 'purify', are shortened; e.g. jināmi, junāsi, punāti. The root grabh- 'seize' and its later form grah- take ¹ With strong stem instead of weak. Thus in four out of seven verbs there is an alternative strong form; and in one other (tanota) the strong is the only form occurring.

² Thus all the forms occurring with -tana have a strong stem. WHITNEY 704 also mentions karōta besides the 2. du. kṛṇotam, but I do not know whether these forms occur in mantra passages.

³ śṛṇvānt- in pari-śṛṇvān (IX. 39²).

⁴ In x. 134 ākṛṇvata has the appearance of being used for the 3. sing. (= ākṛṇuta).

⁵ The suffix may originally have been -nai of which -nī would be the weak grade (27); but BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 597, note, disagrees with this view. He thinks -nī has displaced earlier -ni, KG. p. 512.

Samprasāraṇa; e. g. grbhñāmi and grhñāmi (AV.). Four roots which, in forms outside the present system appear with a nasal¹, drop the nasal here; thus bandh- 'bind': badhnāmi (AV.); manth- 'shake': mathnāmi (AV.); skambh- 'make firm': skabhnāti; stambh- 'prop': stabhnāti (AV.). The root jñā- 'know', also loses its nasal; e. g. *jā-nā-mi*². — 2. The strong form of the suffix, -nā, appears in certain 2. persons impv. act., which should have the weak form -nī; e. g. 2. pl. punā-ta for punī-tā. On the other hand -nī appears once instead of -nā in 3. sing. injv. *minī*³ (AV.). — 3. A few roots ending in consonants take the peculiar ending -ānā in the 2. sing. impv. act.; e. g. *grh-ānā*⁴. — 4. Transfers to the a- conjugation are made from five roots. These are rare in the case of gr- 'sing': grnā-ta 2. pl. ind., grṇa-nta 3. pl. impf.; mi- 'damage': minā-t 3. sing. injv., amīna-nta 3. pl. impf.; śr- 'crush' only śṛṇa (AV.) 2. sing. impv. But pr- 'fill' and mr- 'crush' form the regular ā- stems prnā- and mrnā- (beside prnā- and mrnā-), ten forms being made from the former, and five from the latter in the RV.⁵

Present Indicative.

476. The forms actually occurring, if made from grabh- 'seize', would be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. grbhñāmi. 2. grbhñāsi. 3. grbhñāti. — Du. 2. grbhñīthas. 3. grbhñīts. — Pl. 1. grbhñīmāsi and grbhñīmās. 2. grbhñītha and grbhñīthāna. 3. grbhñānti.

Pl. 1. grhñīmāhe (TS. v. 7. 9¹), punīmāhe (Kh. III. 10⁴), *vrñīmāhe*⁹. —

¹ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 627.

² Originally janā-* with nasal sonant, jñā-* nā-; see BRUGMANN, KG. 666 (p. 511).

³ On this form see v. NEGELEIN 56, note 1.

⁴ On the origin of this ending see BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 975.

⁵ Beside seven present stems of this class there appear denominative stems in -āya from the same roots. Cp. v. NEGELEIN 50—52.

⁶ Given, along with a number of cognate forms, as from the root bādḥ-, by v. NEGELEIN 57.

⁷ The only form occurring of the root bhrī- 'consume'.

⁸ The form grñīśé also occurs in the RV. as a 1. sing. ind., 'I praise', being formed from an anomalous aorist stem grñī-s-.

⁹ According to WHITNEY 719, once vrñīmāhe, with reference doubtless to RV. v. 20³, where, however, vrñīmāhe 'gñe' is only the Sandhi accentuation for vrñīmāhe agñe (see above 108 and p. 319, note 13).

3. *āsnate*¹, grbhñate, grhñate (AV.), jānate, punāte (AV.) and punāté, badhnāte, riṇāté, ṛṇāté.

Present Subjunctive.

477. In the 2. 3. sing., subjunctive forms are indistinguishable from the indicative present, if formed with primary endings, and from the injunctive, if formed with secondary endings, as the modal sign a is merged in the strong stem; thus grbhñāti may be 3. sing. indicative or subjunctive; grbhñās may be 2. sing. injunctive or subjunctive. In such forms therefore the sense or construction of the sentence can alone decide their value. These as well as unmistakable subjunctives are rare in this class.

Active. Sing. 2. grbhñās, junās. — 3. prñāti (X. 2¹, cp. 2⁵), prñāt (AV.). — Pl. 1. junāma, mināma.

Middle Du. 1. krñāvakhai (TS. I. 8. 4¹). — Pl. 1. jānāmahai (AV.).

Present Injunctive.

Active. Sing. 1. ksīṇām. — 2. riṇās (AV. XX. 135¹²). — 3. jānāté, *mināté*³ (AV. VI. 110³). — Pl. 3. minan, riṇān (VIII. 7²³), scamnan.

Middle. Sing. 2. krñāthās. — 3. grñāta, grbhñāta, ṛṇāta. — Pl. 1. *strñāmdhī*⁴.

Present Optative.

In the middle some forms of the optative cannot be distinguished from unaugmented forms of the imperfect, as the modal sign -ī is merged in the suffix -nt. The forms actually occurring are very few, being found in the 2. 3. sing. only.

Active. 3. āsnīyāt (AV.), grhñīyāt (AV.), jīnīyāt (AV.), prñīyāt.

Middle. 2. jānīthās (Kh. IV. 5³⁰). — 3. ṛṇīta (TS. I. 1. 2¹ = urita, VS. IV. 8).

Present Imperative.

478. The regular ending of the 2. sing. act. is -hi, while -dhi never occurs. Three verbs take -tāt as well. One of these, grah-, and three others ending in a consonant, as-, bandh-, stambh-, take the peculiar ending -ānd.

Active. Sing. 2. *grñāhi*⁵ (TS. IV. 4. 12⁵), grñhi, grbhñhi (AV.), *grhñāhi*⁵ (AV.), jānhi, *punāhi*⁶ (SV.), punhi, prñhi (AV.), mṛñhi, *śṛñhi*⁶ (SV.), *śṛñhi*⁷, *strñhi*⁸ (AV.). — With -tāt: grhñitāt (AV.), *jānītāt*⁹ (TS. AV.), punītāt. — With -āna: *asāna*¹⁰, *grhāna*¹⁰ (X. 103¹²), badhāna (AV.), stabhāna (AV.). — 3. grñātu, grhñātu, jānātu (AV.), punātu, prñātu (AV.), badhnātu (AV.), śṛñātu (AV.), sinātu (AV.).

Du. 2. āsnitām, grñitām (TS. IV. 1. 8²), grhñitām (AV.), prñitām, śṛñitām, strñitām. — 3. grñitām, punitām (AV.).

¹ grñāté (AV. IV. 21²), given by v. NEGELEIN as a finite form grñate (unaccented), is the dat. sing. of the participle.

² This form is accented jānāt in the Khila (III. 21) after RV. X. 103 (AUFRECHT's R̥igveda², 682), but it is correct in the corresponding passage of the AV. (III. 26).

³ For mināt.

⁴ There seems to be no certain example of a 3. pl. AVERY 240 gives grbhñata, but this form (IX. 14⁷) appears to have an imperf. sense; he adds ṛṇata with a query, but I cannot trace the form.

⁵ With strong base instead of grñhi, grbhñhi.

⁶ With strong base and irregular accent.

⁷ Also the transfer form śṛṇa (AV. XIX. 45¹).

⁸ WHITNEY 723 quotes strñāhi from the TS. [VI. 3. 1²].

⁹ v. NEGELEIN 57, line 6, seems to regard jñātāt (AV. XIX. 15⁶), given as jñātāt (unaccented), as an anomalous imperative; but it is the ablative of the past participle.

¹⁰ Both forms are omitted by AVERY 243; the latter is regarded by GRASSMANN as a participle.

Pl. 2. *gr̥ṇīta*¹, gr̥bh̥ṇīta, jānīta, punīti and *punīta*², pr̥ṇīta, mathnīta (AV.), m̥ṇīta (AV.), sr̥ṇīta (AV.). — With -tana: punītāna, pr̥ṇītāna, sr̥ṇītāna. — 3. āśnantu (AV.), gr̥ṇantu (AV. II. The Perfect System.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik p. 372—381. — DELBRÜCK, Verbum 112—134. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 249—253. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 279—296; Roots 219—221. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 70—78.

481. Like the present system, the perfect has, besides an indicative, the subjunctive, optative and imperative moods, as well as participles and an augmented tense, the pluperfect. It is of very frequent occurrence, being taken by nearly 300 verbs in the Samhitās. It is formed in essentially the same way from all roots, its characteristic feature being reduplication.

1. The Reduplicative Syllable⁸.

482. The reduplicative vowel is as a rule short. It is, however, long in more than thirty verbs. These are kan 'be pleased': cā-kan; kṣp 'be adapted': cā-kṣp; gr 'wake': jā-gr; grdh 'be greedy': jā-grdh; tr̥p 'be pleased': tā-tr̥p; tr̥s 'be thirsty': tā-tr̥s; dhr 'hold': dā-dhr; nam 'bend': nā-nam;

¹ Also the transfer form according to the ā-class, gr̥ṇāta (AV. v. 279).

² With strong instead of weak base.

³ In Khila II. 10⁶ wrongly jānītām.

⁴ With fem. pr̥ṇātī, a transfer to the ā-class.

⁵ v. NEGELEIN 57 also gives the unaugmented form jānan (RV. AV.), which I cannot trace

(the participle nom. sing. m. jānan is common).

⁶ In pr̥āśnan (AV. XI. 33²) the Pada text reads pr̥ā-āśnan.

⁷ Also the transfer forms aminānta and gr̥ṇānta (VIII. 37).

⁸ On the reduplicative syllable see v. NEGELEIN 70; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 846.

mah- 'be liberal': mā-mah-; mṛj- 'wipe': mā-mṛj-; mṛś- 'touch': mā-mṛś-; radh- 'be subject': rā-radh-; ran- 'rejoice': rā-ran-; rabh- 'grasp': rā-rabh-; vañc- 'be crooked': vā-vak-; van- 'win': vā-van-; vaś- 'desire': vā-vaś-; vas- 'clothe': vā-vas-; vāś- 'roar': vā-vaś-; vṛj- 'twist': vā-vṛj-; vṛt- 'turn': vā-vṛt-; vṛdh- 'grow': vā-vṛdh-; vṛṣ- 'rain': vā-vṛṣ-; śad- 'prevail': śā-śad-; sah- 'prevail': sā-sah-; skambh- 'prop': cā-skambh-; dī- 'shine': dī-dī-; dṛt- 'think': dī-dṛt-; pṛ- 'swell': pṛ-pṛ-; hṛd- 'be hostile': jī-hṛd- (AV¹); jū- 'be swift': jū-jū-; tu- 'be strong': tā-tu-; sū- 'swell': sū-sū-.

a. The reduplication of r (= ar) and l (= al) is always *ā*²; e. g. kṛ- 'make': cakṛ-; grdh- 'be greedy': jā-grdh-; kṛp- 'be adapted': cā-kṛp-.

b. The reduplication of ā, ī, ū is made with ā, ī, ū respectively; e. g. khād- 'chew': ca-khād-; bhī- 'fear': bibhī-; budh- 'know': bu-budh-.

There are, however, certain exceptions to this rule.

1. Roots containing ya or va and liable to Samprasāraṇa in other forms (such as the past passive participle), reduplicate with i and u respectively³. Those with ya are: tyaj- 'forsake': ti-tyaj-; yaj- 'sacrifice': i-yaj-; vyac- 'extend': vī-vyac-; syand- 'move on': si-syand- (AV.). Similarly gyu- 'stir': *ci-gyu-*⁴ (beside cu-gyu-), and dṇut- 'shine': *di-dṇut-*⁴. Those with va are: vac- 'speak': u-vac-; vad- 'speak': u-vad-; vap- 'strew': u-vap-; vah- 'carry': u-vah-; svap- 'sleep': su-svap-. The three roots yam- 'reach', van- 'win', vas- 'wear', however, have the full reduplication: ya-yam-, va-van-, vā-vas-; and vac- 'speak' has it optionally: va-vac- beside *u-vac-*⁵. — a. The roots bhū- 'be', sū- 'generate', and śī- 'lie', reduplicate with a: ba-bhū-; sa-sū- (beside su-sū-, AV.); śa-śī- (in the participle śa-śay-āni)⁶.

c. In roots beginning with vowels, the reduplication coalesces with the initial of the root to a long vowel; e. g. an- 'breathe': ān-; av- 'favour': āv-; aś- 'eat': āś-; as- 'be': ās-; ah- 'say': āh-; r- 'go': ār- (= a-ar-); āp- 'obtain': āp-; īd- 'praise': īd-; ir- 'set in motion': īr-; ūh- 'consider': ūh-. But if the root begins with i or u, the reduplicative syllable is separated, in the sing. act., from the strong radical syllable by its own semivowel: i- 'go': 3. pl. īy-ūr, but 2. sing. i-y-é-tha; uc- 'be pleased': 2. sing. mid. ūc-i-sé, but 3. sing. act. *u-v-éc-a*⁷.

a. Five roots beginning with prosodically long a, reduplicate not with a, but with the syllable ān-. Only two of these, both containing a nasal, viz. amś- 'attain' and añj- 'anoint', make several forms; the former, 3. sing. ān-āms-a and ān-ās-a, pl. 1. ān-as-ma, 2. ān-as-ā, 3. ān-as-ūr; mid. sing. 1. 3. ān-as-é; subj. pl. 1. ān-as-ā-mahai; opt. sing. 1. *ān-as-yām*⁸; the latter, ān-āñja (VS. VIII. 29; TS. III. 3. 10²); mid. sing. 1. ān-aj-é, pl. 3. ān-aj-re; subj. sing. 1. ān-aj-ā; opt. 3. sing. ān-aj-yāt. The root ṛdh- (reduced from ardh-) 'thrive', which has a nasalized present stem⁹, makes the forms ān-ṛdh-ūr (AV.) and ān-ṛdh-e. Through the influence of these nasalized verbs, their method of reduplication spread to two others which show no trace of a nasal anywhere. Thus from arc- 'praise' occur the forms ān-ṛc-ūr and ān-ṛc-é; and from arh- 'deserve', ān-ṛh-ūr (TS¹) beside arh-ire (RV¹). There are besides two isolated forms of doubtful meaning, probably formed from

² In most of the forms from a- and r- roots, the Pada text has a.

³ These verbs originally had the full reduplication ya- and va- as is shown by the evidence of the Avesta, which has this only; cp. BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 3, 38 (§ 59).

⁴ Due to the vocalic pronunciation of the y: cīu- and dīut-.

⁵ This root thus shows the transition from the full to the Samprasāraṇa reduplication.

⁶ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 846.

⁷ These are the only two examples to be met with in the Samhitās of this form of reduplication.

⁸ Beside āsatur, āsāthe, etc., from aś-, the unnasalized form of the same root. Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1211⁴.

⁹ Thus ṛnādhāt, ṛndhyām, ṛndhānt-, according to the infixing nasal class.

nasalized roots: ān-ṛj-ūr (AV.), from ṛj- 'attain' (with present stem ṛñj-), and *an-āh-a*², 2. pl. act., perhaps from amh- 'compress'³.

This form of reduplication evidently arose from a radical nasal having originally been repeated along with the initial vowel, which is lengthened as in many other stems (cā-kan, etc.), while the root itself is shortened by dropping the nasal⁴. In the modal forms ānāj-ā, ānāj-yāt, ān-ās-āmāhai the reduplicative vowel seems to have been shortened because ān- came to be regarded as containing an augment (like ānat, aorist of nā- 'attain')⁵.

d. A few irregularities in regard to consonants also appear in the formation of the reduplicative stem. 1. The root bhr- 'bear' reduplicates with j (as if from √hr-), making the stem ja-bhr-, forms from which occur nearly thirty times in the RV., beside only two forms from the regular stem ba-bhr-. — 2. In forming their stem, the five roots ci- 'gather', ci- 'observe', cit- 'perceive', ji- 'conquer', han- 'smite', revert to the original guttural (as in other reduplicated forms) in the radical syllable: ci-ki-, ci-kit-, ji-gi-, ja-ghan-.

e. The root vid- 'know' loses its reduplication along with the perfect sense⁶. Thus vid-a 'I know'; vid-vāms- 'knowing'. Some half dozen other roots show isolated finite forms without reduplication; and four or five more have unreduplicated participial forms. Thus takṣ- 'fashion' makes takṣ-athur and takṣ-ur; yam- 'guide': yam-ātur; skambh- 'prop': skambh-athur, *skambh-ur*⁷; nind- 'blame': *nind-ima*⁷; arh- 'be worthy': arh-ire; cit- 'perceive': cet-atur (AV. VS. SV.)⁸. Three unreduplicated participles are common: dās-vāms- and dās-i-vāms- (SV.) 'worshipping', beside the rare dādās-vāms-; mūḥ-vāms- 'bountiful'; sāh-vāms- 'conquering', beside sāsah-vāms-. There also occurs once the unreduplicated jāni-vāms- (in the form vi-jānūs-aḥ) beside jajñivāms- 'knowing' (from √jñā-); and the isolated vocative khid-vas may be the equivalent of cikhid-vas*, from khid- 'oppress'⁹.

2. The Root.

483. Like the present and imperfect, the perfect is strong in the sing. act. Here the root, as a rule, is strengthened, while it remains unchanged in the weak forms. But if it contains a medial a or a final ā, it remains unchanged in the strong forms (except that a is lengthened in the 3. sing.), while it is reduced in the weak.

In the strong stem, the radical vowel takes Guṇa, but in the 3. sing. a final vowel takes Vṛddhi instead of Guṇa¹⁰. Thus vis- 'enter' makes vivís-; druh- 'be hostile', dudruh-; kṛt- 'cut', cakārt-; but bhr- 'fear', 1. 2. bibhṛ-, 3. bibhái-; śru- 'hear', 1. 2. śuśrú-, 3. śuśráu-; kṛ- 'make', 1. 2. cakār-, 3. *cakār-*¹¹. In the weak stem, on the other hand, the root remains unchanged; thus vivís-, dudruh-, cakṛt-, bibhṛ-, śuśru-, cakṛ-.

a. Some irregularities occur in the treatment of the radical vowel. 1. The verb

¹ According to both the infixing nasal class, 3. pl. ṛñjate, and the ā-class, 3. sing. ṛñjāti.

² Probably for ānaha*; cp. the weak stem sasāh- beside sāsah-.

³ Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum 145, and WHITNEY, Roots, under ānh 'be narrow or distressing'.

⁴ Except in the form ān-āmsa (cp. ḥveṇk-ṛai) beside ān-āsa (= ḥvok-e).

⁵ Cp. the Greek aor. inf. ἐν-εῖν and the perfect ἐν-ἤνευκ-ται.

⁶ Cp. BEZZENBERGER, GGA. 1879, p. 818; J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 25, 3; BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 848.

⁷ With the strong (nasalized) form of the root beside caskabh-ānā- (AV.), and ninid-ūr.

⁸ With strong radical syllable.

⁹ DELBRÜCK, Verbum 148, adds dabhūr, but this is rather aorist (beside perf. debhur).

¹⁰ On the origin of this distinction between the 1. sing. and the 3. sing. cp. J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 25, 8ff. and STREITBERG, IF. 3, 383—386.

mṛj- 'wipe' takes ṽddhi instead of Guṇa throughout the strong stem: mamāṛj-1. — 2. Two instances of the strong stem being used in weak forms occur in the RV.: pl. 1. yuyojind and 3. *viveśur*² beside the regular viveśur. — 3. The radical vowel of bhū- remains unchanged in the strong as well as the weak forms, interposing v before vowels; thus sing. 2. babhū-tha, pl. 3. babhū-v-ir. — 4. The weak stem of tṛ- 'cross' appears in the RV. as titir- and tutur-; thus sing. 3. tatār-a, but pl. 3. titir-ur, part. titir-vāms, opt. sing. 3. *tutur-yāt*³.

a. Roots containing medial a leave the radical syllable unchanged in sing. 1. 2., lengthening the vowel in sing. 3.; they reduce it in the weak stem by contraction, syncopation, or loss of nasal.

1. The roots with initial ya- and va-, which reduplicate with the vowels i and *u*⁴ respectively, take Samprasāraṇa, the result being contraction to i and ū. Thus from yaj- 'sacrifice': strong stem i-yāj, weak īj- (= i-ij-)⁵; vac- 'speak': u-vāc- and ūc- (= u-uc-); vad- 'speak': u-vād- and ūd-; vap- 'strew': u-vap- and ūp-; vas- 'dwell': u-vās- and ūs-; vah- 'carry': u-vādh- and ūh-. The root vā- 'weave' is similarly treated in the form pl. 3. ū-v-ur (= u-u-v-ur). Samprasāraṇa of the root also appears in the weak stem of svap- 'sleep' and of grabh- and grah- 'seize': su-ṣvāp- and su-ṣup-; ja-grābh-, ja-grādh- and ja-grbh-, ja-grh-. The roots *yam-*⁶, van-, vas- 'wear' have the full reduplication throughout; yam- taking Samprasāraṇa and contracting in the weak stem, van- syncopating its a, and vas- retaining it throughout: ya-yam- and yem- (= ya-im); va-vān- and va-vn-; vā-vas- (both strong and weak).

2. More than a dozen roots containing a between single consonants and reduplicating their initial without change, contract the reduplication and root to a single syllable with medial o. The type followed by these verbs was doubtless furnished by sad- 'sit', which forms the weak stem sed- (= sazd-*), beside the strong sa-sād-, and supported by yam-, with its weak stem yem- (= ya-im) beside the strong *yayam-*⁷. The other stems showing this contraction are formed from tap- 'heat', dabh- 'harm', nam- 'bend', pac- 'cook', pat- 'fall', yat- 'stretch', yam- 'guide', rabh- 'seize', labh- 'take', śak- 'be able', śap- 'curse', sap- 'serve'. The roots tan- 'stretch' and sac- 'follow' also belong to this class in the AV., but not in the RV. The root bhāj- 'divide' though not reduplicating with an identical consonant in its strong stem ba-bhāj-, follows the analogy of this group in forming the weak stem bhej-.

3. Four roots of this form, however, simply syncopate the radical a without contracting. These are jan- 'beget': jajñ-, strong jajān-; pan- 'admire': pāpn-, strong pāpan-; man- 'think': *mamn-*⁸; van- 'win': vavn-, strong vāvan-. Three others have this syncopated as well as the contracted form: tan- 'stretch': tātn- and ten- (AV.); pat- 'fall': pāpt- and pet-; sac- 'follow': sāsc- and sec- (AV.). Syncopation of medial a also takes place in four roots with initial guttural: khan- 'dig': cahkn- (AV.), strong cahkhān-; gam- 'go': jagm-, strong jagām-; ghas- 'eat': jaks-, strong jaghās-; han- 'smite': jaghñ-, strong jaghām-.

4. In a few roots with medial a and a penultimate nasal, the latter is lost in the weak stem⁹. Thus krañd- 'cry out': cakrañd-; tañs- 'shake': tatas-; skambh- 'prop': caśkabh- (AV.), strong cāśkāmbh-; stambh- 'prop':

¹ The same irregularity appears in the present stem.

² Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1223¹.

³ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 74¹.

⁴ But they had the full reduplication in the IIr. period; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1220³.

⁵ In the one form yejé (beside ījé), yaj- follows the analogy of yam-, preserving a trace of the old reduplication ya-.

⁶ The analogy of yam- is followed by yaj- in the one form yejé (beside ījé); cp. note 5.

⁷ See BARTHOLOMAE, Die ai. z-Formen im schwachen Perfect, KZ. 27, 337—366; BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1222; cp. v. NEGELEIN 71³.

⁸ The strong stem does not occur.

⁹ Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1217⁴.

tastabh-, strong tastámbh-. Similarly, from dambh-, the nasalized form of *dabh-*¹ 'harm', is formed dadabh-, strong dadámbh- (AV.); and from rambh-, the nasalized form of *rabh-*² 'seize', rārabh-. From daṇṣ- 'bite', only the participle dadaṣvāṇs- occurs. The root bandh- 'bind', both loses its nasal and contracts, forming the weak stem bedh- (AV.) beside the strong babāndh- (AV.).

b. Roots with final ā retain that vowel in the strong stem, but in the weak reduce it to *i*³ before consonants and drop it before vowels. Thus dha- 'put' employs dadhā- in the strong forms, dadhi- and dadh- in the weak.

3. Endings.

484. The endings in the indicative active are all peculiar (excepting the secondary *-va*⁴ and -ma), while in the middle they are identical (excepting the 3. sing. -e and 3. pl. -re)⁵ with the primary middle endings of the present. They are the following:

Active			Middle
sing.	du.	pl.	sing.	du.	pl.
1. -a	[-vā]	-mā	1. -é	[-vāhe]	-māhe
2. -tha	-āthur ⁶	-ā	2. -sé	-āthe	-dhvé

Roots ending in -ā take the anomalous ending *-au*⁸ in the 1. and 3. sing. act.; e. g. dha- 'put': da-dhāu. The only exception is the root prā- 'fill', which once forms the 3. sing. pa-prā (I. 69¹) beside the usual pa-prāu.

a. Consonant endings. These are, as a rule, added directly to the stem. No forms with -vā or -vāhe occur in the Samhitās; -māhe is always added direct, as is also -dhvé in the only form in which it occurs, dadhi-dhvé. The remaining consonant endings, -tha, -ma, -se, -re, are nearly always added direct to stems ending in vowels, but frequently with the connecting vowel -i- to stems ending in consonants.

i. Roots with final ā always add the endings directly to the stem, which reduces the radical vowel to *i*⁹ in the weak forms; e. g. dadā-tha; dadhi-mā, dadhi-sé, *dadhi-ré*¹⁰.

2. Roots with final ī and ū also always add these endings direct to the stem; e. g. jī- 'conquer': jige-tha; nī- 'lead': ninē-tha; su- 'press': susu-mā; cyu- 'move': cicyu-sé; hu- 'sacrifice': juhu-ré; hū- 'call': juhū-ré. The only exception is bhū-, which (doubtless owing to the fondness of this verb for -ū-) forms babhūv-i-tha twice in the RV. beside the usual babhū-tha, and babhūv-i-mā once in the AV.

² From which is formed the weak stem rebh-.

³ See DELBRÜCK, Verbum 147 (p. 120); BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 844 (p. 1206—8); cp. v. BRADKE, IF. 8, 123—137; 156—160; REICHELDT, BB. 27, 94.

⁴ No perfect form with -va is, however, found in the Samhitās.

⁵ Both of these, however, occasionally appear in the present ind. mid.

⁶ The a is here probably not connecting vowel but identical with the a of the 2. pl.; a-tur getting its r from the 3. pl. -ur, and a-thur being then formed like -thas beside -tas: cp. BRUGMANN, KG. p. 597.

⁷ That r (and not s) is here original is shown by the evidence of the Avesta; cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 797 (p. 597).

⁸ This has not been satisfactorily explained; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 1223³.

¹⁰ The vowel is dropped before -ré in dadh-re, which occurs once beside the very common dadhi-ré. Similarly the stem of dā- 'give', is shortened before the ending -rīve in dad-rīve, which occurs once (with passive sense).

3. Roots with final -r add the endings -tha, -ma, and -se direct (excepting two or three forms), but -re always with connecting -i; thus kr- 'do': cakr-tha, cakr-ma, cakr-sé, but cakr-i-ré. Connecting -i before the other endings appears in ār-i-tha, ār-i-má (r 'go'); and in jābh-r-i-se (bhr 'bear').

4. Roots with final consonant add -tha, -ma; se, -re direct if the last syllable of the stem is prosodically short, but with the connecting vowel -i if that syllable is long¹. Thus tatān-tha; jagan-ma, jagrābh-má, yuyuj-ma; dadṛk-sé, vivit-se; cāklp-ré, tatas-ré, duduh-ré, pasprdh-ré, yuyuj-re, vivid-ré and others; but ās-i-tha, uvāc-i-tha, vivid-i-tha; ūc-i-má, papt-i-má, sed-i-ma; tatn-i-se; tj-i-ré, jagm-i-re, *tataks-i-ré*², yet-i-ré. The only exception is vét-tha, which as an old form inherited from the IE. period (Greek οἶτ-θα) without reduplication, remained unaffected by the influence of reduplicated forms.

a. Six roots ending in consonants add *-rīre*³ instead of -re: cikit-rīre (beside the more usual cikit-ré), jagrābh-rīre (once beside the usual jagrābh-ré), bubhuj-rīre (once), vivid-rīre (once beside vivid-ré), śasṛj-rīre (once), and duduh-rīre (once in the SV. for the common duduh-ré of the RV.)⁴.

b. Vowel endings. Before terminations beginning with vowels final radical vowels are variously treated. 1. ī, if preceded by one consonant, becomes y, if preceded by more than one, iy: e. g. from bhr- 'fear', bibhy-atur, bibhy-ur; but from śri- 'resort', śisṛiy-e. — 2. Final ū ordinarily becomes uv; e. g. yu- 'join': yuyuv-é; śru- 'hear': śusruv-e; śū- 'swell': śūśuve. But ū becomes v in hū- 'call', e. g. juh-v-é; and ūv in bhū- 'be' and sū- 'bring forth', even in strong forms⁵; e. g. 3. sing. bā-bhūv-a, *sasūv-a*⁶. — 3. Final -r becomes r; e. g. from kr- 'make', cakr-é, cakr-é. But -r becomes ir in tistir-ur from tī- 'cross', and in 3. sing. tistir-e, part. tistir-ānd-, from stī- 'strew' (the only root with a r vowel preceded by two consonants that occurs in the perfect).

Perfect Indicative.

485. The forms actually occurring, if made from kr- 'make', would be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. *cakrá*⁷. 2. cakártha. 3. cakára. — Du. 2. cakráthur. 3. cakrítur. — Pl. 1. cakrám. 2. cakrá. 3. cakrúr.

Middle. Sing. 1. cakré. 2. cakr-sé. 3. cakré. — Du. 2. cakráthe. 3. cakráte. — Pl. 1. cakrámáhe. 2. cakrādhvé. 3. *cakríré*⁸.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

Active. Sing. 1. āsa, uvāpa (TS. I. 5. 3²), cakara, ciketa (cit- 'observe'), jagama, jagrābha, jagrāha (AV.)⁹, jaghāsa (AV. VI. 117³)¹⁰, *jihīṭa*¹¹, tatāpa, dudrāha, pāpāna, bābhūva, bibhāya, mimaya (mī- 'diminish'), raraṇa, rirābha, viveśa, *vēda*¹², śisraya, śusṛāva. The TS. (III. 5. 5¹) has the Vṛddhi form vavāra (vr- 'cover').

¹ This is in accordance with the rhythmic rule that the stem may not have two prosodically short vowels in successive syllables.

² The strength of this rhythmic rule is well illustrated by the same root vac- having the two collateral forms varak-sé and ūc-i-sé; cp. also the unique lengthening, in a weak form, of the radical a in sa-sāh-i-se (beside the usual sāsa-) and the Guna in yuyop-i-má.

³ The additional r may have come into use under the influence of forms from roots in r, like dadhr-ire from ṽdhr-.

⁴ The ending -rīre is once also added to a root ending in a vowel: dad-rīre, from ṽdā-.

⁵ Instead of the normal āv.

⁶ This is the only perfect form of ṽsū- occurring.

⁷ The 1. and 3. of dhā- 'put' would both be dadhāu; of vid- 'find', both vivēda.

⁸ The 3. pl. of vid- 'find' would be vividré.

⁹ AV. III. 18³ reads jagrāha, but this must be emended to jagrāha; see WHITNEY's note.

¹⁰ jaghāsa here is a misprint for jaghāsa; see WHITNEY's note on the passage.

¹¹ Also in AV. IV. 32⁵, but written jihīṭa in the Samhitā text, but jī- in Pada. See WHITNEY's note.

¹² Unreduplicated form.

2. *iyatha*¹ and iyetha, cakārtha, jagāntha (gam- 'go'), jaghāntha, jabhartha, jigetha (ji- 'conquer'), tatāntha, dadātha, dadhārtha (dhr- 'hold'), dadhātha, nintha, papātha (pā- 'drink'), *paprātha*², babhātha, yayantha (yam- 'guide'), yayātha, vāvāntha, vavārtha (vr- 'cover'), vivyāktha (vyac- 'extend'), *vātha*¹⁰, sasātha (sad- 'sit'). — With connecting -i-: āpitha (AV.), āritha (r- 'go'), āvitha (av- 'favour'), āsitha (as- 'be'), uvēcitha (uc- 'be pleased'), cakartitha (krt- 'cut'), tatārditha (trd- 'split'), dudohitha, dudrōhitha (AV.), babhūvitha, rurōjitha, rurodhitha, rurōhitha (AV.), vavākṣitha, vivēditha (vid- 'find'), vivesitha.

² In VI. 177 this form stands for the 2. sing. of prath- 'extend'; see NEISSER, BB. 30, 302.

³ Occurs twice in the RV. also with the irregular accent ciketa.

⁴ It is very doubtful whether jahā VIII. 4537 is 3. sing. perfect of hā- 'leave' (cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 124), like paprā. PISCHEL, Vedische Studien I, 163 f., thinks this word with the following kō should be read jāhāko 'abandoning'. ROTH thinks (pw.) jahā is an interjection.

⁵ Overlooked by WHITNEY, Roots, under Vnah-: AV. VI. 133¹.

⁶ The only occurrence of ā for au unless jahā is a verbal form.

⁷ Omitted by AVERY 250.

⁸ RV¹, beside the ordinary uvāca.

¹ AV. III. 21²; SV. I. 2. 2. 11⁰, explained by BENFEY, SV. Glossary, as 3. du. perf. without reduplication. WHITNEY, note on AV. III. 21², thinks it is a corruption for cetatur, but quotes WEBER as taking it for 3. du. perf. from cat- 'frighten into submission'.

² Unreduplicated form with present meaning (VI. 67¹).

³ siratur (RV¹) is an anomalous 3. du. pres. ind. of sr-, according to the reduplicating class with perfect ending instead of sisyās*.

⁴ The form vividma which AVERY gives with a query is probably an error for viviśmas 1. pl. pres. (VI. 23⁵⁻⁶).

⁵ Cp. IF. 3. 9f.; ZDMG. 48, 519.

⁶ The metre requires ninima (see BR. under m- 'lead').

⁷ With strong radical syllable.

⁸ Unreduplicated form.

⁹ This form (VI. 48⁵) may be 2. pl. from a root amh- for ānaha*.

¹⁰ Cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. VI. 97⁴.

¹¹ This form without syncope occurs once in the RV., ajāñūr twice.

¹² WHITNEY on AV. III. 9⁶ would emend this irregular form, the reading of all the Mss., to jahūr.

⁵ From nakṣ- 'attain', a secondary form of naṣ- 'attain'; cp. WHITNEY, Roots 87.

⁶ IV. 437. This form (which is perhaps rather to be taken as 1. sing.) may be formed from prakṣ-, a secondary form of prach- 'ask'; cp. BENFEY, O. U. O. 3, 256; DELBRÜCK p. 126⁴; WHITNEY, Roots, and BR. s. v. prach-.

⁷ fapré, given by AVERY 250 with a query, does not seem to occur in the RV.

⁸ From mikṣ-, a desiderative formation from miṣ-; cp. WHITNEY, Roots.

⁹ yeje occurs three times in the RV. (only with ā- and pra-), tje occurs twice as 3. sing., once as 1. sing.

¹⁰ WHITNEY, Roots, under vas- 'clothe'. This form is placed by BR. and GRASSMANN under a root vas- 'aim'.

Moods of the Perfect.

486. Modal forms of the perfect are of rare occurrence in the Samhitās except the RV. They are made from the perfect stem in the same way as from the present stem. It is, however, not always possible to distinguish modal forms of the perfect from those of other reduplicated stems (present reduplicating class, reduplicated aorist, and intensive) either in form (because the reduplication is in many instances the same) or in meaning (because the perfect is often used in a present sense).

Perfect Subjunctive.

487. The normal method of forming the stem is to add *-a*⁸ to the strong perfect stem, accented on the radical syllable. In the active the secondary endings are more usual; e. g. tuṣṭīva-a-t. If the primary endings are added in the active, the reduplicative syllable is in several forms⁹ accented, as *jījṣoṣ-a-si*¹⁰. In about a dozen forms, nearly all with secondary endings, the weak stem¹¹ is employed, but whether the reduplicative syllable was then accented is uncertain, because the examples that occur are unaccented. Middle forms, numbering not many more than a dozen, occur only in the 3. sing., with the ending -te, and in the 3. pl. with the ending -anta.

Active. Sing. 1. *anajā*¹². — 2. jījṣoṣasi, dīdāyasi, *papṛcāsi*¹³; cakradas, cākānas, cikītas (√cit-), jījṣoṣas, tatanas, dādāṣas, dīdāyas, papṛāthas, pīpṛayas, bubodhas, mamādas, māmāhas, *mumucas*¹⁴, rārāṣas, sāsāhas, śiśūdas.

3. ciketati (√cit-), jījṣoṣati, dādāṣati, dadhārṣati, *dīdeṣati*¹⁵, dīdāyati, bubodhati, mumocati, vavārtati; cākānat, cāklpat (AV.), ciketāt (√cit-), jaghānat, jābhārat, jugurat (gur- = gr- 'greet'), jījṣoṣat, *jūjūvat*¹⁴, tatānat, tuṣṭīvat, dādāṣat, dadhānat, dadhārṣat, papṛāthāt, paspārṣat, pīpṛīyat, mamādat (AV.), mamandat, dīdāyat, *mumucat*¹⁴, mumurat (mur- = my- 'crush'), mumōcat, rārānat, vavārtat and *vavīrtat*¹⁴, vāvānat (TS. II. 4. 5¹), *vīvidat*¹⁴, śiśūrvat, *śāsūvat*¹⁴, sāsāhat, suśūdat.

² With shortening of the radical vowel.

³ Without reduplication.

⁴ In RV. regularly erire, Pp. ā-īre (but in I. 6⁴ for erīre the accentuation should be erīre = ā-īre). The AV. has once saṃ-īrīre (XIV. 146).

⁵ īre with irregular accent is probably to be regarded as a present (450, 2).

⁶ IF. 8, Anzeiger 13.

⁷ From the secondary root dhano- = dhann-.

⁸ Two subjunctive forms with double modal sign -ā- occur: papṛcāsi and vāvṛdhāti.

⁹ Cp. the accentuation of the reduplicating class.

¹⁰ Except the forms dīdāyasi, dīdāyati, dadhārṣati and vavārtati.

¹¹ The two roots muc- and dhṛṣ- make subjunctive forms from both the strong and weak stem.

¹² RV. v. 54¹: this form (Pp. anaja) is regarded by DELBRÜCK 126^b and AVERY 251 as a 2. pl. ind.

¹³ With double modal sign -ā-.

¹⁴ With weak radical syllable.

¹⁵ Always ā-dīdeṣati in relative clauses.

Du. 2. *ciketathas, jijoṣathas; ninīthas*¹ (I. 181¹).

Pl. 1. cākānāma, tatānāma, śūśāvāma. — 2. jijoṣatha, bubodhatha. — 3. *jūjūsan*², jijoṣan, tatānan, paprāthan, mamādan.

Middle. Sing. 1. *śaśvacdi*³ (√śvañc-). — 3. *jijoṣate*¹, *tatāpate, dadhṛṣate*², *yuyojate, vāvṛdhate*², śaśmate (śam- 'labour'). — Pl. 1. anāśāmahai.

Perfect Injunctive.

488. There are a few singular active and 3. pl. middle forms which must be classed as injunctives, being identical in form with the corresponding un-augmented persons of the pluperfect. These are: Sing. 2. śaśas (= śaśas-s*). — 3. dūdhot (dhu- 'shake'), *śiṣet*⁵ (si- 'bind'); sasvār (= sasvar-t*, from svar- 'sound'); with connecting -ṛ: dadhṛṣīt.

Pl. 3. *cākramanta, cākānanta, tatānanta, dadabhanta, paprathanta, māmahanta, rurucanta*², *vāvṛdhānta*², vivyacanta.

Perfect Optative.

489. This mood is formed by adding the accented optative modal suffix combined with the endings (416a) to the weak perfect stem. The active forms are the commonest, occurring more than twice as often as those of the middle.

a. There are a few irregularities in the formation of this mood. 1. The radical vowels of pā- 'drink', śru- 'hear', and kr- 'make', being treated as before the -ya of the passive (444), the stems of these roots appear before the optative suffix as pāṣi, śūśrū, and cakri. — 2. The vowel of the reduplicative syllable ān- is shortened (as if it contained the augment) in ānājyāt (√añj-). — 3. A connecting -ṛ is interposed in jagṣ-ṛ-yāt, while the radical i is combined with the ending in śiṣṛita. — 4. A transfer according to the analogy of the a- conjugation is irīṣes; possibly also *śiṣet*⁶.

Active. Sing. 1. ānāsyām; jagamyām, papṛcyām, riricyām, vavṛtyām.

2. *cakriyās*⁷, juguryās (gur = gr- 'greet'), pūpūsyās, pūpūryās (pur = pr-, 'fill'), *babhūyās, rurūcyās, vavṛtyās, vivīsyās, śūśrūyās*⁸.

3. *anājyāt; cacchadyāt, jakṣiyāt*⁹ (ghas- 'eat'), jagamyāt, jagāyāt (gā- 'go'), jagṛbhyāt, juguryāt, tuturyāt, tuturyāt (√tur = tṛ-), *ninīyāt*¹⁰, papatyāt (AV.), *papṛyāt*¹¹ (pā- 'drink'), papṛcyāt, babhūyāt, mamadyāt, riricyāt, vavṛtyāt, sasadyāt (AV.), sasṛjyāt, sāsaḥyāt.

Du. 2. jagamyātam, śūśrūyātam.

Pl. 1. tuturyāma, vavṛtyāma, śūśuyāma, sāsaḥyāma.

3. jagamyur, tatanyur, dadhanyur, mamdyur, vavṛjyūr, vavṛtyur.

Middle. Sing. 1. vavṛtiya. — 2. cakṣamīthās, vāvṛdhīthās. — 3. jagrasita, dudhuvīta, mānṛjīta, vavṛtīta, śiṣṛitā (śri- 'resort'), śūśucitā.

Pl. 1. vavṛtīmahī.

There also occurs in the middle one precativ form: Sing. 2. sāsah-ṛ-s-thās.

Perfect Imperative.

490. The regular perfect imperative is formed like the present imperative of the reduplicating class, the 3. sing. active being strong. Hardly more ¹ Abnormal form without modal sign or strong radical vowel; cp. HIRT, IF. 12, 220.

² With weak radical syllable.

³ This form occurs only once (III. 33¹⁰) beside the s-aor. namṣat, and may therefore be an irregular redupl. aorist, to which it is doubtfully assigned by WHITNEY 863 a.

⁴ SV. jūjōsate.

⁵ This form, however, might be a transfer present optative from sā- (the collateral form of the root si-) according to the reduplicating class; or a reduplicated aorist injunctive (GRASSMANN and WHITNEY 868 a).

⁶ See note 5 on this form.

⁷ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 66.

⁸ With lengthened radical vowel.

⁹ With interposed -ṛ.

¹⁰ Cp. HIRT, IF. 12, 220.

¹¹ With change of the final radical vowel ā to ī.

than twenty regular forms occur, nearly all of them being active. There are also some irregular imperatives, being transfer forms which follow the analogy of the a- conjugation, made from either the strong or the weak perfect stem.

Active. Sing. 2. cākandhi, cikiddhi (√cit-), *dididdhi*¹ (√dis-), piprthi, mumugdhi (√muc-), śaśādhi (√śās- 'order'), śuśugdhi (√śuc-).

3. cākantu, *dideṣtu*², *babhātu*², mamātu, mumoktu, rārantu.

Du. 2. *jajastām*³ (jas- 'be exhausted'), mumuktam, vavyrtam.

Pl. 2. jujusṭana, didisṭana (√dis-), *vavyrtana*⁴.

Middle. Sing. 2. dadhīṣvā, *mimikṣvā*⁵, *vavyṣvā*⁶.

Pl. 2. dadhīdhvam, *vavyddhvam*⁷ (VIII. 20¹³). — 3. With the unique ending -rām: dadṛśrām (AV¹)⁸ 'let be seen'.

a. The transfer forms are:

Active. Du. 2. jajoṣatam, mum'catam. — Pl. 2. *mum'cata*⁹, *rarāṇdā*¹⁰ (I. 17¹¹).

Middle. Sing. 2. piprāyasva, māmahasva, vavyrdhasva, vavyṣasva. —

Pl. 3. māmahantām.

Perfect Participle.

WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 802—807. — DELBRÜCK, Verbum 229. — LINDNER 84 and 216.

491. There is an active and a middle participle, and both occur frequently. Both are formed from the weak stem of the perfect, being accented on the suffix. The strong form is made by adding the suffix -vāms to the unstrengthened perfect stem; e. g. cakr-vāms, jaghan-vāms. If the stem is reduced to a monosyllable, the suffix is nearly always added with the connecting vowel -i-¹², as papt-i-vāms from pāt- 'fall'. Unreduplicated stems, however, do not take the connecting vowel¹³, as vidvāms. The weak stem of the active participle is identical in form with the 3. pl. ind. act. if written with -uṣ instead of -ur; e. g. cakruṣ. The middle participle is formed by adding the suffix -ānā to the weak perfect stem; thus from cakr- is made cakr-ānā.

Active.

492. cakrvāms-¹⁴, cakhuvāms-¹⁴, cikivāms- (f. cikit'is-), jaganvāms- (f. jagmīst-), jagrbhuvāms-¹⁴, jagmivāms- (TS. IV. 2. 1¹⁵ for RV. x. 1¹⁶ jaganvāms-), jaghanvāms- (f. ā-jaghnus-), jānivāms-¹⁵, jigvāms- (ji- 'conquer'), jujurvāms-

¹ WHITNEY, Roots 73, doubtfully assigns this and the cognate forms dideṣati, didisṭa to the reduplicating present class.

² With ā unchanged, as elsewhere in strong forms.

³ Beside ind. jajāsa (AV.). WHITNEY, Roots 53, assigns this form to the reduplicated aor. beside 3. sing. ajjasata (SB.).

⁴ Given by AVERY 268 as a reduplicated aorist in the form of vavyrtana (sic).

⁵ For mimikṣ-sva*. WHITNEY, Roots 120, assigns this form to the reduplicating present class.

⁶ WHITNEY, Roots 164, assigns this form to the reduplicating present class.

⁷ Written vavyddhvam.

⁸ Cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. XII. 333.

⁹ Perhaps also śuśuddāta (AV. I. 26⁴) placed by WHITNEY, Roots 188, under the perfect, but, Sanskrit Grammar 871, doubtfully under the reduplicated aorist.

¹¹ Not, however, in dadvāms, nor in the problematic form cakhuvāmsam (II. 14⁴), which seems to be formed from a root kḥā.

¹² Except viśivāms- (AV.).

¹³ With the weak stem in the acc. sing. cakruṣam (x. 137¹).

¹⁴ Without connecting vowel.

¹⁵ Only the weak stem of this participle occurs in the form vi-jānūs-āḥ; cp. above 482 e.

(jur = jr 'waste away'), jujuṣvāms-, jūjuvāms-, tatanvāms-, tastabhvāms-, tasthi-vāms-(f. tasthīṣt-), *tītirvāms*¹-, tuṣṭuvāms-(Ṭst-), dadaṣvāms-(damṣ- 'bite'), dadusvāms-, *dadāvāms*²-(AV.), dadāṣṣt-, dadivāms-(AV.), dadrivāms-(f. *dadrīṣt*³-, AV., dr- 'pierce'), dadrṣvāms-(f. dadrīṣṣt-), dadvāms-(dā- 'give'), dadhanvāms-, dadrṣvāms-, dīdivāms-, pāpivāms-(pā- 'drink'), pāprvāms-(f. pāprīṣt-; pr- 'fill'), pīpivāms-(f. pīpīṣt-; pī- 'swell'), pupusvāms-, babhvāms-(f. babhvīṣt-), bibhivāms-(f. bibhīṣt-), mamandīṣt-, maṃvāms-(f. maṃrīṣt-; mṛ- 'die'); yayivāms-(Ṭyā-), rari-vāms-(f. rārīṣt-, AV.), *rīrikvāms*⁴-(Ṭrīc-), rīrikvāms-, *rurukvāms*⁴-(Ṭruc-), vavanvāms-, *vavarjīṣt*⁵-, *vavrvāms*⁶-(vr- 'cover'), vavrvāms-, *vāvrdhvāms*⁷-, *vivikvāms*⁴-(vic- 'sift'), vividvāms-, vividhvāms-(Ṭvyadh-), *śuśukvāms*⁴-(Ṭśuc-), śuśruvāms-, śuśuvāms-, *sasavāms*⁸-, sasrvāms-(f. sasrīṣt-), sāsahvāms-, susupvāms-(Ṭsvap-), susuvāms-, sedīṣ-(sad- 'sit').

Also the negative compound ā-saścivāms- presupposed by the feminine ā-saścīṣt-.

b. Without reduplication: dāsvāms-, vidvāms-(f. vidīṣt-), sāhvāms-, perhaps also kṛidvāms- in the voc. kṛidvas. Similarly formed is mīdhvāms-(f. mīdhīṣt-) 'bountiful', though the root is not found in independent use. With irregular connecting -i-: dīśivāms-(SV.), vīśivāms-(AV.), and the negative compound ā-varjivāms- presupposed by the f. ā-varjīṣt-(AV.).

¹ There also occurs the weak stem tatarīṣ-, from Ṭtṛ-.

² With strong stem instead of weak.

³ Given under drā- 'run' in the AV. Index Verborum, but translated by WHITNEY, AV. v. 13⁸, as from dr- 'pierce'.

⁴ With reversion to the original guttural.

⁵ With strong radical vowel.

⁶ The anomalous gen. sing. with an additional reduplicative syllable, va-vavṛīṣ-as appears once (I. 173⁵); cp. ZDMG. 22, 605.

⁷ There occurs once (iv. 2¹⁷) the anomalous participle with pres. suffix vāvrdhāntas (GRASSMANN, Aorist).

⁸ From san- 'gain'. The metre seems almost invariably to require this participle to be read sasavāms-(cp. the f. sasavīṣt- in B.); see ARNOLD, Vedic metre p. 144².

⁹ With strong radical vowel and reversion to the original guttural.

¹⁰ The i may here perhaps more correctly be regarded as a reduced form of the basic vowel, as in dadi-, tasthi- etc.

¹¹ The a is not syncopated in kam- or sam-.

¹² Doubtfully assigned by WHITNEY, Roots, to the reduplicating class.

¹³ More frequently with the intensive accent tūtuvāṇā-.

¹⁴ With the double irregularity of strong radical syllable and reduplication with a.

*śāsādāna*¹ (śad 'prevail'), śīśriyānā (śri 'resort'), śusucānā, *śāśujāna*², *śāśuvāna*³, śasṛjānā, *śasrānā*⁴, śasvajānā, *śāsahānā*⁵, śiṣmiyānā, śiṣvidānā, śusupānā (√swap), śuṣvānā (su 'press'), śehānā (√sah)⁵.

Pluperfect.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik p. 353. — Abhandlungen der königl. Gesellschaft der Wissenschaften zu Göttingen 15, p. 151—154. — DELBRÜCK, Verbum 419. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 253. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 817—820.

494. This tense, which is a pluperfect in form but not in meaning, is an augmented preterite made from the perfect stem. As in the perfect, the strong stem is used in the singular active, the weak elsewhere. The endings are the secondary ones; in the 3. pl. -ur always appears in the active and -iran in the middle. There is some difficulty in distinguishing this tense from the imperfect of the reduplicating class and from the reduplicating aorist⁶. Though its sense is the same as that of the imperfect, its forms may usually be distinguished (when the reduplication would be identical in both tenses) by the fact that the verb in question is not otherwise conjugated according to the reduplicating present class. On the other hand, the sense helps to distinguish the pluperfect from the aorist, when the reduplication would be identical in both tenses. With the aid of these criteria some sixty forms may be classed as belonging to the pluperfect. The augment is, as in other past tenses, dropped in several instances. The -s and -t of the 2. 3. sing. are in some forms preserved by an interposed -i- (as in the aorist). Several transfer forms according to the a-conjugation are met with in this tense.

495. Active. Sing. 1. acacakṣam, ajagrabham, atustavam; *āpiprayam*⁷ (TS. v. 1. 11³; VS. XXIX. 7); cakaram, ciketam (√cit), jagrabham (AV.).

2. *ājagan*⁸; *āiyes*⁹ (v. 2⁸); cākān, nanūmas. — With -ī-: ābubhojīs, āriveṣīs, āriveṣīs; *jīhimīs*¹⁰ (AV.).

3. *ājagan*¹¹, aciket (√cit); *rārān*¹². — With -ī-: *acucyavīt*¹³, ājagrabhit, arirecit, āvēvācit, *avāvarit*¹⁴. — With thematic -a-: acakrat, acikitat and acikitat (√cit), *adadhūvat*¹⁵ 'ran', *asusravat*¹⁶ (MS.), āsasvajat; cakradat, jagrabhat (VS. XXXII. 2), tastāmbhat (I. 121³).

Du. 2. *ātataṁsatam*¹⁷, anumuktam; mumuktam. — 3. avāvaṣītām (vaś 'desire').

Pl. 2. ājaganta; ājagantana, *ajabhartana*¹⁸. — With -ī-: *acucyavītana*¹⁹.

3. ācucyavur, āśīśrayur, *asusravur*²⁰, ābībhayur (Kh. I. 7⁵).

Middle. Sing. 1. āsusravi. — 3. diḍiṣṭa (√diś).

Du. 2. *āpasprdhethām*²¹.

² With the intensive accent and regarded by WHITNEY, Roots 174, and by LINDNER, Nominalbildung p. 54, as an intensive.

³ With the intensive accent and assigned by LINDNER, l. c., to the intensive, but by WHITNEY, Roots 175, to the perfect.

⁴ Once also anomalously with -māna: śasymānā.

⁵ śāsahānā once in RV., śehānā thrice, from √sah.

⁶ On such doubtful forms see specially DELBRÜCK, Verbum 158 (p. 135 f.).

⁷ WHITNEY 866 also quotes āpiprayan from the TS.

⁸ For ā-jagam-s*.

⁹ BENFEY (p. 152) and DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 123 and 128, regard this form as a pluperfect of i 'go' (= ā-iy-e-s), WHITNEY, Roots, as pluperfect of īṣ- or eṣ- 'move' (= ā-iy-eṣ), ROTH and GRASSMANN as aorist of √īṣ.

¹⁰ With irregular accent.

¹¹ For ā-jagam-t*.

¹² From ran 'rejoice' (I. 122¹²).

¹³ Cp. WHITNEY 868 a.

¹⁴ From zṛ- 'cover'; cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 122⁴.

¹⁵ WHITNEY regards this form as an aorist, but the reduplicative vowel is that of the pluperfect, while the sense (IX. 877) does not seem decisive.

¹⁶ WHITNEY 866.

¹⁷ Transfer form.

¹⁸ With strong radical vowel.

¹⁹ These three are, however, classed by WHITNEY 861, and Roots, as aorists.

Pl. 3. ācakrīran, ājagmīran, āpecīran (√pac-, AV.); avavṛtran; *āsasṛgram*¹. — Transfer forms according to the a- conjugation: ātītvīṣanta, ādadyāṇanta, ādadyāṇanta (TS. IV. 6. 2⁴), dvāvaśanta (vāś- 'bellow'); cakṛpānta, dādhyānta (AV.), vāvaśanta (vāś- 'bellow'). — With ending -ranta: avavṛtranta.

Periphrastic Perfect.

496. This formation made with the reduplicated perfect of kr- 'make' which governs the acc. of a fem. substantive in -ā derived from a secondary (causative) verbal stem, is found only once in the Mantra portion of the Vedas: gamayāṃ cakāra (AV. XVIII. 2²⁷) 'he caused to go' (lit. 'he made a causing to go'). In the Brāhmaṇa portions of the Samhitās (TS. MS. K.), such periphrastic forms (made even with an aorist) are occasionally met with.²

III. The Aorist System.

497. The aorist is of frequent occurrence in the Vedas, being made from about 450 roots. An augmented tense taking the secondary endings and forming moods and participles, it is distinguished from the imperfect by lack of a corresponding present³ (e. g. 3. sing. aor. ākar, 3. sing. imp. ākr̥ṇot, 3. sing. pres. kr̥ṇōti) and by difference of meaning (ākar 'he has done', ākr̥ṇot, 'he did').

There are three distinct types of aorist.

1. The simple aorist adds the endings to the root either directly or with the connecting vowel -a. It thus resembles the imperfect of the root-class or of the accented ā- class. This type of aorist is formed by nearly 170 roots. Some nine or ten roots have, beside the regular forms of the simple aorist, a certain number of other forms which have the appearance of indicatives present. They seem to represent a transition to the formation of a new present stem. The most striking example is the aorist stem voca- from which the 3. sing. vocati occurs several times.

2. The reduplicated aorist resembles the imperfect of the reduplicating present class. It is, however, distinguishable from the latter not only in meaning, but by a certain peculiarity of reduplication and by being nearly always formed with a connecting -a. This type of aorist is taken by about 85 roots.

3. The sigmatic aorist inserts -s, with or without an added -a, between the root and the endings. It is taken by rather more than 200 roots.

Thus each of the three types has one form following the analogy of the graded conjugation, and another following that of the a- conjugation. The sigmatic aorist has, however, further subdivisions.

Upwards of 50 roots take more than one form of the aorist. One verb, budh- 'wake', has even forms from five varieties of the aorist; from two of the first type, e. g. ā-bodh-i and budhā-nta; from one of the second, e. g. a-būbudh-a-t; and from two of the third, e. g. d-bhūt-s-i and bōdh-i-ṣ-a-t.

² See WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1073 a, b; JACOBI, KZ. 35, 578—587; BÖHTLINGK, ZDMG. 52, article 11; DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax 426^f; LUDWIG, Sitzungsber. d. kgl. Böhm. Ges. d. W., phil.-hist. Kl. Nr. XIII.

³ There are, however, sometimes sporadic forms from the same stem as the aorist beside the normal ones; thus the 2. du. pres. kr̥-ithās occurs besides the numerous regular forms of the nu- class.

1. Simple Aorist.

A. Root Aorist.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 840. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 253-256. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar, 299-304; Roots 222 f.; AV. Index Verborum 380.

498. This form of the simple aorist is taken by about 100 roots (and by more than 80 of these in the RV.), the commonest being those with medial a (nearly 30 in number). It is inflected in both the active and the middle voice. The root is strong in the indicative active singular, but weak elsewhere. Roots ending in vowels, however, show a tendency to retain the strong vowel throughout the indicative active except the 3. plural.

a. Roots ending in ā, of which there are some eight, retain the ā throughout the indicative active except the 3. pl., where they drop it before the ending which in these verbs is invariably -ur. In the middle indicative, the radical vowel is weakened to *i*¹.

The forms which occur from these roots, if made from sthā- 'stand', would be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. āsthām. 2. āsthās. 3. āsthāt. — Du. 2. āsthātam. 3. āsthātām. — Pl. 1. āsthāma. 2. āsthāta. 3. āsthur.

Middle. Sing. 2. āsthithās. 3. āsthita. — Pl. 1. āsthimahi. 3. āsthiran.

b. Roots ending in r, of which there are some ten, take Guṇa throughout the indicative active except the 3. pl. Roots ending in ī and ū (of which, however, few dual and plural forms occur) show the same tendency. The root bhū- 'be' retains its ū throughout (as in the perfect), interposing r between it and a following a. The forms met with from kr- 'make' are the following:

Active. Sing. 1. ākarām. 2. ākar. 3. ākar. — Du. 2. kartām (AV.). 3. ākartām. — Pl. 1. ākarma. 2. ākarta. 3. ākran.

Middle. Sing. 1. ākri. 2. ākrithās. 3. ākrta. — Pl. 3. ākrata.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

Indicative Active.

499. Sing. 1. ākarām, *āgamam*², agām (gā- 'go'), āgrabham, adhām, *āpām*³ (pā- 'drink'), *abhuvam*⁴, abhedam, arodham (rudh- 'hinder'), āsravam, asthām (AV.); karam, gamam, gām (AV.), *dām*⁵, dhām (AV.), *vam*⁶ (vr- 'cover').

2. agās, *adās*⁷, āpās, āprās, ābhās, āsres, āsthās; gās, dās, dhās, bhās, sthās. — With loss of ending: akar, ākrān (√krand-), *āgan*⁸, āghas, āvar (vr- 'cover'), aspar; *ānat*⁹, āvar (vr- 'cover'); kar, *kran*¹⁰ (√kram-), bhet (√bhid-), vār, *vārḥ*¹¹.

3. āgat, *acet*¹² (ci- 'collect'), *ādāt*¹², ādāt (dhā- 'put'), adhāt (dhā- 'suck', AV.), āpāt, āprāt (AV.), ābhāt, āsret (√śri-), āsrot, āsthāt, ¹ As in the perfect before consonant endings and in the past passive participle, e. g. ta-sthi-se (AV.), and sthi-tā- from sthā- 'stand'.

² This might also be the sing. 1. of the thematic aorist āgama-t etc.

³ No forms of pā- 'protect' are made according to this aorist, while pā- 'drink' (present stem piba-) has no forms from the root in the present system except pānti (RV.) and pāthās (AV.), but perhaps even these are rather to be taken as meant for aorist forms; cp. p. 369, note ¹ and p. 368, note ¹⁰.

⁴ With the usual absence of Guṇa in this root; later abhuvam.

⁵ There is also the transfer form ādam

(I. 126³), which though not analyzed in the Pāda text, appears to stand for ā-adam as indicated by both sense and accent.

⁶ For varam formed by false analogy as a first person to 2. sing. vah (for var-s*) appearing as if formed with the -s of 2. sing.

⁷ There is also the transfer form ādas (I. 121⁸), which though not analyzed in the Pāda text, is shown by both sense and accent to stand for ā-adas.

⁸ For ā-gam-s*.

⁹ For ā-naś-s* from naś- 'attain', where ānak* would have been phonetic (54, 6).

¹⁰ For kram-s*.

¹¹ For varj-s* from √vrj-.

¹² There is also the transfer form ādāt

*asrat*¹ (VS. VIII. 28); gāt, dāt, *dhāt*², bhūt, sthāt. — With loss of ending: ākar, *akran*³ (√kram-), ākran (√krand-), agan, aghas, ācet (cit- 'observe'), atan, adar (ār- 'pierce'), abhat, ābhrāt (√bhrāj-), amok (√muc-, AV.), āmyak (√myaks-), *āvart*⁴, *avrk*⁵ (AV.), āstar; ānaṭ, āvar; kar, gan, naṭ (√nas- 'attain', AV.), bhēt, vār, vark, skan (√skand-).

Du. 2. agātām (AV.), ābhūtām, amuktām (Kh. I. 12⁶); kartām (AV.), gātām (AV.), dātām, dhātām, spartām.

3. ākartām, agātām (AV.), ādhātām (VS. XX. 57), ānaṣtām ('reach'), āpātām (VS. XXXVIII. 13), ābhūtām; gātām (AV.), dātām.

Pl. 1. ākarma, āganma, āgāma, ādarśma (TS. III. 2. 5⁴), *ādāma*⁶, āpāma, *ābhūma*⁷, āsthāma (AV.), āhema (√hi-); dhāma, bhūma (AV.).

2. ākarta, agāta (AV.), ābhūta; ābhūtana, dhetana; karta (AV.) and *kṛta*⁸ (AV.), gāta (AV.), sthāta (AV.).

3. ākran (√kr-), *ākṣan*⁹ (√ghas-), āgman, ābhūvan, avṛjan, *avṛtan*¹⁰ (AV.), avran, āśṛyan (√śri-), āśṛvan (AV.), āśvitan, āhyan (√hi-), *āsthan*¹¹ (AV.); kran (AV.), kṣan (√ghas-), gman, vran. — With ending -ur: ākramur, āgur, ādur, ādhur, apur (I. 164⁷), āyamur, āsthur; gur, dabhūr, dūr, dhur, *nṛtur*¹², mandur, sthur.

Indicative Middle.

500. Sing. 1. ākri, ājani, ayuji, avri (vṛ- 'choose'), āhvi (√hū-, AV.).

2. ākrthās, agathās (VS. III. 19), ādithās, dyukthās, āsthitthās.

3. ākerta, āgata (AV.), ādiṣṭa, ādhiṣṭa, āprkta (√pr-), āmata (√man-), amṛta (AV.), āyukta, āvṛkta (√vṛj-), avṛta ('choose' and 'cover'), āśṛṣṭa, askṛta (X. 127³), āsthita, āspaṣṭa (√spa-), āṣṭa (śi- 'sharpen'); āyukta; ārta (r- 'go'), āṣṭa (aś- 'attain'); ārta (r- 'go'), kṛta, gūrta (gur- 'greet'), *gdha*¹³, mṛta (AV.).

Du. 1. gānvahi. — 3. *ādhītām*¹⁴ (√dhā-).

Pl. 1. āganmahi, ādimahi (TS. I. 8. 6²) and *ādīmahi*¹⁴ (VS. III. 58)¹⁵, *ādhīmahi*¹⁴ (√dhā-), āpadmahi (VS. IV. 29), āmanmahi, āyujmahi, ādhūmahi; *dhīmahi*¹⁴ (√dhā-).

2. ācidhvam (ci- 'note'), āmugdhvam (√muc-), āyugdhvam.

3. *ākṛata*¹⁶, āgmata, ātnata; ārata, āṣata (aś- 'attain'); yujata. — With the ending -ran: *ākṛpran*¹⁷, āṣṛbhran, ājuṣran, ādṛśran, āpadran, ābudhran, āyujran, *āvasran*¹⁸ (vas- 'shine'), āviśran, āvṛtran, *āśṛgran*¹⁹, āsthiran, āspṛdhran. — With ending -ram: ādṛśram, ābudhram, *āśṛgram*¹⁹.

(I. 127⁶, II. 124, V. 32³) which, though not analyzed in the Pada text, appears to stand for ā-adat.

² Also the transfer form (prāti) dhat (IV. 27⁵).

³ For *akram-t.

⁴ For *āvart-t from vṛt- 'turn'.

⁵ Seemingly with anomalously weak root for *avrk-t. But the form really stands by haplogy for the 3. sing. mid. avrkta: āpāvrk tāmaḥ (AV. XIII. 29) 'he has wasted away the darkness': see WACKERNAGEL, KZ. 40, 544—547.

⁶ That is, in ādāma (v. 30¹⁵), which though not analyzed in the Pada text, must stand for ā-adāma.

⁷ arudhma is quoted in WHITNEY's Roots as occurring in the MS. [I. 6⁵: 94, 6].

⁸ Emendation for kṛtām (AV. XIX. 44¹).

⁹ For āgh(a)san.

¹⁰ Misprinted as acṛtan in the text of AV. III. 31¹: see WHITNEY's note.

¹¹ Transfer form probably for asthur from sthā- 'stand'; see AJP. 12, 439; IF. 5, 388; KZ. 22, 435; WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 847, and his note on AV. XIII. 1⁵.

¹² This form might be regarded as an augmented perfect.

¹³ For gh(a)śta, from √ghas-; cp. p. 56, 3.

¹⁴ With ī for i; cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, p. 896; v. NEGELEIN 6¹; OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 63, 297.

¹⁵ From dā- 'share'.

¹⁶ There is also the transfer form krānta (I. 141³).

¹⁷ Cp. BLOOMFIELD, Johns Hopkins University Circular, Dec. 1906, p. 10.

¹⁸ Cp. p. 327, note 7.

¹⁹ With reversion to the original guttural.

Passive Indicative of the Root Aorist.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum 181⁴. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 275. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 842—845; Roots 240. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 4. — Cp. OSTHOFF, IF. 3, 390; HIRT, IF. 17, 64 f.

501. There is a peculiar middle form, made from about 45 roots in the Samhitās (40 of them occurring in the RV.), which is used with a predominantly passive meaning¹. When it is formed from verbs with a neuter signification, like gam- 'go', the sense remains unaltered (as in the past passive participle). It is a 3. sing. indicative, in which the augmented root takes the ending -i. This -i, otherwise the ending of the 1. sing. middle, appears to be used in the regular 3. sing. perfect middle (e. g. dadhe, 1. and 3. sing.), and sometimes in the 3. sing. present middle (e. g. śāye, 1. and 3. sing.). The characteristic feature of this passive form is the strengthening of the root as compared with other middle forms, e. g. ākārī beside akri (1. sing. mid.)².

a. A prosodically short medial i, u or r takes Guṇa, while a is normally lengthened; a final i, u or r takes Vrddhi, while final ā interposes a y before the ending. The accent in unaugmented forms is always on the root. The forms actually occurring are: Sing. 3. ākārī, agāmi, āceti, āchedi, *ājani*³, ājñāyi, ātāpi, ādarsī, ādāyī, āpādi (AV.), āpāyi ('drink'), āpṛāyi (AV. VS.), ābodhi, ābhṛāji, amāyi ('measure'), āmodi, āmyakṣi, āyāmi, *āyāvi*⁴ (VS. XXVIII. 15), āyoji, drādhi, aroci, avahi (Kh. v. 15³), avāci, āvāri ('cover'), avedi ('find'), āsoci, āsṛāyi (√śri-), āsarji, āsādi, āsāvi (√su-), āstāri, āstāvi, dhāvi; ceti, jāni, jāni, tāri, dāsi, dāyi ('give'), dāyi ('bind'), dhāyi, pādi, vādi ('find'), *sādi*⁵. — Used injunctively: ghāsi, ceti, chedi, tāri, dhāyi, bhāri, bhedi (VS. XI. 64), māci (AV.), yōji, reci, roci, vādi, varhi, vāci, saṃsi, śāri, śēsi (śis- 'leave', AV.), śrāvi, saṃsi, sādi, hāyi (hā- 'leave', AV.); also the unique form jārayāvi 'let him be embraced', from the secondary stem jāra-ya- 'play the lover'.

Root Aorist Subjunctive.

502. Active. Sing. 1. kārāṇi, gamāni, gāni, bhuvāni. — 2. kārasi; kāras, gamas, *gās*⁶, tārās, dās, dhās, pārcas, pās (IV. 20⁴ 'drink'), prās, *bhūvas*⁷, yamas, vāras ('choose'), śāsas, sthās.

3. karati, jōsati, darśati (AV.), dāti, dhāti, *padāti*⁸, bhēdati, rādhati, varjati, sthāti; kārat, gāmat, garat (gr- 'swallow', AV.), gāt, jōsat, dāt, dhāt, *padāt*⁸ (AV.), *māthāt*⁹ (AV. VII. 50⁵), yamat, yodhat, rādhat, vārat ('choose'), vārtat, śrāvāt, sāghat, sāt, sthāt, spārat. — Without Guṇa: pdhat, bhūvat, śrūvat (RV¹).

Du. 2. karathas, gamathas, darśathas, *pāthās*¹⁰ (AV. VII. 29¹), *bhūthās*¹¹, śravathas. — 3. karatas, gamatas, *bhūtas*¹¹, śrāvatas, sthōtas.

¹ In one or two passages this form seems to have a transitive meaning; cp. WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 845 (end).

² Cp. BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 1054, 3.

³ This augmented form always occurs in the RV. with short radical vowel, beside the unaugmented jāni as well as jani.

⁴ From yu- 'separate'.

⁵ The form svāni (VI. 46¹⁴) may be the 3. sing. passive aorist (BR. and doubtfully WHITNEY, Roots 201), but GRASSMANN, s. v. svāni, regards it as a neut. substantive in -i. Cp. NEISSER, BB. 30, 305 ff.

⁶ The 2. 3. sing. with secondary endings from roots ending in ā cannot be distinguished from injunctives.

⁷ Formed without Guṇa as in the ind. aor. and perfect.

⁸ With double modal sign -ā-.

⁹ This form has a subjunctive sense ('might shake'); it might otherwise be an injunctive of the a- aorist.

¹⁰ Assigned by WHITNEY, Roots, to the present of the root class.

¹¹ Both bhūthās (VI. 67⁵) and bhūtas (X. 27⁷) seem to be meant for subjunctives formed anomalously without mood sign, instead of bhūvathas* and bhūvatas*.

Pl. I. kārāma, gamāma, gāma, dhāma, rādhamā. — 3. karanti, gāmati, *pānti*¹ (II. I I¹⁴); kāran, gāman, garan, dārśan, bhūvan, yaman.

Middle. Sing. 2. kārāse, joṣase (AV.). — 3. *idhaté*² (RV¹), kārate, bhūjate, yojate, vārjate, stūrate. — Du. 2. *dhātē*³, dhaithe. — Pl. I. kārāmahe, gāmāmahai, dhāmahe, manāmahe (VS. IV. I I), starāmahe. — 3. yavanta (yu- 'separate').

Root Aorist Injunctive.

503. Active. Sing. I. karam (AV.), gām, dhām (VS. I. 20), bhūvam, bhojam, yojam, sthām.

2. jes, bhūs, bhēs (√bhū-, VS. I. 23 etc.; TS. IV. 5. 10¹). — With loss of ending: kar (TS. I. 3. 7²), dhak (dagh- 'reach'), bhet (√bhid-), rok (√ruj-, VS.), var ('cover'), vark (√vrj-), star, spār.

3. bhāt, śret, ut-thāt (√sthā-, Kh. II. I I³). — With loss of ending: gan (VS. XXVII. 31; TS. V. 6. I⁴), dhak (√dagh-), nak and naṭ (naś- 'attain'), vār, vark, skān (√skand-), *stan*⁴.

Pl. I. gāma, *chedma*⁵, daghma, bhūma, *bhema*⁵, *hōma*⁵ (hū- 'call'). — 3. bhūvan, vrān. — With ending -ur: kramur, gur, dabhūr, dur, dhūr, sthur.

Middle. Sing. I. nāmsi (naṃś- = naś- 'attain'). — 2. dhṛthās (AV.), nuthās, bhitthās (VS. XI. 68), mṛthās (mṛ- 'die'), mṛsthās (√mṛs-), rikthās (√ric-), vikthās (√vij-, VS. I. 23). — 3. arīa (√r-), aṣṭa (aś- 'attain'), vukta (TS. IV. 3. I I⁴), vikta (√vij-), vrta (vr- 'choose'). — Pl. I. *dhīmahi*⁶ (√dhā-). — 3. aśata (SA. XII. 19).

Root Aorist Optative.

504. Active. Sing. I. aśyām (aś- 'attain'), rdhyām (AV.), *deyām*⁷, *dheyām*⁷, vrjyām, sākyām. — 2. avyās, aśyās, rdhyās, gamyās, jñeyās, bhūyās, mṛdhyās, sahyās. — 3. *bhūyāt*⁸ (AV.).

Du. I. yuyāva. — 3. yuyātām.

Pl. I. aśyāma, rdhyāma, kriyāma, bhūyāma, vrjyāma, *sākyāma*⁹, *stheyāma*⁷. — 3. aśyur (aś- 'attain'), dheyur, sahyur.

Middle. Sing. I. aśiya, murīya (mṛ- 'die', AV.). — 3. arīta (√r-) *uhīta*¹⁰ (√vah-), vrīta (vr- 'choose'). — Du. 2. rdhātē.

Pl. I. aśīmahi, idhīmahi, rdhīmahi, naśīmahi ('reach'), naśīmahi, prcīmahi, mudīmahi, yamīmahi, *śīmahi*¹¹ (sā- 'bind').

a. Precative forms of the root aorist are common in the active, being made from about twenty roots in the Samhitās.

Active. Sing. I. *āpyāsam*¹² (AA. V. 3. 2³) rdhyāsam (VS. VIII. 9), jñeyāsam (AV. VS.), *priyāsam*¹³ (AV.), bhūyāsam, bhrājyāsam (AV.), bhriyāsam (VS. II. 8), rādhyāsam (VS. XXXVII. 3), vadyāsam (VS. AV.), śrūyāsam (AV.). — 3. avyās, aśyās ('reach'), rdhyās, gamyās, daghyās, peyās ('drink'), bhūyās, yamyās, *yūyās*¹⁴ (yu- 'separate'), vrjyās, śrūyās, sahyās.

² With weak and unaccented root.

³ A transfer form for dhātē*.

⁴ This form may, however, perhaps preferably be classed as an imperfect injunctive along with stanīhi as pres. impv., as in WHITNEY's Roots. These are the only forms of the simple verb beside the aor. astānūt (AV.).

⁵ With strong radical vowel.

⁶ Probably to be explained as the injunctive corresponding to the augmented indicative adhīmahi (see 500, note ¹⁴); it might, however, be the I. pl. opt. mid. with loss of ā before the modal -ī.

⁷ For dā-iyām, dhā-iyām, sthā-iyām.

⁸ The RV. has no forms of the 3. sing. in -yāt, but only the somewhat numerous precatives in -yās = *-yās-t.

⁹ With irregular strong radical vowel, Padapāṭha sahyāma; cp. RPr. IX. 30.

¹⁰ Aor. opt. in WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 837 b, but pres. opt. in 'Roots' 157.

¹¹ With loss of ā before the modal -ī.

¹² Accented āpyāsam in the ed. (B. I.).

¹³ WHITNEY, in AV. III. 54, would emend this form to bhriyāsam: see his note on that passage.

¹⁴ According to AVERY 241, 3. sing. pres. opt.

Du. 2. bhūyāstam (VS. II. 7). — Pl. 1. ṛdhyāśma (AV.), kriyāśma, bhūyāśma (AV. VS.), rādhyāśma (AV.). — 2. *bhūyāsta*¹ (TS. III. 2. 5⁶).

Middle. Sing. 3. padīṣṭā, *mucīṣṭa*².

Root Aorist Imperative.

505. The active forms of this mood are fairly numerous, occurring in all the 2. and 3. persons; but middle forms occur in the 2. pers. only, ten in the sing. and two in the pl. In the 2. persons active of all numbers, several forms irregularly strengthen the root, which is then nearly always accented.

Active. Sing. 2. krāhi, gadhi, *bodhi*³, yandhi (√yam-), *yādhī*⁴, randhi (= rand-dhi; √randh-), viddhi (√viś-, AV.), vydhi 'cover', śagdhi (√śak-), śrudhi, spṛdhi. — With ending -hi: gahi, pahi (AV.), māhi 'measure', sāhi 'bind'.

3. gantu, dātu, dhātu, pātu (AV.), bhātu, śrātu, sātu (su- 'press').

Du. 2. *kartam*⁵ (AV.) and kṛtām, gatām and *gantām*⁵, jitām, dātām, dhaktām (√dagh-), dhātām, pātām (AV.), bhūtām, bhṛtām (VS. 3. gāmantu, dāntu (dā- 'cut', AV. XII. 3³), dhāntu, pāntu (AV.), śruvantu.

Middle. Sing. 2. krśvā, dhiśvā (√dhā-), yukśvā; accented on the root: mātsva, yākśva, rāsva, vāmsva (van- 'win'), *sākśva*¹² (I. 42¹; √sac-); unaccented dīsva (dā- 'give', VS. XXXVIII. 3), māsva 'measure'.

Pl. 2. krādhvam, *volhavam*¹³ (VS.).

Root Aorist Participle.

506. Of the active form of the participle of the root aorist few examples occur. But the middle form is common, nearly forty examples being met with in the RV. The accent here generally rests on the final syllable of the suffix -āna, but in several examples it is on the radical syllable.

Active. ṛdhānt-, krānt-, gmānt-, citānt-, pānt-, bhūddānt-, sthānt-; also *dyutānt-*¹⁴ as first member of a compound.

Middle. arāṇā-, idhāṇā-, urāṇā- 'choosing', ihāṇa- (√vah-), *krāṇā-*¹⁵, citāna-, cydvāna-, juṣāṇā-, trṣāṇā-, drśāṇā- and dṛśāna-, dyutāṇā- and dyūtāna-, dhuvāṇā- (TS. ¹ AV. XVIII. 4⁸⁶ has the corrupt reading bhūyāstha; see WHITNEY's note on that passage.

² The form grabhīṣṭa is a 2. pl. injv. beside the 1. pl. ind. agrabhīṣma according to the iṣ- aorist.

³ From both bhū- 'be' for bhū-dhi* and budh- 'awake' for būd-dhi* instead of bud-dhi*.

⁴ For yūd-dhi* instead of yuddhi*.

⁵ With strong root.

⁶ For vah-tam, vah-tām through vagh-tam*, vagh-tām*.

⁷ Once (VI. 49¹¹) accented gantā.

⁸ With the accent of strong forms.

⁹ For vart-ta (like vartī for vart-tī).

¹⁰ Always śrūtā or śrūtā; also sātā (cp. RPr. VII. 14 f.).

¹¹ With e for ā.

¹² sākśva (III. 377) is from √sah-, being an s- aor. form, for sah-s-sva* beside 1. sing. mid. asākṣi and sākṣi.

¹³ For vah-dhavam through vagh-dhavam*.

¹⁴ In dyutād-yāman- 'having a shining track'.

B. a- Aorist.

EVERY, Verb-Inflection 256 f. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 305—308; Roots 224; AV. Index Verborum 380. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 32—34.

507. This form of the simple aorist is taken by nearly 60 roots, chiefly by such as contain a medial vowel. In the RV. less than half as many verbs form the a- aorist as form the root-aorist; and it is more frequent in the AV. than in the RV. The root generally appears in the weak form, the stem being made with an added -a, which in unaugmented forms is normally accented. This form of the aorist therefore resembles an imperfect of the i- class. Middle forms are of rare occurrence in this aorist.

a. A certain number of irregularities occur in the formation of the stem. 1. The radical vowel of ās- 'order' is reduced to *i*⁴, e. g. *śiṣat*⁵ (IV. 27). — 2. Some half dozen roots containing a medial a followed by a nasal, drop the nasal; these are krand- 'cry out', tams- 'shake', dhvam- 'scatter', bhram- 'fall', randh- 'make subject', svams- 'fall'. — 3. On the other hand ṛ- 'go' and ṣ- 'flow' take Guṇa and accent the radical syllable, as āraṇta (unaugmented 3. pl.) and sārat. — 4. Several roots form transfer stems from the root aorist. Some half dozen do this by reducing a final radical ā to a. This is regularly the case in khyā- 'see', vyā- 'envelope', hvi- 'call'; e. g. ākhyat, avyat, ākvat; but from dā- 'give', dhā- 'put', and sthā- 'stand', only occasional transfer forms occur; thus ādat; adhat (SV.) and dhat; āsthat (AV.). On the other hand, occasional transfer forms are made from kr- 'make', and gam- 'go', in which the radical syllable remains strong; e. g. ākarat (AV.) and āgamat.

Indicative.

508. The forms of the indicative actually occurring, if made from vid- 'find', would be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. āvidam. 2. dvidas. 3. dvidat. — Pl. 1. āvidāma. 2. dvidata. 3. āvidan.

Middle. Sing. 1. āvide. 3. āvidata. — Pl. 1. vidāmahi. 3. dvidanta.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

⁴ prāti dhat (IV. 27⁵).

⁵ WHITNEY, note on AV. V. 1⁹, would instead of āvin vyrdhāma read (with Paipp.) āvin vyrdhāma.

⁶ A transfer form from √sthā-; cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. XIII. 1⁵.

⁷ With loss of medial nasal, from √dhvams-.

⁸ This form is probably a corrupt reading for the passive śiṣātai: see WHITNEY's note on AV. II. 31³.

⁹ For śiṣāmahi of RV. VIII. 24¹.

¹⁰ With accent on the radical syllable.

¹¹ From śās- 'order', with accent on the root.

¹² It is hard to decide whether this form, which occurs only once (I. 127³) beside the regular śrāvat, should be classed here as an injunctive of the a-aorist, or as an irregular subjunctive of the root-class following the analogy of bhūvat (cp. 502).

Middle. Pl. 2. mucadhvam. — 3. sadantām (AV.).

α- Aorist Participle.

a. There are hardly more than a dozen certain examples of the participle of this aorist.

Active. trpānt-, dhṛṣānt-, riśant- or *rīśant-*⁹, vr̥dhānt-, śiśānt- (śās 'order'), śucānt-, *sādānt-*¹⁰, *sānānt-*¹⁰; and as first member of compounds: kṛtānt-, guhānt-, *vidānt-*¹¹.

Middle. guhāmāna-, dhṛṣāmāna-, nytāmāna-, śucāmāna-; possibly also *dāsāmāna-*¹². Probably three participles in -āna are to be regarded as belonging to this aorist: dhṛṣānt- (AV.), vr̥dhānt-, sridhānt-.

2. Reduplicated Aorist.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum 143 f. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 266—268. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 856—873; Roots 224; Atharvaveda, Index Verborum 380. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 68 f.

513. This type of aorist is formed from nearly 90 verbs in the Samhitās. Though it has come to be associated with the secondary conjugation in -āya (causative), it is not in form (with a few slight exceptions) connected with that stem, being made directly from the root. It is, however, in sense connected with the causative, inasmuch as it has a causative meaning when the corresponding verb in -āya has that meaning. As an augmented reduplicated form, it has affinities with the imperfect of the reduplicating present class and with the pluperfect. It may, however, be distinguished from the imperfect by the long reduplicative vowel, by the thematic -a- which nearly always appears in the stem, and often by the meaning; and from the

² A probable conjecture for yame in AV. xviii. 23.

³ From sā- 'gain', as if sa- (sa-ū). Cp. v. NEGELEIN 34.

⁴ With loss of the radical nasal, from Vsrams-.

⁵ A transfer from the root aorist (otherwise kṛdhi). AVERY 243 adds gama(?).

⁶ With accent on the root instead of the second syllable; always sānū: cp. RPR. vii. 14, 19, 33.

⁷ A transfer form from the root aorist (otherwise kṛtām).

⁸ A transfer form from the root aorist.

⁹ Once with the short, six times with the long vowel in the Samhitā text (Pp. always 2): see APR. 583, 584, 588.

¹⁰ With accent on the root as also riśant- and rīśant-.

¹¹ In kṛtūd-vasu- 'disclosing wealth', guhād-avaḍya- 'concealing faults', vidād-vasu- 'winning wealth'.

¹² As occurring beside the α- aorist injunctive form dasat (510).

pluperfect by difference of reduplication when the root contains a or r, and often by meaning.

a. The characteristic feature of this aorist is the almost invariable quantitative sequence of a long reduplicative and a short radical vowel (—). The vowels ā, ṛ, *i*¹, as well as ī, are reduplicated with *i*², which (unless it becomes long by position) is lengthened if the radical vowel is (or is made) prosodically short; e. g. ā-jījan-a-t from jan- 'beget'; ā-rīṛdh-a-t from rīdh- 'grow', but cikṣip-a-s from kṣip- 'throw'.

In order to bring about this trochaic rhythm, the radical vowel has to be shortened or the nasal dropped in the roots vās- 'bellow', sādh- 'succeed', hūd- 'be hostile', kraud- 'cry out', jambh- 'crush', randh- 'subject', syand- 'flow', sraṃs- 'fall'; e. g. avvāsat, acikradat. In jihvaratam (TS.) the reduplicative vowel, being already long by position, is unnecessarily lengthened.

1. In a few forms the reduplicative vowel is, contrary to the prevailing rhythmic rule, left short: jigṛtām and jigṛtā (beside ājigṛtā); didhṛtam and virīṣas (beside virīṣas). On the other hand, in the isolated injunctive form *didṛṣas*³, the radical vowel remains long, and in āmīmat both the reduplicative and the radical syllable are long (beside mīmayat with the regular rhythm).

2. The p of the causative stems jāṇi-paya-, sthā-paya-, hṛ-paya-, ar-paya- (ṛ- 'go'), is retained in the aorist, the radical vowel being at the same time reduced to i in the first three: ājijñipat (TS.), atijñipat, jihñas; the ṣ of the causative stem bhṛṣaya- is also retained: bibhṛṣas (TS.).

3. The root dyut- 'shine', reduplicates with i: *adidyulat*⁴. In the aorist formed from the causative stem ar-paya-, the reduplicative i appears after, instead of before, the radical vowel, doubtless owing to the difficulty caused by the initial a and the augment: ar-i-p-am (AV.). The initial a also led to the anomaly of reduplicating the whole of the root am 'injure', and then prefixing the augment: ām-am-at.

4. There are three anomalous aorists formed from naṣ- 'be lost', ṣat- 'fall', and vac- 'speak', in which besides an irregular reduplicative vowel, the radical a is syncopated (a-pap-t-at, ā-naṣ-an) or contracted (d-vac-at). As beside the former two the regular reduplicated aorists apīpatat and anīnatat occur, and as all three have the regular reduplicative vowel a of the perfect⁵, they appear to have been originally pluperfects which before being shortened had the form of ā-papat-at*⁶, ā-nanāṣ-at*, ā-vavac-at*⁷. But they all came to be regarded as aorists. This is undoubted in the case of devacat owing to its numerous mood forms; āpaptat, moreover, has an imperative form beside it; and ānāṣan (TS VS.) has a distinctly aoristic meaning.

b. The reduplicated aorist in the great majority of forms makes its stems with a thematic -a-. Before this, a final r regularly, and ṛ and u in two or three forms, take Guṇa; e. g. adīdhar-a-t (√dhr-), bībhay-a-t (√bhṛ-), cucyav-a-t (√cyu-), dudrāv-a-t (√dru-). The inflexion of this aorist stem is like that of an imperfect of the a- conjugation.

c. About a dozen roots, however, have occasional forms from stems made without thematic -a-, the inflexion then being like that of an imperfect of the reduplicating class. These roots are mā- 'bellow'; śri- 'resort'; tu- 'be strong', dru- 'run', dhū- 'shake', nu- 'praise', pū- 'cleanse', yu- 'separate',

² In the reduplicating present class ṛ is almost invariably, and ā predominantly, reduplicated with i (457).

³ In form this might be a pluperfect. A similar reversal of the ordinary rhythm appears in the three forms ātalanīsatam (I. 120⁷), adadhīvat (IX. 877), vavāḍsat (SV. I. 1, 2, 2, 3 var. lect. for vavāḍsa of RV. X. 115¹) each occurring once, but owing to the reduplicative vowel they should rather be accounted pluperfects. Cp. p. 364, note ¹³.

⁴ See 514, note 1.

⁵ That is, neṣ- for nanāṣ-, on the analogy of sed- for sazd-* in the perfect: this form of contraction would be unique in an original aorist.

⁶ Like a-sasvaj-at; becoming a-papt-at like a-cakr-at beside cakar-am.

⁷ The cause of the anomalous contraction may be due to the awkwardness of combining the augment with the reduced reduplicative syllable u- of the perfect (a-vvac-at*). The accentuation of the augment would also favour the second syllable taking Samprasāraṇa: ā-va-uc-at.

sū- 'generate', sru- 'flow'; gr- 'waken', dhr- 'hold'; svap- 'sleep'; e. g. asīśret (TS.), ādudrot-, ājīgar, śiśvap. Beside forms made thus, occur others made from several of these roots with the thematic -a-; and those made from the roots ending in ṣ (the majority), cannot be distinguished in form from pluperfects. The number of forms of this type which can with certainty be classed as aorists is therefore very small.

d. Besides the indicative all the moods are represented in this aorist, but no participial form has been found.

Reduplicated Aorist Indicative.

514. The forms actually occurring would, if made from jan- 'beget' with thematic -a-, be the following:

516. Forms of this mood are of common occurrence in the active, in which voice more than fifty have been found; but in the middle only five have been noted.

Active. Sing. 1. cukrudham, jījanam, didharam, vocam.

2. cikradas, cikṣīpas, jīhvaras, jīhīpas (caus. hā-paya-), tīṛṣas (TS. III. 2. 5³), didīpas, didyutas, didhāras, nīnamas, nīnāśas, pāptas, piṣṣrās, pīpāras (pr- 'cross'), bībhīśas (TS. III. 2. 5²), mīmṣas, rīradhas, rīrīśas, vīrīśas, vocās, śīrathas, śīsrūthas, śīśucas (AV.), siṣadhās (√sādh-).

3. cucyavat, tiṣṭhipat, didharat, dudravat, dūduṣat, neśat, pāptat (AV.), pīpārat (pr- 'cross', RV¹) and pīpārat (pr- 'cross', RV¹) = TS. I. 6. 12³), pīpārat (pr- 'fill'), *mīmayat*⁴, rīradhat (√randh-), rīrīṣat, vocat, śīsrathat, siṣvadat (√svād-). — Without thematic -a-: nūnot (nu- 'praise'), yāyet (yu- 'separate'), susrot.

Du. 2. *jīhvaratam*⁵ (VS. v. 17) and *jīhvaratam*⁵ (TS. I. 2. 13²), *rīradhatam*⁵.

Pl. 2. *rīradhata*⁵, *rīrīṣata*⁵ (I. 89⁹ = VS. XXV. 22).

3. cikṣīpan (AV.), pāptan, rīraman, vocan, śīśucan (VS. XXXV. 8).

Middle. Sing. 1. vōce. — 2. *bībhīśathās*⁶.

Pl. 3. jījananta, vōcanta, siṣapanta (sap- 'serve').

Reduplicated Aorist Optative.

517. The forms of this mood are rare, numbering altogether (including a precativ) not more than a dozen. The majority of these come from vac- 'speak', and the rest from two other roots, cru- 'stir' and riṣ- 'hurt'.

Active. Sing. 1. vocyam. — 2. rīrīṣes, vocēs. — 3. vocet (AV.).

Du. 2. vocetam. — Pl. 1. *vocēma*⁷. — 3. vocyur.

Middle. Sing. 1. voceya. — Pl. 1. *cucyurvimāhi*⁸, vocemahi. — 3. *cucyavīrata*⁸,

There is also the precativ sing. 3. *rīrīṣ-ī-ṣ-ṭa*⁹ (VI. 51⁷) or rīrīṣ-ī-ṣ-ṭa (VIII. 18¹³).

¹ As if from an indicative 3. sing. apiṣṣrkh*.

² Like an indicative present in form.

³ These forms refute the statement of HIRT, IF. 12, 214 f., that the reduplicated, as well as the root and a- aorist, has no subjunctive, but only injunctive forms. Cp. 502, 509.

⁴ This form seems to have an injunctive sense in RV. X. 27²², its only occurrence.

⁵ Reckoned here an injunctive form (not imperative) because accompanied by mā: cp. DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax p. 361.

⁶ Formed from the causative stem bhīṣāya- of bhī- 'fear'.

⁷ This form occurs six times in the RV., three times unaccented and three times accented vocēma. AVERY 268 wrongly states vocēma to occur five times and vōcēma (sic) once.

⁸ Without thematic -a-.

⁹ In the Pada text rīrīṣīṣṭa.

Reduplicated Aorist Imperative.

518. Forms of this mood are rare, numbering hardly more than a dozen. They occur in the active only.

Active. Sing. 2. vocatāt. — 3. vocatu. — Du. 2. jigrtām (gr- 'waken'), didhrtām, vocatām. — Pl. 2. jigrtā, didhrtā, *paptata*¹ (i. 88^t), vocata, susūḍāta (AV. i. 264)². — 3. pūpurantu (pr- 'fill'), śīsrathantu.

3. Sigmatic Aorist.

519. The general tense sign of this aorist is an s added to the root. This s in the vast majority of verbs (more than 200) comes immediately before the endings. When such is the case, the stem may be formed in three different ways: the s being added 1. direct to the root, e. g. a-jai-s-am (ji- 'conquer'); 2. with a connecting -i-, e. g. a-kram-i-s-am (kram- 'stride'); 3. with an additional s- prefixed to the connecting -i-, e. g. a-yā-s-i-s-am (yā- 'go'). The inflexion of these three varieties (A) follows that of the graded conjugation. In a small number of verbs the stem is formed by adding -s extended with a thematic a; e. g. d-ruk-sa-i (ruh- 'mount'). The inflexion of this fourth form (B) of the sigmatic aorist is like that of an imperfect of the a- conjugation.

Of the four varieties of the sigmatic aorist, the first two, the s- aorist and the is- aorist, are very common, each being formed by nearly 100 roots. The other two are rare, the sis- aorist being made from only six, and the sa- aorist from only nine roots.

A. 1. The s- aorist.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum 177–179. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 257–259. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 878–897; Roots 225–226; Atharvaveda, Index Verborum 380. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 83–84.

520. In this form of the sigmatic aorist, the radical vowel as a rule takes ṽrddhi (a being lengthened) in the active. In the middle, on the other hand, excepting final ī and u (which take Guṇa), the radical vowel remains unchanged. Thus in the active there occur the forms 1. sing. a-jai-sam (√ji-), a-bhār-sam (√bhr-), 3. sing. ā-raik (√ric-), 3. pl. ā-cchānt-sur (√chand-); while in the middle we find 1. sing. a-vit-si (√vid-), ā-bhūt-si (√budh-), a-srk-si (√srj-), a-nū-si (nū- 'praise'), beside forms with Guṇa from roots ending in ī or u such as 3. pl. a-he-s-ata (√hi-), a-ne-s-ata (√n-), 1. sing. a-sto-si (√stu-).

a. There are, however, some irregularities. 1. In a few active injunctive forms Guṇa appears instead of ṽrddhi, e. g. sing. 2. je-s (√j-), pl. 1. jē-sma. — 2. In two or three middle forms of sah- 'overcome', the a is lengthened, e. g. sing. 1. *sāk-si*³. — 3. The root is shortened in a few middle forms; thus the ā of dā- 'cut', is reduced to i in sing. 1. opt. dī-s-īya, and the nasal of gam- 'go' and man- 'think' is dropped in the forms a-gu-mahi and ma-siya. — 4. After a consonant other than n m r, the tense sign s is dropped before t, th, and dh; thus ā-bhak-ta beside ā-bhak-si (√bhaj-); pat-thās (AV.) beside pat-si (√pad-, AV.); *ā-sto-dhvam*⁴ (√stu-), where the s on becoming ṣ cerebralized the following dental before disappearing (ā-sto-ṣ-dhvam*).

In addition to the indicative, all the moods of this form of the aorist occur. There is also a participle, but it is rare.

¹ An imperative form like this justifies the classification of āpaptat etc. as an actual aorist, apart from its possible origin as a pluperfect.

² Pāda text susūḍāta. It is perhaps better to class this form here (cp. WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 871) than as a transfer form of the perfect imperative from √sūd- (Roots 188), though the reduplicative vowel is short. Cp. p. 362, note 9.

³ Also in the active subjunctive form sākṣāma, where the a would normally remain short, as the radical vowel in this mood takes Guṇa only.

⁴ The only example in this aorist of the ending -dhvam.

Indicative.

521. The only point in which the inflexion differs from that of the imperfect of the graded conjugation is that the 3. pl. active invariably ends in -ur.

a. The following peculiarities and irregularities are moreover to be noted. 1. In the active: in the RV. the endings -s and -t of the 2. 3. sing. disappear, and the tense sign also, unless the root ends in a vowel; e. g. a-hār (AV.), 3. sing. from √hr-, = a-hār-s-t*, but a-hās, 3. sing. from hā- 'leave' = a-hā-s-t*. The AV. and TS., however, less often than not, insert a connecting -i- before these endings, thus preserving both the latter and the s of the tense stem; e. g. a-naik-s-i-t (√ni-, AV.), a-tām-s-i-t (√tan-, TS.). In four forms in which the -i- is not inserted, the -s and -t, as distinctive of the 2. and 3. persons, abnormally take the place of the s of the stem or the final consonant of the root: a-brat-t (AV.) for a-brat-s-t* (√br-); a-hat-t (AV.) for a-hat-s-t* (√hi-); a-vā-t (AV. VIII. 121) for a-vās-t* (vas- 'shine'); 2. sing. srā-s (AV.) for srīj-s-s* (√srj-). The RV. also has a-yā-s for a-yāj-s-s* (yaj- 'sacrifice') beside the phonetically regular form in the 3. sing. a-yāj for a-yāj-s-t*. — 2. In the middle nine first and one or two third persons singular appear in which the stem is made with the addition of -s, but which have both the ending and the meaning of the present; and the -s is added to a present stem and not to the aorist form of the root. Thus formed are from a present stem of 1. the a- class: avā-s-e 'I praise', yajā-s-e 'I worship' (VIII. 23¹); 2. the ā- class, nasalized: ṛhā-s-e 'I strive after'; 3. the ya- class: gāy-i-ge 'I sing'; 4. the nā- class: gṛnī-s-e 'I praise'; śuntī-s-e 'I purify'; 5. the root class: kr-s-e 'I make', hī-s-e 'I impel', stu-s-e 'I praise'; 6. the intensive: cākrp-s-e which (like *stuṣ*⁹ in I. 122⁷) is a 3. sing. with a passive sense: 'is praised'.

522. The forms of the indicative actually occurring would, if made from bhr- 'bear' in the active and stu- 'praise' in the middle, be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. dbhārṣam. 2. dbhār, abhārṣis (AV.). 3. dbhār; abhārṣit (AV. TS.). — Du. 2. dbhārṣam. 3. abhārṣam. — Pl. 1. dbhārṣma. 2. dbhārṣta. 3. dbhārṣur.

Middle. Sing. 1. āstoṣi. 2. āstoṣhās. 3. āstoṣta. — Du. 3. āstoṣātām. — Pl. 1. āstoṣmahī. 2. āstoṣhvam. 3. āstoṣata.

The forms which actually occur are the following:

Active. Sing. 1. akārṣam (AV.), ajaiṣam (√ji-), āprākṣam (√prach-, AV.), abhārṣam, dyāṁṣam (√yam-), ayāsam, āspārṣam (spr- 'win'), dhārṣam (√hr-).

2. akrān (√krand-), *aghās*¹⁰ (√ghas-, AV. XX. 129¹⁰), dhās (hā- 'leave', AV. II. 10⁷). — With irregular -s: ayās (√yaj-), srās (√srj-, AV.). — With connecting -i-: avātsis (rādh- 'succeed', AV.), *avātsis*¹¹ (vas- 'dwell', AV.); bhaiṣis (AV.).

3. With loss of the ending -t: *ajais*¹² (√ji-), aprās (√prā-), ahās (hā- 'leave'). — With loss of both tense sign and ending: *ākrān*¹³ (√krand-), āksār (√ksar-), acait (√cit-), acchān (√chand-), atān (√tan-), atsār (√tsar-), ādyaut (√dyut-), adhāk (√dah-), aprāk (pr- 'mix', AV.), aprāt (√prach-), abhār, ayāt (√yaj-), dyān (√yam-), *araut*¹⁴ (√rudh-, AV.), āvāt (√vah-), *avāt*¹⁵ (vas- 'shine', AV.), āsvāt (√svit-), asyān (√syand-), āsrāk (√srj-), āsvār (√svar-), ahār (√hr-, AV.); āraik (√ric-); dyaut, vāt (√vah-). —

³ The phonetically regular form would be srāk*. Cp. p. 61 (middle).

⁴ Also the participle ṛhjas-ānā-.

⁵ From gāya-, with -i- for -a-.

⁶ From the weak stem.

⁷ These three forms seem to represent the transition of aorist stems to employment as present stems.

⁸ The form stuṣ is frequent as a 1. sing.;

in one passage (I. 122⁷), however, it appears to be a 3. sing. with a passive sense: 'is praised'.

s- Aorist Subjunctive.

523. This mood is quite common in the RV., but decidedly less so in the other Samhitās. Its forms are, however, frequent only in the active, in which all persons are represented except the 1. du. The middle is much less common, about 20 forms occurring altogether; only one of these is found in the dual, and two in the plural. The root regularly takes Guṇa throughout before the tense sign¹⁰, in the middle as well as the active. The primary endings are frequent, being used almost exclusively¹¹ in the du. and the 2. pl.

In the middle 3. sing. and pl. the exceptional ending -tai occurs in two forms in later Samhitās (AV. TS.).

Active. Sing. 1. stōṣānī. — 2. dārṣasi (dr- 'split'); jēṣas (√ji-), vāḁṣas (√vah-). — 3. neṣati (√nū-), parṣati (pr- 'take across'), pāṣati ('protect'), matsati (√mad-), yoṣati (yu- 'separate'), vakṣati (√vah-), sakṣati (√sah-, AV.); ākṣat (āś- 'attain', X. 117), kṣeṣat (kṣi- 'dwell'), chanīsat (√chand-), jēṣat (√ji-), dārṣat (dr- 'split'), dāṣat (dā- 'give'), drāṣat

² For acchānt-s-ta*.

³ AVERY 257 adds the form aveṣan, which occurs twice in the RV., regarding it doubtless as an s- aorist of √vṛ. It would as such have the double anomaly of absence of Vṛddhi and the ending -an. It is probably 3. pl. impf. of √viś in both passages (I. 170²; X. 114¹). GRASSMANN in X. 114¹ regards it as aorist of √vṛ.

⁴ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 834.

⁵ With anomalous long vowel.

⁶ See WHITNEY's note on AV. VI. 30².

⁷ For ā-tap-s-thās*.

⁸ With loss of the radical nasal (a taking the place of the sonant nasal).

⁹ With interchange of the radical vowel and semivowel: see 50, b.

¹⁰ The a of sah is lengthened in the forms sākṣāma and sākṣate.

¹¹ Excepting only the 3. du. act. yakṣātām.

Du. 2. trāṣāthe (for trāṣaithe*). — Pl. 3. nāmsante (√nam-), māmsante (√man-). — With ending -tai: *māmsatai*⁸ (TS. VII. 4. 15¹).

s- Aorist Injunctive.

524. Injunctive forms are of fairly common occurrence, especially after mā. Judged by the extremely few accented forms occurring, the accent was on the radical syllable. All the forms occurring in the 1. sing. act. are irregular in one way or another: nearly all of them take Guṇa instead of Vṛddhi, while yūṣam (AV.) only lengthens the radical vowel (yu 'separate'). Three first persons from roots in -ā substitute *e*⁹ for that vowel, as yeṣam from yā 'go'; the same substitution takes place in the 1. pl. geṣma (AV.), deṣma (VS.), and 3. pl. stheṣur (AV.).

Active. Sing. 1. *jeṣam*¹⁰ (√ji-, VS. IX. 13 etc.), yūṣam (yu 'separate', AV.), *stoṣam*¹⁰; from roots ending in -ā: geṣam (gā 'go', VS. v. 5), yeṣam (yā 'go'), *stheṣam*⁹ (sthā 'stand', VS. II. 8).

2. *jes*¹⁰; bhāk (√bhaj-), yāt (√yaj-), yaus (yu 'separate'), hvar (√hvar-, VS. I. 2). — With connecting -ī: hāṣis (Kh. IV. 85; AA. II. 7).

3. dhāk (√dah-), bhāk (√bhaj-), bhār (√bhr-), mauk (√muc-, VS. I. 25), *hūs*¹¹ (hā 'leave'). — With connecting -ī: tāpsit (VS. XIII. 30), vākṣit (√vah-, AV.), hāsit (TS. VII. 3. 13¹; AV.), hvarṣit (√hvar-, VS. I. 2).

Du. 2. tāptam (√tap-, VS. v. 33), yauṣtam (yu 'separate'), srāṣtam (√srj-, AV.).

¹ As appearing in immediate juxtaposition with prīṣat (I. 180^b), this form appears to be an aorist subjunctive of vṛ-, not a present injunctive of √vṛis (vṛīṣati).

² AVERY 258 gives śīṣat, among these forms, as occurring once. He doubtless means nī-śīṣat (IV. 2⁷) which occurs beside the subjunctives bhārāt and ndīrat. But it cannot be an s-aorist (which would be śīṣat). WHITNEY, Roots, takes it as an a-aorist of śīṣ 'leave', GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch 1392, as an aorist of śās-. Cp. above 510.

³ In I. 129¹⁰ ('accompany').

⁴ In v. 30⁶ ('conquer').

⁵ With lengthened radical vowel.

⁶ Weak radical vowel instead of Guṇa.

⁷ AVERY 258 adds hāṣate, also WHITNEY, Grammar 893 a; but this form is doubtless a 3. sing. mid. pres. of hās 'hasten', a secondary form of hā 'leave' according to the a-class; also hāṣante (AV. IV. 36⁵). Cp. p. 321, note 7.

⁸ See WEBER's ed. of the TS., p. 310, 15, note 12.

⁹ Made perhaps from an i-form of roots ending in -ā. Cp. WHITNEY, Grammar 894 c.

¹⁰ Formed perhaps under the influence of the subjunctives jēṣat and stoṣat.

¹¹ Unnecessarily regarded by DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 60 (80) as from hṛ 'take'.

Pl. 1. yausma (yu- 'separate', VS. IV. 22). — With Guṇa only: *geṣma*¹ (gā- 'go', AV.), jēṣma (√ji-), *deṣma*¹ (dā- 'give', VS. II. 32). — 2. naiṣṭa (√nī-), yausṭa (√yu- 'separate', AV.), *śāpta*² (TS. III. 3. 9'). — 3. jaiṣur (√ji-, AV.), dhāsur, yausur (yu- 'separate'), *stheṣur*¹ (AV. XVI. 47), hāsur.

Middle. Sing. 1. gāsi (gā- 'sing'), nikṣi (√niṣ-, AV.), paṭsi (√pad-, AV.), bhaksī (√bhaj-, VII. 41²), meṣi (mī- 'diminish', AV.), yaṃsi (√yam-), yakṣi (√yaj-), vāṃsi (√van-), vrkṣi (√vrj-).

2. cyoṣṭhās (√cyu-), chitthās (√chid-, AV.), paṭthās (√pad-, AV.), bhitthās (TS. IV. 1. 9²), maṃsthās (√man-, AV.; VS. XIII. 41), meṣṭhās (√mī-, AV.), raṃsthās (√ram-, AV.), hāsthās (hā- 'go forth', AV.).

3. kṣeṣṭa (kṣi- 'destroy', AV.), neṣṭa (√nī-, AV.), pāṣṭa (pā- 'drink', AV.), maṃṣṭa (√man-, AV.), *māṃṣṭa*³ (√man-, AV. XI. 2³), meṣṭa (mī- 'fail', AV.), hāṣṭa (hā- 'be left', AV.).

Du. 2. sṛkṣāthām (√sṛj-, VS. XIX. 7).

Pl. 1. *yutsmahi*³ (√yudh-, AV.), hāsmahi (hā- 'be deprived of').

3. dhukṣata (√duh-), nūṣata, matsata (√mad-), muṣṣata (√muc-), sakṣata (√sac- 'accompany').

s- Aorist Optative.

525. This mood occurs in the middle only in this form of the sigmatic aorist. The 2. 3. sing. always appears with the precative s excepting the one form bhaksīta in the SV. (I. 1. 2. 4²).

Sing. 1. *diṣṭiya*⁴ (dā- 'cut'), bhaksīyā (√bhaj-), *maṣīyā*⁵ (√man-), muṣṭiya, rāṣīyā, *sākṣīyā*⁶ (√sah-, AV.), strīyā (√str-, AV.).

2. maṃṣiṣṭhās (√man-). — 3. darṣiṣṭa (dṛ- 'tear'), bhaksīta (SV.), maṃṣiṣṭa (√man-), mṛkṣiṣṭa (mṛc- 'injure').

Du. 2. trāṣiṭhām (for *trās-iyāthām).

Pl. 1. dhukṣimāhi (√duh-, TS. I. 6. 4³), bhaksimāhi (√bhaj-), maṃṣimāhi (√man-), vaṃṣimāhi and *vasimāhi*⁵ (√van-, IX. 72³), sakṣimāhi (√sac-). — 3. maṃṣitrata.

s- Aorist Imperative.

526. No certain regular forms of the imperative occur in the active. Two or three, such as yausṭam, naiṣṭa, might have been classed here, but as they occur with mā only, they have been placed among the injunctives. There are, however, the two transfer forms in the 2. sing. neṣa (√nī-, AV.) and parṣā (pr- 'take across')⁷. The only forms of the imperative occurring in the middle are three made from rā- 'give' and one from śah- 'conquer'.

Middle. Sing. 2. sākṣva. — 3. rāsatām. — Du. 2. rāṣāthām. — Pl. 3. rāsanātām.

s- Aorist Participle.

527. Only two or three forms of the active participle are found. These are dākṣant- and dhākṣant- from dah- 'burn', and sākṣant- from sah- 'prevail'. In the middle there are no regular forms. There is one doubtful example in which the stem is extended with -a- and accordingly adds the suffix -māna, as in the a- conjugation: dhīṣ-a-māna- (dhī- 'think').

There are, besides, a dozen stems irregularly formed by adding s to the root with an intermediate -a-, and taking the regular ending -āna. These forms

² For śāp-s-ta.

³ A somewhat doubtful reading: see WHITNEY's note on AV. VII. 52².

⁴ With the radical ā weakened to i.

may be accounted as belonging to the s-aorist. All but two of them occur in the RV. They are: arśasānā- 'injuring', ōhasāna- (√ūh-) 'lying in wait', frayasānā- (√fri-) 'far-extending', dhiyasānā- (√dhr-) 'attending', namasānā- (√nam-) 'rendering homage' (AV.), dhīyāsāna- (√bhī-) 'fearing' (AV.), mandasānā- (√mand-) 'rejoicing', yamasānā- (√yam-) 'being driven' (with passive sense), rabhasānā- (√rabh-) 'agile', vr̥dhasānā- (√vr̥dh-) 'growing', śarvasānā- (√śū-) 'strong', sahasānā- (√sah-) 'mighty'.

A. 2. The ṣs-Aorist.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 179—180. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 259—261. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 898—910; Roots 226—227; AV. Index Verborum 380. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 85—86.

528. About 80 roots take this form of the sigmatic aorist in the RV. and about a dozen others in the AV.

The -s is here added to the root with the connecting vowel -i-. The radical vowel as a general rule takes Guna throughout; but in the active a final vowel takes Vṛddhi and a medial -a is sometimes lengthened. No roots with final -ṛ and few with final -ṝ take this aorist. The terminations are the same as those of the s-aorist, excepting that the 2. and 3. sing. act. end in -ṛ (= iṣ-s) and -ṝ (= iṣ-ṝ). Active and middle forms, though frequent, are rarely both made from the same root, occurring thus in about fifteen verbs only. This is the only aorist from which a few forms are made in the secondary conjugation¹.

Besides the indicative, all the moods are represented in this aorist, but no participial forms have been met with.

Indicative.

529. In the active all persons are represented except du. 1. 2. and pl. 2.; but in the middle only sing. 2. and 3. occur besides a single form of sing. 1 (Kh.), du. 3. and pl. 3. (VS.).

a. A few irregularities occur in the formation of this tense². 1. The forms at̥arina (beside the normal āt̥arisma) and *acādiran*³ (AV.), are probably to be regarded as irregular forms with abnormal loss of the aoristic -s. — 2. The root grabh- 'seize' takes the connecting vowel *ṝ*³ (as it does in other verbal forms) instead of -i-, as agrabh̄ṝṣma. — 3. In the sing. 1. act., the ending -ṛm appears instead of -iṣam in the three forms ākramīm, vādht̄m, and agrabh̄t̄m (TS.), doubtless owing to the analogy of the 2. and 3. sing. -ṛs and *-ṝ*⁴. — 4. The abnormal ending -ait̄ appears in the 3. sing. in *dsarait̄*⁵ (AV.) beside asarit̄ (AV.)⁶.

The normal forms occurring, if made from kram- 'stride', would be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. ākramiṣam. 2. ākramṛs. 3. ākramīt̄. — Du. 3. ākramiṣt̄am. — Pl. 1. ākramiṣma. 3. ākramiṣur.

Middle. Sing. 1. ākramiṣi (Kh.). 2. ākramiṣthās. 3. ākramiṣta. — Du. 3. ākramiṣāt̄m. — Pl. 3. ākramiṣata (VS.).

The forms which actually occur are the following:

² The weak form of the root appears in the injunctive nudīṣthās (AV.) and the optative ruciṣiṣya (AV.) and gmiṣiṣya (VS.), which syncopates the radical vowel as in the root aor. and the perfect of this verb.

³ Cp. WHITNEY 904 d.

⁴ Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 188.

⁵ This abnormal ending also occurs in the secondary conjugation in the denominative aor. dsaparyait̄ (AV.): see below 570.

⁶ Both these forms also show the irregularity of taking Guna instead of Vṛddhi.

Active. Sing. 1. akāṇiṣam, akāriṣam, akramiṣam, acāyiṣam (AV.), acāriṣam, abhāriṣam (Vbhr-, AV.), avadhiṣam (AV.), avādiṣam (AV.), āsaṇsiṣam, asāniṣam; āsiṣam (aś- 'eat', AV.); rāviṣam. — With ending -īm: akramīm, agrabhīm (TS); vādhīm.

2. akramīs, adr̥ṇihis (VS. VI. 2), dvadhīs, *avar̥ṣīs*¹, astarīs (Vstr-, AV.); *āsīs*² (aś- 'eat', AV.), duk̥ṣīs (uk̥ṣ- 'grow'); kramīs, vādhīs.

3. ākārīt, ākramīt, āgrabhīt, āgrahīt (AV.), ātārīt, adr̥ṇhīt (MS. IV. 13⁸), *anayīt*² (Vn̄-, AV.), āmandīt, ayāsīt, āyodhīt, arāvīt, dvadhīt, āvarsīt (Vrs-, AV.), āsaṇsīt, *āsarīt*³ (AV.), asāvīt, astānīt (AV.), āsvanīt; āvīt, āsīt (aś- 'eat', AV.); jūrīt (jūrv- 'consume'), tārīt, vādhīt. — With ending -ait: *āsarait*⁴ (AV.).

Du. 3. āmanthiṣtām; jāniṣtām.

Pl. 1. agrabhīṣma, ātārīṣma and *atārīma*⁵, dvadhīṣma (VS. IX. 38).

3. ākārīṣur, ākramīṣur, adhanviṣur, ānariṣur, ānindīṣur, apāviṣur, āman-diṣur, amādiṣur, arājīṣur, arāṇiṣur (ran- 'rejoice'), drāviṣur, avādiṣur, asāviṣur; *ākṣiṣur*⁶ (I. 163¹⁰), āniṣur (Van-, AV., TS.), āviṣur (Vav-). — With -ran: avādiran (AV.).

Middle. Sing. 1. aikṣiṣi (Kh. I. 1¹: Vtk̥ṣ-). — 2. ājaniṣthās (AV.), asamiṣthās (sam- 'labour'), asayiṣthās, āsramiṣthās; jāniṣthās.

3. akrapīṣṭa (Vkr̥p-), ājaniṣṭa, adhāviṣṭa, anaviṣṭa, aprathiṣṭa, arociṣṭa (VS. XXXVII. 15), avasīṣṭa (vas- 'wear'), āsamiṣṭa, āsahiṣṭa; duhiṣṭa (āh- 'consider'); krāmiṣṭa, jāniṣṭa, prathiṣṭa, māndiṣṭa, yamiṣṭa.

Du. 3. āmandiṣātām. — Pl. 3. āgrbhīṣata (VS. XXI. 60).

iṣ- Aorist Subjunctive.

530. Active forms of this mood are fairly common, but are almost exclusively limited to the 2. and 3. sing. Middle forms are very rare, occurring only in the pl., where not more than four examples have been noted.

Active. Sing. 1. *daviṣāni*⁷. — 2. aviṣas, kāniṣas, tāriṣas, rakṣiṣas, vādhīṣas, vādiṣas (AV.), vēṣiṣas, saṇsiṣas.

3. kāriṣat, jambhiṣat, jōṣiṣat, tāriṣat, nindīṣat (AV.), pāriṣat ('take across'), bōdhiṣat, mārdhiṣat, yāciṣat, yodhiṣat, rakṣiṣat, vanīṣat (AV.), vyathiṣat (VS. VI. 18), saṇsiṣat (TS. V. 6. 8⁶), saṇiṣat, *sāviṣat*⁸ (sū- 'vivify').

Pl. 3. *saṇiṣan*⁹ (AV. V. 3⁵).

Middle. Pl. 1. yāciṣāmahe, saṇiṣāmahe. — 3. *vanīṣanta*¹⁰ (TS. IV. 7. 14¹), sāniṣanta.

iṣ- Aorist Injunctive.

531. Forms of the injunctive are commoner than those of the subjunctive. In the active they are found almost exclusively in the 2. 3. sing., 2. du. and 2. 3. pl.; in the middle nearly a dozen forms occur, all but one in the sing.

The forms of this mood have the accent on the root (as in the un-augmented indicative).

Active. Sing. 1. sāṇsiṣam, hīṇsiṣam (VS. I. 25).

² See WHITNEY's note on AV. XI. 32⁶.

iṣ- Aorist Optative.

532. This mood is rare, occurring in the middle only and being formed from hardly a dozen roots. Though the ending is accented, the root appears in a weak form in *gmiṣṭya*⁴ (VS.) and ruciṣṭya (AV.). The 2. and 3. sing. take the precativē -s.

Middle. Sing. 1. edhiṣṭyā (AV.), *gmiṣṭya*³ (VS. III.19), janiṣṭya (AV.)⁵, *ruciṣṭya*³ (AV.). — 2. modiṣṭhās (AV.). — 3. janiṣṭṣa, vaniṣṭṣa.

iṣ- Aorist Imperative.

533. Forms of this mood are rare, occurring in the active only and being made from six or seven roots at the most. Among these forms, two only are distinctively imperative, aviṣṭi and aviṣṭu; a few others can be distinguished by having the accent on the ending; the rest, being unaccented and used without mā, cannot be distinguished from injunctives.

Sing. 2. aviṣṭi. — 3. aviṣṭu. — Du. 1. aviṣṭam, kramiṣṭam, gamiṣṭam, caniṣṭam, caviṣṭam (ci- 'gather'), yodhiṣṭam (j'yudh-), vadhiṣṭam, śnathiṣṭam. — 3. aviṣṭam. — Pl. 2. *avitāḥ*⁶; aviṣṭāna, śnathiṣṭāna.

534. This aorist, which is inflected exactly like the iṣ- aorist, is formed by only six or seven roots in the Saṃhitās. Middle forms occur in the optative only.

Indicative.

Sing. 1. ayāsiṣam. — Du. 3. ayāsiṣṭam (VS. XXVIII.14). — Pl. 2. āyāsiṣṭa. — 3. agāsiṣur (gā- 'sing'), *ayāsiṣur*⁷.

⁵ The Kāthaka has the forms janiṣeyam and janiṣeya made from a secondary -a-stem (WHITNEY 907).

⁶ This may be regarded as a form irregularly lacking s = aviṣṭā.

⁷ āsiṣur is formed from aś- 'attain', according to DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 179; according to WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 913, and Roots 1, from the secondary root akṣ-; see above p. 383, note ⁶.

Optative.

535. In the Samhitās this form of the sigmatic aorist is taken by only nine roots, which end in j ś ṣ or h and contain the medial vowels i u or ṛ. The thematic a doubtless came to be employed in these few verbs to avoid a difficult agglomeration of consonants when the endings were added. The inflexion is like that of an imperfect of the ā- class of the first conjugation, the -sā- being accented⁶ in unaugmented forms. Besides the indicative, only forms of the injunctive and imperative occur, altogether fewer than a dozen. No subjunctive, optative, or participial forms have been noted.

Indicative.

536. Neither forms of any person of the dual nor of the 2. pl. occur in the indicative of this type of the s- aorist. The active forms greatly predominate, the middle being represented in the 3. sing. and pl. by only three or four forms altogether.

Active. Sing. 1. avṛkṣam (√vṛh-). — 2. adhukṣas (√duh-, VS. I. 3), arukṣas (√ruh-, AV.); rukṣas (√ruh-, AV.). — 3. ākruṣat (√kruś-), aghuṣat (√guh-), *adukṣat*⁷ and ādhuṣat (√duh-), āmṛkṣat (√mṛś-, AV.) drukṣat (√ruh-), āspṛkṣat (√sṛś-, AV.; VS. IV. The Future System.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 183—184. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 262. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 931—941; Roots 228 f.; AV. Index Verborum 380. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 86—87.

537. The stem is formed by adding -syá¹ or (rather less frequently with connecting -i-) -isyá¹ to the root, which gunates a final or a prosodically short medial vowel. As the subjunctive frequently has a future sense, and even the present indicative may have it, the occasion for the use of actual future forms seldom arises in the RV., which forms a future stem from only fifteen roots, while the AV. does so from more than thirty (about eight of these occurring in the RV. also)². There is only one subjunctive and one conditional form, but some twenty participles occur.

a. In the following stems the suffix -sya is added direct: kṣi- 'abide': kṣe-syá-3; ji- 'conquer': je-syá-; dah- 'burn': dhak-syá-; yaj- 'sacrifice': yak-syá-; vac- 'speak': vak-syá-; sū- 'bring forth': sū-sya-4. In the AV. also occur: i- 'go': e-syá-; kṛt- 'cut': kart-sya-; kram- 'stride': kram-syá-; gop- 'protect': gop-sya-; dā- 'give': dā-syá-; nī- 'lead': nī-sya-; mih- 'mingere': mek-syá-5; yā- 'go': yā-syá-; yuj- 'join': yok-sya-6; rādh- 'succeed': rāt-sya-; vah- 'carry': vak-syá-; vṛt- 'turn': vart-syá-7; śad- 'fall': śat-sya-; sah- 'prevail': sāh-sya-8; hā- 'leave': hā-sya-; hu- 'sacrifice': ho-syá-. In the VS. bādh- 'bind': bhant-syá-.

b. In the following stems the suffix is added with connecting -i-: av- 'favour': av-isyá-9; as- 'shoot': as-isyá-; kṛ- 'do': kar-isyá-; jan- 'beget': jan-isyá-; bhū- 'be': bhav-isyá-; man- 'think': man-isyá-; vā- 'weave': vay-isyá-10; san- 'acquire': san-isyá-; śr- 'hasten': śar-isyá-; stu- 'praise': stav-isyá-. From causative stems: dhṛ- 'support': dhāray-isyá-; vas- 'clothe oneself': vāsay-isyá-.

The AV. has the following additional stems: gam- 'go': gam-isyá-; dhṛ- 'maintain': dhār-isyá-; naś- 'disappear': naś-isyá-; pat- 'fly': pat-isyá-; mṛ- 'die': mar-isyá-; vad- 'speak': vad-isyá-; vṛt- 'turn': vart-isyá-11; svap- 'sleep': svap-isyá-12; han- 'slay': han-isyá-. From causative stems: dus- 'spoil': dūṣay-isyá-; vṛ- 'cover': vāray-isyá- 'shield'.

538. a. Subjunctive. The only subjunctive form occurring is kar-isyā(-s) in IV. 30^{23,13}.

b. Conditional. The only example occurring is formed from bhṛ- 'bear': d-bhar-isyā-t 'he was going to bear off' (II. 30²).

c. Participles. A good many participial forms occur. The following stems are met with:

Active. av-isyánt-14, as-isyánt-, e-syánt- (AV.)¹⁵, kar-isyánt-, kṣe-syánt-, khan-isyánt- (TS.), je-syánt-16 (AV.), dā-syánt- (AV.), dhak-syánt-, pat-isyánt- (AV.), ¹ On the origin of this suffix see BRUGMANN, Grundriss 2, 747 (p. 1092), who connects the -sya form with the is- aorist; and v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 86.

² According to WHITNEY 937 the future is formed from over 60 roots in the TS. but I am uncertain how many of these occur in independent Mantra passages.

³ This is the only stem in which -syá is to be read -sia: kṣeṣāntas.

⁴ This stem has the double irregularity of accenting the root and not taking Guṇa: cp. the perfect sasiva.

⁵ The Mss. read mekṣāmi in AV. VII. 102¹: cp. WHITNEY's note.

⁶ Doubtful reading see note³ p. 387 on yokṣye.

⁷ See WHITNEY's note on AV. xv. 6⁷.

⁸ An emendation: see note on sāksye.

⁹ Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 184.

¹⁰ Op. cit. p. 183.

¹¹ In the form āvartisye for ānu-vartisye; see p. 11, 18.

¹² See WHITNEY's note on AV. XIX. 479.

¹³ The form karisyā (I. 1659) is probably to be explained as the same subjunctive (= karisyās): cp. BR. sv. karisyā.

¹⁴ Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 183.

¹⁵ In praisyān (AV. v. 22¹⁴), Pp. pra-esyān, but WHITNEY = pra-isyān.

¹⁶ In AV. xv. 20¹ nearly all the Mss. read jyesyān (as if from √jyā-) for jesyān.

bhar-isyánt- (TS.), bhav-isyánt- (AV.VS.), yā-syánt- (AV.), vac- 'speak': vak-syánt-, vay-isyánt-, san-isyánt-, sar-isyánt-, sū-syant-, han-isyánt-.

Middle. kramśyd-māṇa- (AV.), janīśyd-māṇa- (VS.XVIII. 5), yakśyd-māṇa-, stavīśyd-māṇa- (AV.).

Future Indicative.

539. The future is inflected, in both active and middle, like the present of the a- conjugation. The forms actually met with in the Sāṃhitās would, if made from kr- 'do', be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. karīśyāmi. 2. karīśyāsi. 3. karīśyāti. — Du. 2. karīśyathas (TS.). 3. karīśyatas (AV.). — Pl. 1. karīśyāmas and karīśyāmasi (AV.). 2. karīśyātha. 3. karīśyanti (AV.).

Middle. Sing. 1. karīśyē. 2. karīśyase. 3. karīśyate.

The forms actually occurring are the following:

Active. Sing. 1. ēśyāmi (AV.), karīśyāmi (AV.), kartśyāmi (AV.), carīśyāmi (VS. I. 5), jēśyāmi, bhantśyāmi (1st bandh-, VS. XXII. 4)¹, *mekśyāmi*² (AV.), vakśyāmi (√vac-), stavīśyāmi.

2. karīśyāsi, jēśyasi (VS. XXIII. 17), bhaviśyasi (AV.), marīśyasi (AV.), rātśyasi (√rād-, AV.), vakśyasi (√vac-, TS. II. 6. 125), sanīśyasi, hanīśyasi (AV.).

3. karīśyati, gamīśyati (AV.), naśīśyati (AV.), neśyati (AV.), patīśyati (AV.), bhaviśyāti, marīśyati (AV.), vadiśyati (AV.), sanīśyati, sthāśyati (VS. VI. 2), hanīśyati (AV.).

Du. 2. karīśyathas (TS. IV. I. 9²). — 3. marīśyatas (AV.), vakśyatas (√vak-, AV.).

Pl. 1. bharīśyāmas (VS. XI. 16), vakśyāmas (√vac-), svapīśyāmasi (AV.).

2. karīśyātha, bhaviśyātha, sarīśyātha (AV.).

3. gopśyanti (√gup-, AV.), śatsyanti (√śad-, AV.), hāśyanti (√hā-, AV.).

Middle. Sing. 1. dhariśyē (AV.), manīśyē, *yokśyē*³ (AV.), *vartīśyē*⁴ (AV.), *sākśyē*⁵ (√sah-, AV.). — 2. stavīśyase. — 3. janīśyate, stavīśyate (AV.).

Periphrastic Future.

540. Of this formation, common in the later language, there seems to be an incipient example in VS.XVIII. 59 = TS.V.7.7¹: anvāgantā yajñāpatir vo ātra 'the sacrificer is following after you here', a modification of AV.VI.123^{1.2}: anvāgantā yajmāṇaḥ svastī, which WHITNEY translates 'the sacrificer follows after well-being'⁶.

V. Secondary Conjugation.

541. As opposed to the primary conjugation, there are four derivative formations in which the present stem is used throughout the inflexion of the verb and is everywhere accompanied by the specific sense connected with that stem. The forms which occur outside the present system are, however, rare. The four derivative formations are the desiderative, the intensive, the causative, and the denominative.

1. The Desiderative.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 184—186. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 230, 268—270. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1026—1040; Roots 233f. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 88—90.

542. Though the least frequent of the secondary conjugations, the desiderative is perhaps best dealt with first, as being akin in derivation and

² WHITNEY's emendation for mekśāmi of the Mss.; see his note on AV. VII. 102¹.

³ All the Mss. in AV. XIX. 13¹ read yokśe (but Paipp. yokśyē).

⁴ In anvartīśyē (AV. XIV. 156¹) given under the root art- by WHITNEY, AV. Index Verborum; see p. 386, note ¹¹.

⁵ The Mss. in AV. II. 27¹ read sākśe.

⁶ Cp. WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 946.

meaning to the future¹, the last of the primary verbal formations treated above (537—540). The desiderative is formed from the root with an accented reduplicative syllable and the suffix -sa, which expresses the desire for the action or condition denoted by the root; e. g. pā- 'drink': pi-pā-sa- 'desire to drink'. Desiderative stems from fewer than sixty roots are met with in the Samhitās.

The characteristic reduplicative vowel is i, which appears in all stems except those formed from roots containing ū (which reduplicate with u); and the root generally remains unchanged. Thus jñā- 'know': ji-jñā-sa- (AV.); vyā- 'overpower': jit-vyā-sa-; dā- 'give': dit-dā-sa-; pā- 'drink': pi-pā-sa-; tij- 'be sharp': tit-tik-ša-; nid- 'blame': nit-nit-sa-; bhid- 'split': bit-bhit-sa-; miś- 'mix': mit-mik-ša-; riś- 'hurt': rit-rik-ša-; nī- 'lead': ni-nī-ša-; prī- 'love': pit-prī-ša-; guh- 'hide': *jug-guh-ša-*²; duh- 'milk': *dū-duk-ša-*²; muc- 'release': mū-muk-ša-; yudh- 'fight': yit-yut-sa-; ruh- 'ascend': rū-ruk-ša-; bhū- 'be': bū-bhū-ša-; tyd- 'pierce': tī-tyt-sa-; trp- 'delight': tī-trp-sa-; dṛś- 'see': dī-dṛk-ša-; vṛt- 'turn': vit-vṛt-sa-; srp- 'creep': sī-srp-sa-.

a. A few desideratives reduplicate with a long vowel: tur- (= tīr-) 'cross': tū-tūr-ša-; bādh- 'oppress': bī-bhat-sa-; man- 'think': mī-māṃ-sa- (AV.) 'investigate'. On the other hand, two desideratives abbreviate the reduplicative syllable by dropping its consonant; thus yaj- 'sacrifice': i-yak-ša- for yi-yak-ša-*³; naś- 'attain': i-nak-ša-, for ni-nak-ša-*, perhaps through the influence of īyak-ša-; and the RV. has one desiderative form from āp- 'obtain' in which the reduplication is dropped altogether: ap-santa.

b. The radical vowel is lengthened when i, u, or r is final (the latter becoming īr); thus ci- 'see': ci-kī-ša-; ji- 'conquer': jit-gī-ša-; yu- 'unite': yit-yū-ša-; śru- 'hear': śit-śrū-ša-; kr- 'make': ci-kīr-ša- (AV.); hṛ- 'take': jit-hīr-ša- (AV.); dhvṛ- 'injure': dhit-dhūr-ša- with ū because vowel and semi-vowel have interchanged⁴.

a. A few roots with medial a followed by n or m lengthen the vowel; thus man- 'think': mī-māṃ-sa- (AV.); han- 'smite': jit-ghām-sa-; gam- 'go': jit-gām-sa- (AV.); two others do so after dropping the nasal, viz. van- 'win': vit-vā-sa-; and san- 'gain': *sī-ṣā-sa-*⁵.

c. In nearly a dozen roots, on the other hand, the radical vowel is weakened.

1. In a few roots final ā is reduced to ī and, in one instance, even *i*⁶; thus gā- 'go': jit-gī-ša- (SV¹); pā- 'drink': pit-pī-ša- (RV.) beside pi-pā-sa-; hā- 'go forth': *jit-hī-ša-*⁷ (AV.); dhā- 'put': dhit-dhi-ša- (RV.) beside dhit-sa-.

2. Half a dozen roots containing ā or a shorten the root by syncopation resulting in contraction with the reduplicative syllable; dā- 'give': dit-sa-, for dī-d[ā]-sa-, beside dit-dā-sa-; dhā- 'put': dhit-t-sa-, for dī-dh[ā]-sa-, beside dī-dhi-ša-; dabh- 'harm': dī-p-sa-, for dī-d[a]bh-sa-; labh- 'take': lit-p-sa- (AV.), for lī-l[a]bh-sa-; śak- 'be able': śī-k-ša-, for śī-ś[a]k-ša-; sah- 'prevail': śī-k-ša-, for śī-ś[a]k-ša-; similarly initial ā in āp- 'obtain': *īp-sa-*⁸ (AV.); and in rdh- 'thrive': īrt-sa- (AV.) the initial r is treated as if it were *ar*⁹.

a. In a few roots the consonants undergo exceptional changes; thus palatals revert to the original guttural in ci- 'note': ci-kī-ša-; cit- 'perceive': ci-kiit-sa-; ji- 'conquer': jit-gī-ša-;

³ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 68, note 2. The i being the reduplicative vowel, cannot be explained in the same way as that of the perfect i-yāj- for ya-yāj-*, where i- has the nature of Samprasāraṇa.

⁴ Cp. √dāw-: dyū-tā- etc., below 573 a.

5 As in the past participle 574, 2 a.

⁶ As in the past participle 574, 3.

⁷ In AV. XX. 127² the Mss. read jihīṣate probably for jihīṣate.

⁸ Cp. BRUGMANN 2, 854, 1027.

⁹ v. NEGELEIN (89, note 2) thinks īrtsā- can only be explained from īrdh-sa-.

han- 'slay': ji-ghām-sa-. In ghas- 'eat' the final s becomes t before the s of the suffix: ji-ghat-sa-t (AV.).

β. The desiderative suffix -sa is never added in the RV. with the connecting vowel -i-; but there is one example of this formation in the AV., viz. pat- 'fly': fi-pat-i-sa-².

Inflexion.

543. The desiderative is inflected regularly like verbs of the a- conjugation in both voices, having the moods and participles of the present tense, as well as an imperfect. No forms outside the present system occur in the RV. with the exception of the perfect from miš-, *mi-miḡs-ur*³ etc. (in which, however, the desiderative stem is treated as a root) besides two aorist forms and one passive participle in the AV.⁴.

The forms of the present indicative, active and middle, which actually occur, would if made from vī-vā-sa- 'desire to win', be as follows:

Active. Sing. 1. vīvāsāmi. 2. vīvāsasi. 3. vīvāsati. — Du. 2. vīvāsathas. 3. vīvāsatas. — Pl. 1. vīvāsāmas. 3. vīvāsanti.

Middle. Sing. 1. vīvāse. 2. vīvāsase. 3. vīvāsate. — Pl. 1. vīvāsāmahe. vīvāsante.

544. Forms occurring elsewhere in the present system are the following:

a. Subjunctive. Active. Sing. 3. ḡhāmāsāt (TS.), tīṭṛsāt, dīpsāt (TS. AV.), nīnītsāt, vīvāsāt. — Pl. 3. ḡyaksān, tīṭṛtsān, vīvāsān.

b. Injunctive. Active. Sing. 3. inaksāt, cikitsāt, vīvāsāt. — Middle. Pl. 3. apsanta, didhiṡanta, śīḡsanta.

c. Optative. Active. Sing. 1. dīṭseyam, vīvāseyam. — 3. vīvāset. — Pl. 1. didhiṡema, vīvāsema. — Middle. Sing. 1. didhiṡeya.

d. Imperative. Active. Sing. 2. cikitsa, dīpsa (AV.), mimikṡa, vīvāsa. — 3. cikitsatu (AV.). — Du. 2. mimikṡatam, śīḡṡatam. — 3. mimikṡatām. — Pl. 2. cikitsata (TS.), vīvāsata. — 3. didhiṡantu.

e. Participles. Active. inaksant-, ḡyaksant-, īpsant- (AV.), īṛtsant- (AV.), cikitsant-, ḡhāmāsant-, dīṭsant-, dīpsant-, dūdṡḡṡant-, pīṭṛṡant-, bībhṡṡant-, yīyṡṡant-, yīyāṡant-, rīrīḡṡant- (Vṛis-), rīrṡḡṡant- (Vṛuh-), vīvāsant-, śīḡṡant-, śīṡṡṡant-, śīḡṡant-. — Middle. ḡyaksamāṡa-, īṛtsamāṡa- (AV.), ḡḡṡṡamāṡa-, mīmṡṡṡamāṡa-, īpsamāṡa- (AV.), śīḡṡamāṡa- (TS.), śīṡṡṡamāṡa-; and with -āna-: didhiṡāna-.

f. Imperfect. Active. Sing. 2. ḡṡīṡṡas. — 3. aḡḡhāmāsāt, aṡīṡṡāt. — Pl. 3. ḡyuyṡṡan, ḡṡīṡṡān; dūdṡḡṡan, bībhṡṡan.

g. Aorist. Sing. 2. acikīṡṡṡ (AV.), īṛṡṡṡ (AV.).

h. Passive. No finite form of the passive seems to occur in the Samhitās; of participles, no certain form of the present occurs, mīmāṡṡṡyḡmāṡa- (AV. IX. 6²⁴)⁵ being a conjecture; and of the past only one form has been noted: mīmāṡṡṡṡ (AV. IX. 6²⁴)⁶.

i. Gerundive. Two regular forms occur: didṛḡṡ-ḡṡya- 'worthy to be seen' and śuṡṛṡṡ-ḡṡya- (TS.) 'worthy to be heard'. There are also one or two irregular formations: didṛḡṡ-ḡṡya- 'worthy to be seen' and paprḡṡ-ḡṡya- 'to be asked' (unless from aorist stem)⁷.

k. Verbal adjective. A considerable number (more than a dozen in the RV.) of verbal adjectives are formed from the desiderative stem with the

² The desiderative of jīvo- 'live', jīṡṡo-i-sa-, occurs in VS. XL. (Iṡa Up.).

³ According to GRASSMANN, perf. des. of mīḡ- 'mingere'; cp. WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. mīḡṡ.

⁴ In all these forms the stems have lost their distinct desiderative meaning: cp. WHITNEY 1033.

⁵ Cp. WHITNEY's note in his translation; in his grammar 1039 he quotes rurṡṡṡyamāṡa- (Vṛudh-) from K. 37, 12 (apa-).

suffix -u. They have the value of a present participle governing a case; thus iyakṣ-ū 'wishing to sacrifice'; jigṛṣ-ū 'wishing to conquer'; didhiṣ-ū 'desiring to win'; dīps-ū 'wishing to injure'; vivakṣ-ū (AV.) from vac 'speak'; siṣṣ-ū 'eager to win'¹.

2. Intensives.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 130—134. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 230, 270—272. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1000—1025; Roots 232 f. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 78—80. — LINDNER, Altindische Nominalbildung 10 (p. 48) and 21 c (participles). — BURCHARDI, Die Intensiva des Sanskrit und Avesta. Teil I. Halle 1892; Teil II. BB. 19, 169—225.

545. The intensive or, as it is also often called, the frequentative implies intensification or repetition of the sense expressed by the root². It is a common formation, being made from over 90 roots in the Samhitās. The stem is derived from the root by means of a reduplicative syllable, the characteristic feature of which is that it always has a strong form. The reduplicative syllable may be formed in three different ways: 1. radical ī ū are always reduplicated with a Guṇa vowel, and ā and ṛ (ar) often with ā; 2. roots containing ṛ or a followed by r l n m more usually reduplicate with a and liquid or nasal; 3. a considerable number of intensives interpose the vowel ī between the reduplicative syllable and the root.

1. a. Roots containing ī or ū reduplicate with e or o; thus cit 'perceive': cikī-; tij 'be sharp': tē-tij-; diś 'point': dē-diś-; nij 'wash': ne-nij-; nī 'lead': ne-nī-; piś 'adorn': pē-piś-; mī 'damage': mē-mī-; rih 'lick': re-rih-; vij 'tremble': ve-vij-; vid 'find': vē-vid-; viś 'be active': ve-viś-; vī 'enjoy': ve-vī-; sidh 'repel': se-sidh-; gu 'sound': jo-gu-; dhū 'shake': do-dhu-; nu 'praise': no-nu-; pruth 'snort': po-pruth-; bhū 'be': bo-bhū-; yu 'join': yō-yu-; yu 'separate': yō-yu-; ru 'cry': ro-ru-; ru 'break': ro-ru-; śuc 'gleam': sō-śuc-; sū 'generate': so-sū-; sku 'tear': co-skū-; hū 'call': jo-hū-.

b. More than a dozen roots with medial ā (ending in mutes or sibilants, and one in m), as well as three with final ṛ, reduplicate with ā: kāś 'appear': cā-kāś-; gam 'go': jā-gam-; nad 'sound': nā-nad-; pat 'fall': pā-pat-; bādḥ 'oppress': bā-badh-; raj 'colour': rā-raj-; randh 'make subject': rār-andh-; rap 'chatter': rā-rap-; lap 'prate': lā-lap-; vac 'speak': vā-vac-; vad 'speak': vā-vad-; vaś 'be eager': vā-vaś-; vāś 'bellow': vā-vaś-; śvas 'blow': śā-śvas-; gr 'wake': jā-gr-; dṛ 'split': dā-dṛ-; dhr 'hold': dā-dhr-; also cal 'stir': cā-cal (AV.).

2. All other roots containing ṛ (and dṛ and dhr alternatively) and several with medial a followed by r l, or a nasal, reduplicate with -ar, -al or -an, -am. Thus:

a. kṛ 'commemorate': car-kṛ and car-kir; kṛṣ 'drag': car-kṛṣ-; gr 'swallow': jā-r-gur and jā-r-gul; tr 'cross': tar-tr (RV.); dṛ 'split': dār-dṛ and dār-dīr; dhr 'hold': dār-dhr; bṛh 'make strong': bār-bṛh; bhr 'bear': *jar-bhr*³; mṛj 'wipe': mar-mṛj; mṛś 'touch': mār-mṛś; vṛt 'turn': var-vṛt; sr 'flow': sar-sr; kṛṣ 'be excited': jar-kṛṣ.

b. car 'move': car-car (AV.); cal 'stir': cal-cal (MS.) beside cā-cal (AV.); phar 'scatter' (?): par-phar; kram 'stride': cañ-kram; gam 'go': jañ-gam; jambh 'chew up': jañ-jabh; taṃs 'shake': tan-tas; daṃś 'bite': dan-daś; nam 'bend': nan-nam; yam 'reach': yañ-yam; stan 'thunder': tañ-stan (AV.).

¹ GRASSMANN, p. 1727, gives a list of the desiderative adjectives in -su occurring in the RV. (about 15); four occur in the AV.: cikītsū, jigṛhṣū, dīpsū, bibhṣū; cp. WHITNEY 1038.

² The specific meaning of the formation is wanting in the intensives of gr 'wake', cit 'perceive', nij 'wash', viś 'work'.

³ The palatal j in the reduplication is like that of bhr in the perfect form ja-bhāra (482 d).

a. A few intensives show irregularities in the reduplicative syllable; thus r- 'go': al-ar- (dissimilation); gāh- 'plunge': jak-gah- (from a root which otherwise has no nasal in inflected forms)¹; bād- 'oppress': bad-badh- (only example of a final mute being reduplicated); gur- 'greet' and bhur- 'quiver' reduplicate with a: jar-gur- and jar-bhur-.

β. In a few roots containing r or r the radical syllable varies; thus gf- 'swallow': jar-gur- and jak-gul-; car- 'move': car-cur- beside car-car-; tr- 'cross': tar-tur- beside tar-tar-.

3. Over twenty roots with final or penultimate nasal, r, or ṛ, interpose an ī (or ī if the vowel would be long by position) between the reduplicative syllable and the root:

a. krand- 'cry out': kan-i-krand- and kan-i-krad-; gam- 'go': gan-ī-gam- (but gan-i-gm-at); pan- 'admire': pān-ī-pan-; phaṇ- 'spring': pān-ī-phaṇ-; ścand- 'shine': can-ī-ścand-; san- 'gain': san-ī-šan-; skand- 'leap': kan-ī-skand- and can-ī-skad-; syand- 'flow': sān-ī-syad-; śvan- 'sound': san-ī-śvan-; han- 'slay': ghan-ī-ghan-.

b. ky- 'make': kar-i-ky- and car-i-ky- (AV.)²; ty- 'cross': tar-ī-ty-; bhy- 'bear': bhar-ī-bhy-; vy- 'cover': var-ī-vy-; vryj- 'twist': vār-ī-vryj-; vṛt- 'turn': var-ī-vṛt-.

c. tu- 'be strong': tāv-ī-tu-; dhū- 'shake': dāv-ī-dhu-; nu- 'praise': nāv-ī-nu-; dyut- 'shine': dāv-ī-dyut-.

a. Primary Form. Present Indicative.

546. With the exception of eight or nine verbs, which take a secondary form (inflected in the middle only and identical in appearance with a passive), the intensive is inflected like the third conjugational class. The only difference is that ī may be inserted between the root and terminations beginning with consonants; it is common in the 1. and 3. sing. ind. act., and is also sometimes found to occur in the 2. 3. du. ind. and the 2. 3. sing. imperative and imperfect active⁴. The forms actually found, if made from the intensive of nij- 'wash', would be the following in the indicative:

Active. Sing. 1. nñej-mi and nñej-ī-mi. 2. nñek-ṣi. 3. nñek-ti and nñej-ī-ti. — Du. 2. *nñej-ī-thas*⁵. 3. nenik-tīs. — Pl. 1. nenij-mas and nenij-masi (AV.). 3. nñij-ati.

Middle. Sing. 1. nenij-ī. 3. nenik-tī. — Du. 3. nenij-āte. — Pl. 3. nñij-ate. The forms actually met with are:

Active. Sing. 1. carkarmi, veveṣmi (AV.); cākaṣṭmi, jōhaviṣmi, dardar-īmi. — 2. alarṣi, jāgarṣi (Kh. II. 3), dārdarṣi, dārdharṣi. — 3. ālartī, kānikranti, ganiganti, janghanti, varivarti and *vārvarti*⁶; -calcaliti (MS. II. 13¹); carcariti (AV.), cākaṣṭi, jarbhuriti, jālguliti (TS.), jōhaviti, tartariti, dardariti, dodhaviti, *nānnamiti*⁷, nōnaviti, pāpatiti, bobhaviti, yanyamiti, rārajiti (AV.), rārapiti, rōraviti, lālapiti (AV.), vāvaditi, soṣaviti.

Du. 2. *tartarīthas*⁸. — 3. jarbhṛtīs.

Pl. 1. nonumas and nonumasi (AV.). — 3. jāgrati (AV.), dāvidyutati, nānadati, bharibhrati, vārvṛtati.

Middle. Sing. 1. joguve. — 3. tētikte, dēdiṣṭe, *nānmate*⁹, nenikṭe, ¹ Though it has in nominal derivatives; see WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. gāh; cp. BURCHARDI, BB. 19, 179; v. NEGELEIN 79.

² Cp. p. 390, note 3.

³ In the participle kārikr-at and -cārikr-at (AV.).

⁴ This ī never occurs if the reduplication contains ī: thus no-nav-ī-ti and nav-ī-no-, but never nav-ī-nav-ī-ti*. Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 131; v. NEGELEIN 79.

⁵ For nenik-thās*; the only 2. du. which occurs is tartar-ī-thas for tart-ī-thās*.

⁶ For vārvart-ti, varivart-ti; cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. vṛt.

⁷ See note 9.

⁸ Cp. note 5.

⁹ With loss of nasal (a = sonant nasal) for nānman-te* (L 140⁶). AUFRECHT, RV², and MAX MÜLLER, RV², write nānma-te (also Padapāṭha); but the participle nānnamat (VII. 43⁸), AUFRECHT nānn-, MAX MÜLLER nānn-; the 3. sing. nānnamiti (v. 83⁵) AUFRECHT¹², nānnamiti MAX MÜLLER²; similarly nānnamāne (x. 82⁷) AUFRECHT, nānnamāne MAX MÜLLER (also Pp.).

sarsrte; with -e for -te: cékite, jāngahe, joguve, *badbadhé*¹ and bābadhe, yoyuve, sarsrē. — Du. 3. sarsrāte. — Pl. 3. dēdisāte.

547. a. Subjunctive. Active. Sing. 1. jāṅghanāni. — 2. *jāgarāsi*² (AV.); jāṅghanas, jaṅgulas. — 3. caṇṣkadat, cārḥṣat, cēkitat, jāṅghanat, jāgarat (AV.), dardirat, dauidyutat, parpharat, bārbrhat, mārmjāt, marmṣat, saṇṣvaṇat. — Du. 1. jāṅghanāva. — Pl. 1. carkirāma, vevidāma. — 3. carkiran, ('commemorate'), *cākaśān*³ (AV.), pāpatan, śūsucan.

Middle. Du. 3. tantasaite. — Pl. 3. jāṅghananta, jarḥṣanta, nonuvanta, marmjanta, śūsucanta.

b. Optative. No certain form occurs in the RV.³ and only two or three in other Samhitās: Sing. 3. veviṣyāt (AV.). — Pl. 1. jāgryāma (VS. TS. MS.), jāgryāma (TS. I. 7. 10¹).

c. Imperative. Examples of forms of all the 2. and 3. persons are found excepting the 3. pl., but no middle form has been met with.

Active. Sing. 2. carkṛdhi (AV.) 'remember', jāgryhi, dardṛhi, dādṛhi, nenigdhi (AV.), *barbrhi*⁴; jāṅghanhi (AV.), cākaśhi (VS. TS.), taṁstanhi (AV.). — With -tat: carkṛtāt, *jāgṛtāt*⁵. — 3. dardartu, marmartu, veveṣtu (AV.); vāvaditu (AV.), johavitu (AV.). — Du. 2. jāgṛtam. — 3. jāgṛtām (AV.). — Pl. 2. jāgṛta (AV.), *caṅkramata*⁶.

548. Participle. Active. kānikradat, kārikrat, ghānighnat, -cārikrat (AV.), cākaśat, cēkitat, jāṅghanat, jārbhurat, jāgrat, dāridrat (TS. IV. 5. 10¹), dārdrat, dāuidyutat, nānnamat, nānadat, pānipnat, pānīphanat, pēpiśat, bōbhuvat (AV.), mārmjāt, yōyuvat (yu- 'ward off'), rērihat, rōruvat, vāvasat (vās- 'roar'), vēviśat, śūsucat, śēsidhat.

Middle⁷. cēkitāna, jāṅjabhāna (AV.), jārbhurāna, jārḥṣāna, dāndaśāna, nānnamāna, pēpiśāna (AV. TS.), bābadhāna, mēmyāna, yōyuvāna (yu- 'join'), rōrucāna, śūsucāna, sārsrāna.

a. The participles badbadhāna and marmjāna (beside mārmjāna), though irregularly accented, unmistakably belong to the intensive. kānikrat once (IX. 63²⁰) appears as an abbreviated form of kānikrad-at. The participle jāṅghan-at syncopates the radical vowel in the gen. sing.: jāṅghn-at-as; another form of the intensive participle from the same root syncopates the radical vowel throughout: ghānighn-at; also pānipn-at. The obscure form cākān (X. 29¹) may be the nom. of an intensive participle with anomalous accent for *cākan-at*⁸.

549. Imperfect. Altogether (including unaugmented forms, some of which are used injunctively) about thirty forms of the imperfect occur, among them only four examples of the middle. In the active all persons are represented except the 1. du. and the 2. pl.; but in the middle only the 3. sing. and pl. are met with.

Active. Sing. 1. acākaśam; dēdisam. — 2. ajāgar, adardar; dardar. — 3. adardar, adardhar, avarivar; kāniśkan, dardar, dāuidyot, nāvīnot; ājohavīt, dyoyavīt, āroraavīt, āvavacit.

Du. 2. adardṛtam. — 3. avāvasītām. — Pl. 1. marmjmd. — 3. acarkṣur (AV.), ājohavur, adardirur, anonavur.

² With double modal sign.

³ Cp. WHITNEY 1009 a.

⁴ For barbrh-hi, the final h being dropped after being cerebralized before -dhi: barbrz-dhi* (58, 1 b, a; 62, 4 e).

⁵ This form occurs once in the AV. as a 1. person: cp. WHITNEY 1011 a.

⁶ With anomalous connecting -a- for caṅkran-ta*.

⁷ The participles rārah-āna, rārah-āna, and jārḥṣ-āna (beside jārḥṣ-āna) are probably perfect participles, although no other perfect forms with ā in the reduplicative syllable occur from these roots (rah-, rakṣ-, hrṣ-); cp. WHITNEY 1013.

⁸ I regard it as 3. sing. perf. inj. = cākān-t* (488). Cp. BARTHELOMAE, IF. 7, 111, GRASSMANN, under the root kā-; WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1013 b; Roots 17.

Middle. Sing. 3. ādediṣṭa, *ānannata*¹. — Pl. 3. *marmṛjata*².

550. a. Perfect. A few perfect forms with intensive reduplication and present sense are met with:

Active. Sing. 1. jāgara. — 3. jāgāra, daridhāva (dhū- 'shake'), *nānāva*³ (nu- 'praise').

The only perfect participle occurring is jāgrvāns.

b. Aorist. The only trace of an aorist being formed from the intensive is cārky-ṣ-e 'thinks of', 3. sing. mid., formed like hi-ṣ-e and stu-ṣ-e. It occurs three times in the RV., always with a present sense.

c. Causative. A causative formed from the intensive is once found in the participle varīvarj-āyant-ṛ (AV.) 'twisting about' (√varj).

b. Secondary Form.

551. The rare secondary form of the intensive is identical in meaning with the primary. In form it is indistinguishable from a passive, the suffix -yá being added to the primary stem and the inflexion being the same as that of the passive. Altogether about a dozen forms have been met with from nine roots. The only persons represented are the 2. and 3. sing. and 3. pl. indicative; and there is also a present participle. The forms actually occurring are the following:

Present indicative. Sing. 2. coṣkūyāse. — 3. dediṣyāte (AV. VS.), nenīyāte (VS.), marmṛyāte, rerihyāte, vevijyāte, vevīyāte. — Pl. 3. tartūryānte (√tṛ-), marmṛyānte.

Participle. carcūryāmāṇa- (√car-), nenīyāmāna-, marmṛyāmāna-.

3. The Causative.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 209—216. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 262—268. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar p. 379—386; Roots 235 f. — v. NEGELEIN 44—48.

552. The causative verb expresses that its object is caused to perform the action or to undergo the state denoted by the root; e. g. pārām evā parāvātaṃ sapātṇīm gamayāmasi (x. 145⁴) 'we cause our rival to go to the far distance'. It is by far the commonest of the secondary conjugations, being formed from over 200 roots in the Saṃhitās; but of about 150 causative stems appearing in the RV. at least one-third lack the causative meaning. The stem is formed by adding the suffix -āya to the root, which as a rule is strengthened. Those verbs in which the root, though capable of being strengthened, remains unchanged, have not a causative⁴, but an iterative sense, being akin in formation to denominatives⁵ (which sometimes even have the causative accent). The whole group may originally have had this meaning, from which the causative sense was developed till it became the prevalent one⁶. This may perhaps account for an iterative formation, the reduplicated aorist, having specially attached itself to the causative. Both the iterative and the causative form are occasionally made from the same root; e. g. patīya-ti 'flies about' and pātīya-ti 'causes to fly' beside the simple verb pāta-ti 'flies'.

² doṣāvaśanta (√vāś-) is probably a plu-perfect (p. 365, top).

³ WHITNEY 1018 quotes also doḍrāva (dru- 'run') from the TS., and yoṣāva (yu- 'separate'), and leḍāya (lṣ- 'be unsteady') from the

MS. (i. 86); the latter form is irregular in accent. Cp. BÖHTLINGK's Lexicon, s. v. 3. lṣ.

⁴ Cp. WHITNEY 1042 b.

⁵ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 44.

⁶ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 698.

553. The root is strengthened in different ways according to the nature and position of its vowel.

Initial or medial i u r! (if not long by position) take Guṇa; thus a. cit- 'perceive': cet-āya- 'teach'; mih- 'mingere': meh-āya- 'cause to rain'; riṣ- 'be hurt': reṣ-āya- 'injure'; vid- 'know': ved-āya- 'cause to know'; vip- 'tremble': vep-āya- 'shake'; viś- 'enter': veś-āya- 'cause to enter'; viṣṭ- 'wrap': veṣṭ-āya- (AV.) 'involve'; snih- 'be moist': sneh-āya- 'destroy';

b. kup- 'be agitated': kop-āya- 'shake'; krudh- 'be angry': krodh-āya- 'enrage'; kṣud- 'be agitated': kṣod-āya- 'shake'; ghuṣ- 'sound': ghoṣ-āya- 'proclaim'; cud- 'impel': cod-āya-, id.; jus- 'enjoy': joṣ-āya- 'caress'; jyut- 'shine': jyot-āya- (AV.) 'enlighten'; tus- 'drip': toṣ-āya- 'bestow abundantly'; dyut- 'shine': dyot-āya- 'illumine'; pus- 'thrive': poṣ-āya- 'nourish'; budh- 'be awake': bodh-āya- 'waken'; muh- 'be dazed': moh-āya- 'bewilder'; yudh- 'fight': yodh-āya- 'cause to fight'; yup- 'efface': yop-āya-, id.; ruc- 'shine': roc-āya- 'illumine'; rud- 'weep': rod-āya- 'cause to wail'; ruh- 'rise': roh-āya- 'raise'; luh- 'desire eagerly': lobh-āya- 'allure'; śuc- 'flame': śoc-āya- 'set on fire'; śubh- 'shine': śobh-āya- (AV.) 'adorn'; śus- 'grow dry': śoṣ-āya- (AV.) 'make dry';

c. rd- 'dissolve' (intr.): ard-āya- 'destroy'; kṛś- 'be lean': kars-āya- 'emaciate'; tṛp- 'be pleased': tarp-āya- 'delight'; dṛś- 'see': darś-āya- (AV.) 'show'; nṛt- 'dance': nart-āya- 'cause to dance'; brh- or vṛh- 'tear': barh-āya- 'thrust'; mṛc- 'injure': marc-āya-, id.; mṛj- 'wipe': marj-āya-, id.; vṛj- 'turn': varj-āya- (AV.) 'cause to turn'; vṛt- 'roll': vart-āya- 'cause to revolve'; vṛdh- 'grow': vardh-āya- 'augment'; vṛṣ- 'rain': vars-āya- 'cause to rain'; śṛdh- 'be bold': sardh-āya- 'cause to be bold'; hṛṣ- 'be excited': hars-āya- 'excite';

d. kṛp- 'be adapted': kalp-āya- 'arrange'.

554. The following verbs, mostly lacking the causative meaning, leave the root unchanged: il- 'be quiet': il-āya- (AV.) 'cease'; āti- 'observe': cit-āya- 'stimulate' (also cet-āya-); riṣ- 'be injured': riṣ-āya- id. (beside reṣ-āya-); vip- 'quiver': vip-āya- 'agitate' (also vep-āya-);

tuj- 'be eager': tuj-āya- id.; tur- 'overwhelm': tur-āya- id.; tus- 'be content': tus-āya- id.; dyut- 'shine': dyut-āya- id. (beside dyot-āya- 'illumine'); ruc- 'shine': ruc-āya- id. (beside roc-āya- 'illumine'); śuc- 'shine': śuc-āya- id. (beside śoc-āya- 'illumine'); śubh- 'shine': śubh-āya- id. (also śobh-āya- 'adorn' AV.). The vowel is lengthened in duṣ- 'spoil': dus-āya- id.

kṛp- 'lament': kṛp-āya- id.; mṛḍ- 'be gracious': mṛḍ-āya-¹ id.; sprh- 'be eager': sprh-āya- id. In the case of grabh- 'grasp', the root is even weakened: grbh-āya- id.

a. Vowels long by nature or position remain unchanged, but the stem, in this case, usually has the causative sense: iṅg- 'move': iṅg-āya- 'set in motion'; īks- 'see': īks-āya- 'cause to see'; īṅkh- 'swing': īṅkh-āya- 'shake'; ir- 'set in motion': ir-āya- id.; jīv- 'live': jīv-āya- 'animate'; dīp- 'shine': dīp-āya- 'kindle'; pīḍ- 'press': pīḍ-āya- (AV.) 'distress'; vīḍ- 'be strong' (in vīḍ-ī- 'strong'): vīḍ-āya- 'make strong'²;

uks- 'grow up': uks-āya- 'strengthen'; kūḍ- (does not occur in the simple form): kūḍ-āya- 'scorch'; sundh- 'purify': sundh-āya- id.; sūd- 'make pleasant': sūd-āya- id.; sphūrj- 'rumble': sphūrj-āya- id.;

dr̥m̐h- 'make firm': dr̥m̐h-āya- (AV.) 'hold fast';

α. Two roots with medial ī take Guṇa: srīv- 'fail': srev-āya- beside srīv-āya-³ (AV.) 'lead astray'; hīḍ- 'be hostile': heḷaya- in the participle ā-heḷayant- 'not angry'; while two others already have it in the root: rej- 'tremble': rej-āya- 'shake'; maṭ- 'be fat': maṭ-āya- 'fatten'.

² DELBRÜCK 189, 4 regards vīḍ-āya as a denominative.

³ In AV. VI. 73² all the Mss. but one have srīv-.

555. An initial or a medial a (if not long by position) is lengthened in some thirty roots: am- 'be injurious': ām-āya- 'be injured'; kam- 'desire': kām-āya- 'love'; cat- 'hide oneself': cāt-āya- 'drive away'; chad- 'cover': chād-āya- id.; tan- 'stretch': tān-āya- (AV.) 'make taut'; tap- 'burn': tāp-āya- (AV.) 'cause to burn'; tras- 'be terrified': trās-āya- (AV.) 'terrify'; nās- 'be lost': nās-āya- 'destroy'; pad- 'go', 'fall': pād-āya- 'cause to fall'; phaṇ- 'bound': phāṇ-āya- 'cause to bound'; bhaj- 'divide': bhāj-āya- 'cause to share'; bhrās- 'fall': bhrās-āya- 'cause to fall'; man- 'think': *mān-āya-*² (AV.) 'esteem'; yat- 'stretch': yāt-āya- 'unite'; yam- 'guide': yām-āya- (Pp. yām-) 'present'; lap- 'prate': lāp-āya- (AV.) 'cause to cry'; vat- 'apprehend': vāt-āya- 'inspire'; van- 'win': vān-āya- (AV.) 'conciliate' (Pp. vān-); vas- 'dwell': vās-āya- 'cause to stay'; vās- 'wear': vās-āya- 'clothe'; vas- 'shine': vās-āya- 'illumine'; *śat-*³ 'cut in pieces': śāt-āya- (AV.) id.⁴; śvas- 'snort': śvās-āya- (AV.) 'cause to resound'; śpaś- 'see': śpās-āya- 'show'; svap- 'sleep': svāp-āya- 'send to sleep'.

a. Five or six other causatives optionally retain the a: gam- 'go': gam-āya- and gām-āya- (RV¹) 'bring'; das- 'waste away': das-āya- and dās-āya- (AV.) 'exhaust'; dhvan- 'disappear': dhvan-āya- (RV.) and dhvān-āya- (RV.) 'cause to disappear'; pat- 'fall': pat-āya- 'fly about' (in RV. only once, i. 1697, 'cause to fall') and pāt-āya- 'cause to fall'; mad- 'be exhilarated': mad-āya- (AV.) and mād-āya- 'rejoice'; ram- 'rest': ram-āya- and rām-āya- 'cause to rest'.

556. Some twenty-five roots with initial or medial a (short by position) remain unchanged, as the causative meaning is mostly absent: an- 'breathe': -an-āya- (AV.) 'cause to breathe'; chad- 'seem': chad-āya- id.; jan- 'beget': jan-āya- id.; tvar- 'make haste': tvar-āya- (AV.) 'quicken'; dam- 'control': dam-āya- id.; dhan- 'set in motion': dhan-āya- id.; dhas- 'disperse' (intr.): dhas-āya- 'scatter' (tr.); nad- 'roar': nad-āya- 'cause to resound'; nam- 'bend' (tr. and intr.): nam-āya- 'cause to bend', 'strike down'; pan- 'admire': pan-āya- id.; prath- 'spread out': prath-āya- id.; mah- 'be great': mah-āya- 'magnify'; raj- 'colour': raj-āya- (AV.) id.; ran- 'rejoice': ran-āya- id. and 'gladden'; vyath- 'waver': vyath-āya- 'cause to fall'; śam- 'be quiet': śam-āya- (AV.) 'appease'; śnath- 'pierce': śnath-āya- id.; śrath- 'loosen': śrath-āya- id.; stan- 'thunder': stan-āya- id.; svad- 'enjoy', 'sweeten': svad-āya- id.; svan- 'sound': svan-āya- id.; svar- 'sound': svar-āya- (AV.) id.⁵

a. If long by nature or position medial ā remains unchanged, the causative sense being more often lacking than present: thus arc- 'shine': arc-āya- 'cause to shine'; kāś- 'appear': kāś-āya- (AV.) 'cause to be viewed'; krand- 'roar': krand-āya- 'cause to roar'; caṣ- 'see': caṣ-āya- 'cause to appear'; chand- 'seem': chand-āya- id.; jambh- 'chew up', 'crush': jambh-āya- id.; tan- 'set in motion': tan-āya- id.; dambh- 'destroy': dambh-āya- id.; bād- 'oppress': bād-āya- (AV.) 'force'; bhaks- 'partake of': bhaks-āya- id.; man- 'bestow': man-āya- id.; mand- 'gladden': mand-āya- 'satisfy'; yāc- 'ask': yāc-āya- (AV.) 'cause to be asked for'; raṇ- 'hasten': raṇ-āya- (AV.) id.; rand- 'make subject': rand-āya- id.; rāj- 'rule': rāj-āya- (AV. TS.) 'be king'; rād- 'succeed': rād-āya- (AV.) 'make successful'; vak- 'grow': vak-āya- 'cause to grow';

² In AV. xv. 10² the reading should be mānayet; see WHITNEY's note.

³ In AV. iv. 184 śāpaya, which would be the causative of śap-, is probably a wrong reading; cp. WHITNEY's note.

⁴ No form or derivative of the simple root śat- occurs in V.; see WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. śat.

⁵ Occurring only in the participle svarāyant-am (AV. xiii. 2²), which WHITNEY translates 'shining'.

sams- 'proclaim': sams-āya- 'cause to proclaim'; śvañc- 'spread': śvañc-āya- 'cause to spread out'; syand- 'flow': syand-āya- id.; srañs- 'fall': srañs-āya- (AV.) 'cause to fall'.

557. Final i, ū, r take Guṇa or Vṛddhi, the latter being commoner.

a. The only example of a causative stem from a root ending in an i-vowel is that of kṣi- 'possess', which takes Guṇa: kṣay-āya- 'cause to dwell securely'.

b. Final ū takes Guṇa or Vṛddhi: cyu- 'waver': cyāu-āya- 'shake'; dru- 'run': drāv-āya- 'flow' and drāu-āya- 'cause to flow'; bhū- 'become': bhāu-āya- (AV.) 'cause to become'; yu- 'separate': yāv-āya- and yāu-āya- id.; śru- 'hear': śrav-āya- and śrāu-āya- 'cause to hear'; śru-¹ 'dissolve': śrav-āya- and śrāv-āya- (Pp. śrav-) 'cause to move'; sru- 'flow': srāv-āya- (AV.) 'cause to flow'.

c. Final r usually takes Vṛddhi; thus ghṛ- 'drip': ghār-āya- (AV.) 'cause to drip'; dhr- 'hold': dhār-āya- id.; pr- 'pass': pār-āya- id.; ṣr- 'fill': pār-āya- (AV.) 'fulfil'; mṛ- 'die': mār-āya- (AV.) 'kill'; vṛ- 'confine': vār-āya- id. Two causatives have the Guṇa as well as the Vṛddhi form: jṛ- 'waste away': jar-āya- and jār-āya- (Pp. jar-) 'wear out', 'cause to grow old'; ṣṛ- 'flow': sar-āya- id. and sār-āya- 'cause to flow'. One root in -r takes Guṇa only: dr- 'pierce': dar-āya- 'shatter'.

558. Roots ending in -ā form their causative stem by adding -pāya; thus kṣā- 'burn': kṣā-pāya- (AV.) id.; glā- 'be weary': glā-pāya- (Pp. glāp-) 'exhaust'; dā- 'give': dā-pāya- (AV.) 'cause to give'; dhā- 'put': dhā-pāya- 'cause to put'; dhā- 'suck': dhā-pāya- 'suckle'; mā- 'relax' (intr.): mā-pāya- (AV.) 'relax' (tr.); vā- 'blow': vā-pāya- 'fan'; sthā- 'stand': sthā-pāya- 'set up'; snā- 'wash' (intr.): snā-pāya- 'bathe' (tr.)². In three roots the ā is shortened: jñā- 'know': jñā-pāya- (AV.) 'cause to know'; śrā- 'boil': śrā-pāya- (AV. TS.) 'cook'; snā- 'wash': snā-pāya- (AV.) beside snā-pāya- 'bathe' (tr.).

a. A few roots ending in other vowels take -pāya. Two stems are formed by adding the suffix to the guṇated root: kṣi- 'possess': kṣe-pāya- 'cause to dwell' beside kṣay-āya-; r- 'go': arpāya- 'cause to go'. In the VS. two roots in i substitute ā for that vowel before -pāya: jī- 'conquer': jā-pāya- 'cause to win'; śrī- 'resort': (ud-) śrā-pāya- (VS¹.) 'raise'.

a. Two roots with initial p and ending in -ā do not form their causative stem with -pāya, but add the ordinary suffix -āya with interposed y: pā- 'drink': pāy-āya-, 'cause to drink'; pyā- 'overflow': (ā-) pyāy-āya- (AV.) 'fill up'. This seeming irregularity is doubtless due to the original form of the root³.

Inflexion.

559. The causative is inflected regularly like the verbs of the a- conjugation in both voices. It is to be noted, however, that in the 1. pl. pres. the termination -masi occurs in the RV. and AV. ten times as often as -mas; that in the 2. pl. no forms in -thana are met with; and that in the 3. sing. mid. e never appears for -ate.

a. The forms of the present indicative active and middle, which actually occur, would if made from kalpāya- be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. kalpāyāmi. 2. kalpāyasi. 3. kalpāyati. — Du. 2. kalpāyathas. 3. kalpāyatas. — Pl. 1. kalpāyāmasi and kalpāyāmas. 2. kalpāyathā. 3. kalpāyanti.

Middle. Sing. 1. kalpāye. 2. kalpāyase. 3. kalpāyate. — Du. 2. kalpāyethe. 3. kalpāyete. — Pl. 1. kalpāyāmahe. 3. kalpāyante.

Forms that occur elsewhere in the present system are the following:

¹ This root, of which only three forms occur in the RV., seems to be only a varied spelling for sru- 'flow'.

² The causative stem hā-pāya-, from hā- 'forsake' is presupposed by the aorist jīhipas.

³ See above 27 a 1 and 4.

b. Subjunctive. Active. Sing. 1. cetiṃyāni (TS. III. 2. 10²; MS. IV. 5⁸), randha-yāni. — 2. codiṃyāsi, mṛḍiṃyāsi, randhiṃyāsi (AV.), varitayāsi (TS. VII. 4. 20⁴); janḍiṃyās (AV.), yāvayās (AV.), yodhiṃyās. — 3. arḍayāti (AV.), kalpḍiṃyāti, tarḍayāti (AV.), pādayāti (AV.), pārāyāti, pārāyāti (AV.), mārāyāti (AV.), mṛḍiṃyāti, rājayāti (TS. II. 4. 14²), sūdayāti; kalpāyat (AV.), codāyat, pārāyat, mārāyat, sādayat, sādayat (TS. I. 8. 6²). — Du. 1. irḍyāva. — 2. dhāpāyāthas (AV.), pādayāthas (AV.), vāsāyāthas (AV.), sādayāthas (AV.). — 3. kūḷayātas. — Pl. 1. īṭrayāma, dhārayāma. — 2. chadāyātha, vardhayātha (AV.). — 3. śrapḍyān (TS. IV. 1. 5¹). — Middle. Sing. 2. kāmāyāse, codāyāse, joṣāyāse, mādāyāse, yātayāse, mādayāthās (AV. IV. 25⁶). — 3. codayāte, chandayāte, dhārayāte, mādāyāte, varitayāte; tikhāyātai (AV.), cetāyātai (TS. I. 1. 13²), dhārayātai (AV.), rājayātai (AV.), vārāyātai (AV.). — Du. 1. tikhāyāvahai, kalpayāvahai, janayāvahai (AV.). — 3. mādāyāte. — Pl. 2. kāmāyādhve, mādayādhve; mādayādhvai.

c. Optative. This mood is very rare, only four forms occurring in the RV. and two in the AV. Sing. 2. janayes (Kh. II. 10⁴), dhārayes. — 3. mānayet (AV.), vādayet (AA. III. 2. 5), veṣayet (AV.), śprhayet. — Pl. 1. citiṃyema, marjayema.

d. Imperative. Forms of this mood are common, nearly 120 occurring in the RV.; of these, however, quite one half are in the 2. sing. act. No forms of the 3. sing. and du. mid. are met with in the RV. No impv. in -tāt is found in the RV. and only one in the AV.: 2. sing. *dhīṭrayatāt*¹. The forms actually occurring, if made from kalpāya-, would be the following:

Active. Sing. 2. kalpāyā and kalpayatāt (AV.). 3. kalpayatu. — Du. 2. kalpāyatam. 3. kalpayatām. — Pl. 2. kalpāyatā. 3. kalpāyanū.

Middle. Sing. 2. kalpāyasva. — Du. 2. kalpāyethām. — Pl. 2. kalpāyadhvam. 3. kalpayantām.

e. Participles. The active participle in -ant, with fem. in -ṛ, is common; e. g. jan-āyant, f. jan-āyant-ṛ 'producing'. The middle participle, which is always formed with -māna, is rare. In the RV. are found only mahāya-māna 'glorifying', yātīya-māna 'reaching', vardhāya-māna 'increasing', and in the AV. only kāmāya-māna 'desiring'; in the TS. (IV. 2. 6²) cātīya-māna.

f. Imperfect. Forms of this tense, both augmented and unaugmented, are frequent. In the RV. some 130 occur in the active, about two-thirds of which are in the 2. and 3. sing. Middle forms are rare except in the 3. pl. In the active the 1. and 3. du., and 1. and 2. pl. are wanting; in the middle all the 1. persons and the 3. du. are unrepresented. Some 50 unaugmented forms are used as injunctives in the RV.² The forms actually occurring, if made from janāya-, would be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. ajanayam; janayam. 2. ājanayas; janāyas. 3. ājanayat; janāyat. — Du. 2. ājanayatam. — Pl. 3. ājanayan; janayan.

Middle. Sing. 2. ājanayathās; janāyathās. 3. ājanayata; janayata. — Du. 2. ājanayethām. — Pl. 2. ajanayadhvam. 3. ājanayanta; janāyanta.

560. Outside the present system very few causative forms occur. These are found in the following formations.

a. Future. Only four forms occur in the RV. and AV. Active. Sing. 1. dāsayiṣyāmi (AV.). 3. dhārayiṣyāti. — Middle. Sing. 2. vāsaiṣyāse 'will adorn thyself'. 3. vārayiṣyate (AV.) 'will shield'.

b. Perfect. The only example of a periphrastic perfect occurring in the Saphitās is made from a causative stem: gamayāṃ cakāra (AV.).

c. Aorist. The reduplicated aorist has attached itself to the causative, probably because the intensive character of the reduplicated form became associated with the originally iterative meaning of the causative. But in form it is unconnected with the causative stem, being derived directly from the root; and more than one-third of the verbs which form it in the RV., and about one-fifth in the AV., have no causative stem in -aya. There are, however, eight forms which are actually made from the causative stem: Sing. 1. arp-ip-am (AV.) from ar-paya-; 2. jīhip-as from *hā-paya-*¹ 'cause to depart'; atiṣṭhip-as and 3. ātiṣṭhip-at from sthā-paya- 'fasten'; ajijñip-at (TS.) from jñā-paya- 'cause to know'; Pl. 2. ājijap-ata (VS.) from jāpaya- 'cause to conquer' (/ji-); Sing. 2. act. bibhiṣ-as (TS.) and mid. bibhiṣ-athās from bhī-ṣaya- 'frighten', anomalous causative of bhī- 'fear'.

¹ In K. the forms yamayātāt and cyāvayātāt occur; and in pl. 2. the unexampled ending -dhvāt in vārāyadhvāt: WHITNEY 1043 d.

a. There are besides three iṣ-aorists formed from the causative stem: vyathay-is (AV.) from vyathaya- 'disturb'; ailay-it (AV.) from ilaya- 'has quieted down'; *dhvanay-it*² from dhvanaya- 'envelope'.

561. Nominal derivatives. a. The only present passive participle appears in the form bhāṣ-yā-māna- (AV. XII. 5²⁸). There are also a few past participles: ghṛ-i-ta- (AV.) 'smeared'; cod-i-tā- 'impelled'; -ves-i-ta- (AV.) 'caused to enter'.

b. A few gerundives in -āyya are formed from causative stems: trayay-āyya- 'to be guarded'; panay-āyya- 'admirable'; spṛhay-āyya- 'desirable'³.

c. Ten infinitives formed with -dhyai from the causative stem are met with in the RV.: iṣṭyādhyai, trāyādhyai, taṁsayādhyai, nāṣayādhyai, mandayādhyai, mādayādhyai, riṣayādhyai, vartayādhyai, vājayādhyai, *syandayādhyai*⁴.

d. Four gerunds formed with -tvā from causative stems are met with in the AV.: arpay-i-tvā, kalpay-i-tvā, sāday-i-tvā, sraṁsay-i-tvā.

e. Finally several ordinary nouns are derived from the causative stem with various suffixes; a few verbal nouns in -ana: ārp-ana- (AV.) 'thrusting'; -bhī-ṣ-ana- 'frightening'; one or two agent nouns in -tr, f. -tr-i: coday-i-tr-i- 'stimulator'; bodhay-i-tṛ- 'awakener'; a few adjectives in -ā as second members of compounds: ati-pārayā- 'putting across'; ni-dhārayā- 'putting down'; vācam-ānkhayā- 'voice-impelling'; viśvam-ajaya- 'all-stimulating'; an adjective in -ālu: patay-āl- (AV.) 'flying'; five adjectives in -iṣṇu: tāpay-iṣṇu- 'tormenting'; namay-iṣṇu- 'bending'; patay-iṣṇu- 'flying'; pāray-iṣṇu- 'rescuing'; māday-iṣṇu- 'intoxicating'; seven adjectives in -itnu: -āmay-itnu- 'making ill'; tanay-itnu- 'thundering'; drāvay-itnu- 'speeding'; poṣay-itnu- 'nourishing'; māday-itnu- 'intoxicating'; sāday-itnu- 'streaming sweetness'; stanay-itnu- m. 'thunder'; and three adjectives in -u: dhāray-i- 'streaming'⁵; bhāvay-i- 'animating'; manday-i- 'rejoicing'.

4. The Denominative.

DELBRÜCK, Verbum p. 201—209, 216—218. — AVERY, Verb-Inflection 272—274. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1053—1068. — v. NEGELEIN, Zur Sprachgeschichte 40—44. — Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 693—696.

562. The denominative is nearly always formed from a nominal stem with the suffix -ya. The latter is normally accented; but a certain number of unmistakable denominatives, such as mantrā-ya-te 'takes counsel', have the causative accent and thus form a connecting link between the regular denominatives and the causatives⁶. The formation is a frequent one, more than a hundred denominative stems occurring in the RV., and in the AV. about ¹ The stem hā-paya- does not itself otherwise occur in V.; cp. p. 396 note 2.

² The TS. IV. 6. 9² has instead dhvanayit.

³ See below 579.

⁴ Cp. DELBRÜCK, Verbum 211; and below 585, 7.

⁵ WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. dhṛ; according to

BR. and GRASSMANN to be analyzed as dhāra-yi-.

⁶ There can be little doubt that the denominative suffix -ya is identical with that of the causative as well as that of the verbs of the fourth class; cp. WHITNEY 1055 a; v. NEGELEIN 44; BRUGMANN, KG. 690, 694.

thirty (or about fifty if those which form present participles or derivative nouns only are included). The general meaning of the denominative is that the subject expressed by the inflexion stands in some relation to the noun from which the stem is formed. It may usually be rendered by 'be or act like'; 'regard or treat as'; 'turn into or use as'; 'wish for'.

Denominatives formed with -ya are best classified according to the final of the nominal stem to which the suffix is added.

563. Stems in -a, which usually remains unchanged; thus amitrā-yā 'act like an enemy', 'be hostile'; indrā-yā 'behave like Indra'; kṣemā-yā 'take a rest'; jārā-yā 'treat like a lover', 'caress'; deva-yā 'serve the gods'; yusmā-yā 'seek you'; vasnā-yā 'deal with the price', 'bargain'.

With the causative accent: (pari-)*anikṣā-yā*¹ 'clasp (round)'; arthā-yā 'have as a desire'; ṛtā-yā 'act according to sacred order'; kulīyā-yā 'build a nest'; nīlā-yā 'bring together'; pālā-yā (AV.) 'act as guardian', 'protect'; mantrā-yā 'take counsel'; mṛgā-yā 'treat as a wild animal', 'hunt'; vavṛā-yā 'put in hiding', 'shrink from'; vājā-yā 'act like a steed', 'race' (beside vāja-yā); vīrā-yā 'play the man'; sa-bhāgā-yā (AV.) 'apportion'².

a. One or two denominatives are from nominal stems extended with -a: īśā-yā 'have strength' (īś-)³; ūrjā-yā 'have strength' (ūrj-)⁴.

a. The -a is, however, often lengthened: aghā-yā 'plan mischief'; ajirā-yā 'be swift'; amitrā-yā (AV.) 'be hostile' (Pp. -īyā-); āśvā-yā 'desire horses'; ṛtā-yā 'observe sacred order' (beside ṛtā-yā); tīlīlā-yā 'be fertile'; tudā-yā (AV.) 'thrust'; *dhūpā-yā*⁵ (MS. AV.) 'be like smoke', 'fume'; priyā-yā 'become friends'; mathī-yā (AV.) 'shake'; *muṣā-yā*⁶ (AV.) 'steal'; yajñā-yā 'sacrifice'; rathirā-yā 'be conveyed in a car'; *randhanā-yā*⁷ 'make subject'; vṛṣā-yā 'act like a bull'⁸; samā-yā 'be active' (sāma-); śubhā-yā 'be beautiful'⁹; śrathā-yā 'make loose' (Pp. -āya-)¹⁰; satvanā-yā (AV.) 'act like a warrior'; sumnā-yā 'show benevolence'; skabhā-yā 'make firm'. In most of these examples the Pada text has a short a.

a. The denominative ojā-yā 'employ force' is formed from oja-, shortened for ōjas 'strength'.

b. The -a of the nominal stem is sometimes changed to -ī: adhvarī-yā 'perform the sacrifice' (adhvarā-); caranī-yā 'follow a course' (cāraṇa-), 'pursue'; taviṣī-yā 'be strong' (taviṣā-); putrī-yā 'desire a son' (putrā-); rathī-yā 'drive in a car' (rātha-); śapathī-yā (AV.) 'utter a curse' (śapātha-). In nearly every instance here the Pada text has ī. Even in the Samhitā text the AV. has putrī-yā 'desire a son', and the RV. the denominative participle (with shifted accent) dnmī-yanī- 'desiring food' (dnma-).

a. For the -a of the nominal stem e is substituted in vare-yā 'play the wooer' (vāra-), 'woo'.

c. The final -a of the nominal stem is sometimes dropped¹¹: adhvar-yā 'perform sacrifice' (beside adhvarī-yā); kṛpā-yā 'be eager'; taviṣ-yā 'be

² DELBRÜCK 189, I regards the form hāstayatas as a denominative; but the accent would be unique: its explanation by BK. and GRASSMANN as a compound, hāsta-yatas 'wielded by the hand', is doubtless the correct one.

³ Cp. DELBRÜCK 189, 2.

⁴ GRASSMANN regards this verb as a causati ve: see Wörterbuch, s. v. ūrjāy.

⁵ See WHITNEY's note on AV. IV. 19⁶.

⁶ See WHITNEY on AV. IV. 21².

⁷ Based on randhana, an assumed derivative of the root randh-.

⁸ Beside vṛṣā-yā, from vṛṣa-, the form which vṛṣān- assumes before terminations or before second members of compounds beginning with consonants.

⁹ From śubha-, an assumed derivative of śubh- 'shine'.

¹⁰ There is also a causative form śrathīya-, from śrath- 'loosen'.

¹¹ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 40.

mighty' (beside taviṣṭ-yá-); turaṇ-yá- 'be speedy'; *damaṇ-ya-*¹ 'overpower'; bhuraṇ-yá- 'be active'; vīthur-yá- 'stagger'; saraṇ-yá- 'hasten'. There are several other denominatives which presuppose nouns in -ana: thus dhiṣaṇ-yá- 'pay attention'; riṣaṇ-yá- 'commit faults'; ruvaṇ-ya- 'roar'; huvaṇ-ya- 'call'. The derivation of iṣaṇ-yá- beside iṣaṇa-ya- 'impel' is perhaps similar; but the nominal stem on which this denominative is based may be iṣṇi- 'impulse'².

564. Stems in -ā, which usually remains unchanged: gopā-yá- 'act as herdsman', 'protect'; jmā-yá- 'speed to earth'; ducchunā-yá- 'desire mischief'³; pṛtanā-yá- 'fight'; bhandanā-yá- 'strive for glory'; manā-yá- 'feel attachment'; raśanā-yá- (AV.)⁴ 'put on a girdle'. Similar stems are to be assumed in īghā-yá- 'tremble', and hṛnā-yá- 'be wrathful'; and dhiyā-yá- 'pay attention' is based on *dhiyā-*⁵ = dhi- 'thought'.

a. The -ā of the nominal stem is once shortened, if kṛpā-yá- (RV.) 'mourn'⁶ is a denominative and different from the causative kṛpāya- (554). The ā is dropped in pṛtan-yá- 'fight' beside pṛtanā-yá-.

a. There are more than a dozen denominatives with ā preceding -ya-, without any corresponding noun in ā; thus aśā-yá- 'attain'⁷; tudā-yá- (AV.) 'thrust'; damā-yá- 'tame'⁸; *naśā-ya-*⁸ (x. 40⁶) 'reach'; panā-ya- 'boast of'; vasā-yá- 'invest oneself with'; ṛṣā-ya- 'cause to rain'⁹. Seven such denominatives, however, appear beside present bases according to the ninth class in -nā: grbhā-yá- 'seize' (grbh-nā-); mathā-yá- 'shake' (math-nā-); pruśā-yá- 'drip' (pruś-nānt-, VS.); muśā-yá- 'steal' (muś-nā-); śrathā-ya- 'loosen' (śrath-nā-); skabhā-yá- 'fasten' (skabh-nā-); stabhā-yá- 'support' (stabh-nā-).

565. Stems in -i, which is nearly always lengthened (though usually short in the Pada text): arāti-yá- (RV. VS.) 'be malevolent', but arāti-yá- (AV. and RV. Pp.); kavī-yá- 'be wise'; janī-yá- 'seek a wife', but janī-yá- (AV.); dur-grbhī-ya- 'be hard to grasp'; mahī-yá- 'be delighted'; rayī-yá- 'desire wealth'; *sakhī-yá-*¹⁰ 'seek friendship'.

a. In a few instances the i is either treated as a or takes Guṇa of which the final element is dropped (-aya = -ay-ya): thus iṣāya-ya- 'set in motion' (iṣāni- 'impulse'); kīrtā-ya- (AV.) 'make mention of' (kīrti-); ahunā-yá- 'resound' (ahūni- 'sounding'); susvā-yá- and susvā-ya- 'flow' (*sūṣv-i-*¹¹ 'pressing'). Perhaps formed in the same way are śrudhī-yá- 'obey' and hṛnī-yá- 'be angry'¹².

β. pātya- 'be a lord', 'rule', probably in origin a denominative of pāti- 'lord', is treated like a verb of the fourth class as if from a root pat-.

566. Stems in -u, which (except gātu-yá- twice) is always long (though always short in Pp.): aśū-yá- 'grumble'; ṛjū-yá- 'be straight'; kratū-yá- 'exert the intellect'; gātu-yá- and gātu-yá- 'set in motion'; pitū-yá- 'desire nourishment'; valgū-yá- 'treat kindly'; vasū-yá- 'desire wealth'; śatru-yá- 'play the enemy', 'be hostile'; sukratū-ya- 'show oneself wise'. Moreover, iṣū-ya- 'strive', may be derived from iṣu- 'arrow'; and nouns in -u are presupposed by aṅkū-yá- 'move tortuously', and stabhū-yá- 'stand firm'.

a. In go-, the only stem in -o, the diphthong becomes -av before the denominative suffix: gav-yá- 'desire cows'.

² Cp. DELBRÜCK 189, 4.

³ The Pada text wrongly ducchunayā-.

⁴ Cp. WHITNEY's note on AV. XIV. 27⁴.

⁵ Which perhaps became an independent noun through the influence of the instrumental form in such compounds as dhiyā-jñr- 'growing old in devotion'.

⁶ Cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. kṛpāy-.

⁷ Cp. DELBRÜCK 199 (p. 217, middle).

⁸ DELBRÜCK, l. c., regards naśāya- (x. 40⁶) as a denominative, BR. as causative of naś-.

⁹ To be distinguished from ṛṣāyá- 'act like a bull'.

¹⁰ Cp. v. NEGELEIN 41 (middle).

¹¹ From the reduplicated root su- 'press'.

¹² According to DELBRÜCK 205, p. 57, also duhīya- in the forms duhīyāt and duhīyān (optatives GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch, and WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. duh). Cp. 450, a 5.

567. Consonant stems usually remain unchanged before the suffix.

a. The only stem ending in -j is bhiṣáj- 'physician': bhiṣaj-yá- 'play the physician', 'heal'.

b. There is one denominative, iṣudh-yá- 'implore', which seems to presuppose a stem in -dh, viz. *iṣudh-*¹, but is probably a denominative from iṣu-dhi- (like pátya- 'from páti-' 'put in the arrow', 'aim')².

c. Denominatives formed from stems in -n are ukṣaṇ-yá- 'act like a bull'; udan-yá- 'irrigate'; brahmaṇ-yá- 'be devout' ('act like a brahmán'); *vṛṣaṇ-yá-*³ 'act like a bull', 'be lustful'.

d. A denominative formed from a stem in -ar is vadhara-yá- 'hurl a bolt' (váddhar-). Stems in -ar are further presupposed in rathara-yá- 'ride in a car'; śrathara-yá- 'become loose'; śapara-yá- 'worship'.

e. The consonant stems most frequently used to form denominatives are those in -as: apas-yá- 'be active'; avas-yá- 'seek help'; canas-yá- 'be satisfied'; duvas-yá- 'adore'; namas-yá- 'pay homage'; nr-maṇas-yá- 'be kindly disposed to men'; manas-yá- 'bear in mind'; vacas-yá- 'be audible'; varivas-yá- 'grant space'; *śravas-yá-*⁴ 'hasten'; sa-canas-yá- 'cherish'; su-manas-yá- 'be gracious'; sv-apas-yá- 'act well'. Stems in -as are further presupposed by iras-yá- 'be angry'; daśas-yá- 'render service to'; panas-yá- 'excite admiration'; sacas-yá- 'receive care'. A few denominatives have further been formed from stems in -a following the analogy of those in -as; thus makkhas-yá- 'be cheerful' (makkhá-) and su-makkhas-yá- (TS.) 'be merry'; mānavas-yá- 'act like men' (mānavá-). The stem aviṣ-yá-, appearing in the participle aviṣyánt- 'helping willingly', apparently a denominative (beside aviṣyá- 'desire', aviṣyí- 'desirous'), seems to be formed from av-is-* = áv-as- 'favour'⁵.

f. A few denominatives are formed from stems in -us: tarus-yá- 'engage in fight' (tár-us-); vanuṣ-yá- 'plot against' (van-ís- 'eager'); vapuṣ-ya- 'wonder' (váp-us- 'marvellous'). This analogy is followed by uruṣ-yá- 'seek wide space' from a stem in -u (urú- 'wide').

568. There are a few denominative forms made without a suffix direct from nominal stems, but they nearly always have beside them denominative stems in -ya; thus bhiṣák-ti (VIII. 79²) 'heals' 3. sing. from bhiṣáj- 'act as physician' (also m. 'physician'); a-bhiṣṇak (X. 131⁵), 3. sing. impf. of bhiṣṇaj- 'heal'. Similarly there appear the forms sing. 2. iṣaṇa-s, 3. iṣaṇa-t, pl. 3. iṣaṇa-nta beside iṣaṇ-yá-; pl. 3. kṛpāna-nta beside kṛpaṇ-yá-; pl. 1. taruṣe-ma, 3. taruṣa-nte, taruṣa-nta beside taruṣ-yá-; pl. 3. vanuṣa-nta beside vanuṣ-yá-. Possibly the form vānanvati is a denominative meaning 'is at hand', from a noun van-anu-*, beside the simple verb van- 'win'⁶.

Inflexion.

569. The denominative is regularly inflected throughout the present system according to the a-conjugation in both voices. The commonest form is the 3. sing. active and middle.

The forms of the present indicative active and middle that actually occur would, if made from manas-yá- 'bear in mind', be the following:

Active. Sing. 1. manasyāmi (AV.). 2. manasyāsi. 3. manasyāti. — Du. 2. manasyāthas. 3. manasyātas. — Pl. 1. manasyāmasi and manasyāmas. 2. manasyatha. 3. manasyānti.

Middle. Sing. 1. manasyé. 2. manasyāse. 3. manasyāte. — Du. 2. manasyethe. 3. manasyéte (AV.). — Pl. 1. manasyāmahe. 3. manasyānte.

² Cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. iṣudhy.

³ Beside vṛṣāyá-; cp. p. 399, note 8.

⁴ According to BR. derived from śravas- from śru- = sru- 'flow', but GRASSMANN from śru- 'hear'.

⁵ Cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. aviṣy.

⁶ Cp. DELBRÜCK p. 218.

Forms that actually occur elsewhere in the present system are the following:

a. Subjunctive. Active. Sing. 1. namasyā. — 2. urusyās, kīrtāyās (AV.), śravasyās. — 3. apasyāt, arātyāt (TS. IV. I. 103; VS. XI. 80), arātyāt (AV.), urusyāt, caranyāt (AV.), durasyāt (AV.), duvasyāt, prtanyāt, vanusyāt, vareyāt, vasūyāt, śravasyāt, saparyāt. — Du. 3. varivasyātas. — Pl. 3. prtanyān (AV.), saparyān, saranyān. — Middle. Sing. 2. arthāyāse, nīlāyāse. — 3. ānkhāyāte.

b. Injunctive. Active. Sing. 2. irasyas, riśanyas, ruvanyas. — Pl. 3. turanyan, duvasyan, namasyan, saparyan. — Middle. Sing. 3. panāyata. — Pl. 3. ṛghāyānta, ṛtāyānta, krpānānta, taruśānta, *dhunayānta*¹, rucayānta, vanuśānta, susvāyānta.

c. Optative. Active. Sing. 2. daśasyes. — 3. urusyet, caranyet (TS. I. 8. 22¹), daśasyet, duvasyēt. — Pl. 1. iśayema, taruśema, saparyéma. — Middle. Sing. 3. manasyēta (AV.).

d. Imperative. Active. Sing. 2. iśanya, urusyā, gātuyā, gūrdhaya, gopāyā (AV. TS.), grbhāyā, daśasyā, duvasyā, namasyā, varivasyā, vājaya (TS. I. 7. 8¹), śrathāyā, saparya. — 3. urusyatu, *gopāyatu*² (AV.), bhīṣajyatu (TS. V. 2. 12²). — Du. 2. urusyātām, gopāyātām, canasyātām, daśasyātām. — 3. urusyātām. — Pl. 2. iśanyata, urusyata, grbhāyāta (AV.), gopāyata (AV.), daśasyata, duvasyāta, namasyāta, riśanyata, saparyata. — 3. urusyantu, gopāyantu (AV.), varivasyantu. — Middle. Sing. 2. arthāyasva, vīrāyasva (AV. TS.), vṛṣāyasva (AV.). — Pl. 2. tivīlāyādhvam, vīrāyādhvam. — 3. dhunayantām.

e. Participle. The present participle active in -ant (with fem. -ant-ī) is very common, while the middle form in -māna, occurs fairly often.

α. Examples of the active are aghāyānt, ānkhāyānt, adhvarīyānt, amītrayānt, arātyānt, aśvāyānt, iśanyānt, iśāyānt and iśayānt, iśūyānt, udāyānt, urjāyānt, ṛghāyānt, ṛtāyānt, ṛtāyānt, gavyānt, gopāyānt (AV.), taviṣīyānt, daśasyānt, duvasyānt, devayānt, namasyānt, pālāyānt (AV.), putrīyānt, prtānāyānt, prtanyānt, bhāndāyānt, bhuranyānt, mathāyānt, musāyānt, yajñāyānt, yusmayānt, rathirāyānt, rathīyānt, vasūyānt, vasnāyānt, vājāyānt and vājāyānt, vṛṣanyānt, śatrūyānt, śikāyānt (VS.) 'dripping', sakhīyānt, satvanāyānt (AV.), saparyānt, sumnāyānt, susvāyānt, hr̥nāyānt 'angry'.

β. Examples of the middle are ṛghāyāmāna, ṛjūyāmāna, ojāyāmāna, kaṇḍūyāmāna (TS.), kavīyāmāna, carānyāmāna, taviṣīyāmāna, priyāyāmāna (AV.), (ā-prati)-manyūyāmāna (AV.), raśanāyāmāna, vṛṣāyāmāna, samanāyāmāna, sumakhasyāmāna (TS.), sumanasyāmāna, stabdhūyāmāna, svapasyāmāna, hr̥nāyāmāna 'angry'.

f. Imperfect. Active. Sing. 2. arandhanāyas. — 3. aprtanyat, āskabhāyat (AV.); urusyat, damanyat, dhūpāyat (AV.); abhiṣnak. — Du. 3. urusyātām. — Pl. 3. anamasyan, asaparyan; turanyan, vapuṣyan, saparyan (TS. II. 2. 12⁴). — Middle. Sing. 3. āpriyāyata. — Du. 2. avīrayethām. — Pl. 3. iśanayanta.

570. Outside the present system no denominative form occurs in the RV. except ūnayīs (+AV.), 2. sing. iṣ- aorist (used injunctively with mā)

¹ The form bhurāyānta (IV. 43⁵) is according to pw. = bhrajanta for bhrajanta (bhraj- 'be roasted'). Cp. note in OLDENBERG's Rgveda.

² This denominative is derived from the very frequent go-pā- 'cowherd', of which two transition forms according to the adeclension (go-pā-) occur in the RV. To the denominative must be due the secondary root gup- 'protect' (jugupur once, gupitā twice in the RV.). Cp. p. 358, note ¹³. How gup- should be a denominative of go- 'cow' (v. NEGELEIN 43, note ⁵) is not clear.

from ānaya- 'leave unfulfilled' (ānā-). A few other forms occur in the later Samhitās. Thus the AV. has the peculiar form āsaparyait (AV. XIV. 2²⁰)¹, probably 3. sing. aorist, with -ait for *-it*². The VS. (II. 31) has the 3. pl. aorist ā-a-vṛṣāy-iṣ-ata 'they have accepted'. The TS. has the 2. pl. aor. pāpay-iṣ-ta 'lead into evil' (used injunctively with mā). The TS. (III. 2. 83) has also the future participles kandūyisyānt- 'about to scratch', meghūyisyānt- 'about to be cloudy', śikāyisyānt- 'about to drip', with the corresponding perfect participles passive kandūyitā-, meghitā-, śikitā-.

B. Nominal Verb Forms.

571. A large number of nominal formations partake of the verbal character inasmuch as they express time (present, past, or future); or the relations between subject and object, implying transitive or intransitive action, and active, middle, or passive sense. Such formations are participles (including verbal adjectives), infinitives, and gerunds. The participles formed from tense-stems having already been treated³, only those that are formed directly from the root remain to be dealt with. These are the verbal adjectives which have the value either of past passive participles or of future passive participles (otherwise called gerundives).

a. Past Passive Participles.

572. The past passive participle is formed by adding, in the great majority of instances, the suffix *-tā*⁴ (with or without connecting -i-), or far less commonly the suffix -nā (directly) to the root. When formed from a transitive verb, it has a passive as well as a past sense; e. g. as- 'throw': as-tā 'thrown'; dā- 'give': dat-tā 'given'. But when formed from an intransitive verb, it has a neuter past sense; e. g. gam- 'go': ga-tā 'gone'; pat- 'fall': pat-i-tā (AV.) 'fallen'.

573. When -tā is added direct, the root tends to appear in its weak form. Very frequently, however, the form in which the root is generally stated, if ending in vowels, remains unchanged, while those ending in consonants are usually modified only in so far as is required by the rules of internal Sandhi; thus √mlā-: mā-tā 'softened'; √yā-: yā-tā 'gone'; √rā-: rā-tā 'given'; √ji-: ji-tā 'conquered'; √sri-: sri-tā 'leaning on'; √pri-: pri-tā 'rejoiced'; √bhr-: bhr-tā 'frightened'; √yu- 1. 'yoke' and 2. 'ward off': yu-tā; √śru-: śru-tā 'heard'; √stu-: stu-tā 'praised'; √bhū-: bhū-tā 'become'; √hū-: hū-tā 'called'; √kr-: kr-tā 'made'; √bhr-: bhr-tā 'borne'; √vr-: vr-tā 'covered' and 'chosen'; √mṛc-: *mṛk-tā*⁵ (RV.) 'injured'; √sic-: sik-tā 'poured out'; √tij-: tik-tā 'sharp'; √yuj-: yuk-tā 'yoked'; √mṛj-: mṛs-tā 'rubbed'; √sṛj-: sṛs-tā 'discharged'; √cit-: cit-tā 'perceived'; √vrt-: vrt-tā 'turned'; √mad- 'be exhilarated': mat-tā (AV.); √idh-: id-dhā 'kindled'; √krudh-: krud-dhā 'angry'; √tap-: tap-tā 'hot'; √rip-: rip-tā (RV.) 'besmeared'; √diś-: diś-tā 'shown'; √naś-: naś-tā 'lost'; √jus-: jus-tā (RV.) 'gladdened' and jūs-tā 'welcome'; √pis-: pis-tā 'crushed'; √kas-: vi-kas-tā 'split'; √guh-: *gū-dhā*⁶ 'hidden'; √trh-: tr-dhā 'crushed'; √dah-: *dag-dhā*⁷ 'burnt'; √dih-: dig-dhā (AV.) 'besmeared'; √duh-: dug-dhā 'milked'; √drh-

³ See under declension 311—313, and in the account of the various tenses (present, perfect, aorist, future).

⁴ Cp. REICHEL, BB. 27, 95—97.

⁵ Only in the compounds ā-mṛk-tā and mṛk-tā-vāha-.

⁶ In roots in -h which cerebralize the suffix, the vowel is lengthened as compensation for the loss of the cerebral ḡ: cp. p. 51, note 2.

⁷ In the RV. only in agni-dag-dhā 'burnt with fire'.

: ḍṛ-ḍhā 'firm'; √druh : drug-ḍhā 'hurtful'; √nah : nad-ḍhā 'bound'; √muh : mug-ḍhā and mū-ḍhā (AV.) 'bewildered'; √rih : rī-ḍhā (RV.) 'licked'; √ruh : rū-ḍhā (AV.) 'ascended'; √sah : sā-ḍhā 'overcome'.

a. Occasional irregularities in the form of the root are not due to the ordinary rules of internal Sandhi. Thus some roots show an interchange of vowel and semi-vowel: ḍṛu 'play' : dyū-tā (AV.); sīu 'sew' : syū-tā; mīu 'push' : -mūla (VS. AV.) instead of myū-la*; ḥyū 'make crooked' has hru-tā 'crooked', beside the regular -ḥyū-ta (RV.); sometimes a long vowel appears in the root: svad 'sweeten' : svāt-tā; gūr 'greet' : gūr-tā; ṣṛ 'mix' : -ṣīr-ta, beside ṣrī-tā from ṣrī 'mix', the usual form of the root; dā 'give', beside the regular form -dā-ta in tvā-dāta (RV.) 'given by thee', otherwise always has dat-tā, formed from dad, the weak form of the present base.

574. Roots which contain the syllables ya, ra, va (initial or medial) are generally weakened by Samprasāraṇa; those which contain a nasal (medial or final), by dropping it; those which end in ā or yā, by shortening the former to ī or i, the latter to ī. Thus:

1. yaj 'sacrifice' : iṣ-tā; vyadh 'pierce' : vid-ḍhā; prach 'ask' : prṣ-tā; bhraś 'fall' : bhṛṣ-tā beside bhraś-tā (AV.); vac 'speak' : uk-tā; vap 'strew' : up-tā; vas 'shine' : uṣ-tā; vah 'carry' : ū-ḍhā; svap 'sleep' : sup-tā (AV. VS.).

a. A shortening akin to Samprasāraṇa appears in av 'favour' : -ū-ta; vā 'weave' : u-tā; brā 'boil' : ṣṛ-tā beside brā-tā.

2. A medial nasal is dropped in añj 'anoint' : ak-tā; umbh 'confine' : ub-ḍhā; damś 'bite' : daś-tā (AV.); baṃh 'make firm' : -bā-ḍha; śundh 'purify' : sud-ḍhā. Final n and m are dropped (the radical a representing the sonant nasal) in kṣan 'wound' : -kṣa-ta; tan 'stretch' : ta-tā; man 'think' : ma-tā; han 'smite' : ha-tā; gam 'go' : ga-tā; nam 'bend' : na-tā; yam 'reach' : ya-tā.

a. A few roots in -an have ā instead of *-an*²: khan 'dig' : khā-tā; jan 'be born' : jā-tā; van 'win' : -vā-ta; san 'gain' : sā-tā; while some roots in -am and one in -an, retaining the nasal, have ān: dhvan 'sound' : dhvāntā (VS. XXXIX. 7); kram 'stride' : krān-tā (AV.); śam 'be quiet' : sān-tā (AV.); śram 'be weary' : śrān-tā; dham 'blow' has the irregular dhmā-tā and dham-i-tā.

3. Final ā is shortened to ī in gā 'sing' : gī-tā; dhā 'suck' : dhi-tā; pā 'drink' : *pī-tā*³; to i in dā 'bind' : -dī-ta; dhā 'put' : -dhi-ta and hi-tā; mā 'measure' : mi-tā; sā 'sharpen' : śi-tā; sā 'bind' : si-tā; sthā 'stand' : sthi-tā.

Final yā is shortened to ī in iyā 'overpower' : jī-tā (AV.); vyā 'envelope' : vī-tā; śyā 'coagulate' : śī-tā.

a. Internal shortening of ā to i appears in sās 'order' : śiṣ-tā; and medial a entirely disappears in ghas 'eat' : -gḍha (TS.) and in the compounded form of dattā 'given', which becomes -i-ta : deva-itā 'given by the gods'; vy-ā-tta (AV. VS.), n. 'the opened mouth'; pāvī-ta (VS. IX. 9) 'deposited'; -pratī-tta (AV.) 'given back'. The same syncopated form appears in the compound participle of dā 'divide' : diva-tta (VS.) 'cut off'.

575. When -tā is added, as it is in many verbs, with connecting -i-, the root is not weakened (excepting four instances of Samprasāraṇa)⁴. It is thus added to a number of roots ending in consonants and to all second-ary verbs.

a. The roots to which it is thus regularly added are those that end:

1. in two consonants: thus uks 'sprinkle' : uks-i-tā; ubj 'force' : ubj-i-tā (AV.); nind 'revile' : nind-i-tā; raks 'protect' : raks-i-tā; śumbh 'beautify' : -śumbh-i-ta (AV.); hims 'injure' : hims-i-tā (AV.); but taks 'fashion' has tas-tā;

² Representing the long sonant nasal.

³ The more correct way of stating these roots would be gai, dhai, pai; cp. 27 a.

⁴ In grbh-i-tā from grabh 'seize' and grh-i-ta (AV.) from grah 'id.'; uks-i-tā from vaks 'increase'; ud-i-tā from vad 'speak'; śrth-i-tā from śrath 'slacken'.

2. in voiceless aspirates: likh 'scratch': likh-i-tā (AV.); grath 'tie': grath-i-tā; nāth 'seek aid': nāth-i-tā; math 'stir': math-i-tā;
 3. in cerebral ḍ: īḍ 'praise': īḍ-i-tā; hūd 'be hostile': hūd-i-tā;
 4. in semivowels: car 'move': *car-i-tā*¹; jīv 'live': jīv-i-tā.

b. The suffix is also added with -i- to a number of roots ending in simple consonants, especially sibilants, about which no rule can be stated. Such are the following participles arranged according to the final of the root: yāc 'ask': yāc-i-tā (AV.); pat 'fall': pat-i-tā (AV.); rad 'dig': rad-i-tā (AV.); vad 'speak': ud-i-tā; vid 'know': vid-i-tā (AV.)²; dudh 'stir up': dūdhi-tā (RV.); nādh 'seek aid': nādh-i-tā; bādh 'oppress': bādh-i-tā; pan 'admire': pan-i-tā; kup 'be agitated': kup-i-tā; *gup*³ 'protect': gup-i-tā beside gup-tā (AV.); yup 'obstruct': yup-i-tā (AV.); rup 'break': rup-i-tā; drp 'rave': drp-i-tā and drp-tā; lap 'prate': lap-i-tā (AV.); grabh 'seize': grbh-i-tā and grah 'seize': grh-i-tā (AV.); skabh 'prop': skabh-i-tā; stabh 'prop': stabh-i-tā; dham 'blow': dham-i-tā (beside dhmā-tā);

as 'eat': as-i-tā; piś 'adorn': piś-i-tā (AV.) beside piś-tā; iś 'send': iś-i-tā; īś 'move': īś-i-tā; twiś 'be stirred': twiś-i-tā; dhr̥ś 'dare': dhr̥ś-i-tā beside dhr̥ś-tā; pruś 'sprinkle': pruś-i-tā; muś 'steal': muś-i-tā; hr̥ś 'be excited': hr̥ś-i-tā; gras 'devour': gras-i-tā.

a. The verb hā 'leave' forms its past participle anomalously (like dā 'give') from the reduplicated present base: jah-i-tā (cp. the pres. part. jāh-at).

β. In the AV. is once (ix. 63b) found a past passive participle extended with the possessive suffix -vant, which gives it the sense of a perfect participle active: as-i-tā-vant (Pp. asitā-vant) 'having eaten'.

c. Secondary verbs, almost exclusively causatives⁴, add -ita after dropping -aya; thus arp-aya 'cause to go': arp-itā and arp-ita; nikh-āya 'cause to quake': nikh-itā; cod-āya 'set in motion': cod-itā; vīl-āya 'make strong': vīl-itā; śnath-āya 'pierce': śnath-itā; svan-āya 'resound': svan-ita.

The only past passive participle formed from a denominative is bhām-itā 'enraged', from bhāma 'wrath'.

576. The suffix -nā is always attached directly to the root, which as a rule remains unweakened. Among roots ending in consonants, it is taken by those in ḍ, besides two or three in the palatals c and j; among roots in vowels, it is taken by those ending in the long vowels ā, ī, ṛ, besides one in ū.

a. The final of roots in -d is assimilated to the n of the suffix; thus chid 'cut off': chin-nā; tud 'push': tun-nā; tr̥d 'pierce': tr̥n-ṇa (VS. xxxvi. 2); nud 'push': nun-na (SV.) beside nut-tā; pad 'go': pan-nā (AV.); bhid 'split': bhin-nā; vid 'find': vin-nā (AV.) beside vit-tā; sad 'sit': san-nā (VS. AV.) beside sat-tā; skand 'leap': skan-nā; syand 'move on': syan-nā; svid 'sweat': svin-nā. The original participle of ad 'eat' survives only (with change of accent) in the neuter noun ān-na 'food'.

b. The roots in palatals which take -na are: pr̥c 'mix': pr̥g-ṇa (RV¹) beside pr̥k-tā; vraśc 'cut up': vr̥k-nā; ruj 'break': rug-nā.

c. Roots in -ā remain unchanged or weaken the final to ī: drā 'sleep': drā-ṇa (AV.); dā 'divide': dī-nā; hā 'leave': hī-nā; final -yā is shortened to -ī: śyā 'coagulate': śī-nā (VS.) beside śī-tā.

d. Roots in -ī and -ū remain unchanged: kṣī 'destroy': kṣī-ṇa (AV.);

¹ Also ār-i-tā if derived from a somewhat doubtful root ār 'praise'; cp. WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. ār.

² mad-i-tā is probably from the causative of mad 'be exhilarated'.

³ See p. 402, note 2.

⁴ No examples of past participles from desideratives (except mīmāṃsītā, AV.) and intensives seem to occur in the Samhitās.

pi- 'swell': pi-na- (AV.); bi- 'crush': bi-na- (AV.); li- 'cling': li-na- (AV.); du- 'burn': du-na- (AV.).

e. Roots in -r̥ change that vowel to -ir or (generally when a labial precedes) -ur before -na: gr̥- 'swallow': gir-na-; ji- 'waste away': ji-na- (AV.) and jir-na-; tj̥- 'pass': tir-na-; p̥r̥- 'fill': p̥ir-na- beside p̥ur-tā-; m̥r̥- 'crush': m̥ir-na- (AV.); śr̥- 'crush': śir-na- (AV.) beside śur-tā- (RV. I. 174⁶); st̥r̥- 'strew': stir-na- beside str-ta-.

b. Future Passive Participles (Gerundives).

577. Verbal adjectives formed with certain suffixes have acquired the value of future participles passive, expressing that the action of the verb is or ought to be suffered. There are four forms of such gerundives in use in the RV.: that derived with the primary suffix -ya, which is common, and those derived with the secondary suffixes -āy-ya, -ēn-ya, and -tu-a, about a dozen examples of each of which are met with. In the AV. are also found two instances each of gerundives in -tavyā and -anīya.

578. By far the most frequent form of gerundive is that in -ya, about 40 examples occurring in the RV. and about 60 in the AV. This suffix is nearly always to be read as -ia, which accounts for the treatment of final radical vowels before it. The root, being accented, appears in a strong form, excepting a few instances in which there is the short radical vowel i u or r.

1. In the following examples a final short vowel remains unchanged, a *-t-*² being interposed: -i-t-ya- 'to be gone'; apa-mi-t-ya- (AV. VI. 117¹) 'to be thrown away' (? mi- 'fix')³; śrī-t-ya- 'to be heard'; -kr-t-ya- 'to be made'; car-kr-t-ya- 'to be praised' (kr- 'commemorate').

2. Otherwise final i, ū, r̥ regularly take Guṇa or Vrddhi, the final element of which always appears as y, v, r as before a vowel; thus from li- 'cling': *a-līy-ya-*⁴, an epithet of Indra; nu- 'praise': nāv-ya- 'to be praised'; bhū- 'be': bhāv-ya- and bhāv-yā- 'future'; hū- 'call': hāv-ya- 'to be invoked'; vr̥- 'choose': vār-ya- 'to be chosen'.

3. Final -ā coalesces with the initial of -ia to e, between which and -a a phonetic y is interposed; thus dā- 'give': dē-ya- (= dā-i-y-a-) 'to be given'; khyā- 'see': -khye-ya- (AV.); mā- 'measure': mē-ya- (AV.). In the RV., however, the form jñā-ya- once occurs in the compound bala-vi-jñā-yā- (x. 103⁵) 'to be recognized by his might'.

4. A medial vowel either remains unchanged or, if short, may take Guṇa, and a is sometimes lengthened; thus id-ya- 'to be praised'; gīh-ya- 'to be hidden'; -dhr̥s-ya- 'to be assailed'; dvēs-ya- (AV.) 'to be hated' (V^{avis}); yódh-ya- 'to be fought' (V^{yudh}); árdh-ya- 'to be completed' (V^{rdh}); márj-ya- 'to be purified' (V^{mrj}); cákṣ-ya- 'to be seen'; dābh-ya- 'to be deceived'; rámh-ya- 'to be hastened'; rādh-ya- 'to be won'; vānd-ya- 'praiseworthy'; sāms-ya- 'to be lauded'; -sād-ya- from sad- 'sit'; -mād-ya- from mad- 'be exhilarated'; vāc-ya- 'to be said' (V^{vac}).

579. Hardly a dozen gerundives, almost restricted to the RV., are formed with *-āy-ya*⁵ (which with one exception is always to be read -āyia): dakṣ-āy-ya- 'to be conciliated'; pan-āy-ya- 'to be admired'; vid-āy-ya- 'to be

¹ The form -śir-ta- is also found in the MS.: WHITNEY, Roots, s. v. √śr- 'crush'.

² Cp. the -t added to roots ending in -i, -u, -r̥ to form nominal stems (308).

³ The meaning is uncertain: WHITNEY translates the word by 'borrowed'. See his notes in his Translation.

⁴ Cp. GRASSMANN, s. v.

⁵ Cp. LINDNER, Nominalbildung 22; DELBRÜCK, Verbum 233; WHITNEY 966 c; BAR-THOLOMAE, BB. 15, 179 n. 1; BB. 20, 85.

found'; śrav-āyya 'glorious'; -hnav-āyya 'to be denied'. A few are formed from secondary verbs; from causatives: trayay-āyya 'to be guarded' (√trā)¹; panay-āyya 'admirable' (√pan); sprhay-āyya 'desirable' (√sprh); from a desiderative: di-dhi-s-āyya 'to be conciliated' (√dhā); from an intensive: vi-tan-tas-āyya 'to be hastened' (√tams). Akin to these gerundives is the anomalous form stuṣṭ-āyya 'to be praised', derived direct from the infinitive stuṣṭe 'to praise'².

580. More than a dozen gerundives are formed with -en-ya (generally to be read -enia): īkṣ-ēnya 'worthy to be seen', ī-ēnya 'praiseworthy', -car-ēnya 'to be acted', drś-ēnya 'worthy to be seen', -dviṣ-ēnya 'malignant', ābhūṣ-ēnya 'to be glorified', yudh-ēnya 'to be combatted', vār-ēnya 'desirable'. From the aorist stem is formed -yam-ēnya 'to be guided' (√yam); and perhaps *paprks-ēnya*³ 'desirable' (√prach). A few are also derived from secondary verbs; from desideratives: didrks-ēnya 'worthy to be seen' (√drś); śuśrūṣ-ēnya (TS.) 'deserving to be heard'; from intensives: mar-mrj-ēnya 'to be adorned', vārdh-ēnya 'to be glorified'; from a denominative: sapary-ēnya 'to be adored'.

581. About a dozen gerundives, almost restricted to the RV.⁴, end in -tv-a (generally to be read as -tu-a), which seems to be the infinitive stem in -tu turned into an adjective by means of the suffix -a: kār-tva 'to be made', jān-i-tva and jān-tva 'to be born', jé-tva 'to be won', nān-tva 'to be bent', bhāvu-tva 'future', vāk-tva 'to be said', sān-i-tva 'to be won', só-tva 'to be pressed', snā-tva 'suitable for bathing', hān-tva 'to be slain', hé-tva 'to be driven on' (√hi).

a. In the AV. there begins to appear a gerundive in -tav-yā. It probably started from the stem of the predicative infinitive in -tav-e, which was turned into an adjective by means of the suffix *-ia*⁵. The only examples of this formation are jan-i-tav-yā 'to be born' (AV. IV. 237) and him-i-tav-yā 'to be injured' (AV. V. 186).

b. There are also two examples in the AV. of a new gerundive in -an-īya, which is derived from a verbal noun in -ana with the adjective suffix -īya. These are upa-jīva-anīya 'serving for subsistence' = 'to be subsisted on' (AV. VIII. 1022); ā-mantṛ-anīya 'fit for address' (ā-māntrāṇa) = 'worthy to be addressed' (AV. VIII. 107)⁶.

582. The infinitive, all the forms of which are old cases of nouns of action, is very frequently used, occurring in the RV. alone about 700 times. The case-forms which it exhibits are those of the accusative, dative, ablative-genitive, and locative. Only the first two are common, but the dative is by far the commonest, outnumbering the accusative in the proportion of 12 to 1 in the RV. (609 to 49)⁷, and of 3 to 1 in the AV.⁸ Infinitives are formed chiefly from radical stems or stems in -tu, only a few dative and locative forms being made from other stems. It is somewhat remarkable that the acc. form in -tum which is the only infinitive in the later language, hardly occurs in the RV., being found there only five times¹, while the dative infinitive, which is more than seven times as frequent as all the rest in the RV., has almost disappeared even in the Brāhmaṇas. The formations which are restricted to the infinitive meaning are the datives in -tavai, -dhyai, and (the very few) in -se, besides a small number of locatives in -sāni. In other forms it is often difficult to draw a strict line of demarcation between the infinitive² and ordinary case uses³.

⁴ A few of these are also found in B., also an additional one, hō-tva 'to be sacrificed', in the MS. (L 93).

⁵ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 809.

⁶ The gerundive meaning in these two verbal adjectives is probably only incipient. The second is expressly connected with the verbal noun ā-māntrāṇa.

I. Dative Infinitive.

583. This infinitive ends in -e, which when added to the ā of a root or stem combines with it to -ai. It has the final meaning of '(in order) to', 'for (the purpose of)'⁴. This dative is commonly used without an object; hence a dative often appears beside it by attraction instead of an accusative; e. g. asmābhyaṃ dṛśāye sūryāya pīmar dātām āsum (x. 14¹²) 'may they two grant us life again, for the sun, that we may see (it)', i. e. 'that we may see the sun' (= dṛśāye sūryam). When used with kṛ- 'make' or verbs of wishing, and when predicative, this infinitive acquires a passive meaning; e. g. agnīm sam-īdhe cakārtha (I. 113⁹) 'thou hast made (= caused) the fire to be kindled'; yād im usmāsi kārtave (x. 74⁶) 'what we wish to be done'; brahmadviṣaḥ ... hantavā u (x. 182³) 'Brahma-haters (are) to be slain'⁴.

584. From roots are formed some 60 dative infinitives.

a. About a dozen are made from roots ending in long vowels, chiefly -ā, and one in -i. All of these are found only compounded with prefixes, excepting bhū-, which appears once in the simple form. Two of them drop ā before the *-e*⁵. These infinitives are: vi-khyāi 'to look abroad'; parā-dāi 'to give up'; prati-māi 'to imitate' (III. 60⁴); yāi 'to go'; ava-sāi (III. 53²⁰) 'to rest'; śrad-dhē (I. 102²) 'to trust' (with the dat. particle kām); pra-mē (IX. 70⁴) 'to form'; pra-hyē (x. 109³) 'to send' (√hi-); miyē 'to diminish' (√mī-); bhuv-ē and -bhv-ē 'to be' (√bhū-); -tir-e 'to cross' (√tī-); -stīr-e (√stī- 'spread').

b. The rest are formed from roots ending in consonants. The uncompounded forms are: tvīṣ-ē 'to arouse', dṛś-ē 'to see', bhuj-ē 'to enjoy', māh-ē 'to be glad', mih-ē 'to make water', mud-ē 'to rejoice', muṣ-ē 'to rob', muh-ē 'to be bewildered', yuj-ē 'to yoke', yudh-ē 'to fight', ruc-ē 'to shine', vydh-ē 'to thrive', śubh-ē 'to shine'.

The compounded forms are much more frequent. They are: -āj-e 'to drive', -īdh-e 'to kindle', -krām-e 'to stride', -grābh-e 'to seize', -cākṣ-e 'to see', -tīr-e 'to cross', *-tīṣ-e*⁶ 'to procure', -dābh-e 'to injure', -dīś-e 'to point', -dṛś-e 'to see', -dhṛṣ-e 'to be bold' (+ AV. TS.), -nām-e 'to bend', -nās-e (+ VS.) 'to attain', -nikṣ-e 'to pierce', -nūd-e 'to thrust', -pīc-e 'to fill', -pīcch-e 'to ask', -bādhe 'to bind' (AV.), -būdhe (TS. I. 2. 3²) 'to awake', -mīṣ-e 'to forget', -yāks-e 'to speed', -yīj-e 'to yoke', -rābh-e 'to seize', -rīṣ-e 'to break', -vāc-e 'to speak' (√vac-), -vid-e 'to find', -vidh-e 'to pierce' (√vyadh-), -viṣ-e 'to seize', -vīj-e 'to put round', -vīte 'to turn', -śās-e 'to proclaim', -sād-e 'to sit', -sūd-e 'to enjoy', -skād-e 'to leap', -skābh-e 'to prop', -spīś-e 'to touch', -syād-e 'to flow', -svāj-e 'to embrace'⁷.

⁶ In VIII. 4²⁵ the dative, accented tīj-e, occurring independently, appears to be a substantive.

⁷ Cp. the list in LUDWIG p. 56–58.

a. One infinitive is also formed from a reduplicated root: śiśnāth-e (III. 31¹³) 'to attack'; but according to GRASSMANN¹ it is the locative of a substantive meaning 'attack'.

585. The remaining dative infinitives are formed from verbal nouns derived with nine different suffixes.

1. Some 25 of these are datives of stems in *-as*². They are the following: āyas-e (I. 57³) 'to go', arkās-e 'to be worthy of', rcās-e 'to praise', rñjās-e 'to strive after', *kṣādas-e*⁴ 'to partake of', cāksas-e 'to see', carās-e 'to fare', *javās-e*⁴ (III. 50²) 'to speed', jīvās-e 'to live', tujās-e 'to hurl', dohās-e 'to milk', dhāyas-e 'to cherish', dhrvās-e 'to sit firmly', pusyās-e 'to thrive', *bhāras-e*⁵ 'to bear', bhiyās-e 'to fear', bhojās-e 'to enjoy', rājās-e 'to shine', vrñjās-e 'to turn aside', vrkhās-e 'to further', śobhās-e 'to shine', śriyās-e 'to be resplendent', *sāhyas-e*⁶ 'to conquer', spāras-e 'to help to', spūrdhās-e 'to strive after', harās-e 'to seize'.

a. Three roots form an infinitive stem with -s only instead of -as: ji-s-é 'to conquer', *upa-prak-s-é*⁶ (V. 47⁶) 'to unite', stu-s-é 'to praise'⁷.

2. Some half dozen are formed from stems in -i: *iś-īy-e*⁸ (VI. 52¹⁵) 'to refresh', tuj-īy-e (V. 46⁷) 'to breed', drś-īy-e 'to see', mah-īy-e 'to rejoice', yudh-īy-e 'to fight', san-īy-e 'to win'; *cit-īy-e*⁹ (VS.) 'to understand'.

3. Four or five are formed from stems in -ti: iś-tīy-e 'to refresh', pi-tīy-e 'to drink', vr-tīy-e 'to enjoy', sā-tīy-e 'to win'; perhaps also ū-tīy-e (nñ) 'to help (his men)'.

4. Over 30 dative infinitives are formed from stems in -tu (added to the gunated root, in some instances with connecting vowel), from which acc. and abl. gen. infinitives are also formed:

a. āt-tav-e 'to eat', āś-tav-e 'to attain', ās-tav-e (VS.; TS. IV. 5. 1²) 'to shoot', ē-tav-e 'to go', ō-tav-e 'to weave' (√vā-), kār-tav-e 'to make', gān-tav-e and gā-tav-e 'to go', dā-tav-e 'to give', prāti-dhā-tav-e 'to place upon', dhū-tav-e 'to suck', pāk-tav-e (AV.) 'to cook', pāt-tav-e 'to fall', pā-tav-e 'to drink', bhār-tav-e 'to bear away', mān-tav-e 'to think', yān-tav-e 'to present', yāś-tav-e 'to sacrifice', yā-tav-e 'to go', yō-tav-e 'to ward off', vāk-tav-e 'to speak', prā-van-tav-e 'to win' (√van-), vār-tav-e 'to restrain', vās-tav-e 'to shine', vā-tav-e (AV.) 'to weave', vēt-tav-e (AV.) 'to find', vō-lhav-e 'to convey', pāri-śak-tav-e 'to overcome', sār-tav-e 'to flow', sū-tav-e 'to bring forth', sē-tav-e (AV.) 'to bind', sū-tav-e 'to press', stū-tav-e 'to praise', hān-tav-e 'to slay'.

β. āv-i-tav-e 'to refresh', cār-i-tav-e 'to fare', jīv-ā-tav-e (TS. IV. 2. 65; VS. XVIII. 67) 'to live', sāvi-tav-e 'to bring forth', stār-i-tav-e (AV.) 'to lay low', srāv-i-tav-e 'to flow', hāv-i-tav-e 'to call'.

5. Over a dozen infinitives are formed from stems in -tavā (added like -tu to the gunated root), which are doubly accented.

a. ē-tavāi 'to go' (also āty-, ānv-, etavāi), ō-tavāi 'to weave', gān-tavāi 'to go' (also ūpa-gān-tavāi), dā-tavāi 'to give', pāri-dhā-tavāi (AV.) 'to envelope', pā-tavāi 'to drink', āpa-bhār-tavāi 'to be taken away', mān-tavāi 'to think', mā-tavāi 'to low', sār-tavāi 'to flow', sū-tavāi (AV.) 'to bring forth', hān-tavāi 'to slay'¹⁰.

² As a rule the suffix, but in half a dozen instances the root, is accented.

6. There seems to be only one certain example of a dative infinitive formed from a stem in -tyā: i-tyāi 'to go'¹.

7. Some 35 dative infinitives almost limited to the RV.² are formed from stems in -dhyā added to verbal bases ending in a (generally accented), and seem to have the termination -dhyai: iyā-dhyai 'to go' (√i-), *irā-dhyai*³ 'to seek to win', iśā-dhyai and iśāya-dhyai 'to refresh', trayā-dhyai 'to set in motion', kṣāra-dhyai 'to pour out', gāma-dhyai 'to go', grṇā-dhyai (AA. v. 2. 1¹⁰) 'to praise', carā-dhyai 'to fare', jarā-dhyai 'to sing', tansayā-dhyai 'to attract', tarā-dhyai 'to overcome', duhā-dhyai 'to milk', dhiyā-dhyai 'to deposit' (√dhā-), nāsayā-dhyai 'to cause to disappear', pība-dhyai 'to drink', prṇā-dhyai 'to fill', bhāra-dhyai 'to bear', mandā-dhyai 'to delight in', mandayā-dhyai 'to rejoice', mādayā-dhyai 'to delight in', *yāja-dhyai*⁴ 'to worship', riṣayā-dhyai 'to injure oneself', vandā-dhyai 'to praise', vartayā-dhyai 'to cause to turn', vāha-dhyai 'to guide', vājayā-dhyai 'to hasten', vāvṛdhā-dhyai (from the perfect) 'to strengthen', vṛjā-dhyai 'to turn to', śayā-dhyai 'to lie', śucā-dhyai 'to shine', sacā-dhyai 'to partake', sāha-dhyai 'to overcome', stavā-dhyai 'to praise', syandayā-dhyai 'to flow', huvā-dhyai 'to call'. The TS. has also one of these infinitives ending in -e: gamā-dhye (I. 3. 6⁵).

8. Five dative infinitives are formed from stems in -man: trā-man-e 'to protect', dā-man-e 'to give', dhār-man-e (x. 88¹) 'to support', bhār-man-e 'to preserve', *vid-mān-e*⁵ 'to know'.

9. Three dative infinitives are formed from stems in -van: tur-vān-e 'to overcome' (√tṛ-), dā-vān-e 'to give', dhūr-vān-e 'to injure' (√dhvṛ-).

2. Accusative Infinitive.

586. This infinitive is an accusative in sense as well as in form, being used only as the object of a verb. It is primarily employed as a supine with verbs of motion⁶ to express purpose. It is formed in two ways.

a. More than a dozen radical stems in the RV. and several others in the AV. form an accusative infinitive with the ending *-am*⁷.

The root nearly always ends in a consonant and appears in its weak form. It is not always easy to distinguish these infinitives from substantives, but the following include all the more certain forms: sam-idham 'to kindle', vi-çt-am 'to unfasten', pra-tīr-am (√tīr-) 'to prolong', prati-dhām 'to place upon' (AV.), (vi-, sam-)-pīcch-am 'to ask', pra-mīy-am 'to neglect' (√mī-), *yām-am*⁸ 'to guide', yidh-am (AV.) 'to fight', ā-rābh-am 'to reach', ā-rīh-am 'to mount', ā-vīs-am 'to enter', śībh-am 'to shine', ā-sād-am 'to sit down'⁹.

b. Five accusative infinitives from stems in -tu (of which the dative

¹ In x. 106⁴ bhujyāi, occurring beside pustyāi, is doubtless a substantive; other cases of the word are also met with: see GRASSMANN, s. v. bhujī. The MS. I. 6³ has also sādhayai (from sah+ti); rāhīyāi, which occurs in the TS. I. 3. 10² is doubtless a substantive; see DELBRÜCK 201 and WHITNEY 977.

² This infinitive form occurs once only in the AV. in a Rigvedic passage.

³ An intensive formation from √rādh- (64. 1).

⁴ yajādhyai TS. IV. 6. 3³; VS. XVII. 57.

⁵ WHITNEY 974 also quotes dār-māṇe.

⁶ Cp. WOLFF 32, 40.

⁷ The only roots in vowels taking it are dhā-, mī-, tī-.

⁸ Occurs three times in the RV., always dependent on sakēma.

⁹ Perhaps also sam-śh-am (strong radical vowel) and upa-spīj-am. Cp. the list in WOLFF, p. 87—90. There are several quite doubtful examples from the AV., as nīh-khid-am (conjecture), pra-tānk-am, sam-rūdh-am. See WHITNEY's notes in his Translation on AV. IV. 16²; V. 18⁷; VII. 50⁵.

form is much commoner)¹ occur in the RV. and about the same number of others in the AV.: āt-tum (AV.) 'to eat', ṁ-tum 'to weave', kār-tum (AV.) 'to make', nī-kartum (Kh. iv. 5²⁵) 'to overcome', khn-i-tum (VS. xi. 10) 'to dig', dā-tum 'to give', drās-tum (AV.) 'to see', prās-tum 'to ask', prā-bhar-tum 'to present', yāc-i-tum (AV.) 'to ask for', ānu prā-voḥum 'to advance', spārdh-i-tum (AV.) 'to contend with'².

3. Ablative-Genitive Infinitive.

587. This infinitive is formed in two ways, like the accusative infinitive, either from a radical stem or from a verbal noun in -tu (from which a dative and an acc. infinitive are also formed)³. The former, therefore, ends in -as, the latter in -tos. As these endings are both ablative and genitive in form, the cases can only be distinguished syntactically. The ablative use is by this criterion shown to preponderate considerably.

a. The -as form has the ablative sense almost exclusively, as is indicated by its being employed with words governing the ablative, viz. the adnominal prepositions rit 'without', purā 'before', and the verbs pā- 'protect' trā- 'rescue', bhī- 'fear'. It occurs with the same kind of attraction as appears with the dative infinitive: thus trādhvaṃ kartāḍ ava-pād-as (II. 29⁶)⁴ 'save us from the pit, from falling down (into it)'. There are six such ablatives in the RV.: ā-tf-d-as 'being pierced', ava-pād-as 'falling down', sam-pf-c-as 'coming in contact', abhi-srīś-as 'binding', abhi-śvās-as 'blowing', ati-skād-as 'leaping across'.

a. There seems also to be at least one example (II. 28⁶) of the genitive use, viz. nī-miś-as . . . īse 'I am able to wink', the construction of √mī- being the same as with the genitive infinitive in -tos (b α). Another instance is perhaps ā-pf-c-as 'to fill' (VIII. 40⁹).

b. Of the infinitives in -tos occurring in the RV. some six are shown by the construction to be ablatives. They are: āt-tos 'going', gān-tos 'going', jāni-tos 'being born', nī-dhā-tos 'putting down', śār-t-tos 'being shattered', sō-tos 'pressing', hān-tos 'being struck'; perhaps also vās-tos (I. 174³)⁵.

a. Three infinitives in -tos have the genitive sense, viz. kār-tos 'doing' (with madhyā)⁶, dā-tos 'giving', and yō-tos 'warding off' (both with īś- 'have power'). In two passages in which īse governs the infinitive attraction of the object appears as with the dative infinitive: īse rāyāḥ suvīryasya dātōs (VII. 4⁶) 'he has power over wealth (and) brave sons, over giving (them)', i. e. 'he has power to give wealth and brave sons'; also yāsya . . . īse . . . yōtos (VI. 18¹¹) 'whom he can ward off'⁷.

4. Locative Infinitive.

588. This form of the infinitive is rare, since thirteen or fourteen examples at the most occur. Several of these are, however, indistinguishable in meaning from ordinary locatives of verbal nouns⁸.

a. Five or six of these locatives are formed from radical stems: vy-īś-i 'at the dawning', sam-cākṣ-i 'on beholding', dṛś-i and sam-dṛś-i 'on seeing', budh-i 'at the waking'. As these nearly always govern a genitive, they are preferably to be explained as simple locatives of verbal nouns.

³ Above 585, 4 and 586.

⁴ Cp. also VIII. 112: purā jatribhya ā-tf-d-as 'before the cartilages being pierced'.

⁵ See WOLFF II.

it governs the ablative rather than the genitive.

⁷ See DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax p. 418, and cp. WOLFF 58.

⁸ Cp. DELBRÜCK 212 (p. 227) and WHITNEY 985.

b. One locative infinitive is formed from a stem in -tar: dhar-tár-i 'to support' and vi-dhar-tár-i 'to bestow'.

c. Eight locatives with a genuine infinitive meaning are formed from stems in -san in the RV. They are: *gr-nī-sān-i*¹ 'to sing', tar-ī-sān-i 'to cross', ne-sān-i 'to lead', par-sān-i 'to pass', abhi-bhū-sān-i 'to aid', sū-sān-i 'to swell', sak-sān-i 'to abide' (√sac)², *upa-str-nī-sān-i*³ 'to spread'.

a. The form iśān-i (II. 2⁹), seems to be derived from iś 'emit' for *iś-sān-i*³.

d. Gerund.

589. A considerable number (upwards of 120) of forms ending in -tvī, -tvā, -tvāya, -tvā, -yā occur in the RV. and AV. in the sense of gerunds expressing an action which accompanies or more often precedes that of the finite verb. They are doubtless old cases⁴ (the first most probably a locative, the rest instrumentals) of verbal nouns formed with -tu, -ti, -i, all of which are also employed in the formation of infinitives⁵. The first three are formed from the simple root, the last two from the compounded root.

590. A. a. Of the gerunds formed from the simple root, those in -tvī are the commonest in the RV., there being fifteen altogether in the RV. They hardly ever occur in any of the other Saṃhitās. They appear to be old locatives⁶ of stems in -tu, which as a rule is added directly to the root, but in two instances with connecting -i. They are kr-tvī 'having made', khā-tvī (TS. IV. 1. 1⁴) 'having dug', ga-tvī 'having gone', gū-dhvī 'having concealed', jani-tvī 'having produced', jus-tvī 'liking', pī-tvī 'having drunk', pū-tvī 'having cleansed', bhū-tvī 'having become', vr-tvī 'enclosing', vrk-tvī 'having overthrown' (√vrj-), vīś-tvī 'working' (√vīś-), vrś-tvī 'showering', skabhi-tvī 'having propped', ha-tvī 'having smitten', hi-tvī 'having abandoned' (√hā-).

b. The gerund in -tvā, an old instrumental of a verbal noun in -tu, is formed by nine roots in the RV. and about thirty more in the AV. Those found in the RV. are: pī-tvā 'having drunk', bhit-tvā 'having shattered', bhū-tvā 'having become', mi-tvā 'having formed' (√mā-), yuk-tvā 'having yoked', vr-tvā 'having covered', śru-tvā 'having heard', ha-tvā 'having slain', hi-tvā 'having abandoned' (√hā-). The forms occurring in the AV. include two formed from secondary verbal stems and three others formed with the connecting vowel -i. They are: iś-tvā 'having sacrificed' (√yaj-), kalpay-i-tvā 'having shaped', kr-tvā 'having made', krī-tvā 'trading', ga-tvā 'having gone', grh-ī-tvā 'having seized', jag-dhvā 'having devoured' (√jaks-), ci-tvā 'having gathered', cāy-i-tvā 'noting', tīr-tvā 'having crossed' (√tī-), tr-dhvā 'having shattered'⁷ (√trh-), dat-tvā 'having given', dṛś-tvā 'having seen', pak-tvā 'having cooked', pū-tvā 'having purified', bad-dhvā 'having bound', bhakt-tvā 'sharing', mṛś-tvā 'having wiped off', rū-dhvā 'having ascended', lab-dhvā 'taking', vīt-tvā 'having found', vrś-tvā 'cutting off' (√vraśc-)⁸, sup-tvā 'having slept', stab-dhvā 'having established', stu-tvā 'having praised', snā-tvā 'having bathed', sramsay-i-tvā 'letting fall', hims-i-tvā 'having injured'. One gerund in -tvā also occurs though compounded with a prefix: praty-arpay-i-tvā (AV.) 'having sent in opposition'. From the Khilas: janay-i-tvā (I.4⁸); from the VS. i-tvā (xxxii. 12), vid-i-tvā (xxxii. 18) 'having known', śpr-tvā (xxxii. 1) 'pervading'.

c. The rarest gerund in the RV. is that in -tvāya, being formed from only seven roots. It appears to be a late formation, occurring only in the tenth Maṇḍala, excepting one example in the eighth (viii. 100⁸) in a hymn which is marked by ARNOLD² as belonging to the latest period of the RV. Two of these gerunds (gatvāya and hatvāya) recur in the AV., which, however, has no additional examples of this type. These forms have the appearance of being datives of stems in -tva, but the use of the dative in this sense is in itself unlikely, as that case is otherwise employed to express the final meaning of the infinitive. Hence BARTHOLOMAE³ explains the forms as a metrical substitute for a fem. inst. in -tvāyā (from the stem -tvā), or for a loc. of -tva with enclitic ā added. There seems to be another possible explanation. Three of the seven forms occurring appear instead of the corresponding forms in -tvā of the older Maṇḍalas. Owing to this close connexion and the lateness as well as the rarity of these forms, we may here have a tentative double formation, under the influence of compound gerunds formed with -ya which end in -āya, such as ā-dāya 'taking'.

The forms occurring are kr-tvāya (VS. xi. 59; TS. iv. 1. 5⁴) 'having made', ga-tvāya 'having gone', jaḡ-dhvāya 'having devoured', ta-tvāya (VS. xi. 1) 'having stretched', dat-tvāya 'having given', ḍṛs-tvāya 'having seen', bhakt-tvāya 'having attained', yuk-tvāya 'having yoked', vṛ-tvāya (TS. iv. 1. 2³; VS. xi. 19) 'having covered', ha-tvāya 'having slain', hi-tvāya 'having abandoned'.

591. B. When the verb is compounded, the suffix is regularly either -yā or -tyā. In at least two-thirds of these forms the vowel is long in the RV.⁴

a. Nearly 40 roots in the RV. and about 30 more in the AV., when compounded with verbal prefixes, take the suffix *-ya*⁵. Four roots take it also when compounded with nouns or adverbs. The forms occurring in the RV. are in the alphabetical order of the radical initial: ā-āc-yā 'bending', pra-ḍrṣ-yā 'setting in motion', prati-ś-yā 'having sought for', abhi-ūp-yā 'having enveloped' (√vap-), vi-kṣṭ-yā 'having cut in pieces', abhi-kram-yā 'approaching', abhi-khyā-yā 'having descried', abhi-gṛh-yā 'graciously accepting', saṃ-gṛh-yā 'gathering', prati-gṛh-yā 'accepting', anu-ghṛh-yā 'proclaiming aloud', abhi-cāks-yā 'regarding', prati-cāks-yā 'observing' and vi-cāks-yā 'seeing clearly', ni-cāy-yā 'fearing', pari-tāp-yā 'stirring up' (heat), vi-tūr-yā 'driving forth', ā-dā-yā 'taking' and pari-dā-yā 'handing over', ati-dāv-yā 'playing higher', anu-ḍṛs-yā 'looking along', abhi-pād-yā 'acquiring', pra-prūth-yā 'puffing out', vi-bhīd-yā 'shattering', abhi-bhī-yā 'overcoming', vi-mā-yā 'disposing' and saṃ-mā-yā 'measuring out', saṃ-mil-yā 'closing the eyes', vi-muc-yā 'unyoking', ā-miṣ-yā 'appropriating', anu-miṣ-yā 'grasping', *ā-yū-yā*⁶ 'taking to oneself', ā-rābh-yā 'grasping' and saṃ-rābh-yā 'surrounding oneself with', ni-rūdh-yā 'having restrained', abhi-vṛt-yā 'having overcome' and ā-vṛt-yā 'causing to roll towards', abhi-ūlḡ-yā 'pursuing', ni-śād-yā 'having sat down', vi-sāh-yā 'having conquered', ava-sā-yā 'having unyoked', saṃ-hā-yā 'preparing oneself' (hā- 'go'). Compounds formed with adverbs are: punar-dā-yā 'giving back', mitha-sṛḡdh-yā 'vying together'; and with nouns, karna-gṛh-yā 'seizing by the ear', pāda-gṛh-yā 'grasping by the foot', hasta-gṛh-yā 'grasping by the hand'.

⁵ On the gerund in -ya cp. NEISSER, BB. 30, 308—311.

⁶ -yū-yā is also compounded with ni- and vi-.

The additional roots thus compounded in the AV. are: ud-ih-ya 'having carried up', ā-krām-ya 'stepping into' and pari-krām-ya 'striding about', saṃ-gīr-ya 'swallowing up', *saṃ-gīh-ya*¹ 'having grasped'², vi-cchid-ya 'having cut asunder', upa-dād-ya 'putting in' (dā- 'give')³, abhi-dhā-ya 'encircling', vi-dhū-ya 'shaking off', parā-nī-ya 'leading away', ā-pād-ya 'arriving at' and pra-pād-ya 'going forward', saṃ-pā-ya 'drinking up', vi-bhāṣ-ya 'having apportioned', (caus. of √bhaṣ-), saṃ-bhā-ya 'combining', nī-māji-ya 'having immersed' (√māji-), apa-mā-ya 'having measured off'⁴, apa-mij-ya 'having wiped off', saṃ-rābh-ya 'taking hold together', ā-rūh-ya 'ascending', saṃ-līp-ya 'having torn up's, upa-viś-ya 'sitting down', pari-viś-ya 'attending upon', saṃ-śī-ya 'sharpening', ā-sād-ya 'sitting upon' and nī-sād-ya 'sitting down', saṃ-sic-ya 'having poured together', apa-sidh-ya 'driving away', saṃ-siv-ya 'having sewed', nīh-sfp-ya 'having crept out', ati-śīhā-ya 'excelling', prati-śīhā-ya 'standing firm', ut-thā-ya 'arising'. From the VS.: nī-śīr-ya (xvi. 13) 'having broken off', saṃ-sfj-ya (xi. 53) 'having mingled', ati-hā-ya (xxv. 43) 'having missed'.

b. Roots which end in a short vowel, either originally or after losing a nasal, add -tyā (nearly always in RV.) or -tya instead of -yā, when compounded. The following gerunds are thus formed in the RV.: -i-tyā 'having gone' with api-, abhi- and ā-, -i-tya with abhi- and prati-; ā-gā-tyā 'having come' (√gam-), ā-dī-tyā 'regarding', ā-bhī-tyā 'bringing', vi-hā-tyā 'having driven away' (√han-); and with adverbial prefixes aram-kī-tyā 'having made ready', akhhāṭi-kī-tya 'shouting'. From the Khilas: aty-ā-hi-tya (iv. 5²⁹).

The AV. has the following gerunds from nine additional roots nir-ī-tya 'separating' (P)⁵, abhi-jī-tya 'having conquered', and saṃ-jī-tya 'having wholly conquered', ā-tā-tya 'having expanded', apa-mī-tya 'having borrowed' (√mā-), ud-yā-tya 'lifting up', pra-ā-vr-tya 'having enveloped', upa-śrī-tya 'having overheard', ud-dhī-tya 'having taken up' (√hr-); also in composition with a substantive: namas-kī-tya. The VS. has upa-stū-tya (xxi. 46) 'having invoked' and pra-stū-tya (xxi. 46) 'having lauded'.

VIII. INDECLINABLES.

1. Prepositions.

BENFEY, Vollständige Grammatik 241 and 784. — BRUGMANN, KG. p. 457—480. — J. S. SPEIJER, Vedische und Sanskrit-Syntax, Grundriss I. 6, 87.

592. Two classes of prepositions are to be distinguished. The first class embraces the genuine or adverbial prepositions. These are words with a local sense which, being primarily used to modify the meaning of verbs, came to be connected independently with the cases governed by the verbs thus modified. They show no signs of derivation from inflexional forms or (except tīrās and purās) forms made with adverbial suffixes. The second class embraces what may be called adnominal prepositions. These are words which are not compounded with verbs, but govern cases only. As regards form, they almost invariably end in case terminations or adverbial suffixes.

² The gerund ā-ghrā-ya (AV. xix. 85), the reading of the text, is not found in the Mss. and is doubtless wrong; cp. WHITNEY's Index Verborum.

³ From the present base of √dā-, cp. WHITNEY 992 a.

⁴ apa-mā-ya is a conjectural reading.

⁵ V. NEGELEIN 92 gives -vidh-ya (√vyadh-) and -sus-ya as occurring in the AV., but they are not to be found in WHITNEY's Index Verborum.

⁶ See note on AV. x. 2² in WHITNEY's Translation.

⁷ Conjectural reading in AV. xx. 136³; see WHITNEY's Index Verborum.

A. Adverbial Prepositions.

593. Of the twenty-two included in this class¹, eight are never used adnominally, viz. *āpa*² 'away'; ūd 'up', 'out'; nī 'down', 'into'; nīs 'out'; pārā 'away'; prā 'forth'; vī 'asunder' (often = 'dis-', 'away'); *sām*³ 'together'⁴. Three others, for the most part employed adnominally, are restricted in their adverbial use to combination with particular verbs, viz. āccha 'towards', tīrās 'across', purās 'before'. The remaining eleven, being employed both adverbially and adnominally, are: āti 'beyond'; ādhi 'upon'; ānu 'after'; antār 'within'; āpi 'on'; abhi 'against'; āva 'down'; ā 'near'; ūpa 'up to'; pāri 'around'; prāti 'towards'.

a. When combined with verbs⁵ these prepositions are not compounded in the principal sentence⁶. Generally speaking, they immediately precede the verb; but they are also often separated from it, e. g. ā tvā viśantu (I. 5⁷) 'may they enter thee'. Occasionally the preposition follows the verb, e. g. indro gā avṛṇod āpa (VIII. 63³) 'Indra disclosed the cows'. Two prepositions are not infrequently combined with the verb⁷; no certain instances of three being thus used can be quoted from the RV., though a few such instances occur in the AV.⁸ On the other hand, a preposition sometimes appears quite alone⁹; the verb 'to be', or some other verb commonly connected with it, can then be supplied without difficulty; e. g. ā tū na indra (I. 10¹¹) 'hither, pray, (come) to us, Indra'. Or the preposition appears without the verb in one part of the sentence, but with it in another; e. g. pāri mān, pāri me prajām, pāri naḥ pāhi yād dhānam (AV. II. 7⁴) 'protect me, protect my progeny, protect what wealth (is) ours'. As the verb normally stands at the end of the sentence, the preposition would naturally come after the object. Hence as a rule it follows the noun governed by the verb (though it is also often found preceding the noun). Primarily used to define the local direction expressed by the verb which governs a case, prepositions gradually became connected with particular cases. In the RV. it is still often uncertain whether the adverbial or the adnominal sense is intended. Thus dāśvāṃsam ūpa gacchatam (I. 47³) may mean either 'do ye two go-to the pious man' or 'do ye two go to-the pious man'. When used adnominally the preposition only

² On the relation of āpa, āpi, ūpa, nī, pāri to corresponding Greek prepositions see J. SCHMIDT, KZ. 26, 21 ff.

³ sām seems in a few passages to have attained an independent prepositional use with the instrumental: sām uśādbhiḥ (I. 6³), sām pātūbhiḥ (II. 16⁸), sām īkvaabhiḥ (VIII. 97¹²), sām jyōtiṣā jyōtiḥ (VS. II. 9), sām āyuṣā (TS. I. 1. 102²); but in all these examples the case perhaps depends on the compound sense of the verb. BR. do not recognize the prepositional use, cp. DELBRÜCK p. 459; on the other hand, see GRASSMANN s. v. sām and WHITNEY 1127. sām is used with the inst. in Kh. I. 47.

⁴ The adverbs avis and prādūr 'in view' are used with Vas-, Vbhū- and Vkr- only.

⁵ Though a certain number of verbs are never actually met with in the RV. and AV. in combination with prepositions (cp. DELBRÜCK p. 433), there can be little doubt that practically all verbs except denominatives were capable of combining with prepositions. On the other hand, some verbs occur only in combination with prepositions (DELBRÜCK, loc. cit.).

⁶ āccha, tīrās, purās seem never to be compounded with the verb even in dependent clauses; see DELBRÜCK p. 469 (mid.).

⁷ When there are two, pārā always immediately precedes the verb; ā and āva nearly always; ūd, nī, prā usually. On the other hand, abhi is all but invariably the first of the two; ādhi and ānu are nearly always so, ūpa and prāti usually; cp. DELBRÜCK 234.

⁸ Cp. DELBRÜCK 235. Three prepositions combined with a verb are common in B.; the last is then almost invariably ā or āva.

⁹ On the elliptical imperative use of prepositions cp. FISCHER, VS. I. 13, 19f.; BRUGMANN, IF. 18, 128; DELBRÜCK, Vergleichende Syntax 3, 122 f.

defines the local meaning of the case. It cannot be said to 'govern' the case, except perhaps when ā 'up to' or purās 'before' are connected with the ablative.

594. The fourteen genuine prepositions which are used adnominally are almost entirely restricted to employment with the accusative, locative, and ablative. Six are used with the accusative only, viz. accha, āti, ānu, abhi, prāti and tirās; one (āpi) with the locative only; one (dva) with the ablative only (and that very rarely).

The remaining six take the accusative and one or both of the other two cases: pāri takes the ablative also; ūpa the locative also; ādhi, antār, ā, purās take both the locative and the ablative also. The first two¹ of these six belong primarily to the sphere of the accusative, the last four to that of the locative. Thus it appears that the genuine prepositions were at the outset practically associated with these two cases only. The ablative came to be used secondarily with pāri in the sense of 'from (around)'; and similarly with locative prepositions, ādhi = 'from (upon)', antār = 'from (within)', ā = 'from (on)'. In all these, the sense of the ablative case combined with the original meaning of the preposition to form a new double notion. But in purās 'before' and in ā, when it means 'up to', which are both used before the case, the ablative sense has completely disappeared.

The following is a detailed account of the genuine prepositions in their alphabetical order.

accha 'towards'.

595. In combination with verbs of motion and of speaking², *accha*³ expresses direction in the sense of '(all the way) to'⁴. Used adnominally with the same meaning, it takes the accusative, which either precedes or follows. It is rare except in the RV.⁵ Examples of its use are: prā yātana sākṣm̐r acchā (I. 165¹³) 'proceed hither to your friends'; ūpa prāgāt .. acchā pitāram mātaram ca (I. 163¹³) 'he has come forward hither to his father and mother'; kām acchā yuñjāthe rātham (V. 74³) 'to (go to) whom do ye two yoke your car?'; acchā ca tvā.enā nāmasā vādāmasi (VIII. 21⁶) 'and to thee we speak with this devotion'; prēyām agād dhiśānā barhīr accha (TS. I. 1. 2¹ = MS. I. 1. 1² = K. I. 2) 'this bowl has come forward hither to the litter'.

āti 'beyond'.

596. Adverbially āti is frequently used in the sense of 'beyond', 'over', 'through', with verbs of motion. Whether it is used adnominally with these and cognate verbs is somewhat uncertain. There are, however, a few distinct instances of such use⁶ of āti in other connexions with the accusative; e. g. satām dāsām āti srājah (VIII. 56³) 'a hundred slaves (beyond =) in addition to garlands'; purvīr āti kṣāpah (X. 77²) 'through many nights'; kād asya-āti vratām cakrām (X. 12⁵) 'what have we done (beyond =) contrary

¹ In regard to ūpa the sense of 'motion to' seems to be the primary one; for it is used twice as often with the acc., and its position before the loc. is less primitive.

² It is once (VIII. 33¹³) also used with śru- 'hear' in the sense of 'listen to'.

³ The final a is short only at the end of a Pada and in I. 31¹⁷ and IX. 106²; otherwise always acchā.

⁴ In the SV, it is once used with the locative in the v. r. sādanēsu ācha for sādanāni ācha (RV. IX. 91¹).

⁵ It is used with over twenty roots in the RV. and with only two in the AV. (WHITNEY 1078). In the TS, it occurs with i- 'go' (IV. 1. 8¹; II. 2. 12³) and with vad- 'speak' (IV. 5. 12 = VS. XVI. 4).

⁶ The adnominal use survives through the Brāhmaṇas into the Mahābhārata.

to his ordinance?'; yó devó mártyaṃ āti (AV. XX. 127⁷) 'the god who (is) beyond mortals'.

ādhi 'upon'.

597. The general meaning of ādhi in its adverbial use is 'upon', e. g. ādhi gam 'come upon', then 'find out', 'learn'.

In adnominal use the proper sphere of ādhi is the locative, with which it is almost always connected. Here, however, there is sometimes an uncertainty whether the preposition belongs to the verb or the noun; e. g. nākasya pr̥sthē ādhi tiṣṭhati (I. 125⁵) 'he stands upon the ridge of the firmament'. When referring to a person ādhi means 'beside', 'with' (from the notion of wielding sway over); e. g. yán, nāsatyā, parāvāti yád vā shō ādhi turvāśe (I. 47⁷) 'when, O Nāsatyas, ye are at a distance or with Turvasa'.

a. From the locative the use of ādhi extended to the ablative, with which it is less frequently connected. It then primarily has the compound sense 'from upon'; e. g. ātaḥ ... ā gahi divó vā rocanūd ādhi (I. 69) 'thence come, or from the bright realm of heaven'. Often, however, the simple ablative meaning alone remains; e. g. hṛdayād ādhi (X. 163³) 'from the heart'; pluruṣād ādhi (VS. XXXII. 2) 'from Puruṣa'. A somewhat extended sense is occasionally found; e. g. yám ... kápva ṛdhá ṛtād ādhi (I. 36¹¹) 'whom Kapva kindled (proceeding from =) in accordance with sacred order'; mā pañir bhūr asmād ādhi (I. 33³) 'be not niggardly with regard to us'.

b. From the locative the use of ādhi further spread to the accusative, though in a very limited way, to express the sphere on or over which an action extends; e. g. pr̥thú prátikam ādhy édhe agnīḥ (VII. 36¹) 'Agni has been kindled over the broad surface'. Otherwise, when taking the accusative in the sense of 'upon' with verbs of motion, ādhi nearly always belongs to the verb.

a. In the RV. only, ādhi is used seven times with the (following) instrumental singular or plural of snú- 'height', to express motion along and over = 'across'; e. g. cakráṃ ... ādhi ṣṇinā byhatā vārtamānam (IV. 28²) 'the wheel rolling across the mighty height'. This is probably to be explained as the instrumental of the space (by =) through which motion takes place (e. g. vāto antárikṣeṇa yāti 'the wind goes through the air', I. 161¹⁴), the preposition that regularly means 'upon' being added to define the action as taking place 'over' as well as 'along'. The VS. has the regular locative of snú- with ādhi: pr̥thivyā ādhi snúsu (XVII. 14) 'on the heights of the earth'.

598. In its adverbial use ānu primarily means 'after', e. g. ānu i- 'go after', 'follow'; from this fundamental sense are developed various modifications such as 'along', 'through'.

In its adnominal use ānu takes the accusative only. When the influence of the verb is still felt, it means 'after', 'along', 'throughout'; e. g. pārā me yanti dhītāyo gāvo ná gāvayūtir ānu (I. 25¹⁶) 'my prayers go abroad like kine (seeking) after pastures'; īpa prā yanti dhītāyaḥ ṛtāsyā pathyā ānu (III. 12⁷) 'forth go my prayers along the paths of sacred order'; yāt pāñca mānuṣām ānu nṛmṇām (VIII. 9²) 'the might which (exists) throughout the five peoples'; similarly pr̥thivīm ānu (VS. XIII. 6) 'throughout the earth', vānaspātīnir ānu (VS. XIII. 7) 'in all trees', pradīśo 'nu (VS. XXXII. 4) 'throughout the regions'.

When used in closer connexion with nouns ānu expresses:

a. sequence in time: 'after' or (with plurals) 'throughout'; e. g. pūrvām ānu prāyatim (I. 126⁵) 'after the first presentment'; ānu dyūn 'throughout the days' = 'day after day'.

b. conformity: 'after' = 'in accordance with'; e. g. svām ānu vraitām (I. 128¹) 'according to his own ordinance'; amṛtām ānu (VS. IV. 28) 'after the manner of immortals'; ānu jīṣam (TS. I. I. 13² = VS. II. 17) 'for (= to suit) thy enjoyment'. This is the commoner independent use.

antār 'between'.

599. In its adverbial use, which is not frequent, antār means 'between', 'within', 'into'; e. g. antās car- 'move between or within'; antāḥ pās- 'look into'; antār gā- 'go between', 'separate'; antar-vidvān 'knowing (the difference) between', 'distinguishing'.

The fundamental and by far the most frequent adnominal use of antār is connected with the locative in the sense of 'within', 'among'; e. g. antāḥ samudrē 'within the ocean'; apsi-antār 'within the waters'; antār devēṣu 'among the gods'; gārbhe antāḥ (VS. XXXII. 4) 'within the womb'; mātṛtamāsu antāḥ (TS. I. 8. 12² = VS. x. 7) 'in the best of mothers'.

a. From the locative its use extends in a few instances to the ablative in the sense of 'from within'; e. g. antār āsmanāḥ 'from within the rock'; eṣā yayau paramād antāḥ ādreh (IX. 87⁸) 'it has come from the highest stone'.

b. From the locative its use further extends, in several instances, to the accusative, in the sense of 'between' (expressing both motion and rest), generally in connexion with duals or two classes of objects; e. g. mahān sadhāsthe dhruvā ā niṣatto 'ntār dyāvā (III. 6⁴) 'the great one who has sat down in the firm seat between the two worlds'; Indra it somapā ēkaḥ ... antār devān mārtyāṃs ca (VIII. 2⁴) 'Indra is the one Soma-drinker (between =) among gods and mortals'.

āpi 'upon'.

600. In its adverbial use with verbs of motion āpi generally means 'into', e. g. āpi gam- 'go into', 'enter'; but this sense assumes various modifications which may be expressed by 'on', 'over', 'up'; e. g. āpi dhā- 'put upon', 'close up'; āpi nah- 'tie up'; āpi-ripta- 'smeared over' = 'blind'.

In its adnominal use, which is rare, āpi is connected with the locative only. It then has the sense of 'on'; e. g. ayām, agne, tvē āpi yān yajñān cakṛmā vayām (II. 5⁸) 'this (is), O Agni, the sacrifice which we have offered on thee'.

abhi 'towards'.

601. In its adverbial use abhi means 'towards' with verbs of motion, e. g. abhi dru- 'run towards'; it further commonly makes verbs of action transitive, e. g. kṛand- 'roar': abhi kṛand- 'roar at'; it also sometimes, especially with bhū- 'be', comes to have the sense of superiority: abhi bhū- 'overcome'.

The adnominal use of abhi is fairly frequent, though in many individual instances difficult to distinguish from its adverbial use. It is connected with the accusative only, in the sense of 'to'; e. g. id irṣva nārī abhi jīvalokām (x. 18⁸) 'Arise, O woman, to the world of the living'. The sense of 'over' (implying dominion), abstracted from one of its secondary adverbial uses, is occasionally found; e. g. viśvā yās carṣaṇīr abhi (I. 86⁵) 'who (is) over all men'.

* In the later language antār is not infrequently used with the genitive (as well as the locative). An example of this occurs as early as VS. XL. 5 (= Iṣa Upaniṣad 5): tād antār aśya sārvasya, tād u sārvasya aśya bāhyatāḥ 'it is within this all and it is without this all'.

* The adverb āpi begins to be employed secondarily in the RV. (though rarely) as a conjunctive particle meaning 'also'; cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 588, 5.

āva 'down'.

602. In its adverbial use, āva generally means 'down'. e. g. āva gam- 'come down'; but it has also the extended sense of 'away', 'off', e. g. āva syj- 'discharge'.

In its adnominal use, which is very rare and doubtful, it is connected with the ablative in the sense of 'down from'. In the following two examples, especially the second, the case seems to be directly dependent on the preposition: vr̥ṣṭim āva divā invatam (VII. 64²) 'send rain down from heaven'; yé te pánthāno āva diváh (AV. VII. 55¹) 'which (are) thy paths down from the sky'¹.

ā 'near'.

603. The adverbial use of ā with verbs expressing either physical or mental motion is very common in the sense of 'near', 'hither', 'towards', 'to', 'upon'; e. g. ā aj- 'drive hither'; ā krand- 'cry to'; ā dhī- 'think upon', 'attend to'. Less commonly, when used with verbs expressing rest or occurrence, it means 'in' or 'at'; e. g. ā kṣi- 'dwell in', ā jan- 'be born at' a place.

When used adnominally, ā regularly follows the case, excepting only one sense of the ablative. It is primarily and most commonly connected with the locative, when it has the sense of 'on', 'in', 'at', 'to'; e. g. upāstha ā 'on the lap'; dadhūṣ tvā bhṛgavo mānuṣeṣu ā (I. 58⁶) 'the Bhṛgu brought thee to men'.

a. From the locative its use extended to the ablative, with which it is used fairly often. It is generally used after this case, when it primarily has the compound sense of 'from on' (cp. ādhi); e. g. parvatād ā 'from (on) the mountain'. It also means, secondarily, 'away from'; e. g. yás cid dhī tvā bahūbhya ā sutōvām avivāsati (I. 84⁹) 'who entices thee away from many (others) with his Soma draught'. This secondary meaning is sometimes further extended to express preference; e. g. yás te sakhībhyā ā vāram (I. 4¹) 'who is a boon to thee (in distinction) from friends', i. e. 'who is better to thee than friends'.

a. In about a dozen instances in the RV., ā is used before the ablative to express 'up to'²; e. g. yatī girībhyā ā samudrāt (VII. 95²) 'going from the mountains up to the sea'; ā nimrīcaḥ (I. 161¹⁰) 'till sunset'³. This reversal of meaning is probably due to the reversal of the natural order of the words: samudrād ā 'from the sea' thus becoming ā samudrāt 'to the sea'.

b. The use of ā is further extended to the accusative, with which it is least frequently connected, generally meaning 'to', 'upon', to express the goal with verbs of motion; e. g. antār iyase . . yuṣmāṁs ca devān viśa ā ca mātān (IV. 2³) 'thou goest mediating to you, the gods, and to the people, the mortals'; mātārā śidatām barhīr ā (I. 142⁷) 'may the two mothers seat themselves upon the litter'; ēhy ā naḥ (AV. II. 5¹) 'come hither to us'; devānām vakṣi priyām ā sadhāstham (TS. V. I. 11¹ = VS. XXIX. 1) 'bring (it) to the dear abode of the gods'. In closer connexion with nouns, ā is used to express purpose in the phrases jōṣam ā 'for enjoyment', and vāram ā 'for pleasure'.

604. In its adverbial use ūpa is in sense akin to abhi and ā, expressing 'near to'; e. g. ūpa gam- 'go near to'. The fundamental meaning of close

² With very few exceptions this is the only use of ā to be found in B.; in C. also ā is found only before the ablative, but with the old sense of 'from' as well as 'up to'.

³ It is occasionally found after the ablative in this sense; see GRASSMANN s. v. ā.

contiguity is often coupled with the idea of subordination or inferiority; e. g. ūpa sad- 'sit down close to', 'approach reverentially'; ūpa ās- 'sit under', 'adore'.

In its adnominal use ūpa is most frequently connected with the accusative (which it more often precedes than follows) in the sense of 'to'; e. g. ā yāhi . . ūpa brāhmāṇi vāghātaḥ (I. 3⁵) 'come to the prayers of the worshipper'.

a. It is also used (about half as frequently in the RV.) before the locative in the sense of 'beside', 'upon', 'at': yā ūpa sūrye (I. 23¹⁷) 'who (are) beside the sun'; ūpa dyāvi ('upon =') up to the sky' (from below); ūpa jmaṇni ūpa vetasē āva tara (VS. XVII. 6 = MS. II. 10¹) 'descend upon the earth, upon the reed'.

α. Quite exceptionally (only three times) ūpa occurs in the RV. with the (following) instrumental. In two passages it expresses sequence of time in the phrase ūpa dyūbhis (V. 53³; VIII. 40⁸) 'day by day'. Once it expresses conformity: yāsmāi viṣṇus triṇi padā vicakramā ūpa mitrāsya dhārmabhiḥ (Val. IV. 3³) 'for whom Viṣṇu strode forth his three steps in accordance with the ordinances of Mitra'. These abnormal senses of ūpa are parallel to those of ānu (598 a, b), and the construction to that of ādhi (597 a).

tirās 'across'.

605. Adverbially tirās is used in the sense of 'aside', but only with the two verbs dhā- 'put' and bhū- 'be', in the Samhitās; thus tirō dhā- 'put aside', 'conceal'; tirō bhū- 'disappear'; e. g. ajakāvāṇ tirō dadhe (VII. 50¹) 'I put away the scorpion'; mā tirō bhūt (AV. VIII. 17¹) 'may it not disappear'.

Adnominally tirās is used fairly often in the RV., and a few times in the AV., in the sense of 'across', 'over', 'through', 'past', with (nearly always before) the accusative²; e. g. ā yē tanvānti raśmībhis tirāḥ samudrām (I. 19³) 'who spread with their rays across the ocean'; nāyanti duritā tirāḥ (I. 41³) 'they lead him through (so as to escape) dangers'; tirō viśvām ārcato yāhy arvān (X. 89¹⁶) 'come hither past (leaving behind) all singers'.

a. Figuratively tirās occasionally means 'contrary to'; e. g. devānām cit tirō vāsam (X. 171⁴) 'even against the will of the gods'; yō no . . tirās cittāni jighāṃsati (VII. 59⁸) 'who desires to slay us contrary to expectations' (= 'un-awares'), yō no . . tirāḥ satyāni . . jighāṃsāt (TS. IV. 3. 13³) 'who may desire to slay us contrary to oaths'.

pāri 'around'.

606. In its adverbial use pāri generally means 'around', e. g. pāri i- 'go around'; figuratively it also means 'completely', e. g. pāri vid- 'know fully' (cp. πέρι οἶδς).

Its adnominal use starts from the accusative, with which case it is, however, not very commonly connected. Here, too, it is not always certain that the preposition does not belong to the verb. It nearly always immediately precedes the accusative in the sense of 'around', 'about'; e. g. pāri dyām anyād iyate (I. 30¹⁹) 'the other (wheel) goes around the sky'. The following is one of the two instances in which pāri comes after the accusative³: havāmahe śraddhām madhyāṃdinam pāri (X. 151⁵) 'we invoke Śraddhā (about =) at noon'⁴.

a. Its use then extends to the ablative, with which it is much more frequently connected. Here it has primarily the compound sense of 'from around'; e. g. divās pāri (I. 47⁶) 'from the sky (which is) around'; tāmasas pāri (I. 50¹⁰) 'from the surrounding darkness'. The original meaning (as in ² In the ŚB. and later tirās is used with kr- 'do' also.

³ It is found at least once in the AV. (XII. 3³⁹) and occasionally in the ŚB. in the sense of 'away from' = 'without the knowledge of'.

⁴ Cp. GRASSMANN, s. v. pāri, 784 (bottom).

⁵ Like the German preposition 'um'.

ādhi) then disappears, leaving only the ablative sense 'from'; e. g. tvām adbhyaś tvām āśmanas pāri .. jāyase (II. 1¹) 'thou art born from the waters, from the rock'.

purās 'before'.

607. Adverbially purās is combined with kr- 'do', and dhā- 'put' only, in the sense of 'in front'; e. g. Indraś kṛnotu prasavaṁ rathīm purāḥ (I. 102⁹) 'may Indra place (our) car in front in the enterprise'; Indraṁ viśve devāso dadhire purāḥ (I. 131¹) 'the all-gods placed Indra in the forefront'.

Adnominally purās occurs about nine times in the RV., in the sense of 'before' and connected with the accusative, the ablative, and the locative; e. g. āsadan mātṛam purāḥ (X. 189¹) 'he has sat down before his mother'; nā gardabhām purō āsvān nayanti (III. 53²) 'they do not place the ass before the horse' (āsvān); yāḥ sṛñjaye purō .. samidhyāte (IV. 15⁴) 'who is kindled before Sṛñjaya'.

608. Used adverbially prāti means 'towards', 'against', e. g. prāti i- 'go towards or against'; prāti mā- 'counterfeit', 'imitate'. From this sense the notion of equality was developed, as in prāti as- 'be a match for'; e. g. Indra, nākiś tvā prāty asty eśām, viśvā jātāny abhy āsi tāni (VI. 25⁵) 'O Indra, none of them is equal to thee; thou art superior to all these beings'. The verb as- often being omitted, prāti appears to be used like an adjective; e. g. Indraṁ nā mahā prthivī ca nā prāti (I. 55¹) 'not even the earth (is) equal to Indra in greatness'. The preposition further comes to express adverbially the sense of 'back'; e. g. prāti ūh- 'thrust back'; prāti brā- 'reply'.

Adnominally prāti is used with the accusative only, altogether about a dozen times in the RV. With verbs of motion² or of calling it means 'towards', 'to' (though here there is sometimes a doubt whether it does not rather belong to the verb); e. g. prāti tyāṁ cārum adhvaram gopithāya prā hūyase (I. 19¹) 'thou art summoned to the beloved sacrifice to drink the milk'. With verbs of protecting it means 'against' = 'from'; e. g. āgne rākṣā no āmhasaḥ, prāti śma, deva, rīṣataḥ (VII. 15¹³) 'O Agni, protect us from distress, against injurers, O god'. Sometimes it means 'over against', 'opposite'; e. g. ābodhy agnīḥ .. prāti .. āyatīm usāsam (V. 1¹) 'Agni has awakened in face of the coming Dawn'. It expresses conformity in the phrase prāti vāram 'according to desire' (cp. ānu b, ūpa a, a).

a. In the phrase prāti vāstoh 'at dawn', occurring three times in the RV., the preposition seems to take the ablative, but vāstoh may here be meant for an adverbial form³.

B. Adnominal Prepositions.

609. This class of words which is never compounded with verbs, but only governs oblique cases (with the exception of the dative), cannot be clearly distinguished from adverbs such as ūrdhvām (which from B. onwards is also used as a preposition with the ablative in the sense of 'above' and 'after'). It is to be noted that several of them govern the genitive and the instrumental, cases practically never connected with the genuine prepositions in the Samhitās. The following is an account of these words arranged in their alphabetical order⁴.

¹ Both abhi and prāti primarily express direction 'towards', but the former tends to imply superiority or attack ('at'), the latter comparison and equality or repulsion ('back').

² In B. prāti is regularly used after the accusative, though apparently never connected with verbs of motion: here it expresses approximate position = 'about', 'at', 'on'; it also means 'in regard to', 'in equality with'.

³ Cp. BR., and DELBRÜCK p. 463.

⁴ Though several of these (avās, āri, parās, sacc, sanitūr, sanulār, samāyā, sumād, adhās 'below'.

610. With the accusative adhās occurs only once in the RV., in the sense of 'below': tisrāḥ pṛthivīr adhó astu (VII. 104¹¹) 'may he be below the three earths'. It is also found once with the ablative (or genitive) in the same sense: adháḥ . . padīḥ (X. 166²) 'below (my) feet'. The latter use also occurs once in the SV. and once in the AV.: yé te pánthā adhó divāḥ (SV. 1. 2. 2. 3⁸) 'thy paths which are below the sky'; adhās te ásmāno manyīm āpāsyaṃsi yó gurīḥ (AV. VI. 42³) 'we cast thy fury under a stone that (is) heavy'.

antarā 'between'.

611. This word occurs five times in the RV. with a following accusative in the sense of 'between', e. g. antarā dāmpatī 'between husband and wife'. It also occurs a few times in the AV. and VS. before duals; e. g. antarā dyāvāpṛthivī 'between heaven and earth'.

abhitās 'around'.

612. This adverb is employed in a few passages of the RV. and AV. in the sense of 'around' with the accusative; e. g. sáro ná pūrṇám abhito vādantaḥ (VII. 103⁷) 'talking as round a brimful lake'; yé devā rāṣirabhiṭo 'bhito yānti sūryam (AV. XIII. 13⁵) 'the kingdom-bearing gods who go around the sun'.

avās 'down from'.

613. In the RV. avās occurs four times with the ablative (cp. áva) in the sense of 'down from'; e. g. avāḥ sūryasya bṛhatāḥ pūrīṣāt (X. 27²¹) 'down from the vast misty region of the sun'. It is further employed four or five times with the instrumental; e. g. avó divā patáyantam patamgám (I. 163⁵) 'a bird flying down from heaven'. The latter use seems to be analogous to that of ádhi with the instrumental (597 α).

upāri 'above'.

614. This adverb occurs three times in the RV. after the accusative in the sense of 'above', 'beyond'; e. g. tisrāḥ pṛthivīr upāri (I. 34⁸) 'above the three earths'. It is also found once with the instrumental in the combination bhūmyopāri, i. e. bhūmyā upāri (X. 75³) 'beyond the earth'. It is, however, more likely that here we have an irregular euphonic combination for *bhūmyā[ḥ] upāri*¹ and that the case governed by the preposition is the genitive. This would account for the frequent use of upāri with the genitive in the later language, while the instrumental would be unique.

rté 'without'.

615. This word² is used fairly often in the RV., and occasionally in the later Samhitās, before or after the ablative (sometimes separated from it) in the sense of 'without'; e. g. ná rté tvát kriyate kim canā (X. 112⁹) 'without thee nothing is done'; yébhyo ná 'rté pávate dhāma kim canā (TS. IV. 6. 1⁴ = VS. XVII. 14) 'without whom no dwelling is purified'.

smād) disappear in C., there is nevertheless in the later language a large increase in their numbers, greatly supplemented by the periphrastic use of nouns and by the prepositional gerunds. Cp. SPEIJER, Vedische und Sanskrit-Syntax 89—93.

² In origin an old locative. On some other words representing old case-forms, used prepositionally (arvāḥ etc.), cp. WHITNEY 1128.

parás 'beyond'.

616. In the RV. parás is used with the accusative, instrumental, ablative, and locative; but in the later Samhitās it seems to be found with the ablative only.

a. It takes the accusative six or seven times in the sense of 'beyond', not only locally, but also to express superiority or excess; e. g. úti sūryam parāḥ śakunā iva paptima (IX. 107²⁰) 'we have flown away like birds beyond the sun'; naḥ devō nā mārtyo mahās tēva krātum parāḥ (I. 19²) 'for neither god nor mortal (goes) beyond the might of thee, the great'.

b. It is employed nearly three times as frequently with the instrumental, for the most part in the sense of 'beyond'; e. g. paró mātrayā (VII. 99¹) 'beyond measure'. In some passages this sense is somewhat modified. Thus the word twice means 'over' (as opposed to avās); e. g. yás te amśír avās ca yáḥ parāḥ sruçā (X. 17¹³) 'thy juice which (fell) down from and over the ladle'. Twice, moreover, it expresses 'without'; e. g. paró māyābhis (V. 44²) 'without wiles'.

c. With the locative it occurs only once in the sense of 'beyond': yó triṃśīti trāyas paró devāso barhīr āsadan (VIII. 28¹) 'the gods who, three in excess of thirty, have seated themselves upon the litter'.

d. It is found in three passages of the RV., as well as a few times in the AV. and the VS., with the ablative in the senses of 'beyond', far 'from', and 'away from'; e. g. paró divāḥ (AV. IX. 4²²) 'beyond the sky'; asmāt . . parāḥ (VIII. 27¹⁸) 'far from him'; tvāt parāḥ (AV. XII. 3³⁹) 'apart from thee'; paró mūjavatś 'tīhi (VS. III. 61) 'go away beyond (Mount) Mūjavat'. The last example may probably be an instance of the accusative with parás = 'beyond (the tribe of) the Mūjavants'.

purástād 'in front of'.

617. This adverb is used two or three times in the Samhitās with the genitive in the sense of 'before', 'in front of'; e. g. sámiddhasya purástāt (III. 8²) 'in front of the kindled one'; vājah purástād utā madhyatō naḥ (TS. IV. 7. 12² = VS. XVIII. 34) 'strength be before us and in the midst of us'.

purā 'before' (time).

In the RV. purā is used some twenty times, and in the later Samhitās occasionally, before or after the ablative. It has primarily the sense of 'before' (of time); e. g. purā nū jarāsaḥ (VIII. 67²⁰) 'before old age'; purā krūrāsyā viśfpaḥ (TS. I. 1. 9³ = VS. I. 28) 'before the departure of the cruel (foe)'. This sense is, however, often modified to express exclusion, sometimes equivalent to 'without', 'except', 'in preference to', e. g. purā sambādhdā abhy ā vavṛtsva (II. 16⁸) 'turn to us before (= so as to save us from) distress'; purā māt (AV. XII. 3⁴⁶) 'except me'.

bahirdhā 'outside'.

618. This adverb² is once used in the VS. with the ablative in the sense of 'outside', 'from': idām akāṁ taptām vār bahirdhā yajñān nīsrjāmi (VS. V. 11) 'this heated water I eject from the sacrifice'.

sacā 'with'.

619. The use of sacā is almost restricted to the RV., where it is common before and after the locative, meaning 'in association with', 'beside', 'at',

¹ The word mūjavant- occurs in the plural as the name of a tribe in AV. V. 22⁵ etc.

² It is used fairly often in B. and S. The simple form bahis 'outside' (used also with abl.) is frequent in B. and later.

'in'; e. g. indra id dhāryoḥ śacā (I. 7²) 'Indra with his two bays'; māddyasva sutā śacā (I. 81⁸) 'rejoice at the pressed libation'; nāmucāv āsuré śacā (VS. xx. 68) 'along with the demoniac Namuci'¹.

sanitūr 'apart from'.

620. This adverb is used two or three times² in the RV. after the accusative in the sense of 'beside', 'apart from'; e. g. pātiṃ sanitūr (V. 12³) 'without a lord'.

sanūtār 'far from'.

621. Allied to the preceding word, sanūtār appears once in the RV. with the ablative in the sense of 'far away from': kṣétrād apaśyaṃ sanūtās cārantam (V. 2⁴) 'far from the field I saw him wandering'.

sahá 'with'.

622. This adverb is common in the RV. as well as the later Saṃhitās, before and after the instrumental in the sense of 'with'; e. g. sahá ṛṣibhiḥ (I. 23⁴) 'together with the seers'; jarāyupā sahá (VS. VIII. 28) 'with the after-birth'; sahá pátvā (TS. I. I. 10²) 'with (my) husband'; mānasā sahá (AV. I. 1²) 'together with divine mind'.

sākām 'with'.

623. In the same sense as, but less frequently than, sahá, the adverb *sākām*³ is used before and after the instrumental; e. g. sākām sūryasya raśmībhiḥ (I. 47⁷) 'together with the rays of the sun'; sākām gan mānasā yajñām (VS. XXVII. 31) 'may he come with thought to the sacrifice'; sākām jarāyupā pata (AV. I. 11⁶) 'fly with the afterbirth'.

sumád 'with'.

624. This word occurs four times as an adverb⁴ in the RV. with the sense of 'together'. It is found once governing the instrumental in the sense of 'with': jāyā pātiṃ vahati vagnínā sumát (X. 32³) 'the wife weds the husband with a shout of joy'.

smád 'with'.

625. Besides being used adverbially some half dozen times in the RV. with the sense of 'together', 'at the same time', *smád*⁵ also occurs about as often with the instrumental, meaning 'with'; e. g. smát sūribhiḥ (I. 51¹⁵) 'together with the princes'.

2. Adverbs.

GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch 1737—1740. — WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 1097—1117.

626. Adverbs are most conveniently grouped as those which are formed with adverbial suffixes and those which are formed with case-endings. The former class may be best described according to the suffixes alphabetically arranged, the latter according to the ordinary sequence of the cases.

¹ Though not found in the AV., śacā survives in the TB. (I. 2. 18).

² Cp. BR. and GRASSMANN, s. v.

³ On other adverbs of similar meaning, with case-endings (saṁāyā, sarātham) used prepositionally, see WHITNEY 1127.

⁴ sumád also appears as the first member of a compound in sumád-aṁśu-, sumád-gaṇa-, sumád-ratha-.

⁵ smád also appears as the first member of six or seven compounds.

A. Adverbial suffixes.

627. -as forms adverbs chiefly of a local or temporal meaning; thus tir-ás 'across', par-ás 'beyond', pur-ás 'before', sa-div-as and sa-dy-ás 'to-day', 'at once'; śv-ás 'to-morrow', hy-ás 'yesterday'; also mith-ás 'wrongly'.

628. -tas expresses the ablative sense of 'from'. It forms adverbs:

a. from pronouns; e. g. á-tas 'hence', amú-tas 'from there', kú-tas 'whence?', tá-tas 'thence', yá-tas 'whence', and, with accent on the suffix, i-tás 'from hence', mat-tás (AV.) 'from me'.

b. from adjectives and substantives; e. g. anyá-tas 'from another place', dakṣiṇa-tás 'from the right', sarvā-tas 'from all sides'; agra-tás 'in front', hṛt-tás 'from the heart', etc.; the suffix is added to a locative case-form in patsu-tás 'at the feet', beside pat-tás 'from the feet'.

c. from prepositions: ánti-tas 'from near', abhi-tas 'around', pari-tas (AV.) 'round about'.

a. These adverbs in -tas are sometimes used as equivalents of ablatives; e. g. áto bhūyas 'more than that'; tátaḥ ṣaṣṭhī (AV.) 'from that sixth'. On the other hand, the ablative sense is sometimes effaced, the locative meaning taking its place; e. g. agra-tás 'in front'.

629. -tāt (an old ablative of ta- 'this')^{*} has an ablative or a locative meaning. It is attached to adverbial case-forms and adverbial or adnominal prepositions; thus údak-tāt 'from above', prāk-tāt 'from the front'; ārāt-tāt 'from afar', uttarāt-tāt 'from the north', parākāt-tāt 'from a distance'; pañcā-tāt 'from behind'; adhás-tāt 'below', avás-tāt 'below', parás-tāt 'beyond', purás-tāt 'in or from the front', and with inserted s (probably due to the influence of the preceding forms) upári-s-tāt '(from) above'.

630. -ti in án-ti 'near', i-ti 'thus'; probably also in á-ti 'beyond', prá-ti 'towards'.

631. -tra or -trā has a local sense, and is mostly attached to pronominal stems or stems allied to pronouns in sense; thus á-tra 'here', amú-tra (AV.) 'there', kú-tra 'where?', tá-tra 'there', yá-tra 'where'; anyá-tra 'elsewhere', ubhayá-tra 'in both places', viśvā-tra 'everywhere'; asma-trā 'among us', sa-trā 'in one place', 'together'; dakṣiṇa-trā 'on the right side', puru-trā 'in many places', bahu-trā 'amongst many'; deva-trā 'among the gods', pāka-trā 'in simplicity', puruṣa-trā 'among men', martya-trā 'among mortals', śayu-trā 'on a couch'.

a. These adverbs in -trā are sometimes used as equivalents of locatives; e. g. yātrādhī 'in which', hāsta á dakṣiṇa-trā 'in the right hand'. This locative sense also sometimes expresses the goal; e. g. pañcā devatrā..yānān (x. 73)^{*} 'roads that go to the gods'.

632. -thā forms adverbs of manner, especially from pronominal stems; thus á-thā (more usually with shortened vowel, átha) 'then', i-t-thā 'thus', imá-thā 'in this manner', ka-thā 'how'; tá-thā 'thus', yá-thā 'in which manner'; anyá-thā 'otherwise', viśvā-thā 'in every way'; úrdhva-thā 'upwards', pūrvā-thā 'formerly', pratnā-thā 'as of old'; ṛtu-thā 'regularly', nāmā-thā (AV.) 'by name'; evā-thā 'just so'.

a. -thām occurs beside -thā in i-t-thām 'thus', and ka-thām 'how'.

633. -dā forms adverbs of time almost exclusively from pronominal roots; thus i-dā 'now', *ka-dā*² 'when?', ta-dā 'then', ya-dā 'at what time'; sá-dā 'always'; sarva-dā (AV.) 'always'.

a. -dam occurs beside -dā in sá-dam 'always'; and -dā-nīm, an extended form of -dā, appears in i-dā-nīm 'now', ta-dā-nīm 'then', viśva-dā-nīm 'always'.

^{*} In the RV. tāt itself is once used independently in the sense of 'in this way'.

² In the RV. nearly always accented kādā when followed by canā = 'never'.

b. di-, which occurs only in yá-di 'if', is perhaps related to -dā.

634. -dhā forms adverbs from numerals or words of cognate meaning, with the sense of '(so many) times', 'in (so many) ways', 'fold'; thus eka-dhā (AV.) 'singly', dvī-dhā 'in two ways', tri-dhā and tre-dhā 'triply', catur-dhā 'fourfold', ṣo-dhā 'in six ways', dvādaśa-dhā (AV.) 'twelfefold'; kati-dhā 'how many times?', tati-dhā (AV.) 'in so many parts', *paru-dhā*² 'variously', bahu-dhā 'in many ways', *viśvā-dhā*² 'in every way', śaśva-dhā 'again and again'; priya-dhā (TS.) 'kindly', pre-dhā (MS.) 'kindly', bahir-dhā (VS.) 'outward', mītra-dhā (AV.) 'in a friendly manner'; á-dhā and (with shortened final) á-dha 'then', a-d-dhā ('thus' =) 'truly'; *sāma-dhā*³ (Kh. I. 11⁴) 'in the same way'.

a. sa-dha-, occurring as the first member of several compounds, in the sense of '(in one way' =) 'together', is probably formed with the same suffix, the final vowel being shortened⁴; in independent use it appears as sahā 'with'⁵. With the same original suffix appear to be formed other adverbs in -ha; thus i-hā 'here' (Prākṛit idha), kū-ha 'where?', *viśvā-ha*⁶ and *viśvā-hā*⁷ 'always', sama-ha 'in some way or other'.

635. -va, expressing similarity of manner, forms two adverbs: i-va 'like', 'as'⁸; e-vā, often with lengthened final, e-vā 'thus'. -vām appears beside -va in e-vām 'thus', which occurs once in the RV. (x. 151³) instead of evā, and a few times in the AV. with vid- 'know'; it is also found in the SV. (1.3.1.1¹⁰): nā ki evāṃ yāthā tvām 'there is nothing such as thou'.

636. -vāt forms adverbs meaning 'like' from substantives and adjectives; e. g. āṅgiras-vāt 'like Āṅgiras', manu-vāt 'as Manu (did)'; purāṇa-vāt, pūrva-vāt, prāṇa-vāt 'as of old'. In origin it is the accusative neuter (with adverbial shift of accent) of the suffix -vant, which is used to form adjectives of a similar meaning (e. g. tvā-vant- 'like thee').

637. -śās is used to form adverbs of measure or manner with a distributive sense, often from numerals or words implying number; thus śata-śās (AV.) 'by hundreds', sahasra-śās 'by thousands'; śreṇī-śās 'in rows'; similarly ṛtu-śās 'season by season', deva-śās 'to each of the gods', parva-śās 'joint by joint', manma-śās 'each as he is minded'.

638. -s forms two or three multiplicative adverbs: dvī-s 'twice', tri-s 'thrice', and probably catūr for catūr-s* (cp. Zend cathrus) 'four times'. The same suffix forms a few other adverbs: adhā-s 'below' (cp. ādha-ra 'inferior'), avā-s 'downwards' (from áva 'down'), *-dyū-s*⁹ (from dyū- 'day') in anye-dyū-s (AV.) 'next day' and ubhaya-dyū-s (AV.) 'on both days'; perhaps also in avī-s 'openly' and bahi-s 'outside'¹⁰.

639. -hi forms a few adverbs of time from pronominal roots; thus kār-hi 'when?', tīr-hi 'then?'¹¹. The first part of these words seems already to contain an adverbial suffix *-r*¹² (thus kā-r = Lat. cūr)¹³.

640. There are also some miscellaneous adverbs consisting of isolated

² Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 585.

³ The final vowel of purudhā and viśvādhā appears shortened before a double consonant in the RV.

⁴ Cp. sama-ha.

⁵ As in ādha, purudhā, viśvādhā.

⁶ See above 58, 2 a (p. 52).

⁷ Just as viśvādhā beside viśvādhā; but cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 582.

⁸ On the other hand viśvādhā 'always' is = viśvā dhā 'all days' ('alle Tage') with a single accent, like a compound; see GRASSMANN, s. v.

⁹ In the late parts of the RV. and in the AV. iva has often to be read as va; cp. ARNOLD, Vedic Metre 129, but see OLDENBERG, ZDMG. 61, 830.

¹⁰ See MERINGER, IF. 18, 257; cp. RICHTER, IF. 9, 238; SCHULZE, KZ. 28, 546.

¹¹ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 584.

¹² amūr-hi, etār-hi, yār-hi also occur in B.

¹³ Cp. avā-r, which occurs once beside the usual avā-s.

¹⁴ Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 583.

words or small groups, mostly of obscure origin, formed with other suffixes. The latter in alphabetical order are:

-a : kū-ā (always kū-a) 'where?' and a-dy-ā 'to-day'.

-ar : pūn-ar 'again' and sasv-ār 'secretly'.

-ā : antar-ā 'between', pur-ā 'before'; perhaps also in nānā 'variously', which may be = nā-nā 'so and so' from the pronominal root na-².

-it : dakṣiṇ-it 'with the right hand'; and -vīt in cikit-vīt 'with deliberation'.

-u : jāt-u 'ever', mīh-u 'wrongly', mīh-u 'suddenly'; anu-ṣṭh-ū 'at once' ('standing after', from √sthā-, cp. su-ṣṭh-ū 'in good state').

-ur : mīh-ur 'suddenly'.

-k : jyō-k 'long'. In several other adverbs -k with more or less probability represents the final of a root; thus nīṇik 'secretly' (probably from nīṇi-ac*-adj. 'secret'), madrik 'towards me' (contracted from madriak, neut. adv. of madriac-adj. 'turned to me'); ānu-sāk 'in succession' ('following after' : √sac-); āyu-sāk 'with the cooperation of men' (sac- 'follow'); uśā-dhak 'with eager consumption' ('eagerly burning' : √dah-).

-tār : prā-tār 'early' and sanu-tār 'away' (621).

-tūr : sani-tūr 'away' (620).

-nām : nū-nām 'now' and nānā-nām 'variously' (642 d).

B. Adverbial Case-forms.

641. A large number of case-forms of nominal and pronominal stems, often not otherwise in use, are employed as adverbs. They become such when no longer felt to be case-forms³. Forms of all the cases appear with adverbial function.

Nominative. Examples of this case are prathamām 'firstly', dvitīyam 'secondly'; e. g. divāś pāri prathamām jajñe agnir, asmād dvitīyam pāri jātavedāḥ (x. 45¹) 'Agni was first born from heaven, secondly he, Jātavedas, (was born) from us'. Such adverbs are to be explained as originally used in apposition to the verbal action: 'as the first thing, Agni was born'. A masculine form has become stereotyped in kī-s as an interrogative adverb; its negative forms nā-kis and mā-kis are often used in the sense of 'never' or simply 'not'.

642. Accusative. Adverbs of this form are to be explained from various meanings of the accusative. The following are examples of nominal forms representing:

a. the cognate accusative: ṛcā kapōtam nudata prapōdam (x. 165⁵) 'by song expel the pigeon as expulsion'; citrām bhānty uśāsah (vi. 65²) 'the Dawns shine brightly' (= 'a bright scil. shining'); marmṛjmā te tanvām bhūri kṛtvah (iii. 18⁴) 'we adorned thy form many times' (originally 'makings'); similarly dhṛṣṇū 'boldly', purū 'much', 'very', bhūyas 'more'; and the comparative in -taram added to verbal prefixes; e. g. vi-tarām vi kramasva (iv. 18¹¹) 'stride out more widely'; saṃ-tarām saṃ śisādhi (AV. vii. 16¹) 'quicken still further'; prā tīm naya pra-tarām (x. 45⁹) 'lead him forward still further'; ūd enam ut-tarām naya (AV. vi. 5¹) 'lead him up still higher'; so also ava-tarām, paras-tarām, parā-tarām 'further away', and the fem. accusatives saṃ-tarām and paras-tarām (AV.).

² Cp. op. cit. 839; PERSSON, IF. 2, 200 ff., 'auf diese (oder) jene Weise'; BARTHOLOMAE, IF. 10, 10-12, originally 'separatim'.

³ On the distinction between case function and adverbial use see BRUGMANN, KG. 571.

b. the appositional accusative; thus oṣā-m 'quickly' (lit. 'burningly'), kāma-m 'according to desire'; nāma 'by name', rūpā-m 'in form', satyā-m 'truly'.

c. the accusative of direction; e. g. āgra-m (i-) '(go) to the front of', 'before'; dīta-m (gam-) '(go) home'.

d. the accusative of distance and time; e. g. dūrā-m 'a long way off', 'far'; nīkta-m 'by night', sāyā-m 'in the evening', cirā-m '(for a) long (time)', nitya-m 'constantly', pūrva-m 'formerly'.

α. There are also some adverbs derived from obsolete nominal stems, which would seem for the most part to have belonged originally to the sphere of the cognate accusative; thus dra-m 'sufficiently' (from dra-* 'fitting'), dā-m (AV.) id.; tīṣṇā-m 'in silence', nānānā-m (from nānā) 'variously', nūnā-m (from nū) 'now'; sākā-m 'together' (from sākā-* 'accompaniment': sac- 'follow')².

β. Finally a number of accusative adverbs are formed from pronominal stems; thus adās 'there', 'thither'; iḍ 'just', 'even'; iḍām 'here', 'now'; im 'ever' (e. g. yā im 'whoever'); kā-d, an interrogative particle; kā-m, a particle emphasizing a preceding dative or (unaccented) the particles nū, sū, hi; kī-m 'why?'; kī-m 'ever' (in mā-kim 'never'); kuv-id 'whether?'; cī-d 'even'; tā-d 'then'; yā-d 'if', 'when', 'that'; sī-m 'ever' (yāt sīm 'whenever'); sumā-d and smā-d 'together'.

643. Instrumental. With the ending of this case (sometimes plural) are formed adverbs from substantives, adjectives, and pronouns, the latter two groups being at first probably used with the ellipse of a substantive. Various senses of the instrumental case are expressed by these adverbs. Usually they imply manner or accompanying circumstances; e. g. tāras-ā 'with speed'; sāhas-ā 'forcibly'; tāviṣṭ-bhis 'with might'; nāvya-ā 'anew'; enā 'in this (way)', 'thus'. Not infrequently they express extension of space or time; e. g. āgreṇa 'in front'; akti-bhis 'by night'; dīv-ā 'by day' (but dīv-ā 'through the sky'); doṣā 'in the evening'.

α. The substantive instrumentals are chiefly formed from feminine stems in -ā not otherwise in use, but corresponding mostly to masculines or neuters in -a; thus a-datrayā 'without (receiving) a gift' (dātra- 'gift'); āsaya 'before the face of', 'openly' (āsā-* = ās- 'face'); ṛtaya 'in the right way' (ṛtā-* = ṛtā-); naktaya 'by night' (nāktā-* = nākta-); sumnaya 'piously' (sumnā-* = sumnā-); svāpnaya (AV.) 'in a dream' (svāpnā-* = svāpna-).

α. Several of these feminines are instrumentals from stems in -tā and identical in form with the stem; thus tīrāśā-tā 'through'; devā-tā 'among the gods'; bāhū-tā 'with the arms'; sasvār-tā 'in secret'; dvi-tā 'in two ways' may have a similar origin (dvi-tā 'two')³. We have perhaps also old instrumentals of feminine stems in -ā in tādītā 'then' = 'at that time'; and in vṛthā 'according to choice', 'at will' (vṛ-thā-* 'choice', from vṛ- 'choose').

β. In a few examples the instrumental seems more probably to be that of a radical stem with adverbial shift of accent rather than from a stem in -ā; thus gūh-ā 'in secret', rather inst. of gūh- 'hiding'⁴, than of a stem gūh-ā*⁵; similarly mṛṣ-ā 'in vain' (mṛṣ-* 'neglect': inst. mṛṣ-ā); sāc-ā 'together' (sāc-* 'accompaniment': inst. sac-ā). In a-sthā (RV.), perhaps meaning 'at once', we seem to have an instrumental adverb from a radical ā- stem a-sthā- ('no standing') = 'without delay'.

b. The adjective instrumentals end either in -ā (plural -ais) or -yā. The former are derived from a- stems and a few consonant stems in -c; the latter are anomalous feminines from u- stems and one or two i- stems:

α. apākā 'afar' (āpāka- 'far'); irmā 'quickly' (irmā-); uccā and uccāis 'on high' (uccā-); dakṣiṇā 'to the right' (dakṣiṇa-); parācāis 'for away' (parācā-*); paścā 'behind' (paścā-*); madhyā 'in the midst' (mādhya-); sānais 'slowly'

¹ Cp. GRAY, IF. II, 307 ff.; FOY, IF. 12, 172.

² For some other adverbs of obscure origin, which were originally accusatives, see WHITNEY IIII f.

³ Cp. BENFEY, SV. Glossary, and GRASSMANN, Wörterbuch, s. v.

⁴ The normal inst. of which would be gūh-ā.

⁵ Cp. RV. I. 67⁶ gūhā gūham gās and in the next stanza gūhā bhāvāntam.

(sána*-) and sánakais id.; *sánā 'from of old' (sána-); samanā 'in the same way' (sámāna-); tīraśc-ā 'across'; nīc-ā 'downwards'; prāc-ā 'forwards'.

β. *anu-sṭhu-y-ā 'at once' (anu-sṭhū 'following', adv. from sṭhā- 'stand'); āsu-y-ā 'swiftly' (āsū-); dhr̥ṣṇu-y-ā 'boldly' (dhr̥ṣṇū-); mīthu-y-ā 'falsely' (mīthu, adv. from mīth- 'be hostile'); raghu-y-ā 'rapidly' (raghū-); sādhū-y-ā 'straight' (sādhū-); also urviy-ā (for urvy-ā) 'far', from urvī f. of urī- 'wide'; and viśvy-ā 'everywhere', from viśv-*, irregular f. of viśva- 'all', beside the regular inst. f. viśvayā, which itself seems once (viii. 68²) to be used adverbially.

c. Pronominal instrumentals are formed from several stems in -a and one in -u. Some appear in the masculine (or neuter) form of -ā or the feminine of -yā; so anā 'thus' (anā- 'that'); amā 'at home' (āma- 'this'); a-yā 'thus' (a- 'this'); enā 'thus' (ena- 'this'); ka-yā 'how?' (kā- 'who?'); ubhayā 'in both ways' (ubhāya- 'both'). From amū- 'that' is formed the adverb amu-y-ā 'in that way', with the anomalous interposition of *y*³. To the influence of the latter word is probably due the form kuhayā 'where?' (RV¹.) beside the usual kūha 'where?'.

644. a. Dative. The adverbial use of this case is rare. Examples are: aparāya 'for the future' (from āpara- 'later'); vārāya 'according to wish' (vāra- 'choice').

b. Ablative. This case is on the whole used adverbially fairly often. It is, however, seldom formed from substantives, as ārāt 'from a distance', āsāt 'from near'; or from pronouns, as āt 'then', tāt 'thus', yāt 'as far as'. It is most commonly formed from adjectives; thus dūrāt 'from afar'; nīcāt 'from below'; paścāt 'from behind'; sākṣāt 'visibly'; and with shifted accent: adharāt 'below' (ādharma-); apākāt 'from afar' (āpāka-); anāt 'from near' (āma-); uttarāt 'from the north' (ūttara-); *sanāt*⁴ and sanakāt 'from of old' (sána-).

c. Genitive. The adverbial use of this case is very rare. Examples are aktīs 'by night' and vāstos 'in the morning'.

d. Locative. Several forms of this case have an adverbial meaning; thus āgre 'in front'; abhi-svaré 'behind' (lit. 'within call'); astam-iké 'at home'; āké 'near'; ārés 'afar'; rté 'without'; dūré 'afar'; and in the plural aparīṣu 'in future'.

3. Particles.

WHITNEY, Sanskrit Grammar 122, 132—133. — DELBRÜCK, Altindische Syntax p. 240—267. — Cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 817—855.

645. Other adverbial words, the derivation of which is obscure and the meaning of which is abstract or general, may be classed as particles. They form three groups, the emphatic, the conjunctive, and the negative, the first being the most numerous. The emphatic particles, as throwing stress on a preceding word, are either enclitic or incapable of beginning a sentence; the conjunctive particles, except utā, are of a similar nature; but the negatives, having a strongly antithetical meaning, generally occupy an emphatic position in the sentence.

646. The emphatic particles may usually be translated by such words as 'just', 'indeed', or rendered merely by stress on the word they follow.

¹ In the last three adverbs the accent does not shift to the final syllable.

² These anomalous forms are due perhaps to the influence of the pronominal amu-y-ā.

³ The anomalous interposition of y is perhaps due to the influence of the numerous adverbs in -yā from stems in -a, amū- being an isolated pronominal u-stem.

⁴ sanāt occurs also AA. v. 2. 2¹⁵.

⁵ On ārē, ārāt, rté cp. NEISSER, BB. 19,

They are aigá; *dha*¹, gha, ha (the last two less emphatic than dha); smā; svīd (generally following an interrogative) = 'pray'; vāi, nearly always following the first word of a sentence. Three particles which emphasize the preceding word more strongly in the sense of 'certainly', 'in truth', are kīla (+ AV.), khālu (RV¹, not in AV.), bhāla (RV¹, AV¹). In the RV. tū usually emphasises exhortations = 'pray', but sometimes also statements = 'surely'; once (vi. 29⁵) it seems to mean 'but', which is its sense in its single occurrence in the AV. The particle ná, when it means 'as it were', 'like', was in origin probably an emphatic particle = 'truly'².

647. There are several conjunctive particles, some of which are compounded. *ū*³ 'now', 'again', is commonly used deictically and anaphorically after pronouns and verbs. Both u-tā and ca mean 'and'. ca when compounded with the negative particle as caná originally meant 'not even', but the negative sense generally disappears and caná turns the interrogative pronoun into an indefinite, as kás caná 'some one'⁴. cā when compounded with id, that is cā, means 'if'. nū 'now' generally follows the first word of the sentence. The disjunctive particle is vā 'or'. hi (generally following the first word of a sentence) expresses the reason for an assertion = 'for', 'because'; it is also used with imperatives, when it means 'then'. It occurs once in the RV. (vi. 48²) compounded with the negative ná, but without change of meaning: hiná 'for'.

648. The negative particle which denies assertions is ná 'not'. Its compound nā (= ná id) expresses an emphatic 'not'; it is, however, usually employed in the final sense of 'in order that not', 'lest'. Its compound nā-kis often means 'never', and nā-kīm, in the only two stanzas in which it occurs (viii. 78⁴ 5), has the same sense. The negative also occurs twice (x. 54²; 84³) compounded with nū as nanū, which expresses a strong negative = 'not at all', 'never'. When it is compounded with hi as nāhi, the latter word retains the meaning of both particles: 'for not'.

mā 'not' is the prohibitive particle regularly used with the injunctive⁵. It is compounded with the petrified nom. -kis and acc. -kīm to mā-kis and mā-kīm. The former frequently and the latter in its only two occurrences mean 'never'.

a. Adverbial words occurring in compounds only.

649. A limited number of words of an adverbial character have either entirely lost or, in a few instances, nearly lost their independent character, being found in combination with half a dozen particular verbs or as the first member of nominal compounds. In two or three examples the original independence of such words can still be traced.

650. A few mostly onomatopoeic reduplicative words appear only compounded with the roots kṛ- 'do' and bhū- 'be', the prefixed form generally ending in -ā, once in -ī: thus *akkkhālī-kṛtyā*⁶ (vii. 103³) 'croaking', alālā-

¹ Another frequent particle of the same meaning, id, has already been mentioned among the pronominal accusative adverbs.

² Greek val, Lat. nae, cp. Lith. nei 'as it were' (cp. BRUGMANN, KG. 839); this sense of ná is generally explained as derived from the negative = 'not (precisely)': see WHITNEY 1122 h; cp. BB. 22, 194 ff.

³ On the Sandhi of u, see above 71, 1 b.

⁴ Cp. DELBRÜCK, op. cit. p. 544.

⁵ It is not used with the ordinary subjunctive, nor the imperative, nor the optative except in the form bhujema; see DELBRÜCK p. 361 (top). In the Khilas it occurs two or three times with the 2. impv.; paśya (iii. 15¹⁷), tiṣṭha (iv. 5²⁵), and once at least with the subj.: vadāti (i. 9⁵): MS. vādeti.

⁶ This is the only instance of the prefix ending in -ī instead of -ā in the RV. In the AV. -ī appears before forms of kṛ- in the nominal compounds vāṭī-kṛta- and vāṭī-kārā-, designations of a disease.

bhāvant- (IV. 18³) 'sounding merrily'; jañjaṇā-bhāvant- (VIII. 43³) 'sparkling'; kikirā kṛnu (VI. 53⁷) 'tear to tatters'; maśmaśā-karam (AV. V. 23⁸) 'I have crushed'; masmasā kuru (VS. XI. 80) and mśmśā kuru (MS. II. 7⁷) 'crush'; malmalā-bhāvant- (MS. II. 13¹⁹; TS. I. 4. 34¹) 'glittering'; bharbharā-bhavat (MS. II. 2¹: B.) 'became confounded'; bibibā-bhāvant- (MS. I. 6⁵: B.) 'crackling'.

651. The adverb āvis 'openly', 'in view', is found in combination with the verbs as-, bhū- and kṛ- only. With the latter it means 'make visible', e. g. āvis karta (I. 86⁹) 'make manifest'. With the two former, which are sometimes omitted, it means 'become visible', 'appear'; e. g. āvis sānti (VIII. 8²³) 'being manifest'; āvīr agnir abhavat (I. 143²) 'Agni became manifest'.

prā-dūr, lit. 'out of doors', begins to appear in the AV. in combination with √bhū-, meaning 'become manifest', 'appear'.

652. The word śrād, which originally probably meant 'heart'¹, is often found in combination with dhā- 'place', in the sense of 'put faith in', 'credit', nearly always, however, separated from the verb by other words, e. g. śrād asmai dhātā (II. 12⁵) 'believe in him'; śrād asmai, naro, vicase dadhātāna (VS. VIII. 5) 'give credence, O men, to this utterance'. It also appears in the substantive śrad-dhā- 'faith'. The word is once also found with √kṛ- in the sense of 'entrust': śrād vīśvā vāryā kṛdhi (VIII. 75²) 'entrust all boons (to us)'.

653. The interjection hīn is compounded with kṛ- 'make' in the sense of 'utter the sound hīn', 'murmur'; thus giur ... hīn akṛnot (I. 164²⁸) 'the cow lowed'; hīn-kṛvati (I. 164²⁷) 'lowing'; hīn-kṛtya svāhā (VS. XXII. 7) 'hail to the sound hīn'; tāsmā uśā hīn-kṛnoti (AV. IX. 64⁵) 'for him the dawn utters hīn'.

654. A few substantives, after assuming an adverbial character, are found compounded with participial forms. āsta-m 'home', which still appears as a noun in the RV., though commonly used adverbially in the accusative with verbs of motion, is combined like a verbal prefix with participles of i- 'go' in the AV.: astam-yānt- 'setting', astam-esyant- 'about to set', astam-ita- (AV. XVII. 1²³)² 'set'. The noun nāmas- 'obedience' is similarly compounded in the gerund with kṛ- 'make' in the AV.: *namas-kṛtya*³. In the RV. itself names of parts of the body, with no tendency otherwise to adverbial use, are thus compounded with the gerund of grah- 'seize': karna-gṛhya 'seizing by the ear', pāda-gṛhya 'seizing by the foot', hasta-gṛhya 'grasping the hand'⁴. The transition to this use was probably supplied by nouns compounded with past participles, as sāhas-kṛta- 'produced by force'.

655. There are besides a few monosyllabic adverbial particles which occur as prefixes compounded with nominal forms only. By far the most frequent of these is the negative prefix, which appears in the form of an- before vowels and a- before consonants. It is compounded with innumerable substantives and adjectives, but rarely with adverbs, as a-kūtrā 'to the wrong place', a-punā 'not again' (=) 'once for all'; an-eva (AV.¹) 'not so'.

656. sā-, as a prefix expressive of accompaniment, is employed as a reduced form of the verbal prefix *sam*⁵, and interchanges with saha-; e. g. sā-cetas- 'accompanied by wisdom', 'wise', beside sahā-cchandas- 'accompanied with songs'.

² For some other later nominal compounds of this kind see WHITNEY 1092 c.

³ This is the regular form in the later language, but the independent form namas kṛtvā is occasionally found; cp. Brhaddevatā, I. 1, critical note in my edition.

⁴ Cp. WHITNEY 990 b and above 591 a (p. 413, bottom) and 591 b.

⁵ Cp. above 250.

657. duś- (appearing also, according to the euphonic combination, as dur-, duś-, duś-)¹, means 'ill', 'hard to'; e. g. dur-gā- '(place) difficult of access', dur-yij- 'ill-yoked', dur-mat- 'ill-will'; duś-cyavanā- 'hard to shake'; duś-kṛtā- 'ill-done'; duś-sāha- 'irresistible'.

658. su- 'well', 'easy to' is compounded with a much larger number of words than *duś-*²; e. g. su-kāra- 'easy to accomplish'; su-kṛt- 'acting well', su-gā- 'easy of access', su-mat- 'good-will', su-yij- 'well-yoked'. It is, however, still found in a state of transition in the RV., where it occurs independently more than 200 times³, being then connected in sense with the verb only⁴; e. g. asmān śu jigyaśaḥ kṛtam (I. 177) 'make us well victorious'⁵.

4. Interjections.

659. A certain number of words having the nature of interjections occur in the Samhitās. They are of two kinds, being either exclamations or imitative sounds.

a. The exclamations are bāt (RV.) 'truly', bata (RV.) 'alas!', hanta 'come' used exhortatively with the subjunctive, and hayé 'come', before vocatives, hīruk 'away!', hurūk (RV.) 'away!', hāi (AV.) 'ho!'. Perhaps uvé (x. 867)⁶.

b. Interjections of the onomatopoeic type are: kikirā (RV.) used with kṛ- 'make the sound kikirā' = 'tear to tatters'; kikkirā (TS.) used in invocations (TS. III. 4. 2¹); ciscā (RV.) 'whiz!' (of an arrow) used with kṛ- 'make a whizzing sound'; phāt (AV. VS.) 'crash!', phāl (AV. xx. 135³) 'splash!'; bā (TS. = AV.) 'dash!'; bhūk (AV. xx. 135¹) 'bang!', śāl (AV. xx. 135²) 'clap!'

³ In the AV. it is still used independently, but only 14 times.

⁴ See GRASSMANN, op. cit., s. v. śu.

⁵ The Pada text of AV. XIX. 49¹⁰ treats

śu āpāyati 'may he go well away' as a compound: śu-āpāyati; but this is doubtless an error for śu | āpa | ayati. See WHITNEY's note on this passage in his Translation of the AV.

ADDENDA AND CORRIGENDA.

It should be noted, in addition to what is said at the end of § 1 (p. 2), that when the abbreviations 'VS.' etc. indicate the occurrence of a form in a later Veda, they only mean that the form in question is not found in the RV., while it may occur in parallel passages of one or more of the other Samhitās also. The symbols '+VS.' etc. are intended to draw attention to the fact that the form indicated occurs in a later Samhitā as well as in the RV. — In the enumeration of words, stems, inflected forms, and suffixes, initial alphabetical order is the principle followed. But it is occasionally varied for clearness of grouping. Thus the arrangement, in the case of compounds, is sometimes according to the final member (e. g. 308, 375 A, 591 a) or, in the case of roots, according to the medial or final vowel (e. g. 421, 483). The principle is also departed from when examples only of very frequent forms are given. Thus the nom. forms of present participles are arranged in the order of the conjugational classes (314); the nom. and other cases of the a-declension are given according to frequency of occurrence (372). Adverbs are classed according to the alphabetical order of the suffixes (626—640) or the sequence of the cases (641—644). — The principle of giving the meanings of words has been followed throughout the work. But this has been modified in two ways in the enumeration of inflected forms. In declension the meaning is given only with the first occurrence of a case-form of any word found in the same paragraph (e. g. 372). It seemed impossible to follow the same method in lists of inflected verbal forms. For, owing to the modifications of sense due to context and compounding with prepositions, the meaning could not be satisfactorily stated by giving it with the first occurrence of forms from the same root. The meaning has therefore been stated with the root only or when forms from different roots might be confused (e. g. 444, 445). But as the index gives the meaning of every root and enumerates all paragraphs containing forms from that root, the general sense of all such forms may easily be ascertained. — As regards references, figures without an added 'p.' always indicate paragraphs when books are divided into paragraphs; e. g. 'DELBÉRÜCK, Verbum 184 (p. 166—169)'; otherwise they refer to the page. When pages have to be referred to they are for the convenience of the reader often divided into quarters; thus LANMAN 372³ means the third quarter of p. 372 in LANMAN'S Noun-Inflection.
